CHURCH CENSUS TO BE TAKEN IN CITY

Organized Effort Will Be Made to Find All Christians

It was decided to take a religious census of the city, the work to begin on February 7, at a meeting of the local ministerial association Monday morning in the pastor's study of the First Baptist church.

All the churches of the city will cooperate in taking the census, it having the full support of the following pastors, who expressed themselves as believing that the step was a necessary one, and one that should no longer be delayed:

Divided into Zones The city will be divided into six general zones and each zone is to be handled by a group of workers under a zone superintendent.

A meeting of the workers has been called for next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Christian parsonage at which time the city will be mapped out and the workers organized.

Rev. Arthur W. Jones was elected to serve as general superintendent and all inquiries and suggestions are to be made to him.

As matters now stand, it is not definitely known the number of people living in this city who are not attending church services.

The workers will turn over to the pastors of each of the several churches the names of all those who have expressed a preference for any one particular church.

Dairyman Victim Automobile Wreck

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (UP)—Louis Powell, fifty years of age, a dairyman residing in the vicinity of Oakhill, died last night at a local hospital of injuries sustained when the car in which he was riding overturned.

There were several witnesses to the accident and it is said that Mr. Powell was driving at a rapid rate of speed when he came to a double turn in the road between Webberville and Elgin.

The End of the Battle to End War

History books of the future will probably contain this picture, or at least refer to the event it depicts, as the most important episode of the Coolidge administration.

Extension Workers To Hear Prominent Speakers At Meet

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 29. (Special)—Outstanding thinkers in the United States along educational and agricultural lines will join in the three-day program of discussion that has been prepared for the silver anniversary celebration of cooperative demonstration work to be held in Houston February 5-7.

A meeting of the workers has been called for next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Christian parsonage at which time the city will be mapped out and the workers organized.

Salads and Vegetables Salads and vegetables were taken up by Mrs. Ihrig in her lecture and demonstration this afternoon. This proved to be highly interesting as Mrs. Ihrig brought out the many uses to which these

Texas Exes Will Meet On Saturday

All ex-students of the University of Texas residing in Memphis are asked to be present at a meeting to be held in the law offices of Moss and Deaver, located in the Whaley Building, Saturday night, February 2, at 7 o'clock, to discuss plans for the March 2 banquet of ex-students.

The call for the meeting has been made to ascertain the number of resident ex-students here at the present time and to appoint the necessary committees to look after arrangements for the annual banquet.

Tentative plans call for the banquet being held at the Memphis country club. It may be decided to ask the domestic science department of the Memphis High School to prepare the menu and serve the meal.

Discussion will also be in order as to whether or not a dance should be held following the banquet. Some people have expressed a distaste for such affairs in the past, and it is desired to know what the ex-students want to do.

LARGER CROWD ATTENDS LECTURE SECOND DAY OF COOKING SCHOOL

An even larger crowd of women was present to greet Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig at the second session of the cooking school sponsored by The Democrat Tuesday afternoon than were present at the same time on Monday.

Mrs. Ihrig asks all who expect to attend to try and be on time. She will begin each afternoon at 2:30 promptly. Preceding her lecture and demonstration, a musical program will be rendered.

TWO MEN ARE HELD IN CITY FOR INVESTIGATION BELIEVED TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR STEALING CAR

One of Pair Offers Resistance When It Is Determined to Take Them to the Court-house; Several Shots Are Fired

What is believed to be a stolen automobile was taken in tow by city officers Monday afternoon, following the suspicious actions of two young men who drove up to a local filling station for the purpose of securing information.

They were directed to Vicker's wrecking house on Main street, but as they left the filling station, one of the occupants of the car was overheard to remark, "Well, boy, we are going to Sunday School."

Recall Petitions Are Said To Have Additional Names

According to a member of the Hall County Ministerial Association, returns in connection with the petition seeking to remove James C. Mahan, district attorney, from office, are being received.

Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, a member of the association, stated that for the sake of fairness and common sense that none of the lawyers of the Memphis Bar or any of the county officials whose duties brought them into association with Mr. Mahan, had been requested to sign the petition.

KAISER'S TAXES ARE HOTLY ARGUED

Exemption Arouses Antagonism Of Many Newspapers

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 27. (UP)—Whether the ex-Kaiser who has celebrated his 70th birthday has been exempted from paying taxes in Holland, again has become a topic of popular interest in this country.

A year or so ago the same question occupied the Dutch public. It was then taken up in parliament. The Deputy De Visser asked the government whether it was true that the Hohenzollern family had been exempted from paying taxes.

Definite Reasons
In the session of the Dutch Second Chamber of December 2, 1927, Minister De Geer denied flatly that such was the case, declaring, however, that the ex-Kaiser, "for definite reasons" had once been granted a moratorium. Except for a few acrid comments in the oppositional press as to the justification for a moratorium, public opinion was then claimed by De Geer's statement. It was assumed that the minister could only have meant that the ex-Kaiser finally paid his taxes.

Memorandum Issued
Now a memorandum issued by the Dutch government on general financial conditions has again aroused the public's suspicion. The memorandum contains a passage dealing with the taxes of the Hohenzollern family. After enumerating the various taxes to which the ex-Kaiser has been assessed—he has also been assessed for the fund for Holland's defence—the document states that "owing to the insecurity of the ex-Kaiser's financial status, he repeatedly has been granted exemption from paying taxes."

Shows Discrepancy
The largest Amsterdam newspaper "Der Telegraaf" in its comment on the memorandum points out the discrepancy between this document and the statement Minister De Geer made on this question a year ago.

"The memorandum tells an entirely different story," the newspaper writes. "Exemption does not mean that one has to pay later, but that one does not have to pay at all."

"Der Telegraaf" asks the government since when "insecurity of financial status" affords a claim for delaying one's payment of taxes and adds, ironically:

"If, by any chance, this should be a new provision which has hitherto been kept secret, the government had better publish it immediately, as tens of thousands of Dutch citizens, regardless of their insecure financial status, are ruthlessly prosecuted for tardiness in paying their taxes."

Pioneer Life To Be Motif of Year Book Baylor University

WACO, Jan. 29. (Special)—"Pioneer Life and Its Relation to Baylor University" will be the motif of the 1929 Round-Up, year-book of Baylor University, according to the editor, Philip Hyatt. In 1927 the Round-Up won first place in a national contest over all colleges and universities in the United States as being the best publication of its kind during the year. The motif of the 1927 annual was "The Land 'o Cotton," edited by Mike Copass of Fort Worth, but now a law student in Harvard.

Demonstration Club Woman Gets a Nice Profit from Garden

WACO, Jan. 29. (Special)—From a spring and fall garden last year Mrs. O. W. Moroski, a home demonstration club woman who lives near here, produced vegetables worth $231.65 at a cost of only $10.35 according to a report of Mrs. Lemma Peery Boles, home agent for McLennan county. Although 12 varieties were successfully grown in the fall garden it was from the spring patch planted February 20th last that by far the greater profit was derived, for in addition to fresh vegetables two times daily from March 5 to August 11, Mrs. Moroski canned $75 worth, sold $21.15 worth, and had left on hand onions and peas valued at $18.

She raised 25 varieties for which she found nine distinct uses as follows: creamed, stuffed, baked, raw, boiled, stewed, buttered, in salads and scalloped. "This quarter acre garden has meant more than dollars to us," says Mrs. Moroski, "for it has helped greatly in keeping the family well."

Purchasers Feeder Cattle Weigh Many Things in Buying

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (Special)—Buyers who purchase cattle for feeding purposes consider the factors of price, quality and accessibility as bases for their selection, according to George M. Lewis, live stock specialist in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"In order to encourage the further expansion of the stocker and feeder cattle outlet of Texas, the Bureau of Business Research undertook to find out from feeders the factors which influence them in buying their stock," Mr. Lewis said. "Questionnaires were sent to over a thousand feeders, including Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and California."

Adapted Quickly
"The primary aim of feeders is to secure cattle capable of being adapted quickly to the feed lots and possessing sufficient quality to make economical gains. The majority of feeders expressed preference for Hereford cattle because they possess the desired feeding qualities. At the same time however, these feeders handling either Shorthorn or Angus cattle were satisfied with these breeds. More emphasis seemed to have been placed upon the quality of animals than upon the breed. A few feeders reported the purchase of low grade mixed steers and calves, and almost with exception, the results were not as satisfactory as were those obtained by feeders who bought high grade animals."

Compare Favorably
"Feeders indicated that Texas cattle compare very favorably with those of other producing sections. Most of them stated that for feeding purposes Texas cattle were as good or even better than those from any other place. It must be remembered, however, that these feeders get the better Texas cattle and that they represent but a small portion of the total cattle produced in the state. Therefore, even though the cattle that have gone to feed lots in the past have been very satisfactory, Texas producers generally will do well to continue improving the quality of their breeding herds in order to retain this reputation and to secure additional business."

Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Aduddell, of Brice, were transacting business in Memphis Monday afternoon.

Richard Dix Is Favorite Among Lassies at T. C. U.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29 (Special)—Richard Dix, is the favorite movie star at Texas Christian University here, judging by the number of pictures of him that hang on walls in dormitory rooms. Buddy Rogers runs him a close second however, and John Gilbert comes along as a third contender.

Other popular male stars include Gary Cooper, James Hall, Conrad Nagel, Barry Norton, Richard Arlen, and Richard Barthelmess.

A count revealed in Jarvis Hall, the largest of the girl's dormitories, 236 pictures adorning dressers and desks of the girls and this was excluding pictures of fathers, brothers and movie stars. In other words, these 236 are the "boy friends."

On one girl's dresser stand 7 pictures of the same boy. One dresser has pictures of five different boys, two of them autographed. "To the sweetest girl in the world."

ATTENDS FUNERAL

H. R. Robeson of the Carlton Furniture Company, was called to Canyon Saturday, to attend the funeral of his grandfather, Rev. T. F. Robeson. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, interment in Canyon cemetery. Rev. Robeson will be remembered by all the old timers of Memphis as being one of the first pastors of the Methodist church.

H. R. Robeson only buried his father on the twenty-sixth of December at Tahoka, and just one month from that date his grandfather died. The Rev. Robeson was ninety years old at his death, and his many friends in this section will regret to learn of his demise.

A bridge expert says that there are few set rules in the game. The only one we can think of is that there can't be more than four dummies in one hand.

A $75,000 school building program is now under way at Stamford, and will be completed by March 1. A Manual Training building, a Home Economics building, a new elementary school, and a keepers cottage are being erected on the campus. An addition is also being built on the high school.

at the Memphis Democrat Cooking School

Attend this free Cooking School this week and learn of the great saving CALUMET effects—in baking materials—in time—in work. Come and witness the amazing bake-day demonstrations given by

Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig

See how easy it really is to make the most delicious pies, cakes, biscuits, etc. You will be surprised at the marvelous results obtained with is used by more good cooks—more noted chefs, domestic scientists, hotels, restaurants and big railroads than any other brand. Nearly one-half century of satisfaction to America's housewives has made it the world's greatest baking powder.

CALUMET

LESS THAN 1¢ PER BAKING

It insures the greatest economy because it prevents all failure due to improper leavening action and abolishes all waste. There is no worry—because you know in advance that every baking will come from the oven light, tender and palatable. You do not have to bake twice in order to obtain one good baking.

SALES 2 1/2 TIMES THOSE OF ANY OTHER

1 All you need is an ordinary saucepan, a strainer and a 3-lb. can of Crisco. Put Crisco into a cold saucepan and heat slowly. Test with a small cube of bread to determine when Crisco is hot enough for frying. For previously cooked foods (croquettes, fish-balls, etc.) bread should brown in 40 seconds. For uncooked foods (fritters, oysters, etc.) in 60 seconds. For raw potatoes, (chips, French-fried), in 20 seconds.

2 Don't wait for Crisco to smoke. Fill your strainer half full of the food and lower it into the Crisco. Increase the heat, as the cold food naturally cools the Crisco a little.

3 When the food is brown and well done, lift strainer out of the fat, shake lightly, drain the food on absorbent paper.

4 Now strain Crisco into an empty can, through cheesecloth or a fine sieve, and set aside to cool. You can use Crisco over and over for anything you want to fry. The taste of one thing will not be carried to another.

French frying—simplified!

and a secret of better taste

WHEN you come to think of it, should you ever fry in a fat you are unwilling to taste?
You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your cakes, pies, hot breads, cookies and fried foods.

Literature Survey Proves Revealing

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29. (Special)—"A Survey of American Literature Courses in Texas Colleges" is the subject of a thesis submitted for Master of Arts degree in the department of English of the graduate school of Education of George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., by Mrs. Dewey Youngblood of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Youngblood, who before her recent marriage was Miss Opal Strong, did her undergraduate work in Texas Christian University and received her A. B. degree from that school in 1925.

Cut Off Research
"The recent war, by cutting off research visits to England and the universities of the continent, and by its stimulation of national consciousness, gave the subject in all the colleges a tremendous impetus," says Mrs. Youngblood in the treatise.

"The purpose of this thesis is to determine whether this impetus was or was not felt in the colleges of Texas."

Show Large Gain
According to tabulated results in the thesis, in the six years from 1922 to 1928, American Literature courses in Texas Colleges showed a gain of 39.9 per cent. Twenty of the twenty-three class A senior colleges in Texas were used in the survey.

Mrs. Youngblood graduated from T. C. U. with honors, being elected permanent membership in the Texas Scholarship Society at the time of her graduation. She specialized in English and French at the University after finishing from Fort Worth Central High School in 1921.

Texas University Selects Research Lecturer for Year

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (Special)—Each year, the graduate faculty at the University of Texas selects some one of its members as research lecturer for the year and asks him to deliver a series of from three to five lectures on the subject in which he is most interested. This year, Dr. H. J. Muller, professor of zoology and holder of the 1927 award from the American Association for the Advancement of Science for the greatest biological discovery of the year, has been chosen. Dr. Muller will take for his subjects some phase of genetics, the field in which he has won world-wide recognition with his discoveries in regard to the effects of X-ray on the hereditary qualities of organisms. He will make his addresses sometime during April.

Plaska Minister Holding Revival Meeting at Brice

Rev. E. J. Evans of Plaska, was in Memphis yesterday and stated he was on his way to Brice where he and Rev. R. C. Baker were holding a protracted meeting at the Baptist church of that place. The meeting began last week, according to Rev. Evans, and a deep interest is being manifested and the congregations are growing at each meeting. If the weather permits, the meeting will continue throughout the remainder of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Stephens of McLean spent Sunday and Monday in Memphis with Mrs. Stephens' mother, Mrs. A. B. Jones. Mr. Stephens is manager of the picture show at McLean.

Denies Rumor

Here is vivacious Constance Talmadge, film star, as she arrived in New York recently from Europe. One of her first statements to the press upon her return was a denial of her rumored engagement to Townsend Netcher, Chicago millionaire. Netcher was at the pier, however to welcome her home.

Youthful Georgia Girl Practicing Law at Nineteen

DECATUR, Ga., Jan. 28. (UP)—At the age of 19, Miss Irma von Nunes is a lawyer, although she never went to law school.

The 19-year-old girl was admitted to the bar recently, the Georgia regulations allowing minors over 18 to the bar provided they pass the state examinations creditably.

Her first case was a divorce suit. She also has been before the state supreme court in a damage suit action, still pending.

Bright-eyed and cheery-faced, the young girl believes herself the youngest woman lawyer in the United States. "I never heard of any one younger, have you?" she asked the interviewer.

Her father Tillou von Nunes, in whose office she practices, coached her after she graduated from high school, and so good a tutor was he that the state bar examinations were passed with honor in June, 1928.

Divorce cases interest her most, she said. The girl thinks folks marry too hastily and regret too soon.

Scenic Phenomenon Held Up This Year By a Mild Winter

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 28. (UP)—One of the world's most majestic scenes the sheet of ice which each year forms over the raging torrents pouring over American and Horseshoe Falls here, has not made its appearance as yet this season.

According to seasoned observers, the forming of a coat of ice over the Falls will not take place until probably in February due to the open winter experienced to date. Observers say that a week or more of intense cold weather is needed before a thick coat of ice will form on the rushing water of the rapids.

When the ice forms, it is believed that thousands will make the trip to the Falls to view the spectacle. Great searchlights will be played at night on the scene.

Dr. Swastika Has One Customer To Ask For Advice

At least one person in Memphis is taking advantage of the fact that Dr. Swastika, world renowned psychologist, is at the Palace Theatre throughout this week. It was announced in the Sunday issue of The Democrat that Dr. Swastika would answer all questions sent him through this newspaper.

All right doctor; here is one for you: "What would be the best profession for me at my age? I was born April 26, 1861. W. P. R."

State University Students Register On February 1st

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (Special)—All students who were not in attendance throughout the first semester will register at the University of Texas on February 1, according to Registrar E. J. Mathews. Classes begin on February 2, and all students who were enrolled during the first semester will sign report-present cards.

Second semester courses may be added at any time until Friday, February 8, while new students may register at any time prior to February 15.

DEMONSTRATION CLUB SHOWS BIG INCREASE

TYLER, Jan. 28. (UP)—Less than a year ago the membership of the Woman's Home Demonstration Club began to plan for the erection of a community club house. By a year of hard work and achievement and individual sacrifices of the members they have realized their goal and the club house is about to be completed. It will be formally dedicated on the evening of January 30, with a pretentious program. Special invitations have been extended to all neighboring communities and the entire membership, some 800 women and girls, of every other Women's Club in the county have been invited to the celebration.

In the Dining Room--on the Table

Mrs. Ihrig recommends that you keep Gebhardt's Eagle Chili Powder on your dining table as well as in the kitchen... for here in a shaker like salt or pepper, it is always convenient for soups, stews, vegetables, baked dishes and fish... giving that added flavor not to be had with any other condiment.

In the Kitchen

Of course you should always keep Gebhardt's Eagle Chili Powder in the kitchen in the familiar bottle as it comes from your grocer. Here you find it indispensable for the making of chili con carne and other Mexican dishes, for the decoration of salads and many other practical uses.

New Instrument Enables U. S. Bureau To Use "Yardstick" 192 Miles Long

How far can you take a measurement in a single stretch?

A few feet, perhaps, with the tape, or a few hundred feet with the surveyor's transit.

That, however, is a mere fraction compared with the measurements taken in one jump by surveyors and engineers of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. Their yardsticks have reached as far as 192 miles in one stretch, and that's not the limit either, in the opinion of Dr. William Bowie who is chief of the Geodesy Division.

When it comes to these long distances, surveying becomes a complicated problem. There are ridges and hills and valleys to consider, and above all there's the curvature of the earth.

200-Mile Surveys Made

How far out at sea can you discern an object? Not very far, on account of the earth's roundness. You'd just barely see the tip of a ship 57 feet high ten miles out at sea, if you stood at sea level. That's how much the earth drops in ten miles.

Consider then measuring the earth as far as 200 miles. You'd have to get up high to do this, or your line of sight would soon be reaching out into the sky.

The long distances measured by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, of course, reach from mountain to mountain, for this reason. The longest so far measured is the 192-mile stretch between Mt. Shasta and Mt. Helena in California.

The question arises, how can such a distance be measured without a definite standard like a foot rule or yard stick. That's easy. It's done by measuring angles!

Instruments Sensitive

Surveyors do that for short distances. They put down a base line of known length, put their transit over one end and sight the point to which the distance is to be measured. After noting the angle the instrument has been turned from the base line, they repeat this at the other end.

Then it's all a matter of mathematical computation.

In extremely long distances, however, the surveyors must use special instruments in order to see their objectives. And they must make an additional computation to consider differences in height.

The instrument they use that corresponds to the surveyor's transit is called a theodolite, a much more sensitive and exact apparatus. This can be used at night, when a light is directed at it from the point to be sighted. The light used is a simple automobile headlight containing a special lamp with contracted filament.

In the daytime, however, when the sun is shining a heliotope is used. This consists in general of a mirror and two pointers mounted on a board. The mirror is tilted so that the sun's reflected rays have the same direction as the line joining the two pointers, which are sighted toward the station at which the observer is working. With the heliotope at one end and the observer at the other, the angle of the line of sight to the base line can be measured.

This is termed "triangulation." It's used mostly in measuring the distances and positions of islands from the mainland. Height at all times must be considered, for an island not many feet above sea level couldn't be sighted afar, unless the observer was at a high level on land.

Ches Davis' Gang Of Funsters Are Pleasing at Gem

Ches Davis and his gang of honest-to-goodness funsters opened a two nights stay at the Gem Theatre last night, with a fast-moving, kill-care company that kept the audience tickled pink until the final curtain was rung down. It was such a show that is seldom seen in this city. A superlative review took place in a comparatively short period of time that for completeness and interest outdistanced by far any show of its kind seen here before.

Ches Davis has a company of six people and they make up in volume and quality for what they lack in quantity. A complete change of program will take place tonight which will be, if anything, funnier and more interesting than the show last evening. Those who miss this show will be denying themselves a rare privilege.

Here is the first picture to include all of Hollywood's 1929 crop of Wampas Baby Stars. They have been chosen, as each year a similar group is chosen, by movie critics as being the most likely of all young movie actresses to achieve stardom. Starting at the left, going up, then down and back to the starting place, they are: Josephine Dunn, Ethylene Clair, Caryl Lincoln, Mona Rico, Doris Dawson, Helen Foster, Loretta Young, Jean Arthur, Betty Boyd, Anita Page, Doris Hill, Helen Twelvetrees and Sally Blane.

MRS. SHEPHERD HOSTESS TO MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The missionary society of the First Christian church met in regular session Monday afternoon with Mrs. B. F. Shepherd, 819 Cleveland street. The meeting was opened by prayer and after regular routine business had been disposed of, round table talk and a general discussion for the best interest of the church was taken up. The secretary was instructed to issue check to the treasurer of the First Christian church board for the amount of one thousand dollars to be placed in the building fund of the new church.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Arthur W. Jones, Mrs. L. T. Offield, Mrs. Will Kesterson, Mrs. Seth Palmeyer, Mrs. C. F. Stout, Mrs. Howard Randal, Mrs. J. P. Skid-

Announcing Substantial Reductions

in the prices of the

DODGE BROTHERS SENIOR

WHEN THE NEW Dodge Brothers Six was announced, at the beginning of the new year, at prices so low as to overshadow any previous Dodge Brothers accomplishment, its universal public acceptance marked a new peak of popularity even for Dodge Brothers cars.

Public recognition was quickly translated into an unprecedented sales volume with an attendant increase in manufacturing efficiency and economy which now favorably affects its companion car—the Dodge Brothers Senior—and permits substantial reductions in the prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models.

The new lower prices at which the Dodge Brothers Senior henceforth will be sold are directly traceable to the established Chrysler policy of giving the public immediate benefit of every economy due to more efficient manufacturing methods, lower overhead costs and savings effected by the great unified purchasing power of Chrysler Motors.

Not only are these savings now passed on to the public in the form of much lower prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models, but the cars themselves have been made still better.

Examine the Dodge Brothers Senior in your most critical mood. Scrutinize each small detail. Be most exacting in your inspection. For once you have subjected the Chrysler-built Dodge Brothers Senior to your most diligent and careful inspection you are certain to realize that never before has a car so large, so handsome and so fine been available at so low a price.

DELINQUENCY

THE prevention of crime and delinquency and the apprehension of criminals have constituted one of the chief functions of government from primitive days down to the present time. There has never been a time in the history of man when the world was free from crime. Many systems of penology have been tried from the "eye for an eye" and "tooth for a tooth" code of ancient Israel to the modern plan of probation and parole. Some of these systems have been discarded as too harsh and barbaric and others have been abandoned either because experience proved them ineffective or because something seemingly better was offered.

All systems of penology, both past and present, which the ingenuity of man has been able to devise, have had, however, one thing in common—they have been far from perfect. In criminal procedure we are still living in the pre-scientific age. Those who have studied criminology intensively are agreed that many of our present methods of dealing with criminals are unsatisfactory. In our criminal system in general, we do not seem to be making much real headway—indeed, it is doubtful if we are even holding our own. Certainly we are not preventing crime and we are not reforming the criminal.

Our detention homes and reform schools are often really elementary schools in misconduct. Our city and county jails are, all too often, secondary schools of crime and our penitentiaries and state prisons are, practically colleges of criminal arts. Delinquent boys and girls quickly go through the whole course and very often return repeatedly to their alma mater for post-graduate study.

Now crime and delinquency both have a certain lure and fascination for all of us, but they seem to have an especial appeal, either positive or negative, for the average lay mind. Crime is frequently dramatic and often thrilling. It not only always finds prominent and ample newspaper space, but is generally presented in a style deliberately calculated to stir the emotions of the reader. It furnishes powerful political issues to the shrewd politician and it appeals at once to the Jesse James and the Anthony Comstock in each of us. Crime has a status of its own, so much so that in some instances, committing a crime of the sentimental sort gives liberal entree to the news columns and occasionally, through wide publicity, paves the way for notoriety on the stage. Seemingly, it matters little whether the question is a matter of "oil scandal" or murder. As long as the crime committed stirs the imagination it has an appeal to all the sons and daughters of Adam.

So-called "crime waves" are, as a matter of fact with us although they do not always gain "wave" prominence in the public eye. Most students of crime and delinquency are agreed that "crime waves" are more apparent than real and that they are due more to an increase in public attention and interest in the matter, than to any great increase in the incidence of crime and delinquency. This increase of interest in the problem, on the part of the public and the press is generally followed by a wave of moral indignation and hence, it would be more accurate, in this connection to speak of the phenomena as a "moral wave" than a "crime wave." There is every reason for believing, however, that crime and delinquency are both increasing in this country, but the increase seems to be gradual and more in the nature of a slowly rising tide than a wave.

Crime crusades, however, fall in line with these so called "crime waves" and are always directed towards the wholesale disposal of the problem. Crusades invariably arouse the politician, the sentimentalists, the violent reformer, the fanatic and the frightened, but uncritical, newspaper public and place the whole problem in the hands of such people—perhaps the last place on earth where one could expect a real solution. It is no great wonder that intelligent people everywhere have grown suspicious of reforms and reformers and have become cynical of crusades and crusaders.

If, however, "crime waves" and "crusades" do nothing else, they give everyone along the line an excellent opportunity to pass the buck. They enable the hysterical public to blame the police—they enable the radicals to blame "wealth" and "big business" and the smug business man to blame the "Reds" and the "radicals." They give the prosecutors a chance to blame the bail bonding nuisance, the slowness of the court machinery and the inadequacy of the law—they offer a splendid opportunity for the clergy to blame everything from divorce to the devil—they tempt old women of both sexes to place the blame wholly upon capital punishment and stiff sentences—they enable popular magazine writers to blame the psychiatrists and alienists and, finally, they afford opportunity for the learned judges to blame any or all of the things mentioned and in addition to lay their specific troubles to the jury service, the laws under which they operate and the "coddling" parole system.

The ever present topic of crime furnishes a regular arena of controversy, not only for public officials, but for the public at large and especially for the idealistic reformer. Your professional reformer is certainly not timid and he does not hesitate to rush into print or appear before service clubs with his hurriedly gathered ideas on all phases of the crime situation. He generally runs the gamut of causes from "necking" to prohibition, and as a rule has some glittering panacea to offer, the only real merit of which lies in its mob appeal.

The subject of crime and delinquency is one of the favorite topics of the times for magazine articles, lectures, interviews, and sermons, but rarely do any two persons—judge or juror, lecturer or author, police official or psychiatrist, penologist or minister—agree about the causes or what is wrong with the methods used in handling it. The very fact in itself that crime and delinquency are left to public opinion as burning moral questions, accounts for our failure to deal with them effectively and explains also our morbid preoccupation with their spectacular results to the complete neglect of their sources and causes.

Crime and delinquency are both social problems of the first magnitude and if we are to make any real progress in dealing with them, we will have to meet the issue squarely, without equivocation and without "passing the buck." We will have to free ourselves from the shackles of prejudice and mere opinion and approach the matter with an open mind. We will have to adopt methods of investigation and procedure appropriate to the seriousness of the problem. In short, common sense dictates that it is time to put aside oratory and sentimentalizing and to place the whole question on the plane of scientific research where it belongs.

Now if the whole question of crime and delinquency is too extensive and complicated for the layman to handle by oratory and sentiment, is it also too big a question for any one group of "experts" to solve by themselves. The police, the criminologists, the legal profession and the psychiatrists have all entered the field but their weakness arises from the fact that they are professionally limited to special phases of the subject. Furthermore, because each group has held aloof from the others, and felt itself to be superior to all other groups, there has only been dissension and ill feeling where good will and team work should have prevailed. This attitude of jealous rivalry and suspicion has magnified the limitations of each group and made them so obvious that the layman discredits whatever contribution they have made as sentimental and protective of the criminals.

Crime does not spring from a single root and therefore unfortunately, there is no single cure for it. The causes of crime and delinquency are so many and varied and some of them so little understood that we are not going to be able to do much about it until we all join forces in a united attack.

What Will Six Million Women Do?

BY PHEBE K. WARNER

Twenty-five years ago there was not a Home Demonstration club in this nation. There were no farm boys' clubs. There were no farm girls' clubs. Up until that day our rural life was unorganized. Everybody worked alone and after his own notions that had been handed down to him from the Garden of Eden. From the very beginning of agriculture in that historic garden, no effort had ever been made to bring the farm population of any county together in a county-wide program for the welfare of every farm and home and family in the county.

Practically every other industry had been organized from the beginning. They had to be to live and thrive. But somehow farmers and their families had managed to live up to that time by each family group living alone, working alone, producing their crops alone and marketing their crops alone. It seems that no one had ever thought of such a thing as farmers working together to promote one another's interests.

Organizations were something that belonged to our towns and cities just like sidewalks and street lights. We didn't need them in the country. Country folks could get along very well in the mud and the dark. A lot of us are still dragging along in the mud and in the dark. But thank goodness some of us have seen the light and are getting out of the mud.

The year 1903 will go down in history as the date of the turning point in the agricultural life of this nation.

The great experiment which led to this turning point was inaugurated in 1903 when Dr. Knapp succeeded in putting on the first farm demonstration experiment in history. But it was not until the year 1904 that the results of that farm demonstration were made known and then the discovery was made that the 100 acre farm that he had superintended and on which he had yielded $700 more than the average of all the other land in the community.

The experiment made such a deep impression on the people that there was a call for 38 special farm agents to put the work in East Texas and Louisiana. Today, of our 2945 counties in the United States, more than 2,300 counties are supporting county agricultural agents and 1200 counties are supporting county home demonstrators, and of our 6,000,000 farm homes in the United States more than one million of them are carrying on their home and farm work directly under the supervision of these expert men and women.

Where men refused to accept the new doctrine of agriculture, the BOYS said "Give it to us." As a result the first Boys Corn Clubs were created in 1908. Boys Cotton Clubs followed in 1909, and the Pig Club in 1911. The first Tomato Club for girls was organized by Miss Marie Cromer, in Aiken county, South Carolina, in 1910. Today more than 600,000 farm boys and girls are leading the world in their agricultural work through their 4-H clubs.

But it was not until after his death in 1911 that the Dr. Seaman A. Knapp's vision for the farm home and the farm women came true, when Congress passed the Smith-Lever bill that provided state and federal funds for the purpose of broadcasting the very best information in agriculture and home making wherever the state and county were willing to meet their quota of the necessary funds. This was only fifteen years ago. Today hundreds of thousands of farm women are enrolled in the greatest educational work that was ever brought within the reach of the whole farm family.

To measure its influence for the good of our nation is impossible. To merely catch a glimpse of the fruits of our cooperative farm demonstration work one would need to go to our A & M Short Course and mingle with those 5,000 boys and girls, men and women, from our farms, college professors, county superintendents, newspaper men, rural ministers, railroad men, and experts in every line of agricultural interests. What else would ever have brought such a varied mass of humanity together to listen to the different stories of battles fought and victories won on the farm. The whole state of Texas and the whole nation is getting acquainted with itself through our home demonstration work and its kindred interests. You should hear the stories of the homes that have been beautified; the yards that have been made over; the new business that has been developed in the home town. The talent that has been discovered and set to work. The spirits that have been revived. The mortgages that have been paid, the children that have been educated. The lives that have been lifted to a higher level. If a few hundred thousand women have done so much for their homes and communities in the past 15 years, what will 6,000,000 farm women do in the next twenty-five years?

Thug Party Given By Juniors Proves A Howling Success

The Juniors gave their thug party last Thursday night instead of waiting two weeks. Thursday morning the preparations began. The gym was converted into an old time saloon selling whiskey (grape juice) and candies. Albert Pearson and Jerry Sitton were chief carpenters while Carl McLearn, Carl Gerlach, Glenn Hunter and Clarence Jackson as chief assistants.

Keeps the Door

The party began at 7:30 with James Hammond as doorkeeper and Clarence Jackson and Jerry Sitton as bartenders. Then came the card sharps and other gamblers. The girls came also and the fun began as many gun battles were staged by Albert Pearson, Glenn Hunter, Clarence Jackson and others. There were no serious injuries although several bruises were received.

Crowd Was Small

The crowd was smaller than expected because of the extreme cold weather and the Juniors did not net as much as they would have. The party was enjoyed by every one present.

There were several Seniors present as they decided to help themselves to receive a "feed" at the Junior-Senior banquet, as the funds of the party was for this purpose.

HI SCHOOL BAND MEETS ON MONDAY

The Hi-School Band met Monday night at the band house for its regular weekly rehearsal. All of the members were present. Some of the members of the Memphis Gold Medal Band were present also, namely, Mr. Potts, Homer Johnson, Jet Fore, who helped with their instruments.

J. H. Read, vice-president of the Hall County National Bank of this city, was present. Mr. Read says that the band is progressing rapidly.

Many compliments were also paid the high school band by the members of the Gold Medal Band.

GLEE CLUB REHEARSES

The Hi-School Glee Club met in its regular Monday Morning rehearsal Monday morning.

Mrs. Shelley issued new concert numbers, on which the club began practicing immediately.

The club is continuing its preparations for entering the contest to be held at Amarillo in April.

PLAN FOR MEET

The faculty met last Thursday afternoon after school for the purpose of appointing teachers to take charge of the different activities which the Interscholastic meet consists of. They have begun already on the training of the students for the different track games and in the literary work. The high school hopes to take off the banner.

CONDUCTS SINGING

Friday morning, Mrs. Shelley conducted the singing of "rounds." The student body entered into it whole heartedly and after the chapel had come to a close, everyone went away with a smile on his or her face.

TEMPLETON SPEAKS

Wednesday morning the following chapel program was given:

Song, "Come Thou All Mighty King," Charles Wesley, sung by the student body.

Short sermon, "The three most important Verses of Scripture found in the Bible," by Rev. S. E. Templeton, pastor of the Church of Christ of this city.

The sermon was enjoyed by everyone as they received many good points from it.

Loree Duke went to Clarendon Sunday, January 27. She reports having a good time, although it was cold.

Eloise Cooper returned to school Monday after several weeks of illness at her home on South Eighth street. Miss Cooper was elected the "best all-round girl" of the Senior Class for this year.

also shown in the words spoken by Confucius, which were, "What the superior man seeks is in himself; what the small man seeks is in others." The small man looks for help from the man who has a good character; because he realizes his superiority.

CHOICE CONTEST CLOSED LAST THURSDAY

Frances Denny, Raymond Evans Carry Off Honors

The winners of the Beauty Contest were announced last Thursday morning by Ted Read which were as follows: Frances Denny as the "prettiest girl," Raymond Evans as the "most handsome boy," Eloise Cooper as the "best all-round girl," and Emmett Lee Walker as the "best all-round boy."

The contest has caused much interest among the student body especially the Sophomores and Seniors. The first ballot was not bought by the Sophomores as it could not be had by them and as there were no more bids on the ballot, it was dropped.

Seniors Buy Ballot

The second ballot was bought by the Senior Class for three hundred and sixty-five dollars which merely closed the contest.

The Senior Class has had some opposition this year concerning the putting over of certain things, but has won out by a hard battle.

The Senior class wants the annual of this year to be one of the best ever issued by the Memphis High School for it is one of major things which go to represent the school.

Impromptu Program Rendered in Chapel On Monday Morning

On Monday morning of January 22, an impromptu program was officiated by Mrs. Elmer Shelley. It was the first of its kind to be rendered in the high school this year. Many students expressed their appreciation of that kind of program.

The program rendered by students and members of the faculty unexpectedly was: "Can't you Heah Me Callin' Caroline" by H. A. Jackson, Supt., who Mrs. Shelley has "dubbed" as the "Singing Superintendent." Piano, "Country Gardens" by Percy Grainger—Alice Ruth McClaren.

Reading, "A ten year old Girl's Marriage Views"—Ernestine Walker.

Piano, "Out of the Dawn" and "Ear Test"—Ethel Lucile Ballew.

Annie Bishop, a member of the Senior Class, returned to school Thursday after several days of illness.

Alice Baker returned to school Monday after being detained at home on account of the illness of her mother.

Velma Monzingo returned to school Monday after two weeks of illness. Miss Monzingo regrets that she has lost so much time but expects to make it up.

Hazel Owens returned to school last Friday after a light attack of the influenza.

Car Owners Must Buy 1929 License Plates By Friday

Car owners who have not paid their nineteen hundred and twenty-nine car license are given warning by Sheriff Christian, that on and after next Friday morning, every car owner, irrespective of person, will be arrested and the penalty for such offense will be placed on such car owner.

Sheriff Christian has been lenient with all owners of cars who have not yet purchased their license plates and they should now be equally as courteous by not delaying placing the plates on their cars or leave their cars in the garage until such plates have been purchased and placed on their machines.

Cyclone Continues March to Victory In Basket Racket

Facing a terrific north wind and amid a flurry of snow the Cyclone basketball team journeyed to Hedley Thursday night and defeated them to the score of 27 to 11. This game was played under a series of hardships among which the largest was the cold. The boys said they were freezing when they went into the game and frozen when they came out.

Second Defeat

This did not hinder them from playing another good game. This is the second time Memphis has defeated Hedley this year. The officiating of this game was by Bill Mobley who is a citizen of Hedley. He called a fair game and the boys were well pleased with his officiating. There were no substitutes entered during the game. The players were: Stargel, captain, forward; May, forward; Dennis, center; Stidham, running guard; Burnett, standing guard.

Last Wednesday night the local basketball squad defeated Turkey to the tune of 37 to 12. This was the first game of the season with Turkey and the results surprised some of the fans but not the Memphis boys.

Second Team Plays

This was a fast game and the players were seemingly in good physical condition. The second team saw considerable action in this game. It was not necessary for the first team to play all the game although the Turkey coach thought his team was slated to win. This was the tenth successive win for the black and gold. There will be more to come.

Starters of the game were: Stargel, forward, May forward; Dennis, center; Stidham, running guard; Burnett, standing guard. Substitutes were: Massey, guard; Monzingo, guard; C. Stargel, forward; Johnson, forward; Harrison, center.

SCHOOL FACULTY TO GIVE PLAY

Everyone has been asking about the play to be given by the faculty and when. The play is "Her Step-Husband." This is the first play of this nature given by the faculty. Everyone wonders whether Mr. Gore, the real husband, is going to let his wife get her another husband. Why can't the man who is courting Mr. Gore's wife, think differently of him than to think he is the butler?

The date will be announced in the near future.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for your loyal support and for the blankets that you have given us. We also thank you for the footballs and all that the citizens of Memphis have done for us this year. It is our sincerest hope that you will have the pleasure of seeing a winning team next year and we hope that you will be as good to them as to us. THE MEMPHIS CYCLONE.

Fifty Best Books Of 1927 Will Be Placed in Library

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 (Special)—Through the courtesy of the Book Club of Texas, of which a number of University of Texas faculty members and ex-students are members, the fifty best books for 1927 will be brought to the University and placed on display in the Wrenn Library and adjoining rooms March 2-16, it has been announced. These books have been selected by the American Institute of Graphic Art as the best specimens of arrangement and printing that were published during 1927.

SENTENCED TO CHURCH

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 28. (UP)—Otis Owens, 38, must go to church every Sunday for the next six months and remain perfectly sober during that period—or pay a fine of ten dollars and costs and serve thirty days on the Indiana state farm.

That was the sentence passed recently by Municipal Judge Clifton E. Cameron when Owens admitted he had just finished serving a 40 days' sentence on the farm for drunkenness, and added as an extenuating circumstance that he hadn't been to church since he was a boy.

Years Ahead of every other gas range

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGES

"My Direct Action Range performed wonderfully" said Mrs. Ihrig at the close of the first session of the Democrat cooking School Monday. It is really remarkable how much faster these fine stoves will bake, and the double oven, which simplifies broiling and toasting, is the handiest arrangement I've seen."

Health is something to be thankful for—safeguard it!

The best thing about the goodies that come out of a General Electric Refrigerator is that they're always healthfully fresh. All year round this quiet, automatic refrigerator maintains the scientifically correct temperature that checks the growth of bacteria—and safeguards health. This perfect refrigeration is a necessity even in the coldest months. For kitchens do get warm, and food isn't really safe to eat unless it is kept below 50 degrees all the time. The General Electric Refrigerator is entirely different from all others—it is indeed "years ahead" in design. All its mechanism is up on top—safe from dust and difficulties—and sealed in an air-tight steel casing. You don't even have to oil it. It is easy to keep clean because it is up-on-legs and because the gentle current of air which radiates from the coils prevents dust from settling. These quiet, automatic, economical General Electric Refrigerators may be purchased either for cash or on deferred payments. Come in and see them or phone for a booklet.

things may be put. As Memphis has a large number of club women, who are required to entertain frequently, her remarks had a direct bearing on the situation here. She said that it was not her business to tell women how to cook, as she recognized that most of them knew how already, but she did desire to show them how to make the most of the articles of food at their command.

Entertaining Talk

Carrying on a highly entertaining talk as she worked, Mrs. Ihrig fashioned delectable dishes with a minimum of effort seemingly. She did not appear to be in a hurry and yet her movements were so systematic, that many women were heard to remark that they wished they could get about in the kitchen as Mrs. Ihrig could and did.

Assisted by a helper and with her "kitchen" immaculately clean, the scene that the lecturer presented as she busied herself in the work, was charming and colorful. If Mrs. Ihrig does not accomplish anything else in the course of the cooking school, and of course she will, she will at least demonstrate to the women of Memphis and Hall County what a treat it is to prepare meals amid surroundings that are entirely charming.

Color Everywhere

Mrs. Ihrig was surrounded everywhere with color—a clean, new, bright green was to be observed in her pots and pans. She said she had taken a fancy to green and used this color in her own kitchen in preference to all the others.

"Knowledge of how to cook and what to cook is now a recognized science closely related both to a happier and longer life," Mrs. Ihrig said in her lecture Tuesday. "Every housewife has her own puzzling 'whys' of cookery. My cooking schools have helped to solve many of them and I hope to be able to help the women in this territory. Bring your 'whys' with you to the cooking school and let's work them out."

Whys and Wherefores

"To the housewife, some knowledge of the whys and wherefores of processes in cookery—as well as in other processes—means to be forearmed, and in putting her knowledge into practice, she may avoid much mortification of spirit as well as pecuniary losses—and what is of greater value still, assurance of a more cheerful and contented family.

"Such, then, is the motive for this school. I shall give you the reasons, why, for instance, marigold and soufites fall, why bread is sometimes sour, pastry soggy and cakes heavy; why it is best to use a knife for one process and a spoon for another. Come to the cooking school and bring your whys along."

On the Level

One of the Panhandle newspapers in an editorial said it was not right to allow children to drive automobiles. We are thoroughly in sympathy with this editor's views. It is not right, and it is eminently wrong. A child has no business behind a steering wheel—no more business than some grownups have.

Since the Texas legislature is supposed to be working on so many bills, I do not see why some solon does not introduce another bill that would make it an offense, punishable by fine, for a child to drive an automobile until he could see over the steering wheel and until his feet touched the floor of the car. That bill would then do away with children ten years old and under trying to manipulate a car.
