Deadline for PWA Projects Is Advanced To Sept. 5; Local Projects Endangered

OFFICIAL FROM DISTRICT OFFICE MEETS WITH COMMITTEE TONIGHT

Throwing the entire local setup on WPA projects into confusion, word was received yesterday afternoon that the deadline for the submission of projects had been advanced from September 12th to the 5th, and that all applications must be in the Lubbock office by that date. This information, coming from an outside source, was verified by City Secretary D. L. C. Kinard, in a telephone conversation with the district offices at the WPA at Lubbock.

PLANNING HEAD SPEAKS AT ROTARY

S. T. Harrison Tells of WPA Projects Planned

Rotarians yesterday heard S. T. Harrison, chairman of the County Planning Board, explain the efforts that body is making toward requesting some $300,000 worth of WPA projects for Hall County.

"The County Planning Board," Mr. Harrison pointed out, "cannot sponsor WPA projects, but it can promote them. Sponsors must be some financially reliable subdivision of the state, such as cities, counties, etc."

"It is our purpose and aim to acquaint the people of the county with the fact that about $275,000 in Works Progress Administration funds is available to Hall County. Projects must be submitted by September 12, so our time is dangerously short."

WPA funds, per county, are determined by the number of people on relief. The allowance is $600 per man, and the number on Hall County relief rolls last week was 443.

"Continued threats have come from Washington," Mr. Harrison continued, "that direct relief will soon be definitely ended. The WPA program is to take the place of CWA and other relief agencies, and counties and cities that make no attempt to get their share of the WPA funds will simply be faced with providing from their own existing funds food and clothing for their needy during the winter."

"Naturally, then, it behooves all of us to do what we can to have a sufficient number of projects approved for this county to supply work and sustenance for our unemployables. Most of the money tentatively allocated to this county is available in Pre-

With a number of city and county projects being worked out carefully before submission, the announcement of the change in date has thrown the local work into difficulties, but it is hoped that committees from both the City Council and Commissioners Court will be able to draw up applications today, on a number of projects, in time for submission.

W. E. Burke, head of the project department of the District W.P.A. Office at Lubbock, will be in this city tonight and will meet local officials and committees at 7:00 o'clock tonight at the Commissioners Court Room, when proposals will be whipped into shape and applications filed with him, for submission to the Lubbock office.

Coming as a complete surprise to the local planning board, the advanced deadline puts this city and county under a decided disadvantage. Some of the projects to be submitted from Memphis and Hall County are large, and require careful consideration before presentation, and the short time in which they must be prepared will, it is felt, result in some of them being sent back for further information.

According to advices from the Lubbock office, projects may be submitted in skeleton form, which will assure them of inclusion in the program. They will then be returned to the local committee for smoothing out and proper preparation.

Conjectures as to the cause for the change in date were many among those interested. Some advance the idea that not enough projects are being submitted, and that the charge was made to cause a rush of projects. Others seem to be of the opinion that the larger counties and cities may have used up the lion's share of the funds, and that the whole business is going to be closed up.

"The City-County Planning Board has been under quite a handicap," said Chairman S. T. Harrison of the board. "At the meeting at Lubbock in July, which we attended, we were informed that the WPA would only allow about 15 per cent over labor costs to the cities and counties. On that basis, we felt that there were very few projects we could put over. Just recently, however, we were informed that this figure could be raised to about double that. With this change, we were able to consider more projects, but have not had time since that information was given us to properly prepare the applications we would like to submit."

With both city and county committees working at top speed today, preparing project applications for presentation tonight, it is still hoped that we may be able to get most of our projects approved.

Rebs and Feds In Joint Meet

Thousands at National Air Races

Aviation fans from all over the nation flocked to Cleveland for the National Air Races, this picture showing one section of the vast crowd that thronged the Cleveland airport for the program of thrills. Thousand saw the country's foremost racers as they came in at the finish of transcontinental speed events, watched the races over short course at the airport, and marveled at the remarkable formation flying of army, navy and marine planes and the spectacular parachute jumps.

ALL MOTORISTS WARNED MUST OBEY LAW

City Council Orders Arrests in Law Violations

If the wishes of the City Council and the Police Committee mean anything, Memphis motorists are going to have to reform, or pay the penalty for traffic violations, which have become too prevalent here, in the opinion of the council.

At last night's meeting the City Council discussed the traffic situation here at length. It was the universal opinion of the members that this city had about the worst traffic situation of any town in the district. Speeding has become worse every day, each paved street being, in effect, a race track, especially after dark. Stop signs are being disregarded by our motorists, and accidents are mounting daily.

The Council instructed its police committee to notify Chief of Police Huddleston that traffic regulations must be sternly enforced, before someone was killed. The chief was instructed that the city was back of him, and that they expected arrests, no matter who the offender might be, nor their sex.

With school in session again, and hundreds of small children thronging the streets, the danger from reckless drivers in increased a hundred fold.

ATTEND BIBLE SCHOOL

A number from out-of-town attended the Bible School last night in session at the First Baptist Church this week, being conducted by Rev. J. B. Tidwell of the Baylor University at Waco.

Among those were Rev. and Mrs. J. Perry King and son, John Burton, Rev. Chas. Brister, Clarendon; Rev. and Mrs. F. N. Allen, Lelia Lake; Rev. J. W. Bradshaw, Estelline and Rev. and Mrs. Wade Brister, Lakeview.

Italy Attacks Ethiopian Acts

By Associated Press
GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Italy today filed a memorandum with the League of Nations Council, meeting to discuss the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, declaring that Ethiopia had "placed herself openly outside the League."

Italy charged Ethiopia with four violations of relationship. The memorandum said Ethiopia had refused to define frontiers with the Italian colony; had continually offended the immunity of Italian representatives in Ethiopia; had prevented Italian citizens from developing economic enterprises, and had made attacks against the lives of good Italian citizens, even in Italian territory.

Anthony Eden, British Cabinet Minister, assured the League that there can be no question of any political or economic conflict between Great Britain and France.

British circles feared, a "fill-buster" by Mussolini's representatives, while he sought completion of "East African campaign."

Names Committee On WPA Projects

The regular monthly meeting of the City Council last night disposed of a number of routine matters, and heard proposals from a number of parties concerning propositions in which they were interested.

Present at the meeting were the Mayor and City Secretary and Aldermen Kinslow, Deaver, Read, Burke, Seago and Gerlach.

In the matter of the instrument house recently erected on a city street in north Memphis, quite a bit of discussion was indulged in. Complaints have been made by nearby property owners of the appearance of the small house, and the Council passed an order that, unless the water company could make things satisfactory in every way with adjacent property owners, they would have to move the house off city property within twenty days.

Commissioner Floyd Messer appeared before the Council and requested aid from the city in changing and improving the Campaign.

WHAT DO YOU THINK? Local Opinions on Pertinent Topics.

THE QUESTION: What is your estimate of the cotton crop this fall?

THE ANSWERS: O. M. COSBEY: Conditions have to be right for the remainder of the growing season, and most anything can happen between now and then. It is hard to tell and my guess is purely hypothetical, but in my opinion we will gin around 25,000 bales.

J. L. PATTERSON: Last Sunday I drove around part of the county. I took in the district from the Fairview school to seven miles east of Newlin and, if just part of the cotton in the county is as good as what I saw, I would judge that we will make between 25,000 and 30,000 bales.

W. S. MALONE: Right now the outcome of the cotton crop depends largely on the business of frost. If it will hold off until the latter part of November, I would chalk up my guess as 25,000.

JESS RODEN: I live in Collingsworth County, and our crop are nothing like the crops in Hall County, but to guess right close I would say very nearly 20,000 bales.

G. H. HATTENBACH: This is like guessing at the needle in the haystack. There is lots of good cotton and there is just plenty of sorry cotton. The recent rains helped in many ways. It killed most of the millers that were in my fields and, what I mean, they were plenty thick. For this reason I think the rains were just as

MOTORISTS ARE WARNED BY SCHOOLS

School Bus Traffic Law Will Be Enforced

County school authorities are calling to the attention of the public the state laws governing traffic around school buses, and are taking steps to have these regulations rigidly enforced in the county this year.

"Last year we had one child knocked from the road by a speeding motorist, just as she was preparing to board the school bus," said President Kuhn of the County School Board, "and this year we are not going to take any chances. The school buses in the county are this year carrying twice as many children as last, and the laws are going to be enforced. We are warning the motoring public, and after this warning, all offenders will be reported to the County Attorney and to the State Police."

Last year in Hall County there were 14 buses in service, carrying about 1000 children to and from school. This year, 17 buses are in service, three of them making two trips, and almost twice as many children are being carried.

The state law governing the operation of motor vehicles past any stopped school bus is as follows: "When and such School Bus vehicle stops, every operator of a motor vehicle or motorcycle approaching the same from any direction shall bring such motor vehicle or motorcycle to a full stop before proceeding in any direction; and in event such School Bus vehicle is receiving or discharging passengers, the said operator of such motor vehicle or motorcycle shall not start up or attempt to pass in any direction until said School Bus vehicle has finished receiving or discharging its passengers."

The penalty for violation of the law is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $500, or confinement in the county jail not to exceed 90 days, or both.

All school bus drivers have been instructed to turn in all violations of the law to their respective superintendents, who will in turn turn them over to Mr. Kuhn, who will pass them on to the County Attorney for action by the courts.

"Three complaints have been turned in already, with school only two days old," stated Mr. Kuhn, "but we are taking no action until the public has been warned. In future, all violators will be prosecuted."

"Both the County Attorney and the Sheriff have promised us their utmost co-operation, and we have been requested by the Texas State Police to turn over to them the names of all violators. The motorist who violates the law in future is going to have a rocky road, believe me."

FLORIDA STORM SWEEPS CAMP ON KEYS

Death List of War Veterans Placed Near 500

By Associated Press
MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 4.—Destruction of war veterans construction camps on the Florida Keys brought increasing fears today of a terrific death toll from the hurricane now raging in the Gulf area.

A searching party sent out from Miami reported to Red Cross authorities that they believed the loss of life would be from 400 to 500 at the camps alone.

High walls of water rolling in from the sea swept the camps, crushing the buildings and barracks in the camps like cardboard boxes and washed hundreds of the veterans into the sea.

The BLUE DOOR

By Rachel Mack © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
RUTH WOODSON, an attractive, high-spirited girl of 19, an orphan, lives in Brooklyn with her cousins, the LAWRENCEs. She feels herself a burden to her relatives and realizes that her pretty cousin, LETTY LAWRENCE, dislikes her. When JACK WILLER comes to the house and is attentive to Ruth, Letty's jealousy flares of hatred.

Ruth impulsively leaves the house, pawns a pin inherited from her grandmother, and boards an out-going bus. Her seat-mate, MRS. COGLY, advises her to go to "The Girls' Industrial League" in Pittsburgh. Halfway there, Mrs. Cogly remembers that the Girls' League is in Cleveland instead of Pittsburgh and has Ruth get off the bus at the next stop. Ruth is bewildered and hysterically amused at her plight.

NW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

Ruth ceased laughing as suddenly as she had begun. She opened her pocketbook and counted her money. She had exactly $1.11. She counted it several times over, looking at the pennies and hoping they might be dimes, hoping the nickels might be quarters, masquerading.

"A dollar and eleven cents," she said softly, "any way you slice it."

A native, leaning against the doorpost with his thumb thrust in his suspenders, eyed her lazily. "Hain't you better buy yer ticket?"

Ruth's face colored. "No," she answered, "I hain't."

She did not know how far she was from Cleveland or what the fare would be, but common sense told her it would be more than she had in her pocketbook. She'd been a fool to get into this plight, she thought. She had twice let herself be thrown off her course by that good-natured, irresponsible nit-wit of a Mrs. Cogly.

She figured ruefully. "There's no telling where this Girls' Industrial League is. It may be in Indianapolis. It may be in St. Louis. It sounds swell, but Mrs. Cogly's lizzy when it comes to geography."

Nevertheless, since her face was turned toward Cleveland, she

An hour or two later the driver half-turned and spoke to her out of the corner of his mouth: "You'll have to get off at the next stop—"

Ruth leaned toward him. "Why can't you take me in to Cleveland?" she asked. "There's room, and I'm not doing any harm sitting here—"

"I've already carried you 40 miles beyond your fare," he told her. "There's been room so far. But look what's coming! I can't let you keep a seat from a paying passenger—"

The bus was at a standstill before a town depot, and people were getting on. Ruth said, "If there's one seat left can I stay?" She was counting, prayerfully. "Five people getting on," she reported in a polite, pleading voice, "and five seats."

"All right," he shrugged his tired shoulders. "But when one more gets on, off you go!" The car began to move.

Again Ruth relaxed. A storm was coming up and the bus seemed cozy and secure as it passed through the streets of the self-centered little city. Out there people were hurrying and scurrying before the gusts of wind and the sudden flares of lightning. Within the bus was security.

But on the town's edge the bus halted. A man was standing, waiting to get on. The driver said to Ruth Woodson. "Well, here we are! Pull yourself together, kid, and hop off." He seemed regretful.

Ruth got off, and the passenger got on. She held her head high as the bus drove away. She even raised her hand in jaunty salute to the driver. But she was shivering. It was as if a cozy little house had been lifted from over her head by a cyclone, leaving her stranded and shelterless.

She looked around her. She was in the suburbs of a strange, old-fashioned town, made more gloomy by the breaking storm. A flash of lightning rent the air with terrific brightness. The crashing thunder that followed seemed to open the floodgates for the rain. It began to pour in wind-driven sheets.

Just beyond an iron fence Ruth saw a huge, tall old house of dingy stone set in a tangled lawn. A refuge. She opened a creaking gate and ran up the grass-grown walk, head bowed against the rain.

She pounded upon the door with her two small, frantic fists, her body plastered there by the driving storm. Yet even in this extremity she noticed something strange. She noticed that the great carved door was cleanly painted like a wizened statue. At the foot of the bed stood a young man with a body like a football player and a face that she might have dreamed. It was strong and humorous and sure of itself. The chin was square, the brow broad. She could not tell the color of the hair or the eyes, but the former was rumpled and the latter were smiling at her.

The old woman leaned over her. "Are you stronger now, Miss Elaine?" she asked.

"I'm fine," Ruth said brightly. "Just fine." And then she felt herself floating away again.

Beyond the range of her consciousness a cracked old voice was saying, "Lord help us, young John McNeill! What's to be done?"

And the young man's answer, coming almost roughly, "It's food she needs! Can't you see?"

WE'RE PROUD OF OUR SCHOOLS

LIVING up to advance prediction, the Memphis Public Schools opened this week with the largest opening enrollment in its history.

Memphis has always been proud of its school system, even in the early days when it consisted merely of a three-room wooden building in what is now North Memphis.

There has never been, insofar as we remember, a school bond election defeated in this city. Our people are school minded, and realize that the future of our city, our county and our nation depends upon the education of our youth.

The Memphis schools have a new superintendent this year, Prof. W. C. Davis, and early indications are that he is going to be one of the outstanding school heads it has ever been our good fortune to have.

Under his leadership, a number of new departments have been added to the schools. The popularity and need for these new departments is attested by the fact that the first day of school found each of them filled to overflowing by students.

Another encouraging note to be found in the school opening is that more than twenty post-graduates, some of them grown people, have enrolled for classes in several of the departments.

From every indication, Memphis is going to have a school system that any city might well be proud of, and it is the duty of our citizenship to get behind the school board and the faculty and give them our support in the maintenance of this splendid institution.

THEY WANT PAVING
 IF YOU don't think the people of the city want more paving under the PWA project plan, hunt up yesterday's Democrat and read again, in the "What Do You Think" department, what a cross-section of our citizenship has to say about it.

Modern asphalt paving with concrete curb and gutter, at $1 a running foot expense to the property owner, is something that you can't afford to overlook.

The city's expense, also, is negligible, compared to the cost of any type of paving under the usual plan.

Florida Storm

A surveying Coast Guard plane reported that a train dispatched to return surviving veterans to the mainland had been wrecked.

All forces of the government have joined the Red Cross in rushing supplies to the stricken areas and evacuating the keys.

The heaviest loss of life is reported on the upper and lower Matecumbe Keys, and in fishing villages along Plantation Key and Key Largo.

The first survivors placed in the Miami hospital told horrifying tales of destruction as the seas and wind swept away buildings, and hundreds of people were drowned and crushed to death.

HERE FROM LUBBOCK

Mrs. T. C. Delaney arrived yesterday from Lubbock for a visit with her son, Harry, and her mother, Mrs. D. H. Arnold, and her mother, Mrs. D. H. Arnold, Miss Hazel Delaney who has been visiting her mother at Lubbock accompanied Mrs. Delaney to Memphis and will be here a few days before returning to Houston.

Miss Delaney is with the Northern Texas Utilities Co., with headquarters at Houston. She is convalescing from a tonsil operation.

good for this purpose as they were for the moisture I received on my fields.

I haven't been all around the county, but, taking everything into consideration, I would place my guess between 20,000 and 21,000 bales.

One thought I have failed to mention—every one can promise less and make more in this county than any other county in the state.

B. J. ELLERD: We had the prettiest prospects two months ago than we have ever had. Since then different things have happened to cut down the ultimate out-put. I may be low on my estimate, I hope I am wrong, but I hardly believe we will make over 15,000 and for a still closer estimate I would say 13,500.

H. TITTLE: It was fortunate for the farmers that we had late frosts in the spring, which prohibited us from planting our cotton any sooner than we did. Had we gone on ahead and planted a month sooner, the crop would have been burned out and rains we just had would have been too late to have done any good. As it was the rains came in a nick of time, and they meant the difference between making a fair crop or a poor one. Having all this in mind I would say 18,000.

J. A. BERRY: There is too wide a variation between now and the time the cotton is ready to be ginned. My surmise would be based on the fact that we might go higher or we might have diverse weather conditions, which would bring the total number way below my figure. Letting it go at this, I think 25,000 will be pretty close.

SAM LINDLEY: I have a mighty good stand and I am expecting to make a 100 bales off of 160 acres of land. Of course I realize every one won't do this good, and I might not, if something were to come along and reverse the conditions. At the present time I don't believe I could give even a fair estimate, so I will pass.

ED LANE: Lots of the cotton has yet to make and if we have another fall this year like we had last, we will squeeze out between 18 and 20,000 bales. Now if the question were pertaining to feed, I would not have to guess. All I would have to say is we will make more than enough bales to take care of our needs. This had me worried no little before we had the rains. I knew we would stick around and try to raise another crop, but, for the life of me, I could not see how and where we were going to get the feed. I am plenty thankful that this is no longer a vital or serious problem.

TOMORROW: What do you think of the work of the Memphis Parent-Teachers Association?

Rescue Is Near For Grounded Ship

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 4.—Life boats were swung over the sides of rescue ships today, ready to be directed to the aid of the stranded liner Dixie, which is still afloat around French Reef, with 372 persons aboard.

The tension among ships crews reached a high pitch as the climax of their vigil approached. W. H. Denerman, a passenger aboard the Platano, one of the rescue ships, wireless: "One boat swinging over the side of the Palatano, and other ships drawing near. Dixie is directly off our beam, with the seas still breaking around her."

Seas were reported moderating, but a stiff wind was hampering rescue attempts, according to latest advices.

ROCKET SHIPS, UNLIKE AIRPLANES, NEED NO ATMOSPHERE TO SUSTAIN THEIR FLIGHT. IN FACT, THEY CAN TRAVEL FASTEST IN A PERFECT VACUUM.

IN MAINE, THIS FISH IS KNOWN AS THE DOLLAR-FISH, IN MASSACHUSETTS, IT IS THE BUTTER-FISH, AND IN CONNECTICUT, IT IS KNOWN AS A PUMPKIN SEED.

The AIR IS DRIER AFTER A THUNDERSHOWER THAN BEFORE!

A ROCKET ship is propelled through space by the explosive material in the rocket, and the body of the rocket, forcing each other in opposite directions. It can ever reach the moon, it will have to travel by rocket ship, since there is no atmosphere around that body.

tery Road. This road is to be straightened out, a new bridge put in, and the road graveled. Inasmuch as part of the suggested change will be within the city limits, the council was requested to help. They informed Mr. Messer that they would no doubt fall into line in this matter, and that it would be referred to a committee for immediate action.

City Secretary Kinard informed the Council that he had talked to Mr. Burke, of the Lubbock District Officers of the WPA, and had received confirmation of the fact that the deadline for the submission of projects had been advanced from Sept. 12 to the 5th.

S. T. Harrison, chairman of the county and city planning board, and County Judge Vallance appeared before the body, and urged the City-County Park project. Judge Vallance stated that since the deadline had been advanced on projects, it would perhaps be impossible to get this into shape in time, but that it might be shaped up and presented, in the event the deadline was extended to the later date.

Mr. Harrison and F. V. Clark C. of C. Secretary, also touched briefly on the park project.

In the matter of a rate raise requested by the water company, the Council refused the raise. An investigation of water rates in forty towns of the size of this in Texas had disclosed that Memphis already had one of the highest water rates in the state according to Secretary Kinard.

The street graveled project being sponsored by the city for presentation to the PWA was discussed at length, and it was decided to appoint a committee to whip this into shape today and present it at the WPA meeting at the court house. The Mayor appointed Aldermen Kinlow and Deaver and Secretary Kinard on this committee, which was also empowered to act in the park project matter. The committee was given full authority to do what was thought best on both the projects.

The city tax rate for the coming year was set at 97c, a reduction of one cent from last year's rate. This, with the 10 per cent reduction in values made effective earlier, will result in lower taxes for our citizens the coming year.

precinct 1 because most of the unemployables are in this precinct. It will be possible to use some $250 or $300 out of the $600 per man year allowance for the purchase of materials on the projects.

Some of the projects which the planning board hopes to have submitted, through the proper city or county channels, are:

Precinct 1, Memphis Buy additional canning equipment for canning kitchen and provide more working space.

Provide sewing room for women on relief.

Improvement of Memphis Public School grounds, to cost between $1,500 and $2,000.

City plans to gravel additional streets.

City-County park in suitable location; approximately 50-acre site. Gravel road two miles north and west of Memphis.

Gravel road east from Newlin to Childress County line. Gravel road toward Quail to County line.

Gravel road toward Wellington to county line.

Straighten and improve road from Memphis to cemetery, including new bridge across Parker Creek.

Precinct 2 Gravel road from west pavement intersection to Plaska. Gravel road north from west pavement to Brice.

Gravel road from end of pavement at Mulberry bridge to county line, about two miles.

Precinct 3 Estelline plans to gravel some city streets and spend balance on improvement of road to Tell.

Precinct 4 Turkey intends to gravel some city streets. Gravel 10 miles of road southeast of Turkey.

Resigns Post

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Sept. 4.—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, said today that he had resigned as first vice-president of the Young Democrats of Texas. Political foes had contended that only a native Texan should hold this post.

Narrow Escape From Drowning

(Special to The Democrat) PLEASANT VALLEY, Sept. 4.—Travis Pitts of this community narrowly escaped drowning last Thursday, while in swimming with several small companions in a small lake near his home.

The boys with him heard his scream for help, but thought he was just playing. His mother, hearing his cries, rushed to the lake and saw him sinking. Help was summoned and he was brought out of the water, unconscious. Artificial respiration for almost half an hour resulted in his regaining consciousness, and he is now reported doing nicely.

GIRL BORN

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rice announce the arrival this morning at 3:00 o'clock of a nine pound baby daughter. All doing nicely, the attending physician reports.

MATTRESS WANTED FOR COW
