CATTLEMAN IS INJURED IN CRASH

Tom Long of Roaring Springs Receives Severe Injuries

By JAMES E. FAULKNER
TURKEY, May 2.—Tom Long, a cattleman from Roaring Springs, was injured very seriously Monday morning when his automobile crashed into the Quitaque River bridge.

The bones of his left leg, between the knee and ankle, were crushed, and his right leg was sprained. His jaw bones were also fractured, and he probably received internal injuries. He is now in a local hospital.

Mr. Long was returning from Follie where he had taken Miss Long, who is teaching there, when the accident occurred. His car was demolished.

Mrs. Long and daughter are at his bedside.

COMPLETES MAY DAY FETE PLAN

Coronation of Queen To Feature West Ward P. T. A. Program Friday Night

Anticipating a large crowd, the West Ward Parent-Teacher Association is making extensive plans for its May Day program to be presented in the high school auditorium Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The main event of the evening will be the coronation of the May queen. Each class in the West Ward school will have a contestant and escort in this event. Visitors will be allowed to vote on their choice for queen, with the winner being crowned at 8 o'clock.

The remainder of the program, following the coronation, will consist of songs, playlets and dances. After the program, ice cream cones and soda pop will be served in the first floor hall at popular prices.

Admission is 10 and 15 cents.

Farmers Continue 3A Farm Program Gatherings Today

Farmers in the Parnell, Weatherly and Turkey communities will meet with county officials tomorrow to urge continuance of the AAA program in its present form through the next year. Similar meetings are being held today at Newlin, Memphis, Estelline and Baylor.

The meetings have been called by County Agent James A. Jackson in order to give farmers ample opportunity to voice their approval of the local move to endorse the present government farm program.

The meeting at Parnell has been called for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Farmers in the Weatherly community will meet at 11 a. m. and a meeting at Turkey has been called for 2 p. m.

Mrs. Howard died Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the home of a daughter, Mr. Rube Prater, at Crosbyton. The funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church of Crosbyton at 10 o'clock by Rev. R. C. Tension, pastor. King's Metuary was in charge of the burial services here.

Pallbearers were Lon Howard, Bill Howard, Woodrow Howard, Alton Harper, Virgil Floyd and Lynn Floyd.

Those in charge of flowers were Mrs. Bill Howard, Mrs. Jess Dennis, Mrs. Lon Howard, Mrs. Ferrell Floyd, Winifred and Gene (Continued on page 8)

RELIEF WORK IS HALTED HERE YESTERDAY

Officials Await Arrival of May Allotments

All work relief projects in Hall County were halted yesterday, "due to failure of May allotments to arrive," it has been announced by Judge A. C. Hoffman, county relief administrator.

More than 500 men who were receiving work on a budgetary basis were thrown out of work by the order, recommended by state officials. The shut-down order applies to all of the seven work projects in this county with the exception of the Memphis school lunch room help, Judge Hoffman said.

Although Judge Hoffman believes the shut-down will be only temporary, no definite assurance that this county would be granted a May allotment had been received this morning. It will be impossible to continue work until definite assurance of an additional allotment is received, he said.

Senators Report Favorable To NRA Extension

WASHINGTON, May 2.—A powerful bi-partisan coalition in the Senate Finance Committee today rejected all amendments to a resolution extending NRA until next April 1, and voted 13 to 4 to report it favorably to the Senate.

Attempts to give the Blue Eagle another year of life and to extend its control further into intra-state commerce and to eliminate production control provisions were quickly rejected by an overwhelming majority determined to push the plan through in its agreed-upon form.

Chairman Harrison planned to submit the report to the Senate in a day or two.

Deputy School Head Meets With Trustees

Bryan Dickson, district deputy state school superintendent, arrived in Memphis this morning and will meet with county school trustees this afternoon to discuss current school problems.

More than 100 trustees, representing all rural school districts in the county, are expected to attend the meeting this afternoon. The meeting has been called for two o'clock in the district court room.

Germany's Airmen Fear No Enemy

Aviation Minister in Boastful Speech on Own Prowess

BERLIN, May 2.—Hermann Goering, aviation minister, today said that the German air force, because of its "superior quality of men and material," would be more than a match for any assailant, even though the assailant were numerically stronger.

"Whoever dares attack us will have a bad time because we have absolutely the most modern machines and motors," Goering said at a foreign press association luncheon.

Gen. Goering, aviation minister, told foreign correspondents today Germany's first class of conscripts since compulsory military service was abolished by the Versailles treaty, would be called to the colors October 1, for one year's service.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. J. F. CLARK

Aged Woman Dies at Home Near Plaska Yesterday

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Rebecca Clark, 66, wife of J. F. Clark, at the family home near Plaska. The rites were conducted by Rev. H. L. Collins of Anton.

Mrs. Clark passed away yesterday morning at 5 o'clock at her home, following an illness of four days. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Interment was made in the Florent cemetery with Hodges Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Clark's sons-in-law acted as pallbearers. They were Jack Parnell, George Taquard, W. L. Patton and George Sullivan.

Mrs. Clark was born near Decatur on October 18, 1868, and lived there until 1921, when she moved with her family to Hall County. She was married to J. F. Clark on January 23, 1896.

Survivors are Mr. Clark, four daughters, Mrs. Ruby Taquard and Miss Audna Clark, Plaska; Mrs. Mary Patton, Pampa; Mrs. Fay Sullivan, Borger; one son, Lester Clark, Estelline; two brothers, J. M. Province, Plaska, and J. E. Province, Bridgeport.

Erosion Work Halted; No Action on Request

Requests filed yesterday for additional emergency soil erosion work in this county apparently have met with little encouragement from federal authorities, it was indicated today in communications received by Judge A. C. Hoffman, county relief administrator.

Orders were received by Judge Hoffman today from the relief accounting department in Amarillo, asking local officials to "discontinue the issuance of disbursement orders for emergency soil erosion work."

Fifteen hundred dollars have been spent by the federal government for fuel and feed costs for the listing of lands to prevent soil erosion in this county during the past two weeks. A federal grant of 10 cents per acre was made recently and this county's original quota was set at 10,000 acres. Disbursement orders for the entire amount had been issued on the scheduled closing date, May 1.

When it was found that additional work was needed in this county, County Agent James A. Jackson and the county committee filed requests for funds for plowing an additional 10,000 acres yesterday.

Owls Tackle Shamrock in Loop Tilt Here Sunday

FIRST BATTLE FOR FOURTH POSITION

'Last Chance' Post Lead Likely To Be Decided

Providing visibility does not hide second base, the Memphis Owls will continue their battle for a victory in the Western Division of the Red River Valley Baseball League here Sunday afternoon.

Shamrock's Irish nine will be the invader.

The game will mark the opening of the "lower bracket" play for the Owls. That is, after dropping games to two of the leaders and having the third—with the favored Wellington club—saved by a postponement, the Owls start meeting the other bottom division outfits, attempting at least to gain an early hold on fourth place in the loop.

Important Position

That's an important position in this league. With only six clubs playing, four of them will go into the Shaughnessy play-off at the close of the regular schedule, possibly giving Memphis, Shamrock or Hollis, Okla., a fling at the crown.

Wellington, Childress and Paducah taking a lead, and fight for fourth place will be just like playing for the championship of a three-team circuit that doesn't include the three clubs mentioned above.

The Owls will continue to use their five-some of the top-notch players, attempting to add strength in at least a part of the other four positions and plugging where it is necessary—not that the other clubs are not pretty fair sandlot baseballers, but in order to gain any recognition in the loop a little faster brand of ball must be played.

Mound Duties

The mound duties will continue to be divided between Clifford Stewart and Buck Whitfield, with either of them likely to get the nod just before game time. Both are big righthanders, and if the starter fails to hold opposing batsman in check, the other will be ready to replace him with the same brand of hurling. At least one should be "on" every Sunday.

Other Sunday games will see Wellington playing at Paducah in one of the most important tilts of the early season, and Hollis attempting to pull a fast one at Childress.

The local tilt will start at 8:30 o'clock—if it gets started at all—at Fair Park Stadium.

BAER QUILTS PLAY

by Harry GRAYSON

Tommy Loughran has become quite a traveler in his old age. Following a whirl in South America, the erstwhile Phantom of Philly now is campaigning in Tokio. Johnny Freeman, obscure Buffalo heavyweight, has sailed to box him there.

From Rome, Boyd Comstock, the American who will coach Italy's 1936 Olympic track and field team, reports that the youth of that entire nation seems to have been aroused by the second place captured by Mussolini's men in Los Angeles in 1932.

G. Herbert McCracken, head football coach at Lafayette College since 1924, has resigned, effective at the conclusion of next season. The Easton institution desires an all-year-round coach and athletic director, duties that the former Pittsburgh backfield man's New York publishing interests will not permit.

Smythe's Life Just One Skate After Another

Connie Smythe, manager of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey team, owns the Kentucky Derby candidate, Shoeless Joe, a big brown son of Black Servant. Shoeless Joe came by his name in two ways. His dam was a Fair Play mare called Barefoot, and Smythe's admired Shoeless Joe Jackson, of unhappy Black Sox memory. Although Shoeless Joe finished his juvenile year a maiden, he turned in an excellent effort in the Futurity, running ahead of Psychic Bid and several others.

Ivan Williamson, the Yale end coach who captained Michigan's championship outfit of 1932, says that the Wolverines will meet two of the five best football teams in the east this fall in Columbia and Pennsylvania. Lou Little can be depended upon to build another formidable Lion array around Al Barabas, despite heavy losses by graduation. After a poor beginning, Pennsy, with a large squad of sophomores and juniors, finished the 1934 grind with one of the strongest combinations on the Atlantic seaboard.

Martha Wainwright College sees a chance to get even for some of the many pastings it has taken from Washington and Jefferson in 37 years. Anyway, it has frantically announced that if a boy can make the football team he will be given his room, board, tuition, and books. A similar policy was inaugurated at little Washington last winter.

A world championship club and the finest weather of the spring failed to bring out any more customers for the Cardinals' inaugural in St. Louis than what might show up for an ordinary week-day crowd elsewhere.

Outside of Babe Ruth, Goose Goslin is the most easily recognizable player in the majors, with his prominent nose, waddling gait, and the spread of his arms in wing-like fashion when chasing a fly ball.

David Niven. British screen "find" reported engaged to Merle Oberon.

This is the first of two articles on Max Baer as he prepares to pitch camp for his battle with James J. Braddock on June 13, the first of three planned for the outdoor season.

BY HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)

As he prepares to pitch camp in the Pecosos, Max Adelbert Baer, reputed well-known man about night clubs, is not more than three or four pounds overweight for the first defense of his world heavyweight title against the rejuvenated Jersey stevedore, James J. Braddock, in the Long Island bowl of Madison Square Garden on June 13.

Baer was 26 pounds overweight when he started work for the Primo Carnera fight a year ago. He barely had seen the inside of a gymnasium in a year.

Spending four days with Baer recently, I was surprised to find him reaching for the carpet slippers in the early evening and in bed at 9:30. It was in Cleveland, where the erstwhile Butterfly Butcher Boy was down for one of those four-rounders with Eddie Simms, a young Polo who can knock your head off with a right-hand punch.

"I've got to be ready for all these fellows," asserted Baer. "I never can tell when one of them is going to take liberties with me, as the Englishman says. Do you know that I've been through 94 rounds of this with six-ounce gloves since I stopped Carnera last June. Against some pretty good fighters, too."

Baer commenced calling them off, rather proudly, it seemed.

"Pack Van Noy, Babe Hunt five times, and every one a fight," he beamed. "Dick Madden, Tony Canceled, King Levinsky, and Simms. None of them a sucker. I could have knocked out most of them, but that would not have been anything to my credit. I belted out Levinsky only because he wouldn't behave. In most of the others I saw to it that I got in a good work-out."

"You can add to those 94 rounds fully 200 more than I have got in in gymnasiums."

Most Active Champion

No champion, not even Jack Dempsey, was as active. John L. Sullivan engaged many a rough and ready man with his bare fists in drunken moments, but Baer is the first heavyweight ruler, who in full possession of his senses, insisted upon six-ounce gloves and the gauze bandage be limited to 18 inches and tape to six inches in exhibitions."

The new Max Baer, clubby with his manager, Ancil Hoffman, as he prepares to pitch camp for his battle with James J. Braddock on June 13, the first of three planned during the outdoor season.

He would like to start three times this year—tackle Max Schmeling again and the winner of the Carnera-Joe Louis skirmish after Braddock.

A great change has come over Baer since last June.

"Carnera had to fall on me declared the champion, getting a laugh out of the remark he made as he roled over and over with the 260-pound Venetian Leviathan after being pulled to the floor in the third round.

"The last one up is a sissy," cracked Baer.

Baer has reversed the customary ring formula. Most warriors take the best care of themselves on the way up. Once there, they quickly get as soft as the cushions they recline in.

From the time that he first came east a 21-year-old harum-scarum kid with a liveried chauffeur in 1930 to tackle the late Ernie Schaaf up to and including his training for Carnera last summer, Baer paid little or no attention to discipline. He liked night life and all that goes with it.

Baer was so lackadaisical only a few days before the Carnera contest that such a keen judge as Bill Brown, renowned health authority and New York boxing commissioner, branded him a bum out of shape and threatened to call off the show.

There were grounds for Brown's criticism. Baer hadn't stood up in training as a challenger for the heavyweight championship should.

Baer Buckles Down

When Baer won the title, it was predicted that he would be a modern edition of Sullivan in a 16-cylinder car. They said that his legs wouldn't even be able to carry him around a dance floor in a year, if he tossed off $150,000 or more as just another heavyweight, what would he do with the more important money that would come his way as champion.

Things worked out just the other way, however.

It may have been due to pride. Winning ruler enjoyed being champion more than Baer.

It may have been due to a girl. Baer admits contemplating matrimony again—with a middle western home miss whose name never has been linked with his.

But the most logical reason is that common sense came to Baer with maturity.

"I worked on a big farm until I was 20 years old," he explained. "What kid wouldn't have gone daffy with all that dough tossed in his lap?"

So the Baer who burned up the primrose path on the way to the top talks annuities instead of automobiles and reaches for palamas instead of a tuxedo now that he is there.

THE NOSEY GUY

By J. C. W.

The end of the last big drouth in this country came on the night of May 2, 1904—31 years ago to-day—and the end was one of the finest rains possible. As a result of that big rain and others that followed it, the whole mid-west harvested a bumper crop that fall.

History may repeat itself—a good rain may come tonight—but this is not a prediction.

Farmers say that there is plenty of time yet for crops—the only thing they fear is that it may not rain at all since it is in the habit of not raining. Good crops can be made if it rains by the middle of May or first of June, they say, provided plenty of other rains come during the growing season.

Very little grumbling is being done over the dry weather. All are showing their implicit faith in the future of this country by taking it all in the very best spirit possible under the circumstances.

John L. McCarty in Dalhart, Texas: A new generation of babies is born every year. . . . Each year a group of fine old people who have finished the fight, cross the Divide which separates us from a land of eternal happiness. We welcome the one; for the other we shed a tear. . . . Life is like that with the seasons always changing and with an Autumn for each Springtime and the cold white blanket of Winter for each Summer's gay song. There is a smile for every pain and a bright day for each hour of sorrow. . . . There is a Today for each Yesterday just as there will be a Tomorrow for those who linger with the sun-kissed bars and beams that make a golden treasure chest, lined with roses, of this departing day. . . .

Life is a symphony of change, a song with the cadence of waves eternally lapping the shores as the tide comes in singing weird tunes to the Chambered Nautilus. The New today is Old tomorrow. The flower that was a bud this spring is a cluster of freighted seeds this autumn. The tree that burst in a green sheen of light while ago, is a stark grey warrior standing in a pool of leafy blood before November's cold winds. . . . The babe that prattled on the floor a short time ago and goes thrills the nation with his oratory will be entombed, his body mingling with the dust of ages in Time's sufficient and common home. Nothing is permanent except change. . . . A solid, eager, enthusiastic throng is closing in the ranks every year. A new crowd of babies is born. They may Time and change march on unday so triumphantly.

There is nothing in the Constitution that says an American citizen has the right to starve to death. The highest function of government is to care for its citizens.

New Rail Chief

With the retirement of General W. W. Atterbury from the presidency of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Martin W. Clement (above), for nearly a year the acting executive, was named as his successor. Starting as a rodman, Clement has successively held many important positions with his company. He is 54 and a native of Sunbury, Pa.

Farmers Warned Against 'Quack' Machine Agents

Here is what the Kansas Farmer, with a circulation of approximately 120,000, said in its Protective Service department:

The Protective Service has been informed about a class of farm implement and machinery agents who have no place of business, no experience in repairing machines, no stock of parts that may be needed in case of a breakdown. These agents go to farmers and sell implements and machinery, perhaps cutting the cost a little by giving up part of their own commission—and then they are through. The farmers are left to work out their own salvation.

It would seem as if the logical thing for the farmer to do would be to buy his own equipment from the regularly established dealer—those firms established in the towns of the farming country, with experienced employees, with a name and a reputation to maintain, with supplies for any emergency and pride in making their guarantee good. A farmer is taking chances when he buys from an agent who is not a representative of some established firm. He will do much better in buying of his home dealer who is in position to give the service he may need. That is what every dealer does and he stands behind his customer.

New York Dionnes Three Short of Quintuplet Record

"A full house still beats a pair." Frank Dionne, New York chauffeur, recently wired to Olivia Dionne, father of Canada's famous quintuplets. The occasion was the birth of twins to Mrs. Gertrude Dionne in New York. Because the family names were the same, it was at first believed that the two families were related, but Frank Dionne disclaimed knowledge of a family tie. Mrs. Dionne is pictured above with William Edward (right) and Mary Ellen (left).

STRONG YOUNG WOMAN WISHES POSITION as bodyguard; uses firearms; gd. companion; travel. Address Z 196, Tribune.

Have a look at thoseiceps and those triceps and those bowing back muscles! What a bodyguard she'd be! That's the ambition of Helen "Triple Threat" Fortney, 135 pounds and "all muscle," as told to the world in the want ad shown above when she arrived in Chicago from Wisconsin to blaze a new career trail for women. She claims a deadly knockout punch, unerring aim with a pistol, and announces that she's no slouch at wrestling.

Where Earthquake Held as Slayer Took Many Lives in Mine War

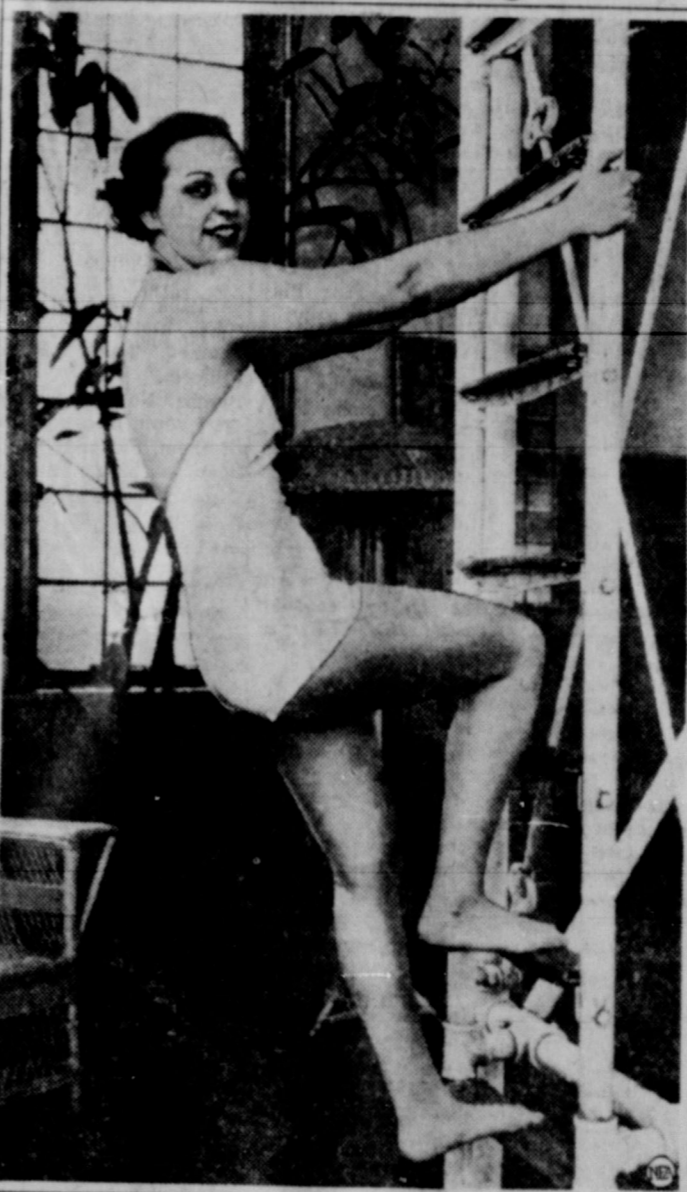

It varies in severity the earthquake that destroyed Japan's principal cities twelve years ago, a succession of tremors rocked the island of Formosa, killed more than 3,000 persons, injured 12,000 and destroyed homes of 250,000. The area most seriously shaken is shown in black on the map above.

A murder charge faces Roy Edmondson, above, Illinois district head of the United Mine Workers. In the bloody rival union war that has cost 35 lives in the Illinois fields, Edmondson was arrested after the fatal shooting of Edward Mabie, one of the founders of the Progressive Mine Workers, in an Easter ambush at Springfield.

Going Up for a High One

America's representative in the women's highboard diving contests in the 1936 Olympic Games is pretty sure to be Claudia Eckert, 18-year-old Chicago mermaid. She recently won the National Amateur Athletic Union's championship at Chicago. She is shown here on the way up the ladder for a high dive.

Human Guinea Pig Wins Marathon

Swallowing 15 glucose pills, equivalent to 15 hearty meals, along the route of 26 miles 385 yards, John Adalbert Kelley, 27-year-old Flynn Florist of Arlington, Mass., won the annual Boston marathon. The winner, shown here receiving a crown of laurel at the finish, was the subject of metabolism tests conducted by Harvard University scientists, who took his blood count immediately after the race.

How Many of These Film Stars of Other Days Do You Recognize?

Joys and glories of past days were lived over again when this happy group met once more after seven years, in one of Hollywood's most unusual reunions. The dazzling dozen shown here are former famed movie actresses, members of "Our Club," organized in 1923 by Helen Ferguson and Mildred Davis, now Mrs. Harold Lloyd. The gathering was held in the film capital home of Anita Stewart. In addition to the reunion, the event was a reception for Laura LaPlante, a visitor in Hollywood from London, where she now makes her home.

REFORM PROGRAM ASSAILED

BBUSINESS leaders thundered criticism of the New Deal Tuesday as the United States Chamber of Commerce convention got underway at Washington.

Significantly, they attacked the administration's reform program, while praising the President's recovery movement.

Henry L. Harriman, retiring president, stated:

"The new deal has attempted too much in too short a time. It has forgotten that gradual growth and development is the law of life and that great changes should come through the evolution of human experience."

Throughout the addresses ran the thought that business' greatest fear is that Mr. Roosevelt's policies will build up a tax burden which private capital cannot bear.

The recovery program was praised, but it was pointed out that this must be kept as a temporary program.

The attack was against reform instead of recovery. This has been the source of three-quarters of the criticism to the New Deal. President Roosevelt started his administration with the greatest popularity in years, but he has lost ground continually until, at last, the nation is again divided.

This may be blamed directly upon the fact that the administration has changed more and more to reform. It has forgotten that it started out to drag the country out of the mire of depression.

Eventually, if President Roosevelt wishes to save his administration, he is going to be forced to return to recovery. That is what the nation wants—not reform.

This is to be brought about by the growing resentment among the people. Some antagonists, including Roger W. Babson, have gone so far as to state that recovery is impossible until reform is forgotten.

The sooner Roosevelt gets back to his original plan—one that stood a chance of marking his administration as the greatest peace-time rule since Washington—the greater will be his followers and believers. So long as the present trend is run unchecked, he will continue in decreasing popularity.

HITLER HAS WON GERMAN CONFIDENCE

EUROPEAN politics is never easy for an American to understand, and the understanding is made a good deal harder by our habit of classifying the rulers of Europe as good men and villains.

We see a man like Hitler, for instance, we add up the insanities of Jew-baiting and concentration camps which he has given Germany, and we assume off-hand that he is a dark and unholy scoundrel.

And then, when we see Germany giving him almost unanimous support and cheering him with wholehearted fervor, we cannot understand it; and we take it for granted that the Germans have willfully and perversely deluded themselves.

It would be better if we should take the trouble to realize that Hitler's immense popularity with the people is a perfectly natural thing with an entirely logical explanation.

Milton Bronner, veteran European correspondent, points out that Hitler is above everything else the man who has enabled Germany to forget the humiliations of a lost war and a disastrous peace.

For 16 years, he remarks, Germans lived in a sort of nightmare. The glorious war they were to have won so easily had been lost. Instead of a victorious peace, with a triumphal march down the Champs Elysees, there was Versailles, with the German delegates forced to sign on the dotted line like so many criminals.

After that, Germans saw allied armies on the Rhine. They saw French troops in the Ruhr. When Germany wanted anything her statesmen had to go to London or Paris, not as equals, but as supplicants.

Always it was the Germans who were summoned to foreign cities to be told what the victors had decided on. Even when Germany was released from certain treaty obligations, the release came not as a matter of right, but as a boon.

Hitler simply put an end to all that. He thrilled his countrymen by announcing that they would have army, navy and aerial forces as they saw fit and not as some foreign powers decided.

AND WHAT ELSE?

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
Stains on your teeth result from a variety of causes. In most cases such stains are derived from the food that you eat and from permitting food debris to remain in contact with the teeth.
Most dentists recommend that these stains be removed by use of a mixture of two or three parts of water with hydrogen peroxide. Of course the dentist, at the time when he cleans your teeth, may scrape away deposits on the enamel at the place where the gums join the teeth.
Most tooth pastes now available are quite satisfactory as an aid in cleaning the teeth. Probably results just about as good can be secured by using a toothbrush with a little soap or with a little salt water.
But most people prefer the pleasant taste and the feeling of cleanliness that comes with a properly flavored tooth paste. Children particularly are likely to clean the teeth much more regularly and often if they are provided with a pleasant tasting tooth paste for the purpose.
The argument goes on constant-

Stories in STAMPS

THE TEMPEST
The storm that is supposed to have given Shakespeare his idea for "The Tempest" deprived Virginia of a large group of colonists in 1609, but resulted in the addition of Bermuda to Great Britain's possessions.
Sir George Sommers was leading a fleet of vessels toward America when a violent hurricane scattered the ships and hurled his galloon, the Sea Venture, on the rocks of this Atlantic island.
News of the disaster, according to one story, reached Shakespeare's ears and gave him the material for "The Tempest." Bermuda commemorates the adventure with pictures of the Sea Venture on several of its stamps.
The stamp shown here was issued in 1910, a little late for the observance of 300th anniversary of the discovery of Bermuda.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Ickes Worried About Loans; Cities Prefer "Gift Money" ... Walker Faces Tough Job in Dishing Out Work-Relief Funds ... We Try Out a Type of Hitlerism in Haiti.
WASHINGTON, May 2.—The perversity of human nature is such that almost any of us would rather be given $10 than be lent $10.

This simple fact is one of the various things which have been worrying Secretary Ickes. Under the work-relief program, Ickes will have charge of maybe a billion dollars of "loan money." Harry Hopkins, Rex Tugwell, and others will be spending maybe about three billion dollars of "giveaway money."

Local officials are trying to sell the federal agencies projects on which they can receive 100 per cent grants and some have even cancelled PWA loan contracts with Ickes so they can take their projects over to the PERA work administration for some other agency.

Walker Has Tough Job

It was the backstage groans of Mr. Ickes, in fact, which largely influenced the appointment of Frank Walker as the man who will pass on all project applications.

Walker's job is one of the most miserable—in Washington. He will have to decide just how much "giveaway money" various states can have and just how much "loan money" they can afford to take.

And poor Ickes may have a lot of people applying for his PWA loan funds in a snarling, snapping, disappointed mood.

Hitlerism of Our Own

One of the easiest ways to embarrass the State Department is to ask it about the little experiment in Hitlerism now going on down in Haiti, which is a sort of financial protectorate of ours.

American marines have been withdrawn from the island republic, but there seems a desire on the part of a bureaucratic clique in the department to keep its hands on Haiti in one way or another. And at the same time it's difficult to explain why the department plays in with the dictatorial, unconstitutional tactics of President Stenio Vincent.

The marines originally were sent to protect a loan from a group connected with the National City Bank, whose branch at Port au Prince is called Banque D'Haiti.

Bank Tries to Rule Haiti
In the last days of the administration, attempt made to get a treaty for maintenance of American lectors, paid by Haiti, for of the loan. The Haitians unanimously refused to sign. Early in the New Deal Secretary Hull was en route to South America, the State Department cooked up an "agreement" which would fastened the American and their control on Haiti for other 15 years.

Hull heard about it and on it. Now there's another agreement proposed which would the Americans home, set bank to Haiti, and place in charge of a board of directors to be dominated by representatives of National City two representatives of a holders' committee.

Eleven of 20 Haitian refused to ratify that agreement and certain other collateralities. President Vincent ordered a fake plebiscite for endorsement of his policies and by 450,000 to 1000 in a referendum the plebiscite marines held in Haiti in 1920. Then he removed the 11,000 marines who opposed his policy had others named to them. The State Department had to have no hand in the agreement. To admit participation would sound like endorsement of Vincent's rule.

Miss Eloise Eddins of Estelline Is Bride of Mr. Jack Simpson of Quanah

ESTELLINE, May 2.—Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Eddins announce the marriage of their daughter, Eloise, to Jack Simpson of Quanah. They were married in Wichita Falls Sunday. Miss Eddins was a graduate of Estelline High School in 1933 and taught expression here and at Childress. She was active in church and social work here. Mr. Simpson is a graduate of the University of Arizona and Chicago School of Engineering. The young couple will make their home in Wichita Falls, where Mr. Simpson is employed by the state highway department.

opments in this area within the past year. During the Spring term of district court here Frank Arthur was assessed a two-year sentence for his part in the crime and is now serving time in the state penitentiary. Young Hayes died in a federal jail at Fort Worth shortly after the four men were claimed by federal authorities who investigated the local charge against the men. The four men were arrested by Sheriff Joe Colvin and Deputy B. Wilson after a cross-country chase of more than 15 miles, when an attempt was made to cash a "hot check" at the Foster Bros. store at Plaskala.

Federals Take Charge

Federal authorities, hearing of the case, volunteered their services and Captain C. W. B. Long, federal postal inspector, spent several days in Memphis questioning the suspects and gathering evidence. After a rapid-fire cross-examination that lasted for more than 36 hours, the elderly Hayes confessed that he was the leader of a ring that had been in operation throughout the Southwest for the past five years. The ring operated in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana through almost a dozen operators. Two of the alleged operators were later arrested at Paris, Tex., and were immediately claimed by federal officers.

LEAVE FOR KANSAS

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cummings and son, Robert Frank, left this morning for Wichita, Kan., where Mr. Cummings will undergo an eye operation in the Veteran Hospital. They will visit Mrs. Cummings, aunt, Mrs. J. L. Casper at Paola, Kan., en route. Mrs. Cummings and Robert Frank likely will stay at Paola while Mr. Cummings is in the hospital. They will be away for an indefinite time. Every new cradle means a new demand for goods and services for work and production. —Muscolini.

UNDER the DOME at AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER (UP Staff Correspondent) AUSTIN, May 2.—Cupid is one constituent of the legislature who cannot complain that the present session has ignored his claims. The Senate's most eligible bachelor and the pretty secretary of the State Treasury will step into matrimony Saturday. The Assistant chief clerk of the House and handsome, dark-eyed Rep. Traylor Russell of Mt. Pleasant were married earlier in the session. Another marriage will follow soon after the marriage of Sen. Welly K. Hopkins of Gonzales and Mrs. Alice Isaac Wyatt of Waco. It will unite Rep. Howard Hartzog of Port Lavaca and Miss Anna Paul Allen of Marlin.

O'Brien Stevens, former district attorney in Harris County, accepts modestly the complimentary remarks of Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine on Stevens' record as a prosecutor.

Cotten believes that present Texas laws are adequate for a good prosecutor. He cited Stevens' record of 835 cases with 95 acquittals. But Stevens says that doesn't mean much. "When you take into consideration that many of the cases had pieces of guilty and that numerous cases may be based on one transaction," Stevens said, "a record of many convictions is easy to make."

Rep. Pat Jefferson, San Antonio, received the sartorial award at Sen. T. H. McGregor's barbecue for legislators. Pat attended in cowboy boots, white duck pants and a pale blue polo shirt. Many mistook him for a screen celebrity.

Sen. Tom DeBerry of Bogata admitted to the Senate that he was appearing in a novel role when he sought to bring the House and Senate together on a Centennial bill.

"I know that I generally throw brickbats," DeBerry said, "but this time I am extending the olive branch." The senator's non-combative role soon deserted him. He warned the Senate not to give him any instructions as a conferee on a bill unless they expected him to stick by that instruction regardless of whether it disrupted the conference. "When the Senate tells me to carry the ball, I'm going to carry it," DeBerry announced.

Sen. Weaver Moore, Houston, serving his first term in the Senate after a term in the House, occasionally forgets that he has been "promoted."

Rising in the Senate he calmly moved that the "HOUSE" adjourn, and then wondered why fellow Senators laughed. Visitors in the Senate galleries are expected to rise during the

England Starts Accelerated Expansion of Its Air Forces

LONDON, May 2.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today announced that the British government "already is taking steps for the further accelerated expansion of British air forces" in order to maintain a parity with neighboring powers. He told the House of Commons there would be an expansion of air strength "beyond those provided for in estimates this year." MacDonald said that Britain is determined to maintain a common front with France and Italy, stating, "It would be a great calamity if there were any weakening or deterioration in the confidence which exists between France, Italy and ourselves." "We propose to put our power of defense into a state which will enable our people to feel they are protected."

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Attacks New Deal Program

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Resolutions strongly attacking virtually every phase of the New Deal's legislative program were adopted today by the United States Chamber of Commerce. The chamber voted that holding company legislation should "supersede" no federal body over state commissions; that proposed federal reserve legislation would give rise to political domination of the country's banking system; that NRA should be purely voluntary and that the Wagner labor bill should be drastically changed.

Mrs. Dudley Woodward, Austin, and Mrs. Noah E. Sanderson, Texarkana, have been succeeded on the Governor's Mansion Board by Mrs. Ross Sterling, La Porte, and Miss Ima Hogg, Houston, wife and daughter of former governors.

Serving with them as a hold-over member is Mrs. Dan Moody. The board oversees repairs to the ancient house occupied by Governors. It was created when Mrs. Moody was "first lady." Rooms needed papering and the Board of Control let the job to the lowest bidder. Mrs. Moody then was invited to come down and select the paper pattern. The mansion board avoids such difficulties.

Success for the rural rehabilitation plan is seen by V. R. Smith, head of the rural division of the Texas Relief Commission.

The fact that persons who have been placed on sustenance plots are beginning to pay back their loans before due, is what makes Smith so happy and optimistic. Although the persons on the projects can repay the advances in work, more than $2,000 in cash has been received by Texas Rural Communities, Inc., the organization formed to handle this phase of relief. Farmers are paying back loans for feed and seed before crops are produced, Smith said. The money comes from garden crops, dairy and poultry products.

Slain Judge Long Marked to Die

Even at the moment when he swore in Texas new Governor James V. Allred last January as pictured here, Associate Justice William Pierson (indicated by arrow) of the Texas supreme court was marked for death at the hands of his own son, according to authorities. The death plot included the justice's wife. It was claimed after the couple were found shot to death on a lonely road 20 miles from Austin and their son, Howard, 20, confessed he killed them "for revenge."

Says Finnell—Blaze Ruins Auto, Garage Last Night

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a late model automobile and garage at the Elgin Bell residence on North Fifth Street last night. The car destroyed in the blaze was a 1935 model Ford. The fire was discovered shortly after 11 o'clock but had gained such headway that it was impossible for firemen to save the car garage. No other property was damaged by the blaze.
