

A British government spokesman announced that the British naval training ship, Iron Duke (pictured at left) was hit and damaged by a German air raid on the British naval base at Scapa Flow, Scotland. The British said there was no extensive damage and no one was killed. The raid was the second on the Scotland coastal area in two days by the Nazi raiders. Meanwhile, Britain appeared to have taken steps to augment her own air force. Sixty bombing planes built for England at the Lockheed plant in Burbank, Calif., were scheduled to be flown soon to Newark, N. J., to be stored pending outcome of the arms embargo repeal now before congress. Eleven of the two-motored ships are shown at the right, lined up at Los Angeles' Union Air terminal, ready for the flight. Guards kept watch over the craft, part of the undelivered remainder of a 200-plane order.

SCANDANAVIAN STATES PONDER WAR STATUS

WANT TO STAY NEUTRAL AND KEEP TRADE

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 18 (AP)—The kings of the three Scandinavian states and the president of Finland opened their conference today on problems which face the northern neutral countries as the result of the European war.

Brief Ceremonies The visiting heads of state, King Haakon of Norway, King Christian of Denmark and President Kyoesti Kallio of Finland, were welcomed in brief ceremonies devoid of military display in harmony with the peace policy long associated with the Scandinavian nations.

King Gustaf of Sweden welcomed the leaders. How to preserve the neutrality of their nations while maintaining normal trade relations was the question facing the monarchs of Sweden, Norway and Denmark—just as it was during the World war.

To that problem was added the situation of Finland, which existed during the first part of the World war only as a grand duchy of the Russian empire and which now is engaged in negotiations with Soviet Russia which Finns fear may threaten their independence.

An appeal to the northern states and their ministers to widen the scope of the conference and make it a starting point for a general European peace move was published in Stockholm afternoon papers.

It was in the form of a full page advertisement signed by "representatives of Swedish industry and trade."

It followed a petition couched in similar language addressed to King Gustaf yesterday by the Swedish National League of Youth.

Sweden insisted that their own country was not endangered, and expressed belief that Finland's negotiations with Russia would reach a peaceful conclusion.

Most quarters seemed to feel that the most which could be expected from the conference would be reaffirmation of the northern states' desire to maintain their neutrality.

Many Swedes said it was too much to expect that any definite stand would be taken regarding possible aid to Finland. They recalled that the combined population of the four northern countries is scarcely 17 million as compared with Russia's 170 million and Germany's 90 million.

Would Change Shipping Rules

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A group of democrats on the senate foreign relations committee agreed in principle today on a plan to relax controversial shipping provisions of the administration's neutrality bill.

The proposal, offered by Senator Connally (D-Tex.), would authorize American vessels to carry all goods except arms to belligerent ports in South America, the Pacific ocean, the China sea, the Indian ocean, the Bay of Bengal and the Arabian sea.

Connally told reporters a final agreement had not been reached. A group of democrats would work on details at an afternoon session, he said.

Relaxation of the shipping provisions was expected to lessen opposition to the neutrality bill and hasten a final vote. Previously, administration leaders agreed to strike out a provision permitting belligerent countries to obtain 90-

Gene Autry To Arrive By Plane

From the Town Hall in New York to the Ritz theatre in Big Spring will be a 24-hour jump for Gene Autry.

The cowboy star, due here for personal appearances Friday and Saturday, is filling an engagement in Manhattan tonight, as a guest on Fred Allen's Town Hall program, going out over the NBC network at 8 o'clock.

Then, Autry, temporarily deserting his horse Champion, will board a plane for Big Spring, and will arrive here on the American Airlines ship Thursday evening at 7:08. His stage appearances here, through courtesy of Republic Pictures, will be a climactic festivity of the local R&R theatre's 30th anniversary week, and several film men are expected to be with Autry here for the two days. They will include Harold Hubbs and Ed Rowley, R&R partners from Dallas; C. V. Jones of Dallas, general manager of the R&R circuits; and Republic officials and other film men from Dallas.

Autry, No. 1 boxoffice star of the films, and holding first rank in popularity among the western players, will appear on the stage at the Ritz at all shows Friday and Saturday.

There will be no formal ceremonies at the airport Thursday evening, J. Y. Kobb of the local showhouses announced, although a welcoming delegation will be on hand to greet Autry and his party.

Finland Sends Thanks To US

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Kyoesti Kallio of Finland told President Roosevelt in a telegram made public today by the White House today that his "personal valuable assistance and interest in Finland's fate and difficult problems will never be forgotten in this country."

The telegram was delivered by Hjalmar J. Procopio, Finnish minister to the United States.

In it the Finnish executive, in the name of his people, expressed to the president and the American people "the sincere gratitude felt by the people of Finland for the sympathy and moral support you and the people of the United States have shown us."

Earlier, President Roosevelt advised King Gustaf of Sweden that "this government joins with the governments of the other American republics in expressing its support of the principles of neutrality and order under law for which the nations represented at the Stockholm conference have, throughout their history, taken a consistent stand."

Apparently the message was in See FINLAND, Page 7, Col. 3

EMPLOYES TO GET YULETIDE BONUS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Some 9,000 employees of General Foods Corp. were notified today they can expect to add more than $270,000 to their Christmas shopping budgets.

C. M. Chester, chairman of the company, announced that employees outside the "distributive group" would receive "extra compensation" December 15 "at least equal to what they received last December."

At that time, 8,500 employees were given $264,000—a bonus of one week's extra salary each. This year the same class of employees numbers more than 9,000.

TURKEY COOL TO MOSCOW'S PROPOSALS

ISTANBUL, Oct. 18 (AP)—General Maxime Weygand, 72-year-old commander-in-chief of French forces in the eastern Mediterranean, accompanied by several military experts, arrived today as precautionary military measures were intensified in Turkey.

"Contrary To Policy" This followed upon Prime Minister Refik Saydam's assertion that Russian demands made to a Turkish delegation in Moscow were contrary to Turkish policy in the Dardanelles.

Numerous large motor vehicles, particularly heavy duty trucks, were being requisitioned. Chauffeurs and mechanics who do not belong to any army reserve units were urged to join motorized units.

Saydam declared at Ankara last night that three weeks of discussion in Moscow had proved fruitless.

The prime minister said Russian proposals were contrary to Turkish security, failed to compensate her for obligations she was asked to assume and were incompatible with Turkey's previous commitments to Great Britain and France.

He added, however, that relations between Turkey and Russia remained friendly.

Meanwhile it was reported that formal signing of a Turkish pact with Britain might be expected this week. The agreement would link Turkey and Britain to fight together in event of war in the Mediterranean.

There is a similar agreement with France.

A Turkish military mission has been in London awaiting the outcome of the Moscow talks.

Saydam's announcement did not disclose the nature of the Russian demands. It was widely reported here, however, that the soviet sought to bar all foreign warships save her own from passage through the Dardanelles.

Plenty Of Oil, FDR Is Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Members of the seven-state Inter State Oil Compact commission advised President Roosevelt today that all the oil needed "under any emergency" could be provided merely by "opening the valves."

The president received a report on progress being made in conservation and production of oil production from E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad commission and chairman of the compact commission, and W. J. Holloway of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma's representative.

Thompson said they reported there was now a reserve of 17,500,000,000 barrels of oil, compared with 5,500,000,000 in 1925 and that the reserves were being increased.

He expressed the opinion that the various states were doing "an adequate job" of controlling oil production and that there was no need for federal legislation. He said the president "seemed pleased that the states were doing a good job."

Rather than stepping up production to meet any wartime emergency, Thompson said, the See FLENTL OIL, Page 7, Col. 4

Two Negroes Are Killed In Traffic Crash

Car And Truck Collide Headon East Of Coahoma

Two more deaths were charged against the Howard county traffic record for 1939 today as the result of a truck-car collision three miles east of Coahoma Tuesday afternoon.

The dead were George Frazier, Clarksville, negro, and Willie Johnson, Dallas, negro. E. L. "Buck" Nolen, Lamesa, was treated in a local hospital for minor injuries and returned home following the crash, Sidney Frazier, Clarksville, negro, husband of the dead woman, was in a serious condition Wednesday afternoon at a hospital here.

Deputy Sheriff's A. J. Merrick and D. D. Dunn, who investigated the mishap, said that the negroes' car, a model A Ford coupe, and the cottonseed truck collided almost head on near the brow of a hill east of Coahoma. Truck, seed and car piled into a tangle of wreckage that burst into flames.

Passing motorists pulled Frazier and Johnson out, but the negroes, wedged under the mass, was all but cremated.

"She doubtless was killed instantly in the crash," said Deputy Merrick. "It looked as if she had been crushed to death before flames ever touched her."

Nolen, who was piloting a Keisling-McBride seed truck eastward when the tangle occurred, was able to free himself from the wreckage. Willie Johnson died in an ambulance enroute to a local hospital. Frazier was in a serious condition with a skull fracture, a compound thigh fracture, broken ribs and severe lacerations.

Officers said there was a possibility that a third car unwittingly figured in the mishap. It was theorized that the third car passed the negroes' machine on the hill, whipping in rapidly to avoid the truck, snagged the negroes front to lose control and plunge into the path of the truck.

Billings Free, Now Will Take A Bride

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Warren K. Billings awoke today in a room instead of a cell for the first time in 23 years, to face the exciting prospect of planning, at 45, a new life with the woman he expects to marry.

He met her last night for the first time outside of prison custody, after hurrying here from Sacramento as soon as Governor Culbert L. Olson's order commuting his life sentence to time served resulted in release from Folsom prison.

He had not tasted freedom since his arrest in July 1916 after he and Tom Mooney were accused of participation in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing. Both were convicted for murder.

Governor Olson pardoned Mooney early this year.

Billings' bride-to-be is Miss Josephine Rudolph, 36, former librarian in San Mateo and more recently a timekeeper on a WPA housekeeping project.

SURVIVORS OFF BRITISH SHIPS PICKED UP BY AMERICAN LINER

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—The storm-tattered, American liner President Harding radioed the United States Lines offices here today that 45 passengers and 22 members of the crew had been injured and that Paul Johnson, a cabin waiter, had presumably been lost overboard at the height of a heavy gale.

ENGLAND MINIMIZES LOSSES; GERMAN SUB CREW HONORED

'GOOD START' MADE, SAYS CHAMBERLAIN

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Britain has "made a good beginning" in the war against Germany, Prime Minister Chamberlain declared in the house of commons today in a speech minimizing British losses and saying Germany had lost more than a fourth of the planes which have raided the British Isles.

Defense Praised He paid tribute in his brief weekly war report to the work of defense forces in fighting off the first German air attacks on the country.

In these first air battles "fought over our own coasts, we have destroyed eight enemy aircraft without losing a single machine of our own," Chamberlain said.

He added that several more German bombers might have failed to reach home and said the casualties "thus certainly exceeded 25 per cent of the attacking force and may have been higher."

The British navy "has sustained severe losses, both in officers and men," Chamberlain said, referring to the sinking of the battleship Royal Oak Saturday and casualties inflicted by German air raiders on the Fifth of Forth Monday.

Sixteen men were killed in the Monday raid and 810 went down with the Royal Oak when a submarine torpedoed her in Scapa Flow, British naval base in the Orkney islands off the north Scottish coast.

Attacks on British fleet bases were "fully expected," the prime minister said.

PLANE HITS POWER LINE NEAR FIELD AT MIDLAND

MIDLAND, Oct. 18 (Sp)—Lieut. Ray H. Horton escaped without injuries and the city of Midland was plunged into darkness early this morning when his plane collided with power lines near Sloan field, eight miles west of here.

Lieut. Horton was returning from a flight in connection with army maneuvers near Balmorhea. As he brought his ship in for a landing, the plane came in contact with a high-power transmission line. The plane was damaged but the pilot escaped unhurt.

The mishap occurred at about 2:15 a. m. and Midland was plunged into darkness for more than a half hour while electric service was restored.

GAS RATE SLASH IS RECOMMENDED

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Reduction of gas rates at Memphis, Childress and Wellington from the current 67 1/2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 57 cents, permitting a saving to users of $2,731 a year at Memphis and $5,208 at Childress, appeared possible today.

Olin Culbertson, gas utilities division director, recommended the 50-cent rate to the railroad commission after a series of conferences with the United Gas corporation and city attorneys of Memphis and Childress.

Gallogly Extradition To Georgia Granted By Gov. O'Daniel

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Extradition of Richard Gray Gallogly to Georgia today was granted by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. The governor said Gallogly's career might show some injustice but it was not for him to decide such a matter.

Some citizens might think a fugitive's guilt or innocence should be determined in extradition hearings but courts were for that purpose, he said.

Attorney General Ellis Arnall of Georgia, who at the two-day hearing concluded yesterday battled for extradition of the 30-year-old fugitive, said Governor O'Daniel clearly had followed the mandate of Texas' law.

"Exactly right," was the opinion of J. Walter Lecraw, assistant solicitor general of Fulton (Atlanta) county, when he read the governor's statement.

He and Arnall went immediately to the secretary of state's office to complete preparation of the extradition papers. Informed of the governor's decision, Gallogly's pretty wife, in her hotel room awaiting the verdict, asserted: "I have nothing at all to say."

She apparently received the news calmly, and, answering another question, said: "I'm sure Richard's mother would not care to say anything either. "It was a hard fight against great odds," commented Arnall. "The governor followed the mandate of the United States and Texas constitutions and Texas law."

He said he would leave immediately for Dallas to fight habeas See GALLOGLY EXTRADITION, Page 7, Col. 7

Pope Voices New Concern

CASTLE GANDOLFO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Pope Pius declared today that "the enemies of God" were casting their "sinister shadow" over Europe in a more threatening way every day.

The pope expressed his concern in an public address to the new Lithuanian minister to the Holy See, Stanislaus Girdvainis, whose country recently came under the influence of Soviet Russia.

The pontiff said the Lithuanians showed their intention of remaining the "northern vanguard of Catholicism" even if sacrifice becomes the necessary price for affirmation of the realization of such an ideal.

The pope said he would not let his action, "always directed toward the salvation of souls, become involved in purely temporal controversies and territorial competitions between states."

But the duties of his office as "supreme pastor" did not permit him to close his eyes, he said, "when precisely for the salvation of souls arise new, incommensurable dangers—when on the face of Europe, Christian in all its fundamental lineaments, the sinister shadow of thoughts and deeds of enemies of God casts itself closer and more threateningly every day."

Presentation of credentials by the new Lithuanian minister restored normal relations with the Vatican broken off five years ago.

Nazi Losses Put At 5,000

PARIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sharp fighting accompanying a German offensive along the northern part of the western front since Monday already has cost the nazis more than 5,000 casualties, French sources estimated today.

The French said their own losses were slight as their troops fell back to previously prepared positions and met the advancing Germans with heavy blasts of artillery fire.

Fighting parties from both sides fought a series of localized engagements during the night, the general staff reported. These actions were described as "ambushes and trench raids."

The general staff also noted "intense movement" of troops and materials behind the German lines. Military commentators said the See NAZI LOSSES, Pg. 7, Col. 6

POWDER PLANT BLAST IS FATAL TO FIVE

ELDRED, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—An explosion today shattered the explosive mixing plant of the National Powder company near here, killing at least five men.

Forty-five men were employed in buildings clustered about the gelatin pack plant where nitroglycerine is made, but a preliminary survey disclosed that no others had been injured.

All communication with the plant was cut off by lines of guards after the blast, but Justice of the Peace Jack Loftus said he understood the five victims had been working in the mixing plant, a stone structure.

COMMANDER AND MEN GET IRON CROSS

BERLIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today received Commander Prien and his submarine crew, credited with sinking the British battleship Royal Oak in Scapa Flow, naval base north of Scotland. He awarded Prien Germany's highest war decoration, the Grand Cross of the Iron Cross.

Thanks From Hitler The reception was the high point in a gala day in Berlin for the submarine men.

Meeting them in his private study, Hitler heartily shook hands with each man and thanked them in the name of the German nation.

Before the reception by Hitler the men were cheered by an enthusiastic rain-drenched crowd, as they paraded in open cars from Tempelhof airfield to the chancellery.

Hitler said the crew's achievement "strengthened the first German nation in the imperishable thrust in victory." He described their deed as the "proudest" which a submarine could accomplish.

After Prien related in detail his Scapa Flow experience, Hitler entertained the crew at a private dinner.

The crew's arrival by plane from an unnamed port which they reached yesterday followed the high command's announcement that the French were continuing to retreat from German soil and that 10 enemy planes had been shot down in the last two days.

Hitler had placed his personal plane "Grenzmark" at the disposal of the crew to bring them here.

Numerous officers of the navy, army and airforce had assembled at Tempelhof to greet the sea fighters. In a brief ceremony the chief of the submarine staff welcomed them.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

F. T. McCullom, Lamesa high school grid mentor, has had his troubles at the Dawson county school this fall what with only one of last year's regulars available for duty this had his troubles at the Dawson county school lately what it's a good bet that some outfit is going to be upset by the Tornados before the season is out.

fall but he's done pretty well with the material on hand and ley, J. W. Anderson, Skeet Norrett and F. M. Mitchell, who gave the Longhorns fits in last year's battle.

Gene are six of the seven regular linemen. L. Holliday, a 175-pound wing, is the only first stringer who returned for duty.

McCullom saw most of his power and his weight disappear, in its place has substituted a tricky aerial game that the Bovines must cope with here Friday night. If they can stop the Tornado overhead game, then they can expect to win. If not, then they're in for trouble.

Chief gunner is Jackie Vaughn, a versatile athlete who is reported to care little for the game but who undoubtedly is McCullom's best back. Vaughn weighs in the neighborhood of 170 pounds and is said to be the top passer in the district. He worked with accustomed success against Odessa last week and almost swung the decision in his team's favor.

He must be watched.

Of the 200-odd colleges in the United States which sponsored football teams that gained national recognition last fall, more than 20 of them had eleven which lost more games than they won.

Included in that number were such institutions as Illinois, Iowa State, Kentucky, Kansas, Lehigh, Loyola of the South, Maine, Maryland, Marquette, Mercer, Montana State, Nebraska, Mississippi State, Nevada, North Carolina State, Oglethorpe, Oklahoma A. and M., Auburn, Arkansas, Boston University, Chicago, Colorado State, Columbia, Duquesne, Florida, Georgia Tech, Gonzaga, Oregon, Penn State, Rice, Princeton, Stanford, Temple, Texas, Tulsa, Washington, Washington State, Wyoming and Yale.

Only college of any importance which failed to win a game was little Ursinus of Collegeville, Pa., which in eight starts tied one and lost seven.

And what a difference this season in the Grizzlies, as that eleven is known. The outfit that scored only 30 points against 204 for the opposition is still having trouble in crossing the goal line, has not yet scored a touchdown but has won two of its three games, defeating Delaware, 8-0, and Penn Military, 4-0.

Most successful "about-face" of the school teams is that executed by Duquesne which in three starts to date has won as many victories, has not even been scored upon.

Others of the 1938 "orphan" teams enjoying perfect records are Penn State, twice winner, Loyola of the South, victorious in three games, Kentucky, unbeaten and untied in three games and Georgia Tech, which has won two games.

And here's a record for consistency: Ray Morrison's Vanderbilt Commodores have won only one of four games this season but in each has scored 13 points.

The Nashville team in its opener tied Tennessee Poly, 13-13, won from Rice, 13-12, then lost to Kentucky, 13-21, and to Georgia Tech, 13-20.

Walters Learns Another Sport

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18 (AP)—William (Bucky) Walters, the National League's most valuable player—an honor "which surpassed my fondest dream"—is learning another sport from the man who transformed him from an infielder into one of baseball's outstanding pitchers.

The Cincinnati hurler learned of his selection by the Baseball Writers' association as he helped Jimmy Wilson, his coach and former manager, repair Wilson's boat in preparation for the duck-hunting season.

"Jimmy was responsible for my success on the mound and now he's going to show me how to shoot ducks," said the 29-year-old right hander.

NEW CONTINENTAL COURSE TO BE THE SCENE OF FORSAN'S INVITATIONAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

East, Midwest Lead In Intersectional Football Warfare

Eastern Loop Has Excellent Win Record

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Despite the strength shown by Southeastern conference teams this season, the east and midwest still rank as the two major divisions of the football map.

On the basis of some 50 "major" intersectional tilts played so far, the mid-western sector ranks first with 12 victories and seven defeats and the east is practically even with 13 games won and nine lost.

This ranking is based upon games between teams of approximately equal importance in their respective sectors, although some "stunts" that came close to producing upsets are included while many borderline games between teams that are close together geographically have been tossed out.

The mid-westerners, particularly Big Six conference clubs, fattened their winning average largely at the expense of rivals from the Rocky Mountain region.

Taking the Southeastern conference apart from other southern teams, however, the record shows seven victories over strong rivals in the east and southwest against three defeats. These were Georgia Tech's 17-14 loss to Notre Dame; Georgia's 13-0 loss to Holy Cross and the 12-0 defeat Texas inflicted upon Florida.

Balanced against this, Fordham has fallen before two southeastern teams, Alabama and Tulane, and Rice has been beaten by Vanderbilt and Louisiana State. Other victors include Holy Cross, trounced 20-7 by L. S. U., Boston College, which lost to Florida, and Arkansas, beaten by Mississippi State.

Most of the victims of the big eastern teams have been the lesser lights of the Southern conference, but the two mighty members of that loop have upheld its prestige very well. Duke walloped Colgate and lost by only one point to Pittsburgh while North Carolina conquered New York U.

The Southwest conference, always a tough league to figure out, has a record of six wins and seven losses in major intersectional games—or eight victories counting a couple of thumpings handed to Centenary, which plays frequently in that region and in the past usually has made things tough for the big teams.

With the aid of New Mexico and St. Mary's of San Antonio, the count for the entire southwestern region, not including such major Oklahoma teams as play in mid-western circuits, comes to ten victories and as many defeats.

Cub Leaders Reach New Understanding

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—There may be a silver lining yet in the clouded baseball affairs of Owner Phil Wrigley and the Chicago Cubs. Wrigley and Manager Gabby Hartnett, it seems, finally have come to an understanding.

"What I have been hoping for—and I haven't been issuing any demands—is a closer knit organization," Wrigley explained.

"Hartnett apparently did not understand this. I think he does now."

SCRIBE PICKS AGGIES, HOGS, BAYLOR AND SMU AS WINNERS

By FELIX B. MCKNIGHT DALLAS, Oct. 18 (AP)—Grid guesses for Saturday: The Texas Aggies to barely beat Texas Christian... Arkansas to beat Texas, possibly by the Steers' usual failure to get the extra point... Baylor to "upset" Nebraska... Southern Methodist, still trying to kick that tying point against Notre Dame, to squeak past Marquette... Rice to smother Sam Houston Teachers, a game that could be significant if Rice power starts clicking, even against a minor league.

Guest stars on post mortems: Amos Melton, Fort Worth Star-Telegram: "Frankly, the Villanovas were highly overrated... They were supposed to have devastating speed, blocking and tackling... But many a Texas high school team had better fundamentals than Villanova showed... They came out of the huddle with a fine dash and show, put on their Notre Dame shift with a flutter of hands and arms, and then collapsed completely when the ball was snapped... The stumpy Villanova backfield displayed not even fundamental ability at throwing and catching a football."

Betty Jameson Wins First Duel At Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18 (AP)—National Champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio met Mrs. A. F. Tuttlebees of San Antonio in the second round of the Texas Women's open golf tournament here today.

The medalist, Mrs. Helen Hicks Harb of Long Island, drew Miss Jo Henson of Paris.

Miss Jameson yesterday shot close to men's par in taking out Mrs. Vincent Hoechst of Dallas 8-6 while Mrs. Harb downed Mrs. Virginia Ratledge 8-7.

Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, former state and Southern champion, and Phyllis Buchanan of Denver, many times Colorado State title, clashed in one of the features of the second round.

Mrs. Goldthwaite defeated Mrs. P. K. French of Fort Worth 6-4 and Miss Buchanan downed Mrs. Henry Bacon of Fort Worth 5-4 in the opening round.

Other matches today: Jane Cochran, Greenville, S. C., vs. Mrs. F. C. Rochon, Fort Worth; Kathryn Hemphill, Greensboro, S. C., vs. Mrs. W. H. Almsworth, Houston; Mrs. Dan Chandler, Dallas, vs. Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth; Elizabeth Hicks, Long Beach, Calif., vs. Katherine Pearson, Houston; Mrs. E. R. Hury, San Antonio, vs. Mrs. Frank Jones, Dallas.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIEZZ NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—The guest referee idea has begun to hit the skids—too many sour decisions... Watch out for Al Reba, Michigan City, Ind., featherweight (30 wins in 31 fights) who is all set to crash the big time... Eastern papers are nominating Parker Hall, ex-U. of Mississippi star, now with the Cleveland Rams, as pro-football's savior of the year.

There won't be a harder fought football game this week than Alabama vs. Tennessee at Knoxville... And if we could get in, there's no place we'd rather be... Four stars to Clark Griffith for signing Stan Harris again and four more to Frank Frisch for rehiring old Honus Wagner.

Ding! Amateur Hour Morris Katz, Houston Texas: "It is talked here that if the arms embargo is lifted, England will purchase the New York Yanks... Please check."

Today's Guest Star Dick Freeman, Houston Chronicle: Most forlorn flures in last week's football parade were Cecil Grigg and Bill Wallace, Rice soots... They went all the way to New Orleans to tab Fordham's past defense... Tulane didn't throw one all afternoon."

Jinx Tucker, Waco News-Tribune: "The fierce Baylor blocking, the best blocking exhibited by a Baylor team in Marley Jennings' regime, cleared the path against Arkansas... Not only was Jack Wilson's running superb, but his defensive play brilliant and his down-field blocking absolutely sensational... They said Baylor could never replace Billy Patterson... Perhaps one man has not repented him, but two men have... They are Jimmy Witt and Jack Wilson."

HUMBLE LAYOUT IS NO LONGER EMPLOYED

Forsan's annual Invitational Golf tournament, a one day meeting slated to be staged Sunday, Oct. 22, will be played over the new Continental course near Ross City, Blacky Hines, a member of the committee sponsoring the tourney, advised The Herald today.

The previous meetings have been staged over the old Humble course, which was recently abandoned.

Hines said that the committee had decided to extend the deadline on qualifying to Friday, giving the late shooters two extra days to post their scores.

Players who intend to enter the meeting can qualify over any West Texas course but must deposit their $1 entrance fee and score with the tournament committee by Friday evening.

Pairings for first round matches will be drawn up Saturday. A record field is expected to participate. Sixty competed in the spring meeting. A total of 38 entrants had paid their fees this morning.

Hines said the barbecue, which would be free to all entrants, would be staged at Ross City.

TAX INCREASE IS OPPOSED BY TEXAS MANUFACTURERS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Texas State Manufacturers association was on record today as opposing any further increase in state taxes for any purpose whatsoever and falling for a "workable, intelligent and suitable tax system."

The association closed its convention yesterday by electing W. C. Trout of Lufkin president. The 1940 convention city will be selected in February from among Dallas, Houston and Temple.

Bears, The 'Scoringest' Grid Team, Await New York Test

Champions Boast Best Defense In Circuit

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—The superlatives are flowing freely in these parts about the offensive brilliance of the Chicago Bears, but Owner George Halas is one person having and wanting no part in this flood of adjectives.

George is waiting at least until his boys tangle Sunday with the New York Giants, who are only champions of the league.

The Giants not only won the title last season, but in four games this fall are undefeated and have the best defensive record in the circuit. New York has averaged only 13 points a game, but Steve Owen's seasoned outfit has held the opposition to a meager five points a game.

So it's easy to see why Halas is holding his tongue while self-appointed experts call this year's team the finest Bear eleven in history.

The Bears, unlike the experienced Giant cast, are riding along a half game behind Detroit in the western division on the sparkling play of a bunch of rookies. Sid Luckman, Billy Patterson, Bob MacLeod and Bill Gumanaki, brilliant performers only a year away from Columbia, Baylor, Dartmouth and Holy Cross, respectively, are coming through in sensational style for Halas.

The Bears are the "scoringest" team in the league, having rolled up 157 points in five games, an average of 31 plus points per game. The opposition has averaged 14 points a game.

We even "PEEN" the Springs!

The model illustrated is the Buick Super model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

ONE little thing will illustrate the unsparring care we're spending to make this 1940 Buick the best car we've ever built.

Such a scratch conceivably might start a fracture. So we shot-blast our springs — to heal such tiny scratches, "peening" the surface in miniature like hammered silver.

Take the springs — not simply the great soft-action spirals that cushion the car, but even the valve springs.

After they're shaped and tempered and finished there's likely to be here and there a tiny scratch on the surface of the steel.

For example, we used to balance by weight all sets of parts in our tornadic Dynaflex straight-eight engine, to cancel out even a hint of "rough."

We do that still, but now we do more. On special machines we electrically balance this great engine to microprecise perfection after assembly, paring metal if need be to smooth its velocity to velvet.

Seat angles, pedal positions, shock absorber travel-arc, brake areas, control tensions — every detail comes under special study.

When the experimental models had done their stuff on the General Motors proving ground, we turned 'em over to sharpshooters to punish, over thousands of miles of bad roads and good.

Out of it all comes an automobile we're mighty proud to offer — an unbeatable travelmate you will be thrilled to own.

Come drive it — see how excitingly close steel and rubber and glass can come to being alive!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich.*

THE AESTHETE

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

Chapter Eight Michael Tells All. "Come in, Tuck," Michael said. "Pretty smart guy, whoever he is. That clatter warned him. He shut the door behind him, picked the key from the floor and turned the lock."

The smaller of the two big rugs was hung over the glass doors that led to the dining room. The blinds on every window were drawn close and the Indian blanket from the couch was lying on the floor as if it had been hung over the panes of the long glass door which led to the sun porch.

"He certainly wasn't taking any chances on being seen," she decided. Michael was surveying the room minutely.

"Now what the devil do you suppose he was after?" he said wonderingly. "There isn't anything in the place worth stealing."

"Hidden passages," Tuck said lightly. A sudden thought had struck her, but she was not letting Michael know all she knew. "Secret rooms," she repeated.

At the moment another tap sounded sharply, and Tuck, for all his nonchalance, jumped. Michael grinned at her. "It's Bunny. He said, and shot the bolt on the dining room door. Bunny was rapping on the door to the kitchen, and saying 'Let me in, you two! This door's locked.'"

Michael turned the key and opened the door. Bunny, calm and unruffled, stood there with her hands in the pockets of her black silk dressing gown.

"What's up?" she asked coolly. "A party? Or are they chattering us? I heard pots and pans banging."

"Burglars," Michael said briefly. "Oh, well, well. Where's Tuck?" "Surveying the ruins."

With lifted eyebrows Bunny stalked through the dining room and looked into the disordered study. "What was burgled?" she asked Tuck. "Do we keep the family diamonds in here?"

"It's true, Bunny, honestly," Tuck told her. "There was somebody in here. We heard them tapping on the walls."

"But whatever for, Michael?" Bunny's face expressed the sincerest amazement.

"I really didn't inquire," Michael told her. "It certainly is beyond me. I don't understand it at all."

Tuck looked at him scornfully. "Isn't that funny," she said. "You really ought to have things better arranged. Imagine not being able to understand it!"

Bunny laughed suddenly. "You know what I think," she said calmly. "I think it's about time you stopped being mysterious, Michael. Tuck's getting cross. And, if you really don't understand this burglary, maybe you could use a little help in unraveling your little problem. The Problem of the Missing Professor."

Michael swallowed. "How in the devil did you ferret out this business of a Missing Professor? Nobody knows he's missing. Not a soul. Not his most intimate friends."

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—There is much good-natured chatter about the extent of Senator "Happy" Chandler's statesmanship but he can be cited as a man who made the most of a college education.

He is a one-man charm school. We have never run into more than a half-dozen persons who know him who did not close their remarks something to this effect:

In spite of all that, I like him personally. He belongs to the flashing-grin school of politicians. The group was easily headed by Paul V. McNutt until Chandler here into town.

Our information is that Chandler spent something close to seven years in college in Kentucky. In that time he may have skipped over calculus and freshman economics, but he didn't miss a bet when it came to making friends.

15 YEARS LATER. He took the usual four years at Transylvania, a historic seat of learning turned sectarian some years ago, then soaked up law at Kentucky university. Never a freshman class came in nor a senior class went out during the time he was at that Chandler knowing—we have this from good sources—practically every member.

His memory for names and faces is phenomenal. Postmaster General Farley is equally apt at it, and perhaps superior. He has had a longer time to practice. But if "Happy" doesn't waste away his political talents in a frantic pursuit of the presidency, he will make somebody sometime a grand traveling advocate, either as national chairman or postmaster general.

Here is a sample. A student from a rival school met Chandler fairly often at Lexington, where Transylvania is situated. Later the fellow became a reporter, grew a moustache, acquired poise and polish from foreign travels, and came back to encounter Chandler at a national convention 15 years later.

He not only called the fellow's name but teased him about some forgotten college frivolity. Moreover, Mrs. Chandler, who does well enough at the business, had learned something about the reporter's old college sweetheart, who didn't become his wife.

HE LIKES IT. The thing sort of stalls you. Most practicing politicians work at it, but once away from the mob they don't hide their distaste of such a way of making a living.

In Lexington as a college man he used to spend his afternoon hours standing in front of the old Lexington drug store, mitting his friends and buying nickel drinks for acquaintances. Offhand we can't name a single college course that can promise more returns.

Mrs. Chandler, a Richmond girl, is widely credited with giving direction to the bubbling talents of the master mixer. Kentuckians have it that she piloted him into politics where a knack for remembering 10,000 names and faces can be turned into a retailable property.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—Several crowned heads of Hollywood may be feeling the boxoffice ax in the next "election."

The popularity leaders—determined by the Motion Picture Herald in its annual poll of American independent exhibitors—stand to be shuffled as the returns on an October-to-October exhibition year start coming in.

What of Shirley Temple, for years the No. 1 star in boxoffice draw? There's no sure way of telling, but there's room for doubt that the queen of the screen can hold her ground against the competition of such an upstart as Mickey Rooney. Shirley had three releases in the balloting year: "Just Around the Corner," "The Little Princess," and "Suzannah of the Mounties." You can draw your own conclusions.

The Rooney kid, surging up with "Boys Town" and riding high with the Hardy family, with "Huck Finn" thrown in, stands a good chance to topple Temple. He was a fourth last year.

The 1938 leaders were, in this order: Shirley Temple, Clark Gable, Sonja Henie, Mickey Rooney, Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Myrna Loy, Jane Withers, Alice Faye and Tyrone Power.

Gable spent the year practically on "Gone With the Wind." Aside from that, he had "Too Hot To Handle" and "Idiot's Delight" in general release. Looks like a notch or two down.

Henie will stay among the elect, with "Lucky Star" and "Second Fiddle," but she oughtn't to climb any higher than third, may have trouble keeping that spot.

Tracy, with "Boys Town" and the more recent "Stanley and Livingstone" among his bids, ought to climb. For Taylor, the matinee kid, the prospects aren't so good. What's he had? "The Crowd Roars," "Stand Up and Fight," "Lucky Night," and "Lady of the Tropics." Well, he might pull through, but he had two heavy burdens to haul in "Lucky Night" and "Lady of the Tropics."

Myrna Loy is even more doubtful. "Too Hot To Handle," followed by "Lucky Night" and "The Rains Came"—the last-named her strongest film, and probably too late to count in many spots.

Jane Withers ought to hold up, but Alice Faye is a question-mark. Her new "Hollywood Cavalcade" comes rather late.

But Tyrone Power—ah, there's the fair-haired boy. Starred in "Jesse James," which was last season's top picture financially. Tyrone is a sure thing.

To take the places of any stars who may be dislodged, the "dark horses" are champing at the bit. They are, notably, Bette Davis, with "Dark Victory" and "The Old Maid," both high grossers; Errol Flynn, whose "Dodge City" was a big one; Robert Donat, by virtue of "Goodbye Mr. Chips"; Ginger Rogers because of "The Castles," "Bachelor Mother" and "Fifth Avenue Girl." Deanna Durbin can't be counted out, either. "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" did phenomenal business.

If Bette Davis gets in, things will have come to a pretty pass in pictures—because the "top ten" list would include two of Hollywood's top-ranking performers; performers, I mean, as distinguished from "personalities."

Old Coins Owned By J. R. Copeland

Money—it's necessary and handy—but when it has a history and dates back to 1853 and 1864 it's important.

Belonging to J. R. Copeland is a three-cent piece dated 1853 which was given to him by a Mrs. McNall of Pike county, Tenn. and which he wore about his neck when he was a baby.

Another relic that is proud to possess is a 25-cent paper bill. This is dated 1864 and is about one-third the size of the present dollar bill.

Just how he happened to have this particular piece of money isn't clear to Mr. Copeland but he knows he has had it for many years.

Then a newer piece of wampum but one with even a more intricate history is the $5 gold piece that he owns. This coin he gave to his father-in-law as a good luck piece.

It is dated 1906 and is a little larger than a nickel. When his father-in-law died, the piece was passed on to the deceased's wife and when her death occurred, Mr. Copeland found among her effects the same $5 gold piece in an old purse. Both the purse and the gold piece haven't left his hands since.

Illinois Governor Says State Needs Oil Control Law

TULSA, Oct. 18 (AP)—The oil industry moved along with quiet optimism today with most attention being paid to proposed legislation.

In Illinois, Gov. Henry Horner came out for conservation laws, pointing to the fact that most other oil producing states have such legislation.

"We need production control that will really be conservation," he said. "Some oil men say they favor conservation but not proration, and I'd like to know the difference."

Demand for crude was reported good with prices firm. One trade official noted that tank car prices of gasoline now are six per cent higher than last year, while present crude prices are 12 per cent below the previous year.

Crude production for the week was up, as were runs to stills, gasoline and distillate stocks. In New York City, some grades of fuel oil prices were advanced a quarter cent a gallon.

A production boom appeared in the making at Yazoo City, Miss., after the second well found pay in the Finley field. Two more wells are drilling in the area and plans for additional ones have been announced.

Leasing activities were reported.

MEXICO TO BACK NEW INDUSTRIES

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—To encourage industrial development, the government announced today preliminary plans for establishment of a $50 million peso ($10,000,000 U. S.) fund to help finance such enterprises.

The idea was advocated by the federal commission on economic coordination, which said it would be submitted to congress after approval by President Cardenas. Details were not announced.

Ten Pin Tales

By JAKE DOUGLASS

In the October issue of the bowlers Journal, I ran across an article entitled "Milady Bowler" that would be good for each of the local fans to read and heed. There is an illustrated lesson given to Ann Morris by Ned Day, National Match-game champion. Ned recently teamed with Andy Varipapa in the film "Set 'em Up," filmed by M.G.M.

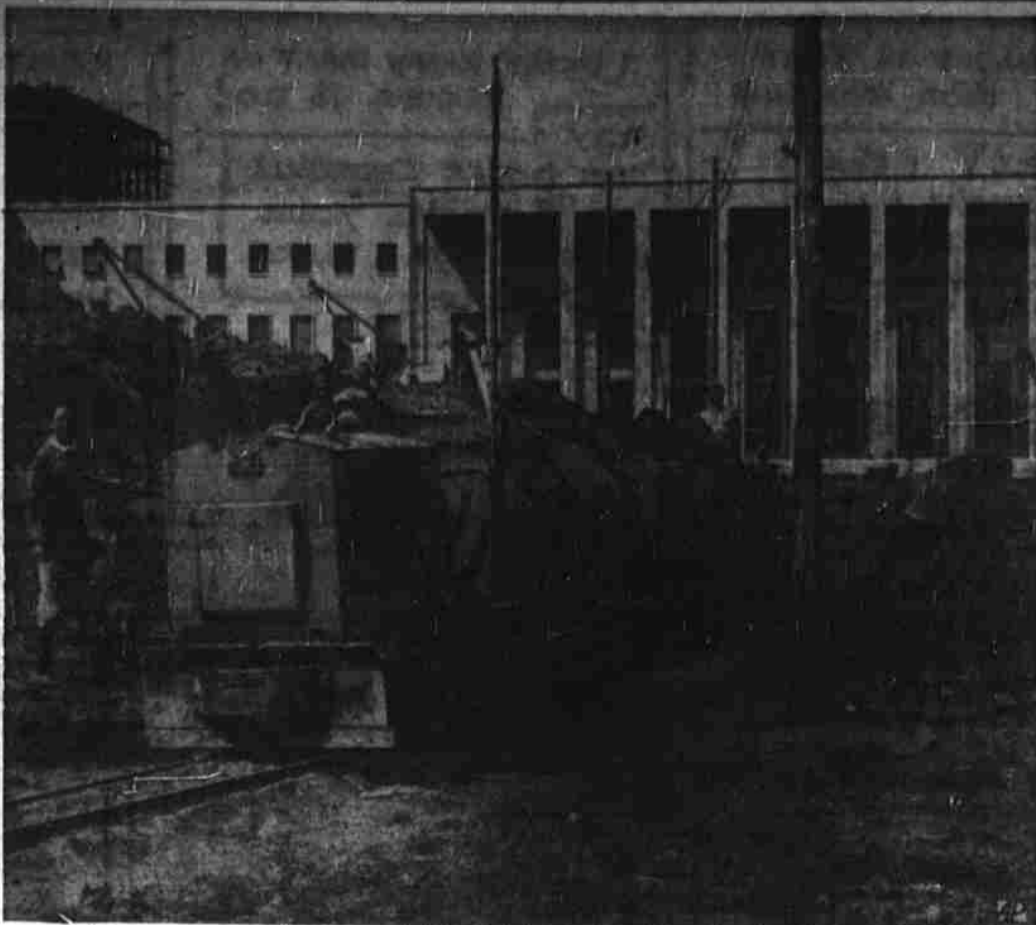

Bowling seems to be a hard game from the spectator's point of view but in reality it's easy to learn to bowl. It does not require a lot of an excessive amount of strength, but rather it is a matter of form, finesse, and timing. It does, however, require instruction and practice to become a better than average bowler.

Every woman bowler will soon realize the first purchase she should make should be a pair of bowling shoes. Veteran performers will tell you that in footwork is between eighty and ninety percent of the route to a higher average. The shoes are so constructed as to be stylish as well as efficient in every way. Therefore the right handed bowler's shoes are made with the left sole of leather for sliding and the right of rubber to facilitate stopping and regulating sliding distance, of course "portoliders" are just the opposite.

The local men's teams are sanctioned by the A.B.C. that is the American Bowling Congress. This entitles them to bowl in any and all A.B.C. sanctioned tournaments.

Why don't the local ladies get together and get their group sanctioned by the W.L.B.C.? This is the Women's International Bowling Congress and then they could enjoy the same privileges as their male friends, there is to be a women's tournament in San Antonio in the near future and it will cost but fifty cents per person for each, or any team, to become affiliated and thus be able to compete in a big tournament close to home. If they wanted to, they too could sponsor a tournament right here in Big Spring later on. If any of the ladies are interested in this move, I would be glad to send for sanction blanks and secure any additional information that they need regarding W.L.B.C.

Well, another week of the local West Texas Bowling tournament is history, and what a chapter it did write. Hardly had my typewriter become silent last Monday, when the news came to me that a new high had been set at the local Kogler den. The Big Spring team of Ward Hall, Rat Ramsey, J. C. Loper, Stanley Wheeler, and Harry Hoekendorf dethroned the leaders from San Antonio with a startling 2809 pin three game series. This was some thirty nine pins higher than the Alamo club compiled. Malone of San Antonio was still holding the singles lead of 631-an dalso had high tournament game of 268. Loper of Big Spring had a 258-652 series with the Casadana team to have the highest three game series of the tournament. The San Antonio duo of Penhorn and Behrens is high in Class A Doubles with 1187, the Class B duo of Kountz and Richards of Big Spring are seemingly set for first place at 1168. Rat Ramsey, Big Spring, is still holding the high post in Class B single at 550. He also leads all events with 1735, nearly a hundred pins above his nearest opponent. Trustee, the bowling newspaperman of San Antonio, is high in A with 1786. Miller's Beer of Big Spring is still the class in B teams with only 2693.

Although scores of 240 and 250 fell thick and fast over the weekend, they were not strong enough. Even Malone's score of 286 during the summer, Loper got this week. Last night Hiram Brimberry threw ten perfect balls, spaced in the first frame on a good hit, threw nine strikes and got an eight pin spare for a fine 279 score. This is the second highest score shot here this year. J. C. Loper getting a ten strike 286 during th summer, Loper got his 300 last fall. Incidentally, I hope Hiram can hit Deer as well as he can the Brooklyn pocket.

I made reference in a column last week to "the screw-ball throwers" from San Antonio, it was in print as "eccentric bowlers," that may be so, but the way they made those balls cut di-do's going down the pines, proved that although they often cut up off the alleys they were putting plenty of "stuff" on the ball, too; hence they are called "hook" ball or "screw" ball throwers.

We are to have another good group of bowlers here next weekend, watch this space for announcements.

NAVY HAS 3 BIG AERIAL GUNS PRIMED FOR NOTRE DAME GAME

By JOHN S. GROVER

ANNAPOLES, Md., Oct. 18.—"You may fire when ready, Gridley," Maj. Emery E. (Swede) Larson, Navy football coach, has swiped Admiral George Dewey's Immorran, handle the airmail chores for the Middles.

Best passer on the squad is Bob Leonard, from down Texas way where the kids start with a football while they're sitting up in their cribs. Leonard tosses "floaters" that the ends say can be gathered in like picking apples. His stuff travels sharp and fast, but the receivers swear it comes in on a platter.

Wood, known chiefly for his power running, has blossomed as a chucker and punter in his last year. One of his boots traveled 72 yards in the air for a 92-yard gain in the William and Mary game. His passes are chiefly close-range whizzers. Everett Malcolm, the other rookie, is a southpaw passer, and the Swede has developed a series of plays that utilize his port wing.

Malcolm and Leonard are better than average runners. Leonard, particularly, sparkled in the early games. Wood is the outstanding ground talent on the team, along with Wes Gebert, a Seattle rookie.

Wood has been having trouble with his receivers. Monty Whitehead, back, and Swede Hansen, end, were out of the first two games with injuries, and are the best snaggers on the squad. Frenchy Durette, a New Hampshire boy, isn't a sure thing yet.

Navy has a huge team, far larger than the squads that usually rely on the aerial game. But the fire-at-will stuff worked fine for Dewey at Manila, and Larson's range-finders are sticking to the overhead barrage until something better comes along.

Notre Dame, where the forward pass was perfected as an offensive threat, will see her 'pet weapon' turned against her when the two top-flight eleven's tangle at Cleveland, Oct. 21, because the big marine loves to see the football fly.

Larson has the passers this year, three who can toss 'em from hither to yon with accuracy and dispatch. Two rookies and Emmett (Punkin) Wood, a vet-

Louis Looks To Retirement

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—When Joe Louis has made the final defense of his heavyweight title (probably next summer) and retired as the only undefeated negro champion in ring history, the brown bomber will settle down as proprietor of his own swank riding club and eating establishment near Detroit.

It's all mapped out for Joe by his co-managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough.

For the last six months, our informant says, Roxborough and Black have been giving more thought to the champion's future than to making his matches and supervising his training. They are certain he can retire undefeated next year, but they are intensely interested in seeing that Joe remains a credit to the negro race after he has hung up the red mittens.

The riding academy and eatery for members of Detroit's colored upper-crust is the idea they finally have decided upon.

Like the other members of their race—but even more so—Black and Roxborough feel an inordinate pride in Louis, not alone for his accomplishments inside the ring, but for his conduct outside the ropes. They are fiercely determined that there shall be no slight blemish on Joe's record.

For some time after they took over Joe's contract, Black and Roxborough allowed him exactly $5 spending money each week. Since he got up into the big money and took himself a wife they have been somewhat more liberal with Joe's money, but they still keep a steady hand on his change pocket. He will have the better part of a million dollars, clear, when John and Julian decide it's time for him to quit fighting.

TYPHOID OUTBREAK IS UNDER CONTROL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18 (AP)—Dr. George F. Johnson, deputy superintendent of health in Providence, said today an outbreak of typhoid among students and other persons connected with the football team at Providence college appeared to be under control.

"We hope this is the end of it," he added.

TO BUY TANKERS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Mexican government petroleum agency was reported in informed quarters today to have started negotiations to purchase two German tankers which took refuge in Mexican waters at the outbreak of the war. They are the Emmy Friedrich, 4,326 tons, and the Tine Asmusen, 5,795 tons.

Fred Perry in Serious Bid For Title

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 18 (AP)—Fred Perry wants it clearly understood he's the man to beat in the current national professional tennis tournament.

Perry polished off Billy Doeg of San Francisco, one of the Pacific Coast's best, by a 6-1, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 score yesterday to launch the defense of his title.

Lester Stofen of Palm Springs, Calif., eliminated Bernis Coghlan of Santa Monica, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4. Ellsworth Vines had little trouble trimming Ken Napier of Seattle, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Outstanding matches on today's schedule included Bruce Barnes,

810 LOST ON SHIP

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The admiralty issued revised figures today on the sinking of the battleship Royal Oak Saturday, showing 810 men lost and 424 survivors.

The figures showed 21 officers and 788 men went down. Survivors included 57 officers and 367 men.

These totals exceeded slightly the previous estimates.

90 DEADLY HOURS OF WINTER

... wiped out by OIL-PLATING your engine now

It may be hard indeed to believe that a common thing like starting your engine in Winter can cripple it badly. All the ragged slow starting that sticks in your mind might still not loom large until you figure that it takes only 6 or 8 daily cold starts, averaging little more than 5 minutes each, to give your engine 90 hours of Winter's worst . . . Or else today give your engine OIL-PLATING!

When patented Conoco Germ Processed oil goes in to give your engine OIL-PLATING, the deadliest 90 hours of Winter are out!

working parts. And OIL-PLATING does NOT. The action of the Germ Process fastens OIL-PLATING lastingly, all the way up to the cylinder head. OIL-PLATING fastens as firmly as the chrome-plating on the bumpers.

The bumpers don't lose their protective chrome-plating while you've parked at a Winter night's party or near your Winter day's work. Neither do the engine parts lose their protective OIL-PLATING. Before you're even tucking in your scarf your engine is ready-lubricated to roll right over and live! Then your battery lives, too. And talk about OIL-PLATING staying up lastingly; so does your oil-level. Change today to Your Mileage Merchant's for your correct Winter grade of Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

How do you know? . . . Just take 90 moments to consider OIL-PLATING vs. oils that can only "flow fast." Such oils, whenever you stop the engine, go flowing down off the to Bordeaux, France, arriving there tomorrow.

Meanwhile, two U. S. coast guard cutters sped to the aid of two other ships in distress on the storm-tossed North Atlantic—the 18,800-ton American liner President Harding and the 3,800-ton British steamer Blairlogh.

The President Harding, bound for New York carrying American passengers from the war zones, radioed for supplies to treat "many seriously injured in heavy weather."

En route to the liner's position 300 miles south of St. John's Nfld., the coast guard cutter Hamilton reported intercepting an SOS appeal for immediate assistance from the 3,700-ton Blairlogh, 160 miles south of St. John's. No details were given.

Coast guard headquarters at New York said the Hamilton, although some miles closer to the Blairlogh, would continue on its course to meet the President Harding.

A second cutter, the Duane, was ordered to the assistance of the British vessel.

The message from the President Harding asked for medicines "for sprains and fracture supplies," and for a cutter to "remove injured—no seriously burned."

The 13,869-ton liner hove to early today about 800 miles from Boston. Coastguard headquarters at Boston reported that injuries suffered aboard the storm-tossed ship included broken legs, broken ankles, broken arms and broken backs. The number of persons injured was not learned.

HISTORY OF LIONS CLUB IS RELATED

Background and early history of the Big Spring Lions club was sketched before the club Wednesday noon in a program arranged by Ray W. Ogden's Lions' education committee.

Judge Cecil C. Collins, first president of the club, told how it was organized by the San Angelo unit, of its early officers, something of its struggles and growth.

In addition, the club heard a suggestion for raising funds for Christmas convalescents at the hands of C. J. Stapples. His proposal was taken under advisement.

Guests for the day were D. H. Loring, San Antonio, Bob Rives, and W. G. MacKemie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hefley have as their guest his sister, Mrs. J. B. Rector, Shreveport, La., whom he has not seen in five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, formerly of Big Spring and now residents of California, are here for a brief visit.

Recognition of the fact that President Roosevelt sent a note a week ago to M. Kallinin, Soviet president, voicing a hope that the Soviet Union would make no demands on Finland "inconsistent with the maintenance and development of amicable and peaceful relations" between Finland and the Soviet Republic or inconsistent with the independence of each.

The chief executive told the king of Sweden that the conference, called when tension between Soviet Russia and Finland seemed capable of leading to war, "will be followed with deep interest by the government and people of the United States."

Similar messages were sent by the governments of the 20 other American republics. The action was regarded as one of the first fruits of the recent Panama conference at which the American republics pledged themselves to adopt a complete neutrality position.

President Roosevelt's message marked his second attempt in a week to aid in preserving peace between Russia and Finland. His first was a message to President Kallinin of Russia, to which he received a reply yesterday.

day credits on purchases in this country.

On the senate floor, Senator Holt (D-W.Va.) a vigorous administration critic, opened debate with a charge that the Roosevelt administration "never had been neutral, never will be, and never intended to be."

The youthful West Virginian charged the entire state department policy for several years had been patterned to fit British demands. He read from published books by President Roosevelt, and by Raymond Moley, former assistant secretary of state.

Those works, Holt charged, demonstrated that the administration's policy was unneutral.

As the neutrality bill was drawn, American ships would be prohibited under severe penalty from carrying cargo or passengers to warring nations and their colonies in every section of the world.

Asserting that there was a "universal desire" to ease the ban without "substantial danger," to the lives of American seamen, Chairman Pittman (D-Ore.) asked a group of foreign relations committee members to consider a half dozen amendments.

Previously, Pittman had moved to quell opposition by proposing elimination of the provision permitting 90-day credits for biller-credit purchases in this country.

Thus the bill becomes a strict "cash and carry" measure.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), who wants all American shipping in the Pacific exempted from the "carry" prohibition, said if the modification of the shipping clauses gave the president discretion to define the exempted zones, there was bound to be a fight.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the majority leader, predicted a final vote on the administration bill "sometime next week" and passage by a good margin.

problem at present is to hold down the output to market requirements of three to four million barrels a day. One field, he said, could produce 15,000,000 barrels.

Seven states now in the oil compact will be increased to 10 shortly, the president was advised. The present members are Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado, Illinois, and Michigan. Holloway said California, Arkansas and Louisiana had passed state laws and probably would come into the compact at the first of the year.

Asked whether he believed there would be any agitation in the coming regular congressional session for legislation providing partial federal regulation of the oil industry, Thompson replied: "I don't think so."

The raid, it was added, resulted in a bomb hit on "an older English battleship" (the Iron Duke).

The German press declared that Britain would continue to be the objective of German attacks by plane and submarine.

Rejoicing and pride over the accomplishments of submarines and the air force in inflicting losses upon Germany's "chief enemy" dominated the newspapers.

Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, commenting on the fact that a submarine had gone straight into "Horn's den"—the British naval base at Scapa Flow—declared that the spirit of Otto Wedemeyer, a World War submarine hero, animated present-day crews of the undersea boats.

"And in this spirit of attack," the newspaper said, "England will be given no rest. x x x Exactly as in Poland, the German war leadership knows how to strike upon military objects."

greatest activity during the night centered on a small wooded area southeast of Saarbruecken which the Germans tried to capture.

French machine-gunners forced the attackers to withdraw, they said.

French reports said their troops had voluntarily abandoned positions on German soil near the Borg Forest ad Perl, leaving only advance lookouts on Schneeberg Heights.

When the German advance reached that point, they said, these lookouts reported back to artillery units, which already had calculated the range and cut loose at once with their guns.

The German offensive along a 20-mile front east of the Saar River appeared to have been designed to break the French grip on the rich Saarland industrial region.

There was no official statement as to whether the French still claimed to dominate the Saar valley. Semi-official reports, however, which said the French still were fighting on German soil in this area, indicated they had not greatly relaxed their grip.

The exact line of the new French positions was not disclosed.

Behind their new line of defense, the French have drawn up heavy tanks in large numbers.

added to the book registering unforgettable U-boat deeds of the World war," he said. "You proved once again that the unbending will to destroy—on the sea—the enemy's military equipment."

The high command's communique said "numerous prisoners were taken" as advancing German troops occupied positions which the French gave up yesterday during the Moselle river and the Palatinat forest.

Seven enemy planes, of which two were British, were shot down over Germany territory by anti-aircraft fire and pursuit planes, the communique said. Three other British planes were reported down "in an airfight over British territory."

The communique also acknowledged that one German fighting plane had been brought down by anti-aircraft fire during the raid on the British naval base at Scapa Flow yesterday.

The raid, it was added, resulted in a bomb hit on "an older English battleship" (the Iron Duke).

Gallogly Extradition

corpus proceedings and expressed confidence Gallogly will "soon be back in a Georgia prison."

"Judging from the correspondence I have recently received there seems to be some good citizens of Texas and other states who have the mistaken idea that the governor, in extradition hearings, should decide the fugitive's guilt or innocence," Governor O'Daniel said.

"Without doubt the courts of our land are for that purpose, and the thing for the governor to decide is whether or not the fugitive should be returned to the state asking for his return.

"In this case I have shown every courtesy to the citizens of Georgia, and the state officials from that state, as well as to the fugitive himself. I have also granted every courtesy to attorneys and officers of our own state and have permitted both sides to take all the time they desired to present documentary evidence and testimony.

There is no doubt in my mind that Richard Gallogly forced two Georgia prison guards to abandon the car in which they were transporting him to the prison camp, and then used the prison guard's car in making his escape. Richard Gallogly under oath testified to these facts himself before me.

"His career and life's history prior to that crime may show some justice and some injustice, but it is not for me to decide those matters.

"In this case I am considering the question of granting the request of Governor Rivers of Georgia for Gallogly's return to that state.

"Surely all law-abiding citizens in Texas, Georgia or any other state would not want me to refuse extradition of a person who testified that he committed that crime, and thus encourage criminals to break away from their guards and flee across state lines to freedom. "I am therefore granting this extradition."

"Then, that's what they might have been after tonight," she went on in a queer tone. "Diamonds."

Michael looked about him. "Hardly, honey. Not in a prosaic sense in the twentieth century. I doubt if there are any diamonds. Only I'd like to know who wrote that letter."

"Well, Michael . . . if they weren't after diamonds, what were they after?"

Michael got up and went over to the big desk before he spoke. "Where did you find that pipe, Tuck?" he asked.

She went over beside him. The right hand side of the desk was a row of drawers. Above them,

As Gay As A Birthday Party Is Ritz Offering, 'Babes In Arms'

Birthday parties are gay things, and you've got to hand it to the Ritz theatre for brightening up the R&R 30th anniversary celebration this week with a delightful laugh-and-tune fest called "Babes In Arms," which shows through Thursday.

If you didn't know, the spontaneous Mickey Rooney and the lovable Judy Garland head a cast of outstanding juveniles. Mickey uncovers more tricks than even his mother must have suspected he had, and Judy does a grand job of entertainment, particularly in the way of singing. Betty Jaynes, Douglas McPhail, June Preisser and about 200 other youngsters contrive to make "Babes In Arms" a thoroughly delightful piece of film entertainment.

Besides acting, Mickey dances, sings, gives impersonations and plays the piano. Judy dances, too, and Betty and Douglas get their biggest opportunity and make the very best of it. June Preisser is a dancing sensation.

"Babes In Arms" is a story of the era in which vaudeville passed out of existence. As the sons and daughters of headliners out of work, the kids take things into their own hands when they are threatened with being sent to the state farm. They stage a show of their own hands when they are producer, and wind up in a big revue.

The musical score of Rodgers and Hart, who wrote the original Broadway success upon which the picture is based, is supplemented by several new numbers, notably "Good Morning," "My Daddy Was a Minstrel Man" and "Opera vs. Jazz." Busby Berkeley, who directed, has selected three eye and ear filling sequences, the "Babes in Arms" number, which is a stirring marching song in which 200 kids participate; the minstrel show sequence, in which many of the old hits are used, and the "God's Country" finale which has the flavor of a Berkeley spectacle. In the cast besides the kids are Charles Winninger, Guy Kibbee, Grace Hayes and Rand Brooks.

The picture has its share of reminders of the past, to make it fit very nicely with the theatre's "30-year" theme of the week. It tells of the passing of vaudeville in favor of talking pictures; and the old-time minstrel sequence stirs memories as Mickey impersonates the Eddie Leonard, celebrated minstrel of a quarter-century ago, with "I'da" and "Shine On, Harvest Moon." There are other old songs made "new" in the youngsters' film; but top ranking for a catchy number must go to "Good Morning."

The Ritz continues its birthday specialties with the screening of an antique flicker which has Mary Pickford, Lionel Barrymore and Henry B. Walthall in the cast, in roles as the public knew them many years ago. There was authentic atmosphere as the old timer was off-stage piano and provided by an off-stage piano and some tunes that were favorites when we all were younger.—BW.

Echoes On The War

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18 (AP)—Residents of Schiermonnikoog Island, off the north coast of the Netherlands, today reported a fight between unidentified planes and warships some distance outside Netherlands territorial waters.

Witnesses said six warships were attacked by 12 planes about 11 a. m. (4 a. m. CST).

The nationality of the participating craft could not be determined because of the distance from shore. It also was impossible to learn the outcome of the fight.

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A British government spokesman today gave official support to reports that Russia is being sending gold to Germany.

Sir Alfred Knox, conservative, asked in the house of commons whether the government's attention had been drawn "to the fact that a consignment, said to be the first consignment of 17 1/2 tons of gold, had been transferred by the Soviet government to Germany."

Foreign Affairs Undersecretary R. A. Butler replied: "Yes, sir, the foreign secretary has reason to believe that this report is not without foundation."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Germany's successful submarine attacks against British warships will be studied carefully by the house naval appropriations subcommittee in relation to the United States' huge naval building program, Chairman Scrugham (D-Nev) said.

MOSCOW, Oct. 18 (AP)—Soviet Russia turned today from her at least temporarily snagged negotiations with Turkey to preparations for a resumption of talks with Finland within the next few days.

After three weeks here with Turkish Minister Sukru Saracoglu left for home shortly after midnight. Bands blared and Soviet officials expressed formal best wishes for Turkey but still were without a Turkish-Russian pact.

French and British quarters appeared satisfied at the turn of events. It was reported they desired no rupture between the Russians and Turks for an open break might drive Russia into closer cooperation with Germany.

GLASGOW, Oct. 18 (AP)—Norman Donaldson of the Donaldson Line, owners of the sunken Athenia, today characterized as "tommyrot and absolute nonsense" an American's affidavit charging that the liner carried arms and was to have been outfitted as a raider.

Gustav A. Anderson of Evanston, Ill., a passenger on the Athenia when she was sunk Sept. 3, said in the affidavit, furnished yesterday to the United States department, that the chief officer told him there were 'plenty' of guns aboard.

PARIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—A forty-minute air raid warning sounded this morning in Lille, industrial city of northeastern France.

Warning sirens screamed at 11:45 a. m. (4:45 a. m. CST) and the all clear signal followed at 12:25.

No details of what caused the warning were learned here immediately.

DETROIT, Oct. 18 (AP)—An official of the Ford Motor Co. disclosed today that approximately 40 Russian engineers who have been studying American production methods in the Ford plant for several years had been informed by the management that they no longer will be permitted free access to the plant. No reason was given for the action.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The German advance along a twenty-mile front in the Saar region, and the spectacular if not very destructive Nazi bombing raids on the great British naval base at Scapa Flow, would seem to emphasize that Herr Hitler has come to the end of the passive resistance which he has been offering the allies while he has been dickering for peace.

However, there were aspects of yesterday's operations which give one to wonder. They were legitimate measures of offensive, but both on land and on sea they lacked the mighty punch which we have been led to expect.

The German attack in the Saar theatre was carried out on such large scale as to permit it to be designated as an "offensive." However, while there appears to have been a heavy artillery duel, the attack didn't involve hard infantry fighting. It was not a great battle. The operation consisted mainly of the German reoccupation of territory which the French had seized early in the war but recently abandoned.

The movement may signify preparations on the part of the Germans for a major offensive in this region. If the Nazis are contemplating a big drive they will have to get it started soon, for the winter weather is closing in and will render military operations extremely difficult.

The German air raids over the Scapa Flow naval base were carried out by just a few planes and not by the huge waves of bombers with which the Nazi military authorities have been threatening the allies.

It would almost seem that the Nazis were pulling rabbits out of the hat to astound the world, without intending to do much more than that. Had they employed the much advertised waves of planes in great numbers the story might have been different.

England Concerned Over U-Boat's Successful Exploit At Scapa Flow

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—British military experts today rated the submarine torpedo a more deadly weapon than Germany's air force. The loss of at least eight German planes in raids on two British naval bases in the last two days was declared to be out of all proportion to the small amount of damage said to have been inflicted on British warships.

But there was no attempt to conceal the concern caused by an enemy U-boat's exploit in penetrating the defenses of the famous Scapa Flow naval base last Saturday and sinking the battleship Royal Oak with a salvo of torpedoes.

The London Times called the sinking of the Royal Oak at anchor "a disturbing incident, providing grave matter for investigation of the naval court of inquiry which is now sitting."

The Daily Express bluntly said "the Scapa Flow affair is a disgrace. This disaster is inexcusable."

The Express added that Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, "cannot be blamed for it," explaining that "the naval defense plans must have been laid down years ago."

It said, "these plans should now be revised with energy and dispatch. And thank God Churchill is the man to make a good job of it."

Official communiques declared the German bombers in a series of raids yesterday failed to do any important damage to the Scapa Flow base in the Orkney islands.

One bomb slightly damaged the old battleship training vessel Iron Duke, it was said officially, and four enemy planes were said to have been brought down.

The air ministry announced that not more than half the 14 German planes which raided the Fifth of Forth Monday were believed to have returned to their bases.

TEXAS ENTRIES WIN AT HORSE SHOW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—Paris and Amarillo, Texas, entries were place winners at the American Royal horse show last night.

Lady Joy, owned by Mrs. Aieck R. Anderson, Amarillo, placed fifth in hunters, lightweight.

Plans Approved For Stanton School Job

STANTON, Oct. 18 (Sp.)—At a meeting of the school board of the Stanton independent school district Monday evening, the plans and specifications submitted by Haynes and Strange of Lubbock for a new gymnasium were accepted. It was announced that bids submitted by contractors for the construction will be received and considered on Tuesday afternoon, November 7, at 2 p. m. It is expected the contract will be let on that date.

The building will be erected immediately south of the present high school building, on the campus. Plans call for a playing court 80 by 48 feet for basketball, volleyball and physical education exercises. Also, home economics food and clothing laboratories, band hall and practice rooms and shower and dressing rooms for both boys and girls will be in the building.

Repairs will also be made on the grammar school building at the same time. New windows and doors are to be installed, present wooden stairways will be torn out and replaced by reinforced concrete ones, and wooden floors throughout the building will be replaced by concrete covered with asphalt tile in both classrooms and hallways.

Work will begin at the earliest possible date after the contract is let.

RICHARD WAGNER WINS HONORS AT PEACOCK SCHOOL

Honors have come to Richard Andrew Wagner, student of Peacock Military Academy in San Antonio, according to word received here.

The youth, son of Mrs. C. A. Wagner, superintendent of the Big Spring hospital, was elected sergeant-at-arms of the Intermediate division for the 1939-40 term. Wesley Peacock, Jr., wrote concerning the election, and congratulated the boy on the honors received.

Mr. and Mrs. George Garrette acted as guests today, Mr. and Mrs. Walton C. Kean of Seattle, Wash. The guests are en route to their home after a vacation.
