C. Invites People Greet Dallas Tour

J. Henry Read, secretary of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, today issued an invitation to the people of Memphis and all surrounding territory to meet the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the Dallas Wholesale Merchants Association representatives when they arrive here Friday evening on their annual business tour.

Especially do we want the people who know some of the representatives to greet them personally and see that they are entertained personally," Mr. Read added. The list of visitors are printed below.

Among the features of the welcome will be a concert by three bands, welcoming addresses, parade and dances Friday night.

The special train on which the visitors will arrive stops at the intersection of the railroad and Main Street at 5:10 o'clock Friday afternoon.

It will be met by Senior and Junior Chamber of Commerce representatives, the two local bands under the direction of Glenn A. Truax, and by several hundred local citizens and visitors from over the territory.

In addition to the two local organizations, the visitors will bring their own band, which will head a parade through the business section.

The parade will end at the court house, where Mayor Bascom E. Davenport will make the welcoming address. The three bands will appear in concert.

Under the direction of Alexander Courtland Keese, program and musical director of radio station WFAA, and assisted by Lou Harris, co-director for the trip, the visiting band will be divided into two orchestras for dances Friday night at the Legion Hall and Memphis Country Club.

The Dallas representatives will meet with local business men, each representing a certain line of business.

The tour spends the night here, leaving at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The street and park around the special train will be lighted, and a telephone will be placed in the train at the disposal of the visitors.

The Dallas visitors making the trip and the businesses they represent are as follows: Artie Compton, Adolphus Hotel; H. W. Bransford, American Type Foundry; Hayden H. Hudson, Baker Hotel; W. R. Boyd, Boyd Printing Company; J. Frank Martino, Butler Brothers; Stuart Bailey, City of Dallas; J. O. Humphreys, Dallas Bank and Trust Company.

Opens Saturday The convention opened here Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock with the registration of delegates.

A supper for Memphis young people and visiting delegates was held yesterday evening at 7 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock, a welcoming address was given by Miss Betty Dale West, chairman of the Homes and Registration Committee.

Tom F. Hunter To Talk On Candidacy Tonight

Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, candidate for governor, speaks here tonight in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Hunter, who predicts that he will be high man in the July primary, is to speak at the court house at 8 o'clock.

In his talk Mr. Hunter is expected to train his political fire on James V. Alfred, a rival candidate, as he has done at other points during his campaign.

"In the three years the little boy with the big breeches has been attorney general he has failed in every major suit he has undertaken," he declared in his discussion of his opponent at Plainview recently.

Hunter has announced he will outline the details of his program "for a Texas recovery." He will also detail his plans for the control of public utilities, the old trust, chain stores and "other organized special interests which are responsible for the plight we are in," as he states.

Hunter was in the race two years ago and polled over 220,000 votes.

SAMUEL INSULL IS RETURNED TO STATES

Fallen Czar Is On Way To Chicago By Train

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Two years exile ended today for Samuel Insull, fallen utilities czar, when a coast guard cutter took him off the steamship Exilona at sea and landed him at Fort Hancock.

Insull was entrained immediately for Chicago in the custody of Barton Y. Berry, secretary of the American legation at Istanbul, Turkey, and brought him back from Europe. He was accompanied by his son, Samuel Jr.

The prisoner passed through here on the train. He is due in Chicago at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Insull stated he is going to "make the most important fight of my life," adding he would seek not only freedom but "complete vindication."

"I made mistakes, but they were honest mistakes," Insull said. "They were errors in judgment and not dishonest manipulations."

The strike has tied up deep sea shipping along the Gulf Coast.

Senior Day Observed By Graduating Class At Bell Ranch Today

Senior Day is a holiday given annually at the high school as a privilege to the graduating class.

On last Friday the final plans and arrangements were left to a committee, composed of Mary Ruth Fultz, vice-president of the class, Mary Ellen Hamilton, Olin Reheis, W. J. Roberts, Estelena Helm, Geraldine Watson, Ira Huckaby and Bernice Woodington.

Mary Ellen Hamilton and Mary Futh Fultz had charge of arranging for transportation and for the purchases incident to the affair, and the others were responsible for preparing and serving the food. Lunches were to be spread together.

In order to raise funds for the food, charges of 25 cents each were placed on the Seniors.

Playing of softball will constitute a major part of the day. The Seniors are expected to return to Memphis tonight at about 8 o'clock.

BRITISH TO USE IMPORT QUOTA ON JAPAN

To Battle Against Increasing Trade Competition

LONDON, May 7.—Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, told the House of Commons today that the British government is preparing to utilize its import quotas as a weapon to battle against increasing Japanese trade competition.

"In the face of Japan's unreadiness to reach a basis of understanding," Runciman said, "the British government came to the conclusion it would no longer be justified in postponing such action as is open, with the view of safeguarding the trade of this country."

Man Charged Here With Auto Theft

Charges of automobile theft were charged here this morning by Sheriff John Alexander, who brought a man here from Estelina and placed him in the county jail. He had not made bond early this afternoon.

The man, giving his name as John Hainy of Tell, was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning at Estelina by Deputy C. N. McWhorter, who notified the sheriff.

The automobile was reported stolen at Quail last night. It was returned from Estelina.

Local Sheriff Goes "Gunning" For Dillinger

Had Clyde Barrow or John Dillinger happened to pass through Memphis last weekend, he would have received a hearty welcome from the local sheriff's force.

Sheriff John Alexander was trying out a new sub-machine gun and a tear gas gun last Friday, and he was "gunning" for law-breakers.

The sheriff took the machine gun out on a country road and did a little target practice. He reported that he could shoot a lariat rope in two.

A petition will probably be made to the Commissioners' Court to buy the gun. It is understood that Wellington and other neighboring towns are equipped with machine guns.

Memphis Debate Team Eliminated In Initial Contest At Austin Friday

Memphis debate team, composed of Hubert Dickson and Lewis Foxhall, was eliminated in the first round of debating at the State Inter-scholastic League Meet in Austin last Friday.

The local debaters were defeated by the Van debating team, the judges' decision being 4-3.

Despite the fact that the locals lost the first debate, they made an enviable record in that they composed the first Memphis debate team ever to advance so far.

Memphis has sent debaters to the state contests on several occasions, but due to the fact that this is the first year in which regional contests were held, the team this year made a better record than previous teams by winning the right to represent this region of the state in Austin.

The Memphis debate team, accompanied by Coach Harold Walker and Miss Obie Crabtree, debate coach, left for Austin last Thursday and returned to Mem-

Wonder if they are old-fashioned enough to let the poor devil praise his Lord with song when he gets there. The Castro County News: "The Star-Telegram's Austin correspondent points out one sidelight on the plea for 'abolition' of the state ad valorem tax made by candidates at the time of the recurring primary campaign which is never mentioned by the candidates who most espouse the 'issue.' It is that abolition of the state ad valorem tax would reduce by a comparatively small amount the tax bill of the average property owner, would save a fortune each year for certain large holders of property in the state."

World Famous Cowboy Band To Play Concert In Memphis May 11

The world famous Cowboy Band of Simmons University, Abilene, will present a program of concert music and novelty entertainment at the Memphis High School auditorium here Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock, appearing under the auspices of the Senior Class. The concert here is one of a number in North Texas and Panhandle towns where the band is conducting a tour.

played for rodeos, conventions, fairs and in concert in half the states of the Union and in several European countries. D. O. Wiley, who has directed the Cowboy Band for 12 years, will conduct the musicians here. Members of the band are regular students in Simmons who are specializing in the school of band music.

Having appeared in a large number of Texas cities and towns before, the Cowboys are bringing on this tour a brand new program of music and cowboy novelty acts. Stirring marches, popular tunes and cowboy songs will be interspersed with a variety of solo artists and other individual performers.

PANHANDLE PARAGRAPHS by PRESS PEOPLE

Jimmie Gillentine in Wellington Leader: "The artists of this county (and they are numerous) are displaying a series of paintings in the Collingsworth County Library. What is more, these paintings are plenty good. I have had the privilege of seeing a few of them and I expect to see the entire group of exhibits. Collingsworth County is blessed with an unusual number of persons who are interested in art—and the county is rapidly gaining state-wide recognition due to the fact, Texas, as a state, is behind many other states in this respect and much work as the local art patrons and artists are doing is well worth state and national recognition."

The Tulia Herald: "Right now spring is in the air, and nature, in her annual awakening, is doing her utmost to beautify this old world of ours. A little help on our part would not be amiss. In the winter many things are neglected. Vacant lots, yards and even streets become unsightly. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, in the interest of better health, safety and improved appearance. Such a clean-up campaign is a splendid activity for civic clubs, chambers of commerce or Boy Scouts to sponsor."

Olin E. Hinkle in The Pampa Post: "Participation" is a word with a new emphasis in education. It means that students should be impressed with the necessity of taking an active, personal interest in public affairs. It means, too, that citizens should be willing to abide by the laws imposed upon others. We think churches would do well to stress the same word. There are citizens in churches in such numbers that law enforcement would be readily possible if churchmen stood together for consistent enforcement of the statutes. . . . But you can't impress the public through printed warnings with no force behind them."

The Canyon News: "What a mess! What a mess! Every time the Panhandle drouth stricken territory is convinced that something is going to happen in its favor, along comes someone and takes away the hope. After highway officials had made a trip to Washington and straightened out the tangle over the special relief fund allotted to the Panhandle, the state relief director coolly told the highway people that there was no such thing as a special fund for this section. It has been suspected for many months that the trouble existed in Austin rather than in Washington. It was charged that Lawrence Westbrook kept the Panhandle from receiving any part of this fund last fall; now it is indicated that the present state director will not move a finger to start this special road work until definitely directed by

Odds Against Youth, States Olive Barton

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A mother writes that her growing children "are licked before they start because everything is done for them. Too many books, too much school, everything handed to them, nothing to work for."

I agree with her thoroughly. In fact, I'll go still further and add that most of us are licked before we start—these days.

It used to be that children had certain definite aims in life. They knew what those things were. First of all there was school. School was a privilege and boys and girls got up early to help with chores so they could leave home in time for the long walk ahead.

They got books where they could. To obtain books was a decided and definite aim. To get an education, sketchy as it was, was another definite aim.

Life Without Complications To have clothes and necessities was still another, for unless they helped with the chores and chickens, the crops and the harvest, and bent a shoulder to the family wheel, these things would not be forthcoming. A new pair of shoes was an event and the idea of walking to church or singing school in bare feet, pulling on shoe-leather only when the door was reached, did not originate in Scotland, as the story goes. It was a good old American custom not so many years ago.

Nothing was done for the children that they did not have a hand in themselves. They knew that if everybody did not work and pull hard, there would be no clothes, or school, or books, or even groceries.

A situation had only one answer and they knew the answer. No complications about having to decide how to fill their time. No puzzling problems about what was ahead. Few decisions to make except for the super-ambitious. And for the ambitious there was opportunity. The self-made man had not the colossal struggle to be somebody, for the top rungs of the ladder were not crowded.

Today what have children got to work for? Education is handed to them predigested. Children, like grown-ups, don't get very excited about things that cost no effort. Oh, yes, it is an effort to study, but real interest in education as a general thing has receded as opportunity has advanced. We appreciate what we work for and make the most of it.

When they are finished up with studies they are given all sorts of advice about how to succeed.

Youth's Obstacles Today

What are they to succeed in? A thousand avenues open before them, but most of them seem to be filled—all the ladders, too, with good and experienced people falling off the top.

Not so simple as the old way, when a lad had to hire out at $20 a month, or help his father, so he could build a little house some day with his own hands, and marry Molly, the girl of his heart. There was just one thing to do then. To keep alive. One object and one goal—to provide and save a few dollars if possible.

Simplicity was the word and there was no mental confusion about what it was all about.

No wonder our young people are confused. There is so little real incentive and so much against them. The boy knows it will be years before he can marry because hard work and energy and even ambition are not weapons enough to lick conditions as they are, depression or no depression.

Tests made by scientists prove that color effects are as follows: Red and orange stimulate, deep yellow cheers, green has a slowing effect and white induces irritation.

The U. S. warship Wateres, in a seaquake of 1868, was carried a quarter mile inland and left high and dry; in 1877 another seaquake sent a wave rolling inland, which picked up the stranded hulk of the Wateres and carried it still farther from the sea, near Africa, Chile.

Music Stimulates Character, Thought Says Bandmaster

BY GLENN A. TRUAX
May I speak as one who was born and reared on the farm; one who has endured hardships to get a musical education, and one who has had nine years experience in the field of public school music.

For many years I have been privileged to watch the social effects of music upon children who had music as a regular subject in school. Through their growing familiarity with good music I have seen the "joy of elevated thought" become each year more of a controlling element in young minds. Many underprivileged children have found, through their awakened love for music, the doorway into richer companionship and wider contacts with life and people than would otherwise have been possible for them. Under the trained eyes of a music supervisor, hidden talent of which the child himself and his family did not dream, has been developed and limited life has been released and become a useful asset to the community.

I am thinking of a little boy who had been separated from boisterous play of his playmates by illness and resulting nervous frailty. He was saved from irritability and isolation by his love for music. In music he could excel. In upper grammar grades and high school, he found peace in his music and now in early manhood he turns from his professional work and seeks music as a thirsty man would a waterfall. He now has recovered from his nervous condition and his physician gives much credit to the magic cure of good music.

I also recall a boy who in high school was considered a "roughneck." During his senior year he had the opportunity of joining the newly organized school band. His participation in music seemed to change his whole attitude toward life. He now is working his way through college and is an honor student.

I have seen boys and girls that in early teens were drifting away from church services for lack of something to hold their interest. They were brought back to pleasurable participation in church choral groups when music was put in the schools, and many of those same boys and girls, now young men and women, are enjoying their opportunity to serve their church and community by singing in the church choir.

There is rooted in some of our pioneer people such ideas that music is a "trivial" accomplishment and has no proper place in a man's life. But in this day of many leisure hours, where can we find a more useful pleasure than the participation in the joys of good music? Those that do not play an instrument may sing. Since 95 per cent of all people can carry a tune, practically everyone should belong to some group that sings. No form of recreation can please everyone, but those that have had the privilege of studying school music are equipped for many useful hours of pleasure and life.

Since National Music Week starts today, let us think and perform good music for our own and our country's sake.

Dr. Henry Wilson of Fort Worth visited his father, Dr. W. Wilson, here Thursday of last week. He was on an inspection trip for the Burlington route.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

The modern home-maker should "know her onions" literally these days because this vegetable which stands third among the truck-garden crops of the United States is of high food value. A thorough understanding of its virtues and many uses aids us in planning nourishing and attractive meals at small cost. Modern research has explained truth of the old saying, "Eat onions in May, and all the year after the doctors may play."

New onions come under the head of succulent vegetables. As a source of vitamins and mineral salts they rank with the best of the leafy vegetables. The "dry" winter onions differ considerably in their food properties although they are rich in mineral constituents and are a nourishing vegetable.

Tops Have Vitamin A

It's worth keeping in mind that the tops of spring onions are an excellent source of Vitamin A and should therefore be used rather than thrown away. Carefully washed, crisped and shredded, they can be combined with shredded leaf lettuce in a plain green salad or they may be used with other vegetables to give an appetizing tang to the mixture. Minced onion tops combined with cottage cheese is a good combination to serve with fish.

The tender spring onions are much easier to digest than the strong-juiced dry ones and are a splendid raw food for this reason. When cooked they naturally are less flavorful than the winter varieties and make a delicate and inviting vegetable.

If you have never served green onions in a rich cream sauce on toast you can enjoy the thrill of something new. Cook them with two or three inches of the green top remaining above the white part in boiling salted water until tender. Use some of this water in the sauce. Then make a rich cream sauce and pour over onions arranged on hot toast. If topped with poached eggs, this makes an appetizing main dish for supper or luncheon. Grated cheese added to the sauce increases the protein content. Or sprinkle grated cheese over onions and sauce on toast and put into a hot oven long enough to melt the cheese.

New onions make good sandwiches, too. Cut the little onions in thin slices and spread evenly on thin slices of buttered bread. Sprinkle lightly with salt, cover with buttered bread, trim off crusts and serve.

Onion and Orange Salad

This is a zestful combination that makes a splendid salad. It's

MISS GILREATH WINS STATE CROWN

Downs San Antonio Entry In Girls Tennis Finals

Winning over the San Antonio contestant in the final round of the State Interscholastic League Meet in Austin last Saturday, Jimmie Gilreath of Lakeview became the first Hall County student to ever attain the state girls' tennis title.

Jimmie, coached by her sister, Miss "Tops" Gilreath, fought her way into the final round Saturday by administering a 7-5, 6-3 defeat over the entrant from Paint Rock in a semi-final contest.

Last year's state singles winner from Marshall fell before Jimmie Gilreath Friday, 6-2, 6-0. The Marshall entrant had been picked as the probable state winner.

This marks Jimmie's third year in tennis. The first year she lost in the district contests at Childress (Continued on page 8)

RACING MEET IS HEADED FOR SUCCESS

Tri-State Program Has Fine List Of Entries

(Special to The Democrat)
AMARILLO, May 7.—Ted Taylor, manager and secretary of the Tri-State Fair and Racing Association, is wearing a broad and innocuous grin these days.

And why shouldn't he be happy? His efforts to promote thoroughbred horse racing in the Panhandle seem destined to succeed beyond his fondest dreams.

Not only is fan interest at high pitch over the racing program to be held here June 15-25, but indications are that one of the best fields of thoroughbreds ever to stable at a minor track will be on hand for the gala occasion.

Memphis Owls To Meet Paducah Here Tuesday; Split Week-End Games

After taking their fifth straight victory and then dropping their first game of the season, the Memphis Owls go into action at Fair Park again tomorrow afternoon against the invading Paducah nine.

padding at Claude. The Owls defeated the Turks, 14 to 4, in a wild slugging demonstration. Their 8-4 loss at Claude bore out predictions that the Mustangs were set for revenge of a loss here earlier in the season. Only two men who played here were in the line-up yesterday, and Manager Jack Boone took only five Owl regulars into the fray.

Paducah holds a wide victory over Childress and is reported to be one of the strongest clubs in that section. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Admission is 10 and 25 cents, with women admitted free.

Completing the week's play, the Owls have two tentative games here. On Thursday Chillicothe is to be the invading club, and on Sunday the strong Tullia nine may play at Fair Park.

"OUR BOARDING HOUSE" with MAJOR HOOPLE

When Gene Ahern first started drawing "Our Boarding House" the characters consisted of Mrs. Martha Hoople and the boarders. Then one day there wandered onto the scene a famous world traveler, lecturer, big game hunter, scientist, soldier and what-have-you—in other words, Major Amos Hoople himself.

From that instant the comic was "made." The public seized it and installed it as a real favorite, because Major Hoople, a modern edition of Baron Munchausen, tickled its fancy.

There's no imitating Major Hoople; he's all alone. Nobody but the redoubtable Major could say "Egad!" and "Har-rumph!" and get away with it; nobody could spin yarns like his and live. He's a daily vaudeville show in himself.

THE LIBRARY SOUNDS AN S. O. S.

MATERIAL now available in the Carnegie Library is described by the library board as wholly inadequate to meet the daily needs of patrons. Four of the citizens charged with the successful operation of the library appealed to the city council last Tuesday night for an appropriation of $500 to provide books and magazines of which the library has been in need for a number of years. The amount requested, it is understood, will only partially fill the existing need, but even that sum will make possible a decided improvement in a situation that has gone from bad to worse.

The city was unable to appropriate more than $135, the amount set up in the budget for the fiscal year. A state law provides that budget appropriations—once they are set—must not be deviated from. The council expressed sympathy toward the library problems and a regret that a larger amount of money could not be granted.

As we understand it—and we believe our information is authentic—there are two ways in which it might be possible for the library to obtain its much needed $500 within the next thirty or sixty days:

First, the city could declare an emergency, enter into a little red tape with the state and convince the proper authorities that our library really needs $500 (and more—much more) and receive permission to alter the budget.

Secondly, the library board could take immediate steps to induce the council to appropriate a larger amount of money for the library when the budget is made up in June. The money would then become available soon after the budget was approved.

The Democrat does not condemn the city council for the present deplorable condition of the Carnegie Library. Memphis, like every other municipality, has been through several trying years—years that called for the conservative handling of available funds. Rather, we would compliment the council for the admirable manner in which the city's finances have been guarded and apportioned. However, this newspaper does want to be placed on record as sincerely hoping that the council will speedily find a way to provide the financial aid our Library must have if it is to be of any value to the community.

Burdenless taxation is a thing unknown,—however popular the formula which appears to tax the other fellow. Taxes have a way of diffusing themselves among populations. BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Democrat's Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Republican GHQ, secretly crouched to pounce on what it thinks will be the first invasion of the Federal scientific services by Democratic spoilsmen, might as well relax.

Secretary of Interior Ickes has surreptitiously disappointed it. The job involved is that of Scot Turner, chief of the Bureau of Mines, Hoover appointee. The bureau has just been transferred from the commerce department, to which Hoover annexed it years ago, back to the interior department. Turner is an expert, unconnected with politics.

Word got around that Democrats would use the reorganization to get rid of Turner and put in a fellow with political endorsements. At least a dozen mining states formally advanced candidates for the job and there's been plenty of patronage pressure.

Ickes fooled politicians in both parties by quietly appointing a committee of scientists to which he gave a list of names, including Turner's. The committee may even decide to recommend Turner. Anyway, there'll be little excuse for the G. O. P. barrage now planned.

Congressman Foils a Gyp

Members of the House were astonished the other day to find themselves being chauffeured up and down in a Capitol elevator by Congressman Jed Johnson of Anadarko, Okla. His nephew, L. D. Johnson, is the regular operator. It seemed young Johnson had had to take an hour off to keep an engagement and an acquaintance had offered to handle the elevator for a dollar. Uncle Jed heard about it and insisted it was highway robbery. He'd run it himself first. And he did.

Accuse Hitler of Giant Plot

Certain people who make it part of their business to report confidentially to the state department of their return from trips abroad have dropped the tip that Hitler and his buddies are promoting an ambitious scheme to draw a "steel ring" around Russia and then close it.

Such reports square with knowledge of Germany's recent secret overtures to Japan and the known belief of some Nazi leaders that they should seek expansion eastward.

Hitler, apparently, wants to line up Japan, Rumania, Poland, and the 30,000,000 Ukrainian Russians. If he could persuade Mussolini to send the Italian fleet into the Black Sea, so much the better.

The story seems fantastic and much of the evidence is inferential. But our diplomats wouldn't put it past Adolf. They doubt, however, whether Hitler can break up the French hegemony known as the Little Entente.

HEALTH

Generally Fatal Leukemia Occurs When Number of White Cells in Blood Increase and Red Cells Break Down

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Lately you might have read about children in whom the white blood cells were increasing in amount so that death occurred rather promptly thereafter. The condition is called leukemia, leukocytthemia, and a variety of other names.

The cause of this strange malady is unknown. It is so severe a disease that the child usually dies within one week to two months after it begins. Acute leukemia occurs most frequently in childhood, although it may occur at any age.

Normally a human being has about 7,500 white blood cells in every cubic millimeter of blood. In the condition called leukemia the white blood cells increase very rapidly in amount and may reach figures of from 100,000 to 1,000,000 white blood cells for every cubic millimeter of blood.

As the white blood cells increase, the red blood cells decrease and the red coloring matter of the red blood cells breaks down. Under such conditions death usually follows.

Obviously in a condition of this type, the doctor does everything that he possibly can to sustain the body against the attack with the hope that eventually it will be able to throw off the disturbance by the process of nature which tends toward recovery in most disease conditions.

Hence, the chief method of treating this type of disease is to inject blood into the body directly through a vein, with the hope that the injected blood will provide the necessary attacking elements and also with the hope that the new blood supply will be able to take care of the needs of the body which arise because its red blood cells have been destroyed.

As you have no doubt noted from reports, these blood transfusions may be given in considerable numbers.

MUSIC TO OUR EARS

Members of The Democrat staff have been showered all day today with compliments on the Sunday Democrat. Sincere congratulations have come from people in every walk of life in the community.

This, indeed, is music to our ears. The hundreds of kind words spoken to us concerning the initial issue of the Daily Democrat prove to us more conclusively than ever a fact of which we were already aware—that the people of Memphis and surrounding territory are undoubtedly the finest in the world.

More than that, your expressions of confidence charge us with a responsibility that we pledge ourselves not to neglect. It is our intention to publish a newspaper every day that you will be glad to receive in your home. We hope your appreciation of our efforts will be extended to include every week day, as well as each Sunday.

Please let us have your suggestions. If we are not carrying news or departments that would interest you, let us know. Every effort will be made to publish the kind of newspaper YOU would like the Daily Democrat to be.

We deeply appreciate your hearty acceptance of the Daily Democrat and we trust you will continue to lend your co-operation in our efforts to do whatever we may to help Memphis and the Memphis Area grow and prosper.

SAN ANGELO IS SET FOR WTCC CONVENTION

Program Ready For Meeting Starting Next Monday

(Special to The Democrat)
SAN ANGELO, May 7.—San Angelo is all set for the entertainment of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention opening Monday, May 14, and officials of the organization say the program is ready.

Wm. Hemphill Jr., chairman of the general arrangements committee, is urging everybody to come to San Angelo on Sunday the day before the convention opens. There will be motor boat racing on Lake Nasworthy early in the afternoon. A pre-convention joint religious service is scheduled in the city auditorium for Sunday evening. Walter D. Cline, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and A. D. Foreman, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, are the speakers.

W. T. C. C. officials have announced a strong program, both from the standpoint of speakers and subjects. Walter Cline will make the keynote address of the convention Tuesday morning. Dr. Herman G. James, president of the University of South Dakota, will give his view on where we are going in governmental affairs. Dr. James is an outstanding authority on government, and a former Texan, having headed the school of government in the University of Texas several years ago.

Dempster McMurphy, assistant to Colonel Knox, publisher of the Chicago News, is the other general convention speaker.

James F. Owens, prominent in civic and business affairs in the state of Oklahoma for many years, is to speak before the rehabilitation group conference, Monday afternoon, May 14. Owens' subject is the NRA, and he is being sent to this convention by the National Recovery Administration at Washington.

Other speakers before the Rehabilitation conference are Chas. B. Braun of the Texas relief office at Austin; Houston Harte, member of the Texas Relief Commission; Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Texas Technological College, Lubbock; A. C. Williams, Houston, and James Shaw, Dallas.

McCOOL BARBER SHOP IS MODERN COMPANY

The McCool Barber Shop is the eighth shop in Memphis. Answering The Democrat's request that any errors appearing in Sunday's initial daily edition be called to our attention, C. W. McCool notified this office that a story said there were eight shops here but gave the names of only seven of them. The McCool shop was the one omitted. Mr. McCool has a modern shop with modern equipment, and it should not have been overlooked.

Send to Clark's for it.

Jimmie has another year in high school, and as Lakeview is not an affiliated school, she plans to enter Memphis next year. This should assure Memphis of a winning tennis team next year.

Up until her semi-final game in Austin, Jimmie had only lost eight games all year, progressing through county, district, regional and the initial state contest.

Jimmie and Miss "Tops" Gilreath arrived in Memphis Sunday night, having with them a large loving cup, trophy of the first place winner, and an individual medal.

Side Glance

By George Clark

"TRUE TO LIFE" is an overworked expression, to be sure, but it is hard not to use it in describing those humorous and wistful glimpses of life's parade called "Side Glances."

George Clark combines with a splendid art talent the characteristics of a trained reporter. There's a human touch to "Side Glances" which few comics possess and which characterizes only the great ones.
