SANDSTORM FOR 1928 ISSUED WEDNESDAY

New Year Book Is Editorial Work of Art

The Sandstorm for 1928 published by the senior class of the Memphis high school is off the press and was distributed Wednesday. The staff for this year's annual includes students who have displayed unusual journalistic aptitude in turning out such an attractive book from cover to cover.

Bill Beckum edited the annual and Clayton Reed was the business manager. The staff dedicated the book "to the pioneers of Memphis and Hall county, the rugged and courageous plainmen, the men of open hearted hospitality, brave old knights of the Chaps and Saddle, men of romance and chivalry who braved the fortunes of the Old West and gave their lives in battle or in service for the creation of a new West. . . . to them and to the Western Spirit we dedicate this volume of The Sandstorm."

The book is divided into three sections, the first of which has the general heading of "The School"; the second deals with "Activities" and the third section, "Humor and Ads." The annual is amply illustrated with pictures of the various classes in high school.

The art work is a feature of the publication. It would do credit to the yearbooks of any college or university. High school life is depicted truthfully and characteristically. Memphis should feel proud that such genuine talent exists among the student body of her high school.

Organized High School Epworth League Friday

A high school Epworth League was organized last Friday night with some 48 members. These young people met at the Methodist parsonage and had a good time socially, after which they organized the league.

The league met Sunday evening for the first meeting and had a good crowd present with much interest manifested.

PLANS BEING MADE TO SEND GOLD MEDAL BAND TO HOUSTON

Plans for sending the Texas Gold Medal band which has been selected as the official band of the Texas delegation and of the Democratic national convention to Houston in June are rapidly taking shape.

The Memphis chamber of commerce is sponsoring the financing of the band on its Houston trip and it is expected that the Panhandle in general will contribute in the matter of finances.

The band, under the direction of its capable leader, Paul James, is holding a series of rigid practices anticipatory to meeting the requirements that will be expected of it at the Houston convention.

The band gave its first concert in Memphis Saturday night after having been selected as the official musical organization of the impending Democratic gathering.

Director Paul James in discussing the trip his band will take, said: "We are putting our best energies into making the Gold Medal band a superlative aggregation of genuine musicians. By the time we are ready to leave for Houston, we will have our programs well in hand and we expect to carry out the best traditions of our organization."

New Hospital To Be Established By Dr. D. C. Hyder

The entire upstairs west side of the Boren building on Main street has been leased by Dr. D. C. Hyder for use as a hospital and workmen are now busy remodeling the space into suitable quarters.

The new hospital will contain three private bedrooms, operating room, two waiting rooms and a consultation room. Moore than $1,000 is being expended to make the sanitarium modern in every respect, Dr. Hyder said. An opening is planned within the next thirty days.

NEW WHOLESALE TIRE COMPANY OPENS HERE

Burks Tire Co., Will Distribute Michelins In 12 Counties

With over thirty accounts already established, the Burks Tire company, wholesale and retail dealers for Michelin tires and tubes, made its debut among business firms of Memphis this week.

The new firm, managed by Lonnie Burks, is located in the building formerly occupied by Holt Plumbing company on Noel Street next door to Davis Buick company. Mr. Burks has been employed for the past 18 months by Webster Bros., local Willys-Overland dealers and India tire distributors, in the capacity of salesman. He will travel for the firm and serve as general business manager.

Assisting Mr. Burks is Obe Holland, recently employed at the Real Service Station and L. C. Laing's Service Station. Mr. Holland is an able tire salesman and repair man, known to a host of Memphis and Hall county motorists.

Burks Tire company will supply retail dealers in 12 counties with Michelin tires and tubes. Counties comprising the territory are Hall, Childress, Cottle, Floyd, Collingsworth, Donley, Armstrong, Gray, Wheeler, Motley, Hardeman and Briscoe. An adequate stock of all sizes will be carried in Memphis.

"We believe our business will undoubtedly meet with success," Mr. Burks said. "We have an unusually good proposition for dealers and we know our product will give every claim made for it. All tires retailed from our Memphis office will be sold at identical prices all our dealers ask."

Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Cross and daughter Bettie Jane visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cross, from Tuesday night until this morning. Dr. Cross spent Wednesday in Wellington on professional business.

"Enthusiasm for the band is not alone evident in Memphis and Hall county, but the entire state is taking cognizance of the recognition accorded our musicians and we are receiving backing that is highly encouraging. We do not want a sectional feeling to enter into this undertaking. We are trying to make of the band a musical organization representative of the entire of Texas, although, of course, since we are from Memphis and Hall county, we have no reason for wanting to hide this fact. We are proud of our Home city and we are going to prove to the assembled Democrats in Houston just how much we are giving our best in every concert that we shall play."

Farmer Suffers Broken Back In Accident Saturday

BAND PLAYS FOR REVIVAL AT SHAMROCK

Gold Medal Band Furnishes Music at Revival

Eighteen members of the Memphis Gold Medal band left this city Sunday morning at 10:30 for Shamrock, where they rendered a 30 minute concert Sunday afternoon prior to the beginning of the men's meeting which was the second service in the Rayburn evangelistic campaign in that city.

Long before the concert was scheduled to begin, the large garage in which the services are being held, was crowded to overflowing, containing, as it did, an audience estimated at more than 1,000 people. Shamrock had been placarded liberally announcing the concert and many people from adjoining towns were in attendance.

Although the concert was preliminary to a meeting for men only, a number of women were present to hear the concert, leaving immediately at its conclusion for a meeting for women only.

Dr. James Rayburn delivered a lecture on "Big Business," following the concert, members of the band remaining until the conclusion of the services. Director Paul James and the personnel of his band were heartily thanked by Dr. Rayburn and his singer, Rev. Otteson, for the interest they manifested in giving the concert.

WANT BOYS FOR C. M. T. C.

COOKING SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT PLEASES MANY MEMPHIS WOMEN

Expressions of approval from many Memphis women followed announcement Thursday that The Democrat will sponsor for five days, beginning May 21, a cooking school supervised by Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan, nationally known culinary expert.

The school will be held at the ball room of the Memphis Hotel each afternoon and during each session Mrs. Dougan will instruct her hearers in preparation of foods, pleasingly and economically, and will demonstrate on the stage the points brought out in her lectures.

Every woman who can possibly attend the school will want to do so, from all indications. It is designed to be for all women the greatest treat of the year and will have many new methods of making home attractive and the kitchen the greatest place on earth.

There may be some who will say, "The old ways are good enough for me," but those who have thought the same in the past have changed their minds, being willing and in fact, anxious to try the newer methods. There are many new ideas in kitchen and dining room management that have never been brought out here before.

WINNERS HEARD BY ROTARIANS TUESDAY

Girl Debaters and Alfred Jameson are Speakers

The winning team of girl debaters were heard by Rotarians Tuesday at luncheon. Miss Ruby Harkins spoke on the affirmative and Miss Ernestine Walker on the negative of the McNary-Haugin Farm Relief question.

Both girls delivered their speeches in splendid argumentative style, and showed that the judges in the Interscholastic League district contest made no mistake in declaring them winners.

These two young ladies are undergraduates of Memphis high school, and a bright future is predicted for them. They, with the field winners, left Wednesday morning for Austin to compete for the state honors. Miss Neville Wrenn accompanied them.

Alfred Jameson, extemporaneous speaker, also spoke at the luncheon, taking as his subject, "Good Citizenship." He made a splendid address.

J. Ross Bell of Paducah, candidate for Congress, O. L. Fink of Clarendon, George W. Briggs of Pampa, and George Pitco of Amarillo were guests of the club.

Palace Theatre Sold by Adams to C. C. Meacham

The Palace Theatre, operated for the past four years by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Adams, was sold this week to C. C. Meacham, until recently a member of the firm of Davenport & Meacham, local Chevrolet dealers.

Mr. Meacham took charge of the show the first of the week and will continue to operate it somewhat along the same line as the former owners. Mr. and Mrs. Adams are yet undecided just what business they will engage in.

"The Palace will continue to show the best pictures available," Mr. Meacham told The Democrat. "One improvement I have planned, that local theatre-goers should welcome, is the installation of an adequate cooling system—one that will furnish an abundance of cool air as well as force out unpleasant odors."

Chevrolet Service Manager Explains Purpose of Automobile Oil Filters

Last week Mr. P. A. Williams, service manager of the D & M Chevrolet company, local dealers in Chevrolet cars and trucks, told of the value of the air cleaner when used on an automobile and this week he continues with an article about the oil filter and its use and benefit to the car.

"It is known that the use of oil in an automobile is to keep the metal surfaces from touching. Take as an example the piston travelling up and down in the cylinder. If it were not for the oil the piston would rub against the iron of the cylinder wall and your motor would wear out in a few miles. This film of oil, which is thinner than a sheet of paper, stays between all moving parts of the motor and keeps them separated so that instead of metal moving on metal the metal touches and moves on the oil and the wear is almost none.

"As long as the oil is clean the wear is very small, but sand, dirt, pieces of carbon and other impurities are constantly getting into the oil. These particles are thicker than the oil film, as the oil becomes filled with them, they project through both sides of this film and the metal parts now rub against dirt instead of oil, and this is what caused your motor to wear so that it is necessary to have new rings installed, or your bearings tightened, or even to have your car rebored and new pistons fitted.

"It is almost impossible to keep dirt from getting into your oil. If your car is not equipped with an oil filter it will be noticed that in a few miles after draining your crank case and refilling with new oil the oil will begin to darken. At 100 miles the darkness is very noticeable and at 500 miles the oil will be very black. In a car equipped with the oil filter the pump constantly forces the oil through a filter which will pass the oil but retain the particles of dirt. Upon examination it will be found that the oil is bright and clear at 500 miles, and when drained at 2,000 miles the oil will appear to be as good and clear as when put in the car.

"The air cleaner keeps the dirt from the inside of your motor, especially above and around the pistons, and the oil filter keeps the dirt from the wearing parts of your motor by removing it from the oil. These two by reducing the wear of pistons, rings, bearings, and cylinder walls free you from the need of expensive repairs for thousands of miles, and from 'oil pumping,' so common in cars not equipped with these cleaners. Another saving in operation cost is effected by being able to run 2,000 miles without draining your oil or adding any new oil in your crank case."

Chevrolet Offers Sport Model in Low Price Field

Pioneering into the low priced automobile field another distinctive style feature, the Chevrolet Motor company, today, announces a new convertible sport cabriolet with body by Fisher, listing at $695 f. o. b. Flint, Michigan.

Combining all the closed car advantages of the sport cabriolet with the open car features of the roadster, this latest offering of the world's largest automobile producing company is ideally suited to every type of weather under all kinds of driving conditions.

Of two to four passenger capacity, the convertible cab with the top up resembles the sport cabriolet in appearance. The top, however, is fully collapsible and folds so completely out of the way that full vision ahead is possible from the rumble seat. An additional feature is the inclusion of a nickel banding around the windows which gives them rigidity and permits of raising the windows, with the top lowered, as an extra protection against the wind.

Finished in Romany red, with black body beading striped in gold, and embellished with artistic touches of polished nickel, the new model sounds a distinctive style note in the field of low cost transportation. The disc wheels are of the same brilliant color combination as the body.

The soft rubber fabric top is jet black in pleasing contrast to the dominant tones of the body.

The body by Fisher retains the sweeping graceful lines that distinguish the former cabriolet; while other features are of the same dependable construction that is winning unprecedented numbers to the Bigger and Better Chevrolet.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at the office at 617 Main Street, Memphis, Texas.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF CANDIDATE

IT IS GENERALLY CONCEDED that a majority of the candidates who seek to enter either the upper or lower houses of Congress inject into their campaign speeches invectives aimed at the personalities of their opponents. Reports of such addresses often draw large crowds who are vastly more interested in hearing abuse heaped upon a man than they are interested in knowing what a candidate stands for or what his platform happens to be.

Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin spoke here Friday in the interests of his candidacy for the seat now held by Earle B. Mayfield in the Senate, and he did not deal in personalities. It is true he criticized Senator Mayfield's conduct of the high office of United States Senator, but at no time during the course of his speech did Mr. Connally resort to the time-old practice of "mud-slinging."

It is refreshing to hear a man like Tom Connally speak. He has his platform well in hand; he is an orator of considerable ability, and he brings home the points he desires to make clearly, concisely and seemingly with a minimum of effort. Witty upon occasion, his tongue flashing satire upon others, there is a quiet gentility about this Texan, a graciousness of manner, a sincerity of purpose that seems to set him apart from the ordinary run of office seeker.

The record of Tom Connally's twelve years in Congress is an open book. It will bear close reading. Not once has his integrity been impeached, his course unknown. He has never ridden into office on the coat-tails of domineering politicians or issues consuming the imagination for the moment. His has been a staunch democracy. He is a thorough-going Democrat, not in name only, but in vote and influence as well. If Mr. Connally is elected to the high office he seeks, he will prove equal to the task before him; he will meet issues squarely. In many ways, he is a different kind of candidate and if elected, he will likely prove to the satisfaction of many that he is a different kind of senator from some of the distinguished gentlemen who have represented Texas in the past.

GOOD LITERATURE IN THE HOME

SOME TIME AGO, the editor of The Democrat was called upon to make an address before a community club, not on one of his generally assigned subjects of crop rotation or pig culture, but on the subject of literature in the home. It is too often the case that club work does not have embodied in it a respect for literature or more aptly, an appreciation of its value.

The great fountain of literature for the masses is unquestionably the newspaper. The function of the press is not only to disseminate news, but to write it in attractive literary form and to include features that have a definite literary value. In many papers, the editorial pages have the cream of current literature imprinted thereon. Editorials, short stories, poems, feature articles all contribute their bit to the sum total.

As William Jennings Bryan was known as the great "commoner" among politicians, in like measure is The Literary Digest the great "commoner" amid current day literature. Here may be found a summary of world events: exploration, research, art, poetry, music, drama, life in all its varied phases is here recorded. This magazine may well be called "the ten foot shelf of American intelligence." A man may acquire a liberal education if he reads consistently this magazine. Editorial jurisprudence forbids the advertising of any publication other than when specifically designated as an advertisement. In this one instance, we feel free to override the usual newspaper procedure for we feel that in doing so, we are championing a worthy cause, that of putting good and readable literature into the home.

The classics still adorn many homes in this country but they are read infrequently. They have their place in home life, but it is small. The two books that outrank any others we know anything about are the Bible and standard dictionary. The Bible continues to be the best selling book in the world and dictionaries are not so far behind. In these two books may be found a world of knowledge, a wealth of ideas. Literature in the home, with these books as the foundation, will materially develop and enhance the cultural life of all those who come in contact with them.

SOME GOOD HORSE SENSE

NOT MANY DAYS ago this editor heard a man of middle life stand before a group of men, gathered in a weekly luncheon and declare his recent acceptance of Christ and determination to live a religious life. There was no special reason why he should have made such a bold confession, yet coming as it did it was very timely and not a person present, regardless of his creed or no-creed, but felt the strength and sincerity of the statement and responded to the idealism of the courage manifested by the speaker. Religion is becoming more and more an every-day utility, and professors of Christianity and non-professors are ready and willing to lend admiration and respect to one with the moral courage to make his confession, wherever and whenever the opportunity offers.—Clarendon News.

MyK ollum

By J. C. W.

A minister remarked just a few days ago that Memphis should have a charity organization to take care of the unfortunate people of the community. "I have been going day and night, and others are doing the same. I have no money to relieve the suffering, and it is needed frequently. Wish the Democrat would take it up and see if an organization can be perfected."

The Democrat has frequently called attention to the need for United Charities in Memphis. It is not right that a few business men of the town do all the donating of money; neither is it right for the preachers to do all the work of visiting, aiding and relieving the sufferings of the unfortunates.

With an organization properly functioning in Memphis, help can be given where it is most needed, and in lots of cases misdirected charity may be avoided. Donations may thus be made to perform more good to the dollar spent. The merchants are daily being called upon to donate to this and that, and rather than offend a good customer, they donate when they know the donation is not deserved.

By having charities organization they can make their donations and then when called upon by a customer, can refer him to the organization. Many would-be alms-askers would then decide not to ply their graft further.

Every kind of beggar mentionable make frequent visits to Memphis. Some are worthy, but when a strict investigation is made, many of them are found to be out and out beggars who could get along without help. Then there are many who do some kind of uniform, like the Salvation Army members wear, get a tambourine and gather in the coin. And most of them get real peeved when turned down. No one objects to helping the Salvation Army; but they do object to others trying to imitate the S. A. when it would appear they are not doing such good work as that done by the S. A.

Before donating to beggars and such like, citizens should ask them if they have a permit from the City of Memphis. The City has an ordinance against such things.

Those who attended any of the churches of Memphis last Sunday found a more spiritual atmosphere than has been noticed in many moons. It is the result of the Rayburn revival meeting, and the best part about it is the fact that it seems to have a permanent quality that will make religion the prime movement of the community in every walk of life.

Going to church in Memphis shouldn't be a hard task now, in fact, it should be a pleasure since the atmosphere of Christianity prevails at every service.

Which leads to a remark (made many times previously) that Memphis should have a clean-up day, and continue it for the whole year. Since the moral atmosphere of the town has been improved, why not work on the physical appearance and see if a marked improvement cannot be made there.

By all means let's make Memphis a cleaner town physically. It would certainly be better in every way to have it that way.

Since The Democrat established a cash-in-advance subscription system very little trouble has developed over collections. Only one man refused to renew when his time ran out and a notice sent him. He said, "Two dollars is more than I care to pay." The only reply that could be made to a remark like that was, "If The Democrat isn't worth $2 a year now, it wasn't worth $1.50 last year."

After he does without it a while he may decide differently. If he doesn't, there are 2,309 subscribers still taking the paper.

MyK ollum may have a distorted opinion of the excellence of The Democrat, but even at that, he asks for a comparison of The Democrat with other $2 weekly papers of Texas. Close-Up of Bremen on Greenely Island Remarkable close-up view of the transatlantic plane Bremen, taken on bleak Greenely Island, depicts the end of its epochal flight across the North Atlantic. The plane is shown resting on an improvised scaffolding after its wheels had broken through the ice of the pond on the island.

Bremen Crew and Light That Did Not Fail

House, built to keep infrequent ships—principally fishing smacks and whaling boats—off the coast of Greenely Island, played an important part in bringing success to the epochal westward flight of the Bremen. When steet, fog and treacherous head winds had forced the Junkers to land, this beacon enabled the plane to land. The men who negotiated this first westward flight are pictured (left to right): Commandant James Fitzmaurice, Captain Hermann Koehl and Friedrich von Huenefeld.

country will soon be without lumber. Those who live away from the great timber section of the state give little thought to the value of the timber industry; those who live in the timber sections wonder how long the trees will provide the needed lumber.

The Texas Forestry association is organized and working to conserve and rehabilitate our forest lands, but find it difficult to interest Texans as a whole in its efforts. But we need to study the timber problem seriously. Leonard Tillotson, chairman of the association, is a man of strictest integrity and unselfish in his love for the welfare of the state. He thinks that to promote reforestation, lands upon which there is growing young timber should not be taxed on a basis of the value of the land itself, and that the timber should not be taxed until it is cut for marketing. Taxation measures of that kind have been adopted in other states with the result that land owners have been encouraged to plant parts of their lands to young trees and to await their growth.

Virgin Forests Gone

Mr. Tillotson presents some interesting figures showing that deforestation has been more marked than most Texans have thought. He says that of the 14,000,000 acres of original virgin pine forests in Texas, only about 1,200,000 acres remain uncut. "Of the pine timber acreage cut over, approximately 2,000,000 acres have a fair stand of second-growth trees and 1,500,000 acres have a poor stand of young growth, while of the remaining acreage that has been reforested some has been placed in cultivation and the remainder is usually regarded as practically idle land." He says that the owners of this vast acreage of lands are unable under present taxation conditions to bear the expense of renewing forestation and to wait the required 20 to 40 years for any returns, the present policy of state, county and local districts being to levy taxes against both the land and the growing timber.

Constitutional Amendment Needed

The Forestry association is urging a constitutional amendment to make possible the enactment of laws to encourage private land owners to grow timber, but so far there has not been a realization of the great and constant loss of wealth from deforestation of a kind to secure the submission of such an amendment to a vote of the people. Texans need to make a close study of our timber as a resource of the state that needs safeguarding.

North Texas Trucking

Most Texans think of the Red River section of North Texas as given over to truck growing for the markets. However, interest is turning to diversification from cotton and corn growing. The Avery community near Clarksville has recently shipped five cars of radishes, spinach and turnip greens, and now cars are being loaded with turnips for the northern markets. Later, tomatoes and potatoes will be shipped out by carloads. The summer truck crops give promise of the best returns. Gradually other North Texas communities will follow the example of the Avery community, as they see that profits are to be made by growing and cooperatively marketing vegetables and small fruits.

Texas and Texans

By Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas

Texans Should Know Texas

In an address to the South Texas Press association at San Antonio, Gov. Dan Moody struck the keynote to the present greatest need of Texas when he said that in his opinion the most urgent duty confronting Texas newspapers today is to picture Texas that the people of the state may come to know the real Texas in a way to love it as they should. Patriotism is born of love, and love comes from knowing that which is loved.

Texans are not lacking in patriotic appreciation of the government of their state, but there is a need for a zealous passion for the state of a kind that will get the strongest support of every citizen in every effort for advancing the interests of Texas as a whole. We need to be aroused from a sort of lethargy into constructive activity of the kind that built up Florida and that is energizing California.

We can't reasonably hope to interest people from other states in what we have in Texas until Texans themselves become more interested than they are now. Every Texan should be so keenly appreciative of Texas as a whole, so thoroughly informed as to what we have and what we expect to have in this state, that he will seek every opportunity to give his store of information to others.

This is a wonderful Texas in which we live, a glorious Texas, but most of us do not have our eyes opened or our ears attuned to it. Our horizon is not proportioned to the vastness of the things about us. It is up to the press, as Gov. Moody so well pointed out, to awaken our own people to what we have and what we hope, and then the people will be glad to carry the message of Texas progress to the outside world.

Provincial Tendencies

The size of Texas is so staggering that most of us find we can not know it by traveling over the state. To attempt learning Texas in that way would not leave us time for our own affairs, much as we would like to see the state. Therefore, we must study it thru the press, and we must learn of its progress through a newspaper study of what is going on throughout the state, if we would know it at all. Unless we do this we are likely to become almost provincial, as sectional in our views and our prejudices as the mountaineer, hedged in by surrounding mountain peaks. The tendency of men is to oppose, even to fight the things they do not understand, to become tribal-minded where the vision or the knowledge is limited. When, but not until, Texans in some way are brought to know Texas, are they likely to be found standing and working together for a greater Texas. It is this educational work among our own people that Governor Moody commended to the press as the most essential step in the development of the state that it needs to take.

Taxing Growing Timber

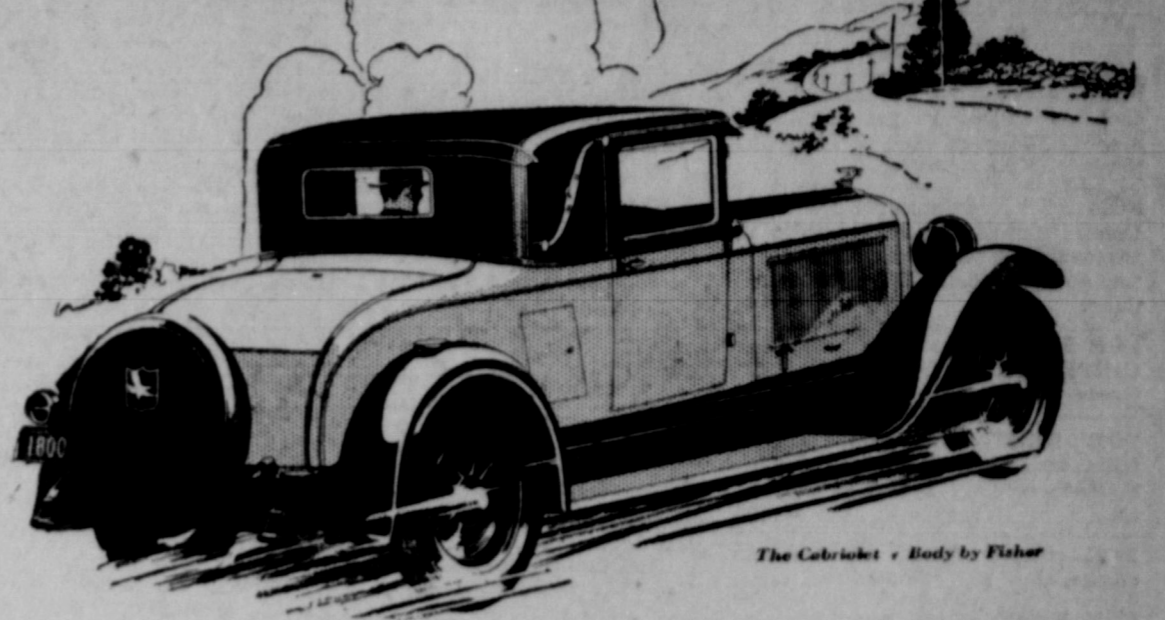

Very few Texans have made a study of reforestation or know anything much about it, though most of us think that unless something is done to replace the vast amounts of timber that are being destroyed constantly, the sons. Yet, some people hesitate to cooperate in marketing their products. Where there is efficient and honest management in cooperative marketing movements, prices are invariably better and losses are fewer.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

It's a Long Time Between Paydays!

That's true when you depend on the one-crop, cotton plan of farming. You have to wait from one fall until the next for your payday. You have a good cotton year and pay off your debts. Then you get a lean year, when the price of cotton goes down, and you get back in debt to the banker. Where is your profit?

Why not adopt a program that will give you a pay day two or three times a week? Why not adopt a plan that will let you live at home and make the family living expenses from week to week? If you could live at home in this manner you would not have to borrow money to make the cotton crop. If you did not borrow any money you wouldn't have to pay back in the fall. Your cotton crop would be all clear profit. If you are a renter and could have all your cotton money for four years you could buy your own farm and not be a renter any longer.

You can learn to live at home if you will get three to five good dairy cows and sell cream. Have a cream check coming in two or three times a week. Then feed the skim milk to hogs and chickens and you'll make as much money from the sale of pork and eggs as you do off your cream checks. From these sources you will receive enough money to buy the family needs in groceries and dry goods, without the necessity of borrowing.

There are 600 farmers in Childress county making their living off their dairy cows today. Why not you? Isn't it time you changed your farming program a little? Can't you find your salvation in a few good dairy cows?
