

French Chiefs Review First Month Of War

Poland Conquered, Nazi Forces Now Moving To The West

By TAYLOR HENRY
PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ranking commanders of France's army, navy and air force met Premier Daladier today for an hour and a half review of the first four weeks of the war.

Immediately after the conference Daladier went to the Elysee Palace to report to President Lebrun.

The First Month
This, in brief, is what the first month of the war showed:

On land the Polish front has completely disappeared under the joint German-Russian invasion, thereby releasing German troops for use in other theaters. France and Britain in the west. Methodical French advances on the western front partly cleared out the no-man's-land separating the Maginot and Siegfried lines of fortifications by driving series of salients, the deepest of which was a scant seven miles German soil.

On either side of the industrial city of Saarbrücken—were reported by French military commentators to have three-fourths encircled the capital of the Saar mining basin.

On the sea the French and British fleets established a convoy system which was asserted to have assured reasonable safety for their shipping, despite the continuing activity of German submarines.

The French pointed to the safe arrival at Le Havre yesterday of the liners Champlain, De Grasse and Columbus after trips across the Atlantic as an indication that German submarines were being brought under control.

The French and British assert they have sunk at least a dozen submarines and halted more than 100,000 tons of contraband consigned to German ports.

In the air, Germany's fleet of planes, which had been one of the mysteries of the war, had everything their own way in Poland, but in the west—possibly because the Germans were so occupied in the east—French and British planes have been meeting them on an equal footing.

Army Fund Campaign To Open Wednesday

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

To give you an idea just how dry September really was, the U. S. Experiment Farm records now carry the month's total precipitation as .00. In fact it is the driest on record. One other September showed only a trace, but this year there wasn't even enough to show on the gauge.

From the point of expanding area trade, the three most important needs are roads, roads and roads. Hence, developments of the past week are encouraging. The state highway commission let a $145,777 contract on a 5.7 mile stretch of highway No. 9 south and the city cleared the way by filing five condemnation suits to provide all needed roadway. The county started work on the lateral road to the Moss Creek lake and announced that part of the right-of-way had been secured on a segment of the re-forested Garden City road.

Police succeeded in bagging a house prowler last week, thanks to a call from a woman on the North Side. The dispatch with which the man was captured serves to illustrate the necessity of calling direct to the police station—telephone No. 9—when suspected prowlers are seen. In a letter of appreciation to the police, the man said the patrol car arrived before his wife could leave the phone and get to the front door.

CREDIT CLAUSE MAY BE REMOVED FROM NEUTRALITY BILL

90-Day Terms Had Been Extended Belligerents Under First Draft, But Some Opposition Develops

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Indications of strong opposition to allowing warring nations to make purchases here on any credit whatsoever led to talk among some administration senators tonight of changing the neutrality bill to a strict "cash and carry" measure. Senator Milton (D-Iud) the majority whip and one of the leaders in the fight for the administration program, told reporters he thought it might be advisable to eliminate the 90-day credit provision and require strict cash payments.

"It would make it much easier to pass the bill," he asserted. "We will be back here in January, and if the cash provision is found unworkable we can change it."

As reported by the senate foreign relations committee, the measure would carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation that the existing arms embargo be repealed, would permit belligerent governments to obtain 90-day credits on purchases in the United States, would require that shipments to belligerents be carried in non-American ships and would authorize the president to designate combat zones in which American vessels and citizens could not travel.

If a foreign government failed to pay for its purchases within 90 days, it would be required to pay cash for future purchases until the debt was paid. Senator Pittman (D-Ore), chairman of the foreign relations committee, who filed a majority committee report on the measure today, contended this credit restriction was tantamount to cash. It was apparent, however, that many senators were ready to dispute this in the long-awaited senate debate which will begin Monday with an address by Pittman and a reply by Senator Borah (R-Idaho), ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee.

One oppositionist, who asked anonymity, said that foes of the bill might shift the main thrust of their attack from the embargo repeal to the credit provisions. He said that a strict requirement for cash payments probably would have more popular appeal than proposals to continue the existing arms embargo, which forbids the shipment of American armaments to belligerents.

Students Are Seized By Fugitives

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 30 (AP)—A widespread police net was set tonight for three elusive state convicts who tunneled to freedom and forced four Huntsville high school students, members of prominent families, to accompany them on a wild ride across Southeast Texas last night.

"The men were very nice to us all the time and used no profane language," pretty 16-year-old Mary Ethlyn Ball related after she and her three youthful companions were freed unharmed by the fugitives, a life-time murderer and two robbers, at Beaumont, about 140 miles from Huntsville. "We were scared at first but

CLUB BOYS TO HAVE STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

Howard county 4-H club boys Saturday contributed toward a feed and cotton exhibit which they will have at the state fair in Dallas. County Agent O. P. Griffin said that there would be four units for hog, three for milk and two for cotton. The exhibits will be dispatched to Dallas Monday.

On October 16 a group of five club boys will leave here with Griffin for a three-day encampment at the fair. Delbert Simpson, who has been in the 4-H club work for a period of four years, was announced Saturday as the fifth member of the group.

AFL DELEGATES PONDER PROBLEMS

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30 (AP)—The war in Europe, 1940 politics, and the failure of the last congress to act on much of labor's legislative program held the attention of delegates moving in here today for the 59th meeting of the American Federation of Labor Monday.

Preconvention lobby discussion indicated that national politics probably would be injected into floor debate during the two-week session. It will be the last convention meeting before the 1940 elections, but there was no advance signs the federation would be moved from its traditional non-partisan policy.

AMIS TAKES CHARGE

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30 (AP)—Marshall W. Amis arrived here today to take charge of the regional office of the United States Housing Authority, officially opening Monday to direct more than $70,000,000 worth of federal housing projects in six states.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—When William Darnell was accidentally shot 19 years ago the bullet lodged in his head. It never bothered him so he let well enough alone. Yesterday he sneezed and the bullet dropped from his nostril.

Reichstag To Hear Report From Hitler

Fuehrer Also To Consult With Envoy From Mussolini

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER
BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, moving swiftly upon his conquest of Poland and expanded partnership with Soviet Russia, tonight arranged for consultation with an envoy of his Italian ally and a declaration before his reichstag.

Evidence of Loyalty
Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy was due early tomorrow night in Berlin in response to a German government invitation.

ROME, Sept. 30 (AP)—Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano left suddenly for Berlin tonight at Adolf Hitler's invitation and foreign circles predicted early developments in the German-Russian peace gestures toward Britain and France.

which Germans said was evidence of the loyalty with which the fuhrer kept his axis partner, Premier Mussolini, informed.

The reichstag, called only to hear Hitler give an exposition of his policies, will meet "in the coming week" and informed sources said the fuhrer would outline the future relations of Germany and Russia.

The treaty concluded Thursday in Moscow by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop will form the centerpiece of the reichstag speech, these sources said they believed.

It was regarded as a matter of course that Hitler also would give an account of his stewardship as supreme commander of Germany's armed forces since September 1.

Authoritative circles were unanimous today in pointing out that in the past the western powers, except for Napoleon in 1807, never bothered about Poland's fate.

It was indicated that from this it might be assumed that Hitler, too, will tell the western powers "once more to keep their hands off eastern European affairs."

The supreme army command's morning communique, describing developments in the last 24 hours, noted on the western front only "a little livelier artillery activity."

In the east it said 269 Polish officers and about 5,000 men surrendered after the capitulation of Morlin and a quantity of war material had been captured.

It also announced that in the past two days 45 steamers had been searched for contraband by German warships in waters between Denmark and Sweden and a number of them were captured.

Elaborating on yesterday's British raid on German planes near Heligoland, German North sea base, the high command said there were two groups of six planes each.

The first group was driven away by anti-aircraft fire before it could do any damage, the communique said, while the second group was attacked by German pursuit planes and five of six raiders shot down.

AMERICAN AIRLINES FILES APPLICATION

American Airlines, Inc., today filed with the Civil Aeronautics Authority an amendment to its petition seeking to establish service between Oklahoma City and San Diego to include service to Lubbock, Texas. This was announced by Charles A. Rheinstrom, vice president in charge of sales.

Lubbock, a city with a trade area of more than 30,000 population, does not now have any regularly scheduled air line service, Mr. Rheinstrom said. Under American Airlines' amended application regular air service would be established from Oklahoma City to Lubbock, Albuquerque, to Phoenix, to El Centro, Calif., and terminating in San Diego. Connections would be made at Phoenix with American Airlines service over its Southern Transcontinental, Los Angeles-New York route.

POLISH GOVERNMENT SET UP WITHOUT A COUNTRY TO RULE

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Polish government without a country was established officially in France today. In a dramatic ceremony at the Polish embassy, mid-mannered Wladyslaw Haspelowski, former president of the Warsaw senate, took the oath of office as president of the republic now divided between Germany and Russia.

He succeeded 71-year-old Dr. Ignace Moscicki, who has been held in internment in Rumania where he fled before the German invaders.

Dr. Moscicki tonight passed through Subotica, Yugoslavia, en route to France by way of Italy. He traveled as a private citizen.

Ignacio Paderewski, famed pianist and former premier of Poland, was reported to have declined the presidency because of ill health.

RUSSIA IS MOVING SWIFTLY TO WIDEN INFLUENCE IN BALKANS

Nazis May Extend Sub Warfare As New 'Warship' Policy Cited

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The British admiralty said tonight the German radio had broadcast an announcement that Germany now would consider every vessel of the British merchant navy as a "warship."

The admiralty said it interpreted this as a possible indication of "an immediate change of policy in German submarine warfare."

An announcement by the British ministry of information said: "The following message has been promulgated to all British merchant ships by the admiralty: 'The following has been received by German broadcast this evening: 'Several German submarines have been attacked by British merchant ships in the past few days. 'Hilbert, the German wireless asserts 'German submarines have observed international laws by always warning merchant ships before attacking them. Now, however, Germany will have to retaliate by regarding every vessel of the British merchant navy as a warship.' 'While the above of course is entirely untrue, it may indicate an immediate change of policy in German submarine warfare and you should be prepared to meet it.' 'There was no immediate confirmation from Berlin.)"

Britons Cheered By Outlook For Diplomacy In Balkans

TRANSPORTS BEAR MEN TO FRANCE; BLOCKADE TIGHTENS

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Beneath the deceptive tranquility of an autumn weekend, Britain's soldiers, sailors and statesmen worked at war tonight from the North sea to the Dardanelles.

Millions hored by sandbags and blackouts, tucked off work early just as always, and headed for the country, they were cheered by newspaper headlines which told them "Anglo-Turkish pact is ready" and by repeated authorized assurances that the Russian-German agreement on Poland and a dictated peace "changes nothing for England."

War held nothing of the thrill of the fighting "peace in our time" which Prime Minister Chamberlain brought home from Munich just one year ago today.

But a steady procession of grey-clad, troop-jammed transports steamed to France. The might of the fleet held Germany in a tightening blockade, Royal Airforce bombers roared low over the Siegfried lines with photographers and mpsmakers. Whitehall threw all the power of its secret diplomacy into the tug-of-war for the upper hand in the Near East and the Balkans.

News that mutual assistance and economic agreements with Turkey are ready for signature and that a 5-man Turkish military mission headed by ruddy, handsome Ben. Klazim Orday is en route to London was printed widely. Receiving less prominence were reports that the pacts contain a clause cancelling Turkish commitments if Britain and Soviet Russia go to war.

Although official comment was withheld, persons usually well-informed said that London regarded such an attitude on the part of Turkey as natural because the friendship between Turkey and Russia was indispensable economically and strategically to both countries.

The same sources predicted See BRITONS, Page 3, Col. 6

Berlin Claims Air Victories

BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—DNB, German official news agency, said tonight seven British planes were shot down today in two engagements with German planes, one of which it said occurred over the North sea and the other over the western front.

The news agency said the Germans also "caused one French plane to crash."

(The British air ministry announced in London that British planes had engaged in an air battle over enemy territory and "some" British casualties had resulted.)

DNB asserted two of the British planes were destroyed over the North sea by two German pursuit planes.

In the vicinity of Saarbrücken, on the western front, it said five British planes approached the western front and that all were shot down. The news agency added that the same German squadron that encountered the British caused the crash of the French craft.

No details of the reported battles were given. In a summary of the first month of the war, DNB declared the British had lost 37 planes and the French had lost 11 in air battles or anti-aircraft fire.

The news agency said that in addition to the British losses which it listed, an undetermined number of planes went down with the British aircraft carrier Courageous, torpedoed Sept. 18.

POPE SPEAKS FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

GASTEL, GANDOLFO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Pope Pius XII expressed the hope today that religious freedom would survive in dismembered Poland "despite many reasons for fear given by the two well-known designs of enemies of God."

Speaking at an audience for Polish residents of Rome in his first public utterance since the invasion of Poland, the Pope admonished his hearers that "as you shed bitter tears for your dead, remember that Poland is not going to die."

Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski was named premier, commander of the Polish forces and minister of military affairs, Sikorski formerly served as premier.

Southeastern Europe Pact Indicated

Rumania, Bulgaria And Turkey Might Join Soviet

By ELMER PETERSON
BUDAPEST, Sept. 30 (AP)—Dispatches from Balkan capitals tonight indicated that Soviet Russia, under the cloak of her newly gained military advantages, continued to move swiftly in an apparent plan to neutralize the Black sea area and extend her diplomatic influence throughout southeastern Europe.

Rumania Joins In Russian - Turkish negotiations have been followed closely by an announcement that Rumania will join in the Moscow talks, leading to the belief a Black sea pact under the direct guidance of Moscow was being framed.

Such a pact, if signed by Rumania and Bulgaria as well as Turkey and Russia, observers said, would have the immediate obvious consequence of establishing Soviet-Russian communications via the Black sea and the Danube.

Moreover, it would firmly establish the Soviet state as the dominant influence in an area where German influence has hitherto pressed for advantage, it was said.

Rumania meanwhile reported what was interpreted as a strong indication that Russia did not intend any further military action for the time being, relying instead on "pressure" passed through her newly gained frontiers.

Coincident with the announcement that Rumania will join the staff of experts would go to Moscow Monday, it was reported that Rumania had received assurances through a "third party" that the Besarabian frontier would be violated. (Rumania gained See RUSSIA, Page 3, Col. 2)

COTTON SUBSIDIES PASS $100,000 MARK

More cotton subsidy payments were received by the county office Saturday, pushing the receipts to date past the $100,000 mark.

The block of checks received Saturday numbered 80 and totaled $500. This brought the receipts to date to $102,894 in 1937 checks. A tabulation of the county's acreage normal yield times a subsidy of 1.8 cents a pound shows that the total revenue from this source this year will be $144,000.

Third Quarter Business Off

The trend of business for the third quarter of the year continued about the same—off from last year—according to a survey of public agencies Saturday.

Building activity and postal receipts were both down and only new passenger car sales showed a gain. However, with buying tapering off on the eve of issuance of new models, even this division slided during the third quarter.

Most pronounced drop was in the construction trades with building permits within the city amounting only to $249,975 for the first nine months of the year against $378,796 for the same period a year ago.

Residential building, after getting off to a good start early in the year, slumped to almost nothing since mid-summer to leave the total new dwellings at 88 and a cost of $122,560.

Postal receipts rallied slightly during the last quarter to show a negligible gain, but even so the nine months total was only $51,143 as against $58,484 for the same period last year.

New car sales, strong during the first half, weakened during the third quarter but showed a small advantage. The three quarter total was 765 new passenger automobiles, well above the 660 machines delivered for the same time in 1938.

September building permits were $14,060, way under the August figure of $45,875 and the September, 1938 total of $41,347. Postal receipts amounted to $5,018.71 in September, down slightly from the $5,642.85 for the same month last year but up from the $45,367.96 in August. New car sales amounted to 88 for the month, up from the 52 for September 1938 and down from the 62 for August of this year.

Adult Training To Be Offered

An extensive program of training for skilled workers will be available to the public of this month, it was announced school authorities Saturday.

Trade extension classes were open to almost any class of workers when 12 or more sign up for a unit course that will help them in their daily work or fit them for promotion to a better job.

In charge of the work will be E. C. Pennington, formerly of Pampa and who this year reple Henschel Cook as a member of commercial department faculty the high school. Pennington graduate of East Texas teachers college and Texas A. M., has had two years experience in evening school supervision.

Courses offered will have hours instruction and will cost member only $1.75 in an annual fee. Those who successfully complete the course work and attend classes 90 per cent of the time will be given a certificate from the State Department of Education and will be eligible to part in another course.

Only restriction is that the person enrolling must be training engaged in the type of work he intends to study. He cannot enroll in a class in which the instructor is wholly unrelated to his work.

The evening school is not having been provided for only Smith-Hughes act passed in 1917. Several such courses have been successfully held, among them the commercial classes conducted by the past four years by Henry C. Low, the railroad shop-keeper, reading and dictation courses by busy Rogers, carpenter and printer under W. S. Pennington.

Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy In Film Version Of Potent Dramatic Story

'Bromfield's 'The Rains Came' Playing At The Ritz

What is termed the outstanding picture of the new season, and a truly gratifying film adaptation of a great book (by Louis Bromfield) is the Darryl F. Zanuck production of "The Rains Came," which plays at the Ritz theatre today and Monday. Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent are in the stellar roles.

As a novel this powerful story of human emotions at the breaking point and human lives at the climax with the angry forces of nature savaged the earth, proved one of the outstanding best-sellers of the last decade, not only in the United States, but in the British Empire, France and the Scandinavian countries as well.

How successfully and how faithfully Zanuck has transferred to the screen this fascinating story set in the colorful mythical city of Kanichpur, India, is reflected in a statement made by Bromfield.

"This is my story and these are my characters," wrote the author. "As a novelist I am grateful for the privilege of seeing this book come completely to life. In my opinion, "The Rains Came" is a great picture. I should like to express my gratitude to Darryl F. Zanuck and Director Clarence Brown who recreated it with such astounding fidelity."

Myrna Loy is seen as the amorous Lady Esketh, Tyrone Power has his most romantic role as

TWO TARZANS

Johnny Weissmuller, who probably is known just as well by another name—Tarzan—is joined by a junior strong man of the jungles in "Tarzan Finds a Son." The new player is John Sheffield, and the picture is at the Lyric today and Monday.

Major Rama Safti, and George Brent plays the world-weary Tom Ransome.

Brendis Joyce, star-maker Zanuck's newest discovery, interprets the role of young Fern Simon, while others featured in the great cast are Nigel Bruce, Maria Ouspenskaya, Joseph Schildkraut, Jane Darwell, Marjorie Rambeau, Henry Travers and H. B. Warner.

Clarence Brown directed the production, which reproduces with breath-taking realism the earthquake, flood, fire and plague highlighting the novel. Philip Dunne and Julien Josephson wrote the screen play and Harry Joe Brown was associate producer.

B'SPRING AGENT IS HONORED AT INSURANCE MEET

Agent J. M. Mobley of the National Life and Accident Insurance company spent Thursday in Abilene attending a district meeting which was attended by 20 representatives of this territory. The main speaker for the occasion was W. H. Julian, western manager for the company. Julian presented the Abilene manager, Mr. Tucker, with a 15-year service pin and gave recognition to Mr. Mobley for having completed 10 years' continued service. Mr. Mobley also received recognition for having the leading record in the district for the quarter and year to date. Mr. Julian expressed appreciation for the progress of the agency in Big Spring and advised that the company is contemplating placing an additional representative in Big Spring in the immediate future. He also stated that the company is looking forward to locating a staff of six in this section of West Texas with headquarters in Big Spring, within the next year.

FALSE ALARM
PARIS, Sept. 29 (AP)—Parisians ducked into air raid shelters for a 33-minute period of alarm today only to learn one of their own planes, flying high, caused the warning. The alarm was the first since Sept. 11.

NATURE ALSO IN THE CAST

Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy and George Brent have the leading roles in the film version of Louis Bromfield's story—"The Rains Came," which plays today and Monday at the Ritz—but Nature also plays a vital part, what with earthquakes, fire, floods and plague contributing to the high emotional movement of the story. The Darryl F. Zanuck production is regarded as one of the season's best.

CONNOLLY IN LEADING ROLE

Walter Connolly, one of Hollywood's able character actors, has won top role in a new production which plays today and Monday at the Queen theatre. Called "Those High Gray Walls," it's a sinister adventure story of science wandering into unusual fields, and with Connolly in the cast are Onslow Stevens, Paul Fix, Bernard Nedell and Iris Meredith.

Volume Picks Up At Gins

Cotton gins handled their biggest volume of the season during the current week as the cotton harvest neared the halfway mark. Despite the fact that four Big Spring gins turned out nearly 1,300 bales last week, ginning estimates were revised because previous figures based on 40 per cent of the county's total was found to be inaccurate. New estimates on the total number of bales stood at around 5,700.

The four Big Spring gins had a combined total of 3,336 bales as of Saturday evening. Two gins at Coahoma had turned out 1,230 bales to bring the known ginning total to 4,573. Eight other gins in rural sections were unreported. Lint prices broke slightly during the week, sliding off as much as 25 cents and an average price appeared to be around nine cents with picked cotton going at 15-16 strict middling.

Within the past two days snapped cotton gained in volume at Big Spring gins and one place estimated nearly 50 per cent of the cotton handled Saturday was of this variety. Coahoma snap volume ranged from 10 to 15 per cent. Snap prices were 25 points off the picked levels.

Seed held firm at $25 a ton for the second consecutive week. Some new maize began to move during the week and brought around $13 a ton. Old maize varied from $14 at the barn and $15 a ton delivered. Only trades on bundle stuff were reported around three cents.

STATE PARLEY OF I. O. O. F. UNITS DUE TO DRAW 500 DELEGATES

Approximately 500 delegates and members of the two higher branches of Odd Fellowship in Texas are expected to gather here a week from today for the 38th annual session of the I. O. O. F. grand encampment of Texas, the 42nd annual session of the department council Patriarch Militant of Texas, and the state parley for the I. A. F. M.

Final arrangements were completed at a dinner session Friday evening at the Crawford hotel when all committee members were guests of Nick Bremner, general chairman of the Patriarch Militant.

Largest representation expected here next week for the three day meeting is expected from the encampment, the rank between the sub-ordinate lodge and the Patriarch Militant.

At least three teams of 18 each will be on hand to compete in the Golden Rule degree work, said Jones C. Lamar, member of the general arrangements committee. They are from Tyler, Dallas and Fort Worth. The Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch Militant degree team from Tyler will present degree work for the women's division.

Of the delegates flocking here for the convention, around 100 will be clad in the Patriarch Militant uniforms and 50 or more I. A. F. M. members also will be uniformed.

Russia

Arabia from Russia at the end of the World war).

Considered important in Russia's new diplomatic achievement was Turkey's reported decision to refuse to fight alongside Britain and France in fulfillment of any mutual guarantee pledges if the Soviets became involved with the western powers.

Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was said further to have agreed to close the Dardanelles to warships of all belligerent nations, thus neutralizing the Black sea and keeping Soviet-German communications intact.

Turkey Would Cancel Treaty For Russia

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 30 (AP)—Turkey, her role in the Near East greatly altered in the past few days, was reported tonight to be ready to cancel her mutual assistance obligations to France and Britain if they go to war with Soviet Russia.

A clause providing such release was said to be contained in the new economic and military agreements which a Turkish military mission headed by Gen. Kildan Orbay is taking to London. The mission left for the British capital tonight.

(In London, authoritative sources said this attitude on the part of Turkey was a natural one because the friendship of Turkey and Russia was indispensable economically and strategically to both countries. These sources said a war with Britain and France on one side and Russia on the other was "extremely remote.")

Rumanian Minister Arrives In Moscow

WITT HANCOCK MOSCOW, Sept. 30 (AP)—Soviet Russia's shadow over the Balkans was thrown into sharper relief tonight by the impending arrival of Rumania's foreign minister.

(A Bucharest announcement said Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu of Rumania and a staff of experts would leave for Moscow Monday to confer with Soviet officials.)

Some sources said the Rumanian's visit tended to confirm reports that Russia had assumed a dominant role in the Balkans and had been given a free hand there by Germany in exchange for assurances of raw materials and neutrality in the western European war.

Negotiations with Rumania are projected at a time when Moscow has become the center of several diplomatic activities because of the visit this week of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop; completed negotiations with Estonia for a mutual assistance pact and a Russian base on Estonian soil; and consultations with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

R-Bar Dinner Set Thursday

The second in the series of autumn good will dinners sponsored by the good will and trade extension committee of the chamber of commerce will be staged Thursday at R-Bar.

Invitation of the R-Bar community was accepted by the committee in a called session Friday afternoon. At the same time the committee announced it would go to Fortran on Nov. 9 for the third and final in the fall series. No others will be held until 1940.

Pat Kinney, chairman of the ticket sales committee, announced that a drive would be launched at 9 a. m. Monday following, gathering at the chamber offices. He urged all committee members to be present.

Cliff Wiley and Joe Pickle were made co-chairmen of the program committee for the R-Bar event. They will confer Monday evening to round out program details.

T. J. A. Robinson, G.W. Norman and Alfred R. Collins were named as a committee to take recommendations for Christmas season decorations and celebrations to a mass meeting of merchants scheduled for 2 p. m. Oct. 11.

when the men were so nice to us we were relieved," Miss Ball continued. "We had a lot of fun but we wouldn't want to go through it again."

Her companions of the ride were Cleburn Bishop, 15, Jack Felder, 16, and Willene Smith, 16.

The convicts, who gained freedom by tunneling under the grandstand of the prison rodeo grounds, next to the prison proper, were Lloyd Rayburn, 31, serving life from Montgomery and Walker counties for murder and robbery with firearms; Clifton Davidson, 33, serving 35 years from Dallas for robbery, and J. Whitley, 24, serving six years from Kaufman for burglary.

A fourth convict, Jack Cade, 30, serving 25 years from Harris and Dallas counties for robbery, dug out of the stockade with the kidnapers but decided to go on his own in fleeing from Huntsville.

Miss Bell was born and reared in Tyler, being a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in East Texas. At the present time she is attending the University of Texas.

that the government would make a statement on the progress of British-Turkish alliance negotiations within three days but that this would not deal with recent Russian-Turkish talks in Moscow.

The position taken was that these have nothing to do with each other; that Turkey will conclude alliances with Britain and France; that Russia having easily obtained what it wanted in Poland will not attempt to alter Turkey's diplomacy toward western European powers for fear of rupturing its friendship with the nation that holds the Bosphorus, Russia's southern gateway.

On Monday or Tuesday Chamberlain will tell commons what he thinks of the Soviet-German agreement which partitioned Poland anew between her conquerors and proclaimed a basis for "durable" peace. Authoritative sources have reiterated that Britain considers the Near-Soviet demand for immediate peace as a "bogey" which will not frighten Britain and France and will not alter their plans for obliterating Hitlerism even if it takes a long war.

Ward buildings by the city. This will involve some expense, but what is expense compared with life—especially the life of a child?

Perhaps local governmental agencies will speak with more conviction henceforth when they threaten suits for delinquent taxes. Once upon a time this was pure bluff and the taxpayer knew it. Not any more, though, for the judgments entered in district court Saturday conclusively prove that.

Next week National Fire Prevention Week will be observed here. Of course this won't stop fires, but perhaps it will awaken a few people to the need for care in preventing needless loss, for after all, very few fires can be attributed to anything but carelessness.

According to an announcement last week, 35 families in Glasscock county will receive free mail delivery for the first time starting Monday. This is a forward step, but in this day and time of fast automobiles and better roads, it seems almost odd that any section of the country should be without such an essential service as this.

Show dates for the 1939 annual district club boy basketball show have not been established pending settlement of questions, particularly one about an auction sale in connection with the event. We see no point in such a sale, except to make a boy feel good by drawing a few premiums. It certainly does not teach him the real lesson intended in buying demonstrations—leading for profit. This can be impressed only through selling on the open market—just as any practical salesman must sell.

Basso To Open Music Series

Douglas Beattie, young California basso of the Metropolitan Opera will be heard in concert here Oct. 10 to open the first annual concert season of the local Civic Music association.

Beattie was graduated from the University of California in 1929. He intended to become a surgeon like his father, but a visit to Italy changed his mind and he induced his father to let him have a try at singing. He studied for two seasons in California and for another two in Italy under Aristide Aneschi and Gino Puccetti.

His debut in Genoa was something of a record breaking event. He sang twelve performances in as many successive nights, appearing in three different operas. This he followed with eight successive performances in Savona and sixteen performances in seventeen days in Turin.

Returning to California in 1935, Beattie was engaged for appearances in the Hollywood Bowl and

Respond Generously

Not a source of pride with Big Spring is the fact that, in the past three years, it has failed miserably to provide the minimum financial support for the proper operation of the Salvation Army post here.

The city has an opportunity to wipe out some past failures as, this week, the Salvation Army appeal is put forward. The Army is raising in this drive $2,000—just half its full year's budget—and there exists a challenge here to all of us to see that the quota is met.

There is no valid argument against the Salvation Army's work. Almost everyone knows the great humanitarian work it does for the down-and-outers, the folk who so often otherwise are passed by.

The Salvation Army reaches all persons. It reaches many that no church, no religious group, no other welfare organization can touch. Its personnel is comprised of zealous, sincere people whose every aim is devoted to the mending of broken lives and the lighting of a brighter path for those who miss out on normal advantages.

Perhaps many of us do not realize how all-embracing is the Army's program. But you can rest assured this city would realize it, were the Army's services taken away from Big Spring. To say that this community, or any other, can get along as well without a Salvation Army unit as with one is to say that every person in the community is beyond need of help and friendship and moral uplift.

There are lots of people who need the Army's help the year around. Right now, it is the Army that needs help, so that it may answer the pleas of these unfortunate. We haven't done so well in the past; but let us be determined that we will do well this year. Someone will call on you in the Army's behalf this week. Respond generously.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Broadway, which has been lifting one eyebrow after another since the jitterbugs started manning the theatrical classics, lifted a pair of them the other day when the news came out that Joan Edwards was writing a swing-musical version of George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman."

Now that Broadway has absorbed the shock of the WPA swinging Gilbert & Sullivan's "Milkado," and George Abbott's swinging Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" (Abbott called it "The Boys From Syracuse") Broadway is ready to expect anything.

In fact right now, a company is rehearsing Benny Goodman's live interpretation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Still, theatrical dopsters figured that cynical playwrights like Shaw would be safe from the hep-cats. Miss Edwards, however, feels pretty certain that if she can get permission from Shaw to produce her musical version of "Man and Superman" will be an entertaining, if slightly unorthodox, show.

Up to now Miss Edwards has been known as a demure, 21-year-old girl, who is heard on the radio with Paul Whiteman's band, and frequently plays engagements in vaudeville theatres throughout the land. In her spare moments she is a hard-working composer, writing popular tunes in collaboration with Arthur Gershwin, younger brother of the late George Gershwin.

Miss Edwards and Mr. Gershwin had written four of five jazz tunes, and a few weeks ago they were sitting around their studio, racking their brains for a new angle on a love-song.

"Why don't we swing a classic?" suggested Miss Edwards, none too originally.

"Who should we swing?" said Mr. Gershwin. "They old Tchaikovsky, Debussy, Beethoven, Bach and Brahms."

"I didn't mean a musician," elaborated Miss Edwards. "I mean somebody like—like Shakespeare. Somebody BIG!" She waved her fingers around vaguely.

"What do you mean—somebody big?" Miss Edwards flashed a collected volume of Shaw's plays. "I received this from the Book-of-the-Month club," she explained, "and it gives me an idea. An idea to do something with Shaw. That would be really something—different to swing."

"You said it," avowed Mr. Gershwin. Fired with enthusiasm, Miss Edwards sat awake all night jotting down musical ideas, fragments of her choruses, adding new characters to Shaw's play and subtracting others. In the morning her project looked so solid that she dashed off a cablegram to Mr. Shaw, as well as a lengthy letter explaining her plan, and soliciting his permission and approval. To date, she has received no definite word from the Irishman. But Miss Edwards hopes that he has enough sense of humor to approve the light-hearted version of his swing version of his play.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

Chapter 23 SACRIFICE

Tim's reproof was a tidal wave which carried away the final barrier of Buffy's self-control.

"Tim! Tim! Listen to me! I know you'll hate me, I don't expect—truly—that you'll ever speak to me again. That doesn't matter. What matters is that you must be protected against—against falling into the same trap twice. Oh, it's dreadful of me, but my loyalty is due to you, my friend, rather than to—to her!"

"Tim, she told me in so many words, right here in this room and just the day before yesterday, that she knew perfectly well what Latahaw was doing; that she was a willing party to the fraud. She said—that a woman could always make a nice profit if she was pretty and would lend herself to a scheme that was not too scrupulously honorable."

He had risen and was gripping the back of his chair with rigid fingers.

"You expect me to believe this? That Iris would confess to you?" "Oh, don't you see, Tim?" She bent forward, her tear-filled eyes on his. "She relied on my not revealing what had been said to me in confidence. She said she was relying on it! She told me it was a good thing I was scrupulously honorable, or I'd give her away to you!"

"And now you have? Or think you have?" His voice was icy courteous. "And now I have. It's the only sensible thing to do, don't you see, Tim? All this talk of keeping a confidence when I hadn't asked for it, agreed to make it one?—is silly compared to saving you from marrying a woman like Iris."

"I don't believe you, Buffy. Not a word of what you've said." In her turn she rose, her small head thrown back proudly. Anger threatened to put an abrupt stop to her efforts on his behalf. But Buffy was accustomed to controlling her anger. Lance had taught her from her babyhood that her will should be stronger than her emotions. She drew several long, deep breaths. She consciously relaxed her small clenched hands. When she spoke it was in a steady, even a casual way.

"Use your good sense, Tim," she urged. "What I'm doing tonight will erase me from your life. Whether you marry Iris or not, you'll always hate me for what I've told you. Would I make such a sacrifice—for surely even you know it is a sacrifice, Tim!—unless I believed it was for your good?"

Because he still entertained a tiny, quivering doubt of Iris, because he realized he had been swept away last night by the tide of passion which had carried over his head from the minute she entered her warm, fragrant room and found her, infinitely lovely and desirable, waiting to slip into his arms, he resisted the patient frankness of this queer child. Iris she had told him so, weeping and clinging to him with desperate needed defense, needed his help; arms. Buffy was a strong little thing who could always look after herself.

Masculine Pride Besides his masculine pride was up in arms at the idea of Buffy's protecting him. Well he knew what George would think of his marrying Iris after—after last summer. That he could meet, man to man. But Buffy's wading into the fray on his behalf was too much. He wished in the depths of his unhappy heart that he had never seen her; never seen Iris either, he thought, and then instantly rebuked himself for heresy.

"The sooner we bring this painful scene to a close the better," he announced. "I'm sorry you feel as you do toward Iris. I'm sorry we can't all be friends. But in the circumstances—"

She let him go with his sentence unfinished. For once in her life, the fight had gone out of her. She curled herself into an anguished ball by the fire and tried to plan; to plan—for Tim. It was of no use. Tim was no longer hers to plan for! Not that he had ever been, but she had believed she had a friend's right, the right of a woman's wisdom to rescue him from a difficulty into which his simple masculinity had led him.

She could picture the quiet triumph of the other girl; her slow curling smile, the upward sweeping lashes, the sweet humility of her voice as she discussed her engagement with Tim's friends. Almost she knew the exact words Iris would use.

"The course of true love never did run smooth, you know, and Tim and I were no exception. It was just because I loved him so much, so terribly much, that all that misunderstanding came about last summer. It's all cleared up now and Timmy and I are too happy for words, aren't we, Timmy?" "She called him Timmy," muttered the weebone-like little figure in the deep armchair. "I just know she'll call him Timmy! And not even that will convince him of the kind of girl she is!"

Webby looked in on her way to bed. "It's past eleven, Miss Buffy. Hadn't you ought to be getting your sleep?"

"Pretty soon," she said absently. "I'll come pretty soon." But the clock on the mantel chimed midnight, and one, and two before she stirred. She had worked to do tonight, had Buffy Carroll. First of all, she must control her emotions; anger, jealousy, love, outraged pride. How could she think when her mind was tossed about by these forceful passions?

It took a long time to overcome them. Buffy had recourse to many an aid which would have astonished her parents. She thought of the mountains; the snow-capped peaks which had looked down on her, much human misery and uncertainty. All the wild passion in the world could dash itself against their grim sides and move not so much as a small rose-colored boulder from its appointed place. The knowledge steadied her. Quite literally she could tell herself: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." Help did come from contemplation of the unchangeable, the immutable, she knew. Iris's puny deeds, Tim's foolish chivalry, even her own yearning love for the big mistaken man, seemed small and unimportant, measured against the mighty range.

Lesson of Patience Then there was time. She was young to have learned the lesson of patience, but somehow she had learned it. "Give it a few weeks or days, Buffy, or even a few hours, it's wonderful how time brings out the true value of things." Thus Eleanor, restraining her impetuous child. The restless cartoonist and his gentle wife had not done so badly for their daughter, after all, even though her formal education had been frequently interrupted.

"Iris will try to hurry the marriage. Why? There's a reason back of all this," thought Buffy, her alert brain once more at work on the problem. "I know she isn't marrying because she cares for him or because she wants to be safe from anything or anybody. It's all tied up, this buying back that useless land, Iris returning, her determination to be engaged to Tim."

Her small face was haggard with fatigue. The fire had burned itself to ashes and the room was cold. But slowly into Buffy's eyes the light of hope dawned. Hope and resolution.

"I'm going to find out what all this is about! Tim, the old fool, may go on being noble and waving his eyebrows at me all he likes. I'll drop my lecture course—damn! did I ever try to get educated that something didn't interfere?—and haunt Miss DeMutt until she discover what she's up to!" She made a childish face, moved her foot and found it asleep, stamped on it to restore the circulation. "So there, Tim Corliss! You may be just like that young man they used as an example to teach me grammar years ago. I will drown and no one shall help me! And so he drowned because he couldn't get his auxiliary verb right. But you aren't to drown, my darling, idiotic Tim, though heaven knows you've got all your verbs, nouns and adjectives—especially your adjectives, Tim!—about as wrong as they can be."

She moved her stiff body cautiously. "I wonder if I'd wake Webby if I took a hot bath? I'll risk it, anyhow. I'll never get thawed out except in a tub of boiling water." The announcement of the end.

Preston Grover Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Yankee ship lines stopped foreign ships from raising prices for returning frantic Americans.

Immediately on the outbreak of war, American ship lines, the bulk of which are in debt to the government or subsidized by it, told the maritime commission that no passenger rates would be raised until American fugitives were brought back.

There was considerable growing among foreign lines. "An American stranded on a war-ridden shore is fair game for whatever foreigners can shake out of him.

During the World war, returning Yankees had little recourse. There weren't enough American boats. Now there are. It has been an expensive job to build up the American merchant marine but it seems now to warrant the trouble it took.

Since the shipping subsidization program was given new life about three years ago, 100 passenger and cargo vessels have been ordered. Of these, 19 have been launched. Others are far along in the building.

On completion, they will add more than a million tons to U. S. tonnage. That will double our present deep-sea tonnage. The 18 major lines now subsidized by the government operate 148 vessels of 1,028,000 tons total.

NEW, LARGE TANKERS

Of course that isn't all to which the U. S. would have access in time of war. U. S. deep-sea tonnage is only a minor fraction of the vast coast-wise tonnage, part of which is fully capable of diversion to deep-sea transportation.

In addition to the ships already ordered, bids were opened by the maritime commission late in September on an additional 24 vessels, including 12 "national defense" tankers. These are tankers capable of accompanying the fleet in action but serviceable in peacetime commerce.

These tankers are of 16,800 horsepower, compared to about 4,000 horsepower for the ordinary tanker. Their capacity is 150,000 barrels, about double ordinary, and their speed is 20 knots, which again is almost double that of rank-and-file oil carriers.

By agreement, the cost of extra speed facilities, gun placements, and other essential navy features are paid for by the government. Oil companies pay the balance of the cost of the ships.

The government owns outright about 40 commercial vessels now at sea and has an additional 119 collecting barnacles in various out-of-the-way estuaries. They are forlorn babies of the last war.

NARROW LANES

As this is written two government-owned vessels, leased to private concerns, are in the Baltic sea. Others pass in and out from time to time with permitted cargoes. We are informed at the maritime commission that none touch at German ports.

They carry on under exciting circumstances. Entering the Baltic they pass in the vicinity of the British home fleet stationed in the North sea south of Norway. A British pilot steers them through secret courses among the British mine fields laid to block subs.

They have a strip of free passage until they reach the German mine fields in the narrow seapasses between Denmark and Sweden. Then German pilots navigate them through secret clear channels.

They have equally exciting trips through the English channel, where British pilots must steer them. As they round the shores of Holland times really get tough. The British have laid mines to keep German submarines from setting out by way of the Kiel canal. Nearer shore is the German mine field laid to protect important Nazi strongholds. The two mine fields actually overlap.

Robbin Coons

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—It's a white brick house that is uncolossal and charming, set in trees and shrubs and flowers. A man in a white jacket lets you in to a wide hall that is cool although September sultriness is witting.

The hall opens at one end on a terrace, looks to the right beyond into a large cool-looking living room. At the terrace door stands a young woman in a pale blue wool suit, dark glasses hiding her eyes, a movie script in her hand.

"I've locked myself out," says Irene Dunne. I let her in, but we go to the terrace again and the man in the white jacket—whose name is Bernard—brings a glass of sherry and a glass of fruit juice. The latter is for Irene Dunne.

"I'm on the wagon," says Irene Dunne. "I've been on for two months. For no reason—not diet, not health, not anything."

She sounds a little like Barfly Sadie, the gal you expect to find under tables at night clubs seven nights a week. This is funny only when you know that Irene Dunne, to go on the wagon, merely has to tell the driver to move over a little.

The terrace is not a patio. There is nothing California-Spanish about it. It is a restful place, looking out on a hedged-in formal garden. But tragedy is here, I learn. Missy's turtle has run away.

Missy is Irene Dunne's adopted daughter. The turtle came from the San Francisco fair. Irene Dunne is more worried about Missy than she is about the turtle. Missy has told her about taking the turtle for a long walk, about what Missy told the turtle, what the turtle told Missy. Irene Dunne is wondering where, in the recital, imagination ends and veridicalization begins.

Anyway, Missy at the moment is upstairs, peacefully napping, and we have lunch on the terrace. "May I have the fly-swatter, Bernard?" says Irene Dunne, first thing. Bernard fishes it from behind a begonia plant, and soon Miss Dunne, between egg souffle and salad (molded grapefruit), has scored a direct hit. The victim lands on the table, the victor resourcefully hides it from view with a salt cellar. (Resourceful Bernard, later, gingerly removes it.)

The war. We sign a truce. No mention of it, this once. "The Women." She hasn't seen it—hasn't seen a movie in two months. She's going on a binge—she's going to see lots of movies and catch up. "When Tomorrow Comes." She isn't too happy about it. She wants to do something serious again.

Like "Madame Curie." Universal bought it for her, but Universal had to sell it to M-G-M—when it studio was reorganizing Garbo's to do it. Once, with only a mediocre picture to her discredit, she bawled RKO executive until they agreed to test her for the role of Sabra Cravatt in "Cimarron." She won the role—and a career. She didn't know any better then, maybe. She just decided she wanted that role, and she talked herself into it. She couldn't talk herself into "Madame Curie" now. After all, she's not with Missy, she understands about contracts and commitments—and—oh, well, she's looking for another serious role.

Don't Be Among The 48: There Are That Many Marked For Death On The Highways Before Jan. 1

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—Death-riding Texas highways in a declared war, has marked 488 victims for fresh graves during the remaining quarter of 1939. State police, basing their figures on past records of highway violence, today said that among the yet unknown victims will be 342 men, 80 women, 76 children and possibly—youth.

"If you don't care about yourself," asserted Director Homer Garrison, Jr. of the state police appealing for caution among motorists, "please, please consider the other person, his wife, her husband, their children or other dear ones."

The unmerciful avenger of careless driving, police statistics said, has buried 1,102 victims so far this year and the increasing hazards of early twilight, key roads, closed cars muting warning horns and jubilant football attendants crowding roadways on week-ends, are doubling his threat as winter approaches.

The death count, it was pointed out, does not reflect the anguish brought into hundreds of homes by traffic accidents. During the past nine months, 8,715 have been injured, some of them destined to suffering the rest of their lives, while economic losses through damaged motor vehicles, hospital expense and other tabulated costs, approached $16,700,000.

Assessing the traffic situation for the remaining days of the year appeared gloomy, police declared fatalities were increasing after the first six months had shown decrease over a similar period last year.

Unofficial predictions indicate the fall accounting far short of a 25 per cent decrease in 1938 fatalities under 1937. The loss of lives at year was 1,610.

Highway patrolmen have been instructed to "bear down" on the drunken driver, responsible for about 20 per cent of fatalities.

Alahondro Romero, charged with assault with intent to murder, was sentenced to one year in the state prison and Joe Thompson, who entered a plea of guilty to a count of theft, was sentenced

TURKEY PROMOTED AS YEAR-ROUND ITEM ON MENU

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 30 (AP)—Because they believe the average American appetite for turkey is not satisfied by the customary Thanksgiving and Christmas diet, American businessmen are ready to promote the bird as a year-round food, a Harvard business school graduate asserted today.

"Actual tests have demonstrated that time of year has little or no bearing upon the epicurean's enthusiastic endorsement of a perfectly preserved or freshly killed turkey," said Frank G. Chambers, writing in the Harvard Business Review.

On the basis of past success it seems probable that the nation can and will be convinced that it would enjoy turkey on such unorthodox occasions as July evenings," he wrote.

Study Club Gives A Banquet

Affair Given At Hotel Here On Friday Afternoon

COAHOMA, Sept. 30. (Sp.)— A travel motif was featured on Thursday evening when the Coahoma Civic and Study Club members held their annual banquet at the high school. A course of study in travels into other lands will be studied by club members this year.

Mrs. C. C. Thompson, of Colorado City, representative of the sixth district congress of federated club women, was the speaker for the evening. Her subject was "American Woman and Citizenship." Mrs. G. M. Boswell, toastmistress, presided. Others on program were Miss Sibyl Meyers, who gave a toast; Mrs. Ethel Rives Byrd, who gave a response and greetings; and Miss Emilee Ramsey, who played a piano solo.

A reflector holding a rustic modeled ship filled with American Beauty roses centered the banquet table. Places were marked by world globes containing the menu and program. Plate favors of small cars, buses, trains and airplanes futhered the motif.

Norwegian salad with Russian sandwiches, Finland fish, Mexican pepper rings, Caribbean vegetables, Chinese rice, Swedish tea rolls and butter, Ethiopian coffee and South American pie composed the menu. Members present were Mrs. G. M. Boswell, Mrs. Ethel Rives Byrd, Mrs. Grant Young, Mrs. Ben Little, Mrs. John Flasche, Jr., Mrs. W. J. Jackson, Miss Elizabeth Coffey, Miss Penit Forrester, Miss Oleta Hudson, Miss Nettie Lee Shelton, Miss Sibyl Meyers, Mrs. D. S. Phillips, Mrs. R. A. Marshall, and Miss Emilee Ramsey.

Immediately following the banquet, a brief business session was held with Mrs. Ethel Rives Byrd, president, presiding. Federation and local club dues were discussed. November 18th was selected as the date for presentation of a program by Jack Rank, impersonator of Shakespeare characters. Mrs. R. A. Marshall resigned as secretary of the club and Miss Emilee Ramsey was elected to succeed her.

A Covered-Up Look To Be Important In Evening Clothes This Winter

For winter's more formal parties a New York designer makes this full-skirted, decollete evening gown of soft rose satin. It is worn with an overskirt of black Chantilly lace, tied with a velvet ribbon, reflecting the season's evening vogue for sheer black lace. (Costume assembled by Bergdorf Goodman.)

By ADELAIDE KERR Fashion Editor

A covered-up look is one of the most distinctive features of the new winter evening mode. As though couturiers had sensed in June that they were designing for a war year, which would put a damper on big parties and the wearing of elaborate decollete gowns, they evolved scores of costumes that would cover epidermis instead of revealing it and would answer a need for less formal clothes.

Jackets top hundreds of gowns; long-sleeved dinner frocks and suits are legion, and covered shoulder lines distinguish many evening gowns. Heads are often at least partially covered with some frivolous head dress; long evening gloves are being worn and hands are hidden in muffs.

There also are many luxurious decollete gowns designed for the winter's most formal parties, but even some of these have fichus or separate jackets, which can be worn with them at less formal affairs. While many frocks agree on keeping shoulders and arms under cover they differ widely on the question of alibouette. Slim sleeve dresses are going to be beside full-skirted, shelf-hipped Spanish infanta gowns in the most fashionable ballrooms this winter. Dinner dresses with pre-war peg-top skirts will be seated near bustle gowns that recall the Eighties at the smartest dinner tables in town.

But virtually all of them will have slim little waistlines with a corseted look and most of them will accent hips by some such device as hipline drapery, full hip-rounding skirt, or peplum jacket.

A small book could be written about the jackets that contribute so much to the covered-up look. In silver-striped lame, velvet-striped faille, velvet, sequins and wool they top everything, from the plainest dinner gown to frothy, beagued dancs frocks. A smart idea this year is to contrast them with the skirt or frock (except in wool dinner suits, where they match). Some of the tight, waist-length ones are tucked into the drapery of the dress until they seem to be part of the frock.

The long-sleeved dinner dresses, which are so important, are cut of black, Quaker gray, taupe, mist blue, green and wine purple soft wools, jerseys and crepes. Their skirts are generally slim, their plain demure bodices finished with neckline embroidery or worn with a necklace whose blazing splendor would make a maharajah's eyes snap.

These dinner frocks and suits

The cover-up mode is reflected in a crepe dinner dress, cut on the slim cigarette silhouette and embroidered in black paillettes.

generally step out with something that passes for a hat—a turquoise velvet bonnet tied under the chin or a frivolous froth of feathers. Muffs go with them too—slightly mink-tailed ones or important affairs of fox.

Beside them in designers' show-rooms walk some of the most resplendent and glittering evening dresses the fashion world has seen in a long time, their deep decolletes revealing gleaming shoulders. Frothy pastel nets scintillating with motifs of iridescent paillettes or silver threads, shirred, cut pale satins with overskirts and fichus of beautiful black Chantilly lace, rich brocades and full skirted black, red and green velvets are ready for the most brilliant soirees. There also are a number of silk jerseys, crepes and chiffons (black, gray, green and blue-violet) with intricately draped bodices and covered shoulders for less dazzling occasions.

Brilliant jewels, frivolous head-dresses such as halo-spangled uncupped ostrich, and long gloves to match or contrast with a frock set the final seal of elegance on the 1940 evening mode.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Having stuck to straight football through the first three games, the Big Spring griders are expected to rely on a bit of wizardry in their conference go with Odessa this weekend. The herd came through ship-shape in the Lubbock affair. Both D. R. Gartman and Clifton Patton were helped to the sidelines during the clash but will be ready to go against the Broncos.

The Lubbock crew will never cop the District One title with the material Weldon Chapman has on hand this semester. There's no Jumbo Webster to rely on. Vic Payne, who umpired the Friday go here, told some of the boys after the game that he gained more yardage than any one else on the field (Payne called interference on three different Big Spring passes).

Attendance in the WT-NM baseball league more than doubled that of the 1938 season. The circuit attracted 260,000 paying customers with its 140 game schedule while the 1937 schedule with 130 games, lured just about 110,000 through the turnstiles.

Charles Akley, Lubbock pro who was in town Friday to see his home town griders rack up a win over the Big Springers, relates that Ralph Guldahl, former National Open golf champion, will play an exhibition match over the Lubbock country club course Oct. 16, pairing with Lotin Burnett, club champion, to play Akley and Jack Edmond, famous trick shot artist. Guldahl is making several appearances in this vicinity.

And, speaking of records, the Barons compiled the best mark in twin killings with 112 although neither Don Wolin nor Bobby Decker were individual leaders.

Several league records went into discard but Bobby Decker's stolen base standard of 67 sacks was not threatened. Grover Seitz's 44 plfers was the closest. Tex Walton set up a new mark in three base blows, in reality getting three more than statistician Tom Miller's checkup showed him to have. A total also set another record he wasn't so proud of, collecting a total of 161 strikeouts. Bob Bailey of Pampa was second in gathering "k's" with 145 to his credit. Decker boasted the best batting eye among the regular hitters, being retired on strikes but 33 times.

Pat Patterson, Baron righthander, who went to his home in Oakland following the completion of the season here, has returned to Middle Atlantic league.

CINCY FANS BANK ON WALTERS AND DERRINGER TO HURL AND BAT REDS TO SERIES' WIN

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30 (AP)—Unable to talk it over with the boys in person because they are waiting for it to quit raining in Pittsburgh, the curbside prophets devoted their day today to figuring out ways for the Cincinnati Reds to take the New York Yankees in the forthcoming world series. The more they figured, the more complicated the problem became, and among the more vehement faithful it resolved itself in this: "Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters can be counted on for two games and maybe all four and then there's Gene Thompson."

Since this added up to five games, one more than either team must win, and since the Yankees aren't going to be taken in four games anyway the discussion would be where it started. But here is something for the Yankees to consider: The regular Cincinnati team, including Pitchers Derringer, Walters and Thompson, is hitting a neat 296.

You can include those pitchers. They don't carry a bat just because the rules require it. Bucky, of course is one of baseball's real hitting pitchers. In the course of winning his 27 games, he has been up 118 times and hit safely 39 for an average of .331.

Twenty-nine of the hits were singles but there were eight doubles, a triple and a homer. You don't dare pitch a grapefruit to him. Derringer has 23 hits for 110 tries, or .209. This is nothing sensational, but count on Paul to lay down a hunt or float out a long sacrifice fly when it's needed. Thompson's 45 trips to the plate have given him 11 hits, including a double, for .244.

American firms have about four billion dollars invested in Canadian branches.

JOHNSON AND MALLOUF ARE PONY STARS

By AUSTIN REALMEAR

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 30 (AP)—Southern Methodist's mighty Mustangs and the Sooners of Oklahoma pushed each other around Owen field for 60 minutes here today and wound up in a 7 to 7 deadlock as a bad case of sophomore jitters robbed the home club of a victory in the season's gridiron opener for both sides.

More than 25,000 fans watched the Sooners drive 42 yards to a first period touchdown and then spend the rest of the game scratching their backs on their own goal posts and handing the ball to the Mustangs.

Oklahoma unwrapped a long-kicking, pass-pitching sophomore named Jack Jacobs who was the spearhead of the Sooner offense, but it was this same Jacobs who developed "fumbllitis" and committed the bobble that set the Texans for their lone scoring thrust in the third period.

Southern Methodist also cracked out a sophomore, Preston Johnson, who engineered some sizeable gains on the ground and in the air, but it was Ray Mallof, a junior from Sayre, Okla., who stole the thunder with his passing and running and scored the Texans' tally on a 15-yard gallop.

Jacobs, an Indian lad playing his first college game, brought the crowd to its feet by taking the opening kickoff on his 6-yard line and scampering 64 yards down the sideline before being dropped.

The Sooners drove 15 yards further before a pass interception stopped them at the 15-yard line and Bob Seymour, Sooner fullback, intercepted a pass on the SMU 42 to set the stage for the scoring drive.

Jacobs passed 21-yards to John Shirk and then carried the ball to a first down at the 4-yard stripe, where Seymour smashed over after three attempts. Dick Favor kicked the extra point.

Oklahoma held the upper hand throughout the first period, but in the second, when the Mustangs got the wind on their side, the Sooners were thrown on the defense.

Panthers Upset Huskies, 27-6

SEATTLE, Sept. 30 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh Panthers romped over the University of Washington Huskies in an inter-sectional football opener before 25,000 fans today, 27 to 6. Pittsburgh scored on a 20-yard pass to Rettinger in the first period; Cassiano scored after a 44-yard drive in the second period and Kliah counted twice in the final quarter. Washington got its lone score in the third period when Jones went over after a 44-yard march.

Football's Old Guard Holds Own Saturday

Pitt, Notre Dame And Minnesota Score Victories

By HERR BARKER

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Football's old guard held firm today. Notre Dame, Fordham, Pitt, Minnesota, Duke, Tulane, North Carolina and many another whose name is synonymous with football power pushed through to victory with varying difficulty as the new gridiron season fought baseball for space in the nation's sport pages.

There were surprises here and there but a real bonus side Class-A upset was harder to find than a seat on the subway during the rush hour.

Pitt's Panthers, operating under a new and "purer" athletic deal, rolled over Washington at Seattle, 27-6, in the feature attraction of a brilliant program in the Far West. Doc Sutherland's coaching shoes at Pitt now are filled by Charley Bower but the Panthers looked as powerful as ever.

Meanwhile Southern California, Rose Bowl champion, had to come from behind in the fourth quarter to earn a 7-7 draw with a tough Oregon outfit. Oregon State, hailed as a possible Pacific Coast contender, stopped Stanford handily, 12-6. Santa Clara ran into a tartar in Utah and had to be satisfied with a 7-7 tie with the strong Mountain States conference favorites.

Eike Out Win Notre Dame, clashing with Purdue's fine outfit in the day's outstanding game, sliced out a 3-0 edge on a three-period field goal by John Kelleher, and Tulane, hailed as a leading contender for the Southeastern conference title, barely squeezed past a tough Clemson Army, 7-6.

Most of the others spent a more comfortable day. Minnesota, for instance, rolled up a 22-0 class-A victory to a spectacular 7-4 decision over Colgate and Holy Cross inaugurated Joe Skeelski's coaching regime with a surprisingly one-sided 28-0 rout of Manhattan. Dartmouth, Carnegie Tech, Brown, Lafayette, West Virginia, Boston College and Villanova all won more or less in routine fashion from out-manned rivals.

Defeat of Bucknell, 6-0 by Gettysburg; Lehigh 7-0 by Alfred Williams, 7-0 by Middlebury; Amherst, 7-6 by Vermont, and Western Maryland, 12-0 by Cortland Teachers, were the major surprises in the east.

Illini Upset In the Middle West, Wisconsin had to fight off a late rally by Marquette to merge with a narrow 14-13 decision while Indiana yielded to a late Nebraska attack and had to be satisfied with a 7-7 draw. Illinois, held to a scoreless draw by Bradley, and Chicago, beaten by Beloit, 6-0, were victims of the principal upset, Iowa overpowered a late Nebraska attack and had to be satisfied with a 7-7 draw.

Missouri uncorked unsuspected scoring strength in routing Colorado, 30-0, and Oklahoma, champion of the Big Six last year and unbeaten during its regular season, was held to a 7-7 draw by Southern Methodist.

Texas gave the Southwest conference one inter-sectional victory, punching over two touchdowns to whip Florida, 12-0. Texas A. and M. was responsible for another, a 14-0 triumph over Centenary, the Louisiana's third successive defeat. Baylor ran over Southwestern, 34-0.

Sharing interest in the South with Tulane's close call and North Carolina's one-sided victory was a fine performance by Allen McKeen's Mississippi State array which stopped Arkansas' vaunted aerial show cold and romped off with a 19-0 decision. Alabama was slow starting but finally mopped up Howard, 21-0; Kentucky was impressive in a 21-0 conquest of Virginia Military and Georgia revealed considerable power in a 26-0 victory over the Citadel.

EXHIBITS POWER

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Minnesota served notice that it again has a powerful football team to defend its laurels in the Western Conference when it smothered a hapless University of Arizona eleven in a touchdown barrage here today, 69 to 0. Regulars and reserves shared in the slaughter of the Westerners.

Williamson Shines As Busters Triumph Over Longhorns, 18-0

By HANK HART

Paced by an unused reserve by the name of Jimmy Williamson, the Lubbock Westerners maddled the Big Spring Beers and defeated them 18-0, here Friday evening but not before the Bovines had given the invaders some uneasy moments in the second round.

Coach Weldon Chapman's crew, completely stymied in the first quarter by a hard charging Big Spring line, unraveled a tricky attack in the second to push across a six-pointer in the second, then discovered to their own satisfaction that Williamson could scat quite effectively in counting twice before the third quarter whistle sounded.

Williamson scored both touchdowns after debuting in the third quarter. Alford Scores Howard Alford traveled some three yards for the initial Lubbock score midway in the second quarter. Merriman's kick was blocked and the Busters led only by a 6-0 count but they started another touchdown drive once they got their hands on the ball. The time gun caught them on the Herd three yard line.

The Westerners set the stage for the drive when Pete Cawthon recovered D. R. Gartman's fumble on the Big Spring 46. Gartman had plenty of trouble holding onto the ball throughout the game, dropping it no less than five times.

The locals made their bid for a Yearlings In Opener Thurs. Howard Schwarzenbach's Yearlings, junior high school football team, open their 1939 schedule with Colorado City's Juniors in the Highland Park stadium Thursday afternoon.

The Yearlings have been working under Swatzy for the past week. More than 30 boys have reported for the drills and the mentor expected to have a smart first string.

The remainder of the schedule: Oct. 13—San Angelo here. Oct. 26—Lubbock here. Nov. 9—Sweetwater here. Nov. 17—San Angelo there. Nov. 23—Colorado there score and the lead early in the second period when Bobby Martin and Gartman paced a drive that carried the Bovines half the distance of the field to the Lubbock three yard line but at that point the Westerners tightened to stop three power plunges and an end dash by Lally Bethell.

Most effective and shaping up far differently from that exhibited last week against Colorado City was the Herd aerial display. With Bobby Martin as the tosser the Bovines completed eight of 30 flings for a net gain of 86 yards.

In the first period, however, Bob Savage allowed a perfect toss by Johnny Miller to slip through his fingers after he had maneuvered around the opposition's ten-yard stripe.

Short Dashes Williamson circled end for eight yards for the second. Lubbock touch, then slipped through the Big Spring 55 yard line of the line for 13 yards and the third.

Chapman filled the game with substitutes after the clinching score but dispatched his regulars back into the battle five minutes before the game was over to test his passing attack. Cawthon completed a 47 yard pass as an advancement. Bovine defenses tightened after that outbreak and chased the Lubbock assault behind the eight-ball.

The Busters set the pace in first downs, scoring two more than did the Big Springers in recording 13, and held a wide advantage in ground gains, rolling up 259 yards on running plays to 105, but could not hold their own in aerial warfare. The Cawthon-to-Hart completion was the only Lubbock ozone success.

Notable was Bethell's punting. The wronghander booted five times for an average of 43 yards. On three occasions the invaders' safety man had no chance to return the kicks. Bethell caught the Westerners' unawares at one stage.

BAYLOR BRUINS OVERWHELM SOUTHWESTERN BUCS, 34-0

WACO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Baylor Bears completely overpowered the Southwestern University Pirates to take an easy 34-0 victory in their opening football game of the season here today.

Using a running attack and cutting loose with aerials at timely intervals, the Bruins kept the Pirates on the defense throughout to score twice in the first period, once in the third and twice more in the final quarter.

Baylor rolled up 18 first downs while holding the Pirate backs to a lone first down through the line. Passing plays in the third period gave the Pirates three more first downs but the Baylor backfield tightened to keep Southwestern deep in their own territory throughout the game.

The Bears tallied first midway in the opening period when big Jack Wilson, Baylor soph, tore through the Pirate line on three running plays to go from the Bruin 47 down to the Southwestern two, where Milton Merka, Baylor quarter, crashed over left tackle for the score. Robert Nelson converted.

Baylor scored seven more points in this period, seven in the third and 13 in the last quarter. Score by periods: Baylor . . . . . 14 0 7 13-34 Southwestern . . . . . 0 0 0 0-0

CRAIN AND MAYES LEAD TEXAS TO 12-0 WIN OVER FLORIDA

Kimbrough Leads Aggies To Win Over Centenary

Records Both Touchdowns In 14-0 Triumph

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 30 (AP)—Jarrin' John Kimbrough twice blew down the bandaged Centenary Gents today, the Texas Aggies salting down a 14-0 triumph that buried, decisively, a seven-year jinx before 10,000 homefolk.

It was the first Aggie victory over Centenary since 1931. Outclassed offensively, a Centenary team that mugged only to the Cadet 40-yard line, twice folded before Kimbrough's destructive power driving and staved off other threats only on sheer stubbornness. The massive Aggie line passed out yardage on the dote basis, permitting only 52 yards by ground and 11 by air. Meanwhile, a gang of Cadets that finally numbered 33 before the playing was over, totaled 261 yards on combined running and passing.

Crippled even before start of the game, the Gents, encased in leg bandages and shoulder harnesses, suffered several more hurts, but never did its big line, led by Loyd Hearne, give the Aggies easy going.

Score Nullified
One more Aggie touchdown, a magnificent 64-yard punt return by Bill Conaster down the sidelines, was nullified when officials recalled the play on an offside penalty. Big Bill Dawson's attempted field goal from the 12-yard line late in the second period drifted wide of the bar.

goal line. One line drive, starting at their own 44 yard line after Center Odell Herman intercepted one of Bynum's numerous passes, produced the second Aggie score. Price shot a 15-yard pass to Kimbrough on the Centenary 45 and then ran twice himself to make it a first down at the 34. Kimbrough and Jim Thomason started jarring the line and Price suddenly broke away for 12 yards to the five. Kimbrough's knees were bumping his chin when he plowed over the Centenary line, standing up, for a touchdown on his first blast. Price delivered the second extra point.

Gators Fight Herd Off Feet In 2nd Half

Amarilloan Goes Over For First Touchdown

By RAY NEUMANN
AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—A rejuvenated University of Texas team, sparked by sophomores who scored the touchdowns, today overwhelmed an embattled University of Florida eleven 12-0.

Toward the end of the clash, the second for the invading Southeastern Conference team, the Gators fought with a vengeance seldom seen on Memorial Stadium turf, their defensive play throwing the Texans for repeated losses. But Florida's offense got practically nowhere through a sturdy Steer line and never threatened to score.

A crowd of 15,000 came to its feet with a roar when Jack Crain, Texas' individual star, took a shovel pass early in the second period and raced 42 yards to Florida's 28. It was the Longhorns' first serious threat and the team was composed of nine sophomores sent in at the start of the quarter.

Wheat Crop Threatened By Drouth

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (UP)—A fall drouth which has overspread the farm belt threatened today the first American "war crop" of wheat since 1918.

Days without rain or with only scattered showers have created the worst fall drouth in years for some sections, a survey showed.

The drouth has delayed soil preparation and wheat planting well beyond normal dates. Wheat farmers in the southwest drilled seed into the dust and hastened to apply for federal crop insurance.

In sections already sown to wheat the drouth has prevented or retarded germination.

Little pastureage apparently will be available for cattle and unless rains come soon wheat winds may play havoc with plowed land bare of top growth.

The farm-belt survey showed excessively dry spots in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas as well as in scattered areas of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Indiana.

With wheat prices raised about 15 cents a bushel by the war—they are 47 cents higher than a year ago—farmers are intent on seeding the 1940 crop. Much acreage now being put in to permit producers to qualify for insurance may be abandoned, crop experts say.

The drouth brought a rush of insurance applications.

In Texas applications totaled 4,000, and the prospective insurance total was twice that written last year. Supervisor E. R. Duke attributed the increase to normal expansion of the program rather than drouth. The only noticeable rush for applications, he said, occurred at the outbreak of the war.

Pipeline From Seminole Pool Is Rumored

Producing Area May Get Outlet To Couden Refinery Here

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 30—Further closing of a gap between production in the Seminole field in Gaines county, accompanied by an unconfirmed rumor that the pool, the largest in Texas without a pipeline, may obtain such an outlet soon, was one of the principal developments in the north part of the West Texas Permian basin this week. Another was a one-half mile west-extension of the Means field in Andrews county.

Highlights in the south part of the district included a 2 1/2 mile northeast extension to the Tubbs deep Permian production in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county, drilling in of the first Ordovician producer in the Big Lake field in Reagan county in more than five years and the staking of two locations and the spudding of two tests in the Ateo area, Pecos county's first Ordovician producing area and only the third in the basin.

Nolan County Pay
Nolan county on the borderline of the Permian basin and the West Central Texas district was assured its first production in the heading of high gravity oil from Strawn sand at 5,135-53 feet by Green & Owens of Abilene and Metcalf and Killman of New York. N. J. G. Tipton, wildcat three miles southwest of Trent. Fourteen hundred set of water was being carried, the hole being open below 4,326 feet, where 5 1/2 inch casing was cemented, and four-inch flush joint casing awaited.

In the center of a 5,400-acre block, No. 1 Tipton is 1,445 from south, 842 feet from the west, and 439 feet from the east. It is in section 42-19-T&P. It is several miles southwest of the old Nees Creek pool in Jones county. The great Strawn production is in the old Strawn field in northwestern DeWitt county to the southeast. Ohio Oil Co. No. 1 W. C. Gibbs, 1/2 mile north and slightly west of original Seminole pool in DeWitt county and three miles southeast of a four-mile northwest extension, flowed naturally 787 barrels of oil in 17 hours through a starter-inch choke on two-inch tubing at 5,268 feet, filling storage tank 680 from the south, 1,960 from west line of section 230-G-TRR. Onage started No. 1 J. L. Johnson, 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 268, 1 1/2 miles north of production in the northwest extension to the field. Negotiations were reported under way by a Fort Worth man to lay six-inch 80-mile pipeline from the Seminole field to the Couden refinery at Big Spring to furnish at plant 5,000 barrels daily. The carrier, according to the rumor, likely would serve the basin's newest pool opener, Stanolind No. 1 J. B. Rayner, on the east edge of Cedar Lake in northeastern Gaines county. Stanolind staked No. 1 American Warehouse Co., 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 5-4-D&W, a quarter mile west of No. 1 Rayner.

Alcoo Oil Co. No. 1 W. S. Knight, 990 feet out of the southeast corner of section 773-D-John H. Gibson, extended the Roberts pool in Yoakum county one-half mile northwest flowing from 5,244 feet, after a shot, at a daily rate of 773 barrels.

Extending the Means pool one-half mile west, Humble No. 67 J. S. Means, in the southwest quarter of section 3-A35-pal, flowed eight barrels of oil hourly on gas lift, bottomed at 4,560 feet, after treatment with 4,000 gallons of acid.

The oldest occupied city of South America is Cuzco, Peru.

The oldest place on earth is believed to be a remote point in eastern Asia.

After A Man's Heart

agement duly appeared—in the next day's paper. Buff had a bad time when she saw the words in print. Upheld though she was by her conviction that there was still time to save Tim, and accustomed by years of Lance's work to view newspaper stories and announcements with little of the awe accorded them by most people, still those black letters set her to trembling, gave her a sinking feeling at the pit of her stomach.

Not for long, however, George, rushing up while she was still at dinner, did much to restore her composure. George was in a fine roaring rage. Tim Corlies was a fool and he, George Weekes, didn't care who heard him say so. For a Canadian dime, he'd bust up the partnership and let Tim go to hell, wherever his soft heart and soft head led him! And thus and so, and double it and treble it, and then some!

"Sit down and have a turnover and a cup of coffee," Buff soothed him. "You'll find heaps better afterwards. George, do as I say!" she added sharply. "You and I must talk, and I want you to be calm, not upset, during our conference."

He brightened at that. "Then you think there's still some hope—"

"You bet your sweet life there's hope," the girl answered, instantly but firmly. "You wait till you hear, George!"

Greatly cheered, he ate two turnovers and drank three cups of coffee; then followed her into the living room where she poured out the story of her last talk with Iris.

Wanda, 18, was found dead near a high school athletic field August 8. Shevchuk will be tried later. He says Dworecki promised him $100 but paid only 50 cents.

Deserts are caused chiefly by regular passage of hot, dry trade winds.

YOUTH TELLS OF SLAYING GIRL FOR FIFTY CENTS

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 29 (UP)—A trial record carries today the calm statement of a slick-haired youth that the minister with whom he once boarded paid him 50 cents to take the clergyman's daughter out on a date and choke her to death so that the father would get her life insurance.

Testifying at the trial of the Rev. Walter Dworecki, 21-year-old Peter Shevchuk declared yesterday he strangled Wanda Dworecki when her father threatened to name him

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Room 1, Settles Hotel "Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 1. The Golden Text is: "There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; there is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches" (Proverbs 13:7). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all" (1 Chronicles 29:11, 12). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material sense has its realm apart from Science in the unreal. . . . What is termed material sense can report only a mortal temporary sense of things, whereas spiritual sense can bear witness only to Truth" (pages 480, 298).

Special Values, Special Aids In Furnishing Problems Provided As Stores Observe Furniture Week

National Furniture Week, annual event staged by home-furnishings merchants throughout the country, is here again, and local stores are joining in observance of the event through this week. Home-makers will have an opportunity to respond to the wealth of ideas developed by authorities to bring color, charm and comfort into the home.

With special values to be offered, local stores will feature the newest home furnishings, and will be prepared to assist in decorating a new home or in "re-doing" an old one. Special opportunity is provided for the public to take advantage of new home-furnishings trends.

Local furniture men point out that this year the world's fairs bring a new note to home-furnishings—color and color harmony—the ability of things to "go with" other things. At the fairs, new and interesting combinations of color meet the eye everywhere—in the brightly painted murals—in the decoration of the buildings—in the ranks of a million gaily hued flowers nodding in the sunshine—and in the brilliant display of fireworks and novel lighting effects. Naturally, this influence of color is what we want to use in our decoration to bring personality into our homes.

Seven, or even as short a time as five years ago, homes were snugly content to be dressed in plain drab tones of taupe or brown. Today homes can be clad in new, fresh colors bringing joy and gladness to the darkest room. But good use must be made of the colors selected. They cannot be thrown together in a room without thought of how the completed effect will appear. Rather, they must be mixed and blended together, much as an artist mixes his paints, to create a harmony of tone. The home-furnishings manufacturers have presented a wealth of material. Choice is practically unlimited. New patterns, new styles and new textures in colors one never hoped to find, and new decorating hints to help with individual problems.
