COUNTY TAXES ARE SLASHED UNDER 1940 BUDGET LEVIES

COMMISSIONERS PLAN BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR

Three-Cent Drop In Tax Rate Scheduled For Hall County

The general tax levy for Hall County's 1940 budget has been reduced three cents per $100 valuation from the levy for last year, County Judge M. O. Goodpasture revealed Wednesday afternoon.

The Hall County Commissioners Court, meeting here Tuesday, completed preparation of the 1940 budget for this county which reduces the tax levy for the entire county from 83 cents per $100 to 80 cents.

Taxpayers in the two precincts north of the river will profit even more since, under the terms of a new state law, a large portion of the district road bond indebtedness has been assumed by the State. The road district tax, which has been $1.50 per $100, has been reduced to 25 cents under the 1940 budget, making the combined saving to taxpayers in the district $1.25 on the $100 valuation.

The 1940 budget adopted by the County Commissioners, provides a total of $118,603 for all County operating expenses during the year.

Funeral Rites for W. R. Hill Held Here Tuesday

63-Year-Old Memphian Dies At Home Monday Afternoon Burial Is At Fairview

Funeral services for William Riley Hill, 63, were held at his home in Memphis Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. J. Wm. Mason, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, conducting the rites. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kings Mortuary.

Mr. Hill died suddenly at his home here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He had been a resident of Memphis for the past 20 years.

Mr. Hill was born on August 8, 1876, in Tennessee. He was married in that state on February 14, 1906, to Miss Virginia Barnes, and moved with his wife to Memphis on December 24, 1919.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Fate and Charlie; one daughter, Sula; a brother, Jean Hill; and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Hester and Mrs. Minnie Holland. The brother and sisters are living in Tennessee and were not present for the funeral services.

Other relatives present for the rites were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barnes and children of Memphis, Mrs. Blaine Barnes and children of Tulsa, Johnnie Barnes of Tulsa, Mr. and Mrs. John Potter and children of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neal and children of Memphis, and Mr. and Mrs. Brodie Henry and children from Tennessee.

In charge of floral arrangements were Mesdames B. B. Smith, Troy Broome, George Knight, George Kaker, and O. B. Smith, and Misses Dorothy Evans and Frankie Barnes.

ASSUMPTION OF BONDS IS OK'D BY STATE BODY

Road District Tax Takes Big Drop As Load Is Removed

The State Board of County and District Road indebtedness approved a recommendation made recently by their chief accountant, W. H. Gordon, for state assumption of 88.19 per cent of the bonded indebtedness on the Memphis-to-Brice highway in a meeting at Austin Tuesday, County Judge M. O. Goodpasture announced.

State assumption of the road bonds will mean an annual saving of more than $55,000 to Hall County taxpayers, officials estimated.

To the taxpayers in the precincts north of the river, the tax levy for road bond indebtedness has been reduced from $1.50 per $100 valuation to 25 cents on the hundred, a saving of $1.25 per $100 over the levy for this year. The substantial reduction was made possible through passage of the bond assumption bill. The tax levy for 1940 was set by the Commissioners Court Tuesday.

Gordon was in Memphis two weeks ago, checked over application prepared by county officials, and made his recommendation to the State Board. The recommendation was accepted Tuesday without change.

The State's share of the annual road bond debt will total $55,493.55, leaving the taxpayers of the county only $7,431.45 to pay annually in principal and interest on the bonds. The total annual payment is $62,825 on a debt amounting to $599,000.

The Memphis-to-Brice highway, built by the county and road district in 1932, was later designated as a state highway. A bill providing for state assumption of county and district road bond indebtedness was passed by the Texas Legislature shortly before adjournment this spring, and assumption of the local debt was included in terms of the bill.

Under terms of the bill, the state assumes part of the bonded indebtedness on all highways built by county or road district which have been designated as state highways not later than January 1, 1939.

The road bond measure is financed by a one-cent portion of the state gasoline tax.

County Agent W. B. Hooser, who is in charge of the show, said Monday that there would be plenty of seats for everyone under the sheds immediately north of Harrison Hardware, where the show will be held.

First on the day's program will be the cattle scoring contest at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in which contestants will be judged by E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

Eudaly will instruct contestants on scoring, and will himself score each cow along with the contestants. The contestant coming nearest to the master score will receive a cash prize of $2, the second winner taking $1.

At 11 o'clock the cattle classification will begin. Females will be classified as: (1) one year and under; (2) calves—six months and under one year; (3) one year and under two years; (4) two years and under three, also yearlings in milk; and (5) three years and over.

Bulls are to be classified (1) one year and under; (2) one year and under two; (3) two years and over; and (4) get of sire.

The cattle classification will continue until 12 o'clock, when it will stop for the noon hour, at which time Eudaly will make an address. Beginning at 1 o'clock the cattle classification will be resumed. Between classes during the day short discussions on dairy topics will be held.

High honors will be given the grand and reserve champions, both female and bulls. Four classes of winners will be chosen. Class A selections will be given blue ribbons and will be classed "excellent" and "very good"—with 85 points or over.

Red ribbons will be awarded to cattle ranking in Class B—those animals which are classed "good plus" and "good" scoring between 70 to 75 points. Class C selections will receive white ribbons, and are classed "fair" with 70 to 75 points. No ribbons will be given for Class D animals, which are classed as "poor."

This year's program will move rapidly, Hooser said, with all events running on schedule.

Movies in Color Are Made During Pioneer Reunion

Technicolor Pictures To Be Shown Here Soon; Hill Shoots Rodeo and Reunion

A twenty minute descriptive motion picture film in technicolor was made during the recent Old Settlers Reunion and Rodeo by Herman Hill, district court reporter and amateur photographer.

The film was bought by the Old Settlers Reunion and Rodeo, Inc., and will be used as an advertising medium for Hall County's Golden Jubilee celebration next year.

The Reunion Association plans to show the film in Memphis within the next two or three weeks. Time and place for the exhibition have not been decided.

The pictures include scenes of the parade, old settlers at the barbecue, speakers at the pavilion, registration, visiting groups, and the cowboy rodeo.

"The shots of the rodeo are as good as most of the regular news reels shown at the theaters," Carroll Smyers, secretary of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, said after pre-viewing the film. "The color adds a great deal," he added, "since the gold shirts show up well."

The film is not standard size, and cannot be exhibited at local theaters. There are no sound effects. An announcer's comment will be arranged to accompany the film, and the speech may be recorded and synchronized.

The film was made with a new color process recently perfected by the Eastman laboratories.

The deluge was so heavy that the drain ditch above town was insufficient to carry the flood water, causing it to come over the road and thru town washing down fences and filling cellars, and at one time waist deep down Main Street. CARDUI is a good stimulant for lagging appetites, a real aid to digestion and assimilation. That's why its proper use enables so many women and girls to build up physical resistance, and thus helps them avoid the periodic pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Racket Busters Show Magazine Crew Out of Memphis After Neat 'Catch'

Memphis can now claim its share of the "racket busting" honors, along with larger towns and cities. Last Friday a crew of five magazine salesmen were foiled in their attempt to sell magazine subscriptions by using false names.

It all started when one of the young men bounced up on the front porch of Mrs. T. R. Blades on North 14th Street and said that he knew her, that he was a nephew of a prominent Memphis man...

But Mrs. Blades did not want a subscription. After repeated refusals, the young man left and went to the next house.

He was met at the door by Mrs. Carroll Smyers, wife of the secretary of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce. He told her the same story, but she did not want to buy any subscriptions either.

Mrs. Smyers went back in her house and told Mr. Smyers of the man. Smyers called the home of W. C. Davis, to whom the young man said he was related. Mr. Davis was not at home, but Mrs. Davis said she knew nothing of the young man.

So Mr. Smyers looked up Mr. Davis, got him to go with him to hunt the young salesman. They found him knocking on the door of a house in the same neighborhood. He denied claiming kin to Mr. Davis, so they took him to the City Hall.

There the two Memphis men were joined by Charlie Hume, Memphis nightwatchman. With a young man helping them, they located three other members of the crew, and took all four to the City Hall.

Then questions began to fall on the magazine crew—and the questioning lasted for an hour and a half. The boss of the crew said that they had come from Palestine, Texas, that morning, but Palestine is several hundred miles away and their coming that far...

Then the crew boss said maybe Vernon was the town from where they had come. But his books showed subscriptions sales receipts made Friday morning in Palestine. Finally he gave up in despair and, grinning, said:

"Mister, I don't know my way home."

Further questioning revealed that the young men were from Michigan and were all using false names. Then came the climax.

"You fellows got out of town quick," said Mr. Hume, "and don't ever come back."

The four men left. In a few minutes, another young man came up and inquired about the magazine salesmen. He, too, was told to leave town. He walked away, saying, "Okay, Okay."

Moral: Beware of solicitors or salesmen not approved by citizens of Memphis, the Chamber of Commerce, or some public official.

Contrary to the generally accepted saying that people don't care for poetry any more, nearly everyone has a fondness for rhymed words. Most executives—even those who like to consider themselves hard-boiled—have a bit of verse under the glass top of their desks or in a billfold, some such sentiment as:

"When the One Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game."

"United we stand, divided we fall," declared the intoxicated man as he clung to the lamp-post.

Well, it's working out all right. None of the concerns affected by the ban on Sunday trucks (of course, those doing emergency hauling are not included) opposed the regulation and the traffic on the main highways the first Sunday was materially less, reducing traffic hazards and increasing the enjoyment of families out for a pleasant drive...

And here's an ancient one: A negro couple living in the Florida swamps had a large family and one day the wife ran up and exclaimed, "Sam, an alligator just ate little Rastus." The husband calmly replied, "You know, Mandy, I thought somethin' had been gettin' our chillun."

You never can tell what kind of impression you are making on a new acquaintance. A couple of years ago, Ira Wolfert, famous dramatic critic of North American Newspaper Alliance (and now one of the greatest short story writers in United States) visited Fort Worth to attend Casa Manana and, as publicity director, I sought to anticipate his every wish as to food, beverage, transportation, and entertainment.

For 12 hours I labored at the hospitable assignment and, afterward, in his column, Wolfert wrote: "Col. House could freeze a charging mountain lion in his tracks simply by drawing himself up to his full height and saying, 'Sir, we have not been properly introduced.'"

Austin has the most elaborate battery of traffic signals at busy, zig-zagging corners of any seen by this observer. There is a red light and during part of the time it is on a "walk" light for pedestrians shines. Then there is a green arrow pointing up, which means that cars can drive straight ahead on a red light; a green arrow pointing right or left, meaning you can drive in the direction

Don't Worry About Those Stains; Expert Tells How to Remove Them

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 9.—Summer stains from fruits and beverages, automobile grease and rust or mildew require immediate attention if they are to be satisfactorily removed, Mrs. Dora E. Barnes, Texas A. and M. College Extension Service specialist in clothing, advises.

It's best to begin work on removing spots immediately, she says, for old stains which have been "set" by improper treatment are frequently hard to remove. "Before using anything else," she suggests, "try the simple, universal remedy—cold water. It does no harm and may do wonders, for it sets no stains, endangers no dyes." Any water spot remaining may be steamed out easily.

"In removing a fruit stain, coffee, or tea, stretch the stained part over a pan and then pour boiling water on it from a height so that the water will strike the stain with force," Mrs. Barnes says. She adds that Javelle water is also good for removing these stains.

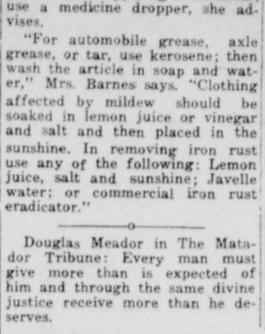

Many stain removers had best be purchased compounded, but a number can be made at home, Mrs. Barnes says, listing Javelle water, oxalic acid, and potassium permanganate in this classification. In making Javelle, dissolve one pound of sal soda or pearl ash in one quart of boiling water, and dissolve one-half pound chlorine of lime in two quarts of cold water. Strain both liquids and combine when cool. Bottle and keep in a cool, dark place. When applying a chemical, use a medicine dropper, she advises.

For automobile grease, axle grease, or tar, use kerosene; then wash the article in soap and water," Mrs. Barnes says. "Clothing affected by mildew should be soaked in lemon juice or vinegar and salt and then placed in the sunshine. In removing iron rust use any of the following: Lemon juice, salt and sunshine; Javelle water; or commercial iron rust eradicator."

Douglas Meador in The Mator Tribune: Every man must give more than is expected of him and through the same divine justice receive more than he deserves.

IMPROVING THE DAIRY HERD

AN EVENT OF MAJOR IMPORTANCE to the farmers and dairymen of Hall County, and more indirectly to the merchants and business men and to all others in this section who must depend on the resources of the farm for a livelihood, is the Annual Hall County Dairy Show which will be held in Memphis Saturday.

Dairying as an important phase of farming rather than as a sideline is rapidly coming into its own in this section. More and more the farmers of Hall and surrounding counties are depending on their dairy herds for a large share of their income, and with that increasing dependence they are recognizing the desirability and necessity of increasing production and quality through better breeding and feeding of dairy animals.

Through the annual dairy show, this trend toward improvement of the herd is given the added impetus of competition; and, perhaps more important, the added boon of an educational opportunity.

The man who will conduct the show this year, E. R. Eudaly of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, is an expert in his line, and through his assistance the dairy breeders and farmers who attend should receive many suggestions of value in their efforts to improve their herds and increase production and revenue.

THANKSGIVING CONTROVERSY

SHATTERING PRECEDENTS has become one of the chief hobbies of America's chief New Dealer, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Americans being a progressive and open-minded race, the President's occasional ventures on untrodden paths have, for the most part, occasioned more admiration than criticism. The American willingness to be different, and the courage to tackle the unknown, are traits which have contributed to national greatness.

There are a few traditions, however, which have become firmly rooted in the national consciousness. One of them is Thanksgiving Day, a tradition so peculiarly American that it is not observed in any other part of the world. Strangely enough, it has never been officially a national holiday, but has depended on the annual proclamation of the president and the governors of the various states.

Still, for many generations, it has been an annual custom to set aside the last Thursday in each November as a day of national Thanksgiving, and the date has been observed with such unflinching regularity that it is listed on most calendars as a national holiday.

It is not surprising then that when President Roosevelt, through whim or fancy, announced his intention of moving Thanksgiving Day up one week by presidential proclamation, he raised a nationwide storm of protest. It is highly probable that Thanksgiving Day would be nationally celebrated on the last Thursday in November whether the president dignified the occasion with a proclamation or not. Thanksgiving Day is celebrated by the will and custom of the people, and not through the whimsical decision of any one person... whether he be president or dog-catcher.

The whole affair assumes the aspect of a somewhat ridiculous situation. The loudest protests have come from the cheering sections of America's biggest fall business... Football... because of upset schedules caused by the summary change in the calendar, and one is forced to recognize the fact that the modern Thanksgiving, while undeniably a national holiday, is chiefly a day of thanks for those old grads whose alma mater won the Turkey-day game.

The reason advanced by the president for the change, however, is almost equally ridiculous. That an extra week of pre-Christmas shopping would materially help business is extremely doubtful. When the average individual pocket book will scarcely stand the strain of a single day's shopping, an extra seven can hardly be expected to increase the purchasing power.

If the president, in attempting to shatter this precedent, was testing the strength of American traditions with a view toward shattering one other, the resulting uproar must have been extremely discouraging. The "no third term" precedent has also survived the test of time!

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

The "Relief Strikers"
 The Happy Herald: Those WPA officials who announced that striking workers would be discharged after five days simply did their duty. And they did more than that—they illustrated the forgotten fact that relief should be regarded as something to leave at the earliest opportunity, and not as a career. It is a salutary thing that many of the strikers returned to their relief jobs in a chastened mood. Relief is a form of charity, and nothing more. It should be provided when absolutely necessary, but it should not be classed as a profession.

Cows Are Here to Stay

From the following editorial in the South Plains Farmer at Lubbock, it seems that the writer believes cows are here to stay: Fifty years hence, a writer assures us, the milk cow will be replaced by a milk-producing machine. This factory milk will be pure and not lacking in nutritive elements. It will be cheaper, too.

Science is truly marvelous, and there is nothing more astounding than the number of plans which it has advanced for consigning the cow to oblivion. A decade ago an English concern announced that it would make milk from grass and we were asked to pre-visualize great loads of hay being driven into one end of an industrial plant and an endless chain of bottles, filled and sealed, emerging from the other. Later the soy bean was hailed as the source of our milk supply, and we were told that this legume of the Far East would make the cow as dead as the dodo. Then Roger Babson predicted that by 1950 we would be getting our cheese and butter from kerosene.

So far as can be seen, there is practically nothing between the old cow and extinction except a division of opinion among the experts on how it is to be accomplished. Another minor item is that science hasn't yet mastered the trick of slicing a T-bone steak from a fly wheel, extracting a rib roast from an oil can or making a Chinese bean taste like a beef tenderloin. Until science has all the answers, we will cleave to the cow.

A Serious (?) Mix-Up

The Donley County Leader: After having given his readers the pedigree of editor, an exchange allows as how an editor may not cuss, but will lie like the devil when he says nobody cusses in his shop. Then he goes on farther and prints the following 40-year-old story to prove a part of his allegations:

"A friend sent an editor a few bottles of hooch down in Rope-town, Mo. The same day he received for publication a wedding notice, also a public sale advertisement with the following result: Mr. William Anderson and Miss Smith were disposed of at public auction at my barn one mile east of a cluster of roses before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milk cows, six mules and one bobbed. Rev. Jackson tied the knot with two hundred feet of hap rope and the bridal party left on one good John Deere plow for an ex-

Keep the Mower Busy to Prevent Growth of Late Summer Weeds

Late summer weeds—gum weed, sunflower, ragweed, broom weed, croton weed, and various other tribes of worthless plants which shade the grass and rob it of needed moisture—are now in the prime of blooming and seed-bearing over a large part of the Southwest. Look down under this rank growth and you find grass struggling to survive, when if it had the ground to itself it would furnish several times as much grazing for the rest of the summer, and would be thickening up for next year's growth.

Just as weeds come into full flower is the best time to mow the pasture, but since there may be several species, which do not all mature at the same time, the practical thing to do is to mow whenever time can be spared for it rather than not mow at all, even if some weeds are not far enough advanced and others have already made seed. There is still time for the grass to derive a great deal of benefit this fall from the destruction of its weed competitors at this season of the year.

I wish every farm operator in the Southwest could see the results of pasture mowing, as it is practiced by their fellow-farmers under all conditions. It is not as easy to count the returns from a good pasture as from a cotton patch, but thousands who have had a few years experience know by their general economic improvement that good pastures pay, without keeping "books" on it.

The weed crop is not tolerated in the cotton field, and we spend hours and days of sweaty labor plowing, and hoeing to give the cotton all the soil fertility and available moisture. A farmer who permits the weeds to "take" his cotton is looked upon as shiftless, and gets little sympathy from his neighbors for his low cotton yields. But grass is also a "crop" and a paying crop with the help of livestock. What kind of cross-eyed reasoning, or lack of reasoning is it that allows the weeds to rob the pastures while fighting them to the last ditch in the fields?

As a matter of fact the same amount of labor and time devoted to improving the pastures and the care of the livestock to graze them is paying many farmers more than time in the fields. A mower will kill a million weeds tended trip with terms to suit purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few utensils after ten months from date of sale, to responsible persons and some fifty chickens or more."

Another on Arkansas
 Randall Abernathy in the Childress County News—Most of the time when we see a train we recall the statement of the Arkansas lawyer and are always amused by it. A track had been laid through the nooks and crannies of the hills, and all the countryside gathered at a vantage point to see the inaugural train—their first. After the train puffed past an old hillbilly with his eyes popping out even with his whiskers said, "Hit's God's blessing that that thing didn't come through sideways or we'd all been wiped out."

Eat Eggs for Stamina

By RUTH J. COOPER, Consulting Home Economist, Breeder-Feeder Association

In a study of American diets, representing a wide range of conditions both rural and urban, the amount spent for eggs was 5.5 per cent of the total spent for food. In comparison to the amount of nutrition derived, this is too low by half. We need about one egg per day or approximately 30 dozen eggs per person per year, or about 11 per cent of the food budget.

Eggs are protective foods. Both the yolk and white are rich sources of protein. An average egg of 70 calories contains about 60 per cent of the protein in the white and 40 per cent in the yolk. Raw egg yolk is easily digested but raw egg white often causes digestive disturbances. That is the reason that egg white is cooked just enough to coagulate the albumins, for then it too, is easily digested.

Fat, and in general, the minerals in eggs are to be found in the yolk. The most important mineral is iron. While the amount is small, it is constant and in a very usable form. One egg furnishes about one-tenth of the daily iron requirement.

Eggs are a rich source of vitamins, containing all except "C." This wealth alone would place them in the protective foods class without their other qualifications. An egg is an egg whether it is taken into the diet straight or in combination. Eggs may be used in any of the various methods of cookery and with almost any food. Egg and milk combinations are nutritious and palatable. They round out the protective diet and are insurance against nutritional deficiency.

Custard
 2 eggs or 4 yolks, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk (scalded), 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, whole Soft Custard: Beat egg whites, add milk, salt and add sugar. Cover either in a double boiler or in a low flame, stirring until the custard coats the back of a spoon. Strain. Serve with whipped cream.

Baked Custard: Beat egg whites, add milk, salt and add sugar. Pour into custard cups in a pan of water in a moderate oven (350 F.) until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Minutes. Serve with cream.

Creamed Eggs: 3 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 4 hard-cooked eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Melt butter, blend with egg yolks, stir until thick, stirring to prevent curdling. Sprinkle top with white sauce and turn in dish. Sprinkle top with Goldenrod Eggs are of Creamed Eggs. Beat whites and add to sauce; pour over butter. Press the egg yolks through and sprinkle over all.

Meringues or Kisses: 2 egg whites, 1-4 salt, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-2 vanilla, 1-2 cup pecan nut, etc.

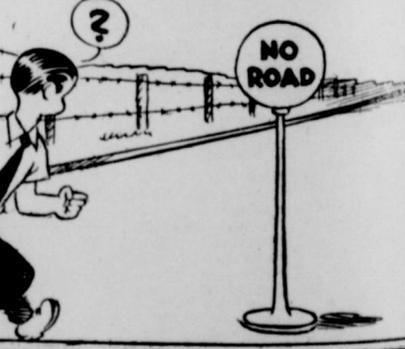

Beat eggs to a stiff foam and gradually add salt and gradually add sugar; pour over butter. Press the egg yolks through and sprinkle over all. Bake on a cookie sheet and moderate oven (350 F.) about 12 minutes or until carefully browned.
