Hall County Loses 4,862 Citizens in Past Ten Years

Number of Farms Take Downward Route—Loss Of 713 in Same Period

That Hall County has lost a total of 4,862 citizens during the past ten years was revealed in the preliminary census count, released Wednesday by Carroll Smyers of Pampa, district census supervisor.

The population of Hall County is 12,104, compared to 16,966 in 1930.

Running along with the loss in the number of citizens is a like decrease in the number of farms. The number of farms in the county is now 1,122, in comparison with 1,521 in 1935, and 1,835 in 1930, showing a decrease of 713 farms in the last ten years.

"While these figures are preliminary and subject to correction, they are believed to be substantially correct," Smyers said. He added that if anyone knew of residents omitted in enumeration, "Please advise me at once so that the matter may receive prompt attention."

Figures for the population of Memphis and other cities in the Panhandle were released several weeks ago. Memphis decreased in the number of residents from 4,257 to 3,854 in the ten-year period.

Other communities in the county suffered like losses. Estelina dropped from 950 to 601, Lakeview from 375 to 326, and Turkey from 970 to 930.

While Americans were pausing in their regular activities to honor those soldiers who died in, or as a result of, the World War, the British were beginning the great exodus of Flanders field, where the heroic battle was fought more than 20 years ago.

All day long the battered and wounded troops poured across the English Channel, under the fire of all the power the German air force could garner. How many were killed was unknown.

The British later reported that from 75 to 80 per cent of the half million soldiers had made it across, while the Germans said that only about 100,000 of them survived.

Italy still was not in the war, although it was reported that Hitler had called upon his minister of propaganda, Joseph Goebbels, to prepare an announcement pertaining to Italy's entrance.

Lone Star Rating Is Given Chapter Of Memphis FFA

Certificate Award Based On Projects of Members Carried Out During Year

The Memphis chapter of the Future Farmers of America was last week awarded the Lone Star certificate at a teachers meeting in Quitaque, presided over by O. T. Ryan, area supervisor, and T. L. Leach, association professor of agriculture at Texas Tech.

Projects of the FFA members are graded and kept each year, and points given for each, it was explained. In order to be given the Lone Star rating, the chapter must score at least 800 points of a possible 1,200. The Memphis chapter scored 1,092 points.

The work toward the points is based on FFA organization, co-operation, community service, conduct of meeting, supervised practice, earnings and savings, leadership, and scholarship and recreation.

These various parts are broken down into still smaller divisions, it was explained, and each division given points according to the work which has been carried out.

Several of those who have returned from college and are working during the daytime are unable to attend the morning rehearsals. Superintendent W. C. Davis said. The night rehearsals are to be held each Tuesday and Thursday nights, starting at 8 o'clock.

In addition to the 35 who were present at the initial meeting a number of others have since joined in the movement for a summer band, it was pointed out.

Drilling on Wildcat Down 1,500 Feet

Drilling on the Humble Oil Company test well down past the 1,500 foot mark this week, it was reported. The wildcat is located on land owned by Mrs. Allie D. Weaver near the Indian Creek Schoolhouse.

If no unusual trouble is encountered, drilling will continue until a depth of about 2,200 feet is reached, then stopped, and casing installed in the hole. At present, the mud being used forms a type of artificial casing.

The wildcat is being drilled to a depth of between 5,000 and 9,000 feet if no showing of oil is found before that time.

The figure for this year is slightly less than that of last year, when 3,375 children were eligible to receive the per capita allotment.

Jones' Name Filed For Re-Election to Post in Congress

Twelve Other Candidates Still in Race; Statements From Each Are Given

Congressman Marvin Jones suddenly found himself in the race for Congress this week—and 12 other candidates were still running along with him.

The veteran legislator, who has held the office for nearly 24 years, consented to enter the race, saying that since some of his friends had filed his name, "I feel that I should agree to remain, at least for the present."

Jones' statement and the filing of his name immediately drew fire from the other 12 candidates, two of whom had filed for the office only a short time before Jones' name was filed—and all 12 of them remained in the race.

Several were expected to withdraw as soon as Jones' announcement was made public, but have not as yet done so.

Deskins Wells of Wellington, who previously stated that he would withdraw if Jones announced, said that he does not want "to run for office had enough to go back on any statement I have made. The fact that I have spent my time and hard-earned money is no excuse for me to fail to keep a promise. If Mr. Jones runs, I am out of the race, but before I get out, I want to know for certain that he is in." (Full statement of Wells on page 4.)

With advent of the new Zephyr train schedule, new schedules for clerks in the Memphis Post Office are being worked out, J. H. Read, postmaster, said this week.

DESKINS WELLS

Wells Gives Stand On Congress Race

Deskins Wells of Wellington, candidate for U. S. Congressman from the 18th district, issued the following statement Wednesday concerning whether he will stay in the race since Marvin Jones has announced for re-election:

At the time I announced for Congress I thought Mr. Jones was definitely out of the race. I had no intention and no desire to run against him.

When an effort was made some weeks ago to get Mr. Jones to run, I stated that if he reconsidered and entered the race, I would withdraw. After that time, he made positive statements to the effect that he would accept the judgeship, and naturally I made preparations for my campaign.

I do not want to run for office had enough to go back on any statement I have made. The fact that I have spent my time and hard-earned money is no excuse for me to fail to keep a promise. If Mr. Jones runs, I am out of the race, but before I get out, I want to know for certain that he is in.

Hall County Gets Second Payment For Transport Aid

Five Schools to Receive Part of Funds Allotted for Transportation of Pupils

The second payment for transportation aid for Hall County school students was received from the state department of education last week, County Superintendent T. G. Gilreath has announced.

The payment, which brings the total amount received to 75 per cent of that asked for, aggregates $3,817, and represents about 25 per cent of the requested amount. The first payment, received in April, was for 50 per cent of the budget amount and totaled $7,632.

The funds are to be divided among the Lakeview, Turkey, Estelline, Memphis, and Weatherly schools, the county superintendent said.

The amount each school receives is based on the number of students who live at least two and one-half miles from the schools. For each such student in the elementary grades, the state pays $1; and for each in high school, the state pays $2. Miss Gilreath said.

Zephyr-Powered Train Greeted by 'Modern Cowboys'

It looked more like the days of old last Sunday night, when the first Zephyr-powered train came through Memphis on the new Burlington train schedule.

Several hundred automobiles were at the Fort Worth and Denver station to see the train come in—and afterwards caused the biggest traffic jam on the square since the Old Settlers Reunion last summer.

But the old-timey stuff was the large group of Memphians, in cowboy regalia, who went to the station to meet the train as they were riding their horses over the town. If it had been 60 years ago, the engineer might have feared a holdup, but as it was, he probably just decided to be here for the rodeo in July.

The Book Review Club has donated $6.50 to Fairview waterworks. This amount was part of the proceeds from a book review given last week. The City Park received a like donation from the club.

Ditching for water mains is being done, and a storage tank is to be installed this week at Fairview Cemetery. It is slow going, but those who have contributed will have the pleasure of knowing they did their part.

BANQUETS
By Democrat Staff Poet
These here banquets are painful to me and always get me down; I never know what tool to use, and have to take a look around.

If I imitate a certain guy that don't know more than me, it gets me in dutch sometimes using a knife to stir my tea.

I always tuck my napkin beneath my shining chin, and try to make a bright remark and wear a silly grin.

But I sure feel serene when I get to light my pipe. I can hide behind a smoke screen, especially if it's night.

L. Phillips Move And Remodel Home

The building and remodeling of houses in Memphis is not completely dead, for in the past few weeks one Memphis family has moved its home to a new location and thoroughly remodeled the house.

The house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Phillips, has been moved from Brice and 16th Streets to 713 S. 7th.

Completely remodeled, three new rooms have been added to the house. A stucco finish has been applied, the yard landscaped, and the house renewed throughout.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips moved into their new home last week.

What Happened—

man planes missing; but the British reported that 67 German planes downed against 19 for the British.

A new exchange of messages between Roosevelt and Mussolini was reported from Rome, and Italy was still not in the fight.

Sunday, June 2
The editorial voice of Count Ciano in Italy, Giovanni Ansaldo, revealed that Italy is going forward with mobilization, and that war may begin any day. Hitler, apparently to show Mussolini that his troops would not have much trouble in entering southern France, sent bombers down in that section. Civilian centers were not bothered, although industrial and military centers were bombed.

Anthony Eden over in England said in a radio address that about four-fifths of the British Expeditionary Force had been brought from Flanders. At the same time, Eden appealed for help in the way of more tanks, planes, and machines to pursue fighting.

The two great lines of defense, the Maginot and Siegfried lines began pounding out at one another, forming a 12-mile wide no-man's land. British air forces claimed a record of downing German planes—78 downed or damaged in one day.

June 3
The German war machine was slowed down only momentarily at Dunkerque, and turned on Paris as its next prey.

In a raiding spell Monday, the Germans bombed the capital city of France with between 250 and 300 planes, leaving in its wake about 50 dead and 150 others injured. It was the most terrifying experience the Parisians have undergone since the war began, with steady processions of planes flying over the city and dropping a reported 30 tons of explosives.

A bomb almost hit William C. Bullit, United States ambassador to Paris, but he escaped injury and, with others, sought safety in an air raid shelter.

In the United States, Senator Tom Connally suggested that the United States should send warships to South America in the event of fifth column threats.

Also in this nation, a threatened shutdown of the General Motors Corporation became known, and the federal government intervened to prevent such a move, since such a shutdown would interfere with the preparedness program.

A total of 335,000 British, French, and Belgian troops were reported as removed from Flanders by Prime Minister Churchill. At the same time, he said that withdrawals could not be counted as victories by the Germans, although the invading nation claimed they had at last captured Dunkerque and 40,000 prisoners.

The prisoners, heroes of the war so far, were those who covered the evacuation of the other Allied troops. They, along with about 4,000 other British troops, held the fort at Calais for four days while the evacuation was going on.

Two or three German cities were bombed during the day, in reprisal of the bombing of Paris. The death toll of the Paris raid was raised to 254, most of whom were civilians.

Hitler, meanwhile, announced that the second German drive would soon start, and promised the complete annihilation of Allied troops. The second drive will be made on Paris, it is believed.

Italy's war cabinet approved war preparation moves, but did not say when or if that country will get into the war. In the United States, the new war tax program was raised to one billion annually.

June 5
Another page in Hitler's "historic lesson" to the Allies was added as new divisions of the German machine made thrusts into Northern France, and cut their way toward Le Harve and Paris. The plan, it is believed, is to split French and British troops, and then crush France.

In the meantime, France claimed Nazi tanks were trapped in a new defense system, and said that French troops made only slight withdrawals.

Oil storage depots far inside Germany were raided by British bombers. British claimed that certain progress had been made in

Clipped Editorial

HOW OTHERS FEEL

(Amarillo Daily Times Editorial June 4)
Marvin Jones decision to be a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 18th Texas District "at least for the present" is not going to satisfy a lot of voters. Neither is it going to satisfy some of the 12 other candidates in the race, including those who had said that they would withdraw if Mr. Jones were to decide to run again.

Even the candidates most loyal to Congressman Jones and his backers have reason to pause before jumping out of the race, now that they have gone through the routine of filing and have started campaigning.

Mr. Jones' statement clearly indicates that his decision to having his name filed was not his own. His assertion that "I feel that I should agree to remain" was made on the understanding that the 25-name petition already had been filed.

The eleventh-hour statement from the thirteenth candidate, seeking his thirteenth term, threw the other 12 men into confusion. Some of them had visions of hundreds of dollars, already spent, disappearing in thin air.

When the voters thoroughly realize that Mr. Jones' name had not been filed until some time after issuance of his statement saying "I understand that my name has been filed," and not filed until some time after the Amarillo News-Globe so exuberantly announced Mr. Jones' decision, those same voters are going to do some serious thinking before casting their vote—if Mr. Jones still is in the race when voting time comes.

A lot of the voters are going to agree with some of the candid-dates who feel today that the eleventh-hour decision is a subterfuge to reduce the field. Some of the voters also are going to agree with the opinion that a special election to select Mr. Jones' successor would be more advantageous in putting in a representative of the "chosen."

The situation today is that Mr. Jones is a candidate. Under his assertion that he will "remain, at least for the present," none can be certain of how long he will remain a candidate, or how long he will keep his post even if re-elected.

As one candidate expressed it, it's getting so that no one can depend on political developments, what with the jumping in and out by Ernest Thompson, and with Mr. Jones' definite statement of a few weeks ago that he would not be in the race this year.

Another view that the eleventh-hour filing is not cricket is going to effect the voters. All of those beliefs and expressions, combined with voter-discovery that the filing was engineered by members of the Underwood lodge, will mean that a vigorous campaign by Mr. Jones will be necessary to prove that he wholeheartedly wants the two-year congressional job instead of a lifetime place on the federal bench.

Those who must be satisfied not only are the twelve other candidates; they also include friends and relatives of those other candidates and even many of Mr. Jones' unselfish friends. Regardless of who will be the next congressman, district politics is going to crowd the war interest until a clearer understanding can be had of what the last-minute development meant.

said he was staying in—"running all the harder."

Allen Sharp of Lakeview said: "If I was the kind of a fellow that would withdraw from a race just because another man wanted to put in a little more time in the same place, I wouldn't be the kind of a man who should serve the people. I won't be a quitter."

Jim Cade of Amarillo: "I still feel friendly toward all the candidates who have announced to date. I will run my race on my own merits and not on the merits or demerits of someone else."

Gene Worley of Shamrock: "With all due respect to iron, Marvin Jones' personality and as a congressional leader and to those individuals who have urged me to stand for re-election, I hereby respectfully state that I am still a candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the 18th congressional district."

Tom Kixey of Perryton: "I have contacted many friends over the district. They say it looks like a frame-up; stay in there and fight. My mousetrap is tight but if Marvin Jones will agree to get in there and fight for us until January 1, 1941, then I am for him because he can render a greater service than any new man who could be elected."

Lew Fields of Amarillo said that his name is still in but that he stated in his announcement he would withdraw should Mr. Jones stand for re-election. "That statement is not true," he said.

Lee Goodrich of Shavarek said he would make an announcement later.

Judge Henry Bishop of Amarillo and R. V. Converse of Spearman have as yet made no formal statements.

Lee McConnell of Pampa: "Since my entry into the congressional campaign, developments have been very satisfactory. I want to state that I am definitely in the race to stay. I am especially elated over the encouragement received during the past few days."

E. T. Miller of Amarillo announced Tuesday that he was in the race to stay.

road, is yet to be evened. Just when the road will be completed is not exactly known, although officials believe that the road will be ready to turn over to the state highway department for approval within the next week or two.

The feeder road connects Memphis by a more direct route to Wellington and Hollis, Okla. Formerly those who made trips to either of those places had to go around by Childress, or cut thru over rough, county roads.

Besides affording better means of travel to the general public, the road will give farmers a more convenient road by which they may bring their products to town. The road is a part of a federal farm-to-market road program.

Miss Helen Braye of Wichita Falls is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fultz. Mrs. Fultz is Miss Braye's aunt.

Water System Is Given Good Rating

The Memphis water system is being operated in a "very satisfactory manner" was reported by Regional Engineer W. L. Baugh Jr. of the bureau of sanitary engineering, who recently inspected the water system here.

Two suggestions were made by the engineer to Mayor J. C. Wells, and both have already been complied with. First of these was the sending of a gallon sample of the water to the State Hygienic Laboratories for chemical analysis. The other suggestion was to turn down and screen the overflow pipe on the large steel reservoir at the near wells.

"We feel that you are to be commended for your public health interest, and we want you to feel free to call on us for assistance at any time," V. M. Ehlers, director of the bureau, wrote Mayor Wells.

bling, boxing, wrestling, and swimming. Arrangements have been made for swimming at the Pastime Swimming Pool twice each week, Mr. Davis said.

A twilight softball league for the boys 9 to 18 years of age is also to be organized, Mr. Davis said, and games in this league will start at about 6 o'clock each night in order to prevent conflicting with the games of the older men's league.

The softball league is to be started within the next week, Watkins said. At present poles are being erected to provide lights for the Friday night game, and the field will be ready for play at that time. The tennis courts will also be lighted by that time, he said, and players will be allowed to play on them at night.

Five teams for the softball league already have sponsors, and anyone wishing to play with one of the teams should contact the managers, Watkins said. Sponsors of the teams, and their managers are as follows: Fire department, Matthew Allen; Tarver's Drug, Horace Tarver; Memphis FFA Chapter, Gene Barnett; Memphis Democrat, Lester Campbell; and Hedley (the manager of this team was not learned).

Fifteen players will be allowed on each team, Watkins said. Each team will play either one or two games each week, depending on the number of teams which enter the league, he explained.

CAN IT BE DONE?

THERE'S A WAR GOING ON across the seas—and no doubt about it, we in the United States are becoming worried.

That we are worried is shown by the corner "philosophers," who insist on arguing whether we will get into the war. It's no longer a case of what "they" over there are going to do ("they" have just about made up their minds), it's more now the case of what we are going to do.

The President wants to build up our national defense, and he is quickly getting what he wants from Congress to carry out his desires. And the "philosophers" vary in their beliefs as to whether the Germans, if they conquer the Allies, will ever attack the United States.

There are those people who believe that Germany will immediately, after taking over the Allied countries (if the Germans do), start across the seas, enter Mexico, and set up military stations there. Then the Germans, these prophets say, can easily invade Texas, and be half way to Washington before an army to stop them can be raised in the United States. All of these assumptions might be true, but it is doubtful.

It is plausible, however, to take another stand and show how Hitler might take over the controlling reins in this country—with several years to do it.

If Germany can conquer the Allies, Hitler will immediately fly the swastika over all English provinces which can be easily overrun. Most of them can, although Canada would probably offer too much resistance at first.

With these possessions, Hitler can establish bases throughout the world. Soon he would be in reach of almost any American country. Down in South America a propaganda campaign could be started, and, perhaps, the small nations down there would be persuaded to come over to Hitler's side. At present, these countries are not having the uprisings they used to have, but they could easily be started again. And Hitler could see that he was on the winning side—and eventually take control.

This same philosophy could be applied to Mexico, and the Germans could probably establish some strong military bases there. Over in the Pacific, the Philippines could be taken over, with or without the help of Japan—if the United States did not interfere.

Most of these "ifs" are, of course, possible only if the United States does not start a little opposition before the German nation has time to accomplish them. But they are possible.

In the final analysis, the Germans would have enough bases established in various parts of the world to afford them easy ways and means of attacking the United States. It may sound a bit fantastic, even far-fetched, but it is possible—and only a matter of a few years would be needed with Hitler's ability to act quickly.

SUMMER BAND

THE MEMPHIS SCHOOL BOARD is to be complimented on bringing to Memphis an all-year round band. The board is also to be complimented on offering free musical instruction to all interested in band work this summer.

Two bands are to be organized, one for beginners and one for those who are already practiced musicians. Anyone may join the bands, whether they have ever played or never played.

A summer band can help a small city in a number of ways. There are numerous occasions when a band can add a colorful, as well as musical, note to various parades. Then, of course, the band will be needed in advertising the reunion and rodeo when mer when booster trips are started.

In addition, the city which keeps a band during the summer months is certain to have a better organization with which to start the school term. Naturally, the summer band will have a number who will not be eligible to play in the school band next fall, but those beginners this summer will be ready to step into the band by fall.

It seems, then, that the summer music program should be a great success, and everyone in Memphis should cooperate with the movement. Anything that helps Memphis will help its citizens.

SPEAKING OF INVASIONS

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

In Love

J. H. Flemister in the Childrens County News: It may sound unbelievable to those who know me, but I have a girl friend. Being free, white, and single—by court order—I am among those fortunate who have an adoring girl friend who, before I left her, thought my every word was gospel; that I could do no wrong, and liked nothing better than sitting in my lap and have me tell her how much I loved her. Yes, my girl friend is Miss Frances Ann Bell, daughter of Fred and Carrie Gale Bell of Brownwood, who lived next door to the Flemister mansion down there. Frances Ann was two years old "January thirteenth," and I miss her like hell.

War Propaganda

Bill Sercomb in the Clarendon News: Wild war rumors are flying hither and thither and are leading folks in such a dither they don't know which way to turn. Even here in the Panhandle one woman, who came from Germany before the Nazis took over, was accused of being a Hitler agent, and had to make a public statement through the local newspaper to quell such rumors.

Campaigns

J. C. Estlack in the Donley County Leader: There was a time when the Democrats "pointed with pride" when they were in and the Republicans "viewed with alarm" when they were out. Pensions came along and was made a campaign issue without anything being done about it. Now the war scare comes along and the "ins" are advising every one not to "swap horses in the middle of the stream." They overlook the jackasses. Quite a few are coming out for America. They say so plainly in the free space copy they hope to get printed but do not. With the changing times like this, one may expect new campaign issues to be hatched over night, none of which will amount to anything. Most of them agree on the issue of raising taxes. No one pays taxes anymore and what's the difference.

Too Soon

Quannah Tribune-Chief: It looks now like the League of Nations came into being 250 years too soon.

Prediction Made

The Canyon News: Deskins Wells of Wellington was here Saturday in the interest of his candidacy for Congress.

Mr. Wells has visited every county of the district since opening his campaign and has organized his friends for an intensive campaign for the July primaries. According to reports from over the district, Mr. Wells is highly encouraged at the strength he has gathered since his announcement for Congress.

It is freely predicted that he will be one of the two top candidates in the July primary.

Anti-War

The Ochiltree County News: The alarming success of the German forces over the Allies is depressing business in this section. People cannot keep their minds off the horrible war and as a result business suffers. It is the main topic where two or more get together. Let's hope for a speedy conclusion before the United States becomes embroiled.

Pro-Wells

Jimmie Gilentine in the Hereford Brand: Knox Kinard, local superintendent, used to be a fine fellow and all of that stuff until last Friday. Confidentally (in front of a large crowd) he said: "Jimmie, I especially wanted to get Deskins Wells out here so the people of this community would know that a fellow can be an editor, and at the same time be a halfway smart man."

I always said that Knox Kinard knew more about human nature and had more common old horse sense than any school teacher I ever saw, but I didn't expect the tables to turn on me like that. Anyway, a lot of folks met and heard my old boss, Deck Wells, and I know lots and lots of them are going to vote for him in his race for Congress. Several people have even mentioned organizing a "Deck Wells for Congress Club" here in Hereford. I worked on Deck's paper for six years and I pledge you that he is honest, sincere, and fair; I also think that he's one of the best versed young men in the entire Panhandle, and undoubtedly the smartest editor. I wish everyone around here could know him like the folks in his home territory, where they tell me he is going to get around 99 and 99-100 per cent of the votes. The farmers there had a big meeting and they're really working for him. It looks like he has an excellent chance to be elected—and the folks on the farm and in small towns over the entire district will sure have a real friend in Congress.

Reviving

"The Plainsman" in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche: Dorothy Dix says a long engagement rarely results in marriage. Naturally not. In the course of time, one of the two involved is bound to regain consciousness.

Rearmament

The Amarillo Globe: We must reararm. That means a reduction in our standards of living. It will touch every man, woman, and child in the country. To fail to recognize this truth and face it squarely is to weaken the armament itself. How did Germany succeed in building its uncannily effective military machine? By sacrifice. By guns instead of butter. By putting half of everything the German people produce into the building of the machines, and making them live on the rest and like it. Because the United States is richer, that is, has more productive facilities, it ought not to be necessary for us to go that far. But the principle is the same—it is all a matter of degree.

Sounds Good

The Claude News: If you put

Strictly Fresh

HITLER moves so fast these days he's even getting ahead of his five astrologers and their visions of the future.

It is generally accepted that a fool and his money are soon parted, but how did the fool acquire the money in the first place?

The style capitals have it that the glamor girl is on the way out. Followed, no doubt, by several of the local youths.

Science had best cease its labors of trying to smash the atom, for after Hitler is done, there will be the problem of how to put it back together again.

Advice on Your Health

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

By DR. GEO. W. COX
State Health Officer

During the year 1939 over 8,000 cases of measles were reported to the State Department of Health. This large number is not unusual, since the disease characteristically assumes a cyclic nature with alternate periods of high and low incidence. 1937 represented a year of expected large number of cases, with a total of 14,786, while 1938 dropped to 5,710 cases. Lowest incidence of the past half decade was in 1935 with 4,073 cases of measles.

Of considerable importance, however, is the fact that parents of small children frequently are entirely indifferent to this disease. Assuming a more or less fatalistic attitude, many of them believe that the sooner the disease is contracted by their young children the quicker the trouble will be over. This viewpoint undoubtedly is the result of a false sense of security regarding measles.

That many cases of measles are mild in comparison with those of the other communicable diseases is true. It is a fact, also, that many victims recover without grave consequences. Nevertheless, there is another side to the story that deserves consideration.

one hundred dollars in the bank at compound interest and leave it there for one hundred years it won't do you much good.

Genius or Idiot

Quannah Tribune-Chief: It is beginning to dawn upon the world that instead of the laughing stock of a few years ago Hitler is one of the greatest leaders this world has ever seen, a genius in fact. Still like others of his kind he is abnormal: little short of being a maniac and highly dangerous maniac at that. Families that produce a genius usually have idiots too, to off-set them.

More War Talk

Jack Stamper in the Tulsa Herald: Daily newspaper columnists are leaving few stones unturned in giving a graphic and compre-

In children under five years of age measles is a serious illness. The complications are more numerous than those who are older age. Though a fraction of the total number of deaths result from these cases, nevertheless, more than 100,000 children are already suffering from measles, regardless of age, affected than are normal. It should be apparent, therefore, that every care is taken to protect young children from exposure until they have passed that period of which the disease takes its toll.

If efforts to protect children naturally that are and medical advice should be applied promptly, especially ever a child under five years of age contracts the disease. It is important that a period of isolation, particularly among school children, be had to prevent needless extension of the disease. A period of two weeks is sufficient.

Thompson in Race For Governorship

Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, announced as a candidate for governor Sunday with the chief plank in a 14-point platform calling for an increase of a nickel a barrel tax on oil to pay the state's social security obligations.
Unalterably opposition to the sales tax in any form, creation of an oil and gas commission and a comprehensive statewide soil conservation program were other principal objectives offered by Thompson. He also called for a reduction in the automobile license fee and a substitution of free registration for the poll tax.
Thompson said in view of the fact he would be out of his office a great deal of the time during the campaign, he would turn back his entire salary check for June, July, and August to the old age pension fund. "I hope some of those who have been cut $6 per month can be restored," he said. "If Governor O'Daniel and some of the other candidates who are on the state pay will do the same, many more reductions can be restored to the aged. They will be out of their offices as much as I will be out of mine."

Women Ropers to Be in Spur Rodeo

Invitations to participate in the Cowgirl Sponsor Contest, a feature of the Second Annual Spur Roundup, June 14-15, have been mailed to 80 West Texas young women by the Spur Roundup association, and acceptances are being received daily. It was reported from there this week. First prize for the event will be a hand-made saddle; second, a pair of shop-made boots; third, a pair of silver mounted spurs.

An added event to the rodeo this year will be a girl's calf roping contest open to women of any age with rules governing men's contest applying. Contestants will rope at each of the four performances scheduled and cash prizes totaling one hundred dollars will be awarded to the three contestants having the lowest average times for the four performances. There will be no entrance fee.

The contest is expected to attract a number of outstanding ropers throughout West Texas and New Mexico. Heading the list of ropers will be Miss Sydney Yokley of Canadian, who took first honors in the Cowgirl Sponsor Contest at Spur last year and who was featured in calf roping at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo in New York last fall.

Snake Gets Too Friendly

The government did not include surplus farmers in its "plow-up" or "plow-under" program, but that is what almost happened last week when John T. Hoover was plowing on the Gus Odum farm, and noticed a "too friendly snake" coiled on the beam of his tractor. Without thinking of the results he jumped from the seat, in front of the plow, and would have been "plowed under" if he had not kicked the tractor out of gear accidentally. The harmless chicken snake was gone when he returned.

Kid Stuff

(Note—Too few newspaper articles are written for the juvenile mind, and the seemingly important happenings in the adult world are mere trifles to juniors. Hence in this space occasionally will be found interesting things that happen to the very interesting younger generation here.)

This morning not too far from my window I noticed a very sad funeral of a goldfish, which had perished from overfeeding after being left in the care of a neighbor for the summer. The mourners very sadly placed him in a match box and covered his grave with a profusion of wild flowers.

A too-curious kitten lost all nine of its lives the past week when inspecting an uncovered cistern, and was rescued from its watery grave too late.

How a wild mother rabbit rescues her bunnies from human captors is sometimes a mystery to children and often to adults. A nest containing six cotton-tail rabbits were found by two children this week in an unused chicken-house. The children played with the bunnies, and at night decided to make them safe for their play next day by fastening them in a wooden hen nest and nailing the screen over the front. The next morning the bunnies had escaped, leaving no clues to their whereabouts.

If any of your children have any unusual animal or pet stories, tell me about it and it will appear in this space.

Forty Homemaking Students Start Summer Program

Work Is Part of Regular Program of Department; Supervised by Miss Deahl

Forty homemaking students started work on their summer project program on June 1 under the supervision of the homemaking teacher, Miss Rachel Deahl.

Only those girls who have had homemaking in high school are eligible to participate in the summer program. One half affiliated local credit will be given for a successfully completed project.

A total of one credit that may be used toward graduation may be secured in this way.

This work is a part of the regular program of the homemaking department of the Memphis High School. In addition to credit given it offers opportunities for the development of skill in homemaking, provides a worthwhile manner in which to spend part of the summer leisure, and offers some social entertainment, it was explained.

Twenty-six Memphis girls and 14 rural girls are enrolled in the work. The rural girls enrolled are from Plaska, El, Friendship, Salisbury, Harrell Chapel, and Indian Creek.

Some of the home projects being worked out this summer are: Bedroom improvement projects, yard improvement projects, clothing construction, meal preparation, home canning, making outdoor living rooms for the family use, personal grooming projects.

A group of ten girls are also working in the homemaking department on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 8 to 10 o'clock. Participation in AAA Program to Be Larger Than in Past, Officials Believe

With an estimated 40,000,000 acres of cropland and 85,000,000 acres of range-land signed up under the AAA for 1940, officials at College Station believe participation in the program will be the largest of any year since the program began.

Full cooperation requires planting within soil-depleting acreage allotments and earning the maximum available for soil-building and range-improvement work by adopting specific conservation practices.

In the range program the entire payment is made for conservation work done, while in the
