Supervisor Gives Report of Visit To School System

High Praise Is Given to Most of Departments; Faculty Is Commended

The official report of the supervisor from the state department of education, who recently investigated the various departments of Memphis High School, was received this week by the Memphis superintendent, W. C. Davis.

Giving praise to practically every phase of the high school system, the supervisor, Sidney Ozell Murdock, declared Memphis High School "satisfactory" in every respect.

Mr. Murdock's report was as follows: "The physical conditions are satisfactory. The libraries, science laboratories, and other equipment are very commendable. The organization and administration are excellent."

"The course of study adequately meets the needs of the students. The music program is unusually good, and the other departments are outstanding."

"The superintendent is to be commended for his progressiveness and for his enthusiasm in seeing that the best methods are being used in order to give the students the best advantages possible. The board of trustees are to be commended for providing for and sponsoring a well-rounded program of education. The entire community is to be commended for its loyalty and co-operation in backing its leadership, which has led to the building and maintaining of a first class public school system."

The work of classifying and accrediting the public schools of Texas is under the direction of the state committee composed of 21 members representing the elementary and secondary schools and colleges of the state. The committee, by establishing educational standards, determines the conditions upon which high schools are classified and accredited, and is interested in encouraging schools to attain these standards and in certifying those that have attained them so as to facilitate the transfer of students to any other school or college, it was explained.

icles will be allowed to turn to the left of the button, or "cutting the button," as it is commonly called. Proper lines will be painted on these corners to direct the traffic in this manner. This will automatically eliminate a reverse turn, or what is commonly known as a "U" turn on these four corners.

The streets and parking spaces are being painted and the cooperation of the people has been urged by members of the council.

It was pointed out that the old ordinance permitting 15-minute double parking is not affected by this new ordinance. Anyone may double park for 15 minutes to transact business, provided the driver remains in the car.

City officials expressed their thanks for the cooperation of the people in the past following the Tuesday night meeting, and urged further cooperation of citizens to insure success for the new parking and traffic system.

FIRE DAMAGES SHED
A small storage shed in the south part of the city was slightly damaged by fire at noon last Friday. The shed was owned by Mrs. A. T. Lokey. The fire was started from a nearby trashpile, members of the fire department said.

NIX ON SLUSH AND JUNK
By Democrat Staff Poet
I'm getting tired of hearing my poems called slush and junk. I don't think you understand me, or else you read 'em punk. I can't help it any if you don't know good literature. I've got a plausible reason for not using my signature.
There were several poems sorter poking at my wife; and that would mean if she found out, red beans for me all life.

Members of the regalia commission, Leon Buiardi, chairman, Lloyd Phillips, C. T. Johnson, Murray Dial, Horace Tarver, R. S. Greene, Jack Foust, Harry Delaney, K. A. Cole, Roy Coleman, Hank Hankins, and George Cullin.

The penalty will not be carried out against Hall Countians living outside of the city limits of Memphis, the committee men pointed out, but Hall Countians other than Memphians were urged to cooperate in the movement by wearing the official regalia.

The ruling is to be compulsory, the committee men declared, and for those violating it the 13th of July is likely to be someone's unlucky day.

Eight Days' Summary of WHAT HAPPENED 'OVER THE SEAS'

Note—The following summary of the news as gathered from newspaper reports of July 10 is given followed by news of the following six days.

JULY 10 A late night report brought the startling news that British and French warships were fighting off the north coast of Africa. The news, which startled the remainder of the world, was accompanied by a statement from Great Britain that the British had to get control of the French fleet "one way or another" before the Germans began using the ships against the lone ally.

JULY 11 A Nazi U-boat took its toll of one British vessel, the Arandora Star, and the ironical part of it was that the ship was loaded with interned Italians and Germans. Nearly 1,000 of the British enemy went down from the Germans' own disastrous means of taking care of ships.

JULY 12 At the same time, the Nazis continued to rain bombs on the small island of England, and at the end of the day, casualties were estimated at 160. As the German attacks grow more fierce each day, observers believe the gigantic invasion will start soon.

JULY 13 In the United States, the President completed his plans for asking a $5,000,000,000 additional grant for defense, most of which would be spent to build up an air fleet of 50,000 ships.

JULY 14 It was Independence Day in the United States, but in Europe it meant more fighting.

JULY 15 Great Britain scored the great naval victory—that between the two former Allies, Winston Churchill, with tears in his eyes, told of the fight between the French and British ships, but stated that it had to be done. The great bulk of the French fleet went into the hands of the British, although several French vessels which attempted escape were either sunk or incapacitated by British guns.

British. Little Adolf gave permission to scuttle any other French ships if they were about to be captured by the English. Rumania, with little else left to do, gave herself to Germany for protection from the Russian onward march. The Allied Rumanian cabinet of Tataru resigned, and a pro-Nazi cabinet took its place. The new government will follow the Rome-Berlin axis.

JULY 15 France, or what is left of it, proceeded to break off diplomatic relations with other nations. Although Premier Petain can speak for no independent country and his words will have little effect, the action will at least give Britain a chance to apply its blockade to France as well as Germany.

JULY 16 Despite the fact that British ships captured a large portion of the French navy (for which the Allied-sympathizers cheered), a few French ships were still at large. A group in Alexandria was bottled up, it was reported.

JULY 17 The Germans likewise paid no attention to the Sabbath Day, and made a series of air raids over Great Britain which lasted through the day. Thousands of Englishmen who went out in the country for a day of peace and quiet, were witnesses of the raids.

JULY 18 Count Ciano and little Adolf were in conference at the request of Hitler, and probably decided on the course of action to be taken. No decision of this action was announced, however.

JULY 19 A report came by short wave that a U. S. destroyer had been torpedoed by a Nazi U-boat had thousands of this nation excited for a while, but the news that the message was a fake soon had the American citizens in a normal state of mind again.

JULY 20 Great Britain kept on fighting the French navy, and reported that its navy had made a "successful" action on France's 35,000-ton battleship, the Richelieu. Just what happened was not revealed, but the British claimed that the ship had been put out of fighting commission.

JULY 21 At the same time, Great Britain intimated that she might not wait for an invasion from Germany, but that she might do a little invading on German soil.

JULY 22 France got ready for dictatorship under the control of old Marshal Petain. Germany kept her next moves secret.

JULY 23 Admiral Richardson, commander of the U. S. Fleet, paid a visit to President Roosevelt. The admiral flew in secrecy all the way from Hawaii, and his talk was believed to be highly important, since the President is now occupied in drafting a five-billion dollar defense expenditure bill, most of which is to be used in building up the fleet.

JULY 24 The Senate still had not confirmed the appointments of Stimson and Knox as cabinet members, but those who opposed their nomination conceded that they would be given the posts.

JULY 25 Great Britain finished up with the French fleet, at least with what was left of it, and then hopped into a fight with the Italian fleet and war planes.

JULY 26 Three different engagements between Italy and Britain were reported, and news agencies of both countries reported damages done to the enemy ships.

JULY 27 Not only was Italy on the receiving end of the renewed British fighting forces, but also Germany felt the effects of the new spirit. British bombers flew over Germany and partly paid off the Nazis for the bombs which they have been dropping.

JULY 28 Democracy was a thing of the past in France, as the parliament of that beaten nation gave Marshal Henri Philippe Petain unrestricted powers to write a new totalitarian constitution. The new constitution must "guarantee the right of labor, family, and country," a part of it declared.

JULY 29 In Shanghai, handbills, carrying the slogan, "Down With America," were posted in the streets. At the same time, a Japanese warship gave vent to her feelings toward Great Britain by seizing a British ship in Shanghai's harbor.

CORRECTION On page 6 of this issue of The Democrat, a story states that Jerry Sadler, candidate for governor, "spoke" here this Thursday. Sadler will speak here next Thursday, July 18, instead of this Thursday.

C. S. Compton left Tuesday for Colorado Springs, Colo., to spend a few days. Mrs. Compton, who has been visiting there for a few weeks, will return home with him. Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald and Mrs. Otho Fitzjarrald accompanied him and will visit their daughter and sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Stroehle, and family in Idaho Springs, Colo.

Doubles Tournney Started at School

The mixed doubles tennis tournament got underway this week as several matches were played on the courts on the Memphis High School campus. About eight teams have entered.

A junior tennis tournament, open only for players 16 years of age or younger, will start next week, Foster Watkins, supervisor said this week. All entrants should be turned in to him immediately, he said.

Plans now are to have a boxing tournament at the high school next Thursday night, although the details have not yet been worked out. Top bout will be between Barney Bogan of Quitaque and Billy Polk Hall of Memphis.

A LUCKLESS AGE?

FOR THE YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN of today, this is a generation of hard luck, not only in the United States, but also in foreign countries.

In speaking of this generation, it is meant here those young men and young women who have grown into maturity since the hard luck days of 1930.

These young people are having a hard struggle for more than one reason, the principal one being the scarcity of money as compared to earlier days.

When "papa was young," there was in reality no more money than there is today—but apparently it was changing hands more quickly. Business opportunities were more easily found. There were new frontiers to be opened up in grandpa's day, and then later in papa's day these frontiers were to be developed.

It is hard to conceive, however, that any country can ever be completely developed—so completely that there is no future. It just doesn't tally out that way.

This generation is also confronted with war. Ever since 1930, the young people have been faced with this type of wholesale murder. The trouble ten years ago was mostly between Japan and China, and the western coast of this nation was constantly in danger. Other nations over the world felt the same peril, gradually creeping up on them.

Today that danger has caught up with the world. War, and world war at that, is no longer a dreaded thought in the minds of today's citizens, both young and old. War is now a reality.

The young people of today are thus suffering in the second way—not only from scarcity of money, but also from the scarcity of freedom. In the foreign countries, young men are daily giving their lives, their health, and their bodily perfection in the struggle of one nation against another. Young women are likewise losing their lives, their womanly decency, and their chance for a happy, peaceful, contented life in the ensuing fight for revenge now covering the whole of Europe.

Yes, this is a generation of hard luck, a generation which has had this luckless age thrust on them for some unknown reason.

But despite this, we in the United States know that our young people cannot be kept down. We know, of course, that these young people will have to search longer, work harder, and undergo more sacrifices than did papa and grandpa.

It's easy to believe that modern conveniences make life more enjoyable, and they do. But no man or no woman can be happy, even if they have all the conveniences, if they are not contented within themselves.

The present generation of young people will eventually win out. They may, on the average, never be rich in worldly goods, but by hard, conscientious work they will finally receive their reward—perhaps before their death, but more likely after death.

MODERN PEDDLERS

THIS EDITORIAL is addressed to bicycle riders. It is a safety editorial, but is different from other safety editorials published in The Democrat. This editorial should be read by all bicyclists.

Motorists have been warned time and again to be careful of bicycle riders. Still horrible accidents occur. Now is the time for bicyclists to begin, if they haven't already, to look out for themselves.

A safety campaign is being conducted by the Memphis Rotary Club. It got off to a good start last Tuesday in the bicycle parade. It should be continued.

Rules for membership in the safety club are simple, easy to observe. Common sense observance is all that is needed.

When you, and you, and you are riding your bicycle, observe the rules of the safety club. "Help Save a Life—Maybe Yours" is the slogan of the club. It is an excellent slogan, and a fitting and meaningful one.

Motorists will cooperate in the safety movement. They will appreciate the fact that all bicyclists ride in the same manner, instead of the usual darting in and out.

The rest of the success of the club will depend on the bicyclists themselves. If you are among them, think of the slogan of the club, and if you don't like it, coin one for yourself. Above all, don't peddle your life away.

Farmers to Save $28,500 Under New Legislation

Land Banks Loan Interest Rates Changed; 526 Hall Counties to Be Affected

Farmers in Hall County will save about $28,500 a year as a result of legislation enacted by Congress affecting interest rates on federal land bank and land bank commissioner loans.

The temporary rate of 3-1/2 per cent on first mortgage land bank loans will be continued for two years ending June 30, 1942. During this period the interest rate on first and second mortgage land bank commissioner loans will be reduced from 4 to 3-1/2 per cent. Land bank and commissioner loans were originally written at contract rates averaging about 5 per cent.

At present about 526 Hall County farmers have land bank and commissioner loans outstanding aggregating $1,900,380. The difference between the contract rate and the temporary rate thus affects a substantial saving for farmers.

In a statement from Washington, A. G. Black, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, said that the saving to farmers thru the reduced interest rate will have the same effect as an addition to the farmers' net income.

"The ultimate purpose of the reduced interest rate on land bank and commissioner loans is to help farmers keep down their fixed charges and thus get more income for the payment of debt principal, and to meet necessary Government and living expenses," Mr. Black said.

"Money saved on interest charges will thus be reflected in increased purchasing power, benefiting both industry and agriculture, and also will help in a measure to raise farm living standards and safeguard farm ownership."
