Rain Is Worth Thousands Of Dollars Here

Worth thousands of dollars to farmers and ranchers of this section, rain fell generally over Hall and surrounding counties Monday night and Tuesday. Memphis and vicinity received 1.62 inches of precipitation from the downpour, which fell steadily and in gusts at times. The rain dropped the thermometer recordings many points from the low of the few preceding days. The temperature dropped to as low as 35 degrees Fahrenheit during the cool spell which accompanied the rain.

The rain proved a boon to spring planting and gave almost complete assurance that much of the wheat in this section will make. One farmer reported that his wheat will mature even if he does not receive any more moisture. Some damage was done by the heavy downpour, as numerous terraces and country roads were washed out. Many roads became impassable, and one Memphis school bus bogged down and was stuck for several hours before three tractors and another bus managed to pull it out.

POST GRADUATE MEDICAL MEET WILL BE HERE

Maternal And Child Health To Be Key Subject Treated

Memphis will be host to a district post-graduate medical and public health education program put on by the State Board of Health and sponsored by the Texas State Medical Association on Thursday and Friday, May 27 and 28. Physicians from this entire area are expected to be in Memphis on those dates for the occasion.

Three such regional meetings are being conducted in this section, one at Amarillo, one at Lubbock, and the other at Memphis. The State Medical Association has appointed a committee on Maternal and Child Health to act as an advisory committee to the State Department of Health. This advisory committee will aid in the formulation and carrying out of the program in Memphis next month. The plan is to give a post-graduate course in obstetrics and pediatrics, for physicians in each of the 15 council districts of the State Medical Association, and at the same time to hold a public health education program (Continued on page 6)

140 Feed and Seed Loans Made Locally

Government feed and seed loans will be made here up until about the first of June, M. E. McNally, who is in charge of the loans here, stated this week. Approximately 140 government loans for almost $35,000 have been made to Hall County farmers badly in need of money to finance their 1937 crops.

Several teachers in Hall County schools will not be returned to their positions next year, and almost all schools in the county will lose a part of their state rural aid money, all because of a sharp decline in the school census.

SHARP DROP IN HALL COUNTY SCHOOL CENSUS IS TO COST INSTRUCTORS' JOBS AND COUNTY MONEY

school students in the county will mean that Hall County rural and city schools next year will receive $6,764 less than was received this year. Hall County schools will receive $66,519 next year in state aid. Because of state rural aid laws requiring a specified number of students in attendance to warrant the employing of additional teachers, several teachers in the county will lose their jobs next year. Schools that will be forced to dismiss one teacher include Newlin, Salisbury, Webster, Indian Creek, Pleasant Valley, Pliska, Bridle Bit. Independent districts may lose a teacher or two, and it is possible that Lesley and Lakeview will have to operate with fewer instructors. The reason given by Miss Vera Tops Gilreath, county school superintendent, for the sharp decline in the census, is the short crop year experienced here this (Continued on page 6)

Miss Blevins was escorted by Doyle Crone of the local high school. Memphis competed in the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show along with 50 other cities from this section. A number from the local high school and from the city attended the elaborate dairy show, which is annually one of the outstanding in the state, this week. The dairy show will close Saturday. Included among the highlights of the event are a high-class rodeo with some of the South-west's outstanding performers and a rat-killing contest, in which beautiful girls armed with mallets squared off and knocked the brains out of rats for the championship of the show.

WPA Highway Job Still In Progress

No further indications that the Works Progress Administration project on State Highway No. 5 between Memphis and Estelle is to be shut down this month have been received here, county officials stated Wednesday. District WPA officials at Lubbock had requested the county to be ready to transfer the WPA laborers to another road project in the event the highway work is closed down. Butler Morrison, commissioner of precinct 1, has been in Lubbock this week conferring with district WPA officials there relative to the proposed McElreath farm-to-market road near Memphis. Nothing definite has been accomplished, it was stated.

EAST-TO-WEST ROAD SOUGHT BY HALL MEN

Routing Of Tourist Traffic Through Palo Duro Aim

In an effort to secure backing in seeking the designation of a state highway through Memphis to connect the Palo Duro Canyons with Highway 138 between Wellington and Childress, Hall County "good roads" representatives met with the Childress County Commissioners Court and with Childress Chamber of Commerce officials last week. The Hall County roadmen were seeking to interest Childress County officials in the sponsoring of a state highway through Memphis which would route tourist traffic from the eastern section of the country through Memphis and on to the South Plains and then there into New Mexico and Southern California. Childress County officials neither agreed to the idea nor rejected it. They took the matter under advisement and stated that they would make a report later. If the highway should be approved by the state, it would provide for the routing of tourist traffic through the colorful Palo Duro Canyons and through Memphis, then would be only a short distance from Silverton and the South Plains. Considerable investigation of the proposed Palo Duro Canyons highway has been done recently by Hall County representatives, following a "good roads" meeting in Memphis several weeks ago which was attended by men from all over the county. It was at this meeting that plans to sponsor such a road were first made. Those going from here to Childress last week were F. N. Foxhall, J. A. Whaley, Jim King, and S. T. Harrison.

Bell Mule Barn May Be Rebuilt In City

The Bell Sales Barn of Estelle will be moved to Memphis, J. M. Bell, proprietor, stated this week. The barn, which offers a market at all times for mules, horses, cattle, hogs, and all sorts of farming equipment, is an enterprise of about $6,000. The large community auction barn was burned recently at Estelle, and numerous Memphis business men and citizens have invited Mr. Bell to rebuild his barn in Memphis. He intimated here this week that he will likely do this.

Receipt of the checks here this week brought the total amount of money received from the government on the cotton program for 1936 by Hall County cooperators to $258,215.34. It is estimated that some $50,000 is yet to be received by Hall County farmers from last year's program.

County Judge M. O. Additional Million Dollars Will Be Loaned By Resettlement In This Area

R. C. Land, Resettlement Administration county supervisor for Hall County, announced this week that word had been received from the regional office in Amarillo that more than a million dollars has just been made available for Resettlement loans to deserving farmers in Region Twelve. Many farmers, with planting season approaching, are finding they need a little more money in order to plan the year's work, and the Resettlement Administration is anxious to help these farmers to rehabilitate themselves. Resettlement loans are available, Mr. Land said, to farmers whose farm units make it possible to create a sound farm plan, permitting the retirement of the loan and the rehabilitation of the farm family. Farmers in need of this financial aid, as well as the help and advice of the rural and home management supervisors, should visit the Resettlement Administration county office at once. The office is located in the First Na-

Interest Is Light In Ward Election

Resettlement Bank building here.

The Resettlement Administration this year is emphasizing livestock set-ups in its lending program, Mr. Land said. Loans of this type have proven quite successful in the way of financial rehabilitation of distressed farmers. They also lend themselves toward rehabilitation of the land in the area, which has been subject to severe erosion due to the several years of drought. Hundreds of farmers in the region have already received Resettlement crop loans this year. The program is weeks ahead of last year's lending program according to Resettlement officials in the regional office. Farmers in need of the type of assistance and technical supervision supplied by the Resettlement Administration are asked to visit their county officer immediately and confer with the county supervisor concerning their financial and farm problems.

HE'S "AGIN" IT

M. H. Salmon, who lives in the west part of Hall County, says he is not in favor of sitting down. "I have sudan already coming up, and have a few calves, pigs, and a lot of chickens that will soon be ripe. Besides I have some milk cows, some hogs, and other stock about the place." Back yards should be planted in gardens for the grandchildren, is the way Mr. Salmon expressed the idea of utilizing space around the homes in town and in the country.

1937 Ford V-8

If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

Ford makes a car — a 60-horsepower economy Ford V-8 — that sells from 30 to 60 dollars under the prices asked for any other car of comparable size. The lowest Ford prices in years!

Check delivered prices in your town and see for yourself.

Of course, first cost doesn't prove "low cost" — you must consider operating cost also.

The "60" has definitely established itself as the most economical car in Ford history. Ford cars have been famous for economy for 34 years, so that means something!

Owners who have driven it thousands of miles report that the Ford "60" averages between 22 and 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can prove those figures — on the open road — in a car provided by the nearest Ford dealer.

When you've finished your personal check-up, ask yourself:

"Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

"Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"

There's only one answer, of course — the 1937 Ford V-8.

BOYS AND GIRLS OF MEMPHIS AREA WILL BE GIVEN BOOKS OF MAGIC AT PALACE THEATRE AND THE DEMOCRAT BY QUAKER OATS FIRM

The Quaker Oats Company's special five-year advertising campaign begins in The Democrat this week and results in a bewitching offer being made every boy and girl in this territory. The Quaker company, through the cooperation of The Memphis Democrat, Palace Theatre, and local grocers is extending to everybody that's willing a good chance to become a magician.

Dick Daring's famous "Bag of Tricks," a book which reveals the secrets of magic, is to be given free to every boy and girl who secures one Quaker Oats trademark from a large box of the breakfast food, or two Quakers from small boxes, and who brings them to The Democrat office. A list of grocer merchants who sell Quaker Oats is to be found with the first insertion of the advertising campaign this week in The Democrat.

Books Free at Palace To add to the interest of the campaign the management of the local Palace Theatre has arranged with The Democrat and the Quaker Oats Company to give 25 copies of the "Bag of Tricks" to the first 25 children who pay admissions to the show Saturday afternoon. The books will be passed entirely free of charge to the boys and girls who get to the theatre first and buy their tickets.

Local Grocers Interested The first advertisement of the giant campaign has been greeted with particular interest by the local grocers because it means generous national advertising support, locally applied to this market. Other insertions of the series of Quaker Oats Company advertisements will appear in The Democrat from time to time.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST W. M. Davis, Minister

We will start a protracted meeting next Sunday morning, at which time the minister will bring a message to his audience on the subject, "Faith and Obedience." At the evening hour the subject will be "The Church Purchased by the Blood of Christ."

Services will be held each evening during the week at 8 o'clock. The subjects will be: Monday night, "The End of the World"; Tuesday night, "Death and the Judgment"; Wednesday night, "Heaven, and How to Gain It"; Thursday night, "The Great Invitation"; Friday night, "Lost Opportunities"; Saturday night, "Excuses." You are invited to attend any or all of these services.

If you are not enrolled in a Bible class, we invite you to be with us Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The day in which we live is an immediate call and challenge to the church, and the challenge should lead us to a definite course of study and prayer. Will you be faithful to the trust that is committed to you personally?

Glad indeed are we to receive new members into our church, and to have others greatly interested in the work of the Master.

Friends and strangers are cordially invited to attend next Sunday morning and evening. Our goals are being worked out in a fine way and we appreciate your help. Find your place in Sunday school and in the regular church service.

E. C. CARGILL, Pastor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH Rev. J. Wm. Mason, Pastor

At the morning worship hour the pastor will bring a message on the subject "Three Foundation Stones for Church Life" using Philippians 2:1-11 as the scriptural basis. Do we emphasize these foundation stones of Unity, Humility, and Exaltation in our church life? Let us examine them in the service Sunday morning.

For the evening service the subject will be "Being True to God," with Genesis 28:10-22 as the scriptural passage. It will be interesting to note just how Jacob was true to the Lord. Are we true? There are so many things in our day which tend to attract us, but we can be true and faithful. We can make our promise to the Lord and keep it.

Both the Sunday school and B. T. U. are on the increase. Are you doing your part? Let us all find our places in these services and do our part in building up the organization. The Lord is depending on us.

Cotton Acreage In Texas To Be Hiked

Cotton acreage will be increased 10 per cent this year in Texas if present intention of farmers are carried out, the first cotton survey of 1937 issued by the Dallas News revealed.

An important group in the tractor-large-scale farming belt in the western counties of the south plains area of Texas reported a more than 20 per cent cotton acreage increase over 1936.

The Texas cotton season, considered generally, is about 10 days late this year, the report indicated. This situation was attributed to continued cool weather and more than average March rains, which left the soil cold and unfavorable for germination.

Staple Of Cotton In State Is Short

COLLEGE STATION. — "The average staple length of Texas cotton was 14.77 sixteenths inch for 1934, and 14.87 sixteenths inch for 1935; whereas the average staple length for the entire United States crop was 15.58 sixteenths inch for 1934 and 15.47 sixteenths inch for 1935," said E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas Extension Service, in quoting from a recent publication of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The publication, a 61 page study entitled "Quality of Texas Cotton, Crops of 1928-35," contains material assembled in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"For each year of the six year period 1928-33, the average staple length of cotton produced in Texas was shorter than that of cotton produced in the entire Cotton Belt," Miller continued. The average staple for Texas during the period was 15.04 sixteenths inch while the average for the entire Cotton Belt was 15.32 sixteenths inch.

"The difference in the length of staple may not look like so much when expressed in terms of sixteenths of an inch, but in dollars it represents an annual loss which runs into millions."

Since the advent of the boll weevil, Texas cotton has gradually lowered in staple length, Miller pointed out. Not only is this cotton produced in competition with foreign countries using cheap labor, but also any continued production of cotton of such short staple will necessarily be reflected in a lowering of exports. In 1936 nearly 61 per cent of the Texas cotton crop was less than fifteen-sixteenths inch staple. Of this amount about 21 per cent was untenderable on staple and 5 per cent on grade.

That Texas is paying more attention to improving the length of its staple is indicated by the interest farmers, 4-H club boys, ginners, bankers, merchants, brokers, and others connected with or affected by the cotton industry are showing in the situation in 1937. "The contests being sponsored for both farmers and club boys in production of longer staple cotton may be the turning point in the Texas cotton picture," said Miller.

Attend Meet Of Conoco Officials

George Cullins, new manager of the Memphis Conoco gas and oil agency, and Ernest Hayley, advertising manager of The Democrat, went to Childress Thursday night of last week to attend a district meeting of Conoco representatives.

The program at the Childress meeting dealt with the spring advertising campaign which the Conoco people will launch in newspapers soon. The Conoco company plans to use newspaper advertising principally in this campaign as the company has done in the past, with radios, national magazines, farm papers, and billboards supplementing it.

BLACK-DRAUGHT for clean system helps to prevent sickness

One of the advantages of Black-Draught is that, if it is taken at the first disagreeable feeling of constipation, one or two doses usually bring relief. Prompt relief, such as that, is well worth while. Constipation is too dangerous to be neglected. "A clean system for health" plan has saved thousands of people much useless sickness. They keep a package of Black-Draught in the family medicine cabinet and take this purely vegetable laxative at the first sign of constipation. They say the relief it brings is mighty hard to beat. Find out, by trying it, why so many people prefer Black-Draught when it comes to buying a laxative. (Adv.)

Memphis Student Takes Up Knitting

Following is an article which appeared recently in The Texan, University of Texas newspaper:

Knitting is not sissy—just economical, Royse Brooke, mechanical engineering student (of Memphis), finds. After seeing that his conception of really smart bathing trunks, pictured in Esquire, were made in England and could be imported only at an exorbitant price, he spent the next two months in knitting a replica of the trunks. According to all reports they are a perfect fit with even an added touch of a zipper.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Phillips of Estelline were visitors in Memphis Tuesday.

terms just how much of a public nuisance he is making of himself and the paper.

When a word of praise is spoken or a letter written commending the paper, the editor considers it an occasion for a half holiday. About one month ago a certain institution took occasion to pass a resolution, sign it officially, and mail it to The Democrat. The shock was so great that the whole office force, instead of taking a half holiday, took a whole month's holiday instead. Here is a copy of the letter:

To The Memphis Democrat:
At a regular conference meeting of the First Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, March 17, the church voted most heartily to express to you and your co-workers her thanks for your splendid cooperation and help in giving such valuable publicity to the church on the occasion of the celebration of its 47th anniversary. The church appreciates also the splendid service your paper renders to her each week in giving publicity through your columns to her work. We desire to cooperate with you to the very best of our ability. We shall be glad to receive from time to time suggestions as to how best the reporters from our different organizations might function. Our conference was unanimous in desiring to express thanks to you. We have a good home town paper.

J. F. FORKNER, Chairman
BOARD OF DEACONS.
J. W. MASON, Pastor.

The Democrat workers appreciate the above more than words can express and the letter has been filed away in the box of valuable papers for future readings when life is not going so happily on and when our heads are bowed under the load of discouragement.

This calls to our mind another event that happened along about the same time as the 47th anniversary of the First Baptist Church. For several weeks The Democrat devoted several columns of space to giving publicity to the coming event and besides the publicity, several dollars were donated to aid in making the event a success. Here's the thanks we received: The programs for the event were printed elsewhere and we were not even given an opportunity to quote a price—and The Democrat maintains one of the best job printing plants in West Texas.

INSURANCE IN THE FARM PROGRAM

DESPITE THE INCREASE of farm purchasing power, agriculture authorities believe that more than half of the 500,000 farm families of Texas fail to earn average farm income sufficient for them to live at a minimum comfort level. And, too, the situation is better now than it was in 1932.

Since the dawn of civilization, history has recorded lean and fat years; lean years when farmers made poor crops and the consumers either went on short rations or paid high prices for food, and fat years when farmers made bumper crops and consumers bought food at rock bottom prices.

The Extension Service reports that one county agricultural agent in a county where cotton constitutes the main source of income notes that the return from sales of cotton in 1936 amounted to an average of $20 for each man, woman, and child on farms in the county. Since even this pittance was not evenly distributed, it is easily seen that some families received less than the average cotton income.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is doing much to remedy the situation. Through increasing fertility on the farm, it tends to increase and maintain future farm income. Through stabilizing production, it aims at eliminating the lean and fat years that help neither the farmer nor the consumer. Through providing benefit payments for planting soil-conserving crops and for observing soil conserving practices, it provides a measure of insurance against crop failures.

Although this insurance is perhaps not so desirable to most farmers as was that which was provided under the Bankhead Act of a few years back, it is desirable and beneficial, nevertheless. And almost every farmer in the county last winter voted to tell the national planning committee that what the program needed was an insurance phase.

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

EVERY WEEK a letter comes to The Democrat office telling of the allotting of funds for establishing a rural electrification project in some community over the nation. We are always glad to note these allotments, for it means added comfort to worthy farm men and women over the country.

What we would like to see, however, is the designation of a rural electrification project in this vicinity. We would like to see the good farm residents of this section equipped with electric lights. Rural electrification projects have been approved recently for the Hereford and Floydada areas. It is not likely that funds for these projects were set aside until considerable agitation had been done.

NEGRO MARRIAGES

WHAT ABOUT the moral conditions of the Negro in this section? Local ministers have asked themselves that question of late. And, too, they have asked local officers about it.

Negroes in this section cohabit freely without civil or religious vows spoken. Nobody gives the matter much thought, apparently, assuming that Negroes are usually "too broke" to buy marriage licenses and to pay for divorces. The situation must eventually be solved, but at present it is the custom to ignore the matter.

"SIT-DOWN" STRIKES IN AMERICA

THERE IS NO QUESTION that the "sit-down" strike of automobile workers has had the effect of slowing down the process of recovery. Without attempting to appraise the rights and wrongs of the controversy between workers and employers in that great industry, it seems clear that some method must be found whereby labor disputes can be settled without putting the public at large to expense and inconvenience.

Much attention is being given to the method adopted in England after the general strike of 1926, when practically all business and industry was brought to a standstill. The British law, which has been in effect now for more than 10 years, makes labor organizations equally responsible with employing corporations or individuals, for any inconvenience to the general public resulting from disputes over wages or working conditions.

Whether such a plan would work in the United States is difficult to say. It seems reasonable, however, that the Government should be able to control labor disputes where the public interest is affected.

PREVENTION OF WIND EROSION PROGRESSES IN HALL COUNTY AND THROUGHOUT PANHANDLE

PANHANDLE PARAGRAPHS

Treatment to prevent soil erosion has been completed on approximately 60,000 acres of land in the Texas Civilian Conservation Corps camp area of Region Six, Soil Conservation Service, according to a report issued by W. L. Cowan, Regional Administrator for Emergency Conservation Work with headquarters in Amarillo.

Since the five Texas CCC camps were established in 1935 in the Panhandle section, a total of 430 farms including 320,000 acres have been placed under cooperative agreement in carrying out the soil conservation program, the report shows.

The major problem in this area has been prevention of wind erosion, but the fact that rainfall often comes in torrential downpours with resultant heavy water erosion damage has presented another task.

When the soil conservation program was launched, damage from wind was found to be great in the Panhandle area. Shifting of soils and droughts had resulted in many farms being abandoned, and had created sand dunes in localized areas.

In the control of wind erosion, the goal in the conservation program has been to establish and maintain a satisfactory vegetative cover on the land. In order to accomplish this, practices to conserve water and to build up and maintain soil fertility have been established in camp areas. These practices involve strip cropping, terracing, contour tillage, and contour furrowing of pastures.

In the control of water erosion, such practices as terracing, contour furrows, strip cropping of tilled land, diversion of water from gullies, and construction of check dams in gullies are being used. Earth-fill dams and other methods of creating reservoirs are being used in flood control work.

Several of these practices such as strip cropping, terracing, contour furrowing of pastures, and contour tillage have been effective in the control of both wind and water erosion. Reservoirs which provide watering places for stock on range land and thus distribute grazing are effective as an erosion control measure on grazing land as well as being useful in controlling floods.

In the soil conservation treatment on the 320,000 acres under cooperative agreement in the Texas Panhandle, the five CCC camps have carried out the following practices and the corresponding units of work have been completed:

Contour tilled, 86,000 acres; approved crop rotation, 31,000 acres; contour furrowing of pastures, 14,500 acres; strip cropping, 15,400 acres; undesirable plants removed, 77,000 acres; stock water ponds constructed, 55; impounding 1,000 acre-feet of water; terracing, 1,100 miles, protecting 26,000 acres.

The portion of this work in the Memphis Camp area, according to E. McBride, camp superintendent, is as follows:

Contour tilled, 5,952 acres; approved crop rotation, 4,206 acres; contour furrowing of pastures, 5,097 acres; strip cropping, 4,026 acres; undesirable plants removed, 768 acres; stock water ponds constructed, 51; impounding 275 acre-feet of water; terracing, 504.9 miles, protecting 8,293 acres.

The so-called newer aspects of the Soil Conservation Service program such as strip cropping, terracing, contour furrowing, and other measures for conserving water and controlling erosion are being received by the cooperators with growing enthusiasm as the work progresses. Cowan points out. As benefits from these types of work become more evident, a greater demand for their application is being made, the report reveals.

Past experience and increasing public interest indicate that the proposed program will be highly valuable in demonstrating approved and effective practices of soil conservation against both wind and water erosion, the Regional ECW Administrator believes.

The devil never started a bigger lie than this, that whiskey will let you alone if you let it alone. You may never touch a drop of liquor and yet some drunken fool will run into your car and kill you or cripple you for life.—Lynn County News.

I have seen as many as 150 men, drawing pay at the rate of three to five dollars per day, sit in a court room and wait from one to three hours for the judges and the attorneys to decide to postpone the case. I have seen a lot of people, too lazy and indifferent to work, hang around a Justice Court day after day with the hope of being selected on a jury to collect a dollar a day, and the one that is tried before that bunch deserves the sympathy of everybody. He had just as well plead guilty. And I've yet to see the time that any court set for the opening morning. To the prospective juror or the witness it seems that the judge and attorneys have no respect for the group of people waiting. But that's our system and although a lot of us don't like it we don't know anything better to offer, so we just cuss and take it.—Dalhart Texan.

Questions That Some Folks Ask About Cardui

BENEFIT FOR MAL-NUTRITION
Thousands of women testify Cardui has helped them to overcome malnutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation.

"What is meant by 'helping to overcome malnutrition'?"
Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices —to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs, and by their action more energy (or strength) is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength, but Cardui serves as the means to this end by its good influence on the digestive system. (Adv.)

The farmer could get along all right if he could sidetrack his bills as easily as Congress does.—Paducah Post.

Ochiltree county folks just naturally are not used to murder trials. Only three murders have been committed in the county since it was organized almost 50 years ago in 1882. . . . Spectators at the murder trial this week came early, brought their lunch and stayed right on through all the sessions. They were all there, men, women, school boys and girls, little kids, and sucking babies. . . . Things were livened up during the noon recess Tuesday. Two females staged a "knock-down and drag-out" no-decision contest. They both emerged with handfuls of hair. No arrests! No convictions! No fines!—Ochiltree County Herald.

In an effort to clear hummocks and sand dunes from fields in this area, the county has secured four railroad irons with which to drag the land. The irons are 33 feet in length and weigh more than 1,000 pounds each. By hooking the irons together at intervals and dragging the land, it is hoped that the smaller dunes can be leveled.—Hereford Brand.

If the average government could only find some way of letting its right hand know what its left hand doeth, the world might have a far better chance of living in peace these days.—Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

To The Cotton Grower Memphis Territory

We, the undersigned ginners, believing it our duty to our customer keep them advised as to marketing conditions of cotton, deem it at this time to circulate the following information:

During the past few years with low price cotton, short staple sold exporter for only about $2.50 per bale below the price for 15-16 inch Ginnings, eager for patronage, in many cases, paid the same price short cotton as they paid for the better staple. In each case the gin that amount out of the ginning for that bale. Now, since the price of has advanced to higher levels, the discount on short staple has increased about $15.00 per bale, it will be impossible for the ginners to absorb loss with the amount received for ginning, because the amount received ginning does not amount to that much.

At present there is practically no demand for short cotton. Many know that there are several thousand bales on the Memphis Compt short to sell.

The large proportion of short staple cotton grown in Hall County the Memphis Territory in the past has seriously injured our local market losses of our foreign markets, together with the refusal of most American spinners to buy our short staple cotton, has brought us face with one of the most serious cotton marketing situations of all times.

We earnestly request all our customers to secure good staple seed for their ENTIRE COTTON ACREAGE. We believe the cost is investment and not an expense.

We hereby guarantee to you that we will pay for good staple cotton best price and premium the market will justify, and that we will be for buy the short staple cotton at short staple discounts, as we can't absorb losses.

We pledge our full support and cooperation in this movement.

Making An Economical Flower Garden In Your Own Backyard

HOW to transform an ordinary backyard into a real flower garden for $25 will be revealed by Ruth Cross, novelist, and expert on economy gardening, when making a guest appearance on the "Helen Magazine of the Air" over CBS network on April 7th at 11 a.m. (E.S.T.) with a rebroadcast to the west at 3 p.m. (E.S.T.).

"Begin by choosing a design," advises Miss Cross. "Unless you have an unusual piece of land which suggests a design you can get the most for your money in a simple formal plan."

"For example, consider a rectangle 48 by 32 feet with four foot openings or gateways at either end and large grass plot in center with bird bath or fountain. Next, think of some evergreens for a garden without walls is almost the same as no garden at all. If you have partition fences cover them with vines, quick growing morning glories or nasturtiums first, then rambler roses, honeysuckle or clematis. Native shrubs or evergreens can be used with splendid effect; in the country these can be had for the digging. Be sure the spade goes down a good two feet, that the ground is thoroughly broken up and fertilized."

Miss Cross gives the following tabulation of expenditure: Forty-five for fertilizer; one dollar for a load of manure; two-fifty for sand and cement to build two seats and bird bath; four dollars for baby evergreens; four pyramidal arbor vitas to mark the gateways and four Phytol junipers to go on either side of the seats; four wisteria, white or purple, American pillar roses, flowering butterfly bushes and twelve shrubs at twenty-five cents each.

"That leaves ten-fifty for seeds and plants," said Miss Cross, "and two dollars invested in good seed will fill the four borders with zinnias, poppies, larkspur, snapdragons, petunias, plinks, sweet alyssum and portulacca. They will explode with bloom from mid-June until hard frost."

"For hardy things not so easily raised from seed get plants from a florist or nursery. Spend one dollar and a quarter for five polyantha rose-bushes to plant around the bird bath. Another dollar buys four total of three dollars and twenty-five cents completes the garden.

"Invest the remaining thirty cents in three trowels and don't forget to keep the garden weeded and old blossoms picked off. Don't try to have too many varieties in an economy garden. Go in for mass color effect, remembering that red, blue and yellow is the base of all color schemes. Put tall things at the back and lower ones in front," added the expert.

Miss Cross, a native of Texas, wrote her first short stories of the south's cottonfields. She is a frequent contributor to women's magazines and has written a number of books including "The Golden Cocoon," "The Unknown Goddess," "The Big Road," and "Soldier of Fortune." Her latest novel, "Back Door To Happiness," will be published in July.

"Play Ball!"

When the umpire walks back of the plate and roars "Play Ball!", Spring is here to stay. Thousand of fans have waited for this thrilling moment . . . to hear the sharp crack of a three-bagger . . . to join their cheers with the crowd in this great American sport. From baseball, Americans have borrowed the phrase, 'Play Ball,' as a synonym for fair-and-square, aboveboard dealings.

Spring is here in the newspapers too. You'll find advertisements for Spring suits and dresses. Others on seeds and gardening equipment. Hundreds of other spring-time purchases are spread before your eyes in The Democrat.

These advertisements are your guide to reputable merchandise. Merchants and manufacturers who stand back of these advertisements are unwilling to risk their reputations by extravagant claims for inferior products. They are "up to bat" every day. They cannot afford to "strike out" on your good-will. That is why the advertisements in The Democrat will save you time, trouble, worry, and money.
