DEVELOPMENT IN THIS TERRITORY

Showing of Oil and Gas in Magnolia Co. Well and Petroleum Gas in Enders-Cushing No. 1

Underreaming on Road No. 1

Work of underreaming on Road No. 1 to set 6 5/8 inch casing to cut water at 3228 is now in progress. The Magnolia Company is making a good showing and feel confident that they will encounter the sand from which oil is secured in the Iatan section.

At McDowell Well No. 4

Work of a socket which had been run in McDowell well No. 4 by the General Oil Company, broke the tools had been raised a distance of 1000 feet, last week and the job had to be started all over.

Magnolia Co. Well Looking Good

Reports to the excellent showing encountered in Foster well No. 1 by the Magnolia Company, located 4 miles south of Iatan, is causing considerable interest to be manifested in that section. The well is being drilled near Morrison Number Two, the largest producer in the field, and the company expects to spud not later than January 1. These tests, together with Smart No. 1 of S. A. Sloan and associates, which has rig up and ready to spud and Badgett No. 2, offsetting the sensational Mitchell County gasser, will make a total of four new wells in the field. The Badgett well, being drilled by O. F. Kelsey, is drilling at 300 feet.

Enders-Cushing Well

The Enders-Cushing well, which was quite a bit of excitement, was spud Tuesday. The well was drilled from this well was ignited and a flame ten feet high into the air. The workmen insisting that the gas was very pronounced, was going to see if the stuff was struck a match and as he was near the casing in the well he flared up. H. H. Enders, manager of the Cushing Ranch Drilling Association, who was on the derrick tried to beat the blaze out but was unable to do so. The fire continued to burn until a bucket of water was rammed into the well. This gas had to force down a 3000 foot column of water. It is reasonable to suppose that the gas may prove to supply a goodly amount of gas. The gas was discovered when the crew were pulling 6 5/8 inch casing to replace some defective casing that had been run in.

Overcoming the Cavities

The work of pulling the casing in the Enders-Cushing well will require a great deal of work. While this work is in progress, the Enders-Cushing well is being drilled to Boston, returning in the morning on the job when this well had the 4500 foot mark, and the crew were pulling 6 5/8 inch casing to replace some defective casing that had been run in.

Well Near Sterling

County interest in oil development has been greatly stimulated by the showing of work on Durham well in the Chicago-Texas Oil and Gas Company. This well is located 1 1/2 miles south of town, and is on a lease which is being held by the company. Some of the geologists who have been in this area have designated this well as a "show well." Cleaning out to a depth of 300 feet has been completed and casing set.

Well No. 1 Being Drilled

The well No. 1 being drilled by the Petroleum Company, is being run as rapidly as the company will permit it to be. This well is at a depth of 100 or 200 feet. Several rods of casing have been run and it is attracting considerable interest.

The formation in Cushing No. 1 of the Cushing Ranch Drilling Association has alternated between dark sandy lime and black bituminous shale from 3,883 to 4,405 feet, with favorable showings of both oil and gas. If natural production is not obtained after drilling to 4,500 feet, this more than 500 feet of oil bearing formation will be given a heavy shot. Oil men are strong in the belief that this well will be shot into a good producer.

Prospects for shallow oil are thought to be good at this company's second test, the Sparkman No. 1, 15 miles northwest of here, and about four miles south of Cushing No. 1. Last week the drill at this well passed thru the red beds into a lime formation at 850 feet and is now drilling below the 900-foot level. Other wells drilling in this territory encountered the lime at around 1600 feet.

The Tidal Oil Company, it is reported, has made a location for a deep test just over the line in Glasscock County, on a block of acreage recently acquired, and will soon be moving in materials to start active operations.

Westbrook-Iatan Section

Locations for two new tests in the Underwriters block twelve miles west from Colorado, were announced Saturday by officials of the company. These wells will be drilled near Morrison Number Two, the largest producer in the field, and the company expects to spud not later than January 1. These tests, together with Smart No. 1 of S. A. Sloan and associates, which has rig up and ready to spud and Badgett No. 2, offsetting the sensational Mitchell County gasser, will make a total of four new wells in the field. The Badgett well, being drilled by O. F. Kelsey, is drilling at 300 feet.

Interest is again being centered in the Iatan vicinity because of showing in Foster No. 1 of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, three miles south of Iatan. At a depth of 2400 feet an excellent sand was penetrated Saturday, but the company announces their plans to drill for deep production. Maxwell & Johnson Bros. Fort Worth operators, have three uncompleted wells in the Iatan section and at two of the tests drilling has been suspended several weeks because of water shortage. The heavy rains of this week, however, placed an abundance of water in surface tanks and drilling at these wells is to be resumed.

Coleman No. 1, 17 miles northwest of Colorado, is drilling at 2972 feet after having encountered three good showings.

Zilpha Morrison No. 1 will also be deepened to the Morrison sand.

The crew at Smith No. 1, five miles west of Colorado, have completed straight reaming to the string of tools lost several months ago at 2400 feet and are now drilling a pocket below that level in the attempt to dislodge the tools.

The California Company are drilling at 2,000 feet in their Richardson No. 1, southwest of town. Rig materials are being shipped to Colorado with which to replace the derrick at Badgett No. 1, which collapsed under the heavy load of salt, deposited by the continued spray a few weeks ago during the time the well attained such distinction as a salt gusher. This well will be completed without delay, the owners, Bowser & Reed announce.

LeSurre No. 1, drilled in a few weeks ago by Chal Daniel with a flush production of 100 barrels, is showing a gradual increase under the pump. T. & P. Nos. 1 and 2, Morrison No. 2, and other producers in the field, are holding up production.

Oil News

The crew at the Cushing well is engaged in drawing casing to replace a defective joint which was letting water. As soon as this is done drilling will be resumed. A good showing of oil and gas makes the operators anxious to keep going.

The hole of the Durham well is now almost cleaned out and the drillers expect to resume drilling in a day or two. Twelve and one half inch casing will be set to the 600-foot level.

Owing to delay in shipment of casing drilling in the Brennan well is still delayed. The drillers are here, and expect to begin operations as soon as casing arrives.

Rain has somewhat retarded activities of the wildcaters this week. J. S. Meriwether and Miss Edith Stephenson left last Tuesday for their home in Beaumont. Mr. Meriwether expects to return about the first of the year, at which time he hopes to resume drilling on the McCarty well. Sterling News-Record.

The Abilene Hi football team champions of the third district, will next play the Amarillo-Floydida game.

UNION THANKS-GIVING SERVICES

Everyone in Howard County is Cordially Invited to Attend Union Services Next Thursday

Union Thanksgiving Services will be held at the First Baptist Church in this city at 10 o'clock Thursday morning November 30th. Rev. W. D. Green will preach the sermon on this occasion and a stirring message is assured.

The offering at this service will go to help the United Charities Association.

There is every reason why most of our people should take this occasion to offer up thanks for the many blessings we have received—blessings in the way of good health and staunch friendships if not in material prosperity. Our county has been one of the favored sections this year and for all that has been granted us to promote our health, happiness and prosperity, let us humbly offer our thanks.

The service will be inspiring and helpful and our citizens should be there in force.

Don't forget the hour 10 a. m., and remember that you will be given an opportunity to donate to aid those who may be in want.

Union Get-to-Gether Meeting

The Get-to-Gether meeting of Union men was held at the W. O. W. Hall Wednesday night, was marked by a good representation of union men of Big Spring, but representatives from the various locals of the Howard County Farm Labor Union were prevented from attending by the rain and bad roads. Since a full representation was not in attendance it was unanimously decided to postpone until Thursday night, November 30th the formation of a Central Trades Council for Howard County. The large number of union men and women who had braved the inclement weather to attend this meeting carried out a regular program and an enjoyed meeting was in order.

The ladies have planned to serve refreshments at the close of the speech making.

J. O. Tamsitt acted as chairman and in response to a call from the membership fine talks were made by J. A. Kinard, National Organizer of the Farm Labor Union, Mrs. Wm. Menger, Rev. F. B. Eteson and J. M. Cramer.

All union men and women in the county are urged to remember the important meeting to be held Thursday night, November 30th and make plans to be present.

Two brother boilermakers of Chicago were present and made encouraging talks.

H. E. Mills Killed in Railway Accident

H. E. (Red) Mills, aged 32 years, of this city, and one of our esteemed citizens, died at a sanitarium at Abilene at 2:20 o'clock this morning as a result of a railway accident at Sweetwater at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Mr. Mills was employed as fireman on the Texas & Pacific switch engine at Sweetwater and the accident took place when the engine in backing up sideswiped a box car standing on the siding. The car was too near the entrance to the switch to permit the engine to pass in the clear. The left side of the cab was mashed against the boiler and Mills pinned in the wreckage, and internally injured. The collision smashed a steam pipe and the injured man was also severely scalded.

W. T. Kent, engineer of the switch engine was slightly injured when he leaped from the cab after the collision in order to keep from being scalded by the escaping steam.

The injured man was taken to a sanitarium at Abilene where he passed away this morning.

Mr. Mills is survived by a wife and baby who have been residing at Sweetwater temporarily while Mr. Mills has held the job on the switch engine. They own a home in Big Spring. All of deceased relatives reside in Tennessee and Mrs. Mills relatives reside at Baird.

We join a host of friends in extending to the bereaved wife and other relatives our deepest sympathy in their hour of deep sorrow.

Funeral services will be conducted at Baird.

Benefit Musical Dec. 8th

A Musical for the benefit of Buckner's Orphans Home is being planned, to be held at the High School auditorium December 8th. Make your plans to attend this entertainment.

E. O. Pritchard left Thursday night for Pecos on a business trip.

Home and School Club

The Home and School Club met in regular session Friday, November 17th at Central school, with Mrs. Koberg, the president, presiding. Quite a large number of mothers and teachers were present.

Mr. Flanken led in prayer which was followed by America.

The club has extended a vote of thanks to Miss Eubanks, the Domestic Science teacher and her pupils, who rendered such valuable assistance during the reception for the teachers.

Our president, Mrs. Koberg, made a personal visit to the Dixie Lyceum Bureau and while they did not cancel our contract, they agreed to extend it until next year. It is to be hoped that we can raise the necessary funds to enable us to have it then. The remainder of the money will be refunded to those who purchased season tickets.

Mrs. F. C. Neidermier, state organizer for the Parent-Teachers Association is going to visit the club in the near future and explain the state work. It has been suggested that a father's club be organized to work cooperatively with the mother's club. We hope to hear from some of the fathers at our next meeting.

Every patron should have been present to hear the excellent talk by Mr. Flanken our superintendent on the "Law of Duty." Throughout the talk, he made it very clear how close the relationship between home and school is and how success in a child's school life depends largely upon the training and influences emanating from the home. He raised some very pertinent questions that are worthy of thoughtful consideration.

A reading was gracefully given by Mary Hazel Hathcock. She is very talented and her number was enjoyed by everyone.

The contest for the room in each school having the largest number of mothers present resulted as follows: Central school, Mrs. Agnell; South ward, Miss Jordan; Grammar grades, Miss Davidson; High school, Sophomores.

Next month we are going to have a talk on the "Law of Good Workmanship." Let's all be present and bring another with us. We had a number of mothers to join at this meeting.

Daily Mail Service for R. Wt

Upon petition being made by the citizens of the Knott community and along the mail route to be served the Postmaster General has decreed that daily mail service, except Sundays, shall be provided.

Instead of forming a separate mail route the postal authorities are having the Big Spring-Lamesa route changed so as to include the Knott territory. The mail car to go by way of Knott and return by way of roads now used on Big Spring-Lamesa route.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General until December 12 for carrying the mail on this route from January 1, 1923 to June 30, 1926.

The following route is to be traversed. From Big Spring by Knott and Sparenberg to Lamesa, returning by Sparenberg and Soash to Big Spring, equal to 58 miles and back, six times a week.

Motor vehicle to be used when road and weather conditions permit. Contractor to travel on trip from Big Spring by way of roads now used on Big Spring-Knott route, and Highway No. 9 to county line, and thence over roads now used on Big Spring-Lamesa route, and on trip from Lamesa by way of roads now used on Big Spring-Lamesa route.

Railroads on Shaky Ground

Fear that Congress will so amend the Esch-Cummins act so as to deprive the railroads of their present 5 1/2 per cent guarantee and at the same time force a reduction in freight rates has the railroad heads trembling. Next there is a likelihood that in many cases October operating expense accounts will prove to have been swollen by extra expenditures on maintenance growing out of the shopmen's strike.

The statement of the president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad that the shopmen's strike had cost his road $10,000,000 was an eye opener to the public. This road has recently signed the Jewell-Willard agreement. From this you can guess what a price the die-hard railroads are paying in refusing to settle the differences on the seniority question.

The dear public will be expected to pay the hundreds of millions the railroads are squandering in an effort to make the shop craft members humble. Herald want ads get results.

SUNDAY SERVICE FOR STRIKERS

A Special Service to be Held at Methodist Church at 4 P. M. Sunday November 26th

Every union man and woman in Big Spring and Howard County and every man and woman in Howard County who is in sympathy with the members of the Federated Shop Crafts now out on strike, are cordially invited and urged to attend a special service for these men to be held at the Methodist Church in this city at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 26.

Hymns, prayers, and inspiring talks will make up a program which will prove interesting and helpful, and the hour thus spent will prove beneficial to all who come. Among the speakers will be Rev. Ben Hardy, Rev. F. B. Eteson, J. A. Kinard, J. A. Cramer, and short talks by a number of others.

To these men on strike who are fighting for their rights is due our support and encouragement; and every citizen who realizes the justness of their cause and their need of our hearty good will is expected to be present.

Be sure to keep in mind the date and place of this meeting and make it a point to come and bring a friend or two.

Buys Registered Herefords Here

S. E. McKnight of Sonora who was here last week to receive a fine registered cow and calf purchased from Geo. Wilcox, breeder of registered Hereford cattle, made an additional purchase of registered Herefords during his stay here.

After a visit to I. B. Cauble's Hereford breeding stock farm Mr. McKnight purchased one yearling bull, four bull calves and four young cows at very satisfactory prices. That Mr. McKnight paid the price asked without requesting any reduction is the best evidence that he realized their worth.

The eleven head of cattle purchased from Howard County breeders were shipped to Sonora Sunday night.

The young cows sold were the first that Mr. Cauble has permitted to be sold with the exception of the seven months' old heifer, winner of first prize at the Midland Hereford Association Show, which was sold at auction during that show. These cows were sired by Mr. Cauble's old foundation herd bull, Fairfax Lad No. 513,108.

Three of the bull calves were also sired by Fairfax Lad and two of the calves were sired by the recent herd bull Beau Panama. The cows were bred back to the service of Beau Panama.

Mr. McKnight was loud in his praise of the registered cattle being produced in Howard County and feels that he is sure to make a success by securing his foundation stock here.

Mr. Cauble states that the high price of cotton is not going to cause him to neglect his registered Herefords as he realizes that he has a steady and sure income from the fine herd he has built up.

Raises Fine Sweet Potatoes

L. H. Thomas of the Moore community presented the editor of the Herald with a mess of sweetpotatoes. Mr. Thomas stated that these might well be called dry weather potatoes since they made it thru without any rain since June. The potatoes were of the Yam variety and were as large and fine as sweet potatoes grown in other section of Texas under ideal conditions. Mr. Thomas only had a quarter of an acre planted but he secured thirty bushels of potatoes from this small plot.

If sweet potatoes make it thru so well in a year of such scant rainfall it would surely pay our farmers in the sandy land section to plant larger acreages to this crop.

Bartlett Mann Injured

Bartlett Mann, a well known ranchman of Glasscock County, was seriously injured Monday when kicked in the back by a horse. He was taken to Temple Tuesday to undergo medical treatment. He was injured near his ranch while trying to lift his little son from his saddle horse. He had dismounted to let down a stock gap, the little boy remaining on the horse; and as the horse was being led across the barbed wire it must have been pricked by a barb as it began to jump, and as Mr. Mann attempted to reach for his son he received the blow in the back. His many friends throat this section hope to hear of his early recovery.

The fine rain which thoroughly soaked all of West Texas has put new pep into everybody. Prospects for 1923 look good.

They Are Buying Howard County Land

R. L. Cook of the firm of Cook & Co with headquarters at Colorado City reports a number of sales in which Howard County farming land changed hands recently.

Tant Lindsey considered one of the best farmers in Mitchell County purchased three hundred and twenty acres of land, located seventeen miles northwest of Big Spring. This is as good a farm as can be found in the West; there being 150 acres in cultivation. This land was purchased from O. P. Crow of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Lindsey will move his family here just as soon as he can have a new home erected on this farm.

C. W. Webb of Colorado City purchased 240 acres unimproved land, ten miles northwest of Big Spring from J. C. Cline and W. C. Brock of Wolf City. Mr. Webb purchased this land for his sons, who plan to improve it.

B. R. Cline purchased of J. C. Cline of Wolf City, Texas, three hundred and twenty acres, adjoining his farm, ten miles northwest of Big Spring. Mr. Cline has made a success of farming here and realizes the value of good farming land in Howard County.

O. G. Heath purchased of A. E. Edwards of Greenville, Texas, three hundred and twenty acres of land, located thirteen miles northwest of Big Spring. This is an extra fine farm with 130 acres in cultivation. Mr. Heath has been a tenant on this property and hence knows that he is making a good buy.

Awards for Best Chickens

In the contest for boys and girls who had chickens hatched from eggs from K. R. Woodford's pure bred Anconas, J. E. Pardue was given a prize of $5.00 for having the best cockerell; Miss Lillian Little $3.00 for the best exhibition pullet, and Alfred Lovvorn $2.00 for the best utility pullet.

The judging was in order at 3:00 o'clock last Saturday afternoon and ten pens of chickens were entered.

The interest in this contest was so great and the result so gratifying that Mr. Woodford will give fifty settings of Ancona eggs to boys and girls in our county who will agree to give him one pullet from those secured from the setting of eggs. He will also give prizes for the best chickens raised by the boys and girls to whom he gives these eggs.

If you want in on this contest be sure to make application when the proper time arrives.

Making Good in Howard County

J. B. Harding this week purchased of L. S. Patterson his farm of six hundred and forty acres of land, twelve miles south of town. As Mr. Harding already owns twelve hundred and eighty acres of farming land adjoining the Patterson farm, this is a pretty good sign that he thinks well of farming land in Howard County. He paid for the twelve hundred and eighty acres with the proceeds from two crops; and if he continues to do as well as he did this year he can easily pay the $14,000 he is paying for his place with the proceeds of two or three more crops.

He has gathered seventy-nine bales of cotton from his farm this year, which is not bad when you consider that we had practically no rain since June.

Satterwhite-McGowan

At Colorado, Texas, on Saturday evening, November 18th was solemnized the marriage of W. S. Satterwhite of Big Spring and Miss Roxie McGowan of Lorraine.

The bride is a charming and accomplished young lady, loved and esteemed by all who know her and will make a true helpmeet to the man she has honored with her heart and hand. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Satterwhite, one of our progressive and successful young men who commands the respect of old and young.

We join a host of friends in extending to these worthy young people best wishes for a full measure of happiness and prosperity.

Honoring Our Soldier Dead

President Harding has begun a custom which he hopes will become a tradition: he visited the grave of the unknown soldier at Arlington on Armistice Day, accompanied by the Secretary of War and military escort, and left a simple wreath to let it be known to all the world that this country honors her dead, known and unknown, who laid down their lives at their country's call.

At the same time the Post Office put on sale a new fifty cent postage stamp, which has a picture of the Arlington Amphitheater upon it, with the tomb of the unknown soldier in the foreground.

Shop Strike Not Called Off; Men Urged To Stick

Information has reached LABOR from various sections of the country that many of the railroad companies which have refused to enter into agreements with the striking shopmen are persistently spreading the report that the strike has been declared off.

The railroads are sending agents thru the rural sections spreading this propaganda. Circulars bearing the same story are being printed and distributed.

In a few places the propaganda has been successful, but the men have generally gone out again when they discovered how they had been deceived.

The strike has not been declared off, except on those systems which signed up with the shopmen.

Men who are on strike should look to their own system federation officials for information, because settlements can not be made except through those officials.

As soon as settlements are completed the strikers will be notified.

In the meantime stick. Equipment on the die-hard roads continues to go to pieces, despite the enormous sums the railroads are expending in an effort to round up strikebreakers. Victory is certain if the strikers will only continue to hold the front line trenches.

Up to November 14, settlement according to the Baltimore plan had been made with 132 railroads.

Edwards Confesses to Wild Expenditures

Fred C. Edwards, who was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator from West Virginia last August, admitted in court the other day that he had violated the West Virginia corrupt practices act and had expended $26,000 in an attempt to Newberryize West Virginia.

His attorney, John Marcum, declared that before Edwards opened his barrel he had consulted Attorney General Daugherty, and the latter had told him to go as far as he liked, and that there was no danger that "he would conflict with the law."

Judge D. E. Matthews fined Edwards $1,000 and disfranchised him for three years. Edwards immediately took an appeal to the supreme court.

On the same day that this rich criminal was treated in this tender fashion, five striking shopmen in North Carolina were found guilty of a technical violation of a court injunction, and at the suggestion of Attorney General Daugherty were sent to the Atlantic penitentiary.

$25,000 Damage to Wooden Ship Valued at $1,600

Following the partial destruction of the hull of the vessel Atlantus, sold by the Shipping Board to a private corporation for about $1,600, it is announced that the damage to the hull will reach $25,000. The fire occurred at Alexandria, Va., October 24, and the company has 100 men at work salvaging the machinery, which constitutes the most valuable part of the boat and is uninjured. The Atlantus was one of the fleet of "worthless" wooden ships disposed of by the Shipping Board a few weeks ago at a very small percentage of their real value.

Another Hooper Budget

To the Editor of Labor:
I like your paper LABOR all right, but I can not renew my subscription at present. There are four in our family and we manage to exist on $16 a week. That means rent, heat, light, food, clothes, etc. You have an idea how much money I have left for amusement, recreation or education. Rupert Hughes' Remembrance

AT THE

Monday and Tuesday Nov. 27th 28th

Don't fail to see this greatest of pictures. It will make you remember many forgotten things.

Poor old "Pop" had to keep on the go to satisfy the dressmaker, the butcher, and the landlord.

He was the kind of man who loved to see everybody happy.

You will love "Remembrance." You will feel a tug at your heart for dear old "Pop" Grout whose family left him far behind in the mad race for social position.

His family had all the fun while father fought a hard battle to keep them in luxury. Then one day their vain and glittering bubble burst and they saw that the best friend they had in the world was dear old dad.

It is one of the sweetest stories ever told. Rupert Hughes has looked into the reticent heart of an American business man with keen perception and heart-touching sympathy. To see this great human drama is to love it.

"Pop" Was Easy--the Children Knew Just How to Make a Little 'Touch'

Money! Money! Money! When dear old dad saw the family he asked "How much?" But after that he didn't see much of his pleasure loving wife and children. While he worked to pay the bills they learned to play bridge with a grand manner. Poor old "Pop." He remembered when mother announced the dinner in her gingham apron. Now there was a butler. And now there was criticism for his clothes and lack of social grace. But he remembered the dear, meaningful words of long ago, "John, I love you."

Not long ago his children were boys and girls, simple and affectionate. Now they were grown into tall men and women, hungry for the splendors of the dazzling social world and neglectful of their old dad who worked hard for their comfort. He didn't mind bearing the burdens if only they could appreciate. And then the whole giddy edifice crashed down, with its foolish social aspirations and its vain pursuit of fashionable pleasures. Then they saw their good old father in his true light. Then the old love came flooding back into their hearts.

Why You Should See This Great Picture

It is Rupert Hughes' greatest work. It is better than that powerful drama "The Old Nest."

It is crowded with laughter, rich with dramatic moments that touch the heart.

It is clean, wholesome, entertaining.

It is a picture that everyone can take to their hearts, Mother, Father, and the children.

And the stranger in town takes person living away from family want to see every thrilling moment of it.

It has a wonderful, talented, cast of players.

It is a picture that will make you happy.

If you love clean, stirring pictures, with laughter and tears mingled come and see "Remembrance." If you love a strong, courageous man win out in the end, if you love that family affectionate are worth stiling for, then come to see "Remembrance."

"Pop's" best friends were the children who hadn't yet learned of social world.

"Pop" planted a tree years ago, mother and now he was joyful in another romance flowering there.

Livestock Report
The rather general rains late in the range situation shows improvement but this, in part at least, is prospective rather than immediate. The extreme western portions of the state are still unimproved while in parts of West Texas and in South Texas the conditions are extremely favorable.

The demand for all classes of livestock are slow, an inability to obtain cars for shipping, and a somewhat unsound and unprofitable condition for the stock in the result. The prospects for the coming spring seem to warrant a tendency which appears generally stockmen. Especially is this for cattlemen. For the sheep conditions and prices are favorable even now and the outlook rather bright.

Smith and Howard counties are going into winter in fine health, no buyers for big stuff, but not too much water, and need no or little feeding, watering of stock cattle. For parts of Burnet and Llano the dry range has been helped in late October, some cattlemen moved to South Texas for some calf loss from blackleg, some cattle will winter without feed, cows are thin, and selling on the range, some weanlings and twos sold in country not generally heavily grazed, market prospects in Nolan county grass is poor, plentiful, lightly stocked, will hardly pay the interest on cows, rains recently. In disposal of old and common stock but little else, prospects for rain needed. Sutton has an abundant grass, cattlemen condition. In Coleman, Callahan there is little surplus water scarce, though some counties run better, cattlemen and weaning or sale of stock quickly increase flesh and in best physical condition. In Comanche the heavy rains have benefited the water, no surplus, doing well in open fields, than in years, especially weanlings, twos and threes, no fattening. For Tom Green, and adjoining counties conditions though somewhat spotted, in good shape, suckling feeding will be light with a moisture, outlook encouraging, shipments of calves. In Howard and McCullough ranges, water plentiful, scant stock cattle.

Davidson on Need of Highway Maintenance

Hon. T. W. Davidson, lieutenant governor-elect, among many good things, has the following to say about highways:
"There is no permanent road except one permanently maintained. When we consider that the state and several counties are constructing $100,000,000 of roads at this time, including those that have been recently finished, and when we consider that the national government will probably spend billions of dollars in the next few years in the way of road construction, the question of road maintenance becomes at once one of vital interest. And while such vast sums of money have been spent, and are being spent, it is passing strange that no definite methodical plan for care and maintenance of these roads has ever been enacted into law applicable to the entire state or nation.
"Counties do not, as a rule, maintain roads. The proposition of road building has been much agitated and discussed. The question of road maintenance has been left in the back ground, about which little has been said. As a consequence, the average county commissioner apparently thinks that when he has voted bonds and built a highway that he has a permanent road, and he makes no provision whatever to take care of what he has built. Wholesale destruction follows."

Raise More Hogs
Within the last two years more than twenty-five pork packing plans have been established on the Pacific Coast and California has been coming to Fort Worth to buy hogs. But California is also buying stocker hogs.
The local market seldom receives enough hogs to meet the demand of packers. Nowhere in the world can they be raised with as little expense and to such perfection as in the Fort Worth trade territory. The farmers of North Texas and West Texas should raise enough hogs to supply all local demands, to meet the requirements of California packers and to meet all other packing house demands.

It has been demonstrated that corn is not needed to finish pork. Milo, kafir and darso make as good meat as corn, and at less expense. The farmers in Texas can raise on a few acres enough grain, including corn if they prefer it, to finish a large number of hogs. If they do not care to finish them they can sell them to northern, eastern and western feeders to finish. Hogs are mortgage lifters, and much more than pay for their keep and the care given them.
The farm with a few sows, one hundred or so hens and a few goats and sheep will be a prosperity farm. Livestock and poultry mean as much as cotton, corn and other crops. Texas can raise enough hogs to feed Texas and the world. Texas may easily become as famous for her hogs as for her cattle.—Fort Worth Record.

Unknown Man Murdered Near Colorado
The mangled remains of an unidentified white man were found on the T. & P. railway track about two miles west of Colorado City last Friday and it is believed the man was murdered before being placed on the railway track. This theory was advanced by Sheriff W. J. Chesney who visited the scene Friday and found evidences of a struggle and a pool of blood covered with sand.
Officers visited the scene Saturday to make a further investigation and found a pool of blood on the right-of-way and near where the body was picked up had been burned. Dry grass was collected and piled on the pool and then set on fire, but this failing to destroy the evidence of foul play, the pool was then covered with sand. A hat, apparently worn but a few days, and carrying the trade mark of a Colorado merchant, was picked up not far from the camp fire which the murdered man and his companion or companions had spent a part of the night.
The remains were buried in the Colorado cemetery, after futile attempts upon the part of officials to establish any clue of identification.

T. & P. Scale Higher Than Asked For
Printed copies of the contract between the Texas & Pacific railroad company and the Association of Mechanical department employees received here yesterday show that skilled mechanics receive a higher wage under a sliding scale than the labor board decision, against which union shopmen struck.
The pay runs as high as 82 cents an hour for expert mechanics.
There is a graduated scale between the journeyman rate and the helper rate for semi-skilled mechanics, which is something new. Heretofore workers were classed as helpers or mechanics.
There also is a change in rules with reference to helpers, which reads:
"Helpers, when working with or under the direction of mechanics or apprentices, will perform service to the full extent of their capabilities."
With these exceptions, the contract is practically the same as that in force prior to the strike.—El Paso Times.

Ford Remedy For Strikes: Give Labor Enough Wages
Henry Ford has a solution for strikes; he would prevent them by making them unnecessary. He has no sympathy for "your tribunals, your industrial police," he tells fellow employers. This is the way Ford would go about bringing peace to industry:
"The first step is paying satisfactory wages. That is usually the last step taken. By taking that single step you wipe out automatically the whole strike situation.
"Why don't employers take that step? Because it means harder work for them. Every strike begins in the incompetency or unfairness of the front office.
"There is no industrial situation which ultimately does not come to a head in the matter of wages, for wages represent livelihood, and a livelihood is at the very basis of civilization."—Labor.

"Remembrance" is a One-Man Picture
One of the most interesting figures in the motion picture world is Rupert Hughes. He has proved that the "one man" picture not only is a possibility but a distinct outstanding success. He also has shown that the public doesn't have to be titivated by vampires, or ogled with eternal triangles to put the seal of approval on a screen drama.

When Mr. Hughes first went to the Goldwyn studio on the west coast and began a practical first hand study of the screen it generally was taken for granted that his would be the way of other authors who have made the same experiment. Then came word that he was writing his own continuities, or the working script from which the pictures are photographed. Then he assisted in direction and wrote his own titles. Now, in his latest pictures, including "Remembrance," a Goldwyn production, coming to the R. & R. Lyric theatre for Monday and Tuesday, November 27-28, he is responsible for the entire production—the original story, the continuity, the direction, the cutting and the titling.

As in his "The Old Nest," Mr. Hughes in "Remembrance" has translated a typical American family problem to the screen. In the first picture he builded on mother love. The father is the central figure in his latest effort.

There is no doubt that whatever else may be said, a picture by Rupert Hughes is always distinctly and emphatically Hughes. It bears the imprint of his individuality as plainly as do his novels and short stories. In this respect, if no other, it might be safe to say that Hughes is unique. There is no one like him in motion pictures.

A deal of criticism has been printed to the effect that motion pictures suffer from "council" manufacture. Too many fingers spoil the pie, is the contention. No such criticism can be made of any motion picture that bears Hughes' name.

Authors frequently complain because directors change situations in the story. Since Hughes has been directing the scenes from his stories he has found that frequently he has to alter his own work. He was telling about this situation the other day.

"It is not usual," he said, "for me to say to myself, 'I wonder if Author Hughes would get very mad if I should change this around. Well, I'll make the change anyhow and explain it to him afterward. He hasn't any right to complain if I better the situation."

At other times Director Hughes found himself at loggerheads with Author Hughes for writing in camera angles that couldn't possibly be worked out, and for failing to foresee various mechanical obstacles that the director discovered immediately.

As the one author who has worked at motion pictures until he can and does make his own photodramas his own way, Hughes has had many obstacles to overcome, and many disappointments and setbacks. He has labored harder than most human beings who are trying to attain success, although he already had achieved a most unusual success in the profession of letters.

There can be little question that Rupert Hughes is a new force in motion pictures.

Libel on Labor Stands
Philadelphia, Nov. 16.—The public press has not corrected false statements it made when it announced that striking railroad men deserted their trains on the desert, says John A. Voll, editor of the Bottle Maker.

"Has President Harding corrected the falsehood in his message to congress or attempted to repair the damage? He has not. To our knowledge up to this writing. This is only another episode in the contention between capital and labor in which capitalism uses its power of false propaganda to crush a righteous cause, as it did in the steel strike, and later exposed by the Interchurch world movement.

"But, it is said, what good is the expose after the damage has been done, the cause crushed or defeated. It focuses the minds of the people upon the underhanded methods of big business and brings it a step nearer to the day of reckoning. It also gives conclusive proof of the power that big business wields over the press and in government, and thus sets the people to thinking of ways and means to curb and control it."

Richard Lloyd Jones tells About Ants, Elephants and Us.

ZOOLOGISTS, who, in simpler language, are the bug-ologists, after microscopically observing the habits and conduct of ants for years, bring us the interesting information that these busy little workers in the humbler world are by their own voluntary action the most moral of all living creatures.

The ant, they tell us, is so intelligent that we are justified in trying to describe its existence by a kind of allegorical comparison with human life.

Busy as are these minute little creatures, their females are scrupulously clean. Several times each day they better their appearance with combs and brushes. The mothers are the only ones that are allowed to eat all they want. All others, by their established law, must abstain from over eating and drinking.

Soldier ants protect both the young and those who care for the young. The mother ant is treated with all the deference of an empress.

The ants limit their sleep to just that which is their need of rest and they destroy the drone and all those who would attempt to over-indulge in leisure or luxury.

They have architects and engineers. They build houses and bridges to conform with definite plans. They have their agriculture and horticulture and have been observed to domesticate as many as 384 different kinds of creatures.

Wonderful is the story of the ant. Some of our scientists who are better zoologists than sociologists quote the old Hebrew saying of thousands of years ago, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her way," and suggest that there is much in the ant the man might well try to emulate.

Other scientists tell us to consider the elephant.

The Hindoo tells us that he gets good work from that giant creature only so long as he is good to it. Should he abuse or offend it, he would lose the elephant's willingness to work and he might lose his life by incurring the elephant's ire. To appease the elephant, the Hindoo always feeds it before he himself partakes of food.

That gentleness and generosity do much to gain good work, is the moral lesson the scientist hands to us as the result of these observations.

But who wants to be either an elephant or an ant? Who would want to emulate their ways, interesting and perhaps intellectual as they appear to be?

The elephant has none of the generosity for which the scientific observer pleads. The elephant says, "Feed me first or I am likely to get mad and kick the daylight out of you." There is nothing in that sort of a spirit worth emulating.

The ant is good to its own but it wars on every other creature that it cannot subdue and use. There is nothing so very big and magnanimous about that.

What is more, outside of the grotesque trick elephants in the circus ring, no scientist has ever called upon us to see or hear an animal symphony, nor have they shown us an animal-made picture or gracefully formed statue. Has any one ever yet seen an elephant pause in rapture before a gorgeous sunset?

What eye at the microscope has ever seen an ant lay down its work upon its hill to hark to the song of the lark?

Whatever are man's imperfections he is not only the research student, the truth seeker, but what is finer, he is the great appreciator. To be able to appreciate the wonders of the world—that in itself is living the higher life.

poem
by UNCLE JOHN

The Senatorial candidates have struck their smartest gait, an' hawk their wares on busted crates, all up an' down the State.

Contendin' voices rant an' roar, to warn us of our danger. . . . Nobody's honest any more

THE CONFLICT—the Golden Rule's a stranger!
I reckon if we don't elect a rabid politician, we needn't ever much expect to better our condition. . . .

And so—each candidate declaims in hate against the other, without a callin' any names—that he's the Devil's brother.

I reckon that it's nip and tuck between contendin' forces—but I would sooner pass the buck, than hear their crime-discourses.

Why can't we have two honest men, to run against each other—who'd serve the people now an' then, an' treat 'em as a brother?

It seems to me, that politics has got so awful rotten, that we'd be in a better fix with all of it forgotten!

For your own Uncle John.

for 1922

LAST week the New York police arrested a man and rushed him off to Bellevue Hospital to have his sanity looked into because he broke a whiskey bottle on Broadway, stood before the mirror in a shop window, proceeded to undress himself and started to shave—naked as the day he was born. They hustled him into a taxicab and in five minutes the crowd had vanished into the moving city throng. In the great city of Calcutta, if a native made a sudden dash for a suit of clothes, put them on, and stood in front of a window to rub some hair tonic on his face wooing a beard, they'd hustle him into a "ghurry," the Indian form of taxicab, and have his head looked into. Geography is a strange study. East is east and west is west, and as you see the thing so it is—that is, so we insist it is, but is it?

Can't Beat 'em
Washington, Nov. 16.—When the railroad shop men's strike was at its height, rail managers assured the public: "Poof! This is nothing. Business as usual."

Now these managers intend using strike losses to maintain high freight rates.

Reports by "hard-boiled" eastern rail managers who led the fight show that for September their operating expenses increased 13.7 per cent over those of the same period in 1921. The cost of the strike is made more impressive by the added statement that in September the roads expended $120,000,000 for maintenance of equipment, an increase of 15.7 per cent over the same month a year ago.—Chicago Labor News.

Every Farm Should Produce Sufficient Feed
Most every farmer in Howard County made a mistake this year in not planting larger acreages to feed crops. Quite a few are going to be compelled to pay a high price for feed before another crop is made. This is not going to prove such a hardship since most every one of our farmers made a good crop of cotton which has brought from 20 to 26 cents per pound. Had cotton dropped to ten cents or lower per pound, the fellows who had to buy high priced feed with their cotton money would have come out lower.

The same mistake should not be made next year and an adequate feed crop should be the first consideration. Let cotton be the surplus crop and reap the biggest profit. If you want to have in a greater acreage in cotton put some new land in cotton, but don't encroach on land you need to insure an adequate feed crop.

Cecil Reed, aged nine years, son of Mrs. Aaron Reed, was painfully injured about 12:45 p. m. Wednesday when enroute from his home to Central school building.

While attempting to cross Scurry street he ran into the rear end of J. Athans' Dodge delivery car, and in addition to being knocked unconscious, suffered a painful cut on the side of his face. A number of autos were going in both directions and the boy either became confused or was blinded by mud thrown by the car wheels and ran into the Athans' truck. Mr. Athans and T. H. ### Heiress True to Boy Sweetheart

And after everything was said and done it happened just as it always does in the story book, and Dellora is going to marry Lester in the spring and be happy ever after. When Mrs. John G. Gates died she left the enormous Gates fortune of $38,000,000 to Dellora Angell, who was just a sweet little girl in St. Charles, Ill. Dellora's father, R. F. Angell, was made administrator.

While Dellora was in school at St. Charles she had a sweetheart whose name was Lester Norris. Money or no money, Lester was wild about her, but Papa Angell said Dellora must have her chance. So he took her away and she saw many wonderful people, and several times it was said she had become engaged to some notable or other.

But Lester knew the girl behind the gold and Dellora knew and when she had met everybody and learned a lot about men she was certain she was right in the first place and there never could be anybody but Lester whose father is the village undertaker. Now Dellora is 20 and her engagement to Lester announced. Photo shows Miss Dellora and her fiancé, Lester Norris, 21, budding artist.

The South's Greatness

The Manufacturers Record of Baltimore believes in the greatness of the South, and the Record is contributing its share to the realization of a mighty industrial and commercial empire south of Mason and Dixon's line.

A great many people, Southerners especially, fail to realize the true greatness of the South in the matter of raw materials and the productions of factories, farms and mines.

The South, for instance, produces one hundred percent of the country's bauxite, fuller's earth, turpentine and rosin, cotton, cottonseed oil and peanut oil, and sugar cane. It produces 90 per cent of the country's sulphur, 99 per cent of its phosphate-rock, 93 per cent of its cane syrup, 93 per cent of its sweet potatoes, 92 per cent of its crude barytes, 90 per cent of its aluminum, and 90 per cent of its early vegetables.

The South's population is over 36,000,000 and its taxable property is more than $29,000,000,000, an increase of 122.9 per cent in ten years. Its bank deposits have grown over 200 per cent in ten years, its public school expenditures have increased 213.5 per cent, its mineral products value has increased 518.3 per cent and its manufactured articles 210.5 per cent.

The South, it is seen, is no weakling. It is up and coming and has fully recovered from the devastating effect of the War Between the States.

Its leadership in manufacture, agriculture and commerce is being firmly established.

Three Men Hurt by Engine Explosion

Three men were severely scalded and bruised when the boiler of a railway engine exploded on the Texas & Pacific tracks, near Gates, five miles west of Dallas, Tuesday afternoon, wrecking a shed of the Texas Oil Company, according to reports from the Texas company offices, near by.

The injured men, who were removed to St. Paul Sanitarium, are: John Fogarty, engineer, 3301 1-2 Worth street, scalds and bruises.

Joe Britt, fireman, 4424 Travis St., blown out of cab and severely bruised and scalded.

Richard McCort, 2708 Florence St., a brakeman who was standing near the engine, severe bruises and scalds.

After treatment at St. Paul Sanitarium Mr. Fogarty returned to his home, the other two remaining. Reports from the sanitarium were that neither of the other two was fatally injured.

Employees of the Texas Company declared that the explosion tore a roof from one of the company sheds and threw pieces of steel for more than 100 yards in every direction. Some small pieces of steel were hurled through windows at the Texas Company offices. No one in the building was injured by the projectiles, according to Mrs. C. A. Talley, telephone operator.

Officials of the railroad company said that an investigation of the explosion has been instituted.

Soash

One of the most impressive and edifying sermons ever held at Soash was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Bewie of Waco, Texas, Wednesday night, November 15th. Being superintendent of Lutheran Missions in Texas, he had an important message for the Soash people. Every seat in the schoolhouse was occupied. The speaker told a devout audience how the Lutheran Church received its name: that by diligent study of the Bible one Martin Luther, a pious monk, came to the knowledge of the Truth, that he learned "that the just shall live by faith" and that salvation can not be attained by trying to keep the man-made precepts of the Church of the Dark Ages. Because Luther placed himself four-square upon the Bible and would not teach contrary to the Word of God, he was put out of the Roman Catholic Church. Those that stood by Luther were then called Lutherans. Dr. Bewie then presented the teachings of the Lutheran Church, chief of which is the doctrine that every word of the Bible is God's own word, given to make men wise unto salvation. The Lutheran Church, therefore, is not a new church just 400 some odd years old, but that is the old original apostolic church reformed and cleansed from the dross of human teachings that had perverted it during the Middle and Dark Ages. Let us adhere to the written Word of God and teach only that and all of that which Christ has commanded us, then will the promise be fulfilled: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Matt. 28:20.

Our next service will be at the Soash school house the coming Sunday Nov. 26. Having pointed out that we are at the parting of the ways, let me now show you the "goal" toward which we Christians travel. I shall base my remarks on 1 Peter 1: 8-9. Services begin at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. A. J. F. Meier, Lutheran Pastor.

Federal Representation in Road Management Sought

The United States government has become the largest single creditor of the American railroads, its direct advance far outweighing all other obligations to private holders, says Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard, in the current issue of the North American Review. From this fact he draws the conclusion that the government should have representation on the boards of directors of the carriers.

"Not mere dummies like the former federal representation on the old Pacific railroads," continues Prof. Ripley, "but experts chosen for their fitness, are contemplated by those who demand representation in management in proportion to ownership of stocks and obligations of the roads. Such persons might well serve as trustees for the general public interest. They should be held to an accountability for due diligence in the service."

Breakdown of railroad credit resulting from mismanagement of the past might be overcome, says Prof. Ripley, if bondholder creditors shared with stockholders responsibility for the operation of the roads.

Railroads Holding Up Prosperity

Prosperity is being held up by inability of the railroads to supply equipment to move merchandise, federal treasury officials report as a result of a recent survey. Cars and locomotives got in such bad shape during the recent strike that the carriers have been entirely unable to meet the demand that has been made upon them. Administration officers express a fear that general business will be set back by the railroads, as has happened on several previous occasions.

Christmas Seal Sale Dec. 1 to 25

The 15th Annual Tuberculosis Seal Sale in Texas will be conducted by the Texas Public Health Association December 1st to Christmas Day. The purpose of the seal is to finance the battle against tuberculosis in Texas.

With the money raised last year it was possible for the Texas Public Health Association to reach 143,427 people with a health message, examine over 5,000 school children, maintain a health exhibit car, make three county tuberculosis surveys, and reach thousands of school children through the Modern Health Crusade. It also supported thirteen local associations with their many other activities.

Texas has a quota of $125,000.00 this year. If this amount is raised it will be possible for the Texas Public Health Association to greatly enlarge its work of preventing the spread of tuberculosis. The Texas quota is about three cents per capita, a very small amount for health insurance.

The design of the 1922 Christmas seal is intended to make an appeal to the artistic sense of the public as well as to its sympathy and generosity. The design shows a Christmas tree in the left foreground, with the double barbed cross, the emblem of the international crusade against tuberculosis, in front. In the right foreground is a mother and child. At the bottom of the seal are the words, "For Health," and at the top the numerals, "1922."

To Discourage Auto Thieves

A campaign to educate the gullible public against buying "Used" cars from strangers or tourists with out first making a rigid investigation of the car's history is being waged by the Automobile Theft Bureau, according to Forest M. Spencer.

Spencer asks the public, as well as county and city peace officers to cooperate with the Bureau in combating the Auto theft evil.

"Thousands of automobiles are stolen every year," Spencer said. "We recover many cars every day where the owner fully believes that he has a genuine bill of sale to the car in his possession."

Automobile thieves carry a full line of seals and an assortment of motor and serial numbers. The bill of sale given when a stolen motor car is sold looks alright to the average buyer but in nine cases out of ten the paper is not worth a cent. The public should know the car's history before it is purchased.

"Know the man from whom the car is purchased. If he is a stranger, have the local peace officers look up the records of stolen cars. He may find that the very car offered for sale is hot." The Automobile Theft Bureau has recently opened a branch office at Houston. An experienced detective is in charge, and has already recovered cars "wanted" in different parts of the State. This bureau has no ax to grind. We operate on funds furnished by insurance companies and merely want to make life as miserable as possible for the thief.

How My Neighbor Lost $225

About sundown one day not long ago a farmer who lives not far away passed Hilltop going home. He had been to town selling some of his crops and was happy over the $225 in cash he was carrying back for deposit in the family chest. Before he had gone five miles farther, robbers (who probably knew his habits) held him up and took his last cent.

When will our folks learn that the only safe place for money is in a bank? Not only does a man invite robbery by carrying a lot of cash with him, but in other ways he injures himself and his community. He injures his community by keeping money out of circulation. He injures himself by failing to establish banking connections at a time when he has surplus funds and thereby putting himself in position to borrow on favorable terms at times when he needs money. If you show a banker that you like to do business with him when you have money, he is all the readier to do business with you when you need money.

I wish everybody who reads Hilltop Farm Notes and who doesn't already carry a bank account, would resolve to start one when he sells this year's crops. It's safer, more businesslike, more profitable, more progressive; and everybody who has dealings with a farmer has more respect for him if he pays all accounts by check.—The Progressive Farmer.

Vehicles to the Right; Pedestrians to Left

Custom has made it second nature for an American to turn to the right when meeting another, either when riding in a vehicle or walking on the streets; but under the modern traffic conditions, the hazard to life demands that pedestrians, when on the high-ways should always keep to the left side of the road.

This enable him to use both hearing and vision to protect himself. When he walks on the right side of the highway, his back is to the approaching vehicle, and he has only his hearing to warn him.

Mineral Mixture for Hogs

Although we have given mineral mixtures for hogs probably a dozen times during the past year we still get requests for directions for making these mixtures.

In view of these facts the following mineral mixtures are suggested:

- 1.—Charcoal (Pulverized or small lumps).....10 parts
- Wood ashes.....10 parts
- Copperas.....1 part
- Salt.....1 or 2 parts

The copperas may be pulverized and well mixed with the only materials, or dissolved in water and sprinkled over the mass and all then well mixed.

- 2.—Charcoal or soft coal.....10 parts
- Acid phosphate.....10 parts
- Salt.....1 part

- 3.—Wood ashes.....10 parts
- Acid phosphate.....10 parts
- Salt.....1 part

- 4.—Wood ashes.....10 parts
- Air-slacked lime or ground limestone.....10 parts
- Copperas.....1 part
- Salt.....1 or 2 parts

- 5.—Wood ashes or air-slacked lime.....20 parts
- Copperas.....1 part
- Salt.....1 or 2 parts

Some of such mineral mixtures should be kept before all hogs all the time. There is no longer any lack of proof that they produce better growth or faster gains from the same kind and quantity of feed, and since they are cheap they should never be omitted from the hog rations.—The Progressive Farmer.

Standpatters Planning to Dominate Congress

In the wake of the election, Old Guard leaders in the Senate have launched a movement to smash the seniority rule in Congress.

Standpatters like McCumber, chairman of the finance committee, went down in the primaries and elections this year, and La Follette and Borah are creeping up to important committee chairmanships by reason of their long service.

Now that the seniority rule no longer serves their purpose the standpatters are determined to abandon it.

La Follette is ranking member of both the finance and interstate commerce committees as a result of the election. Borah is ranking member of the foreign relations committee and would have been chairman if Lodge had been beaten. Senator Norris, progressive, is already chairman of the important committee on agriculture.

Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois has written Senator Lodge suggesting that the seniority rule be set aside and that committee chairmen who hold "grave differences of opinion with a majority of their Republican associates" be driven out.

If McCormick's suggestion is followed the rule would hit Borah, chairman of the committee on education and labor; La Follette, chairman of the committee on manufactures; and Norris, chairman of the committee on agriculture, and would prevent the further advancement of any of these Senators.

How Wisdom Will Win

Quite to its amazement Wall Street woke up one morning recently to find Henry Ford the richest man in the world. What amazed them most was that he had grown rich in spite of them.

Time was when Wall street refused to help Ford, when it looked upon him as a questionable risk and wanted 11 per cent. Now Ford is propping up the plutocrats of wobbly Wall street with a loan of nearly $200,000,000. With finer spirit he is letting them have it at 4 per cent.

Mr. Ford has made his mammoth fortune in a clean and splendid way. It is no crime to be rich. It is not ethically wrong to acquire the greatest fortune if you have gained that fortune by helping men instead of hurting them.

Yet, in its youth it has achieved so much that already all men everywhere recognize that it has been the industrious standard bearer of progress.

It has created more demands for the products of man's toil than any other instrument, and has opened up many new avenues for the realization of man's stored-up creative powers.

John D. Rockefeller acquired a great fortune. Much of his fortune was made by the most despicable practices. He brazenly defied the laws of the land. He was not a man-helper. To gain his own ends he would cruelly crush. His ambition was to corner a commodity. He bought up hundreds of patents and suppressed them because they economized for the consumer on oil consumption.

Ford created something. He made an instrument that consumes more Rockefeller gasoline than all the oil-consuming devices known before. By his inventive mathematical and mechanical genius Mr. Ford caused an enormous increase in the Rockefeller wealth. Compared to him John D. was a one-cylinder affair.

Rockefeller is not a loved name. He is not revered. He is a very old man now. His face is criss-crossed with lines. Years ago a troubled conscience overtook him and he set out to square himself. It is possible for a man to do that—that is, if our Christian faith is practicable.

Polluted water will run itself pure; so will tainted money. Rockefeller began his substantial philanthropies by the endowment of a theological school in Rochester, N. Y. Then he hurled a great university into one city and a hospital into another. Since then he has been bolstering up weak colleges, creating great pedagogical and research foundations, and splendidly subsidizing a benignant life-rescue work through bacteriological laboratories, hospitals and feeding stations the wide world over.

With all his undeniable iniquities, the Rockefeller who defied our courts will die. The Rockefeller who is trying to save life all around the world and after saving it to lift it up to higher and finer altitudes, is the Rockefeller who is going to live.

What will Henry Ford do with all his fabulous wealth. Unlike Rockefeller, he has not cramped his character to get his money. He is not burdened with Rockefeller's handicap. But with all Rockefeller's handicap, Rockefeller may yet overtake Ford in the enduring race, unless Ford does more wisely with his greater wealth.

When wealth reaches beyond the proportions of supplying rational personal needs, it becomes not an asset but a responsibility.

Henry Ford has proven himself to be 100 per cent the right-minded fortune builder. Future generations will measure him not by his ability to acquire but by his power to serve thru spending.

The Rockefeller-Ford race for riches is over. Ford wins. Now the race for wise spending is on. In this great race wisdom will win.—Richard Lloyd Jones.

Spend Your Money at Home

Spending money at home is like putting it out at interest. It earns a dividend for you. If you don't believe this try to remember when a foreign corporation employee or a mail-order house employee bought any goods from you; then apply the same reasoning to local concerns. If you can't help one another what's the use of living together.—Shawnee Bulletin.

How the Cotton Belt Recovered

The South has come back.

Eighteen months ago we were at the bottom of the cotton slump. Even with the good prices realized a year ago, the man who could pay more than the interest on his debt was the exception. At the beginning of the cotton year, August 1, 1921, even with the small acreage and unpromising yield, we seemed to have on hand and in prospect nearly twice as much cotton as the impoverished world could buy.

Today the greater part of the cotton producer's debt has been paid. The crops of 1921 and 1922 have been produced upon the least practicable cash outlay, and by prudent diversification the purchases of food supplies have been greatly reduced below the average of pre-war times. As a consequence, many farmers have comfortable bank balances and merchants are correspondingly easy. We seem to have on hand scarcely enough cotton to supply a ragged world until another crop can be produced.

The visible supply of American cotton on July 31, 1921, was 4,007,000 bales compared with 2,754,000 bales the preceding year; on Nov. 3, 1922, it was 3,367,000 compared with 4,356,000 the preceding year.

Net demand deposits in the reporting member banks of the Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas Reserve banks, covering the Cotton Belt, on October 25, 1922, were $830,778,000 compared with $728,921,000, on April 27, 1921.

Eighteen months ago we thought there could be no recovery until there was recovery in Europe. Most financiers, economists and statesmen told us so. That was the chief burden of the writing and speaking about business affairs. Well, Europe has not recovered—in some respects her condition has gone from bad to worse—but the South has recovered. As the saying was in the days of America's remarkable war performances, "It can't be done, but here it is."

It has been a marvellous transformation from near bankruptcy in 1920-21 to comparative prosperity in 1922—from 10-cent cotton and despair to 25-cent cotton and good cheer—in the face of Europe's present scanty purchases.

Yet, it isn't marvellous when we come to think of it, when we analyze it and understand it. There has been no miracle. Nothing has been created by fiat of government.

The South herself has done it. We have lifted ourselves by our bootstraps, as it were. That is, being thrown back upon our own resources, we were compelled to depend upon ourselves, to bring into play our own ingenuity, and we have succeeded in:

1. Adjusting supply to demand;
2. Financing and marketing intelligently; and,

3. Improvising new methods of credit to take the place of defaulted methods of pre-war days.

It was all the joint accomplishment of our farmers, merchants and bankers, who in their necessity discovered and put to use talents and facilities not before realized. It has been a costly but valuable experience. That is, it will prove of incalculable value if we take the lesson to heart. If we maintain the practices and instrumentalities of the achievement and persevere in self-reliance.—Federal International News.

Are You a Murderer For the Chamber of Commerce

Do you do all you can to kill the local Chamber of Commerce? If you can answer 'yes' to most of the following questions, consider yourself guilty of attempt to kill, even though your efforts have so far failed.

Do you stay away from most meetings.

Do you find fault with the officers behind their backs?

Do you tell outsiders the organization is a dead one?

Do you always decline to serve when appointed on a committee?

Do you neglect to pay your dues until someone has to come and collect?

When any new plan is proposed, do you always line up with the fellows who claim they are from Missouri, thus insulting a progressive state.

Do you ask yourself what has the Chamber ever done for me instead of, what have I ever done for the Chamber?

Do you refuse to give your opinion when it is asked, and then go out from the meeting and spill out over everybody?

Do you profit willingly by the work of the Chamber and refuse to do any of the work yourself?

Do you claim the Chamber is run by a clique, because a few who are willing to do the work go ahead and do it?—Texas Commercial News.

My City

My city is the place where my home is founded; where my business is situated; where my vote is cast; where my neighbors dwell, and where my life is chiefly lived. It is the home spot for me. My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me and I must support it. My city wants my citizenship, not partisanship; friendliness, not offishness; cooperation, not dissension; sympathy, not criticism; my intelligent support, not indifference. My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, morals, recreation and the rights of a free-born American. I should believe in my city and work for it.

Education Week Program Outlined

American Education week, to be celebrated all over the United States from December 3 to 9, inclusive, is divided into six separate sections, a day being devoted to each department. Sunday, December 3, is known as "For God and Country Day," on which ministers of all denominations are urged to preach a sermon on education, either morning or evening. All communities are urged to hold mass meetings. Requests for speakers may be made to the American Legion posts throughout the country for meetings during this week.

Monday is "American Citizenship Day." Tuesday will be devoted to "Patriotism." Wednesday is "School and Teacher Day." Thursday is to be given to a consideration of "Illiteracy." Friday to "Equality of Opportunity," and Saturday to "Physical Education."

The American Legion, the National Education Association, and the United States Bureau of Education, which are all three cooperating in the celebration, are asking aid and assistance from the public. Churches, chambers of commerce, labor organizations, women's organizations, fraternal bodies, luncheon clubs, etc., are asked to urge the mayor to issue a proclamation setting aside this week as American Education Week, and asking the people to cooperate.

Newspapers are requested to give all space possible to educational matters, articles, editorials, and news material, and merchants are requested to use window displays appropriate for the occasion, and to devote as much space as possible to matters of education in their newspaper advertisements. Citizens everywhere are requested to ask the moving picture theatres to flash slides on the screen, urging the people to visit the schools and study educational questions. At all public meetings held that week it is hoped space can be found for someone to talk a few minutes on the necessity of education. Cooperation with the educational officials and other patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations by local American Legion post is asked, on the ground that the country looks to the American Legion to pave the way to patriotism and education—service to Nation, State and community.

Potash in Texas

Potash beds large enough to supply the entire American demand for fertilizer and perhaps provide a surplus for export are likely to be discovered in western Texas, according to H. W. Hoots, now an instructor in the department of geology in the University of Kansas. For the past year Mr. Hoots, as a member of the United States Geological Survey, carried on investigations in the prospective fields.

In a territory extending approximately 125 miles north and south and an equal distance east and west along the New Mexican border, strong indications have been found of what is perhaps the largest salt bed in the world. Surveys indicate approximately 15,000 square miles of prairie country underlaid with a bed of rock salt that ranges from 40 to 1,500 feet in thickness. This salt bed lies at a depth of 900 to 2,300 feet, making it convenient for mining operations.

The conditions which are favorable to the formation of salt are favorable also to the formation of potash.

Four test wells are to be sunk this winter to get accurate figures about the underlying strata. One well already is underway and the core is being preserved to show the thickness of the different materials penetrated. If these test wells result as expected in showing the value of the salt deposits, other tests will be made to determine the limits of the field and the location of its richer parts.

Minor test wells at Means, River, Bryant, Burns, McDowell and St. Rita have produced the raw potash but not on a production basis.

"If this potash field proves what is expected," said Mr. Hoots, "it will mean that the United States has found an internal source which is needed so much not only as a soil fertilizer but also, in the manufacture of soap, glass, explosives and medical supplies. Comparatively little potash is now being obtained in the United States and what there is now comes from western Nebraska, Searles Lake, California, and the great salt lake region in Utah.

"The above item appears in the daily press and comes from the Associated Press at Lawrence, Kan. Mr. Hoots is known to most Big Spring folks as he made his headquarters in this city while a member of the U. S. Geological Survey, making investigation in connection with potash development in this section.

Cotton 38 Years Ago

On our first visit to Colorado in 1888, there was a bale of cotton in a glass case on exhibition at one of the banks. This cotton had been raised by some one near town and was glued in one of the counties east and brought back and exhibited as a curiosity. The old timers had a great deal of fun out of that bale of cotton, and when the writer expressed an opinion that the soil around Colorado looked as good to him as that in the Brazos valley, and needed only a little work to make it produce like those famed valleys, the crowd roared in derision of a poor sucker who would even dream of such a thing. That was nearly thirty-five years ago. Last Monday we visited Colorado again, and the old timer who showed us the spot where that bale of cotton was exhibited informed us that over 25,000 bales of cotton had been ginned and marketed at Colorado this season. The taunts of these old timers never for a moment made us change our mind and we have and now predict that West Texas will one day produce the bulk of Texas cotton.—Sterling City News-Record.

Straightening The Road

In the Commissioners' court last Wednesday they had the right-of-way surveyed out for the cut-off in the Big Spring road on the southwest side of Wildcat mountain about two and one half miles northwest of town. This will shorten the road and put it on better ground and will be a great saving to the tax payers in the upkeep of the road. The change will make the road run almost on a straight line for five miles.—Sterling News-Record.

RED CROSS JOINS IN MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

Two Texas Communities Are Rid of Malaria After Year's Work.

Two communities in the Southwestern Division infected with malaria have been rid of this pest in the last two years by the work of the American Red Cross, according to statements made by citizens of these communities. One of these sections is around Calvert and Hearne, Tex., where the Robertson County Chapter of the American Red Cross and the local health authorities worked hand-in-hand to rid the district of the malaria-spreading mosquito.

According to the official report of the work done in this district, the initial step in the campaign was the draining of all pools, ponds and depressions retaining stagnant water. This was done the first year. It required the opening of original ditches and other semi-engineering feats. Water impossible to drain was treated with crude oil at intervals during the summer of 1921 and bottles of water so located as to be too expensive for draining or oiling were stocked with Gambusia Minnows, a local product found in prolific quantities in that section, which is a deadly enemy of the mosquito larvae.

Inspectors were employed and periodically visits were made in a house-to-house inspection. These inspectors looked particularly to rain water, accumulations in open cans and other vessels, gutters, etc., and an officer accompanied the inspectors, oiling all these waters. Particular attention was paid to old wells, cisterns and vats of various kinds. The results have been most gratifying. It is reported, and the mosquitoes are almost completely eradicated from the locality.

A similar campaign in Cherokee County, Tex., had a similar result. During the early fall of 1921 a malaria survey of the county was made by the American Red Cross Chapter. A report was compiled and charts made showing the exact percentage of malarial infection in each school district. These findings were taken as a basis for the work, which has been extensive since its beginning. Two sanitary engineers, a physician and two public health nurses are in charge of the work of malaria control, under the general direction of J. A. LePrince of the U. S. Public Health Service and Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Texas State Board of Health and the Cherokee Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The campaign is too new as yet to report complete success, but gratifying results have been obtained and the malarial infection in that district is very much decreased over the conditions of the year previous.

APPRECIATION BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Probate Attorney Commends Red Cross For Work Among the Indians.

William Simms, U. S. Probate Attorney, in charge of the Indian District of Oklahoma, has sent the following letter to the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross:

"The activities of the Craig County Chapter, extending into Delaware County, Okla., have been of great value. Mrs. Myra T. Earhart, executive secretary of the Craig County Chapter, accomplished more good for the Indian soldiers in the one day when she extended her work into the adjoining county than has probably been done since the war.

"Mrs. Earhart and Mrs. Myrtle Griesham, the public health nurse of the Craig County Chapter, spent an entire day in Delaware County at my request and, believe me, those ladies had no time for recreation.

"Indian children were brought in to be inspected, weighed and measured and preparing the claims of disabled Indian soldiers was accomplished. These two women rendered such good service in this work that I am hoping that some day they will be able to get back to that county and furnish further help.

EX-SOLDIER GETS PENSION AND INSURANCE

Through more than two years of unwinding of official red tape and other efforts the Red Cross of Waco, Tex., has obtained compensation for permanent total disability and government insurance for a veteran of the World War. This soldier was wounded in a peculiar way. A piece of shrapnel which tore away the muscles of his back and injured his vertebrae also exploded his cartridge belt, thus inflicting an additional injury which required many operations and more than a year in the hospital, most of the time lying on his face.

The operations were not successful, the shock and other contributing causes caused heart trouble, all of which have made him a permanent invalid.

Through an error in his record, this soldier has been allotted only $27 a month and it required more than two years to correct the error and obtain for the man the compensation which was his due, as well as to obtain for him and his aged mother the insurance which also was coming to him.

Leave Your Cotton Thick
This year, in an actual test, cotton not chopped, but left just as it came up, is making just about twice as much as chopped cotton right alongside. It is a proved fact that we are losing, on an average, from 100 to 200 pounds per acre of seed cotton all over the Cotton Belt because we space our cotton entirely too far apart. Under ordinary field conditions cotton must be chopped through or blocked, in order to get the grass out; but the aim should be to get the grass and leave all the cotton we can. In practice, I find it best to leave two to five stalks in a place, with these bunches of cotton eight to twelve inches apart, in threefoot rows.—The Progressive Farmer.

GROWN PEOPLE WILL GET LOTS OF RELIEF FROM A JAR OF

Sleep, Baby, Sleep—by John D., Jr.
John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has again laid down the laws of good citizenship. Save your pennies, he says; don't run an automobile unless you can afford it, don't have a phonograph unless you have money for "such luxuries," work eight hours a day conscientiously, obey the authorities, don't violate the speed laws—except possibly during working hours—and respect prohibition.
Thus the young millionaire revamps the reactionary rules of life laid down by the rich for the poor for ages, the recipe that has spread the spirit of socialism further than anything in the world.
Young Rockefeller is possessed of so much wealth he cannot count it. Certainly he never worked and produced it. Doubtless its beginning rests on "thrift and saving" by his father, but it has swollen to countless millions without work.
The youthful Croesus says thought of a six-hour work day is puerile. Naturally the man whose bursting bank account is swelled every minute by plucking off a percentage of the production of countless thousands of men is not enthusiastic about cutting down their hours of work. Every little bit helps.
His allusion to the phonograph as a luxury harks back to the dark ages. The phonograph has saved the sanity of thousands of lonely women on the farms and given joy to millions of men and women from whose sweat the Rockefeller millions have sprung.
Mr. Rockefeller's Bible class doubtless sits with mouths agape but the public Bible class, consisting of more than a hundred million people, will be more deeply interested if the young man will tell them how the farmer and the miner and the other useful workers in the world can get a just return for their labor, and how the people can prevent the amassing of fabulous fortunes by those who don't work for them.
Having thus expressed ourselves will the spendthrift possessors of talking machines now turn on that charming record entitled, "Sleep, Baby, Sleep."

The Farmer Wins the Election

Perhaps the most significant phase of the recent election is summed up in a public statement issued by Mr. Gray Silver, Washington representative of The American Farm Bureau Federation, as follows:
"The entire membership of the senate and house agricultural blocs was returned to congress by a safe majority. We consider this a full vindication of The American Farm Bureau's legislative program, as well as that of the blocs, and proof that the legislation was in line with public sentiment."
Mr. Silver's analysis is obvious, but it tells only part of the lesson.
The result evidently heralds an awakening of the public mind to the fact that the real party in which Americans are interested as a unit is the American party whose backbone and sole platform is the prosperity of the man who tills the soil and keeps the world alive.
Twenty years ago no one could conceive a Democratic farmer rejoicing at the election of a Republican to Congress, but likewise twenty years ago we could not conceive Illinois listening to the opera in New York as per radio today.
The world moves. Blind partisanship is giving way to common sense, and we are coming to see that such matters as the national budget and the tariff are not properly placed in the sphere of politics. The farm is in this category of national factors that must be safeguarded and developed regardless of party if the nation is to progress, and fortunately the farmer has sensed this fact for itself.
While the great cities have poked a great deal of fun at the farmer and smiled at his ingenuous simplicity, seemingly he is the only force in American life that has displayed enough common sense to organize along intelligent lines and sufficient acumen to make good.
The legislative success of the farmer may be traced more than anything else to the fact that it has been based on justice, and is for the common good.

Section 10.—Matthew 5:5-8 THE SPIRIT OF TRUE PRAYER.

5 And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corner of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you they have their reward.
6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.
7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.
8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

We live in the country where there is plenty of work and little social life. I enjoy keeping house and cooking, but I long occasionally to sit down to a meal that someone else has prepared. We have two neighbors living nearby with whom we have started a system for exchanging magazines. Why not exchange meals? I talked to my neighbors; they were ready to try the plan, which works admirably. One family entertains the other two families each week at supper. We had some difficulty in getting our men to fall in with our plan, but finally, they decided that they would rather go along than stay at home and eat a cold lunch, and now enjoy the plan as thoroughly as we do.—M. ### Methodist Notes

The past week has been a very busy one for Methodist folks. Last Friday night, as previously announced, we held our annual Methodist "At Home" at the church. It was well attended, and everyone enjoyed the comfortable informal affair to the utmost. This is now become a thoroughly established event for us, and is really a gala day.

Two new teachers have been added to our 8. S. ranks, Misses Maud Leeper and Cora Martin. Next Sunday at the close of the lesson, Mr. Manuel will give a brief summary of our November lessons: Jesus Christ the Great Physician, The Great Teacher, The Great Friend and The Great Missionary. It is a great topic and is to be handled by a great man. Be sure to hear his synopsis at this time.

One of Bro. Hardy's greatest sermons was the one delivered Sunday morning on the vast importance of Separation and Meditation in the development of Christian character. At the evening hour Service for Others was emphasized. At both morning and evening hour it was our great good pleasure to be lifted to heights of harmony and beauty thru the means of exquisite music. A visitor passing thru on business, far from his Pennsylvania home, paused long enough to give us two beautiful classic Psalms; "The Earth is the Lord's," and "Unto Thee, O God." Mr. Cooke has a wonderful tenor voice and most excellent choice in his sacred solos. The people who were fortunate enough to be present will not soon forget this musical treat. We were glad to note quite an increase in the number present at church, among them many visitors whose presence is always welcome.

On Monday afternoon the contest on Bible Drill was brought to a happy termination, "The Winners" walking off with a sweeping majority. At the close both sides were treated to a surprise, as the president of the Auxiliary, Miss Barnes, announced her purpose of entertaining both sides on Tuesday, December 5th at the Y. M. C. A. This entertainment is to be a "Four O'clock Tea," and not only does she invite the Methodist women, but all her women friends of the different churches, their name is legion, to drop in for a friendly visit "over the tea cups." No other invitations than thru the Herald will be sent out by the hostess, except announcement at church. She does wish to say she is tremendously proud of her side during the contest, for they acted like thoroughbreds both when losing and gaining—a happy characteristic.

We are glad, now, to put aside all thoughts of fun and play, and begin to get our hearts in tune with the Week of Prayer Service Monday, at 10:30 we are to meet at the church. Bring your lunch, plate and cup. After the morning service we will have lunch together and then another hour of program. The offering is supposed to represent self-denial and we urge all who come to remember this. Let us each bring a worthy offering as a love and thank gift to our great World Missions program. Come for all day if possible. If not, come for the morning or afternoon, whichever you can arrange for. Visitors are always welcome.

Butchers a 1268 Pound Hog

In the issue of Farm and Ranch of March 25, 1922 appeared an article telling of the butchering of the largest hog on record and this hog was partly a product of Howard County having been bred by Sam Little, breeder of big type Poland China hogs. The hog killed was Giant of Clyde No. 334,639 and sold to Tom Edwards of Clyde when a small pig and Mr. Edwards developed him. Eight of Mr. Little's brood sows are half sisters to the biggest hog on record, four on the dam's side and four on the sire's side.

The article telling of the butchering of this big hog which appeared in Farm and Ranch is as follows:

"In a letter received from Tom Edwards of Clyde, Texas, he states that he recently killed a hog that weighed 1268 pounds. He skinned this hog and the hide measured 9 1-2 feet long by 7 feet wide. He made over four hundred pounds of sausage, and an immense amount of lard. This hog was a prize winner at the Texas State Fair at Dallas in 1920."

Vegetables That Supply Iron

If you need iron in your blood, then get it daily, 365 times a year, from your own garden made by your own mind and hands. What can we grow that is rich in iron? This is a partial list: Asparagus, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, carrot, corn (green), kale, leek, lettuce, mustard, radish, spinach, tomatoes, and turnip greens; apples, figs, pears, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, and dewberries.

Health authorities will tell you that the best and by far the most pleasant way to strengthen your system with iron is to eat regularly and plentifully of a variety of the above fruits and vegetables.

Eggs, meats, bananas, oranges, and oatmeal also contain iron. But remember that the best and cleanest iron—iron that is untarnished—comes from the homegrown, supply. —The Progressive Farmer.

See What Other Folks Are Doing

When crops have been gathered and folks have plenty of time to spare many of our farmers might well spend considerable time in seeing what other farmers, particularly the most successful ones in the county are doing.

Nearly every county has a number of outstanding farmers who are conspicuously successful along some particular line or lines and there is something of value to those who learn about their better methods.

Our U. S. Experiment station here is always glad to have our farmers pay a visit. In these days of automobile and good roads it is in easy reach of every farmer in our county and a visit at any time cannot fail to be of interest and value to true seekers after better ways and methods to follow to get the best results.

A Peculiar Railway Accident

A peculiar accident one mile west of Merkel at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning delayed traffic over the Texas & Pacific railroad for a time. A cattle car loaded with 20 cows and one horse located near the middle of a long freight train, eastbound, pulled in two spilling the animals on the track. However, not a cow was hurt.

About one third of the car pulled loose from the balance of it. The eastbound Sunshine Special was held up behind the wreck, while westbound No. 25 was held up at Merkel about six hours.—Ablene Reporter.

Proposes Immediate Relief for Schools

Austin, Texas.—Immediate relief for Texas schools will be asked by S. M. N. Marrs, recently elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, when he takes office in January, according to his statement today to the Texas Educational News Service. The largest emergency appropriation possible will be asked for the schools, which Superintendent Marrs believes should be at least $3 per pupil.

"Considering deficiencies, appropriations and tax rates, some $4,000,000 will be available early in 1923 which legislators can apply to school relief," said Superintendent Marrs. "The schools got $3,000,000 less through the per capita this year than last, and $5,000,000 less through rural aid. Hence there should be at least $3,500,000 soon available for appropriation to the schools. If that much is appropriated the schools will still have less money per pupil than in 1921.

"No backward step should be taken. So I shall recommend an appropriation of $3 for each pupil or as much more as may be possible. As there are 1,300,000 children, the minimum would be about $4,000,000. The best thing friends of Texas schools can now do is impress upon their representatives and senators the necessity of this appropriation's being made at once."

Permanent relief can never be obtained by the schools coming, tin cup in hand to legislature year after year, is the belief of the superintendent elect. He has concluded that school finances can be placed on a sound unfluctuating basis only through far reaching changes in the laws of Texas. His preference is for a new constitution. He believes friends of Texas children should unite in working for constitutional or other changes necessary to give Texas children the kind of schools to which they are entitled.

What Will the Legislature Do?

Isn't it about time for Texas to make complete her coming into the union by gracefully conforming her conduct to federal, general and special regulations and rules?

We have in mind, at this time, the matter of meeting the requirements of the federal government in extending aid to states in the construction and maintenance of highways.

It is high time the legislature divests counties of state highway building, and vests this task in the state. It is impossible for any entity to function in a larger area than its power will cover. A county can not function in matters of statewide necessity.

The task of superior statesmanship awaits the man who will give Texas a road system that will construct and maintain her highways.

Quite a number of our folks are going to set out fruit trees judging from the shipments of fruit trees which have been coming in by express the past week or so.

J. P. Anderson of the Luther community can now rejoice as the big rain came in time to give his wheat crop the moisture needed to keep it growing.

Must Plant Trees

The United States is using up its timber four times as fast as it is growing. This means a steady decrease in the available supply of timber, and it means that the country will be almost completely denuded of forests within a generation, unless systematic tree planting is fostered on a gigantic scale. The United States forest service has the figures that show the rate of growth and the rate of consumption. Consumption per capita has decreased from 500 board feet in 1906 to about 300 board feet. This decreased consumption is said to be due to decreased supply. One of the large undertakings of our government in the near future must be the reforestation on a scale hitherto unprecedented. This is a project worthy of the best minds and best hands the country can assemble.
