Committee Gets Report on Weather For Years 1928-32

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce committee working in the interest of Hall County farmers in an attempt to raise the cotton allowable for the county under the Bankhead Bill this morning received weather data for the county during the period 1928-32, the years included in the bill.

The figures, furnished by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, show conditions in 1930, the drought year that the local committee are attempting to get eliminated from the five-year average.

Rainfall at Wrong Time
Rainfall in 1930 was higher than any of the following years, the report shows, but a great part of it fell at the wrong time, and strong, hot winds during the summer months burned up cotton within the county.

Memphis, from May to October, inclusive, had a high temperature of 100 degrees or over every month, two months, July and August, reaching as high as 111 degrees.

The rainfall for 1930 was 22.43 inches, the report shows, but during the months of extreme heat, less than two inches of rain fell.

Yearly and Monthly
The rainfall for the five-year period was as follows: 1928—25.62 inches, 1929—22.94 inches, 1930—22.43 inches, 1931—19.94 inches, 1932—19.98 inches.

For the drought year 1930, the monthly rainfall was: January—1.30 inches, February—0, March—1.1 inch, April—2.43, May—2.53, June—4.68, July—0, August—1.59, September—2.80, October—4.90, November—.75, December—1.35.

The highest temperatures during the six-month period was as follows: May—100 degrees, June—105 degrees, July—111 degrees. (Continued on page 4)

SIMMONS BAND TO FEATURE COWBOY

John Regan, Cowboy From Australia, To Perform

John Regan, England's champion cowboy, will be featured performed with the Simmons University Cowboy Band when that organization appears at the high school auditorium here next Friday morning at 11 o'clock under the auspices of the Senior Class.

This veteran cowboy, rodeo rider, circus performer, and all-around entertainer, has had a colorful career as a soldier, boxer, cowboy, diamond seeker, big game hunter, and showman. He learned his cowboy tricks with the lariat, stock-whip, and boomerang while serving on the ranches of far-flung Australia. Other adventurous episodes of his life have carried him into many countries of the civilized world and into the wilds of Africa.

Regan met the Cowboy Band when the Texas boys were on a tour of European countries. He (Continued on page 4)

Elliott Roosevelt Becomes Father

By Associated Press
FORT WORTH, May 9.—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt here this morning at 8 o'clock. The granddaughter and daughter-in-law of the president were reported "doing nicely" today.

The baby weighed six pounds, six ounces. The family has not yet announced what the child's name will be.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the former Miss Ruth Googins, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Googins of Fort Worth.

Six Panhandle Cities Will Receive $284,468 For PWA Construction Work

Six Panhandle cities are included in the Federal projects financed in Texas by the PWA, according to an announcement by R. A. Thompson, state PWA engineer, yesterday.

Funds allocated to Texas by the Public Works Administration for financing both Federal and non-Federal projects now total $77,730,000, the announcement stated.

Panhandle cities will receive $284,468 that includes the construction of post office buildings, improvement on government property and surveys.

JUNIOR C OF C BOOSTER TRIP POSTPONED

Estelline Good-Will Trip Put Off Due To Conflicts

Memphis' Junior Chamber of Commerce postponed its initial booster trip of the year last night due to the fact that that organization was occupied with preparations for the coming of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and Wholesale Merchants Association tour Friday.

According to J. R. Jones, head of the Trade Extension Committee, extensive preparations are being made by the Senior and Junior commerce unions for the reception of the Dallas trade representatives and because of the limited time, almost all of the Junior Chamber of Commerce members were working last night and were not able to go to Estelline.

Also, the junior organization is backing the Memphis Owls baseball team which played a game yesterday afternoon, and, too, a number of members could not be excused from participation in the churches softball loop.

It was thought better by Mr. Jones to postpone the good will trip to Estelline until a time when a larger and more representative (Continued on page 4)

PACIFIC COAST DOCKMEN STRIKE

Between 10,000 And 15,000 Longshoremen Seek Higher Wages, Shorter Hours

By Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—A strike of Pacific Coast longshoremen went into effect today, with between 10,000 and 15,000 men quitting jobs and demanding more wages and shorter working weeks.

The strike came just as steamship interests and officials of the Longshoremen's Union were attempting to reach an agreement at Galveston, Texas, to end a strike there that has tied up deep sea shipping along the Gulf Coast for two weeks.

Joseph Ryan of New York, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, is in Galveston.

Texas Professor To Conduct Lectures At Princeton University

AUSTIN, Texas, May 9.—Harry S. Vandiver, associate professor of pure mathematics at the University of Texas, while on leave from that institution, was invited to deliver a series of lectures in connection with the theory of algebraic numbers at the University of Advanced Research at Princeton, N. J. His lecture room adjoins that of Albert Einstein.

Mr. Vandiver was recently elected to the National Academy of Science. During his leave he was engaged in research in this country and abroad. International recognition came to him for work on Fermat's "last theorem," a theory which has long kept the interest of mathematicians. The American Mathematical Society awarded Mr. Vandiver the Frank Cole Prize for his work on this theory. Prior to becoming a member of the faculty of The University of Texas in 1924, Mr. Vandiver was on the teaching staff of Cornell University.

Both Attorneys Rest in Hamilton Robbery Trial

By Associated Press
DALLAS, May 9.—Both sides rested today in the trial of Raymond Hamilton, noted Texas desperado, after three employes of the Grand Prairie State Bank identified him as one of two men who robbed the institution on March 19 of more than $1,500.

Judge Williams planned to charge the jury and arguments were to start this afternoon. Hamilton was arrested recently and at the request of the district attorney his trial was rushed forward. The trial started yesterday with the selection of the jury.

Men Are Urged to Dress Windows Friday

An appeal to merchants to "dress up" their show windows and stores for the visit of representatives of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and Dallas Wholesale Merchants' Association Friday afternoon was issued today by J. Henry Read, secretary of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce.

In line with this movement, the business section of the city will also get a new dress. The streets will be re-marked and the park at the Denever depot is being cleaned. The special train will be parked at this spot during the night.

Ask Stores To Be Open
A request from Dallas asked that local merchants remain open until representatives of their line of trade may visit with them and "talk things over."

"We want to have Memphis looking as neat and clean as possible," Mr. Read said, "and hope that every merchant will cooperate with us in this attempt. It would be fine if every merchant would put up a special window display of some nature."

The Dallas visitors are to arrive here at 5:10 o'clock Friday afternoon. They will be met at the station by the two Memphis bands. (Continued on page 4)

Use the Want-Ads if you want results!

In yesterday's issue of The Daily Democrat appeared a small Want-Ad advertising "knee-action" cows for sale.

By the time The Democrat had been off the press three hours at least 15 persons had advised us of the ad, thinking that an error had been made, which was not the case.

What is more, the first to remark concerning the ad was a Childress resident.

Simmons Cowboy Band Only College Or University Band To Tour Europe

The Cowboy Band of Simmons University, which is to play here at the high school auditorium next Friday morning, boasts many distinctions, but chief among these is the fact that it is the only college or university band that ever made a concert tour of Europe.

For eight weeks in the summer of 1930 this band carried the fame and tradition of the western cowboy into the theaters and concert halls of dignified and staid old Europe. And at the end of the tour they had proved so popular, they were asked to come back again.

In early June of that year the Cowboys, led by their director, D. O. Wiley, and accompanied by a party of 75 Texas people, embarked on the giant liner, Leviathan at New York City. Arriving at Southampton after an eventful voyage during which the band furnished daily concerts on board the ship, they made immediately for London where they were scheduled to appear at the Palladium, England's greatest showhouse.

After two weeks in London they moved on to cities in Northern England where they spent two weeks playing concerts and visiting the coal fields and cotton mills of that section.

Amsterdam, Holland was their next stop. They moved from there to Rotterdam and The Hague. Never had the Cowboy Band received greater ovations than they got in Holland. Their route took them through Belgium and France. Near the last of August they sailed for home from Cherbourg, France. Meanwhile Germany had been slighted. And concert managers all over that coun-

Rehearsals are well under way and this promises to be the most unusual and outstanding play the Memphis Little Theater has yet produced, Mrs. Allen stated. It is diverting and different.
"The First Night" has all the elements of a good melodrama—good framework, novel circumstances, ingenuity of a situation, the director stated. From the beginning to the final moment it is not without interest.

"It has that good quality of pseudo suspense that constrains one to get on reading a detective story with a kind of nervous enjoyment and a lively curiosity—as to what will come next," Mrs. Allen continued.
In the hands of a competent cast, it furnishes both excitement and diversion.
"The First Night" is to be produced here by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

Accident or Crime?

A sickening thud on the tan-bark. A split second of agonized silence—then pandemonium. Down a rope slides a white-faced performer, to throw herself hysterically at the side of the crumpled figure of her partner.

A deplorable accident, the manager explained hurriedly. Accident—or revenge? Had somebody tampered with the braces that held the trapeze in position, to send an innocent victim hurtling to tragedy? Who was the criminal?

PLACE HUDSONS, TERRAPLANES ON DISPLAY

T. T. Harrison Motor Company Opens Here Monday
A shipment of the new 1934-35 Terraplanes and Hudsons was received here Monday and have been placed on display in the show windows of the T. T. Harrison Motor Company, which is located in the old Magnolia Building, east of the Pounds Hotel.

The T. T. Harrison Motor Company is a new automobile distributing agency in Memphis, having opened here on Monday, and as has been previously stated, the company will handle Hudsons and Terraplanes.
T. T. Harrison is owner and manager of the company, and he is also acting in the capacity as salesman. He will be assisted by his son Rabb Harrison, and probably by two other salesmen who will be determined later.
The company will operate as service department in connection with distributing the cars, and John Hollinsworth, a mechanic in Memphis for a number of years, has been placed in charge of this department.
Mr. Hollingsworth will leave the latter part of this week for Wichita Falls, where he will receive instructions from a factory representative on improved methods of automobile repairing.
Both Mr. Harrison and Mr. Hollingsworth invite their many friends and acquaintances to visit them in their new business.

TOM F. HUNTER SPEAKS

TOM F. HUNTER of Wichita Falls, speaking in behalf of his candidacy for governor here Monday night, assailed almost every evil that is said to be hooked up with modern state politics and the system of taxation.

Mr. Hunter made a good talk—he is an excellent speaker—and he made some fine observations. The things he said should be corrected in the taxation structure in Texas would be a credit to any man who changed them, whether this was done by a Democrat, Republican or Communist.

Mr. Hunter said: "In order to restore an easy available credit it is necessary that the unfair tax burden now resting on real estate be relieved. . . . A blended tax plan must be adopted in order that the tax burden may be reallocated so that all pay in proportion to their ability and that the interests which have been dodging their fair share of the taxes may be reached. An easy available credit cannot be restored until real estate, our basic wealth, is placed back on a profit paying basis. As long as it is cheaper to rent than to own a property or home, the safety of our state is endangered."

As an illustration of the present tax structure that allows many concerns to escape reasonable taxes, Mr. Hunter gave the case of a great pipeline company, which, he said, during a depression year made a net profit of over $20,000,000 and paid in all taxes in the state less than $500,000, or two and three-tenths percent of its net profits. While this concern was paying this small percentage, real estate was paying from 50 percent to 125 percent of its income in taxes.

Of a certainty, Mr. Hunter is correct. The condition is deplorable. Every tax payer in the state, unless he is one of those fortunate enough to be avoiding taxation, would like to see the situation changed, not in his favor, but merely so that the tax burden might be distributed fairly.

To say that Mr. Hunter would accomplish this, however, would be to shut one's eyes to the limits of the governor's powers. However, we are not questioning his sincerity nor his ability.

The problem is not in the choosing of a governor. The tax payer must demand of all their officials that the matter be adjusted, and they must not be content to stop their pressure until adequate action is taken.

In choosing a governor, the voters must, in the words of Judge A. S. Moss, "look well before we cast our ballots in the July primary." Mere campaign promises are not sufficient.

SAVING THE LAND

It seems odd to think that land itself—solid, enduring, part of Mother Earth—can actually be destroyed. But it can; and Secretary of the Interior Ickes asserts that the future usefulness of no less than 173,000,000 acres of public land depends on passage by Congress of the administration's grazing bill.

This area—larger than all of France—is deteriorating, says the secretary, because of over-grazing by livestock.

Removal of the forage crop makes the land a prey to wind and water erosion; if left to itself, it will eventually become a useless stretch of desert.

The pending bill would regulate grazing on the land, keep it in use to the limit of its potentialities, and save it for future generations. It ought to get Congress' approval without delay.

The forecast by the eminent scientist that there will be no children in the United States in 1970 indicates that the problem of financing the public schools will finally be solved.—Dallas Times-Herald

There Seems To Be A Dispute About Something

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The latest fad so-called food experts are trying to impose upon you is the one in which you are warned not to mix proteins with carbohydrates. These faddists advise you particularly against the mixture of proteins with that form of carbohydrates known as starch.

But you can easily see how ridiculous this idea is when you consider that meat and potatoes, crackers and cheese, and similar combinations have for hundreds of years been staples of diet for most people.

Human beings have been eating mixtures of proteins and starch for so many thousands of years that the beginning is beyond the available records of man.

Certainly the human being cannot be said to have deteriorated greatly from the physical point of view in that time, since our life expectancy today is far greater than it was 100 years ago.

The proteins are among the most important of the food elements, since they provide material for growth and repair of tissues. Such substances as cheese, meat, fish and eggs are rich sources of protein.

The starches provide material for muscular action and output of energy. Bread, cereals and some of the vegetables, like potatoes, are primarily starchy foods.

Nevertheless, bread, cereals and potatoes all contain protein as well. In fact, if you should eat the food substances as they are developed by nature, you could not avoid mixing proteins and starches, because nature has mixed them herself.

Coupled with the food faddist's attack on mixtures, is his warning about acidosis as the cause of most human disturbances.

If you eat a well-balanced diet, you do not need worry about acidosis. Your body contains factors of safety which take care of slight excesses in certain types of food.

Adequate amounts of milk, green vegetables, and fruit and eggs, or other proteins, daily will have little, if any, tendency toward formation of excess acid in the body.

In fact, the eating of a variety of food substances provides just the amount of balance of one type of food against another that your body in health actually needs.

THE federal government was first to tax cigars, but stamps were not affixed to packages until the Act of July 20, 1868. Miss Rankin, Republican Montana, served from March 4, 1917, to March 3, 1919. John Winthrop, Jr., organized the first copper mining company and worked the Granby mine for several years with convict labor.

BARBS

Boston police were all set for a May-day riot, with a large supply of guns and ammunition, but they took an awful chance with Dillinger running loose.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
The Democrat's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Late-ly this capital has become downright socially uncomfortable for those who have no opinions as between the classical and modern schools or art nor any appreciations of the difference between chiaroscuro and pastel. All the New Dealers have gone arty on us.

The public works art division is the center of excitement. It's the recovery branch which put thousands of artists at work painting for their country and it picked 500 of the best paintings and sculptures for an exhibit here which has caused even more stir than the annual cherry blossoms.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the cabinet, Congress, and the other big boys were let in at special previews and pre-previews and told they could select pictures to hang on office and corridor walls. After the Roosevelts had picked 30 for the White House, there was a general scramble which now is embarrassing, since many officials are demanding the same pictures.

For instance Professor Tugwell chose about 50 and wants as many as he can get for the Agriculture Department, but some he wants are also sought by Under-secretary of State Phillips, Republican House Leader Burt Snell, Speaker Rainey and Senator Metcalf. There are many other conflicts which probably will be settled on a basis of official precedence.

As if that weren't enough to talk about, the navy officially declared war on "The Fleet's In," a painting of sailors and girls, and Dr. Tugwell publicly aired his pain acquired from contemplation of Gilbert White's new pastoral mural at the Department of Agriculture, only to have Secretary Wallace endorse it.

Thus the navy and Wallace were left in the classical school and Tugwell and the army in the modern school, with the rest of the capital taking sides. (One of many clamorous bidders for "The Fleet's In," was West Point.)

So many people have had fun fighting these various art wars that one fears more are brewing.

Rushin' the Russians
Mrs. Troyanovsky, the Russian ambassador's wife, has had her first "at home." She expected 200 women to drop in, but prepared for 300 just in case.

Nearly a thousand came and swamped the embassy. The League of American Pen Women, which happened to be conventioning here, arrived in bus loads. So did a convention of nurses.

Science Chair Is Sought At WTSTC

By Associated Press
CANYON, May 9.—A campaign is under way to have a chair of archaeology and paleontology established at West Texas State Teachers College, the home of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum.

John E. Hill of Amarillo, a member of the board of regents of state teachers colleges, is one of the sponsors.

"The nation's leading scientists recognize the Panhandle-Plains region as among the richest fields in the United States both in ancient Indian ruins and deposits of fossils of prehistoric animals," Hill said.

Hill, following a recent visit to Washington, said officials of the Smithsonian Institution there favored the establishment of the proposed chair at the local institution as an aid to science generally and the development of the Panhandle field particularly.

High Court Upholds Verdict For Malin

AMARILLO, May 9.—The Seventh Court of Civil Appeals yesterday affirmed a district court decision awarding Jerry Malin, sports editor of the News-Globe, $980 damages against the Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates for failure to play an exhibition game in Amarillo on April 5, 1933.

Malin's contention that a series of letters between him and officials of the two clubs formed a legal contract was upheld by the appeals court. Attorneys for the clubs had contended that there was no contract.

The original suit, asking $1,500 was filed by Malin after George Gibson, manager of the Pirates, failed to send his team to the field, claiming unfavorable weather. Malin said he sued only for expenses incurred in making preparations for the game.

As Exile Ended For Fallen Utilities Czar

The above picture shows the scene off Ambrose lightship, outside New York Harbor, as Samuel Insull, former utilities czar, was transferred from the S. S. Exilona, which bore him home from exile, to the U. S. Cutter Hudson. This and other pictures of Insull's return were taken by NEA Service staff photographers from a tug sent down to Ambrose light to meet the ship. The pictures were then transferred to a seaplane, flown to New York, and from there rushed by plane and train to The Democrat and other NEA Service newspapers.

The lower picture shows Insull, his long flight that followed the crash of his utilities empire ended, as he walked down the gangplank from the Coast Guard Cutter Hudson in New York Harbor to start his journey to Chicago to face trial. Behind him is his guard and in the background, right, is Samuel Insull Jr., who made the trip to New York to accompany his father to Chicago.

Farmers May Still Cut Wheat Acreage Under New Program

Special to The Democrat.
COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—Wheat farmers who did not sign acreage reduction contracts in last fall's campaign may sign up in the national program which will soon be re-opened for the purpose of getting American production down to the level of the London wheat agreement, it is announced by O. B. Martin, director of the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College. The campaign will be reopened on a liberalized basis, he says.

Growers who now sign contracts will not be paid the first benefit payment for 1934 but are eligible to receive all future payments. There is no more prospect of improvement in wheat prices than there was last fall, advices from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration indicate. The farmer who signs a contract is assured of a parity price crop he pro a parity price for 54 per cent of the average crop he produced in the base period of 1928-32. The grower who stays out has no protection.

In the re-opened campaign the wheat grower who had no wheat in 1928 to 1931 but who grew some in 1932 and 1933 now has a chance to come into the wheat adjustment program with an attractive acreage allotment. His benefit payments, however, will be less than those for the grower who had wheat two or more of the base years.

The 1932 wheat grower, who had at least 75 per cent as much wheat acreage again in 1933, can now sign a contract on the following basis:

1. His base acreage shall be his acreage planted to wheat for harvest in 1932. He can seed up to 85 per cent of that base for harvest in 1934.
2. His base production shall be his adjusted 1932 production divided by five.
3. His benefit payments will be paid on 54 per cent of his base production.
4. He will get both installments of his 1933 payments and all his 1934 and 1935 payments.

In certain specified counties where serious drought conditions prevented the seeding of wheat last fall contract signers who failed to sow enough normally produce at least 54 per cent of the average five-year production may secure waivers through their county committees. By so doing these farmers will be entitled to receive their 1934 benefit payments which otherwise would have been withheld.

Prize Commuter Gets a Rest

"Commuting" 9000 miles twice a year is ended for Collette Mulvihill and she strikes a fetching pose on her much-traveled trunk to show relief as she arrives in San Francisco. She's reached her majority and no longer has to travel back and forth, by court decree, from Manila, her mother's home, to Pittsburgh, where her father lives.

Similarly, new signers who are in the same predicament, may, in these specified counties, secure waivers at the time of signing contracts and thereby become eligible for the remaining 1934 payments.

Pistol Used During Texas Revolution Is Added To Collection

By Associated Press
SAN SABA, May 9.—Decker Bostic of San Saba has presented to D. S. Barker of Alpine the pistol used in the capture of Santa Anna in the battle which gave Texas her freedom from Mexico.

The pistol was carried by Bostic's father, the late Siron R. Bostic, when the self-styled "Napoleon of the West" was found hiding along San Jacinto Creek on the morning of the day after the memorial battle.

The elder Bostic with several other soldiers thought at first they had captured a private soldier, but learned on entering camp with their captive that it was Santa Anna himself, and that he had exchanged clothing with a private.

The old pistol is a .44 army model made at Hartford, Conn., by the "Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company." It has been added to Barker's collection of firearms at Alpine, where Barker lives. Barker served 22 years as sheriff of Pecos County and before that was a Texas ranger.

GET MACHINE GUN IN CARSON COUNTY

PANHANDLE, May 9.—Carson County commissioners have purchased a Thompson machine gun.

The gun will shoot 50 times in five seconds or 600 times a minute.

Sheriff J. W. McCormick, member of the commissioners court and other interested persons have tried out the gun and they report it works perfectly.

"I believe that the court did the proper thing in purchasing the gun," said Sheriff McCormick. "Officers should have the best equipment possible in fighting the criminal element."

"Carson County has been fortunate the past few years because of the small amount of major crime. I feel that this gun will make the criminals stay out of the county, especially if they know that there are officers that will not hesitate to use it when necessary."

PANHANDLE BANKS OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

PANHANDLE, May 9.—Another birthday came this week-end for the Panhandle Bank and the First National Bank of Panhandle. The forty-sixth birthday of the Panhandle Bank and the seventh birthday of the First National Bank were celebrated Sunday, May 6.

Judge J. C. Paul and associates founded the Panhandle Bank 46 years ago. With limited banking facilities in the Panhandle, the bank drew trade from a large territory. The Bank has had customers, which have been depositors practically from the founding.

SIDE GLANCE

By George Clark

It has been said before of George Clark that "he combines splendid art ability with the characteristics of a trained reporter."

It is hard to improve on that appraisal. Certainly those intimate little views of humanity he calls "SIDE GLANCES" are a happy blend of keen observation and understanding and of genuine art. They have humor and pathos; often a tear lurks just behind the smile—which, after all, is the way of life.

This feature is another of the exceptional ones
