

Prohibition Repeal Up To States Zangara Sentenced To 80 Years In Prison

Maximum On Each Charge Is Assessed

Pleads Guilty, Tells Court He's Sorry Roosevelt Escaped

MIAMI (AP)—Giuseppe Zangara Monday was sentenced to 80 years in prison for the attack of February 15 on President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Margaret Krus of Newark, N. J., Russell Caldwell of Coconut Grove, Fla., and William Sinnott, New York politician.

He was sentenced to 20 years on each of four charges of attempts to murder, getting the maximum sentence for each. Zangara may yet be charged with murder. His plea Monday did not cover the cases of Mayor Cermak and Mrs. Joe Gill.

Zangara was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to the four charges, and after reiterating to Judge Collins he was sorry his attempt upon the life of Roosevelt was unsuccessful.

Japanese In Preparation For Big Drive

Greatest Operation Since Beginning Of Trouble Expected

CHINCHOW, Manchuria (AP)—A stream of troops toward the Jehol border made it apparent Monday a great Japanese drive to wrest Jehol province from Chinese rule was imminent.

Military traffic choked the Mukden-Chinchow railroad. It looked as if the actual campaign, the most extensive operation since the Sino-Japanese hostilities began a year and a half ago, would begin this week.

At Peiping Chinese Foreign Minister Soong said the whole powder magazine of North China will explode if Jehol is invaded.

House Votes Submission By 289-121

Conventions Of Two-Thirds Of States Must Ratify

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress Monday put repeal of the prohibition amendment up to the states.

By a vote of 289 to 121 the house mustered the two-thirds majority required after brief, fervid debate.

The senate already having voted to submit the repeal resolution, the states now for the first time in history must act on such a change to the constitution.

Conventions in 36 states must approve the repeal to put the new amendment into effect.

Japan

The British did a somersault on the Manchurian question recently. They suddenly stopped trying to block action by the League of Nations and joined hands with those who would slap Japan on the wrist. The conversion may be permanent.

An underlying reason was that the Chinese press was getting belligerently anti-British. The venacular editors halted their nose-thumbing at the Japanese and turned their widespread fingers on Sir John Simon. He had been phlegmating around Geneva to prevent anti-Japanese action. The British could not stand for that. They have commercial interests in China which far outweigh their peace interests in the Pacific. They own the better part of the Yangtze Valley, Shanghai and Tientsin. It did not take them long to figure that they had better change sides.

Doctors Says Mrs. Joe Gill Much Better

MIAMI (AP)—Mrs. Joe H. Gill was reported Monday to be "coming along nicely." After a consultation of five physicians attending Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago Dr. Frederick Tice, Chicago heart specialist, issued the statement "I believe we may look forward to full recovery of the mayor." Both were wounded Wednesday night when an attempt was made to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt.

Rural Schools Receive $25,516 In Taxes; $19,568 For Maintenance

County Superintendent Pauline C. Brigham announced Monday $24,616.52 received in 1932 taxes is being distributed among rural school districts. A major portion of the amount goes to maintenance, $19,568.70 being used for that purpose.

Three of the 21 districts, Midway, Chalk, and Forsan received approximately three-fourths of the sum expended for maintenance. Vealmoor received the smallest portion of the money, obtaining $27.57 for maintenance and a like sum for interest and sinking fund. Extremely scant receipts in some districts will likely force those districts to cut short their school terms, Mrs. Brigham believed.

Boys Later Won From All School Teams That Have Beaten Them

The Big Spring Steers played their twenty-fourth game Saturday night when they defeated the Colorado Wolves 46-21 in the west half title of district 8.

Six games have been lost. Going out of their class coat the local cagers two of their losses when they were defeated by the Coedden Oilers and the House of David. The other four games were dropped to Lamasa, Roby, Colorado and McCamey all of whom were later victims of the Bovines.

J. C. Morgan, ace forward, is leading the locals in total points with 305. Cecil Reid, pivot man, is runner-up with 197 counters while Morgan's running mate, Fred Townsend, is third with 159.

The Steers have a high record in points scored per game, averaging 40.25 for each one of the twenty-four tilts.

Tomorrow night they carry on their basketball conquest against the Hamlin Pled Pipers at Hamlin. It will be the first game on a two-out-of-three basis to decide the championship of District 8. Thursday night Hamlin plays here, and if a third game is necessary it will likely be played in Abilene Saturday night.

Dentists Of City To Help With Children

Free Examinations Of Months And Teeth Offered By Profession

Services of local members of the dental profession affiliated with the State Dental Society have been obtained without cost for the purpose of examining the mouths and teeth of all school children in this city.

Examinations are in no way compulsory and are being made for a two-fold purpose: to inform parents of the conditions existing in the mouths of children that disorders may be corrected, and to give information to the state health department.

Similar work is being carried on throughout the state in all the larger cities. San Angelo and Abilene recently having completed a dental campaign for school children.

Under the plan to be followed parents will receive a notice of mouth and teeth defects, if any, existing in their children. Parents in turn will make a notation of the card if corrective work will be done by the family dentist or not. Each child will be asked to get a dental certificate showing his mouth and teeth to be in good condition, and when the teacher has received the certificate, the child's name will be listed on the

Inspection Of Ceilings Made In High School

Classes Dismissed Monday To Allow Completion Of Work

High school students took the day off Monday while workmen went about the task of repairing all ceilings in the new wing of the high school building.

Action to make certain all ceilings are secure came after ceiling in a basement room collapsed and crashed down on desks but which only minutes after thirty-five pupils and a teacher had left the room at the close of the school day.

The entire ceiling fell at once. Officials expressed the belief several would have been crushed to death had the room been occupied at the time.

Constant vibrations caused by play in the gymnasium on the second floor are believed to be responsible for the collapse of the ceiling.

Ceilings in other rooms are being inspected and when found to be weak they are to be stripped and made more secure by adding of led planks screwed to heavy joists.

Rather than take chances the school board directed that work be completed at once even though it forced high school to recess Monday.

Miss Welch Here For Home For Infants

Miss Blanche Welch, representing the Volunteers of America, home in Fort Worth for unfortunate girls and homeless infants, was here Monday on her annual solicitation of donations for support of the home. This is the twelfth year she has visited this section.

At present there are eight babies at the home for adoption. More unfortunate girls are being cared for than in many months. Last year several were admitted from Howard and neighboring counties.

A Strategy for the World Economic Conference

The experts from the various parts of the world have now submitted their program for the monetary and economic conference which is to be held at some time within the next few months. Their report is something more than a program. It is in fact a statement of the principles which these experts consider necessary to world recovery.

Although the statement is long and complicated, the object aimed at can be stated quite simply. The experts desire, as does every one else, a rise in the level of world prices and the maintenance of that level. To this end they advocate a readjustment of international debts and tariffs, the abolition of exchange restrictions, the stabilization of currencies on the gold standard, a policy of cheap money and credit expansion in countries possessing ample gold, and the balancing of public budgets.

These objectives are not means for achieving them have the endorsement of the experts representing all the principal governments. Therefore it might be said that in theory at least there is now a common platform on which the governments stand. Whatever the policies they may actually pursue when the time comes to negotiate, in principle at least the governments profess the same aims and subscribe to the same general methods.

It is evident, of course, that the program is altogether too complex for successful achievement at any one international conference. Yet, as the experts say, "It is not quite possible to make progress by piecemeal methods." Prices are affected by currencies, currencies by debts and tariffs, debts and tariffs by currencies and prices. The thing would seem to be a circle without a beginning where it is possible to take hold, and some commentators have thrown up their hands and concluded that the program is hopeless. Logically it would seem that so much must be done that nothing can be done.

This view falls, however, to take account of one of the great realities of economic behavior, namely the capacity of men to discount the future when they have hope. It is on this fact that the statesmen must, it seems to me, rely. They must break the circle by stimulating confidence, and confidence once stimulated will through the speculation of the markets, lift the price level. With prices rising the situation will no longer be frozen and the other adjustments called for will be easier to make.

It requires a daring strategy to set the thing in motion this way, but it would seem to be the only one by which it can be done. The danger, of course, is that a speculative rise in prices will be mistaken for a permanent rise and that the other substantial reforms will be regarded as unnecessary. They are sustained any improvement brought about by psychological means. For by speculation alone the crisis will not be cured. Therefore it is of the greatest importance that the principal governments should not make a false start and should have ready agreements on many other parts of the program, so that once a rise is started proposals can rapidly be put under it to hold it.

Mrs. Mitchell Is Honoree At Shower

Mrs. Bill Everett recently entertained with a pretty evening shower honoring Mrs. Jimmie Mitchell, who was Miss Velma Murphy before her marriage. The home was beautifully decorated in the Valentine colors.

Many interesting games were played throughout the evening. Miss Bama Hale and Mrs. Prescott gave several humorous readings for the bride. After Valentine's hunt the honoree was presented with many pretty useful gifts.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of hot chocolate and cake, were served to the following: Misses Lucille Thompson, Lily Cardwell, Bama Hale, Lillian Henderson, Dorothy Wheat, Beatrice Sullivan, Lillian Anderson, Lillian Crawford, Josephine Tripp, Mable Leach, Mary Burns, Pattie Burns, Dorothy Stump and Modena Murphy; Meses. R. H. Anderson, Jr., O. E. Ringler, Morris Burns, Rubie Johnson, N. L. Miller, Roy Pearce, W. S. Morrison, W. T. Bell, W. C. Prescott, Juanita Miller, C. O. Murphy, Alton King, O. B. Hull, Hogue, George Johnson, W. C. Everett; Meses. Harry J. Huntley and Chester D. Matheny.

Those sending gifts were: Mrs. A. W. Grimes, Mary Edna Griffith; Mrs. W. Willis McCutcheon; Meses. Ora W. Blankenship, W. W. Coleman, C. R. Murdock, W. Vance King, J. R. Skimming, and C. W. Dickson.

Mrs. O. L. Thomas Hostess To Club

Mrs. O. L. Thomas was hostess to the members of the Hyperion Study Club Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Albert M. Fisher presided over the business session.

The members voted to take up a study of South American conditions for next year's work. The program was devoted to a study of W. H. Hudson's "Green Mansions." Mrs. Fisher gave the life of Hudson and introduced his book. Mrs. Cushing gave a review of the story.

Those attending were: Meses. C. W. Cunningham, W. F. Cushing, Wm. Fahrkamp, Albert Fisher, V. H. Flewelin, Bruce Fraiser, R. Homer McNew, Seth H. Parsons, Shine Phillips, George Wilke and J. B. Young.

Mrs. V. H. Flewelin will be the next hostess and Mrs. Thomas will be the program leader. She will review Hardy's "Far from the Madding Crowd."

Mickey Mouse Notes

The skit, "And the Lights Went Out," was presented last Saturday to an attentive audience. The cast entered into the spirit of the play with elaborately dramatic gestures, and received a big round of applause at the conclusion of the play. The following took part: The villain, Gerald Anderson; the hero, Gene Flewelin; the heroine, Minnie Jean Shiver; Mrs. Van De Vere, Marguerite Reed.

Uncle Church Mouse, who still lives in the back row seats of the Ritz, welcomed his ardent followers last Saturday. He reports an increase in his section but very little disturbance and inattention.

The club is to be congratulated on the best all round staff of officers it has had since its beginning. With the exception of Chief Minnie Jean Shiver, the officers were all present, and presented a dignified, well-prepared ceremony.

Thomas Lee Watson and Virginia Hilliard have the measles.

Next Saturday the Mice will give their own version of "The Big Broadcast." There will be Kate Smith, Bing Crosby, Burns and Allen and other popular radio favorites.

Journal To Devote Page To Club Women

The activities of club women in Colorado, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Oregon and Minnesota are described in the interesting article in the Ladies' Home Journal of March. This article appears under the title "It's up to the Women," a slogan which the Journal created as an inspiration to women everywhere about a year ago.

This is the first of a series of pages which will appear in the Journal every month. They will be dedicated to the activities of organized women everywhere. Recently, the Journal conducted a poll asking the women of America to name the greatest leader among American women during the past century. This movement was but the beginning of their plan to stimulate women to leadership in these times.

The page "It's up to the Women" will be dedicated to the activities of organized women; it will furnish ideas, programs and general information which will be of value to the club woman.

Candle-Lighting To Be Observed By PTA

The members of Junior High P. T. A. will observe Founders' Day with a candle-lighting ceremony and tea Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting.

The program will consist of a study of the life of D. H. Rusk, "Cooperation Between Mothers and the School." Miss Jeanette Pickle will put on a Founders' Day program with her sixth grade pupils. The birthday cake will be cut after the impressive candle-lighting ceremony.

It is requested that all mothers make an effort to attend this meeting.

Distress After Meals

"After I eat a heavy meal, my food seems to sour and form gas," writes Mr. S. R. Williams, of Longview, Texas. "I find that by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after meals I do not have this trouble. I only take Black-Draught a few days at a time. I also take it for constipation, which causes me to have a heavy, sluggish and tired feeling. This is followed by headaches. I take a larger dose of Black-Draught for two or three nights and it stops this trouble."

Democrats in Congress are already beginning to split into blocs. Inflationists are one group, working ardently to kill the Roosevelt economy program. They think the way to future success lies in the opposite direction. They know government cuts will postpone the day of their dreams.

It is a Mills family secret that Treasury Secretary Ogden O. must spend two weeks of every year in California. The stipulation was made in his father's will. That is one of the main reasons he is going home with Mr. Hoover. He got in the two weeks last year during the campaign.

Apparently his father thought highly of the California sunshine. They say he might also have specified Florida, except that only Democrats were allowed there then.

Barry

A Senator is supposed to have told Sgt.-at-Arms Barry how he would have slipped off scot-free.

He suggested Barry write a confidential letter to each of the 99 Senators announcing that he would tell all he knew. The Senator promised there would not be a quorum present to vote on the Barry case.

You are supposed to laugh at that. It is a joke, not a fact.

Glass

President Wilson's former physician, Dr. Cary Grayson, is the one who has kept Senator Glass wavering about acceptance of the Treasury post. They are good friends. Dr. Grayson is not exactly pleased with the Senator's physical condition. He has the approval of the Glass family in arguments he has made.

Notes

The trouble with the Senate in the Barry case was that the men who live by criticizing others can't take it themselves. After hearing all the charges they heap upon their enemies and each other you would be surprised to learn how thin-skinned they actually are, particularly to press and editorial criticism. Senator Borah is an exception. He believes those who lie by the sword should expect to die by it and once said: "In the verbal encounters of this world, I am willing to undertake my own defense—courts are too busy and too slow."—Congressman Ludlow, author of the current book attacking Federal Bureau activity, introduced a bill the very first day he came to Congress proposing to make it a Federal offense to put lead slugs in slot machines.

NEW YORK

By James McMillin

Michigan—Senator Couzens—not Henry Ford—is New York's villain of the Michigan piece. Negotiations for an R. F. C. loan of fifty million dollars to the Union Guardian Trust were well under way against collateral valued at 87 million (admittedly on the chilly side) when Couzens saved the situation. But Couzens said "no" and R. F. C. officials were not in a mood to buck him.

At the Ford was no great help. The best information here indicates that his withdrawals during the past week have been fairly heavy although an appreciable balance is still in the bank.

Real estate is at the root of the Union Guardian's difficulties. Local bankers had known the situation was critical for some time but no real alarm was felt until the last minute R. F. C. loan failed to come off.

Nearly every banker of importance in New York is in on the Michigan situation from some angle. The Union Guardian has high-class connections here and the betting is good that an adequate solution will be worked out before the moratorium expires. But there must be burning ears in Washington.

Stock market liquidation on February 14th was pressed by selling of security holdings for Michigan companies with payrolls to meet. It was the quickest and surest method of raising cash, and they were taking no chances. The telegraph companies are doing a harvest business in money transfers.

Banks

While there is no disposition here to blame R. F. C. publicity for the Union Guardian's troubles, bankers insist that the effects have been bad. Reports have come in from all over the country of substantial withdrawals from banks the names of which were listed as borrowers.

The Whitney Bank of New Orleans gave the Hibernal Bank fine cooperation when the latter needed help. The Whitney refused to accept any deposits while the run was on in order to prevent trans-

Big Spring landed three players on the mythical five and Colorado two. Morgan, Big Springs, and Townsend, Big Springs, forwards; Stagner, Colorado, center; Cox, Colorado, and W. Woods, Big Springs, guards, made up the all-star five. J. C. Morgan and Fred Townsend made journey high point bonanza, hitting with five points each. Stagner, Colorado, was runner-up with 23.

Colorado's stocky forward, Skelton, was high for the losers with eight counters. The Wolf boys played their best game against the locals; however they were not in their best form. Even if they had been in tip-top shape it would have been next to impossible to check the classy black and gold basketballers.

The Siera and Wolven advanced to 12. Finney, O. Ellington, W. R. Hardy, C. W. Deas, C. E. Richardson, and Lee O. Rogers.

Reserves

The course of New York City member bank excess reserves is clearly indicated by the following figures (in millions of dollars):

January 11-30	11.5
January 18-31	11.5
January 25-29	11.5
February 1-17	11.5
February 18-19	11.5

Such a trend for four weeks can not be ignored. It is due largely to the growth of demands for the transfer of cash to districts where banks have closed. Michigan will add impetus to the movement. Best opinion holds that the Federal Reserve will not be able to stem the tide until conditions change.

Federal Reserve

The weekly Federal Reserve statements are somewhat misleading in that they do not record the effects of vigorous trading in Federal Reserve funds among member banks. Bank A, which lends from its excess resources, includes the transaction as an asset among "other loans." Bank B, the borrower, doesn't show a corresponding liability in its Federal Reserve report. The discrepancy runs into the millions.

Utilities

Plans of utility companies for refinancing operations via bond issues at a lower rate of interest have been called off. This is not because the bonds couldn't be sold. The intimation that public service commissions might insist that the savings thus effected be passed on to the consumer in the form of lower rates—benefiting the companies not at all—froze the idea.

Of course there are several utilities which would like to refund bond loans but they are not the ones whose securities could find a ready market.

Fighters Ready For Tuesday Card

Fighters on the card for the Tuesday evening fight show at Casino were reported in fine condition Saturday with the exception of Shady McGinty, Snyder, who was taken ill with an attack of influenza.

It is probable that Kid Owens will be pitted against some fighter other than Shade in what will be the only four round preliminary. One of the most colorful bouts scheduled for the evening is due to develop when Alabama Cajun meets Pat Adams. Both have a popular following here.

Battling Bowser and Punch Pittman are slated to battle in the semi-final round event.

Clarence "Kid" Whittington, who has moved to this city since making his first appearance in a local ring, will tangle with his old foe, Red McGinty, in the final set-to. The two have met in the Casino ring before and have put on a fast, clean exhibition.

The affair is being staged under the auspices of the Big Spring Athletic Club with J. E. Payne in charge.

C-C Board Meeting Of Week Postponed

Since there was nothing of importance to be considered, it was decided Monday that the usual meeting of the board of directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce would be postponed from Tuesday evening to some time next week, when it is expected representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be here to confer on plans for the annual convention of the regional chamber.

D. A. Hansen, manager of the W. T. C. C., informed the local Chamber he expected to be in a position to come here next week with President Wilbur Hawk and possibly other officials of the organization.

Wilber and Maxine Moore have recovered from attacks of measles.

The Big Customer

In an article prepared for distribution by NEA Service, Rep. Marvin Jones of Amarillo, chairman of the house agriculture committee, pleads for an "even break" for the farmers of the country. He says that ordinarily he does not believe in relief measures, but an emergency exists and purely temporary relief must be given the farmers.

Mr. Jones says that while the average price of farm products has decreased 48 per cent since the war, many of the industrial articles which the farmer must buy have increased 58 per cent. The farmer's dollar today has less than half its pre-war buying power.

Even granting, of course, that the farmer has a dollar.

In a speech at Houston recently Frank P. Holland, Dallas publisher, pointed out that 40 per cent of the population of Texas is rural. When the rural population is unable to buy, it means that 40 per cent of the purchasing power of the people of Texas is destroyed. In round numbers, it means that about two and one-third million Texans have been removed from the list of active buyers.

While it is true that the average farmer has plenty of feedstuffs, a fair stock of poultry, cattle and hogs, and is fairly well supplied with foodstuffs, he has little or no cash with which to buy articles of commerce. His absence from the markets of the cities is acutely felt. If he can be restored to his former place as a buyer, the entire population will be benefited. As long as he has no purchasing power, the country will suffer.

Getting the farmer back on his feet must be the first step in the economic rehabilitation of the country. Commerce and industry can not get along without him.

SPOTLIGHT

CHAPTER XXXVI

She took a hand to Sheila's arm and with the sharpness that is often hers...

The job been idle for weeks now. If anyone had asked, Sheila would have said she had 'plenty of money saved.' But plenty of money saved $50, minus $25 and smaller sums will deplete any account if given time enough...

"Sheila," Tillie Harper said one morning. "You and I are going down town today. We're going to have permanent waves and we're going to buy new hats. There's nothing that sets a woman up like a new hat!"

Sheila eyed herself languidly in the mirror. "I suppose I look terribly," she said. "But I like to give my skin a rest when I'm not working." She rubbed one hand across her smooth pale cheek.

"A little pale, that's all," diagnosed the resolute Tillie. She said. "We'll fix that soon enough. Come on."

"I don't believe I have any money."

"What?"

"If I don't think I have enough money to go shopping."

"Oh, we don't need to spend a lot. All the stores are offering wonderful bargains. You can pick up the cutest things."

"Not if anyone is looking!" Sheila retorted. "I don't believe I have a single sou. Look in the book. It's in my handkerchief case."

The savings book, duly produced, told a sad story indeed. Not quite so sad as Sheila had forecast but sad enough. The balance was $19.40. Since the first of the month, barely three weeks ago, Sheila had made frequent withdrawals of sums ranging from $100 to $10.

"Sheila Shayne - you've been losing money, haven't you?" Tillie said accusingly.

"I have. What else can you do? It's simpler than listening to sob stories." She sank wearily into a chair. "I didn't realize until this morning, though, that it was going so fast. Guess I'll have to go to work!"

"Say, in the mood you're in you couldn't get a job anywhere!"

"No, I suppose not."

"Then snap out of it, do you hear?" Tillie's voice rose wrathfully. It was hard to be cross with Sheila, but it seemed to loyal little Tillie the one chance.

"Listen! Get out and get yourself a job, and if I hear of you giving another cent to anyone - anyone - I'll -" Tillie paused in a frantic search for a fitting threat. She floundered badly. "I'll annihilate you! I will!"

"Tillie, I guess I don't care what happens to me!" "Darling!" Pressed against Tillie's shoulder, Sheila sobbed as if her heart would break.

"You love Jim, don't you, Tillie?" she said when she was able to speak. "Could you stand it to lose him? Would you care what happened to you if you did?" "I know," Tillie's voice broke sharply. "But, honey, it's hard to see, I know, but there are other things. There are other people."

Half an hour later, smartly gowned, as serene as if nothing had occurred, the two girls sauntered forth to look for a job for Sheila. At Johnny Harrell's office Sheila faced the disgruntled agent with something akin to alarm.

"Going to listen to reason, are you?" he grunted. "Fine! Going to tell me you'll take a role I've just broken my neck to fill? Go and take a good contract when I get it for you? Well, I haven't a thing for you. Not a thing! Hold on - wait a moment! Miss Rosenbaum, hand me that letter from Abbott, will you?"

Miss Rosenbaum, naugny, efficient and stilled, eyed Sheila as coolly as if she, too, had not shared Harrell's harassment in trying to find a substitute for Sheila.

The position was filled this morning, Mr. Harrell, Grace Sawyer has the part."

Harrell frowned. "Well, then, that's out! Tell you what, Sheila, if you really want to go to work I'll have you in a show inside a week. Want a night club job to fill in?"

"If she can use her own routine," interposed Tillie. "She isn't up to filling in for someone else."

Tillie was high-spirited and Harrell heard her with respect. "Well, Club Volens wants a singer," he said. "You'll do fine. Toodle up there and I'll get Grady on the wire."

The two girls left. "He'll tell Grady he scoured the town to find you," Tillie giggled as they went down the dusty stairs to the street.

"That's all right with me," Sheila said wearily.

"She'll snap out of it when she hears the music," Tillie told herself. "She can't listen to music and not dance!"

The girls found Grady seated in the think office at the rear of the garish night club which in its midday aspect looked forlorn and cheap. Tables were placed on tables. Cleaning men were listlessly swabbing the floor. An approved waiter was gathering table appointments together on a tray. "Yeah, Johnny phoned," Grady said, without taking his feet off the nearest chair. "I've got a spot that needs filling. Danced here last year, didn't you, with Rodney? If you are as good in a single you might work in all right."

"She's better in a single," the faithful Tillie thrust in and Grady raised a sarcastic eyebrow. "Am I doing business with her or you, sister?" he wanted to know. "I'm very good in a single," Sheila hastened to say in her own behalf.

Grady grinned. "O. K. You take a 15 minute spot in the show at 10:30 and another at 11:45. Get in touch with Mack. He's the leader and see if you can work out something big. Ever plug a song?" "Have you one you want plugged?" Sheila cautiously asked.

Grady grinned again. "You and Mack be down here for a rehearsal at 4:20," he said. "Mack has a song I want to work in for Blind Timmy. It's a peach."

Blind Timmy! She could earn money, fill in until a real job came along and help Timmy, as well. Her voice was well adapted to most of Timmy's music. Yet, as Sheila well knew it, wasn't a singing voice. It was a husky sort of recitation. What ever it was, it went over. That was all that was necessary.

"Timmy'll be tickled to death," Tillie chattered as she and Sheila set off together. Tillie had an engagement to lunch with her husband and Sheila decided not to join them. Left alone, she sought out Mack, the orchestra leader, by calling Joe Paris' office and asking for the phone number. Mack seemed to be glad she was to dance. But did she need a rehearsal, he asked. Couldn't she just take the number home and run through it?

"I can but I won't," said Sheila firmly. "Grady's orders."

Mack - billed as Merry MacIntyre and his Jazz Boys - seemed less than merry as he reluctantly agreed to arrive at the Club two hours earlier than usual.

"What are you going to dance?" he asked. "You'll do fine. Toodle up there and I'll get Grady on the wire."

The girls found Grady seated in the think office at the rear of the garish night club which in its midday aspect looked forlorn and cheap. Tables were placed on tables. Cleaning men were listlessly swabbing the floor. An

114-Year-Old Texan Buried

B. L. (Blackie) Shirley Was Almost Too Old To Enter Civil War

SPRINGTOWN (UP)—B. L. (Blackie) Shirley, 114 years old when he died Saturday, was buried here Saturday, with the simplicity that marked the pioneer's life.

In his bungalow home here lay untouched the plug of tobacco he had laid aside a few hours before he died Friday afternoon. He had chewed tobacco since he was a boy in the Sequatchie Valley of Tennessee.

To him, and to "rips of corn flake" before breakfast each morning, the Methusalem of Springtown had attributed his long life. He had not used whisky since he was 104. "The kind you get nowadays is too rotten to drink," he had complained, "because you can't tell what's in it."

Shirley was born in 1819, near Pikesville, Tenn., according to available records. The civil war began when he was near the maximum age limit, but he shouldered a rifle and marched away with the 5th Tennessee Infantry.

He drove ammunition wagons for General Sherman on the march through Georgia. The love of horses he acquired then was with him to the last. "I won't risk anything that hasn't got two eyes. It just don't stand to reason," he had declared. He disliked movies, baseball and automobiles, and preferred to drink water from an old tin cup.

One of Shirley's worries in the last year of his life was that he couldn't tell how many grandchildren were his. He kept no record and was in doubt as to the status of the families of his eight living children.

Daughter Was 92 At his death his wife, the third he had married, was 99. His oldest daughter was 92. His youngest daughter just 21, and his youngest granddaughter 4.

During the last several months Shirley had been living in the twilight. His eyes had failed. He had hung his saddle on a cross-piece and unbridled his horse. He sat in a rocking chair and dreamed of the days when he followed General Sherman to the sea.

Survivors included daughters: Mrs. Sarah Pitts of Burneyville, Okla.; Mrs. Mary Freely and Mrs. Kitty Pitts, Electra, Texas; Mrs. W. H. Casey, of Paradise and Mrs. W. W. Waters of Springtown; sons: J. C. and F. Philander, and F. L. Shirley, of Springtown.

Jake Atz Happy Over New Job As 'Chief Of Umpires'

HOUSTON—Jake Atz, the man who won six consecutive Texas League pennants for Fort Worth, several Dixie Series classics and who has tasted the sweets and bitters of baseball, was a happy soul Monday.

Atz today was appointed umpire-in-chief in the Texas League for 1933. At a luncheon today he made a short talk with these choice remarks:

"About Midwinter the depression set in and mortification set in."
 "I am going to umpire someperhaps in the crucial games where speed counts." Atz has a slight limp when he walks.

"I hope I don't make a mistake and rush up to Ziggy Sears and yell at him." Sears was Atz's star outfielder during pennant winning days at Fort Worth.

"In the parks where third base is located near the bleachers, I will umpire. I should go great with
 the colored fans."

"One consolation, I will again get to call Sears into the dressing room and 'bawl' him out." Sears was Atz's star outfielder during pennant winning days at Fort Worth.

"The parks where third base
 is located near the bleachers, I will umpire. I should go great with
 the colored fans."

Work Progresses On Forsan School Gym-Auditorium

Frame work on the Forsan high school gymnasium is practically complete and workmen are beginning the task of boxing in the building in an effort to complete the structure by March 1.

Seating capacity when the gymnasium is finished will be 450, while it is estimated that more than 1,000 people may be seated when the building is utilized as an auditorium.

Completion of the building will afford an assembly room for the Forsan school. Heretofore it has been impossible for a general assembly to be held without students lining the walls and packing aisles.

Leland L. Martin, head of the Forsan schools, said formal dedication of the new building would be held soon after it was completed.

Mandamus Asked By Former Head Of McCamey Schools

RANKIN—Hearing will be had here March 27 on application for a writ of mandamus and for injunction, filed this week by C. V.
 Compton, in the dispossession controversy between the ousted superintendent and the McCamey school trustees. The 33rd district court has granted the injunction preventing the removing of Compton's household effects until the manda-mus can be heard.

The writ of mandamus seeks to force W. C. Fowler, Upton sheriff, to accept a replevy bond of $1,500 put up by Compton, protecting his household goods from eviction from the teachers on the Mc-Camey school campus. Compton was discharged as superintendent at McCamey last fall.

The bond of $1,500 is signed by Marsh Lee and R. E. Ellis of Fort Stockton. Harrison Dyches, county and district clerk of Pecos county, W. P. Rooney, sheriff of the same county, and R. D. Blydes attorney here, attested to the solvency of the men and as to the worth of the bond, it was set out in the petition.

 Mohammedan Jolo tribesmen. The ambush occurred near the spot where a constabulary officer and twelve privates were slain last year in a similar encounter.

House Votes $5,000 For Bill Tilghman's Widow

WASHINGTON (UP)—The house has voted $5,000 to the widow of Bill Tilghman, "last of the two-gun sheriffs of the west," who was killed in Oklahoma by a prohibition agent who beat him to the draw.

Tilghman was a famed figure in the days when outlaw bands terrorized the Oklahoma territory. A former Indian scout, he was a deputy United States marshal and sheriff for 21 years after the territory was opened up in 1890.

In 1924 Tilghman, then 70 years old, was induced to come out of retirement to become marshal of Cronwell, Oklahoma, a wide-open oil boom town where criminals flaunted the law.

His vigorous enforcement of the law soon won him the enmity of Wiley Lynn, a federal prohibition agent. In a scuffle on November 1, 1924, Lynn killed Tilghman. Lynn was tried and acquitted.

The house committee on claims declared the verdict was "a flagrant miscarriage of justice, a triumph of lawlessness."

Promoter Sells His Interest In Proposed Railway

BROWNFIELD—R Edward Kennedy, promoter of the Corpus Christi, San Angelo and Roswell railroad, incorporated by the state of Texas for $500,000, in a letter received here by J. E. Shelton, of the chamber of commerce, announced the sale of his interest in the corporation. The concern was incorporated May 22, 1930, by the state.

Mr. Kennedy did not announce the name of the new purchasers, but said they were prepared to push the work and that they wanted to revive the proposition. He is asking towns along the proposed route to "get busy" and assist the new owners.

Kennedy is a veteran promoter. A score or more years ago he promoted a railroad that was to extend from Oklahoma City to Roswell by way of Lubbock, Brownfield and Plains. Soon after this the Santa Fe extended its line from Canyon south into Plainview, then Lubbock and then to Post and Sweetwater.

Some of the line was graded across the Red River near Childress and into Lubbock from near Lockney. Kennedy sold the grade and right-of-way near the state line for a reported price of $80,000. The F. W. D. C. is reported to have secured some of his right-of-way between near Lockney.

The section of the dump erected north of Lubbock across Yellowhouse Canyon, however, was not sold and the dump is still to be seen.

Dump Is Available

Kennedy also had the dump well underway between Roswell and the caprock, 50 miles east. This dump is still available. Right-of-way is still owned by Kennedy. It is said here.

The proposed C. C. S. A. and R. would start at Corpus Christi and probably use trackage rights into San Antonio. From there to Fredericksburg the Gulf and West Texas lines would be used, with possibly all the way into San Angelo if that line is permitted to build its extension. From San Angelo the railroad would build into Sweetwater and thence to Snyder. From that point the road would turn west into O'Donnell and then northwest to Brownfield.

From Brownfield the proposed line would touch Tokio, Plains Bronco, Tatum and Caprock. The old right-of-way from Caprock into Roswell would be used.

Kennedy's proposition several years ago caused considerable excitement in this section. He asked towns and counties for the right-of-way all along the line and received much encouragement.

Little has been heard of the proposed road for about two years.

Majors Surprised By Prediction Of Higher Crude Prices

HOUSTON (AP)—Col. Ernest O. Thompson's statement from Longview that oil prices would soar to $1.50 a barrel in fifty days was received with uplifted eyebrows by major purchasers of crude oil in Houston.

"We wish it were true," said an official of one of the majors. "It would make every one feel better."

"It is true," this same official continued, "that since the lid has been put on the running of 'hot oil' from the East Texas field that the crude price structure has strengthened somewhat, but so far there is no immediate advance in crude prices looming."

Mrs. E. L. Crawford Jr. left today for Abilene, where she will visit a week with Mr. Crawford's parents, and attend the A. C. C. Bible Lecture week program.

Marijo Thurman is recovering from the measles.

Ector To Get More Drilling

Materials Being Moved For Well Between Two Producers

Materials for another Ector county wildcat were being moved in at the close of the week, acreage had been assigned for another and negotiations were reported underway for a third. The first two mentioned tests will go far toward determining how much, if any, of the 18-mile gap between Stanolind's two wells on the Dick Cowden ranch and Harrison and others' No. 1 Addis to the south is productive. The third wildcat, for which a deal pends, would be west of the Stanolind Cowden producers.

Disney & Gohson, Ranger contractors, began moving in materials Friday for a test to be drilled for A. W. Cherry of Ranger on land belonging to J. L. Johnson of Ft. Worth. Cherry has the south half of section 41, block 43, township 1 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey, and will drill in the center of the east 80 acres of the southeast quarter of the section, or 660 feet from the east line and 1230 feet from the south line of the section.

The test will be five or six miles north and a little west of Harrison and others' No. 1 Addis and eight or ten miles south and slightly west of the Stanolind Cowden producer. In addition to the south half of section 41, Cherry reportedly holds the lease to the east half of the northeast quarter of section 44, the 80 adjoining on the south the tract on which he will drill, also the south half of the southwest quarter of section 33, located about one mile northeast of the new location.

Barnadall To Drill

Barnadall Oil company has assigned to the Moon Drilling company of Wichita Falls the north half of section 12, block 43, township 1 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey, for the drilling of a test, according to information in one quarter here Saturday. Examination of title and negotiations for additional acreage were reported underway. The test will be about two miles southeast of the Stanolind Cowden wells.

A test will be drilled on the 7,500-acre block out of the ranch of B. F. Blakeney of Midland if a plan that has been undertaken by Jack Roberts of the Roberts Oil Co., of Breckenridge and Ed Landreth of the Landreth Production Co. of Fort Worth is successful. It was learned here Saturday that these operators propose that all lease holders in the block contribute $2 an acre, which would provide $15,000 for the drilling of the test.

The block has been split up among a large number of major companies and individuals and a producer on any tract in it would perpetuate all the leases. The block, extending north and south, adjoins the Stanolind Cowden proven acreage on the west and extends as far west as six miles. Expiration of the 10-year lease in 1934 makes early drilling desirable.

Tentative location mentioned is in the north half of the northeast quarter of section 28, block 43, township 1 north, T & P Ry. Co. survey and in section 33, block 43, which adjoins section 28 on the south. These sections are a little over a mile west of Stanolind No. 1 Dick Cowden.

Stanolind Fishing

Stanolind Oil and Gas Co.'s No. 1 Elliott Cowden, north offset to Harrison and others' No. 1 Addis, was fishing for a rock bit Saturday with the total depth 3647 feet in lime. More hole will be made before 8 5/8 inch casing is run. The test is in section 26, block 43, township 2 south, T & P Ry. Co. survey.
