

U.S. Repeats Opposition To Jap Move

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK by Joe Pickle

"Young men and women," our old college prey often adjured the student body, "take the long look."

The West Texas chamber of commerce assembled in its annual convention last week paid honor long due in declaring B. Reagan, Big Spring, as the outstanding director of the regional organization.

Monday at 8:30 p. m. the city commission will hold the annual public hearing on the fiscal budget. In past years there have been no vital changes wrought after these hearings and there is little basis for expecting drastic changes this year.

Report of the county treasurer for the month of April shows...

Highway West Is Completed

Traffic Now Routed Over New Overpass; No. 9 Work Pushed

Highway operations in Howard county definitely entered the home stretch last week with the completion of a three-mile stretch of surfaced road on highway No. 1 west.

The improved segment will cause traffic to be routed over the new $40,000 overpass, isolated since its completion several months ago and eliminates the notorious "six-mile crossing," one of the most dangerous in this section of the state.

Like the west end job, the work will abolish the only other highway grade crossing in the county as it will be cut over the new $25,000 overpass 17 miles east.

With crews progressing rapidly in the placing of culch in a 5-mile strip from Howard county to the Dawson county line, the highway No. 9 south project is rapidly taking shape.

Completion of the entire stretch from Big Spring to the Dawson county line is predicted for August. It will give Big Spring an all-weather connection with Lamesa.

Purchase Of Port By City Up To Voters

Question Of Warrant Issuance Will Be Decided Monday

PROPERTY RENDITION HELD A REQUIREMENT

Whether the city of Big Spring will acquire the airport properties at a cost of $36,000 and vote an additional $6,000 in warrants for improvement purposes will be decided in a special election Monday.

William Phillips, undersecretary of state, in a press conference, called attention to previous indirect American warnings against such activities.

Replying to inquiries as to whether the Japanese strengthening of its military garrisons in north China was being studied by this government to determine whether a possible violation of the Boxer protocol was involved, Phillips referred newsmen to Secretary Hull's public statement of December 5 concerning the penetration of Japanese influence below the Great Wall of China.

Statement Still Stands He said that so far as this government was concerned that statement still represented the attitude of the United States.

Unusual developments in any part of China, Hull said, "are rightfully and necessarily of concern not alone to the government and people of China but to all of the many powers which have interests in China."

"For," the secretary of state said, "in relations with China and in China, the treaty rights and the treaty obligations of the United States are in general identical. The United States is one of these powers."

EYES ON RUSSIA PEIPIING, May 16 (AP)—Stoic Chinese watched new files of Japanese troops tramp into the northern mainland garrisons tonight and insisted that eyes of Nippon were on two nations: China and Soviet Russia.

While Nanking protested to Tokyo and foreign diplomats, including the American, studied the possible consequences, the Chinese saw this double purpose in triple-strength Japanese garrisons in Peiping and Tientsin.

Enrichment of North China with a view to final occupation and subjugation; preparation for ultimate war with Russia and what Japan calls "the red menace."

Meeting of the board of directors of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion in the near future was announced by Jess Slaughter, president, Saturday.

The board will fix purse figures and outline a tentative program for the annual affair which will stage its third show here September 7-9-10.

Slaughter said that some minor changes were contemplated in the plant set-up before time for the rodeo. The rodeo grounds were completely equipped last year at a cost in excess of $10,000.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Eubanks left today for Fort Worth where they will take part in the three-day meeting of the Texas Retail Credit Bureau and the district meeting of the National Credit Association.

Big Spring, a district office of the national association, will be represented in the district meet also by Eubanks, a stockholder in the organization.

Young was felled by a bullet in the heart, and McWilliams was wounded in the arm and leg.

Other officers in the party summoned state officers and a posse of citizens which swelled at the height of the battle to nearly 300.

Big Spring's Opportunity

(AN EDITORIAL)

Some seven years ago, Big Spring was presented with the opportunity of bringing to the city commercial and governmental units connected with the aviation industry.

As a result, the city became the most important point on the West Texas air map. Big Spring has never had cause to regret its forward-looking action of that time.

But the world doesn't stand still, and the action of seven years ago doesn't meet present needs. Today, another opportunity of similar import presents itself in the question of the city's acquiring, developing and operating the airport as a municipal unit.

The Herald believes that the voters of Big Spring, rendering a decision on the municipal ownership question at the polls Monday, will meet today's opportunity in the same spirit of civic promotion as did the citizenry seven years ago.

There are many strong arguments in favor of municipal ownership of the airport. A landing field, under the present-day setup of transportation, must essentially be public property. It must be the city's provision for commercial and private enterprises linked in the fast-growing field of aviation.

Under municipal ownership—and only under that setup, federal aid is possible to finance improvement of the landing field whereby Big Spring may retain the air services it now has and can attract more. Thus is opened a way to develop the airport at a minimum of local cost.

The cost, comparatively, is small. Citizens who put more than $72,000 into the airport—to help build Big Spring—have agreed to dispose of that property for $36,000.

The American Airlines office, the department of commerce weather bureau and the private plane business are all important factors in this city's commercial life not to be neglected. Each of them represents direct revenue to the city, and each helps bring business to other interests in the city.

There is a future in aviation development that the progressive, growing city will not overlook. Big Spring cannot afford to pass up this present opportunity of stepping ahead. Failing now, the city may not soon again have the chance of equipping itself with a needed municipal asset.

Let's take the benefits. The Herald urges a vote Monday FOR the issuance of warrants for city purchase of the airport.

Public hearing on the proposed city budget for the fiscal year will be held Monday at 8:30 p. m. in the city courtroom.

The meeting will be presided over by Mayor C. E. Talbot and all commissioners are expected to be present. The commission approved the budget two weeks ago.

It calls for a total expenditure of $172,996.92 of which $119,613 is for general fund purposes. The balance, for interest and sinking fund requirements, is spread over an 18-month period.

The budget is based on estimates of $180,025 revenue, conservative in the light of an actual collection of $203,382.84 last year.

Despite the fact that the police, health, water, sewer and park departments come in for slight increases under the proposed budget, the total budget figure for general fund purposes is approximately $10,000 under the approved figures for last year.

Following the public hearings, the budget will be considered by the commission and changes made, if any, before final approval.

MIDLAND, May 16 (Sp)—Shirley Jo Riddle, daughter of Bee Riddle, was recovering from minor cuts and bruises received here Friday when struck by an automobile.

The 15-month-old tot was struck by a car driven by Lee Thomas who failed to see her when he backed out of the driveway. She was caught by the bumper and dragged a short distance.

Friday evening Lay Moine Jackson, son of J. D. Jackson, suffered a broken shoulder blade and Lawrence Powers and two girls accompanying him were injured slightly when their car overturned in loose sand on a road near Midland.

Two More Taken, Only Three Okla. Convicts At Large

Indian Farmer Seized, Later Released Unharmed

It Was A Good Game, But Poor Choice Of Name

McALESTER, Okla., May 6 (AP) Capture of two convicts—leaving only three at large—release of an Indian hostage and official denunciation of prison guards for throwing down their guns were swift developments today in clearing up Wednesday's bloody break of 24 prisoners at the Oklahoma penitentiary.

Twenty-four-year-old Henry Moore, Indian farmer, was freed unharmed as convict Claude Fugate, who used him as a shield, emerged from underbrush six miles north of Antlers, Okla., late today and surrendered.

The ring leader of the prison break, Claude Beavers, was flushed out of the thicket with Fugate but escaped after firing at officers. Later he appeared at the farm home of John O'Neil, brandishing a rifle and seized food before fleeing.

Earlier officers trapped Jess Cunningham, wounded convict, in a farm house one mile south of Antlers.

The two captives left only Beavers, Julius Bannan and A. C. McArthur at large of the ruffian band which broke from the penitentiary Wednesday killing C. D. Powell, prison employe and wounding W. W. Gossett, guard.

Pleading mercy, Claude Fugate was back in the penitentiary today with Bill Anderson and Archie Herring, who were taken yesterday. Fugate was located early today near Savannah, 15 miles from here, by officers acting on a farmer's tip.

Search for the other three felons was pressed tonight in the mountainous sections of southeastern Oklahoma.

ROME, May 16 (AP)—The Italian senate ratified today the decrees annexing Ethiopia and creating the new Roman empire.

The bill was presented by Guglielmo Marconi, the inventor, in the presence of Premier Mussolini and ministers of the Italian cabinet.

Marconi urged passage of the measure in a strong address and was followed by the fascist dictator who requested the legislative body to give the proposal urgent consideration.

The senate immediately appointed a committee which recommended the bill for passage and, a few minutes later, an affirmative vote of the decree was registered.

Many diplomats watched the proceedings from the gallery, including Prince Ernst von Starbemberg, deposed vice chancellor of Austria.

MIDLAND, May 16 (Sp)—Midland will be host city to the state convention of Christian churches May 19, 1937, bringing the first state meeting of the denomination in West Texas.

The convention normally attracts about 1,000 delegates for a one-week stand and will be the largest church convention ever held west of Abilene.

Rev. J. E. Pickering, who led in the fight to have the next meeting in Midland, said that this year out by carrying its cause to the floor after a majority committee had favored Waco, Dallas also bid for the convention.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 16 (AP)—Oregon's veteran republican leader, Charles McNary and Ralph Williams, national committeeman, continued to tout Townsend pension plan candidates in the primary election as returns passed the halfway mark today.

McNary amassed 53,350 votes in a revised count of 835 precincts out of 1,627 to 6,632 for Theodore Nelson, pro-Townsend.

State Board Boosts Sum By A Dollar

Apportionment For Next Year Will Be Highest In History

TEACHERS HAD ASKED A PAYMENT OF $20

Additional Expenditure Of $1,575,000 Approved By 5-2 Vote

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—The state board of education voted today to increase by $1 the current state school aid apportionment of $17.50 per scholastic. It applied to approximately 1,575,000 school children.

A committee from the State Teachers association pleaded with the board to add $2.50 per capita or a total of nearly $4,000,000 to the allotment for the present fiscal year while spokesmen for property taxpayers asked that there be no change.

Schools In Need The representatives of the Teachers association contended that the schools were badly in need of funds to complete their terms. The per capita of $18.50 will be the highest in the state's history.

The vote to boost the apportionment approximately $1,575,000 was five to two. Five of the board members had objected to raising it to $20 per capita and four had opposed an increase to $19.

The state comptroller's department had estimated that the surplus at the end of the fiscal year under the $17.50 allotment would be more than $3,500,000. The majority of the board members took this position, however, that there was no certainty of such a large surplus.

McCraw's Ruling William McCraw, attorney general, earlier had ruled that the board could supplement the per capita apportionment of $17.50 per school aid with an anticipated surplus of $4,000,000.

McCraw ruled that a per capita allowance of $17.50 was a minimum and that the state board of education had no authority to supplement the board's apportionment, upon which the board held a special meeting today.

"It is the conclusion of this department," the opinion stated, "that the state board of education has no authority to make such supplementary appropriation, if in the sound discretion of the board, the balance on hand in the available school fund justifies such action."

Former Deficits In previous years the board found difficult the task of paying apportionments directed by the legislature and the fund frequently had a deficit. Anticipated collections arising from corrections in several occupational levies and additional revenue sources were expected to help avert danger of a new war.

While government and diplomatic officials scoffed at reports a new move was afoot for settlement of war debts, the Daily Herald said an "influential group" of British politicians was urging a reopening of negotiations with the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt and the state department were silent today on war debts but it was believed they would be willing to discuss European proposals about payment.

This has been the official attitude of the government for some time. In the periodic "bills" with which the United States duns the defaulting nations, it is customary to insert a paragraph saying that Washington is "fully disposed to discuss any proposition your government may desire to put forward in regard to the payment of the indebtedness."

Johnson Case Up To Jurors For 5th Time

Attorneys' Arguments Occupy All Of Afternoon And Part Of Night

Fate of John Johnson, Lynn county deputy, was in the hands of a jury Saturday night for the fifth time since he shot and killed E. O. "Bunk" Best in Dawson county on May 23, 1933.

After arguments, which lasted from the opening of the afternoon session, were completed, the jury was handed the case at 9:50 p. m. A short delay in proceedings occurred during the morning while attorneys filed objections to the court's charge which carried special instructions on murder with malice—self-defense.

Six Attorneys Argue Special Judge Charles Sullivan gave the jury the case after George Dupree, Lubbock, special prosecutor, had closed for the case in an impassioned plea for conviction.

Six attorneys eloquently urged the jurors to acquit or give a prison term to the 39-year-old deputy as an audience mostly of farmers listened intently. James T. Brooks led off for the state and was followed by Clyde E. Thomas and Earl Rountree, Lamesa, for the defense. Then District Attorney Collins spoke for the state and from Gerard, Tahoka, closed for the defense with a fervent plea for acquittal of the O'Donnell deputy. Juror summed up the state's case.

Thought Life In Danger In a special night session Friday, Johnson took the stand in his own defense and said that he fired the shot which killed Bunk Best because "I thought my life and my companion's life were in danger."

Trio Slain In Gun Battle

Sheriff One Of Victims; Negroes Cornered, House Fired

GORDONSVILLE, Va., May 16 (AP)—A savage gun battle that lasted far into the night left three persons dead today, one a white officer, the others an aging negro and his sister who toppled, wounded or slain, into the funeral pyre of their burning cottage.

Five officers and posse members were wounded, three of them seriously as to require hospitalization, before a posse member crept close to the negroes' tent and set it afire.

As the flames rose they silhouetted the armed figures of the two negroes, who fell a moment later. The dead: Sheriff William E. Young of Orange county.

William Wells, 65, the negro. Cora Wells, his sister. Sheriff Young was shot to death by Wells during the afternoon and State Patrolman S. L. McWilliams tried to arrest the negro on an accusation of a wealthy white woman, Mrs. George Zinn, that he had threatened her with a gun in a nearby cemetery.

Young was felled by a bullet in the heart, and McWilliams was wounded in the arm and leg.

Other officers in the party summoned state officers and a posse of citizens which swelled at the height of the battle to nearly 300.

Sergeant Wayne Carr made a rush to help McWilliams to safety and was hit himself.

He and McWilliams rolled under the porch where they lay for some time out of range of Wells' fire. Other officers reached them under cover of machine gun fire from state police and dragged them to safety.

REVIVED BUILDING ACTIVITIES INDICATED FOR CITY AND AREA

A general revival of building activities in Big Spring and surrounding area was indicated in several developments during the past week.

N. L. Peters, Longview architect who is represented here by Claude Holderness, said that his firm was at work on plans for remodeling the old State National bank building in the 200 block of Main street and that contracts probably would be let before long. The former bank quarters will be converted into store space.

The recently consolidated Knott and Highway school district is contemplating a new building esti-

BRITISH OFFICIALDOM DENIES MOVE TO REOPEN DEBT ISSUE

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—Authoritative British sources tonight disavowed unofficial efforts to revive the issue of war debt payments due the United States.

Although it was reported certain of these leaders were considering reopening debt negotiations with the United States government, authorities in high position said the question was dead.

The British government, it was indicated, needs all the money it can get for preparedness against future wars and can spare nothing to pay for the expenses of the World War.

The question was revived here just a day after Leon Blum, France's socialist leader and premier-to-be, announced he would like to see the debt "misunderstanding" erased, with Paris insisting the first move was more likely to come from London.

In the background of renewed consideration of the problem left by the World War, informed sources said, rested possibility of gaining American assistance in

Child Star In Current Attraction At Ritz Theatre, 'Little Lord Fauntleroy'

Freddie Bartholomew, Dolores Costello and Dolores Barrymore Are Featured

With only one major alteration, the famous Frances Hodgson Burnett story of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" comes to the screen with Freddie Bartholomew, sensational young player of "Daddy Copperfield," and Dolores Costello Barrymore in the leading roles. The film is offered Sunday and Monday at the Ritz.

The major change in the film adaptation by Hugh Walpole is that Freddie portrays Little Lord Fauntleroy without the traditional long golden curls and plush suit. Freddie makes the character a bit more of a regular fellow. In all other respects, however, the screen version faithfully adheres to the universal known story of the little American boy who became a nobleman, went to England to live in a castle with the grouchy Earl of Dorincourt and transformed that gentleman from a surly old bear to a

New Team In Comedy Now At The Lyric

Herbert Marshall And Jean Arthur Play In 'If You Could Only Cook'

"If You Could Only Cook," new romantic comedy which is scheduled at the Lyric theater for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, brings to the screen a new love team, Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur. It also marks the initial appearance of Miss Arthur, who has been gaining popularity rapidly lately as a star. Her name joins that of Marshall's above the title.

"This is Marshall's first appearance since 'The Dark Angel,' in which he won new laurels.

In "If You Could Only Cook," Marshall is seen as a disgraced millionaire—disgraced because he is about to marry a girl he doesn't love and who doesn't love him. He decides to go sit in the park and think things over; there he meets Miss Arthur, who is scanning the want-ads in search of a job. She mistakes him for another unemployed member of society and invites him to go with her to answer an ad for a married couple, a butler and a maid. Marshall, on the spur of the moment, accepts, and off go the millionaire and the young lady to get the job.

They find themselves working for a big-shot racketeer; Leo Carrillo plays this role. And when both fall in love with Marshall's "wife" things happen; especially since Marshall has a previous commitment to marry a society girl on a fast approaching date.

From this point on, the tale is filled with complications that promise much in the way of merriment.

In the supporting cast are Lionel Stander, Alan Edwards, Frieda Inescourt, Gene Morgan, Ralf Harold, Matt McHugh and Richard Powell.

Trip Doesn't Interest Him, Eckener Not To Return To US With Dirigible

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAIN, Germany, May 16. (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, veteran zeppelin commander, decided today to remain in Germany and not accompany the Hindenburg tonight on its second regular transatlantic flight to the United States.

His decision had no connection with his controversy with the Nazi propaganda ministry.

Before landing at Frankfort after the Hindenburg's first record round-trip between Germany and America, Dr. Eckener told the Associated Press:

"I doubt whether I shall go to America next time. For one thing, weather conditions at this time of year are so good that frankly the trip does not interest me.

"I am interested in studying unusual meteorological conditions and drawing the necessary lessons from them. Air conditions on the North Atlantic are something concerning which we have little information. I shall continue my North American trips when there are prospects of something more unusual in the way of atmospheric conditions.

"Secondly, there is so much business accumulated in connection with my presidency of the zeppelin company that I must devote my energies to that."

Captain Ernst Lehmann, in direct command of the Hindenburg, said he also probably would stay on the ground soon and let Capt. Appuhn or Capt. A. Sammit command the giant ship between Frankfort and Lakehurst, N. J.

"I am badly needed at the zeppelin wharf in Friedrichshafen to hasten construction of the LZ130," Captain Lehmann said.

Forty passengers registered for the second voyage to Lakehurst, and the Hindenburg, pronounced in perfect condition, took on its fuel and freight.

BAPTISTS WILL MEET NEXT IN NEW ORLEANS

BOLD VENTURE WINNER OF PREAKNESS AT PIMLICO Mrs. R.E. Winger And Mrs. W.K. Powell To Meet In Finals Of Tournament

BEATS OUT GRANVILLE, JEAN BART

BALTIMORE, Md., May 16 (AP)—Bold Venture proved today that his victory in the Kentucky Derby was no mistake in as dramatic a finish as the turf has ever seen. He nosed out William Woodward's Granville in the 46th running of the Preakness before 40,000 spectators at the Pimlico track.

Apparently beaten a quarter mile from the finish of the mile and 2-16, Bold Venture stepped through the stretch like a true champion. He stuck his nose in front at the eighth pole. The margin of victory was so narrow that judges called for photographs of the finish before posting the numbers.

Granville had no excuse. He broke second, moved into the lead after a quarter of a mile and was on top until Wolf, replacing the suspended Ira Hanford, drove Bold Venture to the front in a brilliant display of horsemanship. Jean Bart was almost forgotten, but the son of Man O' War managed to save the short end of the purse by a head, from Mrs. M. Du Pont Summerville's Transporter. Then came Hal Price Headley's Holly Road, Payne Whitney's Memory Book, He Did, Bow and Arrow Teufel, Mrs. W. W. Vaughan's Knight Warrior, and the Boman stables' Grand Slam.

ENGLISH GOLFER IS MEDALIST

SOUTHPORT, Eng., May 16 (UP)—Bridget Newell of Derbyshire, Eng., a plump little 30-year-old girl, won the medal today in the 36-hole qualifying rounds of the British women's golf championship.

Shooting a 74, one under par for the second 18-hole round, the comparative unknown returned an aggregate of 153 to lead three of her countrywomen by two strokes.

All eight American Curtis Cup stars qualified easily. The other American competitor, Deborah Verry of Marion, Mass., failed to make the grade. She shot 92 today for an aggregate of 182—seven strokes short of the 175 qualifying limit.

Behind Miss Newell, whose par-shattering round was the only one turned in during two days of play, were Wanda Morgan of Whitecastle, the defending champion; Jessie Anderson, Perth, Scotland; and Mrs. J. B. Walker, Ireland. All had 154.

Leading the American contingent were Patty Berg, 18-year-old Minneapolis red-head, and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, of

The Black Dragon, second ranked wrestler to be booked here since the Big Spring Athletic Club started grappling matches almost two years ago, will make his appearance Tuesday night on the semi-final of a card that's packed with action.

No records are available on the Dragon, other than stories from eastern points concerning his rough tactics in the ring. He meets a fairly clean and scientific man in Hy Shorman of Salt Lake City. Shorman, however, frequently forgets himself when pitted against a rowdy man-hander, and goes in for the rougher stuff. It will be the first bout here for both Shorman and the man of mystery.

The main go and semi-final winners of last week's card will get together this week, the rough and tough Sailor Watkins tearing into the milder but more scientific Dick Trout.

Bold Venture May Be Equal Of Clock Tower

By ORLO ROBERTSON (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—High above Fifth avenue sits Morton L. Schwartz wondering if some day he'll awaken to find that Bold Venture's victory in the Kentucky derby and Pimlico preakness was all a dream.

Ever since his father left Louisville 43 years ago to try his luck in the big city, the owner of Bold Venture had dreamed and planned for the day when he would return to his birthplace and lead his horse into the winner's circle at Churchill Downs. Time and again he thought he had a horse worthy of carrying his silks but something always happened. He even had his fingers crossed when Bold Venture came thundering down the stretch to beat off the challenge of Brevity.

He saw his first derby when six years old, and by that time was a dyed-in-wool horse fan. His dad used to come home and toss the Louisville Deposit bank and pack the family off to the races. There was no business transacted by the Schwartz family when the thorbreds were in town.

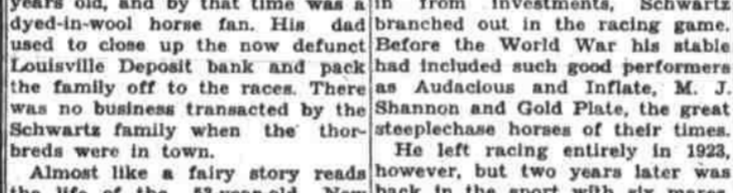

Almost like a fairy story reads the life of the 53-year-old New York broker. Although born to riches, he was forced to start from the bottom after his father lost all in the panic of 1893.

"Well do I remember that day when dad came home and tossed nine silver dollars on the table, saying that was all we had in the world," said Schwartz as he looked back over a life of up and downs.

Although a native Kentuckian, Schwartz has lived in New York

SHOWINGS IN CRANE, ECTOR TOP WEEK'S DEVELOPMENTS

55 Locations Listed In 11 West Texas Counties For An All-Time Record

SAN ANGELO, May 16—Obtaining of a good showing of oil from 4,254-87 feet by Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 H. E. Cummins, northwestern Ector county wildcat; the testing of oil by Humble No. 2 Tubbs and the securing of porous, saturated cores deep in the Permian line by Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubbs, both in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county were among this week's interesting West Texas developments.

Fifty-five locations were listed in 11 counties, establishing a new all-time record for West Texas. Winkler county led with 15, Ward county 12, Jones county nine, Howard county eight, Crane county three, Ector and Pecos counties two each, and Crockett, Fisher, Garza and Upton counties one each.

Humble No. 2-A Colby was drilled in as the seventh producer in the Winkler county area northwest of Kermit opened two months ago by Fields, Cherry & Keyes No. 1 Farmers & Merchants bank of Abilene.

Stanolind No. 1-B E. F. Cowden indicated 1-4 mile northwest extension to the Foster pool in Ector county, showed some water before obtaining a big increase in gas at 4,229 feet and stopped to test. Gulf No. 6 Goldsmith, south offset to Wp. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 Scharbauer, 1-2 mile extension to the Goldsmith pool in southwestern Ector county, also struck water after drilling past and plugged back 30 feet from 4,290 for a shut-off before shooting.

Topis Yates Sand

Landreth No. 1 W. H. Kirk in southern Gaines county, one of the Permian Basin's most closely watched wildcats, topped the Yates sand at 2,970 feet, 301 feet above sea level, and was credited with a showing of gas at 3,135 feet. It drilled ahead below 3,800 feet in anhydrite. Location is 330 feet out

WHERE OKLAHOMA CONVICTS STAGED BLOODY BREAK

From this brickyard at Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester, 21 convicts made a sudden bolt for freedom. Guards' fire dropped nine, killing one, identified as Robert Dunningham. Six others were recaptured. A. D. Powell, brickyard foreman, was seized; his body, shot through the head, was dumped out of a car a mile away near downtown McAlester. Six convicts escaped. (Associated Press Photo)

2 Wildcats Located In Abilene Area

Finley, Keyes & Cherry No. 1 Hughes-Gibbs in the southeast corner of Crane county and in the northeast end of the McCamey district topped pay at 2,250 feet, drilled to 2,259 and was estimated good for 175 barrels daily on the pump before acidizing. It is in the southwest quarter of section 93-X-CCSD&RG.

Humble No. 2-A Colby in northern Winkler county, 330 feet from the north line and 1,650 feet from the west line of section 25-26-psl, flowed 700 barrels of oil in 24 hours after shooting with 414 quarts. It flowed 117 barrels of oil hourly before the shot. The well is two locations west of Fields, Cherry & Keyes No. 1 Farmers & Merchants Bank of Abilene, which two months ago opened a new area two miles south of the Sayre pool and 2-1/2 miles east of the Hendrick field.

Swabs Three Barrels

Stanolind No. 1-B Cowden in Ector county, northwest of the Foster area, swabbed three barrels of oil hourly when bottomed at 4,172 feet and had 3,500 feet of oil in the hole when drilled to 4,303 feet. It is 430 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 11-43-2s-T&P.

Some water appeared in Gulf No. 6 Goldsmith when the depth was 4,244 feet but its source was undetermined, and 117 barrels of oil that went into the circulating tank out of 242 barrels swabbed and flowed in 24 hours showed no water. The well is 440 feet from the north line and 2,256 feet from the west line of section 4-44-1s-barrels of oil in one hour through casing. It was treated with acid late in the week. Location is 330 feet from the south line and 990 feet from the west line of section 2-B23-psl.

George Callihan of Albany moved rig on location this week north of Abilene in Taylor county and another in eastern Jones, three miles north of Nugent; and completion of two more large producers for the Hawley field topped developments in this area during the week. Two Jones county wildcats were abandoned.

The eastern Jones wildcat in the N. H. Martin & Son of Wichita Falls No. 1 Mary and E. B. Spurrier, and will drill to 2,100 feet. It is north of the Sandy Ridge and Higgs pools and southwest of the Luedgers field. Location is in the south center of section 1, W. C. Walker survey.

214-Barrel Flow

In the north end of the Hawley field, the Ungren & Frazier No. 1 Dorsey (formerly Bertha King), deepened to the Lower Hope sand after producing from Bluff Creek several years, flowed 214 1-2 barrels per hour on initial gauge when cement plug was drilled. Top of the sand was found at 2,214 and total depth was 2,216 feet. It was tubed and placed on the basic allowable of 150 barrels per day this week. Location is in the northeast corner of section 6, Manuel Bueno survey No. 197, a south offset to the discovery well for the field which was drilled in 1929.

Thomas D. Humphrey No. 11 Dorsey, twin well to the same operator's No. 1 producer from the Cook sand at 2,960 feet, flowed 678 barrels in three and a half hours this week before it was tubed or cemented. Sandy lime pay was topped at 2,195 feet, by rotary drillers' log, and drilled to a total depth of 2,217 feet. Location is in the southwest corner of section 18, Manuel Bueno survey No. 196.

Rigs on both tests were moved to new locations, both for twin wells. The Ungren & Frazier No. 6 Dorsey will drill to 3,300 feet, and Humphrey No. 12 Dorsey will twin that operator's No. 5 Cook sand producer.

Eason Well Gauges Over 1,000 Bbls.

Wildcatting operations and extension tests claimed the spotlight of interest in the Howard-Glasscock area during the past week. Most important completion was the outpost Continental No. 8 Eason, southwest of proven production in the Howard-Glasscock field, which showed 1,078 barrels a day on a two-hour production test Thursday. Located 440 feet from the north and west lines of section 7, block 32, T-2-S, T&P survey, it topped pay at 2,439 feet and drilled into a strong lime show at 2,447 feet.

The same company's No. 25 shallow test bottomed at 1,245 feet in sand showed 415 barrels a day on a two-hour run. It is one of several shallow sand wells drilled in the area by Continental and is located in section 159, block, 29, W&NW survey.

Trying for an extension of this shallow production to the south is the Bruce Frazier, et al No. 1 Paterson in the northeast quarter of section 188, block 29, W&NW survey. After changing to rotary during the week, it drilled to 800 feet in redbeds. Production will be sought in one of the three levels at 1,200, 1,200 and 1,400 feet.

Only other shallow wildcat underway is the M. B. Stanton No. 1 Edwards in section 11, block 54, T-1-S, T&P survey, which is seeking sand pay past the 900 feet level in the Edwards pool where lime production is had at depths past 2,200 feet. Trouble has hounded the test and dry gases caused the hole to fill from 735 to 680 feet. It is drilling in redbeds.

Formations were reported running high for the D. C. Reed No. 1 Walter Pike, wildcat just northwest of this city, as it reached 1,950 feet in anhydrite and red shale. Salt was topped at 90 feet. The test continues to carry a 12 1/2 inch hole and has experienced no trouble in drilling.

Southern Oil corporation No. 1 Edwards, seeking to connect the East Howard and the discovery Chalk pools, had encountered no free oil as it drilled to 2,890 feet in saturated lime. It is past the depth, 2,850 feet, where the John I. Moore D. H. Snyder extension test had its heaviest shows in section 28, block 30, T-1-S, T&P survey before being abandoned last year. The Edwards test is located in section 23 of the same block.

of the southwest corner of section 22-A21-psl.

Abandonments included Fleetborn Oil corporation No. 1 Floyd C. Dodson, Glasscock county wildcat which ran high on upper markers and caused a brisk lease play before striking water. It quit at 3,247 feet after water increased from 3,187 to 3,212 feet. The test attracted wide notice when it missed the salt, topped the Yates sand at 1,500 feet and showed oil above the lime, at 2,065 and from 2,075-88 feet. It topped the lime at 2,332 feet, 282 feet above sea level. Location was in the southeast corner of section 13-34-3s-T&P, 6 1-2 miles south and one-half mile east of World Oil company production on the L. S. McDowell ranch.

Dunning No. 1 Cummins, northwestern Ector county wildcat, filled 500 feet with oil from 4,254 to 4,257 feet, where it stopped to run and cement seven-inch pipe. It had a slight showing of oil from 4,163-67 and gas shows from 4,175-80 and from 4,244-54 feet. The test is 2,200 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 23-45-1n-T&P.

40-Barrel Completion

No. 1 Cummins is about three miles west of Landreth No. 1 Scharbauer, a discovery producer in the southeast quarter of section 20-44-1n-T&P, which topped pay at 4,116 feet, drilled to 4,236 and was completed at a plugged back depth of 4,143 for 40 barrels of oil and four barrels of water daily. It is 1-1/2 miles northwest of Dunning No. 1 Scharbauer, in the southwest quarter of section 32-44-1n-T&P which topped pay at 4,153 and was completed at 4,175 feet for 150 barrels of oil and 10 million cubic feet of gas daily.

Humble No. 1 Tubbs in western Crane county showed oil and gas between 4,228 and 4,305 and between 4,324 and 4,355 and on a 45-minute drill stem test from 4,219 to 4,375 feet, the total depth, showed 300 feet of oil and 400 feet of water. It was thought likely the water was rotary fluid and the hole was being reamed for another test. No. 2 Tubbs is 1,980 feet from the north and west lines of section 11-B27-psl, approximately a quarter mile southeast of No. 1 Tubbs, which flowed 861 barrels daily, bottomed at 4,375 feet.

Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubbs, 1-7/8 miles northwest of Humble No. 1 Tubbs and in the southeast corner of section 3-B27-psl, cored saturated, porous lime from 4,302-09 feet and cored ahead below 4,312 feet in lime. It will be deepened in search of Ordovician pay in the event it fails to produce in the lower Permian.

Oil Output At Record High Oil Show At Tulsa Opens

Nation's Production For Week Close To 3 Million Barrels Daily

HOUSTON, May 16 (UP)—A new all-time record for crude oil production in the United States of 2,993,524 barrels daily during the past week was reported today by The Oil Weekly.

The previous seven-day record production was established in September, 1928, when the American Petroleum Institute reported a daily average of 2,965,400, the publication said.

The increase was 167,125 barrels daily above the allowable set by the United States bureau of mines for the week, The Oil Weekly said, and was the result of hikes in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Production increased in Texas by 12,900 barrels daily, Oklahoma 22,700 barrels, Louisiana 10,050, and

Ten Million Dollars In Equipment Displayed At Exhibition

TULSA, Okla., May 16 (AP)—The oil industry's big show—the ninth International Petroleum exposition—started off today with a blast of oratory competing against the chuffing of pressure pumps and the battle of rotary drills.

There was about $10,000,000 worth of oil machinery on display, from mighty drilling equipment to delicate instruments used in the petroleum laboratory.

Early in the morning a lot of the oil machinery started operation in a manner to simulate actual work in field and refinery.

A momentary pause was scheduled for the afternoon for formal opening ceremonies with William A. Irvin, president of the United States Steel corporation and Gov. B. W. Marland of Oklahoma the principal speakers.

Thousands of oil men taxed the city's housing facilities as they poured in to see grouped in a comparatively small area the results of technical progress in the industry within the past two years.

The exposition served as a world gathering place for oil men, with scores of meetings and discussions scheduled during the eight days of the show.

A Million Miles WITHOUT AN ACCIDENT
ON Firestone HIGH SPEED TIRES

WILL STOP A CAR UP TO 25% QUICKER!
GIVES GREATER BLOWOUT PROTECTION!
GIVES 25% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE!

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

BUY ON PROOF OF PERFORMANCE

A MILLION miles on Firestone Tires without an accident. That is the record of Ab Jenkins, famous driver, who has driven on all kinds of roads and in all kinds of traffic in every state in the union. What a tribute to safe, dependable, tire equipment! Make this proof of performance your guide in choosing new tires to protect yourself and your family.

There are three important facts you should know about the tires you buy—

- THE FACTS ON TRACTION and NON-SKID SAFETY
A leading university in 2,350 tests has found that the new, scientifically designed tread on the Firestone High Speed Tire stops a car up to 25% quicker.
 - THE FACTS ON BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Ab Jenkins used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires when he drove his 5,000-pound car over the hot salt beds at Bonneville, Utah, in the record-breaking time of 127 miles per hour, covering 3,000 miles in 23 1/2 hours without a blowout or tire trouble of any kind.
 - THE FACTS ON ECONOMY and NON-SKID MILEAGE
The largest transportation companies in the country, such as Greyhound, to whom safety and tire economy mean business efficiency, use Firestone Tires from Coast to Coast and from Canada to the Gulf. And our own test fleet records prove that the new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 gives you up to 25% longer non-skid mileage.
- The Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 proves by performance its superiority in all of these three qualifications. Make this proof of performance your yardstick of safety and value. Decide today to equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1936—the safest driving equipment money can buy.

Gum-Dipping not only strengthens the cords but prevents heat inside the cords, where it insulates the tiny fibers against friction and protects Firestone High Speed Tires from blowouts.

This heavy, broad, traction and non-skid tread is held to the cord body of the tire with Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords, a patented construction, making the cord body and tread an inseparable unit.

The angles in the scientifically designed Firestone High Speed tread are so placed as to stop a car quicker and without side-sway. Its super-traction and non-skid efficiency have also been proved in the famous Pike's Peak Race where for eight consecutive years it has been used on the winning cars.

Chapter 39
DEFIANCE

"I'm going home, Aunt Phina, and to stay," Iris said quietly. Her aunt made two steps and faced her, towering over her. "Are you crazy? Or is it you that's had a tiff with Beckley?"

"No, Aunt Josephine, please answer me a question. Were you and our mother immigrant girls who came over a generation ago? Or did you have old Southern ancestry and convent rearing, as you told me?"

"My darling child—"

"I can tell you," Owen's voice broke in. "Mother and Phina and Honora were three pretty, clever Irish girls who came to America in their teens and worked their way up. Personally I've always been proud of it."

"Then why did Phina lie about it?"

"My dear, you're very rude, and your values are silly. My publicity woman thought it up at a time when it seemed better for the business and for me."

"Your publicity woman should have remembered that you worked for Georgia Blair's cousins, the Dorriens when you first came over."

Iris quietly repeated all that had happened between herself and Georgia and Mrs. Morgan that day.

"But, my dear little tiff-out girl, don't you see it's ended beautifully? Don't give another thought to it; Mrs. Bloomington and I will work out a plan."

"You can't work out a plan that will ever make me any use to you again," Iris said fiercely. "You have everything now that your use of me can give you. I'm going home."

"You romantic, hysterical baby! Back, I suppose to the sulky young man named Black?"

"No. He's going to marry somebody else."

"You're walking out on the brother you pretend to love so much, because of a little humiliation?"

"You'll see a good deal of me," said Owen. "I'm checking out, Iris. You've freed me, too."

"You talk like a couple of young Bolsheviks. What about Allan? What about Camilla Wendell, who worships the ground you walk on? I suppose, now you have Camilla's money behind you—"

"Camilla broke her engagement with me just before you came," Owen said.

"And as for Allan," added Iris stonily, "he did not want to marry me."

Phina lashed out with the temper Iris had always suspected beneath her smooth control.

"You insulting, ungrateful children! You selfish, lazy, good-for-nothing boy! I've worked and slaved and planned for you and Iris. And Iris talks to me as she has, and you treat Camilla so she breaks with you. You could have stood her—"

"I was never so near loving Camilla as tonight," Owen said suddenly. He did not rise from his chair; he lit a cigaret and went on talking. "As for the rest, I see now you've always had your pay as far as you and I are concerned." He went on smoking.

"Owen, Owen darling, what are you going to do?" Phina asked suddenly from anger to real fear. She dropped on her knees beside her nephew and threw her arms around him. "You've been my little boy ever since Jean died. Stay with me, dear, do what you like. You're all I have."

"If I stayed with you I'd be back in the traces in two days." He rose leisurely, and added: "Better get your things packed, Iris, if you're leaving tonight. I'll drive you in to the apartment, and you can get a train to Persia tomorrow morning."

He turned to go upstairs. Iris made a last move toward Phina, but Phina did not see or hear. Her head buried in her arms on the broad arm of Owen's chair, she was sobbing broken-heartedly.

As Iris still moved, stopped a moment at the turn of the great tapestry-hung stair, she saw Honora come in in her maid's black and kneel down by Phina, who flung herself on her cousin's shoulder and went on sobbing. And that was the last of the picture, sharp in Iris's mind.

"I'm sorry about Camilla," Owen said abruptly after a long silence. The brother and sister were driving down the long lighted miles of the Merrick Road. "She was finer than I was, and I laughed at her."

When she woke next day in the apartment it was nearly noon, and Owen had gone, leaving her a note: "I hated to wake you, you were so worn out I put a hundred in your handbag. Telephone me when you get to Persia. And tell them I'll be coming over for a visit soon. I love you, Iris, and as Camilla said, I know my road now. Thank you."

"My darling little girl. My darling—" He was crying, nearly surely she could cry a little.

"I've come home to stay," she said.

Uncle Will, like Owen, took things quietly. He did not even ask her why.

"My darling child, nothing could make me as happy," he said. "But you mustn't decide in a hurry."

She said no more, then. She let him take her suitcases upstairs, following herself with the second load so that he wouldn't have to.

"Morgan is out driving your Aunt Ella home from the museum," he said. "They'll be glad to see you."

Presently, still in the old gay affectionate way, she sent him downstairs and dressed herself in an old pink cotton hanging in the closet freshly ironed and followed him down.

Morgan was helping Miss Ella out of the Ford. He turned pale, as Iris came to meet him, saying rather tremulously, "I've come back, you see."

"Before he could do more than hold her hand tight, unable, it seemed, to say anything at all for the moment, Miss Ella came forward and greeted her in a matter-of-course fashion.

"It's nice to have you back, child," she said a little reprovingly, "you've made quite a long enough visit. I'm glad we have strawberry shortcake—"

She trotted off in the direction of the kitchen.

"You mustn't mind Ella," said her uncle, who could not seem to let her out of his sight for a moment. "She has what she has always wanted, though not exactly as she planned it. She has been given a room at the town historical museum to use as a permanent exhibit of your father's paintings. I'm afraid Morgan made some arrangement. I wish you could have married the boy, dear; but that's selfish, young people have to choose their own husbands and wives."

Then Miss Ella, always with that serene air of having attained all happiness, came in.

"Take the child into the parlor, William. I want to set the table here for supper. We won't ask her to help the first night."

It was like one of those dreams where you go into a known place and yet everything is different. Her father's paintings were gone of course, they were in the museum! All the old beautiful furniture was back out of the attic. The white paneling was uncovered; the whole room was what she had always wanted to be.

"Morgan coaxed your aunt to put this place in shape," said Uncle Will.

She did not know how she got through supper; Morgan, more at home than she was, facing her across the table. But she managed to get through, and later she slipped out the back door, still to avoid Morgan, and made her way around to the garden.

An old twine hammock swung as it always had, between two trees. She dropped into it, and let herself relax. And then, tall and striding in his old blue sweater and loose gray slacks, Morgan was upon her. "Well, as well face it first as last. He was direct."

"Why didn't you stay? You had everything you'd wanted."

"You know why. I was a little fool who thought she was equal to handling anybody. I wasn't."

FD May Have More Trouble With Solons

If Re-elected, Second Term May Find Solons More Independent

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)

The closing days of the congressional session are developing some interesting signs of independent thinking on Capitol Hill. It can not be said that President Roosevelt's leadership has disappeared nor does it ever appear that he will lose many, if any, of the remaining major legislative battles of the session.

What has happened with respect to the tax bill and other things is notable chiefly for what it may mean in the more distant future, should Mr. Roosevelt be re-elected. A president serving a first term and an entire session on an entirely different figure in politics. It is not uncommon for congress to take the ball away from a chief executive it knows will not come up again as a candidate. That happened to Theodore Roosevelt, and to Woodrow Wilson.

A tendency toward congressional initiative is apparent in the Byrd survey of the possibilities of governmental reorganization; one outcome might be a wholesale scaling down of the alphabetical agencies. On the heels of this move comes a house proposal to make all of the spending agencies answerable to congress, in detail, after the middle of 1937.

The whole future of history-making at Washington may depend on the extent and persistence of this tendency in the congressional session which follows this year's election.

Landon Withholds Fire
Word comes from the Landon

camp that the governor of Kansas has said all he intends to say before the Cleveland convention, except perhaps for one short speech touching but lightly on political issues.

Nevertheless it is the view of some of his friends that the quietude of his campaign thus far hardly forecasts what he will do if nominated.

Some who know him best believe he would be a highly vocal nominee. They argue that, not having declared himself an active candidate, he has felt no responsibility for speaking out. Should he formally be declared the spokesman of the republican party, however, he would assume new obligations, and find himself in an entirely different role.

Of course none of these friends assume to speak with the authority of the governor himself. They merely venture the opinion that, 1936 being what it is, he would not sit down at Topeka and hope that the presidency would come his way. They foresee him staking everything on an active campaign.

They acknowledge that such a course might expose him to experiences quite new to him, but they figure that what will happen—and when the opportunity presents itself.

Many Want Convention Seats
If the demand for national convention seats means anything—and it usually does—political interest is running extremely high this year in both parties.

Those who allot places in the press galleries are smothered under an outpouring of applications numbering many hundreds more than there are seats available.

The crush for spectators' tickets likewise is overwhelming; many of the applicants are willing to spend hundreds of dollars of their own money journeying from far points to see the show.

Even at Philadelphia, where the democratic proceedings are expected universally to follow a pattern well-understood in advance, the demand already is heavy and insistent.

Evidently the country is going to have one grand time over its politics in 1936.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson has gone to Abilene to spend the week-end with Mrs. Claud Yates and Mrs. L. B. Paine, formerly of Big Spring. Mrs. Yates is entertaining in her honor Saturday afternoon.

"I was unbelievably stupid," Iris said. It was so good, so wonderful, to be there with Morgan—Morgan talking to her in the old angry, tender way. It was too good, too wonderful.

"I haven't congratulated you on your engagement," she said, holding herself very still and not looking at him.

"What do you mean? There's no engagement!"

Her heart turned over, then quieted. It might be true and yet they might not want it talked about.

Unusual Case In Court At Lamesa

LAMESA, May 16.—An unusual case was tried here in justice court this week. It involved a suit by the Texas Rural Communities, Inc., against the defendant for the re-possession of a 40-acre tract of land which was held by the defendant under the rehabilitation act.

The allegation was that the defendant had failed to fulfill his part of the contract. The case was decided in favor of the plaintiff. It was said to be the first case of this type ever tried in this section.

Carl Rountree represented the Texas Rural Communities, Inc., in the suit.

AGENTS VISITORS HERE
E. E. DeBussan, county agent of Midland, and George Bond, assistant in charge of the work in Martin county, were visitors here Saturday. Bond was formerly feed-er at the U. S. Experiment farm here.

Johnson

He said he knew Best as a "violent and dangerous man." Johnson told how Dalton Barnhart, from whom a calf had been stolen, had asked him to investigate the theft and how he had suggested that they drive to Lamesa and report the crime to Gus White, sheriff of Dawson county where the alleged offense occurred.

On the way in, he related, they were flagged by occupants of a passing car. The car turned around and came to a stop back of their car and the Best brothers, Bunk and Grady, and Hazel Hancock, a cousin, got out and came up on his side.

Cursed Him
Bunk and Grady went around on Barnhart's side and began to curse him, saying that they would "teach you to accuse me of stealing calves." Testimony of a former trial that Best grabbed at his collar was not substantiated by Johnson.

He said that he attempted to shove Bunk off Barnhart and when Best made a menacing move, he fired twice, as rapidly as gun action would permit. Bunk was felled by a bullet wound through his wrist and chest and Grady staggered back with a wounded arm. Johnson said he got out and told Hancock to get them to a hospital in Lamesa and that he would follow.

Saturday morning rebuttal testimony was heard before the court prepared his charge.

Four previous trials, two in Dawson county and two in Howard county, have resulted in mistrials when the juries could not agree.

State Board

dition of a portion of the liquor tax resulted in the prospective $4,000,000 surplus.

Authority for the board to grant an additional allotment was raised for the first time because of the potential surplus. Ben F. Tinsler of Dallas, chairman, asked the attorney general's opinion on the board's power to do so without specific authorization by the legislature.

McCraw reviewed constitutional provisions which he held "direct that the annual revenue of the available school fund shall be apportioned, expended and distributed each year," with distribution made to counties on the basis of scholastic population.

"These two provisions confer upon the legislature the authority to appropriate all of the annual revenue of the available school fund to the state board of education, to be expended within the scholastic year as directed," he held. A statute directing annual apportionment, he held, "placed no maximum limit upon the amount of the apportionment."

ed that the total balance jumped by $23,841.26 but that the punch-drunk general fund was dropped for a $2,054.61 loss, leaving only a $1,533.39 balance in that shock-absorbing fund. A few more solid licks such as it has been receiving since the first of the year will roll it into the red. Hardest punches have come from the new salaried system and the charity situation. The fund was expected to be braced for the charity blow, although not for such a stiff clouting as it got. The salary jobs are what cut it to pieces. Special fund revenue which formerly reinforced the general fund had to support the salary fund, and whether good or bad, it left the vital general fund in a bad way.

J. W. Wooten, who for years has proven that diversification and work rather than cotton and street corner bull sessions make farming a paying proposition, has a wonder log at his place. The big 18 months Ohio Chester white sow has farrowed 27 pigs in litters of 10 and 17 respectively. The first conspiracy to thwart the government hog control plan brought 550 to Wooten at the end of eight weeks. Wooten says she has no name, but she deserves one. We would humbly suggest "Super-Dionne."

High praise is due those who have had a part in the sponsoring and successful operation of the pre-school nursery in western Big Spring. During the open house days of last week they told us that most of the children came from homes broken either by death or separation, a condition very conducive to starting a child off on the wrong foot. Taken into the nursery they get good food, plenty of rest and wholesome recreation. The nursery is an investment in humanity—the greatest investment of all.

The good that men do often lives after them, so runs a philosophical gem. By the same token the works of some grand jurists strongly influence succeeding similar bodies. According to good authority, it was this which caused the quiet removal of a legion of punch boards and similar devices from counters here during the week. Officials declined to comment, but they did not deny that such was the cause for the action.

The Big Spring Independent school district blossomed out with a potent ad for delinquent tax payments Friday, calling attention to the fact that $67,110.71 back taxes are due the district. It does not require any deep thought to reason that delinquent taxes, as much as expenditures, cause high tax rates. Many of those who yelp loudest about high rates are those who are farthest behind. They say they can't pay; but consider the case of Jimmie Mitchell, filling station operator, who paid up his delinquent taxes by dropping a quarter in a can every night after closing. That "can" might easily be considered as a verb as well as a noun.

J. I. McCaslin is seeking the title of "the grand old man of the oil industry" after having spent 53 years in faithful service to the "game" which he loves. The biggest thing about McCaslin's record is that he made some important discoveries which he gave back to the industry.

Just a word of appreciation for the development of local talent. One group number in a recital given at the Municipal auditorium last week was as neat and clever as any we have seen on the professional stage. Much credit goes for the conception and direction of the act. It is worthy to note that it could not have been staged as it was without the modern auditorium facilities which Big Spring boasts.

Fred MacMurray is called Hollywood's busiest hero. In 18 months he has played 11 leading roles.

REPORT ON REVISED TAX BILL IS DUE BY MIDDLE OF WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 16. (UP)—Awaiting treasury estimates on its compromise revenue plan, the senate finance committee today discussed technical questions involved in the "windfall" tax provision of the house tax bill.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) said the treasury would have an estimate Monday on the compromise proposal and predicted that "we'll get this bill out about the middle of next week." The compromise includes a boost in the levy on all persons who pay income taxes.

Harrison saw a possibility of taking the measure, which will be widely altered from the form in which it left the house, to the senate floor late next week. The Mississippiian added that the treasury had submitted a rough estimate which showed that the new plan worked out by the committee but not yet agreed on, would produce something more than the $223,000,000 of permanent additional revenue sought by President Roosevelt.

The compromise, representing the merging of an assortment of proposals advanced by committee members, would place a flat 18 per cent tax on all corporate income, a 7 per cent levy on undistributed corporate income, subject corporate dividends to the normal individual income tax and raise the normal rate from 4 to 3 per cent.

(The bill in its present form would repeal the existing 1-2 to 15 per cent corporation income tax and eventually the capital stock and excess profits taxes, while subjecting dividends to the normal income tax. Corporate income then would be assessed under rates graduated up to 42 1-2 per cent depending on percentages of income withheld from distribution to stockholders in dividends.)

Harrison said no agreement had been reached but that there would be some changes in the windfall tax on processors who avoided payment of the AAA processing taxes and also in a provision for refunds on floor stocks on hand at the time of the invalidation of the AAA.

But these, he said, will be largely technical and clarifying.

College Budget To Be Fixed July 11

AUSTIN, May 16. (UP)—A two-year budget for state colleges will be drafted here July 11 when representatives from the various governing boards meet.

Previously the various institutions have presented separate budgets to the state board of control. This year they hope to agree on a joint budget submission.

At a preliminary conference here yesterday it developed that all favor lump sum grants to the schools. This permits them to fix salaries as they please with in the total. Now, each salary is fixed in the appropriation act.

The board of control makes its budget from the budget suggestions of the colleges. The legislature has the final say, subject to the governor's veto. Working out the details falls to the house appropriations committee and the senate finance committee.

Three Die In Truck Blaze

Gasoline Tank Explodes After Vehicle Figures In Collision

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (UP)—Two brothers and a woman companion perished today in a flaming, wrecked truck laden with whiskey. The victims were Mrs. Helen Benner, 30; Roy Perkins, 30, driver, and Harold Perkins, 28, Roy's brother. Their bodies were charred almost beyond recognition. The body of Mrs. Benner was identified by her husband, Thomas, who said he could not explain her presence in the truck.

The truck's gasoline tank exploded after the vehicle struck a sedan, grazed a taxicab, and knocked over a fireplug and a trolley pole in a northwest Philadelphia street. A house and a church were ignited. Firemen prevented serious damage to the buildings.

FIRMS WILL HAVE CONTESTANTS IN SWEETHEART EVENT

Big Spring's contest to select a representative for the city to compete for the title of Texas sweetheart No. 1 or a place in Billy Rose's frontier follies at the Fort Worth centennial celebration began to look more like a contest Saturday.

Several merchants announced they would sponsor entries in the contest on May 27. Preliminary contest will be held at the municipal swimming pool and the final judging, by an out-of-town group, will take place at 9 p. m. at the Ritz theatre.

The winner will have all her expenses paid to Fort Worth where Clark Gable will pick the No. 1 sweetheart.

21 DELEGATIONS TO MEET COMMISSION ON HIGHWAY TOPICS

AUSTIN, May 16 (UP)—Twenty-one delegations to meet appointments with the state highway commission for conferences next Monday and Tuesday on road and bridge projects. Bids will be taken Tuesday and Wednesday on projects already ordered and expected to cost $2,775,000.

Announced topics for the conferences include: Construction of Highway 105 in Hardin and Jefferson counties; the Evangeline highway in Orange and Jefferson counties; proposed road designation from Cleburne to Meridian and location of a bridge over the Brazos river; road designation from Brownwood to Cross Plains; general road program for Dallas county.

CENTENNIAL FACES LABOR TROUBLES

DALLAS, May 16. (UP)—Labor difficulties developed today from the employment of non-union men for work on the $1,000,000 hall of state at the Texas Centennial exposition.

The principal dissatisfaction among union members from the employment of men of an independent union as bricklayers and stone-setters.

Several of the major construction jobs at the exposition are "open shop," although a number of others employ union labor.

Henry Brands, member of the bricklayers' union local, said he believes the difficulty would be settled by Monday.

"We realize that this building must be finished," he added, "and we do not wish to take undue advantage of the situation."

Middle-Of-Road Policy Adopted By Church Group

COLUMBUS, O., May 16. (UP)—Methodism adopted today a "middle of the road" policy on social and economic questions. Delegates to the 32nd convention of the Methodist Episcopal church approved a report which met the demands of neither the liberals nor conservatives in the church.

Frank A. Horn, of Brooklyn, leader of a liberal group of laymen, termed the report "the peace pact of Methodism."

A portion of the report, prepared by the committee on state of the church, said "we believe it better to have a united church studying social and economic questions than a divided church fighting about them."

MRS. YATE'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

SAN ANTONIO, May 16. (UP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Shockley Yates, 75, who died at a local hospital Friday night, will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the First Methodist church at San Angelo, with Rev. J. Gray Timmons, pastor of Travis Park Methodist church in San Antonio, officiating.

Mrs. Yates, wife of Ira Yates, prominent oil man and rancher, was a native of Karnes county, and resided at Wetmore, near here. Death was caused by pneumonia and attendant complications.

Surviving are her husband, Ira G. Yates of San Antonio and Wetmore; six sons and three daughters.

FD UNOPPOSED IN GEORGIA PRIMARY

ATLANTA, May 16 (UP)—Georgia democrats will cast their 24 votes for President Roosevelt in the Philadelphia national convention June 23.

Roosevelt was the only entry for the state presidential preferential primary at the registration deadline, 1 p. m. (central daylight time) today.

Hence the primary, arranged for June 3, will be called off. The president's $10,000 entry fee will be returned to friends who contributed it and Roosevelt will name the Georgia delegates.

The state democratic executive committee made those provisions to apply if only one person entered the race.

UP INTO BIG-TIME

NEW YORK, May 16. (UP)—After a non-stop trip up through the lightweight ranks, Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico is peering up the championship ladder, looking for Tony Canzoneri.

Montanez, unknown less than a year ago, rode triumphantly into big-time last night when he whipped Leonard Del Genio of New York in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Montanez' victory put him in line for a title shot at the winner of the Canzoneri-Lou Ambers bout, scheduled for early in July.

Man Is Jailed For Extortion

Two Under Indictment On Complaint Of Alfred E. Smith, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 16. (UP)—A. Henry Ross, Brooklyn lawyer, jointly indicted with Max D. Krone, a private detective, after Alfred E. Smith, Jr., signed a complaint charging extortion, surrendered today at the office of Assistant District Attorney John J. Sullivan.

Smith, son of the former governor, said he was forced to pay out $12,900 after he had been threatened with exposure because he accompanied a young woman to a West 23rd street hotel in 1933.

Ross was accompanied by his law partner, Abraham H. Brodsky. He was taken to the office of Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings, in charge of the indictment bureau, and then to the Elizabeth Street police station for booking.

Krone is being held in the Tombs prison. He was also named in a separate indictment.

Krone was later taken before General Sessions Judge Morris Koernig, who fixed bail at $50,000 over the protests of Krone's counsel, David Krauss, who argued Krone could not supply that amount. He will be arraigned probably Monday or Tuesday.

TRADE AGREEMENT

The first commercial contractual agreement executed between America and France in a century has been signed, and made public at Washington. Under the terms France agrees to reduce or remove restrictions to its markets for a number of American products...

Only one major item of raw material is included in the provisions of the agreement, but it is an important one. Leaf tobacco up to twenty million pounds per year will be given markets in France.

Execution of this treaty is of considerable importance because it indicates the trend of American policy in international commerce. High tariff walls, designed primarily to provide protection for American industry, have had the effect of provoking similar tactics in other countries...

Reciprocal trade agreements, such as that executed with Canada and with France, point toward the recovery of foreign markets that are essential to profitable disposal of American surpluses of all kinds.

NEW YORK—Most of those legends about wealthy Hollywood producers with intellectual shortcomings are not to be believed, but a returning dramatist who earned $1,400 a week for five months doing practically nothing but writing and re-writing one scenario swears this actually happened.

"That was a great picture you made for me," the magnate told his imported star. "I want you to sign a long-time contract with me—I want you to live here in California. What's London got anyway?"

"Can't do it," the Britisher replied. "I wouldn't be happy here. Besides, I've a beautiful home with a ton of antiques in Sussex."

"Why not bring them on here?" the producer urged. "We need you here, my boy. The industry needs you."

This went on for months. Finally, the player agreed and wired his agent to ship the antiques to California and dispose of his Sussex property.

After they arrived and were established in his new home he reported to the magnate for assignment.

"Fine," zoomed the studio head. "Excellent. And now I have a happy surprise for you. Our agents abroad have effected an exchange of talent, and we're lending you to a London studio in exchange for a British actor."

Rosa Ponselle, who believes in keeping trim, rides a bicycle on the terrace of her cloud high pent house. She swims and rides, and when possible even chops wood.

WASHINGTON—The federal alcohol administration is serving notices on the liquor industry to watch its step.

Alexander's accusation of widespread law violation also is well founded. FAA field agents have reported scores of instances of disregard of the law, some cases involving the largest units in the industry.

Seven states are still wholly dry, and one partially so. The lush profits from this trade have tempted many distributors, who wink at the sale of their products to known bootleggers.

After July 1, Captain Alexander warns that any firm caught engaging in this business will lose its permit immediately.

U. S.—Japan Here is a story told by Japanese Ambassador Saito to illustrate Japanese-American relations: "A father was paying a visit to his son's school and was walking through the yard when another boy passed. The father asked the son if he knew him."

"Sure I know him," was the reply. "He's one of my pals." "Then why didn't you speak to him?" "Oh, we don't have to do that. We haven't got anything against each other."

"Governments don't have to speak much," concludes Ambassador Saito, "unless there is trouble between them."

Confidential studies which United States government experts have made of the Italian conflict indicate that Mussolini may now be up against the hardest part of his war-finances.

Before the Ethiopian campaign started, Mussolini's budget was about as bad as the new deal. He is now borrowing from four to five billion lire each year, with no balance in sight.

Conquest was what kept Rome off the rocks in the days of the Caesars, and there is some reason to believe that this was the chief inspiration for Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia.

The Roman conquerors of old had the foresight and opportunity to pick out densely populated, wealthy countries, capable of paying heavy taxes.

Moreover, Mussolini's past attempts at African colonization have been miserable failures. After 40 years of trying to settle Italians in Eritrea, the total Italian population there is just 4,565.

And instead of Eritrea contributing to the support of Rome, Rome has had to contribute 25,000,000 lire annually to meet the Eritrean deficit.

About two-thirds of Ethiopia is criss-crossed by one of the highest and most rugged plateaus in the world. Its jagged peaks are supposed to contain minerals, but Herbert Hoover's mining firm, which made a specialty of uncovering minerals in Australia, Russia, China and South Africa, conducted a three-year survey and reported no minerals of any importance.

The reconstruction of Ethiopia on a modern basis is going to require farm machinery, roads, irrigation, and sustenance for each Italian workman until he can become self-supporting.

Meanwhile Italian immigrant remittances from abroad have dwindled disastrously, tourist expenditures have almost vanished, and Italy's adverse balance of trade, even in peace times, increased to about two and a half billion lire.

It will take a lot of wand waving by the miracle man of Fascism to work wonders out of this.

Youngest child of the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette is working in Washington at a job few people hear about.

His oldest child, Fols, became an actress and married playwright George Middleton ("Tolly With a Past"). His next child, Robert M. Jr., succeeded to his place in the senate. His third child, Philip F., became governor of Wisconsin.

And his youngest child, Mary, became an artist, lived among the Greenwich Villagers in New York, came to Washington a year ago to work for New Tugwell in the residential administration.

Mary now sits at a desk in an old brick building which used to be a bakery, and applies her artistic sense to samples of cloth, in the job of decorating the interiors of resettlement houses.

As soon as a house is completed in "Greenbelt," the new suburban colony at Beltsville, near Washington, Mary LaFollette will visit it out in window drapes, floor coverings, and bedspreads, to let the settlers see what they can have if they want it.

This will be a demonstration house, aimed to create a taste for

GRADUATION GOWNS BLOSSOM IN PASTEL HUES AS STYLES VEER FROM CONVENTIONAL WHITE

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK (AP)—Pastel colored commencement gowns contrasting with the traditional white, are featured in the fashion world for girl graduates of '36.

Auditorium platforms packed with youthful candidates for diplomas may resemble flower beds in bloom this spring, for sky blue, anemone pink and foamy sea green have joined white in the graduation scene.

Only the palest shades are used, but designers here say their vogue has caused some schools to start the fashion layout of graduation platforms so that an even number of girls will be wearing pink, blue or pale yellow.

Despite the color trend, white remains a favorite. Numerous white frocks, however, are made over colored taffeta slips or accented by tinted taffeta sashes. Clusters of colorful taffeta flowers at the décolleté make other accents on white.

Organdy The Favorite
The gowns are made of frothy organdies whose crisp freshness long has been a favorite of graduates. Some of the white organdies are marked with white bars, flowers or shadow prints; others embroidered in tiny pastel colored nose-gays.

Following the trend for practicality many of the graduation gowns are designed so that they may be worn for summer dances later in the season. Most of them are too length, designed like simple evening gowns and topped by short sleeved boleros which make them suitable for commencement wear.

There are any number of others, however, which are simply designed with puffed sleeves, round collars and skirts which fall softly from a slightly raised waistline.

School Policy Rules
With the skirt length question agitating both the younger graduates and their mothers, designers suggest toe length frocks for girls thirteen or older and shorter dresses for the more youthful graduates. School policy dictates the final decree on color and skirt length, however, since some institutions have definite rulings.

For youngsters not ready for longer dresses, designers have turned out some of the smartest frocks seen in this varied market. They are fashioned of white or ivory dotted net with puffed sleeves, soft white taffeta girdles, and skirts whose hemlines fall anywhere from a few inches below the knee to the ankle. Soft little flower corsages give them a decidedly "party" air.

This sheer white organdy outfit is embroidered in tiny rose and green nose-gays and finished with a little cluster of flowers at the neckline. It combines an evening frock with a bolero which may be worn to coming summer dances.

For the girl graduate of '36, one American designer makes this simple frock of white Swiss organdy embroidered in cyclots. Its puffed sleeves and round collar give it youthfulness while its long skirt makes it practical for party wear.

Boone Possesses Cover Mailed On German Dirigible

L. P. Boone, reporter for the 70th district court and ardent philatelist, has a new treasured possession in his cover bought from Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany to the United States on the Von Hindenburg.

It took longer for the letter to travel from New York to his home in Midland than it did from Stuttgart, where it was dispatched, to Lakehurst, N. J. The cover left Germany on May 8, arrived in New York May 9 and in Midland on May 14.

Postage cost Boone 80 cents since he sent it by registered mail. Among other "first flight" covers in his collection are one from the inaugural flight on the Australian-England line of the Imperial Airlines, one on the Australian-New Zealand flight with an autographed cover by the late C. P. T. Uim who was with Kingsford-Smith on the first flight across the Pacific, and one on the Graf Zeppelin flight from Germany to South America.

He also has in his collection a cover on the first airmail flight from Big Spring.

Boone plans as a crowning achievement to dispatch a cover around the world by airmail as soon as the gap from Manila to China is closed.

Comic Characters Dinner-Party Given For Cactus Group

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee were dinner hosts Thursday evening for a unique party for members of the Night Cactus club. It was a comic paper party. The place cards, all of which were drawn by the hosts, were representations of famous comic characters, who somewhat resembled the guests.

When the dinner was over and the group went upstairs to the mezzanine to play bridge they found tallies carrying out the same idea. The tallies, however, constituted a guessing game and the players were told to add the game scores to the bridge totals.

Mrs. Marchbanks received a hand-painted picture for women's high score prize and W. W. Pendleton a Centennial tie pin for men's high. A Pop-Lye pin went to Mrs. Lloyd for bingo prize for women and an Olive Oil pin to Joe Ciere for men's bingo.

Playing were Messrs. and Mrs. Lindsey Marchbanks, W. W. Pendleton, Larson Lloyd, C. E. Hahn, Lester Short, Herbert Whitney, and the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ciere. The Lloyds will entertain next.

Driving through Death Valley can cause LESS wear

—than one of your engine STARTS

WHEN you step on the starter, 100 moving parts rub together. If your oil is too thick, it flows too slowly and these parts run "dry" of lubrication. That's one reason why approximately 75% of your engine's wear is caused by starting.

Today you need a FAST-FLOWING motor oil for your frequent starts.

But it must be TOUGH, too... tough enough to withstand high speed without forming carbon or sludge.

Shell has developed just such an oil, at a cost of $3,000,000. The process behind it, experts say, is the greatest oil achievement in the last 25 years. Stop in at our station today and get all the facts about this new oil.

FORWARD OR BACKWARD BIG SPRING?

Monday, This City Faces An Important Decision

This city Monday faces the important decision of whether it shall move forward and upward, clinching more firmly its position as West Texas' No. 1 air center, or whether it shall lag behind, losing those benefits from aviation it has worked so hard for ten years to obtain.

THE VOTE ON MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP OF THE AIRPORT IS THE CHALLENGE OF PROGRESS

Big Spring citizens are afforded an opportunity to secure a valuable airport property, much nearer the business section than most cities can afford, larger than most cities can boast, at a FAIR AND REASONABLE PRICE—less than one-half the initial cost of land and equipment. The advancement of aviation, government, commercial and private, demands that ports be improved to accommodate modern-day planes and to offer modern-day services. TO RETAIN AND ENLARGE ITS BENEFITS FROM AVIATION, BIG SPRING MUST DEVELOP HER AIRPORT. THIS CAN BE DONE ONLY THROUGH CITY OWNERSHIP.

With inauguration of new schedules and other commercial airlines in the future and with the continued increase of private flying, some West Texas city will inevitably share heavily in revenues, air service and attendant publicity and benefits. THAT CITY MUST BE BIG SPRING AND BIG SPRING MUST HAVE AN ADEQUATE AIRPORT!

THE COST IS LOW

While a tax levy is provided to take care of the warrants proposed to be issued, it is virtually a certainty NO INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE will have to be made to finance these warrants.

The city commission, in a formal statement on the question said this: x x x "It is our considered opinion that if the purchase of the airport is authorized, and the conditions with reference to our present revenues remain the same, it will be possible to make the payment of the warrants over a period of seven years, without increasing the present tax rate for that purpose."

FEDERAL AID - IF

Liberal federal aid for improvement of the airport likely can be secured if the property is municipally owned. No such aid is possible for a privately-owned port.

It is proposed to issue $6,000 in warrants as the city's share of improvement cost. Government aid probably would bring the total fund to more than $20,000, enough to put the Big Spring airport in top condition and to assure air services for this city.
