Sights of Los Angeles

By Earl C. Johnson

At the Lankershim Hotel this morning and looked up a road good—Sammy Hale, at this and Estelino, who is the third base with the Port-land of the Pacific Coast. Sam came to Portland Philadelphia, where he put several years around the hot of the diamond for the While, no doubt, slowing down, else he'd still be in the team is here this week for the Los Angeles batters, and seeing him cry about the diamond brings memories of the "Memphis Sox," that pre-war semipro team which made things miserable for practically every baseball team in Texas, Oklahoma and Mexico.

Coming to the office this morning in the street car, we noted of the twenty people in the compartment, fifteen women, four of whom were puffing away on their favorite brand of coffin We believe the majority of men in Los Angeles indulge in weed. Few of them smoke pipe, it is true, but tobacco tell us that women are the best customers. And they smoke cigarettes. The day of the scented fag for the past. Nowadays, they are the regular he-man kind, the stronger tobaccos are the favorite.

o-o-o
While in the morning papers Bob Schuler had one of his stolen last night, but it was covered by the coppers... problem just a publicity gag... try to keep up with Sister Aimee newspaper lineage. It is a dull in Los Angeles newspaper when either Bob or Aimee make the front page. A specialty seems to be radio, contempt of court and lambasting of city, county and federal officials. It goes in for kidnappings, break-downs, law suits, income difficulties. But, of them prove the old adage advertising pays. If you believe it, try and get a service in either Trinity Methodist church or Angelus place.

Talking of preachers reminds of the better world, and that goes to mind the fact that here in Los Angeles, if you are so led, you can take an angel's ride at small expense. At 2nd Hill streets a cable railway carries passengers up a steep grade the street for a block. So is the grade that the street is even opened through for If you haven't the price of light, there are steps and you use them for nothing, but if you've hooped it up, the thing thousands of steps, you wish you'd borrowed a dime to ride the dinky up the hill.

Music lovers of Southern California are flocking to Los Angeles now, the Hollywood Bowl having started this week. The next three months regular concerts will be held in the outdoor bowl in the world, using great orchestra directors, vocalists, violinists and ballet. Billed as "Symphonies Under the Stars," these programs recognized internationally. We have of no prettier sight than Hollywood Bowl, in its setting of natural greenery, nestled at the foot of the Hollywood Hills, one of the programs in progress.

The Fourth of July was observed, per schedule, last week, they really observe the holiday here. The city looked like a small town last Saturday, but the beaches looked like a convention of all the people in the world. If you didn't get to the beach before daybreak, you have even a slim chance of seeing the ocean all day. Fires of the explosive kind were reported in the city, and only two fires were reported in this city of millions, with but fifty injuries reported from fire. However twenty were reported on the Fourth, which make up the toll for the summer.

A national celebrity has streets a few weeks back, standing on the corner, waiting for the signal to change, when he was approached by a galoot with one lamp, who had no aviation wings we saw a display on our coat lapel. If we were interested in the air transport lines, we told him we were at present "has-beener" in aviation. Then he introduced himself as "One Eyed" Connally, and he was trying to arrange for a flight back east for the bushkin flight. Had quite a talk with the old rascal and he had some amusing events in mind. At the time he was carrying a nose in a sling, and he had "crashed the Wrigley Field the night before on horseback, but had missed the height of the cross-top, hence the injured nose. It seems all the celebrities in the world gravitate to Los Angeles at one time or another, from the Prince of Wales to "One Eye."

We are pleased to announce to our customers and friends that we have secured the exclusive dealership for Diamond 760 Oils and Greases. This oil comes from the Mid-Continent field at Tulsa, Oklahoma and is refined by the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, one of the largest independent refiners of straight run automobile oils in the world.

The management of the Farmers Union Supply Company has spent considerable time in testing and comparing Diamond 760 Oils with other high grade oils, both in cars and in laboratories. Diamond 760 has the best lubricating and heat-resisting qualities of any oil tested. It is dewaxed and passes the zero cold test. Diamond 760 is guaranteed by us and by the refinery to give you as good results as any oil on the American market, regardless of name or price.

MR. FALL FALLS

ALBERT B. FALL, the once powerful political dictator of New Mexico, member of the state legislature, afterwards United States Senator and Secretary of the Interior in President Harding's cabinet, has begun serving his sentence of a year and a day in the New Mexico penitentiary at Santa Fe for taking a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, oil man, thereby betraying his country, his party and his President.

While we believe Fall is guilty, we think he has been "railroaded" into the pen to save the hides of others high in his party's councils—many of them in public life today. It is interesting to note that one Herbert Hoover was Secretary of Commerce in Harding's cabinet when the oil scandals came to light—that he sat around the same council table with Fall, that he evidently knew what was going on if he was in his right mind.

When the Harding memorial was dedicated recently, Hoover was loud in his denunciation of those who had "betrayed" Harding. He probably had Fall in mind as one of the chief conspirators, but he failed to make mention of the fact that he was in the same cabinet when all the dirty work was going on. Fall says Hoover knew all about the oil leases and we believe he is telling the truth, but Hoover is out after the Presidency for a second time and his utterances at Marion, Ohio, must be construed as political and for a purpose—that purpose being to remain in the White House for four years after March, 1933.

Fall has waged a losing fight for nearly ten years to clear his name, but to no avail. He is an old man, broken in health, in spirit and financially. He must pay dearly for his wrongdoing, but there are many who are just as guilty as Fall who are going free. That may be justice, but it seems to us, it is justice of a very poor brand.

CANNING WHEAT

EXPERIMENTS undertaken by Miss Ruby M. Adams, county demonstration agent and others, prove that wheat may be canned and that it is a palatable dish. We have never eaten any canned wheat, but we are willing to try it the first opportunity that presents itself. Wouldn't it be a fine thing if wheat proves as adaptable to canning as any of the products of garden and field that are household necessities?

We are sure Miss Adams will be glad to furnish all information necessary relative to canning wheat. She says the process is a simple one and if such is the case, within a comparatively short time, Hall County people should be eating canned wheat with as much gusto and enjoyment as they now eat beans, beets and all the other products. A new use for an old product always comes in handy—especially in a wheat or cotton country. Canned wheat is a novelty at present, but when the new wars off, it has the earmarks of becoming one of our staple foods.

BOOKS SHOULD BE RETURNED PROMPTLY

BOOKS taken out on readers' cards from the Carnegie Public Library should be returned when they are due and not kept out for indefinite periods, such as is the current practice. Miss Bird Presler, librarian, says she experiences considerable difficulty in getting some of the readers to return the books on time. Books are taken away on vacations, on week-end trips, with apparent flagrant disregard to the return dates. Of course, fines are charged for all books kept out over time, but it must be remembered that hundreds of people are interested in every book taken out and failure to return it, when due, puts the library and readers generally to a considerable amount of inconvenience.

So many people are just naturally careless and then there are others who are unthinking and still others who do not care, just so their own interests are served. It should be remembered that the books purchased for the library are the property of the community to read and that every citizen has an equal share in them.

Rough usage of books is another matter that should come in for its share of attention and consideration here. Readers often turn down a page in marking a place in the book where they have left off reading. This practice is injurious to the book, as it wears the page and will eventually lead to the page being torn out where the crease was made. The library is badly in need of books, at best, and if the proper amount of consideration is shown by the reading public, books in the library would last longer and would provide for wider circulation and distribution.

RUDY VALLEE IS MARRIED

ALTHOUGH married for several weeks, it's still front page news. We are speaking of the recent marriage of Rudy Vallee, given the name of "America's Sweetheart," by a hard-boiled columnist. Not being a radio fan, we have not heard Rudy croon very often, but as often as it has proved to be, was enough with some to spare. Rudy certainly has a punk voice, in our estimation, and his great popularity we attribute to his features. Women seem to "fall for him." He may be handsome, but there is something about his makeup that makes us wonder.

Vallee had a perfect right to get married, but what of his audience? What of the thousands of young women who held out hope, however slight, that some day, in some unexpected way, they would meet their hero face to face and each would fall on the other's neck and weep contentedly at the bliss the meeting would bring about. We believe Mr. Vallee's star is sinking. Unless there is a Reno divorce coming up soon, he will be shorn of much of his glory and will pass from the picture as so many stars have—without even so much as an obituary. This is fame, call it what you will, especially when it is wrapped up in good looks.

My nerves were on edge. I would not sleep at night.

"Cardui did wonders for me. I recommend it to all women who are passing through the critical period of change. I have found it a fine medicine."

—Mrs. Hettie Murphy, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Legislature Finds Itself In Dark As Special Session Opens; Yell For Light

Dear Home Paper:

Well, Mr. Editor, the Legislature is again in session, and the question is, what for?

Some think it is to conserve our natural resources; others that it is to raise the price of oil, wheat and cotton; others that we are to investigate the oil monopolies; while some think that the grand juries, courts and the Attorney General should do the investigating and the Legislature should do the legislation.

No one seems to know what legislation is needed. All acknowledge they are in the dark. Every yell is for light, more light. The switch seems to be gone and no one can find the button to switch on the light. So we are playing "Button, button, who has the button."

It is believed the button is not in Austin; at least not in the Capitol. Hence, a reward may be offered for its return.

We have made provision to pay the expenses of those suspected of having the button, and capable of turning on the light; and, to summons them to appear before the House and make it known if they can produce the needed light. This they must do under oath, and may be punished for perjury if they bear false witness, or refuse to produce the button if in their possession.

This is to be paid for by the state; so that no one need fear to take his light from under the bushel, if it is being thus held, for if it is seen and you are summoned to Austin, it will cost you nothing. No one should so hide their light but let it shine on our benighted minds, for we sorely need light.

Some of us think that it is the same "hog biting the oil business" that has been and is still biting the cotton and wheat raising industries. The cotton farmer has been howling about it since before there was any oil industry in Texas; and he has been contemptuously called a calamity howler. But their lamentations were but a prelude to the exhibition to follow, when the oil business was stung they turned on the steam of the Callopie and turned in the fire alarm until the old-time calamity howler sounded like a piker.

When the farmer was raising such a racket, people charitably inclined were ready to give him advice, telling him how to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before; how to diversify and economize. But that kind of advice is not given the oil man. He would vote you a fit subject for the asylum should you tell him how to make two wells flow where one flowed before.

This is why we must hunt up a different recipe for the oil man. He just refuses to take that old dope.

Now, do not think I have no sympathy for the oil men, for I have. They need the relief asked for. It is just that they should have it. I know how the sting of that bug hurts; but when we exterminate the bug we will relieve the farming and all other industries alike.

We will try to give some light on what is being done here later, if we find the button.

Yours sincerely, SAM A. BRYANT.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Greene, Shirley and Gale, and Ione Webster left Sunday on a two week's vacation and fishing trip to be spent at Creed, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Davenport and daughters, Anna Katherine and Bobbie Clare, left Sunday for a fishing trip at Cowles, New Mexico. They will be away about two weeks.

Mrs. W. B. Wilson and son, Willie Ben, who have been visiting relatives and old friends here the past week, returned to their home in Dalhart Tuesday. They formerly lived in Memphis.

HIT OR MISS

a column by T. R.

I heard a man remark the other day that he thought it wasn't necessary for his son to go to college. Now, I think this man does not fully realize what benefits may be derived from a college education. He was never able to attend college in his younger days, but he has made money and lives comfortably. Evidently the man thinks that his son can do the same. This fellow wants his son to follow the age old tradition that the Chinese have of the son doing the same work that his father does.

The modern age, that we are living in today, calls for a specialized worker, and not for the old school of laborers who have learned by the method of experience. It is admitted that experience is a good teacher, but do not forget that it is costly. Education's purpose is to fit the individual for some special field. Much theory is taught, but the theory is the basis for the solution of problems that appear before men in everyday life.

Modern business is run on a basis of competition, and the business man who is able to see this is the man who wins. College education helps the individual to become proficient in a certain field, and through his proficiency, he is able to stand above the men around him who have not had like advantages. It may not be that as soon as the individual gets his diploma he will walk into a position that pays him $200 a month. No, this is very rarely the case. The individual must start at the bottom and work towards the top. But if he has the right kind of material in him he will progress of a certainty.

College life is not meant to show the individual how to make money; but it is meant to show how to render service to mankind. One may take the money that he spends for a college education in the four year period and loan it out at 6 per cent interest, and in 20 years he will be living off his income. The idea that a college education is to show the individual how to make money is not in keeping with the facts. We must admit that the education will eventually lead to a good earning capacity, but the basic factor is to render service.

Some people say that they know others who have degrees and are doing menial tasks. Now let me ask, did the persons who are doing this go to college for a good time or to learn something? Nine out of ten times the person went for a good time, and did not really get the knowledge that was put before him to learn. He went to play society, and not to study his books.

Please bear in mind though, that books are not all of the education. It is true that many go to school and never see anything but a book. They never realize that any one is about them in their daily walks of life. The other side of the education is the polish that is given through the contact with fellow students. College can put a polish on the individual that he cannot receive elsewhere. A man is no good who is not able to meet his fellows in an impressive manner. But in education, books should stand ever social functions, because if they do not, the individual will come out of college lacking the essential learning that a college education affords.

An education is something that no man can take from you. One may take all of your money, but he will never be able to steal the knowledge that you have stored in your gray matter. There is no point that can be mentioned that will prove that college educations are not beneficial to any man of normal intelligence.

Ushered In As Outgrowth Of War And Widespread Depression

our present era of evil times. Perhaps, it had its origin in the Balkans in the summer of 1914. The stage was all set. And soon with a ring of steel around Germany, the thing was going merrily on to the bitter end. We could not and we cannot escape the result. A thoughtful writer says that now for twelve years Germany has had to pay the tribute she averred she would exact from the nations opposing her; that she has suffered enough for the present, and should be given at least the relaxation of the moratorium.

Our trouble now seems to be that we are geared for aviation with income of the primitive times of old Dobbin and the shay. Our tastes, inclinations and dispositions are ill adapted to our incomes and the financial possibilities of the hour.

War, it is said, is a sort of necessary pruning process. Another says one in pruning does not cut away the healthiest part of the tree—the young manhood of a nation. However, a few good things came out of the war. Perhaps the best was to shake the obtuse qualities out of some people and to make all feel that life on this sphere is a mutually dependent proposition without reservations.

An oft used word indicates the trend of the hour. Readjustment is the term just now. Merger was the hope yesterday. The fruit of the large tree is not always the best. And the fruit of some of the large national mergers is, it is said, proving to be insipid.

The good rains are giving us a seasonable break. And since the human spirit is a resilient thing, of course we will work out.
