SERVING MEMPHIS AND ITS TERRITORY DAILY

Good Afternoon

The New Deal, it is reported, has cost only $1,000,000,000 since July 1, but there's so much yelling about it, you'd think those zeros meant something.

Parade Staged in Mexico's Church-State War

In the war of church and state in Mexico, a mammoth demonstration was staged in Mexico City in which 150,000 marched, to indicate popular support of the government's program of Socialist education. A section of the parade is shown at left. The National Cathedral, Mexico's largest Roman Catholic church, in the background, was closed during the parade. Above are paraders with a dead turkey dangling from a banner inscribed, "Here Comes the Archbishop of Mexico."

FUNERAL RITES ARE HELD FOR W. E. BOREN

Services Conducted This Afternoon at Lakeview Home

Special to The Democrat
LAKEVIEW, Nov. 7.—Last rites for W. E. (Uncle Billie) Boren were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home here. The services were conducted by Rev. M. C. Golden, pastor of the Baptist church of Ballinger, father of Mrs. Hollis Boren of Memphis and a long-time friend of the deceased.

Burial was in Lakeview cemetery with King's mortuary in charge.

Mr. Boren died suddenly yesterday morning at 11:45 o'clock of a heart attack. He was returning to his home from town at the time. He was almost 81 years old.

A native of Mississippi, Mr. Boren moved to Oklahoma when a young man and then came to Hall county 26 years ago. He lived at Lakeview for a number of years before removing to Memphis where he resided for five years before returning here six years ago.

He was one of the best known "old timers" in the county and many friends attended the services to pay their respect to his memory.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Stephens, Lakeview; Mrs. C. B. Lively, Amarillo; four sons, Hollis Boren, Memphis; J. H. Boren, Lakeview; J. W. Boren, Oklahoma City; G. E. Boren, Atwood, Okla., and several grandchildren.

Pall bearers were H. J. DuVall, Don Wright, Tom Isham, David Davenport, R. M. Holt and Tom McCreary.

Honorary pallbearers were H. M. Davis, H. W. Blanks, W. C. Wyatt, D. H. Davenport, C. J. Mash, H. F. Gardenshire, F. J. Shillinger and W. L. Nabers.

Those in charge of flowers were Lottie Dial, Geraldine Kinard, Tomie Ruth Potts, and the following grandchildren: Bobbie Nell Boren, Jackie Lee Boren, Oleta Faye Stephens, C. B. Lively, Jr., Don Lively and Billie Joe Boren.

CRONER GIVEN 25 YEARS

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—C. J. McNally, 25-year-old crooner, was convicted and sentenced to 25 years imprisonment for the May 6 pistol slaying of M. B. Deloach, 63. The state built its case to support a robbery motive.

NOVELIST DIES

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Catharine Amy Scott Dawson, poet and novelist died today. Mrs. Scott had published some 15 novels several books of verse and plays. Her first work, published when she was 21, was "Sappho," a discussion of women's rights.

FARMERS SLOW TO GET CHECKS

Less Than One-Third of 400 Cotton Acreage Reduction Checks Called For

Less than one-third of the 400 or more cotton acreage reduction checks received Monday for Hall county had been distributed this morning, according to word from the office of County Agent James A. Jackson.

Distribution of checks for a part of the acceptances in this county began yesterday morning and signers of the 1934 government acreage reduction contracts are urged to call for their checks this week, Mr. Jackson said.

Rental checks now ready for distribution total $31,792.15. This amount represents about one-fourth of the total rental and parity checks expected on contracts already accepted.

The balance of the $172,423.11 due on acceptances is expected daily and additional acceptances should be announced at an early date also, Mr. Jackson said this morning.

GRID PLAYER KILLED

ANADARKO, Okla., Nov. 7.—Jack Morris, 16, member of the Anadarko Junior high school football team, died here yesterday of injuries suffered in a football scrimmage. Morris suffered a head injury and died from cerebral hemorrhage.

Man Arrested as Possible Kidnaper

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The department of justice today announced its agents had taken into custody Oscar H. "Buster" Robson upon the authorization of the United States Attorney of Phoenix, Ariz., as the kidnapper of June Robles, 6.

The department said a federal complaint is being filed, charging Robson, 31, with the sending of extortion letters through the United States mails.

Handwriting experts declared the handwriting in the extortion letters, calling for the payment of $15,000, to be his.

Rotary Candidate Visits Here Today

J. M. Willson of Floydada, candidate for District governor of Rotary clubs in Texas, spent this morning in Memphis visiting with local Rotarians in the interest of his candidacy. Roy R. Fultz, president of the Memphis club, met with Mr. Willson and a committee of Floydada Rotarians this morning and introduced the visitors to various Rotarians in the city.

Lon M. Davis, C. M. Thacker and Walton Hale, Floydada Rotarians, accompanied Mr. Willson to Memphis and urged local support of the Panhandle candidate.

After spending the morning here, the committee of Floydada Rotarians left for Childress where they will meet with the Rotary club in that city at noon today.

Germany Declares U. S. Autos Taboo

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—United States automobile manufacturers were declared taboo for Germany today by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of finance.

He ordered in the future that only two automobiles of each American company be permitted to enter Germany yearly through clearing arrangements with third countries.

Democrats Obtain Their First Two-Third Majority in Senate

AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION DEFEATED

Nebraska Democrat Turns Tide; Guffy Declared 'In'

For the first time since the Democratic party was organized just before the Civil war, Democrats today obtained over a two-thirds majority in the Senate.

Selection of a Democrat in Nebraska gave the party 66, more than the two-thirds.

In addition, Joseph F. Guffy, Democrat, gained a lead of more than 100,000 over David A. Reed, Pennsylvania Republican stalwart senator. Democrats claimed Guffy "in."

Only four Republicans have been definitely elected in the Democratic landslide—California, Delaware, Vermont, Michigan and Maine elected Republicans in September, giving the Republicans 23 senate seats.

Republicans that fell were in Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Rhode Island, and West Virginia.

Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin, Progressive candidate for reelection to the senate, and his brother, Phil, running on the same ticket for governor, were victorious.

In contests for representatives the Democrats had elected 234 and Republicans 70, a majority of 218.

West Virginia and Florida voted prohibition repeal by big majorities. Kansas voted to retain the dry law. Repeatists lead in Idaho, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Mrs. Daniel O'Day, friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, was elected representative at-large from New York. Representative Isabella Greenway, Arizona Democrat, another friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, was far in the lead today.

Hopes of Mrs. Lydia Langer, Republican gubernatorial candidate in North Dakota, to "vindicate" her husband, the deposed Governor William Langer, were dwindling. Her Democratic opponent led by 26,000 votes.

Still militant despite a decisive defeat for the California governorship, Upton Sinclair hinted at plans to seek a recall of the victorious Republican, Merriam.

WOMEN MUST WEAR HATS AT ROYAL WEDDING IN LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 7.—No bare-headed ladies may attend the wedding of Princess Marina of Greece and the Duke of Kent late this month.

A copy of regulations prescribing the dress to be worn, which went with each of the several hundred invitations to the main wedding ceremony already issued by the Lords Chamberlain, provides that women guests shall wear hats.

The ladies are also instructed to wear morning clothes and any orders and decorations they possess.

Navy, army and air officers will wear full dress or service dress. Members of the royal household and civil servants will wear full dress or levee (morning reception) dress, while civilians will wear court dress.

Special seats are being reserved at the Abbey for half a dozen servants of the Duke of Kent's household, who will have a full view of the ceremony uniting the King's youngest son with the lovely daughter of Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece.

Two golden crosses are being fashioned by goldsmiths at Athens as a gift of the rathbishop of the church of Cyprus and the Hellenic community.

It was also disclosed that the double ring ceremony may be used, in accordance with Greek Church tradition, at the Greek orthodox ceremony in the private chapel at Buckingham Palace which will follow the main service in Westminster Abbey.

LIST CAUSES OF OCEAN DISASTER

Names Five Causes of Great Death List in Burning of Morro Castle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The death of 84 passengers and 36 members of the crew of the Morro Castle steamship disaster, was attributed today by the steamboat inspection service to the rapid spread of fire, delay in giving fire alarms, ineffectiveness of the fire alarm, failure to mark exits properly and delay of officers in sending an SOS message.

Dickerson N. Hoover, in charge of the inspection service, reported to Secretary Roper that there was no evidence of incendiaryism and that it is impossible to state the exact cause of the fire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Possibility that an explosion of extra-hand munitions aboard the Morro Castle caused the fire which swept the liner and resulted in the death of 134 persons is mentioned in the report Dickerson N. Hoover has made on the tragedy.

Hoover, assistant director of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection, said Tuesday his report on the disaster also reviewed other possible causes of the blaze, among them incendiaryism, spontaneous combustion and defective electric wiring.

His summary is in the hands of Secretary of Commerce Roper. A copy also has been delivered to Martin Conboy, Federal District Attorney in New York, for study in connection with possible criminal proceedings.

"I am not undertaking to state how the fire started," Hoover said. "I don't know how it started. Our job is to analyze all possible causes and let others form the conclusions."

Testimony during the Senate munitions inquiry brought out that it might be a comparatively easy matter to ship munitions on a passenger liner.

Raymond Hamilton Believed Spotted

COLUMBUS, Kan., Nov. 7.—Two men, one of whom officers believe was Raymond Hamilton, notorious Texas desperado, and a woman companion, were encountered near here Tuesday by a posse in search of chicken thieves. Several rifle shots were fired at members of the posse, who said they were too far away to return the fire with the small arms they carried.

The trio escaped, but later abandoned their car. It was through this car that officers made tentative identification of one of the occupants as Hamilton.

Members of the posse reported the three opened fire on them as they were driving along the highway. Some of the shots struck the car in which the posse was riding, but no one was injured.

LIGHTEST VOTE IN YEARS IS CAST HERE

Give One Amendment Favor; Few Oppose Democrat Ticket

Only one of the eight proposed amendments to the state constitution carried in Hall county in the general election yesterday, with one of the lightest votes in years polled, according to unofficial election returns.

An amendment to tax University of Texas lands carried in Hall county by more than two to one, while all of the other seven amendments failed to carry by almost the same ratio.

With all of the 16 voting boxes in the county reported early yesterday evening, the unofficial count showed less than one-third of the total voting strength of the second Democratic Primary, cast in the general election. Less than 950 votes were cast yesterday compared with more than 3,000 in the last primary election.

Rodeo Show To Be Given at Grid Game

The American Legion Armistice rodeo to be staged here Saturday and Sunday will actually get underway Friday night—at least for a short stand.

Two exhibitions will be given between halves of the Memphis-Clarendon football game Friday night as a stunt to advertise the events of the next two days at Fair Park stadium.

One event will be an exhibition of trick roping; the other will be an attempt to ride a bucking horse. The participants in the exhibitions were not named.

The rodeo, which will attract hundreds of visitors, will be staged Saturday afternoon, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When DAN BLEEKER, publisher of The Blade, learns that CHARLES MORDEN, police reporter, has been mysteriously killed he employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, who had threatened to sue The Blade because the newspaper reported Cathay had been arrested. The man arrested was an impostor giving the name of Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

Soon after Morden is found dead comes news that Cathay is dead—possibly poisoned.

Morden's fingerprints are found in the apartment of a girl named ALICE LORTON who has reported the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDWAY. Griff and Bleeker question Alice Lorton.

Griff learns that CARL RACINE, detective employed by MRS. CATHAY, is trying to locate a MRS. BLANCHE MALONE. He also discovers that the man who registered at the Miller hotel the night of the arrest was the impostor and not Cathay. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

Sidney Griff returned to his own car and drove at once to the Hillcrest hotel. He got in touch with the bell captain on the night shift and gave him a $5 bill by way of introduction.

"I want to find out," he said, about a man by the name of Cathay who was registered here on Monday night in Room 964."

"There's been two or three people asking about him," the bell boy said.

"Showed you photographs?"

"Yes."

"The photographs they showed you weren't the photographs of the man who was here?"

"No."

"Can you remember what he looked like?"

"He was rather a big fellow and I think he had blue eyes. I can't remember enough about him to describe him, but I could tell him if I saw him again."

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?

Cremulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven helps in one. It is made for quick relief, for safety. Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Cremulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist is authorized to guarantee it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

particularly crowded," the bell captain told him.

"Let's go see if we can find out."

"Okay," the bell boy said. "You wait here, chief, and I'll go prow around a little bit. I think maybe I can find out. I tell you what I think I can do. I think I can contact one of the boys who took a pint of whiskey up to his room. I remember, the boy asked me for an okay on him."

The bell boy grinned confidentially. "Of course," he said, "that's just between you and me, chief."

Griff nodded. "The management strict?" he asked.

"They're not strict about what we do," the bell captain said, "but they're awfully strict about what they know about. They know when to keep one eye closed—and when to keep both eyes closed."

"I see," Griff told him. "I'll wait. You find out what you can."

The bell captain departed and was back within less than five minutes.

"I've got him located for you," he said. "His name is Harry Fancher and he lives at 3692 Kenwood avenue, Millvale. At any rate, that's the address he gave on the register."

Sidney Griff looked at his watch. "A night drive," he said, "would bring me to Millvale just about daylight."

The bell boy regarded him curiously.

"It would," he said, "be a long way to go if the man had given a phoney address. Lots of them do, you know."

The bell boy grinned with the worldly wisdom of a youth who has made his living in and about hotels.

Sidney Griff nodded thoughtfully. He handed the boy another $5 bill. He went to the telephone booth and put through a call for the police headquarters at Millvale. Within 10 minutes he had them on the line.

"You have a city directory there, as well as a register of voters?" he asked. "This is Sidney Griff, the criminologist."

"What is it you want?" asked a gruff voice at the other end of the line.

"I want to find out whether you have a Harry Fancher registered in town, what his occupation is, and where he lives?"

"Hold the line," said the voice, with a weary lack of curiosity, engendered by a life that made crime a mere matter of daily routine.

After a moment the voice came over the wire.

"Yes, there's a Harry Fancher registered. He lives at 3692 Kenwood avenue, and he's an inventor and machinist."

"Thank you," said Griff, and hung up.

Harry Fancher, attired in towseled pajamas, with his hair in wild disarray, regarded Sidney Griff with meek brown eyes.

"Did I get you up?" asked Griff, smiling cordially.

Harry Fancher nodded his head, then added after a moment, "I'm sorry."

Griff raised his eyebrows. Fancher went on to explain.

"I shouldn't have slept so late," he said. "Usually I'm up earlier but this being Sunday morning, I stayed in bed."

Griff regarded the man with curious, speculative eyes.

"I am the one who should make the apologies," he said, "for disturbing you at this hour. But I drove all night in order to get here—that is, the best part of the night."

"To see me?" asked Fancher, raising his brows.

Typing Classes Larger Than Previous Year's

The typing class of the High School is larger this year than it has been for over four years. The class is divided into three sections which total 42 students, and is composed of seniors, juniors, and a few sophomores. Arthur Howard is instructor of the class and teaches in the High School building in the afternoons.

Mr. Howard stated that the class on the average was the best that he had supervised during the time which he had spent teaching in Memphis. The class has progressed more rapidly than any previous class and has some very prospective speedsters among the students. Thus far the students who have appeared the most talented in the class are Charlyne Wright and Virginia Orr. Both have written over 30 words per minute on speed tests and do very accurate class work. The fastest student in the class is Norma Ruth Cole. She has reached a maximum of 40 words per minute but does not do such accurate work. Since the class has only been in session for seven weeks work, it is probably that there should be several good typists in the group before the close of this school year.

This year the routine of the class work has been changed somewhat. Mr. Howard started giving the students speed tests about six weeks before they were given in previous years. The tests are shorter, however, being only three minutes in length. Mr. Howard stated that a great benefit was received from early speed tests since typing "under pressure" brought less errors than those found on practice papers. The system of grading is somewhat different also since the group is given a speed test each day four days per week and the student is privileged to take his choice of any paper. The speed grade is then recorded on a graph

Individualism Is Necessary For Spirit

It takes a spark to start a flame—School spirit—the kind that is wanted in the school—is white, hot, roaring, contagious. It embraces every student—it makes every fellow think that school activities are worth supporting, and studies worth keeping up, and teams worth playing on, or cheering for. But if the school hasn't that kind of roaring-flame spirit, the student must remember this: that an auto cylinder won't explode without a spark plug, that the biggest charge of dynamite in the world won't go off without a cap or fuse. If the school has a load of dynamite but no detonator, it is left to the individual to be the spark. Better yet, how about organizing a group of sparks, and then all exploding together. It is surprising the way the flame will spread.

and his grade will be based on improvement. Every student will be required to hand in a different exercise each day.

It is thought that the typewriters which are now used in class will soon be reconditioned and repaired. The students were required to buy their own text books and pay a fee of one dollar. The fees will cover the greater part of the repair charges on the machines. A Childress typewriter company will probably do the work before the end of the school term. After the machines (Continued on page 4)

TEACHERS MEET TO DISCUSS LEAGUE

P.-T. A. and Junior C. of C. Will Aid In Construction

A meeting of Hall county teachers was held in Memphis on Saturday of last week in the Methodist church annex. The meeting was a very successful one with representatives from every part of the county and with most of the local teachers attending.

The main purpose of the assembly was to bring out some debated problems concerning interscholastic league work. The principal problem and project discussed was that of dividing the contests into two divisions, rural and high school. The problem was thoroughly discussed from all sides and much interesting comment was made on the subject. The advantages of the separation were pointed out and it is thought that the division will be made before spring.

Many and varied are trials and temptations that the unsuspecting college freshman must endure. First there are the days of enrollment. If it is a large school the freshman is more than likely to find himself the victim of having to stand in the matriculation line for several days. By the second day the exasperated victim thinks that he has been there for years but by the time he has at last reached the head of the line he knows that it has been ages. One more thing that money might accomplish: if the person happens to be in such financial circumstances that the loss of 10 (Continued on page 4)

Government Students Advance

A legislature will probably be formed in the government class in the near future it was decided last week. According to H. A. Jackson, instructor, the legislature will represent the legislature of the state of Texas. The class will have a senate, house of representatives, and a governor. The class will be taught to vote and will be shown the principles of carrying on an election. The class will also pass bills through the legislature and will be allowed to carry on any other demonstrative actions which will help them to solve their problems about the present day government.

"My policy," stated Mr. Jackson, "is to be practical as possible in a course and to make use of all demonstrations that can possibly be arranged that will be of any benefit to the class and arrange for them to be thus allowed to learn to do by doing."

Extension Course Offered Teachers

A course in curriculum revision will probably be offered here in the near future. The course will most likely be in the form of an extension from Texas Technological college and will be open to teachers doing other graduate or under graduate work.

The course may be begun in January or February or perhaps sooner. The training is recommended by the State Department of Education and will prove beneficial in several ways to teachers who decide to take advantage of the opportunity. H. A. Jackson, superintendent of local schools, stated that it is his wish for the class to be organized and taught in Memphis.

Teachers May Get 'Prepared Tests'

Teachers in the Senior High school are now considering buying prepared tests for the subjects which they are teaching. This year the state is requiring non-accredited schools to use these prepared tests in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades, and all accredited schools are required to use them in the same grades.

There is a possibility that these tests will be given in various subjects in the high school grades of the local system. The tests have been passed upon by the State Department of Education and are recommended by many leading school officials. The tests would be given as mid-term and as final examinations unless the teachers chose to buy them for other uses as in six-weeks exams.

School Equipment For Play Bought

A shipment of much needed playground equipment was received by the local school last week and was distributed between the Junior High school and the West Ward school. The West Ward school received five playground balls and four playground bats.

The Junior High School received four playground balls. During the past 20 days relief workers have been working at different times on the school campus of the three buildings and in the Junior High school another basketball court has been prepared by the workers who erected the two goal posts. Principal L. C. Linn stated that the faculty of the Junior High school was never troubled with idle students as the principal thought held in mind by those pupils is play and plenty of it.

NEW CAFETERIA STILL REMAINS INDEFINITE

Interscholastic Athletics May Be Divided in County

Whether or not a school cafeteria will be constructed is still an undecided question and as yet no definite plans have been made.

A committee meeting of P.-T. A. workers was held on Tuesday of last week and the problem was thoroughly discussed. The committee was composed of H. A. Jackson, superintendent of local schools, Mrs. O. N. Hamilton, president of High school P.-T. A., and Mrs. T. J. Dunbar, secretary-treasurer of the High school P.-T. A.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has been considering the plans and has decided to help the school in going about constructing the cafeteria. In all probability some definite decision will be reached before the close of this week.

Local school officials and assistants are now on the lookout for building materials and if the plan of construction is decided upon, the building will most likely be erected in the near future.

The benefits of the cafeteria to the students would be innumerable and the project would also be of great service to parents. It would be operated at minimum cost with no profits for anyone and would be located on the campus of the West Ward and High school buildings.

Cyclone-Bronc Rivalry One of Strongest in Panhandle

Annual Clash Long Feature of Season

The tables are due to turn again Friday night as the annual gridiron clash between the Memphis Cyclone and the Clarendon Broncs is renewed. For the first time in three years the Cyclone again takes the favored position it held for more than a decade.

The battle between Cyclone and Bronc is one of the oldest gridiron feuds in this part of the state—and it has flared at times into the bitterest.

Anyone who has followed the fates of the two clubs can remember those bitter struggles when, for years, the two teams almost always were the strongest in the district and battled to the finish for every victory.

For years the Cyclone howled and the Bronc was routed. Only once did the Clarendon eleven threaten to break the famous "jinx" of the Memphians. In 1924 the two clubs battled to a tie, but the Cyclone again emerged with the decision when it was decided by a toss of a coin.

Wins First Game
Three years ago, however, the Cyclone ran into lean years and the Bronc, led by the veterans Hudson and Watson and the others defeated a Memphis eleven for the first time. In two years, thereafter, the Donley county team ruled the grid, piling up a total of 58 points against the local club. The Broncs' victory was not that large, but Memphis' scores were not enough to count.

Now, with the Clarendon eleven defeated more than once this season, and by a club that has since fallen before the charge of the Cyclone, the Memphis eleven again is expected to take a wide margin and renew its victory march.

Districts Changed
That, in brief, is the history of the rivalry between these two teams—a rivalry that waxed hot until the powers that be in Austin started "playing" with the Class B districts and placed the two clubs in separate divisions. No longer do they fight for title honors, but the rivalry between them still exists, and to fans in both cities a victory over the other is almost as important as a sectional crown.

This year, the Cyclone is expected to take both. The charges of Coach Chesty Walker virtually clinched the sectional title last Friday night at Wellington when they turned back the powerful Sky-rockets, 12 to 6, in the fiercest battle of the season. Quittaque remains on the local club's conference slate. That team was defeated by Wellington, 33 to 6, but it was branded by Wellington newspaper men as a "fine little ball club." That game, however, comes next week.

Expect Big Win
In the meantime, local fans, rather tired of seeing the Cyclone role up huge margins against non-conference as well as weaker title opponents, are looking forward with much satisfaction at the prospects of a top-heavy score against the Broncs.

But in this battle, "dope" should not count too heavily, as the followers of the contests between the elevens will contend, for neither club is at its usual strength during this game. The fighting is harder; the desire to win is stronger than in any other game unless it be the district title battle, itself.

Friday night's game at Fair Park stadium will start at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents. Season tickets did not call for the inclusion of the Clarendon game because of its exceptional rating, but the athletic council has decided to honor those season tickets of fans who did not witness the opening game this year in order that they might get in their full six games called for on the ducats.

What will the turf's pretty misses of 1934 do in 1935—Nellie Flag, Black Helen and Motto?

Nellie Flag appears to have the best chance of going on. Nellie Flag is big, rangy and well made, like Princess Doreen. This daughter of American Flag is the property of the Calumet Farm of Warren Wright, who sold his trotters upon the death of his father and purchased running stock.

Black Helen, unbeaten in a half dozen starts for Col. Edward Riley Bradley, seems constructed for sprinting.

Motto, owned by C. V. Whitney, won a couple of the better stakes in brilliant style, but slipped in the closing weeks of the campaign, when she could not carry her weight against the colts.

The fact that Nellie Flag was able to repel the masculine gender in late fall is some indication that she may be able to go over a distance at 3, yet many players will lay off of her on general principles in the rich events of next spring.

These wouldn't play a filly at 3 if she had wings.

Few of them have clicked after 2. The great majority of them have had to be given exceptionally good weight allowances to run with colts.

Top Flight Noted Example

While Mata Hari acquired the Illinois Derby and the Illinois Oaks, she was a flop of 1934, along with Bazaar.

More than $500,000 was lost when little Top Flight couldn't get her mind on racing and the Kentucky Derby of 1932.

They had chucked it into the winter books to that extent on the strength of Top Flight having been the best animal in training at 2, regardless of sex. Top Flight was unbeaten at 2, when she replaced Princess Doreen as the richest money winning filly or mare of all time in one fell swoop with $219,000 to her credit.

Burgoo King, the Derby winner, Universe, Economic and Indian Runner couldn't even warm her up. Only Tick On got close to her. Yet at 3 there wasn't a colt she could beat.

The colts simply were slow in developing in Top Flight's 2-year-old year, and she was a filly of remarkable speed and developed early.

No Flaggng Nellie Flag

But Owner Wright undoubtedly will nominate Nellie Flag for the Kentucky Derby, and her smashing victory in the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs the other afternoon assures him of having one of the winter book favorites.

That's where Derby choices and winners are unveiled—Reigh Count, Clyde Van Dusen, Twenty Grand, and Mata Hari.

And Nellie Flag negotiated the mile of the Kentucky Jockey Club fixture in 1:37 3/5, nearly two seconds less than Mata Hari required to back a number a year ago.

It was the fastest time recorded in the race since Twenty Grand took it from Equipoise by the barest fraction of a nose to hang up a new 2-year-old mark for the mile, 1:36, in one of the greatest races ever run.

Previously, Nellie Flag captured the Matron Stakes in the mud, and hung up a 1:38 for future generations to shoot at in the Selma Stakes.

Nellie Flag's Dam Did It
Nellie Flag has only to follow in the illustrious footsteps of her dam to make good in 1935. Nellie Morse topped Transmute and Mad Play to bag the Preakness of 1924 for Bud Fisher.

Other latter-day exceptions to the rule that a filly is finished at 2 are Princess Doreen, Edith Cavell, and Tred Avon. Edith Cavell, which starred at 2 1/4 miles, nosed out the stayer, Crusader, over that route in 1927. Tred Avon, which whipped Equipoise and Gallant Sir in accounting for the Washington Handicap of 1931, is reported being prepared for racing's comeback in California this winter.

But Nellie Morse, Princess Doreen, Edith Cavell, Tred Avon, Regret before them were—and are—rare exceptions. Regret hoofed it home first in the Kentucky Derby of 1915 to be the only filly ever to win that blue ribbon event.

The Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Water has found that a ton of dry oak leaves contains 2.6 pounds of phosphate, 18.8 pounds of nitrogen, and 7 pounds of potash.

Spaulding Says Grange, Ernie Smith Are Greatest Gridders He Ever Saw

BY BILL SPAULDING
COPYRIGHT, 1934, NEA SERVICE, INC.; LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—A football coach constantly is asked who, in his opinion, is the greatest player ever to don the mole-skins. They seem to believe the coach should have a ready reply, due no doubt, to his contact with so many athletes over years of observation.

The best players I ever saw in action were Ernie Smith, of Southern California, in the line, and Red Grange, of Illinois, in the backfield.

Remember, I'm making my selection from among gridgers I've seen perform.

There have been many brilliant linemen. Puage Heffelfinger's name still is a standby at Yale, and there were Henry of Washington and Jefferson; George Houser, Minnesota tackle; Schultz and Bernard, of Michigan; Lee Coats, of our own school here; Hare, McCracken and Woodruff, of Penn.; Des Jardien and Badenoch, of Chicago; Cooney and De Witt, of Princeton; Babe Horrell, of California; Jim McMillen, of Illinois; and Heiser, Aaron Rosenberg, and Larry Stevens, of Southern California.

An All-Around Star
But the work of Smith stamped him as my idea of a perfect lineman. A veritable tiger on defense, cool, calculating, and vicious, he could hold his own at tackle against any system of attack or any sort of offensive maneuver.

Ernie was sure and safe on all parts of the field. Seldom fooled on outbacks at the inside of his position, he was a great help to his end on wide plays. He was a powerful offensive threat to any defense. He could kick goals after touchdowns with accuracy, and seldom missed booting over the end zone on kickoffs.

Practically every football follower has his idol as a backfield star. Ask any Michigan man who was the greatest of all time and his answer, ten chances to one, will be Willie Heston. Notre Dame men recall the deeds of Eichenlaub and George Gipp. Chicago points with honest pride to Walter Eckersall, and Wisconsin to Pat O'Dea, Larsen and Henry Cochems.

His defensive ability was all that could be asked, I have seen him tackle all over the field and pull his team out of many a tough situation by his ability to knock down and intercept passes.

As a coach looking for a handy man on a busy Saturday afternoon, I would have to string along with Red Grange.

And then you come to Grange, the Galloping Ghost.

The red-head probably carried a football farther than any other man in football. His name stands out above all other Illinois ball toters, although there have been some fine backs at the Champaign institutions—Clark, Pogue, and Macomber among them.

Grange probably was the most uncanny runner of his time. He could smash, dodge, straight arm, and cut—all with a natural flair that no one else I've seen could equal.

Everything Ready
 Everything is in readiness here, awaiting only the dates of the performances, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Saturday night. Fair Park stadium looks like a cross between a football field and a rodeo park, what with chutes and corral located at one end of the field and fences connecting these with the two fences along the sides of the playing field. Additional corrals are located at the opposite end of the field.
 Roy Mayes stated yesterday that a full list of expert hands are assured for each contest and that all that is needed now for the finest rodeo ever staged in this section is fair weather—and that seems assured at this time.
Many To Attend
 Thousands of people in this section of the country from all ad-

vanche notices, are planning to be here during the celebration and Memphis is likely to see holiday times as it has never witnessed before.
 The performances are to be staged at 2 o'clock each afternoon and at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Admission is 25 cents for children and 50 cents plus a five-cent federal tax for adults.
 There is plenty of parking space within the fair park to accommodate hundreds of cars, and seats will be available within the stadium for approximately 2,000 spectators at each show.
 Cloud writing with a searchlight of 1,500,000 candlepower is the latest form of advertising in Berlin.

Start Ticket Sales on Firemen Film

Members of the Memphis Volunteer Fire department began ticket sales this morning for "Night Alarm", a thrilling fire-fighting screen attraction at the Ritz Theatre tomorrow and Friday.
 The spectacular fire thriller was booked last week under the auspices of the local fire department and a percentage of the door receipts will go towards improving the fire hall, it has been announced by Fire Chief M. G. Ray. Chief Ray is being assisted in directing the early ticket sales by Assistant Chief Si Wood.
 "Night Alarm" features Bruce Cabot, Judith Allen and Sam

Hardy. Cabot plays the part of a fire-chasing reporter and the entire story is packed with thrills, drama and romance, according to advance publicity.
 The Ritz tonight is showing "Menace", a murder mystery story, for the last time. A large audience last night shivered at the gruesome story featuring Gertrude Michael and Paul Cavanagh. It is not recommended for children.
 Mrs. C. C. Doshier and daughter, Parilee, of Amarillo, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Howard yesterday, leaving this morning for Austin where they will attend the State Federation of Women's Clubs in session there Nov. 12 to 16 inclusive. Mrs. Howard accompanied them to Austin and will also attend the convention. They will visit relatives en route.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tucker and son, Billie, of Altus, Okla., spent Sunday here as guests in the home of his brother, J. M. Tucker, 1321 North Montgomery street.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cassels and J. G. Gardner, Jr., went to Eldorado, Okla., this morning to visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. White and look after property interest.
 C. L. Caviness left yesterday for a business trip to Conway, Ark., and to visit his daughter, Mrs. Preston Bethel. She will accompany him home for a visit here.

THEY CALLED EACH OTHER 'PAL'

If you are looking for an example to place before boys or young men to show them that so-called "friends" among crooks and those "outside the law" are of the fair weather variety and no more dependable than a rattlesnake, we have been given the best example of this during the past few days.

Virgil Stalcup and Clarence Brown were the best of friends. They were "pals" in crime, twice planning jail-breaks together at Dickens and otherwise associated together in the underworld.

In making their last break recently, they murdered the Dickens county sheriff—and where is their friendship now they have been captured again?

Each has branded the other as a "killer." They have claimed that the other is the one who fired the fatal shot, each anxious to clear himself of murder and not pausing a moment to take advantage of a chance to do so at the other's expense.

Now, they sit in nearby cells and glare at one another. Each is only too willing to place a rope around the other's neck if it will save his own. They probably are the worst of enemies and would stop at nothing to take their spite out on the other if they could do so without taking any undue risks.

Necessarily the first law of the outlaw is self-preservation. This old "first law of nature" is often overcome by real friendship or heroism among people above the criminal instinct, but seldom is it found among those of the underworld.

And why should it be? Since criminals must continually fight for their lives in one way or another, why should they feel any hesitancy at letting another take the "rap" for their own protection? Is there really any "honor among thieves" when life is at stake? We cannot recall ever having heard of any such "honor."

WE MUST HONOR MEN WHO PROLONG LIFE

OUR ideas about fame are peculiar. Let a man start and win a great war, bringing death and suffering to thousands upon thousands of people and leaving the world with infinitely more misery than it had when he came on the scene, and we will write his name large in headlines and history books—as with Napoleon or Bismarck.

But the man who actually leaves the world a happier place than he found it—the man who makes it possible for people to live longer, who reduces the sum total of pain and despair—is very apt to wind up with a brief little footnote so that only the specialists remember his name.

You can name the great generals of the World War without half trying, for instance: Hindenburg, Haig, Pershing, Foch, Ludendorff and half a dozen more. But can you tell what is the claim to fame of these three physicians—Doctors George Minot, William P. Murphy, and George H. Whipple?

Their names have been in the papers just recently. They have received, jointly, the Nobel prize in medicine for 1934, as a result of their work in combating anemia.

Because of what these three men did, a great many people are alive and well today, who would otherwise be in their graves. If we were sensible in our measures of human greatness, shouldn't we write their names above those of the generals and the statesmen?

These three doctors were the ones who discovered that the use of liver, or liver extract, will cure pernicious anemia. Heretofore that disease had been invariably fatal.

Once the diagnosis was made, the most skilled physician could do little but stand by and watch the maldy progress to its tragic conclusion. The diagnosis was a death sentence.

Now it is not. The physician has a remedy, cheap and efficient. Pernicious anemia, at one stroke, has passed from the class of incurable diseases into the list marked "curable."

And the think to remember is that this is a boon which the human race can enjoy for all time to come. It is a permanent addition to human knowledge.

Death's boundaries have been pushed back, a little, forever. As long as civilization endures, there will be more happiness and less misery because of what these three men have done.

You might take the trouble to remember their names—Doctors Minot, Murphy, and Whipple. They surely deserve a fame equal to that of the Clemenceaus and the Falkenhayns.

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Tests made with various milk modifications under controlled conditions in various institutions for the care of children show that the regular feeding of children with milk containing vitamin D developed by any of the processes mentioned in the previous article will successfully prevent rickets and serve to cure in a considerable number of cases.

However, some of the products take much longer to bring about a satisfactory result than do others. Furthermore, it is not safe for the average person confronted with a diagnosis of rickets in a child to endeavor to cure the case himself by giving inordinate quantities of irradiated milk.

Even in cases of rickets of relative severity, cure can be obtained much more quickly and satisfactorily by use of potent drugs of vitamin D and also by use of direct application of ultra-violet rays to the skin, causing the skin itself to produce the vitamin D necessary for the human body in the manner in which nature does the work through action of the sun's rays on the naked skin.

Thus milk today is a much more complicated substance than it used to be. Its proper use involves an understanding of its composition, and understanding of the numerous laws regulating its production, and an understanding of the specific purposes for which it is to be used.

Various governmental agencies which have given attention to the matter find that all the different forms in which milk is produced have special usefulness according to their nature and composition.

Under the Emergency Relief Administration, the use of evaporated milk has been particularly recommended because it is always obtainable in a safe form at reasonably low cost.

Investigations carried on in various laboratories have shown that the economies poured on milk by nutritional authorities are well warranted. The production and distribution of milk and milk products is today one of the largest industries, if not the largest, in the United States.

It is wise to bear in mind the advice of the experts in nutrition that every person should have from a pint to a quart of milk daily, whether taken in the form of fresh milk or in the form of various milk products and concoctions.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 (Democrat's Washington Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON.—The effect of the bankers' convention was to pour a lot of butter and molasses on a stack of cold and sour pan-cakes.

The cakes are still cold, still sour. The growls of departing bankers mingled with the snorts of many New Dealers. And in the air was the question how influential Huey Long might become in the American Bankers' Association.

Wise boys agree Roosevelt won at least a tactical victory. "Call off your dog!" he demanded in effect. And the bankers did.

Little fellows gasped but took the cue when President Jackson Reynolds of the Morgan First National Bank rose just before Roosevelt's speech to waggle the olive branch, though many were bitter later because Roosevelt assured them of nothing except his desire that they lend more money.

They stopped their public sniping at the administration and sent for the butter and molasses. Almost panic-stricken by growing threat of a federal central bank which would issue money and credit, the bigger fellows—including those who had visited the White House—realized their hope of staying off the central bank was being thwarted, not aided, by passing the administration, Congress, and a prejudiced public opinion.

Threat Sticks in Claw
 New Dealers may be fooling themselves. But they think the bankers must be scared still more before they can be depended on to really support the New Deal.

One reason is what some call the "scorpion's tail" of Reynolds' speech, wherein he suggested dire consequences if government and banks continued antagonistic: "The poor, whom we always have with us, will not be much worse off. The rich will survive in comfort, at least, as they always have, but the great stratum of our people between these two groups will be irretrievably ruined."

This seeming threat of bankers that they could do battle with government on equal terms and were still powerful enough to gum up an administration committed to amelioration of poverty stuck like an elephant's tibia in many New Deal crawls.

Look Askance at Leaders
 But the A. B. A. choice of leaders to play on Quarterback Roosevelt's "All-America team" aroused more cynicism here than anything else. Particularly selection of Huey Long's friend—Huey gets into this picture, as he gets into them all—Rosen of the Hibernia Orleans as president.

State Convention Of Baptists Opens

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 7.—Preliminaries to the annual state Baptist convention were concluded yesterday afternoon and the convention got under way last night with several thousand church leaders in attendance. Rev. J. C. Hardy, of Belton, convention president, said that celebration of the triumph of Christian education in Texas would be the main theme of the meeting.

Dr. Hardy recalled that 37 years ago, in San Angelo, funds were provided for all Baptist educational institutions in the state, relieving them of debt. Tonight it will be reported to the convention that the institutions again are practically debt-free, due mainly to gifts of almost $4,000,000 by Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hardin of Burkburnett.

father of Hollis Boren, manager of the theatre. The program originally scheduled for today and tomorrow featuring Will Rogers in "Handy Andy" has been cancelled and possibly will be shown at a later date, members of the theatre personnel have announced. Regular showing at the Palace will continue Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Withers and Mr. and Mrs. Luke Johnson of Paducah were Memphis visitors yesterday. Mrs. Elmer Prater, Mrs. John Dennis and Marjorie Don, are visitors in Lockney today.
