Good Afternoon
It's parents who talk baby talk, says a Chicago doctor. The babies simply do so to humor the old folks.—Seattle Star.

MEMPHIS, HALL COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1935 8 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

County To Have School Board Elections on Saturday

Physicians in school election all County. New trustee of the four independent schools will be selected on regular election April 6.

have been placed on less than a dozen of the official rural precincts, according to County Judge Jim Vallance today mailed election ballots to each rural precinct. These names were placed on the ballots by petitions presented by citizens in each community to three new trustees to be selected in all of the precincts except Pennsylvania.

are to be selected for terms, succeeding Marie and W. R. Mahon, whose terms expire Saturday.

Official ballot in the established district will name nine nominees, three are to be selected leading the official ballot.

Cliff Bumgarner in Address at Noon Luncheon

SECURITY BILL WILL GO TO HOUSE

Committee Agrees To Report: 'Gag Rule' Is Probable

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Ways and Means Committee agreed today to report to the House the administration's social security bill.

An informal agreement to report the measure followed a vote on a motion by Representative Cooper to accept as part of the bill sections levying taxes on payrolls and earnings for old-age annuities to workers.

Accord Lacking On Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, Apr. 2.—Congressional conferees on the 4,880,000,000 relief bill failed to reach an agreement today at their first meeting since recommitment of the administration-opposed direct labor amendment.

'GAS' IS SUBJECT OF ROTARY SPEECH

Cliff Bumgarner in Address at Noon Luncheon

Cliff Bumgarner at noon today addressed Rotarians in regular weekly luncheon at the Memphis Hotel on the use of gas for purposes of heating, cooking and cooling.

Starting his talk, he outlined the work in bringing the gas to Memphis, tracing it from the wells to the tanks, through gathering lines to the main line, where stations extract gasoline and other moisture, and then to the city gate, where it is measured into the city.

Mentioned as GOP '36 Hope

Call for a rally of Republicans in the midwest, in an apparent move to shift party leadership from the east, brought into prominence the name of Col. Frank Knox, above, as a possibility for the G. O. P. presidential nomination in 1936.

Thousands Ask for Lives of Traitors

ATHENS, April 2.—Thousands of students and others paraded Athens' streets today, protesting the failure of the government to sentence to death the leaders of the Venizelist rebellion.

Armored tanks were stationed before the home of Premier Tsaldaris and public building. Troops patrolled the streets with fixed bayonets. Cavalrymen rode with drawn sabers.

While spectators shouted "lynch the traitors," 13 rebel officers, condemned to life imprisonment by court martial, were publicly degraded in a ceremony carefully arranged to provide the public with an example of "what happened to traitors."

1,875 CARS IN COUNTY ARE REGISTERED

Considerably less than 2,000 cars have been registered in Hall County today, falling far short of last year's registrations and fewer than in several years, according to Holt Bownds, county tax collector.

At the close of business yesterday, the final date for legal use of 1934 tags, license tags had been issued for only 1,875 motor vehicles in the county, as compared with 2,449 for last year. This year tags were issued for 1,620 passenger cars, 120 farm trucks and 135 commercial trucks. Last year tags were issued for 1,855 passenger cars, 115 farm trucks and 179 commercial trucks.

There is a possibility that a number of cars in the county are yet unregistered for 1935, but from all indications the figure will remain less than 2,000. Mr. Bownds said.

EDUCATION HEAD VISITS COUNTY

To Address All Teachers of Adult Education Classes At Estelline Friday

W. C. Darnell, of Abilene, district supervisor of adult education in West Texas, will address Hall County teachers of adult classes in a joint meeting at Estelline Friday night, it has been announced by county supervisors.

During his visit here this week, Mr. Darnell plans to visit each of the 54 classes being taught in this county. Although he has visited supervisor offices here in the past, he has never visited all of the classes.

Friday night's program will open with music by a string band under the direction of J. R. Morrison of Estelline. Following songs by the group, the welcome address will be made by J. T. Duncan, superintendent of Estelline schools. Ralph Householder, of Memphis, will respond.

Other entertainment features on the program will include music by those attending a class taught by Mrs. Whaley, a quartet led by Mr. Morrison, a quartet led by Margaret Evans and musical entertainment by those attending a class taught by Mrs. Ruby Roden, of Newlin.

Mr. Darnell will be introduced by Cleron McMurtry, supervisor of classes in Memphis.

To Start Donley Criminal Cases

Criminal investigation in the Donley County session of 100th Judicial District court at Clarendon will begin Monday morning, following indictments returned this week by the district grand jury, according to District Attorney John Deaver.

Grand jury reports will be filed this week-end, he said. District Judge A. J. Fires is hearing civil cases at Clarendon this week.

PAT NOEL REPORTED 'DOING JUST FINE'

Pat Noel, small son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Noel, was reported this morning as "doing just fine" following a serious attack of pneumonia and mumps. His condition over the week-end was considered serious.

He is receiving treatment at the Noel home, 1012 Brice Street.

Voting Light This Morning HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO HEAR ROAD PLANS

Judge W. R. Ely, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, has granted an interview to representatives of several southern Panhandle counties who are members of the Panhandle 52-86 Highway Association, seeking an extension of Highway 52 west of Wellington through Memphis to a connection with Highway 86.

The hearing will be held at Judge Ely's office in Abilene Thursday at 1:30. County Judge Jim Vallance, S. T. Harrison and F. N. Foxhall likely will attend from Memphis, and County Judge Luther Gribble and one of his commissioners will be present from Wellington. There will also be representatives from Dimmitt, Tulia and Silverton.

Local enthusiasts of the proposed road, which will give the southern Panhandle a designation east and west highway, are hopeful that the meeting will result in some definite action. It is believed that Judge Ely favors the proposed route.

JUNIOR SHOW COMPLIMENTED

Comedy and 'Night Club' Are Highly Enjoyed Last Night At High School

The Juniors of Memphis High School presented a program in two parts last night, which has been complimented very highly by those who attended.

"Teddy's First Dress Suit", a comedy, proved very entertaining as well as showing good acting ability on the part of the Juniors taking part in the play, according to those who were present.

The second feature of the program was the Tango Tavern. This was presented in the form of a Spanish night club with Spanish dishes for the menu. The floor show of Tango Tavern proved to be the highlight of the evening's entertainment. Five guest entertainers were here from Canyon to help stage a number of novel choruses and dances.

CRIES FOR FRENCH UNITY

PARIS, Apr. 2.—Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin sounded the cry of unity in France to face German rearmament today and declared that the army high command had decided to keep the French ring of steel fortifications permanently garrisoned on the frontier.

RANGERS PATROL STREETS IN CORPUS CHRISTI'S ELECTION

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 2.—Six rangers, armed with sub-machine guns, pistols and rifles, patrolled Corpus Christi, along with police, today as a tense city election got underway.

City and county officials yesterday predicted that bloodshed would occur unless Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt recalled two rangers here then. Nesbitt's reply was to send four more rangers.

More Antics of Dust Storms Are Recalled

Well! Well! J. J. McMickin recalls a sandstorm "many years ago when father located on a farm near Indian Creek southwest of Memphis."

"We were repairing the windmill and left the pipe uncoupled," he relates, "and the well covered. The wind blew sand into the pipe that night and filled up the well."

"It was a two-inch pipe, pointing to the west. The well was about 20 feet deep. We had several about as bad as that, but not many. The sandstorms of late would no more compare to the sandstorms of years ago than a heavy dew to Noah's flood."

C. R. Webster Placed In Mayor's Race Last Night

When the name of C. R. Webster was placed on the official ballot as a nominee for Mayor of the City of Memphis at a late hour last night, voting in the city election today was stimulated considerably.

J. A. Whaley had previously been nominated by petition to fill the vacancy created when Mayor B. E. Davenport declined to accept the office for another term.

The mayor's race was the only contested event in today's election. Each of the four out-going aldermen whose terms expire today have been nominated for reelection without opposition.

BOTH SIDES IN HAMLIN CASE SCORE

AMARILLO, April 2.—Both prosecution and defense scored yesterday in the trial here of George Hamlin, charged with wife murder.

Now in its third week of testimony (and the fourth week for jurors) the case probably will not be ready for deliberation before Saturday.

The state yesterday afternoon, through Major E. A. Simpson, special prosecutor, blocked the testimony of three defense witnesses.

But yesterday morning, Defense Counsel E. T. "Dusty" Miller claimed the insanity plea was strengthened by a double indemnity claim on the victim's insurance policy.

Meanwhile, the defense yesterday afternoon continued to bolster the insanity plea by the introduction of depositions taken in Oakland, Calif., former home of the accused.

The depositions were taken in the presence of the prosecution. (Continued on page 8)

COMPLIMENT FIRE CHIEF ON SERIES

Fire Prevention Articles by M. G. Ray Attract State-Wide Attention

The writing of fire prevention articles by Fire Chief M. G. Ray for publication prior to the annual fire inspection campaign here attracted more than just local attention.

Chief Ray received a letter from Raymond S. Mauk, insurance commissioner at Austin, and Eugene Sanders, fire prevention chief, congratulating him upon the series.

The letter said in part: "We want to congratulate you upon the series of Fire Prevention articles that have appeared in your local newspaper, The Democrat, during the month of March. Also, we want to express our appreciation to your newspaper for the fine publication that it has given to this subject."

Pat Noel Reported 'Doing Just Fine'

Pat Noel, small son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Noel, was reported this morning as "doing just fine" following a serious attack of pneumonia and mumps. His condition over the week-end was considered serious.

Fio-Rito Dance, Concert Tickets Available Here

Tickets to Ted Fio-Rito's dance and concert may be obtained by people of the Memphis Area at The Democrat office. The famous popular band appears in Amarillo on the night of April 10.

With a host of entertainers, Fio-Rito appears in concert at the Amarillo Municipal Auditorium and at The Nat Dance Palace.

Dance tickets are $1.50 per person and $2.50 for stags. Concert tickets are $1 each. Night club reservations for the dance also may be made at The Democrat office.

The Democrat wants old copies of Memphis newspapers—and photographs of old-time scenes in the Memphis Area.

Especially are we anxious to find a copy of the first Democrat ever published—No. 1, Vol. 1. Is there such a copy anywhere in the Memphis Area? If so, please let us know about it—and let us borrow it for a short time. It will be returned in good shape.

THE HIGH ROY.

The DARK BLOND

by CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY MILLICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. In panic she rushes away and registers at a hotel under an assumed name.

JARVIS HAPP, distinguished-looking stranger, recognizes Millicent and offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty parlor where she is transformed into a brunet. Happ takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. His son, NORMAN HAPP, warns Millicent against his stepbrother, ROBERT CAISE, and tells her a mysterious woman in black ermine has some power over his stepmother.

Millicent falls asleep. A noise awakens her and she finds a note under her door reading, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent dresses, sees the woman in black drive away, and follows in Robert Caise's coupe, but runs out of gas. She walks home, sees a light in the chauffeur's quarters and enters. The chauffeur is dead. Millicent, frightened, returns to her own room. Someone has taken the suitcase of books which Jarvis Happ gave her to audit, substituting another suitcase.

CHAPTER XV

Millicent tore at the fastenings of the suitcase with frenzied fingers, pulled back the lid and found that the interior was filled with a miscellaneous assortment of books which, by no stretch of the imagination, could possibly have been books of account involving the business dealings of Jarvis Happ and Richard Gentry. It looked very much as though someone had hastily gathered a miscellaneous assortment of books, such as could be picked up at random.

These books had been hurriedly thrust into the suitcase, apparently without regard for order, and when the suitcase had been picked up some of the books had fallen open.

Millicent stared at the open suitcase. Evidently the substitution had been arranged so that she would not notice what had happened until she started work on the books. The two suitcases seemed to be approximately the same size and of the same general appearance. And the plan would have worked had she not happened to notice the straps which were on the original suitcase.

At first Millicent thought she would communicate with Jarvis Happ at once. Then she decided that she would keep her own counsel. She was already mixed up in so many strange situations that she dared not make complete explanations.

She was so utterly fatigued that her brain seemed numbed. She closed the suitcase, staggered wearily to bed, and this time found drowsiness almost instantly overtaking her. She had so many problems, so much to occupy her mind that there was literally nothing to worry about—rather, there was so much that she could not concentrate on any one prob-

Millicent was awakened by knuckles pounding upon the panels of the door. She opened her eyes to find that the clouds had disappeared. The sun was streaming in through the windows and the angle of the sunlight showed her that she had slept very late indeed.

She bounded from bed, reaching for a robe.

"Who is it?" she asked.

The voice which answered was unmistakably that of Jarvis Happ. "Please open the door," he said in guarded tones.

Millicent gathered the robe around her, took a swift look at herself in the mirror, and could hardly refrain from giving an exclamation of surprise at the strange features which stared back at her. She remembered then, with a flood of conflicting emotions, the events of the last few days—the beauty shop where she had been transformed from a blond into a brunet.

Jarvis Happ entered the room. "I thought," she said, "from the tone of your voice it was urgent, so I didn't stop to fix my hair or put any color on my face."

"Thank you," he said, closing the door carefully behind him. "It is very urgent, and I didn't wish to be seen standing in the corridor in front of your door. The police will be here in a few minutes."

"The police?" Millicent asked, her eyes growing wide with alarm as she thought of all that might signify.

"Yes."

"For me?"

He shook his head. "No," he said, "your secret is safe. It's another matter. My chauffeur was murdered last night—you remember, the man who drove us out here in the limousine?"

She hadn't anticipated the news being broken to her in just this way. She stood for a second staring at Happ and repeated the word, "Murdered?"

"Yes," he said, "murdered."

"Who did it?"

"We don't know."

"When was it done?"

"Some time this morning," Jarvis Happ said, and his voice was filled with grim portent. "I'm going to find out who did it," he said, "if it's the last act of my life. And when I find out who did it, I am going to be absolutely and utterly without mercy, regardless of who that person may be. Do you understand?"

She felt the color changing in her face.

"Why," she said, "do you say that to me?"

"Because," he said grimly, "I want it definitely understood that I don't care who the person may be—I am going to be absolutely without mercy."

Happ moved away from the door. His manner became more at ease.

"I wanted to tell you," he said, "that the police were going to be here. I didn't want you to get in a panic when you heard them drive up."

"How long ago was . . . was it discovered?"

"Just a few minutes ago."

"How did it happen?"

"We all of us slept late this morning," he said. "It had been rather a trying day yesterday, I could well appreciate how utterly exhausted you were, and I, myself, had been under something of a strain."

She nodded, pleased that his understanding had saved her from the necessity of making excuses or explanations.

"However," Happ said, "I wanted to go to town. I pressed

CLAIRE TREVOR WEARS AN ASBESTOS COSTUME FOR THE FIDEL SCENE IN DANTE'S "INFERNO"

Was it possible that Happ didn't know that her handkerchief?

Showing her the handkerchief was either a gesture of confidence on his part or else it was an attempt to shake her composure so that she would make a confession, but, if that had been his purpose, it had succeeded so admirably that he certainly would have followed up his advantage. As it was, he seemed to pay no attention whatever to her reactions.

The police were coming! That realization struck fear into Millicent Graves' very soul. The police would undoubtedly question everyone. They would question her!

The police would also want to know something of her past history. What could she tell them? How could she account for her whereabouts during the past few months without letting it appear that she was the secretary who had been working for George Drimgold? The secretary who had been dubbed "The Murder Girl" by the newspapers and for whom the police were now carrying on an intensive search.

Suddenly Millicent realized something else. Her clothes would undoubtedly show the wetting they had received the night before. The police would examine those clothes and would ask her where she had been.

She scouted up the clothes, ran with them to the closet, rumpled them and thrust them into a corner of the closet. The fur coat, she hardly knew what to do with. Finally, however, she decided that she dared do nothing, but left it on a hanger in the closet.

Suddenly a disquieting thought assailed her.

She thrust her hand down into the pocket of the fur coat.

The leather key container, with its keys suspended in neat assortment from the swiveled hooks, was in the pocket of the fur coat.

That would never do!

She pulled out the key container, intent upon hiding it. She had just withdrawn her hand from the pocket of the fur coat when she heard motion behind her.

The first glance from the corner of her eye chilled her blood with fear.

Robert Caise stood in the door of the closet, leaning at her!

CHICAGO, April 2.—Chicago is listed as home by more prominent golf pros now than at any other time in history. Tommy Armour, Horton Smith, Dick Metz, Harry Cooper, Abe Espinoza, and Jock Hutchison hang up their hats here, and Harold McSpaden and Ky Lafoon are expected to do so soon.

"I was in a run-down condition, very irregular and had cramps and nervousness," writes Mrs. Albert Pike, of R.F.D. 5, St. Joseph, Mo., "When one has a home and children to look after, and the work on a farm, a woman will worry if she feels bad—and I surely worried. I decided to take Cardui again, as it had helped me one time. I never have a bad day when using Cardui."

There are many cases like this. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Glorifying Yourself

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer
Getting your body in healthy, normal condition is the first step toward complexion beauty, of course. You can't have clear skin if you are always tired from lack of sleep or if your digestion is faulty. Do all you possibly can to get in excellent physical shape and then supplement your health routines with the right home beauty treatments.

If you apply some kind of mask once a week from now until Easter, the chances are your skin will be as fresh and attractive as your new spring bonnet. Choose a good one, made by a reliable firm, or, if you like, use the plain, old-fashioned egg mask.

If your skin has a tendency toward dryness always smooth on tissue cream after you have removed a mask. Pat it in for a few seconds, remove and you're ready for foundation lotion and makeup.

In addition, use your skin tonic or mild astringent twice a day. You'll find that your lotion is much more effective and certainly more soothing to the nerves if you

Owls Show Good Individual Prospects in First

SIX CANDIDATES STAND OUT AS 'HOPEFULS'

Wellington To Return Practice Game Here Sunday Afternoon

Several players stood out in the Memphis Owls' opening game at Wellington Sunday as fine individual prospects for the club that is to bid for honors in the Western Division of the Red River Valley League this summer.

Although the Owls were defeated, 7 to 2, Manager Jack Boone was not disappointed with the showing of the club. Since the Owls had been working for only a few days, never getting a complete practice, whereas the Wellington crew had been working for weeks and apparently ready to enter the regular season, the drubbing was no more than could be expected.

Return Games Sunday
However, Manager Boone stated that it will be a different story here next Sunday, when the Wellington crew returns the scrimmage tussle. The game, to be played at Fair Park Stadium, will officially open the local baseball season.

Whitfied, the only regular hurler for the season to appear in Sunday's tilt, worked only two innings. Although his hurling was only slightly effective, he revealed his old hitting power by pounding out a triple, the longest hit of the game. Byers and McCool worked the early innings and were pounded hard.

Four New Faces
Four new faces appeared in the line-up and all turned in creditable games, although they showed the lack of early season work. Thomas started at third and also saw action at short. Brooks, the Indian chief, held down second and McIntosh worked part of the game at short. Durrett appeared at third and Thompson and Mclear split time on first.

Widener, in center field, loomed as one of the leading members of the club, while Marcum showed the same fine ability in left that he has displayed for several years. Greenwood completed the outfield, the weakest member of the trio, but not a poor ball slugger.

Weak at Bat
The Owls were generally weak at hitting, what with no batting practice to back them up and facing well rounded hurlers. Although Whitfied pounded out the longest drive, Brooks led the hitting with two knocks—no other Memphis player getting more than one

Ex-Cubs To Play Major Part in Fate of Pirates

FACES BRIGHT FUTURE

Johnny Salvesson . . . Manager Pie Traynor of the Pittsburgh Pirates thinks the 21-year-old ex-Giant will become a star pitcher before long.

Bush, Herman and Weaver May Shine In New Positions

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles from big league training camps. The subject is the Pittsburgh pirates.

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., April 2.—Three former Cubs, a pair of youngsters, an ex-Giant, and an inspired redhead this year may lead Pittsburgh's Pirates to their first National League pennant since 1927.

That's the opinion of Pie Traynor, who took command of the Bucs last summer when George Gibson was forced to walk the plank after his crew practically gave up the ship.

"There are a flock of it's connected to that opinion, however," Traynor said, as he halted a three-hour drill and sent 28 athletes scurrying to the showers of the pirates' training camp here. "But," added Traynor, "even if all my dreams don't come true, we are set this season to put up a whale of a fight."

Later, in a steam bath, Traynor warmed up to the subject of his team's chances. And it wasn't just the heat which put him into such an optimistic mood.

The husky third baseman really is one excited guy. He probably would get steamed up about the team if he were perched atop the North Pole with an ice cube in each shoe.

"Our winter deal with the Cubs strengthened the team considerably," he reflects. The Pirates acquired Pitchers Guy Bush and Jim Weaver and Outfielder Babe Herman in exchange for Pitcher Larry French and Fly Chaser Freddy Lindstrom.

"Between 'em," Pie points out, "Bush and Weaver won 29 games last year, while our French was winning 12. So, on paper, at least, we're 17 games to the good."

"Babe Herman may regain his one-time form with us this year. He's a real base hitter, and always has hit well in our park at Pittsburgh, where we will play 77 games this season."

Outfield Lists to Port
Acquisition of Herman, who will guard left field, puts three left-handed hitters in the Buc garden. Paul Waner, league leading hijer, again will be in right field, with brother Lloyd in center. Utility Man Forrest Jensen also is a portside.

Big Jim Weaver, the former Cub and the Primo Carnera of baseball, who stands 6 1/2 feet and weighs 230 pounds, is showing plenty of stuff in practice here, and, like Herman and Bush, likes the idea of turning Pirate.

The pair of youngsters upon whom Manager Traynor is counting are pitchers who led their respective leagues last year in strikeouts, Darrell Blanton, who was with the Bucs at the tail-end of last season, won 11 and lost 9 for Albany in the International League. Mace Brown, up from Tulsa and Kansas City, won 19 and lost 14. Both are right-handers.

The ex-Giant is Pitcher Johnny Salvesson, who divided his time last season between Bill Terry's crew and Montreal, winning 14 and losing 5. Traynor thinks this 21-year-old right-hander may become a big star.

Charley "Red" Lucas is the inspired redhead who may go to town with the Pirates this year. A regular with the squad last season, "Red" wasn't so hot, winning 10 and losing 9. But so far in spring training he has shown a world of improvement.

"Lucas has shown me more in

RIGHT IN THE SEWER

Tommy Padden . . . Pirate catcher who shared the job with Earl Grace last season, goes after a high foul during a strenuous training session.

one day here than he did all last year," Traynor says.

Rookie Catcher on Relief

Rookie pitchers working out with the Pirates here include Lloyd Johnson and Wayne Osborne, left-handers, both up from the Missions of the Pacific Coast League. It's doubtful whether they will stick.

Regulars last season on the pitching staff who were held over include Ralph Birkofer, Waite Holyt, Harold Smith, and Bill Swift.

Backstopping duties again will rest upon the shoulders of Tommy Padden and Bob Grace, both regulars last year. Aubrey Epps, up from Birmingham with an impressive .301 batting average, is the new comer to this department, and he should make the grade in a relief spot.

The only weakness in the Pirate lineup appears to be at second base, where the veteran was a Memphis visitor Sunday.

Tommy Thevenow and the sophomore Harry Lavagetto will hold sway. Traynor knows 32-year-old Thevenow can't be in there every day, and Lavagetto, on the other hand, needs plenty of experience and must learn how to hit.

Veterans Gus Suhr at first, Traynor at third, and Arky Vaughan at shortstop complete the team. Three rookies, James Browns from Little Rock, Wilbur Brubaker and Floyd Young from Albany and Pittsburgh, are ready to step into any of the infield berths.

Speed Kings Training For Memorial Classic

By WINTHROP LYMAN
(UP Staff Correspondent)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1.—The roar of powerful motors soon will be heard at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway again as drivers and mechanics start preparations for the 23rd annual 500 mile Memorial Day automobile race.

Early entries indicate a record field will compete for the 33 places in the starting line-up.

Veteran First In
Deacon Litz, Dubois, Pa., veteran, was the first to mail his entry blank to the speedway office.

Others whose entries have been announced officially are George D. (Doc) McKenzie, Ed-dington, Pa., and Gilbert R. Pir-rung, Clayton, Mo.

Pirring graduated from Tay-le University in 1934 and has en-tered two cars.

When the entry list closes May 1 most of the country's foremost drivers will be included.

Cummings Training
"Wild Bill" Cummings, 1934 AAA national racing champion, and winner of last year's 500 mile race, is training for the grind. Mauri Rose, Dayton, O., who finished in second place year just 27 seconds behind Cummings, is another sure to compete.

Speedway officials are attempting to line up some foreign en-tries, but it is likely that only American drivers will participate.

Foreign speed cars use super-chargers while such equipment is not permitted in the Indianapolis event. This fact has made imprac-tical for foreign manufacturers, or drivers, to enter their own cars.

New Record Expected
Barring accidents or inclement weather, a new record for the 500 mile race probably will be estab-lished this year. The present record of 104.865 was hung up by Cummings last year. He would have made a still better average had not an accident forced the cars to slow down for several laps while wreckage was cleared from the track.

The only major change in the rules governing this year's race is a further reduction in the gaso-line limit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Powell and daughters, Mabel and Clara, and granddaughter, Mary Frances Powell, and Mrs. Buford Biddy, of Paducah, were guests in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rascoe and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pritchett here Sunday. Mrs. Mary Conbest accompanied them home for an in-definite visit with relatives and friends in Paducah.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald and daughter, Reba, Mrs. H. H. Lindsey and daughter, Betty Sue, and Mrs. O. K. Webb and daughters, Elizabeth and Lenora, visited relatives at Hollis, Okla., Sunday.

A BUILDER OF CHARACTER PASSES ON

NOT only Memphis, but many surrounding communities mourn the passing of Rev. J. T. Hicks, retired Methodist minister who passed to his reward Friday.

Many fine tributes were paid to the memory of Rev. Hicks at brief funeral services (made brief at his own request) held here Sunday. His many years of fruitful labor in behalf of Christianity in West Texas were extolled, as was his remarkable life as a private citizen. Friends who gathered to pay their last respects were reminded that "Brother" Hicks built 21 churches and 14 parsonages in this section of the state during his ministry.

Every laudatory word spoken was more than deserved, but The Democrat feels that its readers—friends of that grand old gentleman who is with us no longer—should be reminded that Rev. Hicks taught more than Christianity and built more than mere churches and parsonages. We refer to the family he has left to "carry on." Five sons and three daughters, each a model citizen and each successful in his or her own right, are living monuments to a man who suffered many hardships that his children might have good educations and be equipped to take their rightful places in the world.

His was a peaceful passing and full knowledge of this will alleviate in some small degree the suffering of those who loved him. Having passed his allotted three score years and ten, he was ready to meet his Maker. His family and his friends know that the world about him has been made better by his presence. What finer thing can be said of any mortal?

RADICALS STILL RAVE, BUT FIRE GONE!

ONE of the most melancholy reflections which can assail anyone these days has to do with the sad decline in the fiber of modern revolutionists.

A revolutionist is supposed to be a hell-raising gentleman with wild eyes who goes about looking for barricades to mount and who, having mounted them, cries defiance to organized society until the moment that that society bats him firmly behind the right ear.

That is the ancient tradition, and it ought to be observed. But what then, are we to say of a revolutionist who, when dragged down off his barricade, explains that he isn't such a very dangerous person after all, that he means no harm to anybody, and that he ought to be let loose so that he can go on talking harmlessly!

All these thoughts are provoked by the recent splurge made in connection with the arrest of an English Communist.

This gentleman, as you may recall, was traveling about the United States delivering lectures on the decline and coming fall of capitalism. Department of Labor officials finally laid hands on him and announced that he would be deported because he was preaching a doctrine calling for overthrow of the United States government. And then the fun began.

You might expect an ardent red, collared by the law, to rar' back and begin yelling; to cry defiantly, "Why, yes, damn your eyes, I want to see your government overthrown, and if I can help it along in any way I'll do it and call it a good job." But what actually happened?

Our visiting radical first explained carefully that while he considers himself a Communist he is not, really a member of the Communist party. He added that his lectures were informative rather than persuasive; that he was trying to tell his audiences what Communism was rather than persuade them to adopt it; that all in all he really wasn't a danger to anybody, and that it was rather ridiculous for a great government to become exercised over so mild and innocuous an agitator as himself.

All this may be good business for a lecturer who hopes to stay in this country while his newest book is being marketed; but is a far cry from the great revolutionary tradition, and it is rather reassuring to people who hope to see our government endure in its present form.

The foreign agitator who gnaws away at our social foundations may be a terrible menace—but the one who, when caught at it, explains that he was really just burying a handful of peanuts, can't be so very dangerous.

BEHIND THE SCENE IN WASHINGTON

Billions Back Lobby's War on Holding Company Bill... Wall Street Tried Similar Tactics and Lost... Hot One Put Over on LaFollette... J. Crawford Biggs' Fall is Well Padded.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The utilities holding company bill which President Roosevelt wants is being fought with every backstage device which can be conceived by a lobby backed by billions of dollars.

The latest secret move is an attack from the rear and an attempt to bore from within the administration itself.

The weapon is that darling of Secretary of Commerce Dan Roper's heart—his Business Advisory and Planning Council, composed of two or three score leading industrialists.

This council's chief function, though it furnishes rotating members for NRA's Industrial Advisory Board, is to serve as a vehicle for getting Mr. Roper's name in the papers.

Every so often Uncle Dan pops out with an announcement of something very important the council is about to do. First it was virtually going to run the NRA. Later it was going to be very important in the reorganized NRA.

While ago it was going to serve as adviser for the $1,000,000,000 work-relief program—though every insider snickered as he heard that one.

It remained for President Henry I. Harriman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, who opposes the holding company bill, to figure out how the council could really be useful. (Or perhaps someone suggested it to him.)

Harriman paddled down to the Commerce Department. He found in charge of the council Harry Kendall, prominent manufacturer and one of Roosevelt's business advisers.

Kendall was persuaded that the council should oppose the bill. A report was prepared in which the council recommended that electric and gas holding companies be left in existence.

Roper has the report now. He is trying to get up nerve enough to take it to Roosevelt. But it's all likely to remain a deep dark secret.

Wall Street Tried It
Tactics almost exactly similar were used by Wall Streeters last year in their fight against the administration's stock market regulation bill.

Then the durable goods committee of NRA was persuaded to issue a blast which said the menace of the bill was a distinct impediment to recovery.

HEALTH

This is the first of two articles in which Dr. Fishbein explains the significance of the recent dust storms to health.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
The dust storms that have swept across the country from drought-stricken farms in west and middle-west have had more effect than merely reducing vast fields to aridity, and causing housewives to shut off their homes frantically from the grime.

Interest in these storms has also arisen from a health standpoint, since some deaths and a few casualties have been reported as a result of them.

Your body has the ability to cope satisfactorily with small amounts of most poisons or foreign substances. It is in a sense a self-regulating mechanism.

Membranes lining nose and lungs have the power of eliminating from the body small amounts of extraneous materials that may get into them. Thus a small amount of dust in the atmosphere for a short period of time does not constitute an exceedingly serious hazard.

In fact, dust is a normal constituent of the air and may serve some purpose as a focus for precipitation of water vapor. It also disperses the sun's rays.

For this reason, the rays of the sun do not penetrate in many of our large cities in sufficient amount to be useful in prevention of rickets.

What we call dust in the air is usually a mixture of particles from the earth, the carbon from smoke, mineral materials, and also such living material as portions of the skin, seeds, bacteria, the pollens of plants, parts of the wings and legs and dead bodies of insects, starch, fragments of hair, and pieces of material such as cotton and silk.

Much of this exposure is not very serious for the average human being. There are, of course, some persons who are especially sensitive to dusts containing large amounts of poisons. For example, in August they may have extraordinarily severe attacks of hay fever or asthma.

Stories in STAMPS

NOWHERE except in Australia can be found the strange black swan that has become the symbol of western Australia, where it has been found in greatest numbers.

The swan river most important stream of western Australia, is named for this bird, which was discovered by a Dutch navigator in 1697. In 1929, Australia commemorated the colonization of western Australia 100 years earlier with 1 1/2 penny dull red stamp depicting the black swan, which is as representative of that continent as the kangaroo.

depending on the manner in which they respond to the exposure.

The germs in the air ordinarily are not harmful, because they are not the type of germs that kill quickly. Furthermore, exposure of the ordinary germ to sunlight and air, and particularly to drying, is sufficient to kill it.

The germs that are dangerous are those which pass directly from one person to another, with coughing or sneezing, particularly when people are crowded together.
