The Senate remained in session until 11:30 p. m. when it adjourned until tomorrow.
The House voted 112 to 67 to pass the omnibus bill.

Rudolph Rice, left, is a true brunet, while his twin, Umberto, is a pure albino. They boys, born of Mexican parentage on Santa Catalina Island, have aroused world-wide scientific interest.

The pastorate at McAllen is considered a promotion for Rev. Dyer, since he will be serving a larger membership.
Rev. Dyer will complete his work here on Sunday, June 2, filling the local pulpit for the last time. He will be accompanied to McAllen by Mrs. Dyer, also an active leader in church and social activities, and their young son, Norman, Jr.

REV. NORMAN D. DYER

'UNCLE BUD' RUSSELL, PRISON CHARACTER, COMES FOR 'PALS'

"Uncle Bud" Russell, special agent for the state penitentiary at Huntsville and probably the most widely known state agent in the southwest, was in Memphis this morning to pick up several prisoners who had free one-way tickets to Huntsville.
Three prisoners from Claude were confined in the Hall County jail last night and picked up by the special agent this morning. All local prisoners sentenced to the penitentiary previously had been taken to Huntsville.
"Stripping sugar cane for Uncle Bud" is a common term among the "boys who have gone south." Uncle Bud has represented the Texas prison system for more than 25 years and has led a colorful career, dealing with the toughest characters in the Southwest.
In all of his experience with criminals, "Uncle Bud" has never had a "break" and has allowed only one prisoner to escape. In 1931 he allowed a youth, sentenced on a liquor charge, to escape, although he had every opportunity to shoot and kill the youth as he fled on foot. "Uncle Bud" was so disappointed over breaking his quarter-century record that he immediately tendered his resignation to Governor Sterling.
Sterling refused to accept the resignation, gave Uncle Bud a

Miss Vera Gilreath, county superintendent, was elected secretary of the county board.
Trustees and representatives of the various schools in the county were present for the meeting in the county superintendent's office yesterday and presented various problems for consideration of board. No unusual action was taken by the board in the session yesterday, according to Mr. Kuhn.

From Behind Bars

Raymond Hamilton again escaped the bars of Huntsville penitentiary this morning, when, with Joe Palmer, he went to his death in the electric chair for the murder of a prison guard.

HEDLEY YOUTHS ARE CHARGED WITH THEFT

Arrested in Connection With Robbery Of Pampa Man
Ansil Admson, 27, and H. A. (Spec) Armstrong, 21, of Hedley, were charged in Justice Court here yesterday with theft in connection with the alleged "rolling" of a Pampa man at a local hotel last Friday. A woman, Mollie Scoggins, is held in the county jail facing similar charges in the same case.
Admson and Armstrong made bonds of $1,000 each and were released last night. A negro, held for questioning, was released Thursday.
The two men and the woman are alleged to have "framed" R. A. Baker, of Pampa, and to have stolen $104 from him while he was sleeping at a local hotel Friday afternoon, according to information from the local sheriff's office.

Follows Joe Palmer; Body Is Returned To Dallas

DALLAS, May 10.—Raymond Hamilton, hoodlum who was electrocuted early today for the murder of Major Crawford in a prison break, was brought back to Dallas in death today.
The body was whisked away from Huntsville penitentiary after the execution and rushed here by ambulance for burial sometime tomorrow.
Ashen faced, Hamilton walked to the electric chair a few minutes after Joe Palmer, gunman convicted for the same murder, paid for the crime with his life.
Body Is Guarded
Police guarded the Dallas undertaking establishment where Hamilton's body was brought, but there was no throng of sensation hunters, such as crowded to see the bullet riddled bodies of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Hamilton's one-time partners in crime.
The youthful Dallas social misfit was placed in the electric chair at 12:19 a. m. today and was pronounced dead a few minutes later. His death wrote an end to a career that began with teen-age petty larceny and developed into bank robbery, kidnaping, prison breaks and murder before he was of voting age.
Nerves Break

Health Officer Issues Local Clean-Up Orders

In connection with the annual clean-up campaign to be ordered by proclamation soon by Mayor J. A. Whaley, City Health Officer C. Z. Stidham late yesterday ordered the cleaning of alleys and outhouses in Memphis.
All outhouses must be properly cleaned and disposed of properly covered with hinged doors, the health officer ordered. He stated that unless this regulation is followed, the city will not take over the task of cleaning away the disposal, and the owners will be required to do so themselves.
The health officer also ordered that all manure and rubbish thrown into alleys must be cleaned out by property owners.
"These alleys must be cleared so that they may be driven through in automobiles," he stated.
In this connection, owners should place moveable garbage and trash containers in the alleys so that they may be kept clear of rubbish and waste material easily disposed of by garbage gatherers.

School Girl Held In Extortion Case

TULSA, Okla., May 11.—Opal Virginia Beard, 16-year-old school girl, yesterday was arrested by Department of Justice agents when she picked up a dummy package placed where an extortion note had directed Homer F. Wilcox, wealthy oil man, to leave $2,000. C. E. Bailey, United States district attorney, announced yesterday afternoon.
The girl confessed she wrote and mailed the note, threatening death to the Wilcox children unless the money was paid, Bailey said.

This display has attracted wide interest here, with dozens of people coming into the office daily to view the relics of bygone days.
The Democrat calls to the attention of those who have not viewed the display the fact that it will end tomorrow night, to give them a last chance to view the historically-interesting display before that time.

Babson Lists Three Ways To Curb Spending Program

NOT AFRAID DEBT BUT 'MACHINE'

Curb Desire of Administration To Spend Money

BER W. BABSON, PARK, Mass., Editors long ago received every favorable kick. This has been my own mail for a past decade.

only a handful of my friends have recommended my opposition to the Townsend Pension Plan. I feel so strongly that public hand-outs are leading us into terrible trouble that I believe that it is my civic duty to point out the dangers in this policy. Your congressmen probably call the spent - our - way - back-to-prosperity program a great experiment—a national war on depression.

talked recently have had the same reaction. The nation is becoming alarmed!

BABSON NOT UNFRIENDLY TO ADMINISTRATION

I am neither a politician nor a partisan. Politically I am an independent; economically, a conservative; and socially, a progressive liberal. In writing both this and my previous article, on the budget, I state definitely that I am not opposed, nor am I unfriendly, to the administration. As I have continually stated, I believe in the goal of President Roosevelt and his Cabinet. The president has always been interested in helping the underdog. His present efforts are not now assumed for political purposes, as many Republicans would try to make us believe.

In writing this article I am simply giving readers the unbiased opinion of a statistician. I feel so strongly that public hand-outs are leading us into terrible trouble that I believe that it is my civic duty to point out the dangers in this policy. Your congressmen probably call the spent - our - way - back-to-prosperity program a great experiment—a national war on depression.

But it is not an experiment! It has been tried in every nation and in every age. And in all history it has had but one ending: the ruin of government credit, the destruction of currency, inflation, starvation, revolution and chaos!

TRUER TODAY THAN TWO YEARS AGO

In President Roosevelt's opening address to Congress more than two years ago he said: "For three long years the Federal government has been on the road towards bankruptcy. For the fiscal year 1931, the deficit was $462,000,000. For the fiscal year 1932 it was $2,472,000,000. For the fiscal year 1933 it will probably exceed $1,200,000,000. . . . I point out to the congress the profound effect of this upon our national economy. . . . Upon the unimpaired credit of the United States rests the safety of deposits, the security of insurance policies, the activity of industrial enterprises, the value of our agricultural products, and the availability of employment. . . . Too often in recent history liberal government has been wrecked on the rocks of fiscal policy. We must avoid this danger."

This statement is truer now than the day it was delivered. Since that time the public deficit has increased $7,000,000,000 and is increasing at the rate of $250,000,000 per month. We have rolled up the largest public debt in war or peacetime. But big as the present deficit is and high as present taxes are, they do not worry me too much. It is acquiring the spending "habit" which worries me. Most readers have written me recently and feel that this is the biggest danger about the spending program. One or two drinks are not dangerous. But no drunkard ever started out to be a drunkard.

Building and Savings Association, a corporation, is plaintiff, and Sam S. Cowan and wife, Clara Cowan, are defendants, No. 13965-B. Plaintiff recovered judgment against the defendant Sam S. Cowan, for the sum of $2434.64, with interest thereon from April 5, 1935, at the rate of ten per cent per annum, and costs of suit, which judgment was rendered on April 5, 1935, in the District Court of Dallas County, Texas, for the 44th Judicial District of Texas, I have levied upon and will, on the first Tuesday in June, 1935, same being the 4th day of said month, at the Court House door in the city of Memphis, Hall County, Texas, between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M., proceed to sell to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, title and interest of said defendants, or either of them, in and to the following described real estate, levied upon on May 9th, 1935, as the property of said defendants, to-wit:

Situated in the County of Hall, State of Texas, being a parcel of land 46 2-3 feet by 150 feet, a part of lots Nos. 8, 9 and 10, in block No. 3, of Dotson's Addition to the town of Memphis, Texas, fronting 46 2-3 feet on fifteenth Street, and being the same property described in deed of trust from Lester C. Linn and Cecil Knight Linn, his wife, to L. E. Prall, Trustee, dated January 1, 1929, and recorded in Volume 24, page 167, of the Deed of Trust Records of Hall County, Texas.

The above sale will be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment, and the proceeds thereof will be applied to the satisfaction of said judgment.

HOW SPENDING CAN BE CHECKED

Readers feel that those who benefit from this program may develop such a powerful political machine that they can roll up appropriations like a snowball year after year. Readers can remember the bitter fights put up by Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt when they tried to cut federal expenses in line with the drop in income tax. Why will it be any easier to curtail these enormous emergency expenditures? So to prevent the building up of gigantic political machines, I suggest temporarily taking the vote away from those receiving relief and their immediate families. This would be based on the same principle that prohibits the residents of Washington, D. C. from voting.

Now, the next step is to eliminate the competition between public and private employment. The number receiving relief has increased more than 50 per cent in the past year. On the other hand, business according to the Babson chart, while still 21 per cent below normal, is only two per cent below last May, and factory employment is actually higher. To prevent the relief rolls from being padded, I make another suggestion: Reduce the pay schedule on relief jobs to less than 65 per cent of the "going" wage in private industry. This will keep down the number seeking attractive relief jobs. Then, as business improves, workers will not cling to their poorly paid public jobs, but will be eager to get back into private industry.

SENATORS SALARIES

Will it ever be possible to prevent the terrific political pressure of Congress to vote away billions on pork-barrel projects? After considering many supposed remedies, I think the following is best: If Congress provided that all Senators be given their full salaries for life, whether or not they were reelected, the bullying and threats of the powerful blocs who now control the country would largely be offset. It would make Senators free to use their own judgment and think first of their people at home. Such a plan would make the ultimate good of the nation mean more to the Senate than the immediate prospects of re-election. So in the above suggestions are three possibilities of escape from inflation. But the severest criticism which I have of the present program is not the amount of money which is being spent. Even if we go through inflation and all its agonies, this nation is powerful enough to stage a come-back, as Germany is now doing. But the willingness of the government to support a certain class in comparative comfort is creating among this class the idea that the government owes them a living. Too many are finding that they don't have to work if they don't want to work: I feel this—the squandering of our national character—is the real price we are paying for the spend-our-way-back-to-prosperity program. On this subject, I want to write next week. (Copyright — 1935 — Publishers Financial Bureau)

NOW! BIG CHANCE FOR PROFITS IN THE PROSPEROUS AUTO INDUSTRY

YOU, too, can share in the substantial profits that are to be made from this industry. The Dodge Brothers Corporation is looking, right now, for an enterprising direct-factory dealer in this territory.

Statistical authorities, bankers and economists agree that profit opportunities are unlimited right now for alert and aggressive merchants in the automobile business.

Starting in 1933, the industry picked up momentum, and began to lead the country out of the depression. Sales increased by a wide margin in 1934. This year bids fair to be the best the industry has enjoyed in many years.

But apart from that, the years just ahead are recognized as certain to be a prosperous period, in the automobile world. Sales are expected to surpass anything the country has ever known. It is estimated that a replacement requirement of 7,000,000 over-age vehicles exists at the moment.

Dodge Brothers Corporation offers a Triple-Profits Franchise—Dodge passenger cars, Plymouth passenger cars and Dodge trucks. It is the most valuable money-making opportunity in the industry. If you are the right man, you will be given this franchise. And remember, Plymouth is the fast-selling favorite in the lowest price field; the famous New-Value Dodge, in a slightly higher-priced range, stands fourth in sales in the entire industry; and Dodge commercial cars and trucks are in the lowest price class. Altogether, this complete line covers 85% of the possible automobile market. Sales in your state are already far above the corresponding period of last year, and are at the highest peak nationally in ten years!

Where qualifications of character and responsibility are satisfactory to Dodge Brothers Corporation, we will welcome an opportunity to show the handsome profits that Dodge-Plymouth dealers are making from the Triple-Profits Franchise, in cities of this size. And, with regard to capital, we are prepared to give you a precise estimate of what is required to assure the success of the venture, and to show you the extraordinary return to be expected on this investment.

Write today. Address correspondence to Mr. Forest Akers, Director of Sales, Dodge Brothers Corporation—Detroit, Mich. All correspondence confidential.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Dr. John Angus MacMillan, Minister
"Mother Machree" will be the title of the Mother's Day sermon at this church—next Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. The entire service will center around the Mother's Day motif. There will be appropriate and inspiring special music by the choir. Your mother should like to know that you attended church Sunday. Will you be there? If your mother isn't here any more, honor her memory. If she is still here, go to church with her.
Suppose you were obliged to live several years by yourself and could have but five books, what books would you take with you to your hermit abode? Think that over and make your list—and then hear Sunday evening's sermon at the church. "A Good Book to Read" will be its title. The above question was submitted to 12 distinguished men and women. They made their selection. What books would be your choice? The service begins at 7:30 p. m.
The Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
John H. Banister, Minister
The morning services were well attended last Sunday at the Church of Christ. A fine audience welcomed the sermon and much good was done. In the afternoon the church went to Lakeview to help dedicate their new building. John H. Banister had charge of services both afternoon and night, and overflowing crowds were in attendance and a fine Christian spirit prevailed. We predict a rapid and substantial growth for the Lakeview church. The Church of Christ is growing all over the land. This is due, no doubt, to our plea for the Bible alone. Come to this church and hear the gospel preached in its purity and simplicity. Sunday morning John H. Banister, the minister, will bring a message worth-while and inspirational. Be there. We invite you to all the services of this church. All of our week-day activities have been well attended and much im-

EXPERT TO GIVE LESSONS IN PRESERVING

Home Economist Will Appear Here on May 13, 14, 15

Mrs. Arreva French, well known Home Economist of the Ball Brothers Co., will be in Memphis on May 13, 14 and 15 at which time she will give a free demonstration of meat, fruit and vegetable preserving at Farmers' Union Supply Company at 2 p. m.

For 15 years, Mrs. French has been prominently identified with Home Economics work, having conducted canning and cooking schools all over the country. Her connection with Extension Home Demonstration agents, and her extensive club activities have fitted her specially well to advise housewives on their canning problems.

Mrs. French is not only perfectly prepared technically for her place, but she has a charming personality which claims her audiences' attention and admiration. Having had much practical and home experience, she is able to explain all the correct and economical methods of canning foods in glass containers so that her listeners understand every process. Hundreds of women have attended her schools and demonstrations, and have learned how to put up home products for the delight, health and prosperity of their families.

The Ball Brothers Company, manufacturers of quality glass jars for nearly half a century, is sending Mrs. French and scores of other qualified demonstrators all over the country to show housewives the United States Government-approved methods of steam pressure, hot water bath and open kettle canning. See and hear Mrs. French, and ask her any canning questions which she will be glad to answer.

Attendance prizes will be awarded.

DODGE AUTOMOBILE SEEKING DEALER CONNECTIONS HERE

It is significant of the startling upturn of the automobile industry, as well as the general improvement of business in this section of the country, that the Dodge division of Chrysler Motors is now actively seeking a direct factory dealer connection in this territory.

The franchise, which is open here, is known throughout the industry as the Triple-Profit franchise, because it covers the representation of Dodge and Plymouth motor cars and Dodge commercial cars and trucks. Forest H. Akers, director of development of the industry in the year immediately ahead. "Right now," he declared, "there exists a replacement requirement of 7,000,000 over-age vehicles, in addition to the normal demand of this great recovery market. As a business that is attractive to capital and the spirit of American enterprise, I can think of none that holds such rewards of profit and satisfaction, as this automobile industry.

"As in every other business endeavor," said Mr. Akers, who has been instrumental in the installation of thousands of dealerships in all parts of the country, "it takes a combination of factors to develop the utmost success in automobile merchandising. The cars must be right, within the pocket-book range of many persons. The dealer must be right, properly equipped to handle the line, able to take care of his customers after he has sold them. The factory must be right in its relations to the dealer, in advertising the product, in supplying the dealer with sales ammunition and information that will keep the public interested in the cars long before the salesman calls.

"In our Triple Profit Franchise, we believe, the dealer is offered unexampled opportunity for a permanent and profitable business. In establishing a connection in Memphis, Dodge, as always, will be guided by its long time high standard of requirements in regard to character and responsibility. The capital requirements are based simply on the sound principle of sufficient backing to insure successful operation."

THE VOICE OF THE UPPER RED RIVER VALLEY

GUARD AGAINST PROPAGANDA

PROPAGANDA of every nature is flowing possibly more rapidly in the United States today than at any other peace-time period...

It has been charged—in an effort to show their evils—that CCC camps have become a hotbed for Communistic and other types of propaganda.

Getting closer to home, it is said that adult education classes are being used for the purpose of spreading propaganda against the present administration.

These charges may be true, at least to some extent. They will always be true whenever a group of people gather. If you wish to consider it that way, one might claim with some degree of accuracy that the churches promulgate propaganda.

Nowhere is there more such information received than in a newspaper office.

This does not mean that the churches and newspapers have evil influences. In the case of the newspaper, it is up to the editor to separate the propaganda from the actual news and give the latter to his readers.

In other cases, it is up to the individual to weigh, judge and pick the facts from the hearsay, retaining the one and discarding the other. If we attempt to prevent the spreading of any type of propaganda, we shall have little or no group gatherings left.

The person who has the ability to separate the truth from the hearsay or direct misinstruction will not be touched. But those who accept anything without investigation will always be reached by the propagandist.

MILITARY LEADERS SEE OWN SHADOWS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT did the right thing in squelching those overambitious army officers who had so much to say about American "war plans" in this hemisphere.

An army strategist is apt to say almost anything, of course, and it would be foolish to attach too much weight to the whole affair. And yet it is a timely warning of something that we usually fail to realize—the fact that militarism is a growth not confined to Europe and Asia, after all. We have our own share of it, and it's time we realized it.

Consider, for instance, the ideas which Brig. Gen. F. M. Andrews, chief of the new General Headquarters Air Force, spread before a congressional committee recently.

We must, said General Andrews, keep our eyes on New Foundland, the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Trinidad, British Honduras and the lesser Honduras. Any or all these places would make dangerous enemy air bases in the event of war; we must keep them under surveillance, be ready to bomb them if we find air bases developed on them, and be prepared to seize them by main force "if the situation is sufficiently vital to require it."

Nor is that all. Other army officers urge Congress to establish a huge air base in the Great Lakes border. They admit that Canada probably is not meditating war on the United States; but they point out that if any "hostile power" lodged itself in Canada, it would be within easy raiding distance of our great industrial centers.

Now all this is very little less than vicious. It represents militarism in its worst sense—the attitude of mind that sees everything in terms of military equation and ignores all the supremely important intangibles of international relations.

One of our greatest assets is the fact that we enjoy friendly relations with our neighbors. The Canadian border has gone unfortified for a century. The average American no more expects trouble from Newfoundland or Bermuda than he expects Pittsburgh to attack Cincinnati.

But such facts mean nothing to a militarist. There is foreign soil at our door-step; it must be the soil of an enemy; let us spend huge sums and lay elaborate plans to repel attack, even if it means replacing international friendship with suspicion, fear, and dislike!

President Roosevelt did the right thing in making it clear that the vaporings of these officers in no way represents official American opinion.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Big Business Proves it Has Regained Its Morale by Thundering Protests at Roosevelt Policies... Fears Threats Against Unlimited Profits... Things It's Time to Lay Off Reform.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Economic recovery has been only partial. But the American big business man's recovery of his morale appears to be complete. Hanging around the U. S. Chamber of Commerce convention, a cautious correspondent had no trouble learning the frame of mind which lay behind the fusillades directed against the Roosevelt administration by speaker after speaker for that great lobby of industry and commerce, which broke definitely with the administration.

Most of these men believe the New Deal contains some threat to the free right to make unrestricted profits. Anticipating business recovery on a rapidly rising scale, they want no interference with their privilege of making whatever money they can.

The average member of the chamber reacts with special violence against the "power trust." It makes no difference to him that a public utility is a publicly granted monopoly, as distinguished from a competitive private enterprise.

TVA is Bogey He sees the great TVA project as the spearhead—the camel's nose under the tent—for the government's entry into other lines of business.

And he sees Roosevelt's proposed elimination of electric utility holding companies as the beginning of an effort to bust up other huge combinations of corporate power and wealth.

He resists government regulation because that, too, threatens profit—as in the case of hours and wages. He resents what he considers the administration's encouragement of labor to organize and present demands.

He is divided as to continuance of the NRA and AAA and as the Roosevelt's social security program, but he is insistent that relief appropriations be cut, because taxes eat into profits.

He is against the Roosevelt banking bill because that means more government regulation.

Owls Attempt To Continue Climb at Hollis

MEET LAST OF LOOP'S WEAK OUTFITS

Return Next Week To Start Series With League Leaders

Holding fourth pace and fairly determined to climb higher, the Memphis Owls journey to Hollis, Okla., Sunday to clash with another of the weak sisters of the Western Division of the Red River Valley League.

Following their rousing victory over Shamrock here last Sunday, the local outfit, although minus the services of one of its two leading hurlers, believes it is headed on the way nearer the top.

By all ways of figuring the dope, the nine should take the Hollis crew into camp with comparative ease.

Such a victory would bring the Owls back home next week prepared to renew its battles with the league leaders and in a position to move near the top if they can conquer all or even two games with Childress, Paducah and Wellington.

Buck Whitfield, injured in last Sunday's game after holding the Shamrock outfit well in check, will be forced to carry the load at Hollis Sunday in the absence of his right-handed mate, Cliff Stewart, who left the team this week. McCool, a southpaw, and H. Stewart will handle the relief job if relief is needed.

Hard-hitting infielders and outfielders must make up for whatever weakness develops in the pitching staff. The line up will include such sluggers as Moore, Tunnell, Williamson, Morrison, the Marcum brothers, Thompson, Widener and Mclear.

Whitehead May Take Place Among Baseball's Greatest

This is the second of two stories on the surprising transition of the Chicago White Sox from cellar champions to championship contenders.

By HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)

CHICAGO, May 9.—The Black Sox of 1919 and '20 practically blacked out Chicago as far as the class of American league baseball went.

That attendance has been even as good as it was, seems a remarkable tribute to the good citizens of the big city on the lake front and the stockyards clientele which dates back to the hitless wonders of 1906 and beyond. Chicago always has been an American League town.

The Chicago management failed to keep stride with the times. It had no farm clubs nor elaborate scouting system. Things went from bad to worse. Seventh and eighth became the customary niche in the standings column. Lou Fonseca created a mild sensation by piloting the outfit to the sixth slot in 1933.

Sox recruits in spring training camps looked more like ribbon cutters than ball players—until this spring.

Then, from nowhere, apparently, came a corps of peacocks which such a good judge as Al Simmons called the best that has reported to a ball club in years.

There were the young pitchers, Johnny Whitehead, Les Tietje, Joe Vance, Vernon Kennedy, Lee Stine, Dungan Rigney, and Monty Stratton, and the robust outfielders, Vernon George Washington, Ray Radcliff, and Daniel Haffey, nephew of the redoubtable Chick.

Stine, Rigney, and Stratton have been sent out, but both Jimmy Dykes and Simmons predict that all three will be back to remain for some length of time.

Farm Boy Makes Good

There is a good story in connection with each player who has lent a hand in the remaking of the White Sox, but the most interesting one has to do with John Henderson Whitehead, a right-hander of 200 pounds and 6 feet 2 inches.

Dykes and Simmons expect the 25-year-old Whitehead to take his place among the great pitchers of the game. Whitehead made the Pirates and Cubs throw their bats away in exhibition games. He broke into the American League with a bang, letting the champion Detroit Tigers down once with six hits and again with three, and repelling St. Louis with seven.

Whitehead saw his first major league game when the White Sox opened in Detroit.

Both Whitehead and Washington hail from the northeastern part of Texas. Whitehead was raised on his father's farm near Ector, 90 miles from Dallas, and still makes his home there.

Johnny Whitehead

Whitehead was a catcher until his high school team was being beaten one afternoon. Then he turned pitcher "to get the other side out," and has been at it ever since.

Roy Leslie, former minor league first baseman, saw him in a country game at Wolf City, Tex., in the fall of 1931, and told him that he was wasting his time in the bushes. Leslie took him to Hap Morse, who then managed the Dallas club of the Texas League, and he finished the season there.

Whitehead beat Schoolboy Rowe, then with Beaumont, twice in 1932, and finished with 12 victories and 4 defeats after being employed as a relief worker for the first half of the campaign. He won 16 games and lost 12 in 1933, and came into his own last season with 20 victories and 9 defeats.

Fitches Like Idols

Whitehead's boyhood idols were Walter Johnson and Grover Cleveland Alexander, and he throws with the same sidearm and easy motion of that illustrious pair. The big boy who until four years ago was threshing grain, shucking corn, and picking cotton, also throws over and underhanded.

Whitehead has the speed with which to blow down major league batsmen, a sidearm sinker, and excellent change of pace, and an even disposition.

The current season is a glorious adventure to the large farm boy. Prior to going to Pasadena, Calif., to join the White Sox this spring, he had been out of Texas League territory only once—on a trip to Mexico City for post-season exhibition games.

"I'm having more fun playing ball this season than I have had since I broke in," says the veteran Simmons. "After what I've been through with the White Sox for two years it's a treat to be on a club that has a pitcher like Whitehead to toss in there every fourth day.

"The other clubs had better get used to the young man. Barring accidents, they'll see a lot of him for the next 10 years." THE END

Many great athletes are rank imitators.

Babe Ruth copied Joe Jackson's pigeon-toed stance with both toes dug in, and became the most powerful batter in the history of baseball. The Bam saw how Jackson got his body in back of his tremendous smashes, and practiced until he could do the same thing.

Al Simmons mimicked Ty Cobb even to the swagger. Although he swats from the opposite side, the Milwaukee Pole has all of the Georgie Peach's mannerisms at the plate.

Jake Powell, Washington's new centerfielder, aped Goose Goslin even to the waddle and the arms spread out like wings in chasing flies. They'd be hard to yell apart if Powell didn't hit from the right side of the plate. Powell looks like Goslin even to the prominent nose, and has done such a good job of impersonating the Jersey Jarrer that they call him Little Goose.

Jack Hayes worked on Lue Fonseca's wrist action with such fine results that he is hitting .368 this spring.

Johnny Whitehead, the new White Sox star, never saw Walter Johnson or Grover Cleveland Alexander work, but patterned himself after their velevy style of which he had read.

Jack Dillon Put Ideas Into Dempsey's Head

Jack Dempsey first got the notion that he could win the heavyweight championship while serving as a sparring partner for last week to teach arithmetic in the grades.

According to present plans, vocational agriculture and commercial courses will be added to the curriculum next year. The Commercial courses will include typing, commercial law and possibly shorthand.

Jack Dillon in Brooklyn. Dillon was preparing for the slaughter of Frank Moran.

Dillon obtained the jump on the bigger fellows and held it with the speed of his punches. Dempsey got it into his head that he could do the same thing, and realized that he would have the advantage of being a larger man than the Hoosier Bearcat.

Joe Gans was Benny Leonard's model. Leonard was the only fighter that I ever saw clip his socks at the top of his shoes. I asked the famous lightweight about it.

"I read that Gans did that," explained Leonard. "He said that in going 45 rounds, as he did, water and perspiration in the top of the socks made the feet slightly heavier."

Along about the year of the exposition, a Greek youngster paid 50 cents for a gallery seat in the San Francisco Auditorium to see Stanislaus Zybosko. The young Greek peered intently from his perch 'way up there in the shadows.

The Greek still does everything just as the elder Zybysko did them, even to the little bow in each direction as he enters the ring. He may not be as good a wrestler as the Pole, but he is a far better actor. His mat name is Jim London.

Jones Copied Vardon's Overlapping Grip

Golfers watch one another as closely as football coaches.

Bobby Jones copied Harry Vardon's overlapping grip with the v's formed by the thumbs and first fingers pointing to the shoulders. Olin Dutra patterned his rhythmic swing after that of Macdonald-Smith. Lighthorse Harry Cooper drives a lot like Walter Hagen used to—with a wide stance. Johnny Goodman puts like Jones. And so on down the line.

Harry Kipke, the Michigan coach, is a keen student of Percy Houghton. The Michigan system—"a punt, pass and a prayer"—was employed at Harvard by Houghton years ago. Like Houghton teams, Kipke's kick and wait for the breaks.

Here are the two new light bait casting reels in which aluminum alloy is employed in construction. Top is South Bend's No. 1250, and below is the Pflueger Nobby.

The greatest development in bait casting reels since the level wind and anti-backlash devices were installed, is introduced to fishermen in two new reels making their appearance this season. This is the use of aluminum alloy in construction.

Inspection of these two reels is sure to be a revelation to the uninitiated this year. To anyone accustomed to manipulating that

Tech Assistant To Be Quitaque Athletic Coach

QUITAQUE, May, 10.—Trenton Davis, business manager of the athletic team and assistant coach at Texas Tech at Lubbock last year, was named as coach and athletic director in the Quitaque High School for the 1935-36 term at a meeting of the local school board Monday evening, Supt. E. W. Scheid announced.

Mr. Davis comes to Quitaque with excellent recommendations from Coach Pete Cawthon, head coach at Texas Tech. Unable to play collegiate football due to head injury received in high school play at St. Jo, Davis became business manager for the Tech teams and has made a special study of football under such famous coaches as "Pop" Warner at the annual Coaches Training School at Lubbock.

In addition to the selection of a coach, the board completed the selection of the faculty of the local school for the coming year, naming Miss Geraldine Lawrence of Lubbock as primary teacher, and Miss Wanda King, Lubbock, to teach Spanish and grade school English. Miss Mary Lucy Montgomery of Memphis was selected old style steel reels, which quickly tire the wrist made soft during a winter of inactivity, the lack of weight in these two reels is surprising.

One is constructed entirely of aluminum alloy, while the other has only the spool made of this material. The big advantage of this type of construction is the tendency to eliminate backlashes. In the old style reel, with the steel or bronze spool, momentum after a cast was so great that the line, if the spool was not thumbed properly, over-ran itself due to the speed of the spindle once it was started in motion. With the tendency to over-run the line is eliminated because of the lightness of this part of the reel.

Another advantage of this light type of reel is that it lends itself to better balance when used with light bamboo or hollow steel casting rods. Old style reels, heavy and cumbersome, gave a feeling of overbalance at the butt of the rod.

One of these reels is the Nobby, built by Pflueger, and the other is South Bend's No. 1250.
