

THE SAME OLD LINE

By Bob Smith

Here's a real fish tale — Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays and Jack Cook were fishing at Lake Colorado when the crappie started hitting. For 4.5 hours they hauled 'em in. When they got through cleaning the fish at 1:30 a.m., they counted 76 crappie. They started with 84 minnows and had 12 left. You figure it out.

From Ackerly: Fishing at Buchanan Dam have been Mr. and Mrs. John Hale and family. Other fishermen there included Tommy Horton, Edwin Hall and Bill Hambrick.

Lots of activity up Lake Texoma way. Big black bass, barndoor crappie, silver sandies, huge catfish. Not only that, they're giving out prizes for every walton who catches a tagged fish.

Sunbeam Morrison tells us he and other members of the annual Fairview Gin fisher party pretty near reached the liberal limit at Falcon Dam. Fifteen of the waltons piled in four boats, struck water about 30 miles above the dam and laid out their lines in water 60-80 feet deep. Trotlines yielded the most catches, although some lines were tossed. The fishermen took lots of channel and yellow cat, but no bass. The wily game fish were too much for them.

Bulk of the catch came with goldfish and native Mexican jumpers. Total poundage neared 1,000 pounds of live fish, but the fishermen ate so many of them that they barely made it by the game warden with 25 fish per man.

Included in the aggregation were Johnny Ray Dillard, C. Wheeler Meek, Charlie Nichols, Marion Newton, Troy Newton, Weldon McCormick, Norman Newton, J. T. Russell, Bill Newton, Jim Grant, J. Tom Rogers, Ebb Hatch, A. B. Hodge, W. C. Fryar, Herbert Keaton, J. O. McCrary and Sunbeam Morrison.

THESE FISH GOT THE HOLY CLIP
Hugh Woodie and Dan Clark Show Their Catch

S. C. Cowley, Jeff Pike and C. E. Miller of Amarillo have returned from a fishing trip on the Concho. Woodrow Scudday and Bobby Asbury have been fishing at Possum Kingdom.

When you combine a preacher and a barber, we suppose you could say the fish got a holy clip. That's some sort of fish story. Nevertheless, Hughie Woodie, barber, and Dan Clark, Church of Christ minister, both of Midland, made a 33-crappie catch near the C-City Lakeview camp in 4 feet of water.

Interesting tidbit from Austin: 274,952 people hunted deer last year, while only 234,000 hunted waterfowl.

Here's a clarification of the state fishing license law, from the Game and Fish Commission:
Persons fishing in private lakes or ponds that are land locked do NOT need a regular individual fishing license. If the lake is subject to overflow from any public body of water, river or stream, state license requirements apply. The state law requires persons using artificial bait to have a fishing license. Persons NOT using artificial bait may fish in their own home counties without a license. The fact that some of private ponds have been stocked with fish from state hatcheries has no bearing on license regulations.

E. L. K. (Pop) Rice just smells 'em out. That's according to Red McMahon, who accompanied Pop to C-City Lake, along with Bill Horn and Red's son Jerry. The veteran fisherman hooked a 5.5-lb. bass, 21 inches long, even though it was a pretty windy day and the fish generally weren't biting.

POP RICE HOOKED A BIG ONE
Big Bass Won't Be Taking Any More Hooks

Fish have been biting in a big way at Lake J. B. Thomas during the past week, according to Ned Sanders. Crappie are being landed in greatest volume with numbers of them running up to a pound and three-quarters.

"This hurts my boating business," he said, "but the truth is that bank fishing has been pretty good for crappie lately. They have been biting best in the shallow water four to eight feet and up in the necks of the lake. Bass have started striking at a fair clip, too. Some six-pound channel cat have been hooked on deep trot line fishing. The lake has been notably light on Big Spring visitors but Snyder and Lubbock sportmen are living it up.

Reds Release 4 German Guards

BERLIN, April 23 (AP)—The Communist East German government announced tonight the release of four German custom guards kidnapped with their speedboat from West Berlin two days ago. Their release was announced by the Ministry of the Interior a few hours after publication of a vigorous protest by the Western commandants of the city to Soviet authorities, demanding the immediate return of both craft and crew. The announcement was carried by the official East German news service, ADN. It did not disclose whether the seized customs boat would also be returned.

West Berlin officials also announced Communist customs guards have seized in the last three days six trucks carrying scrap metal and metal products from West Berlin to West Germany. In confiscating the trucks at the Marienborn checkpoint in the Soviet zone, the East German guards accused the drivers of making false declarations about the weight and nature of their cargoes. During the day a West Berlin anti-Communist organization reported East German police shot and fatally wounded a West Berlin resident who fell asleep on an elevated train and rode into the Soviet zone by mistake.

The organization, the Fighting Group Against Inhumanity, said Wilhelm Schwietzer, 45, a political refugee from East Germany, was shot Wednesday night and died several hours later. The three Western commandants of Berlin—French, British and American—fired off a note to the Soviet commandant, Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, asking him personally to put an end "to the intolerable behavior" of East German police under Soviet control.

Their actions, it said, have "seriously threatened the safety of life and property in the Western sectors of Berlin."

"We are seriously concerned over the train of incidents in recent months resulting from the undisciplined behavior of East German police authorities under Soviet control," the note said.

The West Berlin Truckers' Assn. disclosed seizure of the trucks. It said they were using the 110-mile highway between West Berlin and Helmsdorf, West Germany. Since April 1, the Communist East German government has been collecting stiffly increased levies from all Western trucks using this road.

A spokesman for the association said the six trucks were taken to Magdeburg by the Communists and their valuable cargoes were unloaded. The cargoes are particularly tempting to East Germany because it has long been hampered by a shortage of scrap metal.

He said there is still no information as to what will happen to the trucks and the drivers.

Traffic Death Toll Comes Down

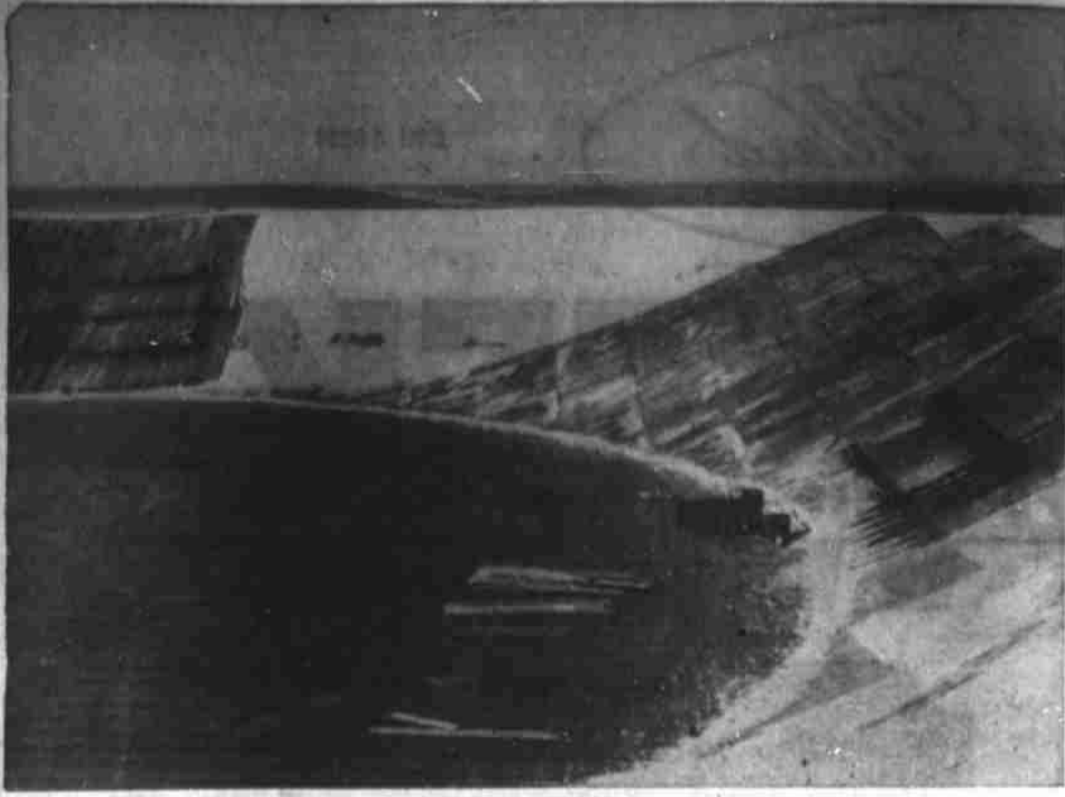

AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—Accidents, injuries and deaths on Texas highways and streets all fell short of 1954 figures during the first three months of 1955, a report from the Texas Dept. of Public Safety showed today.

Wins Student Office

Miss Sara Lynn Smith, niece of Edith Gay, secretary at the Chamber of Commerce, was elected first vice president of the Texas Nurses' Students' Association in Fort Worth this weekend. Miss Smith worked at the Big Spring State Hospital for about a year prior to entering nurses' training.

National Drilling Is Holding Steady

DALLAS—A total of 2,733 rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of April 18, 1955, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company.

Geometric Patterns In A Bowl

Triangles, rectangles, arcs and intersections all stand out as the plastic membrane lining is installed in the 15-million-gallon water reservoir just north of Big Spring. The bowl is 35 feet deep and will be filled with water from Lake J. B. Thomas for use of Big Spring. The plastic lining will seal it against seepage. Installation is nearing completion. The Big Spring reservoir, similar to a larger one at Odessa and another under construction near Snyder, is one of the last projects of the Colorado Municipal Water District which includes the three cities.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

Yesterday's sandstorm may not have been the strongest wind of the year, but it moved twice as much soil as the big one a few weeks ago. Practically all the sandy land was blowing. North of Coahoma fields were leveling over, losing what little moisture is left and necessitating a retiling job. A lot of soil was blowing across the highway at the Watson Store five miles northeast of Big Spring. Northwest of Big Spring nearly all the land except some deep-broke ground was on the move. who drove into the teeth of the storm going to Carlisle, N. M. said the worst blowing he saw was out on the Andrews Highway about twelve miles from Big Spring. At times he said the wind was so strong he could hardly hold the big truck on the road.

Tom Barber said his land southwest of Coahoma was blowing badly, but the pasture land was blowing even worse. Barber says his pasture land is in bad condition and thinks some of the grass is completely dead. "You can pull up a clump," he said, "and crumble the roots into a powder." Barber has rented his cotton land out, but will farm the feed land himself. He has been feeding around 40 head of cattle the last three months and will sell them in another month.

For some reason that local feed dealers can't explain, the price of maize is skyrocketing. It has climbed ed from $2.63 to $2.95 within the last 10 days. Ray Winans, local feed dealer, says that even the grain brokers can't explain it. Much of the grain is going to counties buying feed under the drought program, but a lot of it is being shipped to California and other states. Winans says the support price on grain sorghums has been pegged at $1.65 for Martin. The difference is because of freight rates.

Jim York of Borden County has about the biggest steer ever seen in these parts. He is half Hereford and half Brahma and shakes the scales at 2,450 pounds. York sent him to Fort Worth with a load of 1,200 steers and asked that the head be sent back for a keepsake. The buyers paid 23 1/2 cents a pound for the small steers but would offer only 14 cents for "Big Boy."

York decided he would bring the big steer back and let him grow a few more years. If he doesn't run out of feed first, he may have quite an animal one of these days.

Some irrigation farmers make big money, while others don't pick up more than pocket change. It seems some of the easiest money made in irrigation is where a man rents out his place to some good farmer. We know of one land-lord in Martin County who collected $28,000 for two years' rent. Another man with three small wells was paid $8,000 last year by his renter.

One farmer on the other side of Lamesa who never did very well farming finally got so far behind he couldn't borrow any more to make a crop on, so he rented out his land in 1954 while he worked for wages. The renter was a getter and made enough to pay the owner $4,500 rent. This is more clear money than he ever made working it for himself.

Jack Nichols, who has been ranching in South Dakota the last four years, is visiting with his father at Knott. Nichols said they had a mild winter in his area, but west of him in one town the snow drifted up 14 feet deep. He is thinking of selling his ranch and returning to Texas.

Time was when people made heroes out of brave men and perpetuated them in history books. Then a few critics began whitening these glorious images down to ordinary size like you and me.

The latest hero to be punctured is James Bowie. I always thought Bowie was one-third man and two-thirds panther from the stories I'd heard about him. He invented the dread bowie knife and carved up several gentes in his famous hand-kerchief duels. He also killed a batch of Indians and then closed out a great career by dispatching a few dozen Mexican soldiers in the fracas at the Alamo.

Now comes a critic who says Bowie was not the hero of the Alamo at all but the goat. According to a letter left by a Mexican lieutenant at the big fight, Bowie did not see any blood spilled but his own. Instead of fighting off a dozen soldiers from the top of his sick bed, as we've been told, he was found hiding under it like a scared rabbit.

It's time for all true Texans to put a stop to these lies. Next thing you know, some critic will begin doubting that Pecos Bill was eight feet tall and weighed 1,300 pounds. Then we won't have any heroes left.

Noted Bandman Dies In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Henry Busse, nationally known orchestra leader and trumpet player, died of a heart ailment at a hotel today. Busse, 61, a resident of Los Angeles, brought his orchestra to Memphis last night to play for a convention dance at the hotel. He was credited with originating the muted trumpet after starting out as a member of Paul Whiteman's band years ago. He was with Whiteman for 19 years and later formed his own orchestra.

Cars Collide In Rapid Sequence

Six automobile accidents were reported to police during a three and a half hour period Friday afternoon. Officers said that none of the participants appeared to have been injured.

The rash of accidents broke out at 4:40 p.m. in the 100 block of Washington Boulevard. A car driven by Edie Dean Cook, 1205 Stanford, hit a parked car owned by William A. Bonner, police said.

Dorothy B. Tow, 208 Mobile, and Larry G. Ashley, Webb AFB, were drivers of vehicles which collided at Fourth and Presidio at 5:02 p.m. Wayland Clanton, 705 E. 15th, and Ralph Weldon Winterrowd, 805 Runnels, operated cars which were in an accident at 5:25 p.m. at 14th and Main.

At 7:50 p.m. in the 800 block of W. 3rd, cars operated by Fay Hinds, Coleman, and Roy Wesley Harrison, Hamlin, were involved in an accident.

The final collision reported during the day came at 7:50 p.m. in the 700 block of Main. A car driven by Elza Oran Ellington, 704 Main, collided with a parked vehicle owned by Hubert LaFleur Jr., 708 Main, officers stated.

Texas Mother Of 1955 Named

FORT WORTH, April 23 (AP)—Mrs. W. C. Schuttis of Fort Worth, a 69-year-old grandmother who reared 11 children, today was named "Texas Mother of 1955."

The announcement was made by Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, state chairman of the American Mothers Committee.

Mrs. Schuttis reared seven children of her own and then took on the task of caring for four small grand-children after her daughter and son-in-law were killed in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Schuttis' husband, a flour salesman, grinned when his wife was chosen for the honor and said, "Mother and I are back where we started 48 years ago." All of the children are grown.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Lewis of Mexia, Mrs. Scuttis was married in 1907. She and her husband met while students at North Texas State College.

Of their children, William C. Jr., is a contractor in Amarillo; Lewis manages a Dallas flour mill; Jack is an architect here; Bob a salesman, and the girls are Mrs. James Crawford of Livingston, and Mrs. James Rothenberry of Midland.

Three sons served overseas in World War II and three of the grandsons she reared are in service. Bob Bibbison as a naval lieutenant, now stationed at Norfolk, Va.; Bill in the Marines in Japan, and Jim with the Air Force in Washington. The granddaughter is now Mrs. Raymond Burda.

Funds Sought For Washington Trip

Letters were being circulated by the Chamber of Commerce this weekend in an attempt to raise money to send Ralph White of the Howard County Farm Bureau to Washington, D. C., for a cotton allotment hearing. White will be a member of an area committee elected to attend a hearing on raising allotments for November 1954.

Baby's Cornea Gives Sight To Grandmother

DALLAS, April 23 (AP)—A 5-month-old baby has given sight to a 47-year-old Fort Worth grandmother.

It was through a cornea transplant made last month and revealed today by Methodist Hospital.

Such transplants have become almost routine in recent years, but the age of the donor was considered remarkable.

The donor was Celia Ann Covington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Covington of Grand Prairie.

Little Celia Ann was born blind in her left eye. An incurable abnormality probably caused absence of sight. And doctors believed it necessary to remove the eye to prevent possible malignant growth.

Mr. and Mrs. Covington volunteered to contribute their baby's eye so that Mrs. Annie Crowson could see after doctors determined the baby's cornea was sound and healthy.

Mrs. Crowson had lived for 15 years "with a heavy veil before my eyes." Both of her corneas had severe dystrophy, a condition that caused them to turn slowly and progressively opaque. Total blindness is the final result.

Both patients were wheeled into the operating room. Celia Ann's eye was carefully removed and an implant put into the socket so an artificial eye could move as well as a normal one.

The clear window portion of the baby's eye was placed quickly in a moist chamber while surgeons removed Mrs. Crowson's clouded window. Then the new cornea was transplanted and stitched into place.

Only a few days ago, Mrs. Crowson knew for certain that she could see again through the eye.

"They were changing the dressing and I was told to open my eye. I saw the doctor's fingers, then his face. I broke down. Then I hugged the doctor. I don't remember what I said, because I was too happy to think."

Her sight through the new window is almost perfect, doctors said. A few months from now, she will have a transplant in the other eye. No donor has been selected.

Meanwhile, chubby Celia Ann has been fitted with a beautiful blue artificial eye which moves, turns and looks for the world like real.

And Mrs. Crowson today returned to Fort Worth to view with wonder her grandchildren she had never seen.

Bender Demands End To School Building Delay

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) today demanded an end to what he called "an apparent stall" in the Senate Labor Committee on President Eisenhower's school construction bill.

Bender said Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), committee chairman, "seems to have suddenly dropped this important legislation like a hot potato."

Hearing ended Feb. 22 on the administration measure, largely a federal loan program, and on other school aid bills, built around the grants-in-aid principle. Hill is sponsoring one of these.

Bender said "one possible reason" for what he called delaying tactics "is the possibility that a Democratic senator might propose an anti-segregation amendment." Officials of the National Education Assn. have testified that an amendment barring federal aid to states which maintain segregated school systems would be the next thing to killing the legislation outright.

Top administration officials said privately the Eisenhower administration would not favor such a move because (1) the Supreme Court has already declared segregated schools unconstitutional, and (2) Southern opposition would jeopardize the legislation.

Hill recently told a reporter he hoped to call the committee together soon to discuss the form of legislation to be reported to the Senate.

The committee has several subcommittees which have been busy with other legislation, including health and minimum wage. Hill was not available today to comment on Bender's criticism.

The possibility of an anti-segregation amendment which might be offered either to the administration measure or to Hill's own school bill has reportedly been reported to the Senate.

Only a few days ago, Mrs. Crowson knew for certain that she could see again through the eye.

Her sight through the new window is almost perfect, doctors said.

Meanwhile, chubby Celia Ann has been fitted with a beautiful blue artificial eye which moves, turns and looks for the world like real.

And Mrs. Crowson today returned to Fort Worth to view with wonder her grandchildren she had never seen.

Retail Sales Up
AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—Retail sales in Texas in March ran 18 per cent above the February level and 16 per cent ahead of the same period last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Legislature May Write Own Unfinished Symphony

AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—The 54th Legislature may go down in history as the record-breaker for unfinished business if it doesn't get a move on.

With just a little more than two weeks to go, it is deadlocked on its first and most essential task: balancing its huge billion and a half dollar budget.

It has not even come to the point of agreeing on how the money shall be spent.

It is even further from a decision on how to raise the necessary money.

It made some progress in the general direction of compromise on key water-saving legislation, but the net result was to provide some machinery for compromise without any real promise of achieving it.

There was a missing cog in the machinery. The House finally approved the Senate's 100 million dollar water bond constitutional amendment, with many changes.

The Senate then refused to accept the amendments and asked for a conference committee. The Senate named its conferees.

The missing cog at this point is the failure of the House to name its water conferees. That made any efforts to get together over the weekend impossible. There were many predictions here that the session would end with outright rejection of this vital point in Gov. Shivers' recommendations for the session.

The governor has asked that the session come up with at least a start on a long-range water-saving program to guard against future droughts.

A $1 million dollar a year tax bill was stalled all this week in the House after winning a shaky 74-67 approval Monday night on second reading.

It was in such precarious condition that its backers did not press for final action on it. This effort may come Monday. Even after it gets over the first hurdle in the House—assuming it will—the tax bill then must be processed in Senate committee and debated on the floor there.

While the House originates tax bills, often in the final analysis the Senate writes them.

The 1 1/2 billion dollar spending bill is still in conference committee, where it has been for many weeks. Its final enactment poses another major problem for the Legislature's closing days.

If the session goes for the constitutionally-suggested 120 days only, it will end May 10.

In any case, the pay of the lawmakers drops from $25 a day to nothing a day after the 120th day.

If the session hasn't finished its "must" work by then, the no-pay angle should help it get busy and wind up the essentials, such as making appropriations to run the government for the next two years, and finding the money to pay for them.

Gov. Shivers has predicted that the session could wind up its work perhaps 10 days to two weeks after May 10. He still has shown no enthusiasm for calling a special session.

Dallas To Call For Bids On New Airfield

DALLAS, April 23 (AP)—Dallas Monday expects to advertise for bids on its new Love Field Air Terminal, whose five million dollar cost will make it one of the largest single building projects ever undertaken by the city.

Awarding of the contract likely will be in June, with construction work beginning the following month.

Once started, the big terminal will take about two years to complete.

200 BLAZING HORSEPOWER

at the lowest cost in history!

...plus size, luxury and styling unsurpassed at the price!

THE SENSATIONAL STRATO-STREAK V-8
Here's the reason Pontiac delivers so much power at such low cost—the most modern and efficient V-8 in the industry, delivering 200 horsepower with the four-barrel carburetor, optional at low extra cost.

It's a fact—never before in the history of the automobile industry has a car offered so much power for so little money as the 1955 Pontiac. It is the first and only automobile ever built that delivers 200 horsepower at a price every new-car buyer can afford—hundreds of dollars less than any car equalling its blazing performance.

And that's not all! Pontiac is also the sole automobile at its price to unite the terrific "drive" of 200 horsepower with a road-leveling 122" or 124" wheelbase and such big-car stability. It's the biggest as well as the highest-powered car ever priced with the lowest.

Yes, you read that right! You can buy a Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars or stripped economy models of higher-priced makes.

Come in and drive this flashing, silken-smooth performer. A few miles behind the mighty Strato-Streak V-8 will tell you better than any words that Pontiac is the greatest buy that ever took to the highway!

Business, Training Account For Most Air Activity Here

The weather hasn't been too good for flying recently and as a result, many local pilots stay on the ground unless they have to go up on business, Barney Edens, manager of Hamilton Field said Saturday.

Most local flights have been business trips or else students making necessary flights to get their licenses, he said. Later, as the weather becomes more stable, flying will resume its heavy pace, he predicted.

Three persons took forward steps in their flying careers last week. Walter Frazier, a member of the Blue Angels Flying Club, made his solo flight. He is the first member of the club to solo. Of course, there are members of the club who had soloed before joining.

Simon Berry, another Blue Angel, finished the necessary requirements for obtaining his commercial license. And Rayford Dunnagan made his solo flight during the week. Dunnagan owns a part interest in a Taylorcraft aircraft.

Civil Aeronautics Administration inspectors were in the city last week checking over prospective sites for a possible new airport. The CAA has said that the airport must be from seven to 10 miles away from Webb AFB. Also, Big Spring must have a new civil airport before the CAA will sanction the transfer of Webb to the government. Before the base can be a permanent installation, the Webb land must be given to the government.

Cosden's two aircraft, the Bonanza and the Dove, were busy as usual last week.

The larger Dove flew down to Austin Saturday to pick up the Salk polio vaccine. It was piloted by Bill Edwards and Jack Gulley. The aircraft flew back to Big Spring, then to Midland, and back to Big Spring again.

Sunday, the Dove was off again but on a different type of trip. It carried E. B. McCormick to Del Rio so that he could be near his daughter during the bullfights. Other persons accompanying McCormick on the flight down to the border city were Mrs. R. L. Tollett, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Phelan, and Dr. Houston Zinn. Mrs. McCormick made the return trip to Big Spring.

On Monday, the Dove flew various Cosden employees to Dallas, on to Oklahoma City, then to Kansas City, then Minneapolis and returned to Big Spring Wednesday. Saturday, the Dove went to Denver to pick up Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tollett and return them to Santa Fe where Tollett had some business to complete.

The Bonanza, with Gulley flying, made trips to Van Horn, Hobbs, Dallas, and Monahans during the week.

There were about 10 transients landing at the field during the week for gas and oil. One was a Navion Twin piloted by Clyde Stacy from Colorado Springs and enroute to Houston.

Another was a uranium prospector. He was from Vernon and had been two years in the Big Bend country looking for uranium fields. He had previously used his Piper Super Cub for crop dusting around Vernon and easily converted it to prospecting.

His method was to fly about 50 feet above the ground over the rough terrain keeping one eye on the geiger counter nestled in the cabin with him.

Another visitor was C. L. Holley who flew in here to pick up the polio vaccine destined for Van Horn, Texas.

The number of locally owned aircraft dropped to 25 this week. Lone Star Motor Company sold its Ercope to an out-of-town flier. James McClendon and Howard Lloyd flew the sleek little craft to Odessa for the sale. This leaves only one Ercope, owned by T. F. Stroup, hangared at Hamilton.

Four shows will be staged in Carl Myers Rodeo Arena, 2000 Grape Street. Night performances will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday with a matinee performance slated for Saturday.

Young Flier

Donovan Smith, son of A&E mechanic J. R. Smith, stands in front of the Taylorcraft two-place 65 horsepower airplane which he and his father are offering for sale. The younger Smith only needs one more cross-country flight to obtain his flying license. He soloed several months ago. His father is an aircraft inspector and holds several licenses. Donovan received most of his instruction and flying time in the airplane pictured here.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Liberal Donations Urged For Teen-Age Ball Park

Dear Editor:
An urgent meeting of the Teen-Age baseball parents brought very little response; just a few more than the Monday meeting.

Inasmuch as the City of Big Spring does not see fit to build a park or a baseball diamond for the boys, it is necessary to solicit individual funds. If any boy comes to your door this week, please give him a generous donation.

The money for the lights for their park must be collected this week to enable operations to begin as soon as possible.

If the parents cannot contribute their time, they had better dig in their pockets!

Thank you for the publicity we have had this week; we do appreciate it.

Mrs. Jesse Lewis

Says Litter May Be Health Hazard

Dear Editor:
Since we have been in the midst of Cleanup Week, I would like to draw your attention to the trash and litter along the Air Base railroad track.

I have called the city-county health department concerning this. Besides looking bad, in my opinion it could very well be a health hazard. When it rains, the ditch is so cluttered up that water stands indefinitely in battery boxes, etc. This furnishes a breeding place for mosquitoes, which were bad last year. Any help on this would be appreciated.

Nashua Nips Summer Tan In Rich Stakes

Return Duel Is Set In Derby

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring should easily go over the 400,000 in paid attendance this year—for nine seasons of Longhorn League play, that is . . . In eight campaigns, local clubs have a total home draw, exclusive of playoffs, of 370,426 . . . Despite the 1953 season, when the team called it quits on July 31 after drawing only 24,809, the resident nine has averaged 46,303 admissions a season . . . Biggest turnout occurred in 1948, when the Broncs played to 59,503 paid . . . The Longhorn League as a whole has attracted a paid turnout of 3,039,801 in its eight-year history, exclusive of the playoffs . . . Only once has a single club gone over the 100,000 mark in a single season . . . That occurred in 1952, when San Angelo lured 115,818 through the turnstiles . . . The Colts made $30,000 that year but have experienced financial problems since that time . . . Thirteen different cities have held Longhorn League franchises, including Wichita Falls, which lasted only a few days . . . At least six graduates of the circuit went on to win berths with big league clubs at one time or another . . . They are Potato Pascual, Mike Fierolies and Camillo Pascual, all of Big Spring; Roy McMillan, Ballinger; Leon Brinkopf, Odessa; and Gerald Huff, Vernon . . . Ex-big leaguers who have managed or played in the league include Zeko Peura, Max Christman, Hack Miller, Al Monchak, Hills Layne, Tony York, Pat McLaughlin, Jimmy Adair, Buddy Hancken, Tom Jordan and Chet Fowler . . . There have been first sackers in the league who carried more authority with their bats than Big Spring's Tony Martinez but the Cuban is as fancy a fielder as the circuit ever had . . . Martinez, who hit .303 last season, makes his infielders look good by scooping up all kinds of throws.

Low Finish Predicted For Cops

Half the managers in the Longhorn League are third basemen . . . Jim Tongate, the veteran Longhorn League umpire who is in his 38th season in professional baseball, did his spring training as an arbiter in the camp of the Pittsburgh Pirates' farm affiliates at Huntsville, Texas . . . Jim's partner, Matty Ryan, had hard luck after last season . . . He arrived home two days too late to resume his old job . . . Matty applied for employment in the new Northwest League (which replaces the Western International League) but was told that that circuit is hiring no officials who reside east of the Mississippi River . . . Matty is a New Yorker . . . A New Mexico paper and the San Angelo Standard-Times foresee rough going for Big Spring in the Longhorn race . . . The New Mexico publication sees a finish with a Texas team among the top four clubs in the Longhorn League . . . Bob Millburn of San Angelo doesn't think the Cops will finish above sixth place in the race . . . Pepper Martin sold Bert Baez outright to Hobbs the day before the season opened . . . Martin had wanted a shortstop in exchange for Baez but agreed to sell Bert's contract after Bob Kenemer arrived in camp . . . In Kenemer and Jack Poppell, the Cops appear to have one of the greatest double play combinations ever to grace a Longhorn League diamond . . . Tobacco-chewers on the Cop outfit include Ray Sims and Jim Barr, both pitchers . . . Barr lost three front teeth when struck by a baseball some time ago . . . One of baseball's really nice people is Tony York, a gentleman both on and off the field . . . Ray Faust, the former Roswell hurler, is now playing semi-pro ball in Amarillo, along with Bob Cruce.

SWC Baseball Shows Improvement

O. W. Follis, the Lamesa grid mentor, has moved Bennie Lybrand from guard to end in spring training . . . Lybrand was one of the Tornados' better linemen last fall and could be equally effective on the terminal . . . Dennis Lamphere will be at the opposite end for the Tornados . . . Carl Phelan, a whiz of a six-man gridder for Flower Grove last season, becomes eligible at Lamesa after the opening game . . . Harry Hobbs, the Sweetwater backfield ace, faces a doubtful future in the game . . . He's been told to lay out of spring training due to his trick knee and it could be the kind that caves in when subjected to physical contact . . . The Municipal golf course is $822 . . . According to Ben Peeler, the Odessa scribe, that city will get a second high school by 1957 and its football team will be competing in what is now AAAA . . . Peeler says

Local Girls Are Defeated In Regional Semi-Finals

LUBBOCK, April 23 (SC)—Lema Higdon and Bobbie Lightfoot of Crane capped Regional girls' tennis doubles honors here Saturday by defeating Memphis High, 6-1, 6-4, in the finals. Jayhawks Among Favorites In West Zone Meet Monday

A three-way fight for first place, with Howard County Junior College right in the middle of things, is due to take place in the West Zone track and field meet at Lubbock Monday.

HCJC might have entered the meet as the favorite but for the fact that the squad is crippled. Jim Knotts and Jimmy Robinson are definitely out of the meet due to injuries and it is doubtful that Ronnie Anderson will be able to compete.

Odessa and Amarillo will contest strongly for first place. Amarillo is the defending champion. Twelve boys will make the trip with Coaches George McAllister and Harold Davis. They are John Curtis, Cleone Russell, Harold Baker, Arnie Scott, Jimmy Merrick, Arnie White, Jimmy Spears, Jack Williams, Bob Patterson, Paul Stovall and Paschal Wickard. HCJC's best bet appears to be Curtis in the sprints, Scott in the weights and Stovall in the pole vault. Coaches will gather at the Texas Tech track to discuss final plans for the meet at 9:30 a.m. Preliminary runners get under way at 10 a.m. Finals at 1 p.m. Finals in three field events will be staged in the morning. Clarendon will not be represented in the meet.

West Zone Golf Meet Set Back

LUBBOCK, April 13 (SC)—The West Zone golf tournament was called off here Saturday due to high winds and reset for Monday morning. It is scheduled for the Hillcrest Country Club and will get under way at 9:30 a.m. The first foursome had progressed to the fourth hole Saturday when officials decided to call a halt due to the weather. Howard County Junior College is represented in the tournament by James Lee Underwood and Luke Thompson. Stan Musial hit a homer in every National League park except Chicago's Wrigley Field, during the 1954 season.

Harry Byrd Shuts Out Washington

BALTIMORE, April 23 (AP)—Right-hander Harry Byrd blanked Washington on three scattered singles here today as the Baltimore Orioles captured a 3-0 decision for their second victory in 10 American League starts.

Baltimore collected seven safeties off a procession of five Nat hurlers, center fielder Chuck Diering setting the pace with a perfect 4-4 before a crowd of 7,981. Byrd, first Oriole pitcher to go the route this year, fanned two and walked four while permitting only two rival runners to reach second base.

Jayhawks Sweep Double Header

round when Bonnie Anderson walked, Charley Rose singled and Doyle Scott walked. Patterson went in to run for Anderson and came home when Gerry Hoover laid down a sacrifice bunt.

Erskine, winning his third game of the season without defeat, had only himself to blame for the Giants' lone run. He walked Monte Irvin and Don Mueller to open the second inning, then threw Dave Williams' sacrifice bunt far into left field. By the time the Brooks got organized again, Irvin had scored, Mueller was on third and Williams on second.

White Sox Slug Kansas Citians By 29-6 Tally

KANSAS CITY, April 23 (AP)—Chicago's White Sox slugged the Kansas City Athletics 29-6 today, tying the modern major league scoring record for one game as they lofted seven home runs out of gusty Municipal Stadium.

LOLLAR The rampaging Sox blasted little Bobby Shantz almost out of the park as Bob Nieman hit a 3-run homer, one of a pair for his 3-day work, in the first inning, and Sherm Lollar greeted him with a lead-off homer in the second.

Thomson Breaks Up Brave Game

MILWAUKEE, April 23 (AP)—Southpaw Chet Nichols had more trouble from his own mates than from the St. Louis Cardinals today but he held on until Bobby Thomson's 12th inning bases loaded single through the box gave the Braves a 5-4 victory.

Thomson, Milwaukee's leading run producer, singled on a 3-2 pitch from rookie Bob Tiefenauer with the bases full as the result of some St. Louis strategy that didn't work.

Kansas Relays Dash Record Is Equalled

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 23 (AP)—Dean Smith of Texas equalled the Kansas Relays record of 9.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash today but it won't go into the record books because of strong winds.

Chicago scored seven times in the second off Shantz and Leroy Wheat. Besides Nieman's two homers, Lollar hit a pair, and Walt Dropo, Minnie Minoso and Jack Harshman, the Sox' starting and winning pitcher, each tossed a round-tripper into the pot.

Hardgrove gave up ten hits, but kept them fairly well spaced and was tough in the clutches. Joe helped his own cause with a single and a home run. Dick Bleckner, Aggie shortstop, suffered a knee injury in a collision with centerfielder John Stockton. Bleckner was hospitalized for treatment.

Smith of Texas equalled the Kansas Relays record of 9.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash today but it won't go into the record books because of strong winds. The gusty breezes, plus showers that dampened the athletes in almost every event, threatened to spoil Wes Santee's bid for the four-minute mile. An estimated 13,000 crowded into Memorial Stadium with Santee the chief attraction.

OVER ROSWELL ROCKETS

DiCesare Makes Sensational Debut As Cops Win, 4 To 1

Artie DiCesare won himself a home here Friday night. The rookie from the Bronx, N. Y., set the Roswell Rockets on their ears as he hurled the Big Spring Cosden Cops to a 4-1 victory.

In setting the hard-hitting Rockets down with three hits, the well-built ex-Marine struck out 16 batters and thereby set a record for a rookie pitcher in the circuit.

Only Fernando (Trompoloco) Rodriguez of the 1954 Big Spring club did better. Rodriguez got 17 in his league debut against Vernon.

DiCesare gave up only one walk and that led to Roswell's only run. It went to Rod Arco in the first inning and Dick Adams followed with a triple.

Pete Simons, a former Big Spring, hurled almost as well for Roswell. He surrendered only eight hits but five of those were bunched in the first inning, at which time the Cops counted all their runs.

Frank Billings gave DiCesare all the working margin he needed with a two-run homer, his first of the year. Tony Martinez and Huck Doe later came through with run producing singles.

After the second frame, Big Spring got to Simons for only one hit, that a sixth inning one-baser by Tom Costello.

DiCesare fanned at least one man an inning and retired the side on strikes in the second and third rounds. He got big Joe Bauman on strikes twice and fanned Bill Herring and Charles Pruitt every time he faced them.

RAMBLINGS—The local crowd saw its second straight game played in less than two hours. The contest marked the first time DiCesare had been asked to go more than five innings this year. Every hit on the Cop rookie went for extra bases. Besides Adams' triple, Simons hit a third inning triple while Walter Knapp had a ninth inning double. Manager Stubby Greer was the only batter DiCesare could not get on strikes at least once. Bob Kenemer and Jack Poppell, first two men up for Big Spring in the second, singled but Kenemer died at third and Poppell was out, trying to steal.

Simons himself struck out seven and issued only two bases on balls. Shortstop Bob Kenemer of Big Spring didn't get a fielding chance all night and not a ball was hit to the outfield by a Roswell player. DiCesare retired 19 men in a row in one stretch.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (UP)—Home runs by Willie Jones and rookie Stan Palyr helped the Philadelphia Phillies beat Pittsburgh 5-0 today and force the Pirates to within one game of equalling the National League record for consecutive defeats at the start of the season. It was the eighth straight loss for the winless Pirates.

The veteran Murry Dickson, 35-year-old righthander, posted his second victory of the season for the Phillies with a neat four-hit shutout. Dickson set down the New York Giants with two hits last Sunday. Dickson hurled no-hit ball for four innings before Sid Gordon lashed a single to right.

The Brooklyn Dodgers set the record for nine straight defeats in 1958.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies won 5-0 today against Pittsburgh Pirates. Dickson pitched a perfect game, allowing no hits, runs or errors. He struck out nine batters.

DeWees Is Second In Ozona Tourney

OZONA, April 23, (SC) — C. A. DeWees, Big Spring golf pro, placed second in a pro-amateur tournament conducted at the Ozona Country Club Friday.

Six Big Spring golfers were among the 80 players present in addition to DeWees and Maxwell, those making the trip from Big Spring were Tommy Hutto (a member of the second place team), J. R. Farmer, Bobby Wright and Bob Maxwell.

Five SW Games To Be Offered Video Viewers

DALLAS, April 23 (UP) — Five games—Texas Tech-Texas Christian, Texas-Oklahoma, Texas A&M-Baylor, Rice-Arkansas and Southern Methodist-Arkansas—will be televised regionally in Southwest Conference football next fall.

These games were picked at a conference of athletic directors of the seven schools meeting in Dallas this week.

This is in line with the NCAA television plan which allows five regional dates in addition to its eight nationally televised games.

The Southwest Conference regional schedule will be: Sept. 24—Texas Tech vs. Texas Christian at Lubbock.

Oct. 6—Texas vs. Oklahoma at Dallas.

Oct. 22—Texas A&M vs. Baylor at College Station.

Nov. 5—Rice vs. Arkansas at Houston.

Nov. 12—Southern Methodist vs. Arkansas at Dallas.

All are day games. Where practical, these games will be carried in all markets throughout the area except that non-sellout games will not be televised in those markets where this coverage would have an adverse effect on the attendance at the games being televised.

For example, the Baylor-A&M game played at College Station will not be carried in the Temple-Waco or Houston-Galveston areas, unless the game is a sellout, in which case it will be carried in all areas.

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said that negotiations were now in progress toward obtaining a sponsor for this series of games. He also called attention to the fact that the Texas-A&M game was on the national series on Thanksgiving Day and that one of the primary provisions of the 1955 NCAA television plan permits a team a maximum of two television appearances during the coming football season.

District or regional games will be televised only in the districts in which they are played. NCAA District 6 takes in Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Conference officials are confident of obtaining a sponsor for the telecasts but in the event they do not probably would not televise the games as they would have to pay for their own telecasting.

Midland Hangs On To Triumph

A savage last inning Big Spring assault drove Steer Harris from the hill but Midland hung on to defeat the Steers, 10-4, in a wind-swept, District 3-A&M baseball game here Saturday afternoon.

The Longhorns struck for six tallies in the final frame and had the tying run on second base when Reliever Larry Cooper forced Calvin Daniels to hit a line shot to Third Baseman G. Howard to end the game.

Daniels was the only batter Cooper faced. The Steers out-hit the Bulldogs, 19-3, but three of Midland's blows went for home runs, including an inside-the-park blast by Jerry Morris. It was one of two four-masters for Morris.

Jerry got his first in the third with the sacks deserted and his second as the leadoff man in the sixth. LeRoy LeFevre started on the mound for Big Spring but was driven from the hill in the fourth inning. T. L. Kennedy finished up.

Morris and Ronnie Wooten of Big Spring led the game's hitters. Morris had a single to go with his two home runs while Wooten had a triple, double and single.

Harris struck out 18 batters before he departed and appeared to have the game in his hip pocket until the Steers broke their shackles in the seventh.

The win was the fourth in five starts for Midland. Big Spring now has a 1-4 won-lost record in the conference.

The Steers wind up their season here Tuesday afternoon in a game with Odessa.

CLEVELAND, April 23 (UP)—Bill Hoelt limited the Cleveland Indians to three hits today while pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 3-0 victory.

The 25-year-old lefthander gave up a pair of singles in the first inning and a double in the seventh while leading the defending American League champs their first shutout of the year.

He set the Tribe down in order in the third, fourth, fifth, eighth and ninth innings.

Ray Boone, a former Tribe man, hit his second home run of the year in the second. Singles by Hoelt, Harvey Kuenn, Ferris Fain and Boone produced two more Tiger runs in the third.

Mike Garcia, losing his second game against a single win, was hit safely 11 times before being benched for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

HERE ARE THE NAMES OF OUR MYSTERY CUSTOMERS

MRS. R. J. KRAUSE
We traded our old car to Tarbox Motor Company and received all it was worth and some on the A-1 Ford we are now driving. Boy, we sure are enjoying the driving comfort of our 1953 Ford. If you want to trade cars that is the place to go.

MR. M. R. KOGER
I'm an Insurance man and one of the first customers of Tarbox Motor Company after they came to Big Spring. They gave me a trade-in on my old car that I don't think you could beat anywhere. Now I am driving a New 1955 Ford. I sure do love it.

MR. TOMMY HART
"Who would believe that Elora and I would own a new Ford? We didn't, until we saw Tarbox Motor Company. Elora was still skeptical and said it was another car dealer's gimmick. Tarbox Motor Company gave an outstanding price for our old car and now we are enjoying a new 1955 Ford."

MRS. A. M. TEETER
I purchased a 1952 Ford automobile from Tarbox Motor Company at a wholesale price and found the car as good or better as they represented it in every respect. Their finance plan and monthly payments was just tailored for me.

DO IT YOURSELF Built-In Relaxation In Contour Chair

By BILL BAKER
When a chair is designed to follow the natural body contour angles, you can be sure that it will give you relaxing support. This is the idea I used in designing my new contour lawn chair.
With "relaxation" already built in, you'll discover that this chair is worth its weight in gold.
You'll be building one of these contour chairs of your own soon—so you'll be able to see for yourself how wonderful it is. The chair is easy to build, too, when you use my pattern package No. 123.
Summer is coming up fast: it

For The Lawn

You'll really relax when you sit in this new contour lawn chair. Bill Baker's new do-it-yourself design, being enjoyed here by Hollywood TV and motion picture actress Dorothy Martinson, is an easy-to-build project.

Here's how you can get your contour lawn chair pattern: send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif. Be sure to ask for pattern 123 when you send in your order. Copies of Bill Baker's new catalogue are also still available. You can get your free copy by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the above address. Just request the catalogue, and one will be on the way to you.

won't be long until you'll be spending many of your leisure hours in your yard. And what better companion can you hope to have than this contour chair?

I've said the chair is easy to build, and it is, too. Each section of the chair is duplicated in heavy-weight, exact-size paper pattern pieces in package 123. Easy-to-read instructions, a full and complete material list, diagrams showing all construction details and an INSERT BOX material layout chart are included.

With the pattern, you'll find cutting and assembling an easy job. Scientific design makes the chair perfect for any person. No matter if you are short or tall, the chair is right for you.

A pad is not necessary for comfort. Smoothly rounded slats, forming the seating area, are designed for unbelievable comfort. And the chair is mobile, too. Wheels located at the back, plus the addition of a rope handle in front of the chair, make it possible for even a child to move it from place to place without a strain.

You'll probably want to build your chair in redwood—an ideal material for outdoor furniture. And finished in a natural color, the sturdy and sleek lines of the chair will add beauty to your yard.

With the finished chair in your yard, you'll be set to enjoy the summer. By ordering your pattern now, you'll have plenty of workshop time to enable you to start enjoying the warm weather as soon as it arrives.

Remember that this solid, well-built contour chair is easy to build. No expensive shop equipment is necessary. And a lot of building experience isn't a requirement, either.

Legislature Still Facing Tax Program As Session End Nears

AUSTIN — The tax program which must be voted if Texas is to pay for the appropriations already outlined is still facing Legislators as they moved closer to the end of this session.

The Omnibus bill, which still lacks final House approval, is expected to be laid out by Speaker Jim Lindsey Monday. This will be the third straight Monday the House has struggled with the problem of where to get the money to foot the bills. When the House finishes its proposal, as it is expected to do without much more delay, the problem will be dumped on the Senate.

Time is fast running out on many other measures, some "pet" ideas of lawmakers, some bills which will have great effect on the entire state.

One is the general judicial re-districting bill. It has come out of House committee and is now ready for floor action. Such a bill has not made any headway in recent sessions, but there's a growing feeling this may be the year it gets by. If it doesn't, scores of "single shot" bills will be pushed to continue or create special short-term district courts throughout the state.

House Bill 7—the natural gas "economic waste" bill—still hangs heavy and backers of it will be trying every scheme they can to get it up before time runs out. They tried Friday to make a run but failed. Several members (including some of the bill's strongest foes) left Austin Thursday thinking the week's work was about over. When H. B. 7 started rumbling, many of these hastened back to the Capitol—including one group which had flown to Louisville, Ky., to the horse races—for the unusual Friday session.

So far the gas price fight has centered in the House. But, the Senate will get a taste of it shortly. Public hearing on a companion bill by Sen. Warlow Lane of Center is set before the Senate Oil and Gas Committee Tuesday.

There are some of the measures the lawmakers worked on during recent days and the way West Texas members voted:

TAXES—The House in a stormy midnight vote moved the tax bill one step forward. Vote to engross the bill was 75-69. Voting "yes" were Anderson of Midland, Bristol of Big Spring, Kirkin of Odessa, Latimer of Abilene and Slack of Pecos. Voting "no" were Allison of Mineral Wells, Armor of Sweetwater, Bishop of Winters, Brashear of Cisco, Briscoe of Uvalde, Burkett of Kerrville, Cloud of Rule, Cobb of Seminole, Kelly of Afton, Patterson of Snyder and Stroman of San Angelo. Thurmond of Del Rio, excused absence.

The tax bill as it now stands calls for a cent increase in taxes on gasoline and cigars, a levy on trading stamps, a continuation of natural gas production tax at 8 per cent, and an increase in beer license fees.

Increases in taxes directly on beer were repeatedly knocked down. The last attempt was by Rep. Frank Carpenter of Sour Lake when he tried to hike the beer tax by 45 cents a barrel which would have been less than a mill and a half a bottle. Voting against Carpenter were Allison, Brashear, Briscoe, Burkett, Stroman and Kelly. Voting with Carpenter were Anderson, Armor, Bishop, Cloud, Cobb, Kirkin, Latimer and Patterson. Bristol was absent. On some other efforts to put greater levies on beer Brashear and Kelly voted for the hikes.

Trading stamps were brought into the tax bill by a vote of 79-56. The levy is 5 per cent of the gross. Voting for the tax were Allison, Anderson, Bishop, Brashear, Briscoe, Cloud, Cobb, Kelly and Patterson. Voting against it were Burkett, Kirkin, Latimer, Slack and Stroman. Bristol was absent.

The gas production tax was pegged at 8 per cent rather than allowing it to drop to 7 per cent as the law now provides. Voting for were Allison, Anderson, Brashear, Burkett, Kirkin, Latimer, Patterson and Stroman. Voting against were Armor, Bishop, Briscoe, Cloud, Cobb, Kelly, and Slack. Vote was 81-58.

TEACHER RETIREMENT—The House passed by a vote of 135-3 a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to give teachers an improved retirement program. The Senate earlier approved the plan which would set up death and disability benefits. Only West Texas voting against the measure was Burkett.

WATER—The House finally voted out its version of a statewide water fund. It calls for an elective board to administer the fund which will be supported by a water users tax. The Senate approved an appointive board and a property tax. The two versions now go to a conference committee. Voting for Burkett's amendment to make the board elective were Allison, Anderson, Bishop, Brashear, Briscoe, Burkett, Cloud, Cobb, Kelly, Kirkin, Latimer, Patterson, Slack and Stroman. Voting against were Armor, Chambers. Except for Cobb, the same members voted for the water users tax.

When the water fund measure came up for final House passage, it was supported by all the West Texas delegation except Slack.

EDUCATION—The Senate this week passed a bill by Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris creating the Texas Commission on Higher Education, termed by him a very far-reaching measure. The bill received the support of all the West Texas senators.

The Senate also passed a measure authorizing state colleges to increase student fees up to $30 per semester. All West Texans except Sen. Wayne Wagonseller supported the measure.

AN EPERGNE, (CIRCA 1700)—was used on the tea table (right) at the party given Thursday at the Settles Hotel by the 1905 Hyperion Club in observance of their Jubilee Year. Here, Mrs. Dick Simpson, chairman of the social committee, and Mrs. Charles Long, chairman for the Antique Show, discuss the arrangement with Mrs. Obie Bristow, president of the club.

(Photos by Keith McMullin)

Antique Show And Tea End 1905 Hyperion Club's Jubilee

Another party in the series of affairs marking their Jubilee Year was given by the 1905 Hyperion Club Saturday afternoon. This was the Antique Show and Tea which was held at the Parish House.

Included in the display was a collection of dolls, dressed in authentic Aztec costumes. These were shown by Mrs. N. D. Hagins, who added the information that the clothes were never removed. As the Aztecs wore out the garments, others were placed over the old one. Mrs. Hagins also showed some Aztec copper.

A Japanese vase that is over 200 years old is the possession of Mrs. R. L. Morris. Another object of interest was the obi, or large "sash" worn by the people. Mrs. Morris also showed dolls in Japanese costumes and a stove, which is much like an ornate jardiniere.

Antique glass from the collection of Mrs. T. S. Currie added beauty and interest to the exhibit. An outstanding entry was the silver fish set, which is owned by Mrs. E. V. Spence. The age of this set cannot be ascertained, since it was made before the use of hallmarks on silver.

Mrs. Charles Long showed a music box, dated 1820. The round table used in serving was also an entry made by Mrs. Long.

Mrs. J. H. Greene drew again on the collection of fans owned by her sister, Mrs. Pearl Shannon of Colorado City. She showed some that had never been exhibited here before.

The tea table was laid with a pink linen cloth and, in keeping with the antique air, bud vases held pink roses. An amethyst punch bowl was used in the serving. This was done by Mrs. Obie Bristow, president of the club, Mrs. Clyde Angel, president-elect, Mrs.

IT'S BEEN IN THE FAMILY FOR FIFTY YEARS—says Mrs. Clyde Angel (photo at right) of the dress she is showing to Mrs. Norman Read, center, and Mrs. J. H. Greene. The lace trimming on the white mull frock is all hand made as are the tassels at each point. Mrs. Greene is wearing a deep pink brocade satin that was one of her trousseau selections. She, incidentally, was the only member who could still wear her trousseau frocks.

Spending A Lazy Day

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Reid haven't been in Big Spring long enough to get their time involved. They are shown here with him enjoying his "sody pop" on a really warm afternoon.

Newcomers Are So New They Still Have Time To Spare

If someone in Big Spring is looking for an attractive couple to do some civic work they should call on Mr. and Mrs. Murray Reid who live at 1022 1/2 Goliad. They have some time on their hands. The Reids have lived here since March 1, coming here from San Antonio. They have been married three years. Mrs. Reid says she has found the people in the city very friendly but like everyone else, whether they are newcomers or oldtimers, she doesn't like the sand and dust. The couple belong to the Baptist Temple and he is the branch claims manager of the Hartford Accident Indemnity Company.

Shower Honors Mrs. F. Franklin

Mrs. Freddie Franklin was honored with a shower at the home of Mrs. Edgar Stephens Friday evening. The pink and blue theme of the evening was carried out in the table decorations which featured a blue satin cloth covered with lace and lighted pink tapers. The centerpiece was a toy stork standing in a bowl of red roses. Miniature ducks filled with candies were plate favors when Mrs. Sonny Shroyer, Mrs. Frank Elizard and Mrs. Neil Fryar served refreshments. Forty guests were registered by Mrs. Ray Franklin.

Garden City Women Have Social Affairs

GARDEN CITY—Mrs. Ray Highower was highest scorer at bridge when the Afternoon Bridge Club met in the home of Mrs. Joy Wilkerson. Mrs. L. L. Watkins scored second highest and bingo prizes went to Mrs. James Currie and Mrs. Dick Mitchell. Mrs. Currie who is taking a leave of absence, was presented with gifts from the members. Mrs. Arlis Ratliff and Mrs. W. E. Chaney entertained for June Carpenter recently with a lingerie shower at Mrs. Ratliff's home. Twenty attended.

Luncheon, Style Show Honors Visiting Women

Stunning casual clothes were featured in the style show that followed a luncheon Saturday when the visiting Lionesses were feted with the women's entertainment climaxing the district convention. Mrs. Larson Lloyd was mistress of ceremonies at the affair that was held in the Morales Restaurant. The luncheon tables were decorated with arrangements of Dutch Iris and yellow tulips which carried out the Lions colors and formed the letter L. Favors of the occasion were purse size perfume decanters with the club emblem on them, and miniature boxes of candy. Following the meal Mrs. Jim Zack was the commentator for a sparkling style show entitled "More Taste Than Money" for which Mrs. Leslie Green played background music. Featured in the showing were the beautiful cottons with the popular billowing skirts over multiple petticoats. Outstanding trims were rows of tiny tickrack braid and tiny buttons that matched the particular design in the material. These frocks were shown in lilac, white with pink stripe, carnation red and white with yellow and lilac stripe with tiny grey dot. Modeling these were Mrs. Fred Sittzell, Mrs. Carl Marcom, Mrs. Ray Adams, Barbara Coffee, Janet Hogan and Peggy Hogan. Nancy King, Mary Anne Nugent and Patsy Thornton wore unusual playclothes that included clam diggers in red, a three-piece playsuit in white with green and a blue patterned swimsuit with coat. Wives Of Lawmakers Have Clubs

AUSTIN — For four months every two years Austin has two very active women's social Representatives' Wives clubs. They are organizations of wives of Texas lawmakers who move either completely or partly to Austin during regular sessions of the Legislature. While their husbands struggle with the chores of government, the women develop their own social circles. Wives of House members meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Wives of senators meet each Wednesday. The clubs have been in organization for 15 or 20 years. Membership is in three classes. First, there are the honorary members, the wife of the Speaker of the House (Mrs. Jim Lindsey, the wife of the Lieutenant-Governor (Mrs. Ben Ramsey) and the wife of the Governor (Mrs. Allan Shivers). The Representatives' Wives Club is now headed by two West Texas women, Mrs. George Berry of Lubbock, president, and Mrs. L. L. Armour of Sweetwater, vice president. Mrs. Gus Strauss of Hallettsville is president of the Senate Wives. Turtle Club The Turtle Club members will celebrate the second anniversary of their organization with a party at the Big Spring Servicemen's Center on April 25 from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Are "Dog Days" the Only Time You Can Get Hydrophobia?

Hydrophobia, or rabies, exists in dogs the year around. However, rabid dog bites occur most often in the summer, when more people are out of doors.

Any person bitten should receive Pasteur treatment as quickly as possible if the biting animal is known to be rabid or if it cannot be confined, observed, or examined. Your doctor is prepared to give you this indispensable protection. We stock fresh vaccines and many other emergency items in order to serve your vital needs promptly.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

Enthusiasm soared to new heights this week among the juniors and seniors. They were all buzzing about — filled with big, big plans for big, big times in that exciting month named May.

Of course, the juniors manage to keep everything under their hats and hush down the talk if any senior happens to walk close to one of those secluded conversations. Gathering logic from the numerous committee meetings being called — the Junior-Senior Prom ought to shine forth with utmost elegance this year. The big date for the annual affair is May 7.

A senior class meeting was called Tuesday by President Tommy McAdams. Plans were discussed for Senior Radio Day at KBST, the Senior trip, and the Senior Ring Dance. Radio Day is May 14, that big trip comes on May 21, and the Senior Ring Dance will be at the Settles ballroom right after commencement exercises May 30.

Another big surprise for the Class of '55 — the City of Big Spring offers congratulations to all graduating seniors through the gift of a free swim the morning after graduation. The pool will be open from 8:30-9 Tuesday morning, May 31, for the seniors and their dates.

By the way, any seniors who wish to try out for the speakers at the graduating exercises, contact Mr. McComb right away. A class meeting will be held this week to select pianists, soloists, and a minister for the baccalaureate sermon.

After numerous rumors of assorted sizes the annuals arrived Friday morning in all their splendor. Excitement isn't the word for it! Squeals of delight and eager fingers captured the yearbooks as the staff efficiently distributed them in 30 minutes. The theme of "homecoming" is portrayed through silhouettes on black pages which harmonize with the formal black cover. Another secret revealed was the dedication which went to Mrs. Gene Harrington, general secretary and an ex of BSHS.

The mess, trash, and more mess that collects around school has inspired the student council to have a Clean-up Campaign next week. Dirty finger prints that decorate the walls along the staircases and door facings, paper cups that miss the trash cans, and general litter will disappear as "everybody" pitches in to work. Tuesday is blue jean day — set aside for hard labor in scaring away the dirt.

Want to make an easy dollar? Then pick up every piece of trash you see and put it in a trash can during clean-up week. Some object picked up will be undergoing a watch by a student council member and as soon as that particular object hits a paper basket — ya gotcha a dollar! There will be one object each day of the week.

Many of you have been asking about an all-School picnic. The council is making plans now for the annual affair which is to be Friday, May 27, at the City Park.

Sophomores and juniors, don't forget your activity cards on Wednesday. Elections are on the agenda for student council representatives and cheerleaders. The Senior Souvenir edition of the Corral dons a new face this year as a magazine section instead of the usual newspaper copy. Journalism students will take orders, beginning Monday, for only a quarter.

Mrs. Steward announced that seven journalists have recently been named to the Quill and Scroll, International honorary society for high school journalists. The initiates, "recognized through the industrious application of their journalistic training and talents" are Ginger Hatch, Glenna Coffey, Nancy Smith, Janice Nalley, Shirley Ward, Barbara Lewter, and Peggy Hogan. Their cards and pins will arrive shortly.

Bobby McCarty who is state VIC secretary and Truman Mason led the way to the state convention in Waco last Wednesday. Mr. Burnett took a whole crew to the city who entered six different contests at various trades. Last night the convention was wound up with a banquet, crowning of the state sweetheart, a dance, and other forms of entertainment. The VIC students making the trip are: Jimmy Gill, Gary Brown, Barbara McMurry, Sue Wilson, Robert Rogers, James Corcoran, Jann Gregg, and Bobby and Truman.

The volleyball girls strutted their skill in a game against the basketball boys Wednesday morning. Those girls stomped the boys so I dare not print the score here—anyway, it was sponsored by the junior class and proceeds netted $49 for the prom.

Congratulations to Kenneth "Herm" Harmon, Bobby Fuller, and Frosty Robison who qualified for regional in the district meet. Herm takes on the low hurdles, Bobby the mile, and Frosty the discus.

Graduating Baptist seniors and their dates were honored at a formal banquet Friday night at the First Baptist Church. Several Baptist churches participated in the feast and program as the theme of "Scrapbook of Memories" was carried out in a spring motif. Days to remember revealed themselves in several skits and Dr. John Rascoe from Odessa was guest speaker.

The First Christian young people were entertained in an informal way by a good old-fashioned waltzer roast and hayride Friday night. Hummmmm-hub, lots of that fun! Whether it's working like mad for a bonfire wood pile, coaching a girls' football team or painting a sign for the football bus, Freddie Blalack, Senior-of-the-Week, is always ready. He's a handy man around high school, that's for sure. Freddie lettered 3 years in football, one year as football manager, two years in basketball, and one year in track and base-

Forsan Baptist Circles Meet

FORSAN — Mrs. L. W. Moore was in charge of the program for the Belle Overton Circle and the Willie Mae Kennedy Circle meeting at the Baptist Church recently.

"Hong Kong" was the study for the afternoon, and those taking parts were Mrs. R. O. Sullivan, Mrs. Otis Adams, Mrs. R. D. Garrett, Mrs. J. W. Skeen, Mrs. C. D. Walker, Mrs. Roy Klahr, Mrs. Bob Cowley, and Mrs. C. V. Wash. Mrs. O. N. Green gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. J. W. Skeen entertained recently with a party in her home. Contest winners were Mrs. R. O. Sullivan, Mrs. C. A. Schwede, Mrs. C. D. Fowler and Mrs. Leo Parker of Otischalk.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Callie Bennett, Mrs. Gertrude McCann of Big Spring, Mrs. Arlene McMurtrey and Mrs. Roy Bennett of Sand Springs.

SMART COMBINATION Costume Suit Is One Of Most Versatile Styles

Vera Maxwell is one of our most enthusiastic supporters of the costume as the smart way to dress, a theory that becomes self-evident when presented as a sleeveless sheath with an abbreviated jacket. A smart combination that will see you through nine in the morning 'til the milkman's matinee, it was shown originally in black linen, its jacket lined with brilliant color and trimmed with bright contrasting braid.

The sheath, with its importantly new high, square neckline, is wonderful for evenings dressed up with jewelry, filmy scarves or stoles. Worn with a big brimmed hat and elbow length gloves, it is perfect for luncheon in town, thanks to the build-up back.

In addition to linen, Mrs. Maxwell suggests pique, shantung and novelty fabrics. Even a lightweight worsted is good since the sheath is lined to the waist.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements.

Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 35 inches; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36, waist 26, hips 37 inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches.

Size 12 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for dress and jacket, 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for contrast and 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for lining and interfacing.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By FRANCES WALKER

For the benefit of any visitors to our campus this past week, Thursday and Friday were the days set aside for the western festivities. And what a joyful two days they were! The students donned their boots, chaps, and ten gallon hats, and the fun began. Had anyone who wasn't familiar with H.C.J.C. customs happened by, and seen all the western apparel, the gun battles (water guns, that is), and the sheriff hard at work rounding on "vornery varmints," they would wonder if the Wild West had really died, or merely secluded itself on our campus.

Thursday morning at activity period, an assembly was held in order that Sheriff Frank Hunt, and Judge Rex Gibson might review the plans for the week. The sheriff then introduced his deputies: Jim Knotts, Paschal Wickard, Earnest Lillard, Junior Suter, Phil Gore, Arlen White, Red Scott, Dee Phillips, Richard Read, Oakley Hagood, Ben Grimes, Barbara White, Frances Walker, Myrna Talley, Connie Crow, and Nancy Millford.

The day continued with hearty water fights and such was ended in a picnic at the park. After everyone had had all the hot dogs, drinks and cookies they wanted, Dee Phillips, Philip Stovall, Harold Baker, and the Loudamy twins formed a western band to serenade the group.

At 6:30 Friday morning, the weary Jayhawkers gathered at the SUB for a sunrise breakfast prepared by the Aggie Club. Fifteen minute classes were staged all morning and the various contests classes.

Judges B. M. Keese, George McAllister, and Bill Holbert selected Jan Burns as the best-dressed girl, and Clifford Draper, best-dressed boy. John Curtis was judged the boy with the longest beard.

Junior Suter, the defending champion, won the pie-eating contest for his second year, but was only a few seconds the victor over freshman, Jimmie Robinson. The audience was allowed to choose the winner in the tall tales contest. They found it a close tie between Dennis Phillips and Phil Gore.

I might also mention a word or two about the prizes given to the winners of some of the contests. Jan and Clifford were presented lovely thoroughbred stick horses and the tall tales champ was awarded a genuine plastic air-shooter.

...cradle-robbing, spitting on the floor, smoking in a "no smoking" zone, gambling without a permit, carrying concealed weapons, and attempted assassination of the sheriff. The only prisoners which were not found guilty were deputies, Jim Knotts and Paschal Wickard. These boys were turned in for taking bribes and conduct unbecoming an officer.

All the cowboys and cowgirls were proud of the Jayhawk baseball squad Friday afternoon when they switched their chaps and spurs for uniforms, and took both games in a double header with Amarillo J.C. Oakley Hagood and Charlie Rose were the winning pitchers.

Ranch Week ended Friday night with the traditional western dance. The FTA did a fine job of decorating with saddles, chaps, spurs, guns, bales of hay, and sawhorses with cardboard heads.

Golf team members, James Underwood and Luke Thompson, had to relax the past part of the Ranch Week festivities to attend a golf tourney in Lubbock.

The Tech Choir presented a concert in the college auditorium Tuesday evening. They were served refreshments by members of the H.C.J.C. choir before their performance.

The morning girls physical education classes seemed to take all the victories in the Girls Intramural Basketball Tourney held this past week. The boys intramurals will continue next week.

Norma Blount, Becca Sewell and Mary Ann Moore honored Peggy Knight Crooks with a bridal shower in Norma's home recently.

THE WONDERFUL SHIP

She'll sail with the best of them, because into her fashioning have gone the eager hands of a small boy and the gentle, experienced touch of an old man. Across bright blue water her miniature sails will billow clean and white, and into the eyes of these two will steal a new light of pleasure.

There has been guidance in the making of this boat, the loving guidance of one who has weathered life's storms and gained from them the comfort of experience. And the boy, sensing this experience, is happy in a childlike confidence that this ship . . . this wonderful ship . . . can never sink.

It may be that on some brave voyage the little boat will meet disaster, and this lad will learn that material possessions so seldom last. He is also learning to find faith in a ship that is unsinkable. That ship is the Church . . . and it will carry him through calm seas and storms throughout the voyage of life. Every child should learn early to anchor his life to the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Individualist

Anna Magnani, Italy's motion picture queen, passes on some interesting information on personal magnetism in an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane. Lured to Hollywood by Paramount to star in "The Rose Tattoo," Anna believes in preserving her authenticity.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Magnani Emphasizes Her Own Individuality

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Anna Magnani, the Italian movie queen, was lured to Hollywood to star in "The Rose Tattoo," the Tennessee Williams play that scored such a hit on Broadway. At a cocktail party given for her by Hal Wallis at the Beverly Hills Hotel, she appeared with her long black hair hanging below her shoulders, devoid of make-up — even lipstick. Yet her face is so mobile and lights up with such intensity that some consider her to possess beauty in the highest sense.

"I have never considered myself beautiful," Miss Magnani told me later in her suite, "and certainly any success I have had as an actress has not been because of it."

"You are interested in your appearance, though, aren't you?" I persisted.

"I am interested only in preserving my authenticity," she replied.

Her companion, who accompanied Miss Magnani from Rome and who is more familiar with our language, explained that "authenticity" in the Italian language is a combination of integrity and reality.

"But," Miss Magnani added, "when women who are not beautiful succeed in creating this through their own efforts, they are very clever and deserve praise."

Miss Magnani confessed that art, not make-up, interested her.

"Do you feel that American women pay too much attention to make-up?" I asked.

She shrugged her shoulders as she lit a cigarette. "You are a young country."

We talked about the increasing popularity of Italian couturiers and I wanted to know if Miss Magnani was interested in fashion.

"Individuality interests me," she said. "I choose what is for me. I wear grey, black and brown and I change my style very little."

As we chatted, I commented on the perfume Miss Magnani was wearing. Her face lit up and I knew I had hit upon the phase of grooming she was most enthusiastic about.

"This I like very much," she confirmed and excusing herself she disappeared from the room and came back a moment later with two perfume bottles. One was a well-known French scent. The other, which I didn't know, she held out to me.

"See if you like it," she urged and awaited my verdict.

It was a lovely floral scent and when I told her I liked it very much, she was pleased.

"What do you admire most about American women?" I asked her.

"Their slender figures," she replied. "I think it is easier to stay thin in America because there are

MRS. EDWIN A. HENNINGSON

Miss Belk Is Wed To Lt. E. A. Henningson

In a double ring ceremony at the First Christian Church on April 16, Dolores Belk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Belk, 907 Main, became the bride of Lt. Edwin A. Henningson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Henningson of Watervliet, N. Y.

The wedding vows were repeated before an archway of candelabra trimmed with greenery, and an embankment of gladioli. Organ music and chimes were played by Betty Earley, who accompanied Russell Logan as he sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white nylon-cotton, fashioned with a long fitted torso and trimmed with tiny covered buttons. The bouffant skirt was waltz-length. The sleeves were fitted below the elbow, and the Peter Pan collar was trimmed with lace.

An elbow-length double veil of nylon tulle was attached to a cap sprinkled with seed-pearls. Her flowers were white camellias and feathered carnations.

Beverly Belk attended her sister as maid of honor. Her dress was of blue nylon-cotton, made with fitted bodice and high neckline. Her flowers were blue feathered carnations and she wore a headdress of the same.

Best man was Lt. William Schoder. Ushers were Jim Fisher and Don Burton. In charge of the register was Mrs. Daryl Bennett.

After a wedding trip to New York, the couple will be at home in San Marcos.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and of Hendrick Memorial School of Nursing in Abilene. She has been employed at Malone-Hogan Clinic. The bridegroom is a graduate of Watervliet High School and received his commission as jet pilot at Webb Air Force Base with the class of April 14.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Jean Fortenberry of Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Don Burton of Abilene, Mrs. J. B. Clark of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Manning of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Speer of Seminole, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Forehand of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett of Lorraine and Mr. and Mrs. Dale McNew of Ozona.

Mrs. J. J. Willingham was complimented by members of the City Firemen's Auxiliary Friday evening when the group met in the home of Mrs. O. W. Laws.

Mrs. B. F. Lopez assisted Mrs. Laws in serving refreshments to 12 members.

Mrs. Riley Knightstep and Mrs. Edison Taylor will be hostesses for the May meeting.

Costume Jewelry Has More Sparkle, Color

Mother's Day, graduation gifts and maybe a birthday gift all can make your head reel trying to think of an appropriate remembrance! An always acceptable gift for just about any age is a piece or a set of costume jewelry.

This season, especially, some of the jewelry is hard to distinguish from "the real thing." A new method for this line has been adopted in setting stones, and now it is done by hand just as more expensive ornaments are created. With prongs to hold each stone separately, more sparkle is given to it.

Remember Grandmother's crocheted dollies and borders? Now, enamel-coated metal is done in a flange closely resembling that handwork and then studded with glittering rhinestones in various colors. More color is added to summer attire by the coated metal holding moonstones of pink, blue, yellow or in multi-shades.

Navette stones, those clear oval stones in lively colors as amethyst, pink, blue, amber and others, are used in the increasingly-popular ropes. You may find them, too, combined with pearls to make necklaces, earrings and bibs.

"The flowers that bloom in the Spring, tra-la," will be hard put to be more beautiful than the flower jewelry being worn this season. There are daisies in colors that never have grown in a garden, such as white and black, white and navy, and red and white. Other combinations, all with small stones for the center of the flower, are yellow and black, white and yellow, pink and blue and tangerine and black.

Another in the floral motif is called the buttercup and is made of plastic petals with rhinestone centers. These will blossom around the neck wrist, on the ears or pinned to a dress. They may be bought in colors far removed from the ordinary idea of a buttercup, too, as they are in citrus, red, blue, avocado, lilac and tango, besides yellow, pink and white.

In another collection of flower jewelry, there is a combination of imported frosted beads and porcelain. The earrings, necklaces and bracelets come in a wide range of pastel multi-colors.

Porcelain, alone, makes summer ornaments of chalk white or dramatic red. In combinations, it may be teamed with rhinestone rondelles or with tiny silver beads. Baroque style porcelain beads may be highlighted with the sparkle of rhinestones.

Catalin, make into styles that will give your attire a lift, is available in new and exciting colors. There is a shade named pagan pink, another, "prim", in both pink and blue, and they are the pale tones. From these, the range is mauve, periwinkle, lilac, cornflower, turquoise, a v o c a d o, yellow, frosty orange, and ever so many other enticing tints. Copper, in all its rich tones, has now undergone the enameling process, and it can be found in delicate and enduring spring colors. Especially appropriate as a gift for an artist are the earbobs in the shape of a small easel; there are cuff-links to match, too. Other shapes in this metal are flowers, squares, and buttons with their matching cuff-links, pins and bracelets.

Prize Winners Among 'Personality' Babies

That smiling, twinkles-eyed young lady at the left, arm up in a gesture of delight, is the "Personality Baby" in Howard County for 1955. She's Debra Wen Robertson, awarded the title by a panel of judges who pondered long over more than 350 baby pictures submitted.

With the honor, Debra Wen receives $100 in cash, as an award from The Herald and Barr Photocenter, sponsors of the photo event. Debra Wen was 3 years old on March 6. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troyce W. Robertson, 1206 Mulberry Ave.

Ten other winners—three in each of three age classifications—were selected. They are as follows:

3 MONTHS THROUGH 18 MONTHS — First, Jon Randall Mock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Mock, 709 W. 15th. Second, Martha Zann Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lewis, 1100 E. 16th. Third, Beverly Lynn Rutenback, daughter of Mrs. B. A. Rutenback, 1305 Martin.

19 MONTHS THROUGH 3 YEARS — First, Steven Dean Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dealon Stanley, Vincent. Second, Sam Harrell Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rice, 2102 S. Monticello. Third, John H. Booher, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Booher, 1112 N. Bell.

4 AND 5 YEARS — First, Annette Felts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Felts, RFD, Vincent. Second, Kathy Lynn Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milas Wood, 1407 E. 15th. Third, Blake Tollett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tollett, 553 Hillside Drive.

Cash awards of $50 for first, $25 for second and $15 for third go to the winners of each of these three age divisions.

Parents of the winning babies are requested to stop at Barr Photocenter, 311 Rinnels, promptly, where prize checks will be ready for them.

Pictures of all babies entered in the photo event appear in pages of today's Herald, and the sponsors are proud to present such a beautiful array of young America.

Judging of the photos was done by a panel of professional and amateur photographers in Abilene. They studied the pictures without any sign of identification on any of them.

And they admitted it was an all-but-impossible task to make a

New Fabrics Transform Old Screens

A major necessity for any nursery is a sturdy screen that's easy to keep clean, to shield crib or bathinette from drafts.

It's easy to transform a dingy old screen into a gay decorative asset for baby's room, by covering it with one of the new plastic printed fabrics in whimsical nursery designs. The fabric is sold by the yard, and may be used for playpen pads, crib bumpers and other uses.

To cover a screen, measure accurately and cut two pieces of fabric for each panel, one for each side. Cut fabric about a half-inch narrower than the panels, so that they may be held firmly in place by strips of colored adhesive tape which will cover not only the edge of the fabric and rim of the screen, but will stick along the edge of each panel as well.

It's the work of only a few minutes to cut the fabric and tape in place.

Stork Club

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Guy Powers became grandparents and great-grandparents within two hours.

Their granddaughter, Mrs. Harvey Gilmore, 19, gave birth to a son in a Salem, Ore., hospital. Two hours later their daughter, Mrs. Claude D. McAllister, 40, gave birth to a girl in the same hospital.

In the course of events, Mrs. McAllister also became a grandmother, and Mrs. Gilmore got a new sister.

Baby Gift

Looking for an unusual gift for a new baby? Neatest trick of the week is a three-piece set of baby silverware—fork and two spoons—packaged with a washable doll in a zippered bunting which can be used to keep a bottle warm. Also in the package is a plastic bib for baby. The insulated doll bunting will keep a bottle warm or cool for four hours, it is said.

Mealtime Fun

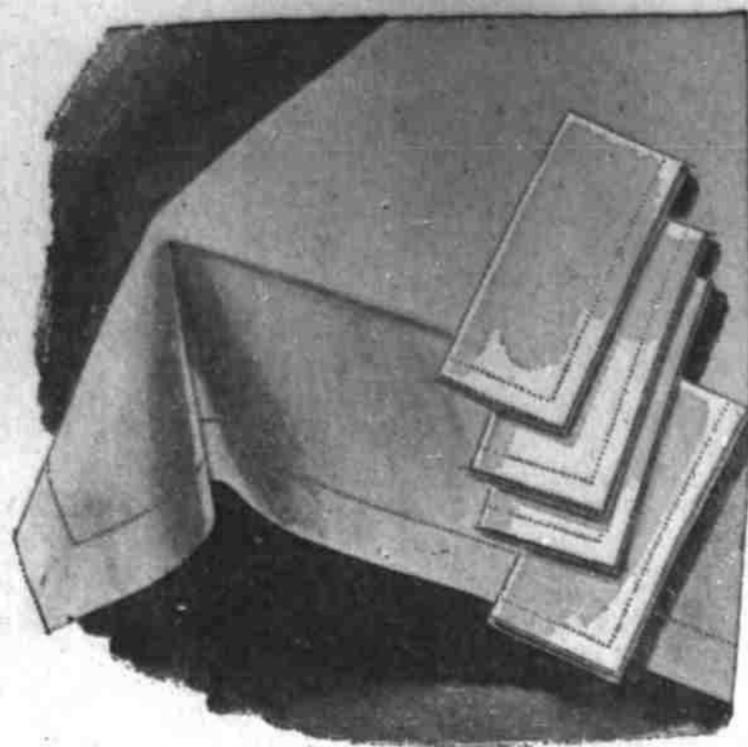

Baby can have entertainment along with his meals, with a new "Somersaultin Sam" plastic doll which can be set on a high-chair tray. The sanitary plastic doll, which always lands right side up, comes complete with a baby silver fork and spoon.

choice of ten. "Every baby in the group deserves the honor," said the chairman of the panel. "We realize, of course, that it was only our judgment that could prevail. The ten we selected, after long study, were those which appealed to us as outstanding personalities. We know that others can and will disagree. We're just sorry that we had to be limited to 10 selections."

Pretty Child Must Be Healthy And Happy

By VIVIAN BROWN
If you want your youngster to be pretty, keep her health and happy.

These pointers suggested by pediatricians will help keep any little girl or boy in the pink:

1. A well fed baby is usually in good humor. Make sure your baby is fed on time, gets enough food, and eats things that agree with her.

2. A bath is soothing and relaxing. If Baby is the nervous type who wakes at night, a bath just before sleep time will put her in the mood for a good night's sleep.

3. Wash Baby's face with lotion after a meal. Brush her hair and remove the bib. This early start in good grooming will pay off when your youngster comes of age to lead to her own clean-up chores.

4. Schedule playtime just like sleep or the bath. Some youngsters need Mother to guide them during this period, and child experts say that each child should have the benefit of Mother's individual attention for at least one hour a day. The play period is a good time.

5. A baby must be kept dry. She may show a dislike for having her diaper changed, but she'll be more unhappy wearing it wet.

6. A youngster should be distracted when you try to dress her. Hand her a toy or other object during this time or if the child is old enough to understand, talk about a proposed outing to keep her mind off the dressing chore.

7. Nails are difficult to keep clean when Baby walks around in bare feet, and that's where Mom's complexion brush comes in handy.

8. Use one of the new shampoos that will not cause the eyes to burn if shampoo dribbles in them. That way you can pour clear water over her head without bending her head back.

9. Let your youngster run around in comfort without worrying about what the neighbors think. Don't torture children with dress-up clothes. A comfortable costume for tots during warm weather is just a diaper and dry pants. New overalls of latex are attractive, have no slide fasteners, elastic or snaps.

10. Be sure that Baby gets a good night's sleep in a comfortable bed and naps on schedule during the day. Happy babies are contented, rested babies.

especially for baby

Prince Valiant IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR by Harold R. Foster

Our Story—THE WEDDING FEAST IS FAST BECOMING A REVEL, YET ALETA SITS THERE, CALM AND COOL AS AN IVORY FIGURINE. NEITHER FEAR NOR CONTEMPT DOES SHE SHOW, BUT EVERY BEAT OF HER HEART CRIES: DELAY, DELAY, DELAY!

DRAGDA KHAN DRAINS ANOTHER CUP. WILL THE LASH MAKE HER MORE ATTENTIVE TO HIM? NO, HE DECIDES, YOU DO NOT LASH A THOROUGHBREED. YET HE LONGS TO WIN HER REGARD, HER ADMIRATION.

THE TIME HAS COME TO PUT HER PLAN TO WORK. HE IS STUFFED WITH FOOD AND DRINK. SHE TURNS TO HIM AND SAYS: "IN MY COUNTRY A HERO DANCES BEFORE HIS BRIDE....."

.....FIRST THE FORMAL WARRIOR DANCE... THEN, TO SHOW HIS COURAGE AND ENDURANCE HE DEPICTS HIS SWORD PLAY, HIS VICTORIES..... BUT PERCHANCE YOU CAN NO LONGER DANCE." DRAGDA KHAN LURCHES TO HIS FEET. "BRING THE PIPES, THE DRUMS! I DANCE!"

FOR SO HUGE A MAN HE IS SURPRISINGLY LIGHT ON HIS FEET. HE SEES THE LOOK OF ADMIRATION ON ALETA'S FACE AND REDOUBLES HIS EFFORTS. SHE PRAYS THAT HE WILL COLLAPSE AND SO DELAY THE WEDDING. SHE CLAPS HER HANDS IN ENCOURAGEMENT.

SWEAT POURS DOWN HIS FLUSHED FACE. HE GASPS. THE THIN WAIL OF THE PIPES AND THE THROBBING DRUMS DRIVE HIM TO FRENZY.

NOW HIS FACE BECOMES ASHEN... IN HIS EYES A LOOK OF CHILDISH BEWILDERMENT. "MY QUEEN, MY QUEEN!" HE GASPS AND PITCHES FORWARD AT HER FEET.

NEXT WEEK—The Fight for Time.

SO THIS IS THE YOUNG LADY WHO'S BEEN TAKING HER MEALS WITH THE GOOD FAIRY?

MOST EXTRAORDINARY—MRS. PALETTE! FOR A CHILD WHO HAS NOT BEEN EATING REGULARLY—YOUR YOUNGESTER SHOWS NO SIGNS OF MALNUTRITION!

OOH—IS THAT BAD?

WHICH MEANS?

IT MEANS THAT SOMEBODY GOOD FAIRY—OR SOMEBODY ELSE—HAS BEEN FEEDING HER—AND DOING A GOOD JOB OF IT!

BUT DOCTOR, THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE! EXCEPT FOR A FEW HOURS A DAY ON THE TERRACE, B-BOMB HASN'T BEEN OUT OF THE APARTMENT FOR THE LAST SEVEN DAYS!

WELL—SOMEONE MUST BE FEEDING HER ON THE TERRACE.

IMPOSSIBLE! WE'RE ON THE TOP FLOOR!

OH NO, MOMMIE! THE GOOD FAIRY CAN COME TO OUR TERRACE WITH HER JET HEAD!

SEE? THERE SHE GOES AGAIN!

MAYBE I SHOULD TAKE MY DAUGHTER TO A PSYCHIATRIST!

OR... MAYBE YOU BOTH SHOULD GO, MADAM.

MEANWHILE IN THE CITY ROOM—

NO WONDER CIRCULATION IS AT A STANDSTILL! THE SAME STUFF!!

WHAT THE FLASH NEEDS IS A REALLY BIG STORY! NEW! EXCITING! AWE-INSPIRING, ETC. ETC.!

YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN, MR. LIVWRIGHT!

OH BROTHER! HERE WE GO AGAIN! EVERY YEAR ABOUT THIS TIME—

WHAT ARE WE SUPPOSED TO DO—BLOW UP A BRIDGE, MAYBE?

OR HOW ABOUT DISCOVERING URANIUM UNDER THE CITY DUMP?

LOOKS LIKE OUR LITTLE FEATHERED FRIENDS ARE HAVING TROUBLE!

THERE'S ANOTHER ONE OF THEM PESKY PARROTS!

WHADDYE MEAN "PARROT," STUPID? I'M A MYNAH BIRD!

HERE'S A SICKLY-LOOKING CHARACTER!

LOOK! YOU MULLET-HEADS ARE KEEPING ME FROM A VERY IMPORTANT DATE!

PECULIAR CONFORMATION FOR A PARROT!

I'VE BEEN TELLIN' YOU I'M NOT A PARROT!

Anyone Can Be a Good Parent!

I was just thinking...

... WHEN I WAS SMALL and feeling sorry for myself, I liked to imagine that I was lying cold and still, victim of a dread disease or run over by a truck.

And then my heartless family, horrified and remorseful, leaned over my casket and the salty tears dripped down on my marble brow.

It was a source of great satisfaction. I promptly slept the sleep of the angels and was equally angelic all next day.

Now that I'm grown-up, I understand it's not cricket to feel sorry for myself. When all the world turns grim and gray, I'm supposed to shoulder my cares like a soldier and march bravely off in all directions.

Somehow it hasn't worked out that way. The other day I was driving home after a rousing round of words with the boss and I was the great misunderstood heroine of all time.

As I drove, I imagined I was lying cold and still, victim of a dread disease or run over by a truck.

Richard Brauer

And then my heartless cohorts, horrified and remorseful, leaned over my casket...

I almost missed a stop light. I was three miles further along without having had any idea I was driving. It shocked me into caution.

Today is a beautiful day. The sun is shining and the birds are chortling. Not me. I'm feeling desperately sorry for myself.

I've been thinking, "I have a headache today and a pain in my toe. I have a right to be cross."

So I was cross.

I also thought, "Why doesn't something exciting happen? Why is this day just like every other day?"

So I felt abused.

I retired into a daydream. I was lying cold and still, victim of a dread disease...

I've been brought up with a jolt. You know who was leaning over my casket? I was!

HOW TO LIVE WITH TEEN-AGERS

I am a fairly normal mother of two very normal teen-age boys, 15 and 17. Instead of letting them drive me crazy, I've decided to enjoy them and take them in stride from day to day. And it is a day-to-day proposition, this rearing teen-agers, loving them, laughing with them, crying over them, and understanding them.

Today we parents are fortunate in that many teen-agers feel at ease around us. Why, at times they even want to bring their dates over to the house after the movies to watch TV for an hour or two. So let's let them do it. Let's be at home when they bring their friends in. Let's give them sandwiches and hot chocolate and make them feel at home. Most of all, let's trust them! They're young but once, so let's make it clean, happy fun for all.—Mrs. Dennett Rainey, Tallahassee, Fla.

Apt Advertisement

A retired minister, hoping to continue his service to mankind and at the same time replenish his family funds, began selling tombstones and monuments. For a time business was slow, and the minister was getting discouraged.

Then along came Summer and with it his young grandson, a college student. The two of them discussed ways and means for enlarging the business. The grandson, a firm believer in advertising, suggested placing a highway sign near the minister's home with these words on it:

"If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink; if you drink and drive, see the Rev. Alton Q. Smith for tombstones and monuments of all kinds."—Mrs. Jennie C. Laney, New Boston, Texas.

Strategy of a Birthday Party

Getting preschool children to arrive on time at a birthday party poses no problem, but ushering them out when the fun's over can be a real challenge.

A simple bit of strategy worked well at my five-year-old daughter's recent birthday party. When it appeared time to end the festivities while the little guests were still on speaking terms, I presented each one with a "loot bag." I told them that as soon as they had their wraps on, they were to line up at the door to receive a surprise to take home.

Quick as a wink they donned their things, hurried to the door, and were elated to receive a little wrapped gift to be opened when they arrived home.—I. S. B., Corvair, N.Y.

Eye Opener on a Bus Ride

I used to be one of those irritable, impatient persons, always grumbling and nagging if things didn't work out just the way I wanted.

Then last winter a little incident changed my attitude.

I had taken a business trip to a distant city by bus. On the way home a bad snowstorm prolonged the trip. The driver, who was supposed to be at the wheel only eight hours, already had put in 12 hours of very difficult driving. Many of the passengers, cross and impatient, nagged him constantly. Then one old lady went up to him and complimented him on his expert driving under such harassing conditions.

That one little compliment raised the driver's spirits tremendously, and it made me feel ashamed. Now I speak kindly to people whenever I can, and their warm smiles are a wonderful reward.—Mrs. Neamah Nelson, Albert Lea, Miss.

A Mother's Advice to Her Children

"You can't marry someone you haven't met!" is a saying my mother 'put in the minds of her children as soon as we were in our teens. A cynical point of view? It might seem so, but only on the surface. And it had very little to do with "catching a husband."

Usually my sisters and I were too busy with normal teen-age pursuits to pay much attention to the reminder. But now we know it was an admonition to stir us out of comfortable ruts.

It cautioned us that it's all right to rest for a time in the familiar and easy; but force yourself to prepare for that new job which now seems unattainable; or tackle something as simple as going to that party where you're apt to meet new people with interests different from your own. There's always a chance you'll meet just the person or circumstance that will change your life.

We learned to expose ourselves to "marriage" with new people, new ideas, new experiences. Whether it's a husband or just a tip about a book you've never read, when you get out and about, you're apt to "catch" all manner of good things.—Sylvia Schumacher, Sarasota, Fla.

You don't need a college degree in psychology to raise a family properly.

STANDING AMID a litter of toys, laundry, and movie magazines, a harassed mother sighed: "Dear me! I wish one of those child psychologists were here now. I'd like to see him manage these kids!"

That's a common lament, but actually, do you need a shelf of books, a college degree, and a course in psychology to raise a family properly?

"No!" agree two of America's foremost authorities on family problems. They are Dr. Freda S. Kehm, director of the Association for Family Living, currently in its 30th year of service to Chicago families; and Dr. Raymond E. Robertson, superintendent of the world's oldest and largest child-guidance clinic, the Institute for Juvenile Research of the Department of Public Welfare, Chicago.

"If you try to become an amateur psychologist and digest all the theories," they say, "you'll not only get an inferiority complex—you'll get more confused than before. Just follow a few basic principles and you'll do as well as the next family."

Thus, anyone can be a good parent! Here are the broad guideposts to keep in mind, based on findings of the specialists:

1. Don't try to be perfect parents all the time.

"If only angels could raise children, none of us would be parents," says a publication of the Children's Bureau in Washington. "Youngsters sense your good will when you try. That, plus their own sturdiness, carries them on in their growth."

So don't expect easy success all the time. You'll only get discouraged and try too hard.

2. Be consistent.

There's trouble ahead for an umpire who calls an outside pitch a ball once and a strike the next time. The same goes for parents.

"A child needs to find very early that life is predictable," warns Dr. Kehm. "He wants to know what the limits are on his behavior, and if they constantly change he'll never feel secure. If you say your son has to stay indoors today, stick with it. Otherwise, you're building trouble for the future."

This doesn't mean being dogmatic—perpetuating errors just to be consistent—but toddlers and teen-agers alike need to know what to expect.

3. Don't take it out on the kids.

Recently a cartoon showed the boss starting the day by yelling at his assistant. The ill will was passed along through secretaries, elevator operators, and bus drivers until an innocent son got spanked—and he compensated by kicking the dog.

Don't make your child a scapegoat because things aren't going well. "Try to be well-adjusted yourself," advises Dr. Robertson. "A child often has no problems worse than problem parents."

4. Have right outlook on discipline.

"Discipline should be a positive thing, not a form of punishment," according to Dr. Kehm.

Dr. Raymond E. Robertson

Juvenile Research

Dr. Freda S. Kehm
Association for Family Living

Whether you discipline with an occasional paddling, withdrawing of TV or other privileges, or by reasoning with a child, the main thing is to communicate the orderly limits you're setting.

"In general, parents should do what they're most comfortable in doing," said Dr. Robertson. "In disciplining a child, it is important that he understand your reason for disciplining him and that the discipline take place at the time the child errs."

What Dr. Kehm calls "natural punishment" is one method of approach. If a boy dawdles until he's likely to be late for school, she suggests that, instead of nagging him, let him be late and face the consequences of reality. And instead of simply refusing your boy permission to go outdoors, it's better to explain: "I can't let you go out, Bobby, because it's cold. I understand how disappointed you are, and I'm sorry. We'll see about it tomorrow, huh?"

Don't fret about a child's occasional tears or harsh words. Children, like adults, need an outlet for feelings of hostility. A safety valve is normal. "The theme of a symphony is more important than the variations," in Dr. Robertson's opinion. "If there is love and consistency in the home, and children have a sense of belonging, isolated little incidents are soon forgotten."

5. Remember, children pass through "stages."

Don't worry if your child tears up magazines, litters his room, utters a "wise" retort, or seems to prefer his pals to his parents. It's probably part of the "stage" he's passing through. These phases—which don't occur at the same age in every child—are more or less typical and you should recognize them:

First, the newborn baby is testing the "unknown" world to see if it's trustworthy. So his actions reflect a hunger for love, assurance that his bodily needs will be met, and an over-all feeling of trust in the world.

Second, after the first year or so, babies want as much leeway as possible to test their bodies. In their own way they want to use paints, water, sand, blocks, or dolls, and they'll even say "no" when they mean "yes," just to assert themselves.

Third, from about their third through their fifth year, they show more initiative—puncturing screens, splattering walls, breaking dishes—trying to show what they can do.

They may boast, call you names, ask the eternal "why," and insist on trying to go their own way. So don't rush them too much ("come along, we haven't time to play now"), scold them too hard ("if you rip one more magazine, I'll . . ."), or make their little projects look silly.

Fourth, about their sixth year when they enter school, they attempt to get really good at something—roller skating, playing jacks, working a yo-yo. Later the collection stage sets in (bugs, marbles, stamps). School is a terrific adjustment, so don't nag them about being dumb or laggart. Instead, encourage them.

Fifth, as adolescence begins around the 13th year, a child reaches perhaps the touchiest stage. He wants to find himself, act grown-up, and have decisions discussed with him. He needs challenging activities, sensible and patient counseling on sex and dating, as much relaxation of "childish" rules as possible, and help in finding his "place in the sun."

6. If you need outside help, seek it in time.

When should you consult a psychologist or psychiatrist?

"When the parent feels he's exhausted all his resources in solving a problem, then it's time to seek help," stressed Dr. Robertson. "Child-guidance clinics and family-service agencies throughout the country are staffed with people who have been trained to help families and children when problems become severe."

Where should you seek help?

Contact your city's Welfare Council or, in small towns, the nearest office of your State Mental Health Society. Teachers or preachers often can't help at this stage. If you're near a large consulting clinic like the Institute for Juvenile Research, ask there about your problems.

"Take time to be a parent," urges Dr. Kehm. "Understand your child's emotional needs. Try to have warm, friendly relationships at home, with the child an integral part of it all. Accept him as he is at the stage he's in. Give him the protection he needs. Release him as he grows up so he may have friends of his own. Don't push him too far too fast."

Those are the ground rules. Learn how they fit your family, and you'll be a good parent!

The Royal Family of GOLF

by Martin Abramson

The fabulous Turnesa brothers have made history by winning every U. S. and British title in their chosen sport.

IN THE SCIOTO Golf Course clubhouse in Columbus, Ohio, the great Bobby Jones was being interviewed by reporters after coming from behind to win the 1926 U. S. Open by a single stroke over a virtually unknown opponent. Jones told the newspapermen, "From now on, you're going to hear a lot more about Turnesa."

Jones' remark was probably the most prophetic he has ever made. For the last 28 years, no golf season in America has failed to find a Turnesa prominently in the spotlight.

There are seven golfing Turnesas—Phil, 54; Joe (the runner-up to Jones), 49; Mike, 43; Doug, 40; Jim, 39, and Willie, 38. Frank, the second brother, died recently but his place has been taken by Joe, Jr. All the Turnesas are top players and teachers. Between them, they have won two U. S. Amateur titles, the Professional Golfers Association championship, the British Professional Championship, the British Amateur, and many other im-as a caddy and got after-school jobs for Phil and Frank at the swank club. Later, Joe, too, became a part-time caddy and ball chaser, but he preferred hitting balls and took to playing the back holes of the course surreptitiously. He was picked up four times and charged with trespassing. Finally, J. R. Inglis, the club pro, heard about Joe.

"Any boy who wants to play that badly ought to get a helping hand instead of being locked up," Inglis said, and became Joe's protector and tutor. Then, one by one, as the Turnesa boys came of age, they started to caddy, then became special assistant to Inglis. The pro also helped sponsor them when they were ready for tournament play.

Even Willie, who is in business and plays only sporadically, has won three U.S. championships.

The relationship between the golfing Turnesas has been described as "so close it's adhesive." "They're not only brothers, they're the closest of friends," says Mrs. Joe Turnesa. "One of them won't make a move without the other." It is a ritual for the Turnesas to get together on week ends and to go to church en masse, continuing the devout tradition of their parents. For several years, Joe has been the pro at Grossinger's in upstate New York, but he flies to the family conclaves in a helicopter!

The all-for-one spirit applies particularly to the Turnesas' golfing habits. Whenever one brother leaves for a tournament, the others give him last-minute advice and coaching tips. Once the tournament starts, however, there are no phone calls, wires, or letters of encouragement. "If one of us received a telegram or call he might interpret it to mean we're satisfied with what he's done so far, and let up," says Phil Turnesa. "No news from the family means 'Keep going!'"

Most golfers know better than to get into an argument with a Turnesa. "Start with one and you've got an army on your neck," they tell you. Once, during a Westchester tournament, a golfer criticized Mike's putting. "I've never apologized so fast in my life," the golfer said later. "If I hadn't, I'd have wound up in the nearest water hazard!" Late that night, the seventh Turnesa, playing a Cleveland tournament, called the golfer and gave him a long-distance tongue-lashing.

Papa Turnesa, now 80 and still a greenskeeper at the Fairview course, has followed his sons' careers with enormous pride. When they play in local tournaments, he joins the gallery and follows the play, no matter how badly his feet hurt.

Until recently, the only member of golfdom's royal family who was disinterested and unimpressed was Mama. She has never seen a golf match and has never held a club in her hand. She rarely leaves the house and her life has been devoted to her family and her church. But Mama Turnesa's attitude toward golf changed a few years ago, when Willie came home after winning the British Amateur championship. He was given a Broadway ticker-tape parade, but Mama really got excited when an official said that the Turnesas' prowess in international competition made them great American ambassadors of good will.

"My sons ambassadors?" Mama exclaimed, "That's better than being professional men!"

The famous golfing Turnesas pose with Mrs. Jennie Grossinger, country club owner, and her son Paul (on her right). Brothers are Mike, Willie, Jim, Phil, Joe, Frank (now deceased), and Doug.

portant tournaments. They are the only family who were ever represented on both the U. S. Ryder and Walker Cup teams.

The success of the Turnesas at golf is all the more remarkable when you consider that they came into the game literally through the back door.

Back in 1889, a 16-year-old orphan named Vitale Turnesa emigrated to America from Italy and settled in a Manhattan tenement. In 1902 when his wife became ill, the doctor advised Turnesa to move to the country. So Vitale left his job as railroad porter, built a small house in the tiny farming village of Elmsford, N. Y., and went to work as a laborer at the Fairview Country Club.

To support his family, Vitale worked evenings

Genius Gets a Chance

by R. J. Burke

Out of the tragic death of little Steven Epstein has come a memorial fund that is helping develop the artistic talents of America's youth

STEVEN DAVID EPSTEIN was a bright-eyed lad who, like most six-year-old boys, had a keen imagination and a love of adventure. Coming home from school one raw February afternoon, Stevie and two young friends stopped to play "Cowboys and Indians." Stevie fancied that he spotted Redskins in the woods across a thinly frozen lagoon. He stalked out after them, but halfway across the ice cracked, broke, and gave way.

Out of the bitter tragedy of Stevie's death, his parents, Julius and Nancy Epstein, decided to do something to help other boys. Thus was created the Steven David Epstein Memorial Foundation. Its purpose: to provide funds for training underprivileged boys with unusual talents in the arts, dramatics, music, and crafts.

The Foundation is administered by the Boys' Clubs of America, an organization devoted to helping needy boys without regard to race, creed, or color. About 400,000 boys are members of the 400 local Boys' Clubs scattered throughout the United States, and any of them is eligible for an Epstein scholarship. When a boy is chosen, he is sent to the outstanding local school in his particular field, and his training program is planned so that it will not interfere with his regular school work. His award includes tuition, fees, textbooks, materials, even his carfare.

So far, the Epstein Foundation has helped about 75 talented youngsters. But there are many other talented, underprivileged youngsters who need to be discovered and assisted. As Epstein, a Chicago real-estate operator, explains: "At a thousand crossroads of America, God-given genius may wither and die unrecognized unless it can be found and developed." In a small but important way, the Steven David Epstein Foundation is helping to give young genius a chance.

Real-estate operator Julius Epstein chats with Lys Croft of Dubuque, Iowa, who received Epstein award.

Another Epstein scholarship winner is Philip Schein of Asbury Park, N. J., a very talented young pianist.

Entertaining his young friends with his accordion playing is award winner Bill Volpe of Providence, R. I.

David Baiso, Santa Barbara, Calif., gets art training through the fund created in memory of Epstein's son.

New Uses for the Versatile Tape Recorder

by Norman Sklarewitz

AFTER RUNNING UP a whopping long-distance phone bill so the proud grandparents could talk to his two-year-old son, a Cleveland father looked around for a cheaper means of communication. Instead of coaxing the boy to say, "Hello, Grampa, hello Gramma," while toll charges mounted, he bought a tape recorder.

Now he turns on the machine when Junior is at his babbling best and mails the spool of tape to the old folks.

Such ingenuity is part of the reason why sales of magnetic recorders set new records in 1954. There seems to be no end to new uses for the device:

... Clergymen record sermons on tape for playback to shut-ins and hospitalized members of their churches.

... Salesmen and engineers send detailed reports to their home office on tape.

... Police departments tape questioning of prisoners. The playback often reveals flaws in the suspect's story which usually lead to confessions.

... Motion-picture studios use tape for most sound tracks, including the new multiple-tracks for Cinerama and Cinemascope.

... Radio programs and record makers rely on tape for quick editing and top fidelity.

Probably the widest use of tape today is in our schools, because teachers were quick to utilize a device that permits records to be made easily and then "erased" for reuse.

Here again the range of uses is almost without limit. Students in speech correction classes are helped to overcome defects by studying sounds recorded especially for them by their teacher. In language classes, students hear conversations in the foreign tongue, then record their own efforts for playback and study. Public-speaking and music students use the same technique for self-improvement.

And now the versatile machines are winning a place in the home as an entertainment medium. Camera fans, for example, can add sound to their home movies by recording a commentary and dialogue. The tape and film are then run simultaneously to produce excellent "sound movies."

Part of the popularity of tape recorders for home entertainment stems from their simplicity and economy. A spool of tape can be magnetically "erased" and used over and over again. As many as 10,000 recording cycles have been made on a single reel with little loss of quality.

Up to two hours of recordings can be put on a spool of tape. And if you want to edit it, the tape can be cut with a scissors and joined again with ordinary transparent tape.

Childhood events like birthday parties, early attempts at piano playing, recitations, and songs are recorded and become irreplaceable mementoes. Teen-agers record hit tunes from the radio to play back for dancing.

It was a tape recorder, too, that solved the problem of a Florida mother who wanted to make sure her son practiced his piano lessons after school while she was away. The boy had to record a one-hour spool of scales and lessons for later playback before he bolted out to his baseball game.

THE ZEST OF

Citrus

Let's expand the wonderful flavor and sunny goodness of citrus fruit from its familiar orchard-to-breakfast position to new, tasty, colorfully exciting dishes for every meal of the day. Here's flavor, color, and good health!

Serve refreshing lemonade in tall, narrow, frosted glasses.

Lemonade Delight

Base Recipe

Put into a small saucepan having a tight-fitting cover

1½ cups sugar
1 cup water

Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Cover, bring to boiling, and boil 5 min. Remove from heat and set aside to cool.

Prepare, mix, and chill

2 cups (about 12 lemons) lemon juice
½ cup (about 2 oranges) orange juice
1½ tablespoons grated lemon peel (grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

When the sirup is cooled, blend with fruit juices and grated peel. Cover and store in refrigerator until ready to use.

To serve, put into tall glasses

Ice cubes, shaved or crushed ice
Add about ¼ cup of the lemon sirup to each glass. Fill glasses with

Cold water
Stir until blended. Garnish with

Lemon and/or orange slices
About 8 servings

Springtime Lemonade

Follow Base Recipe. Wash and cut off stem ends and leaves from 1 lb. rhubarb. Cut rhubarb into 2-in. pieces and put into a 2-qt. saucepan having a tight-fitting cover. Add ¼ cup water, cover, and cook slowly about 15 min., or until rhubarb is very tender. When rhubarb is tender, drain in sieve, pressing rhubarb firmly against sieve with back of spoon to completely remove juice. Add 2 tablespoons sugar to rhubarb juice and stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Add sweetened rhubarb juice to the lemon sirup and serve as directed in Base Recipe.

Grapefruit Cake

Grease bottom of 1½-qt. ring mold.

Sift together and set aside

2 cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda

Put into a bowl and cream together

½ cup shortening
1½ tablespoons grated grapefruit peel (grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

Add gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition

½ cup sugar
Beat until thick and piled softly

2 eggs
1 egg yolk

Add in thirds to the creamed mixture, beating thoroughly after each addition.

Prepare

½ cup plus 2 tablespoons grapefruit juice

Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths, grapefruit juice in thirds to the creamed mixture. Finally beat only until batter is smooth (do not overbeat). Turn batter into the greased mold.

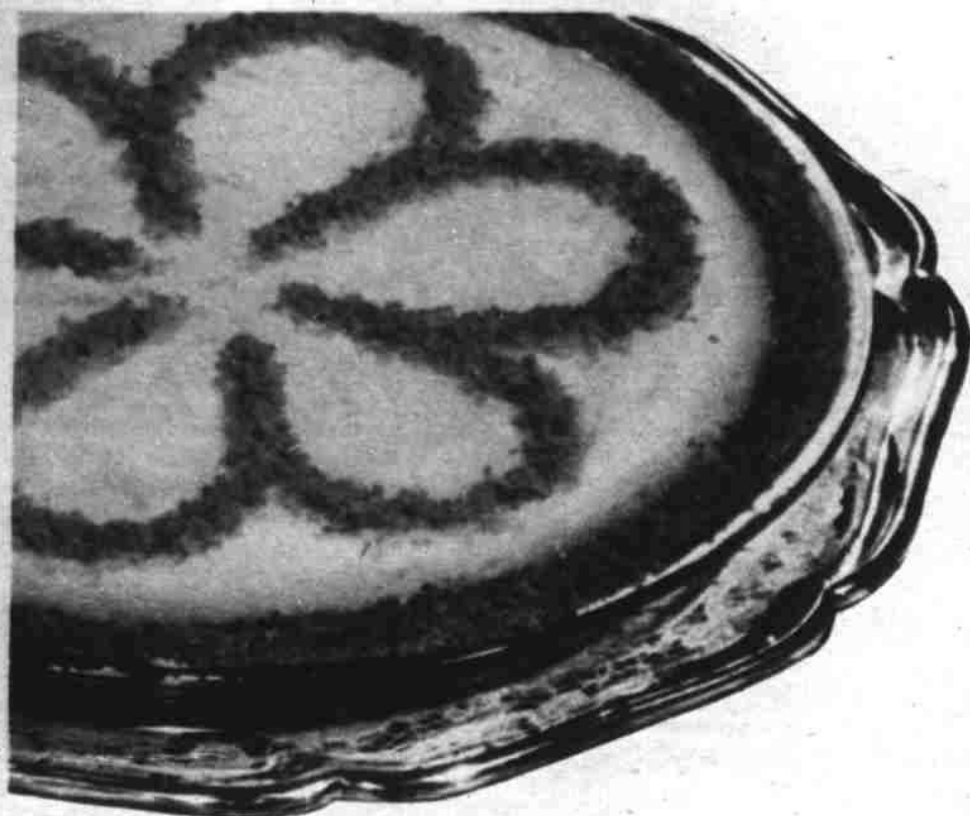

Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until a cake tester or wooden pick comes out clean when inserted in center of cake, or until cake springs back when lightly touched at center.

Cool cake 10 min. in mold on cooling rack, then run spatula gently around sides of mold. Cover with cooling rack. Invert and remove pan; cool cake completely.

"The Zest of Citrus" is the taste-tempting secret of this luscious refrigerator pie.

Orange-Marlow Refrigerator Pie

Set out a 9-in. pie pan.

For Graham-Cracker Crust—Place on a long length of heavy waxed paper

22 to 24 graham crackers

Loosely fold paper around crackers, tucking under open ends. With a rolling pin, gently crush crackers to make fine crumbs (about 1½ cups crumbs). Or place crackers in a plastic bag and gently crush. Turn crumbs into a medium-size bowl. Stir in

¼ cup sugar

½ teaspoon salt

Using a fork or pastry blender, evenly blend with the crumbs

¼ cup butter or margarine, softened

Reserving 2 tablespoons of the crumb mixture for topping, turn remainder of crumb mixture into the pie pan. Using back of spoon, press crumb mixture very firmly into an even layer on bottom and sides of the pie pan. Level edges of pie shell.

Bake at 375°F. 8 min. Cool thoroughly before filling.

For Pie Filling—Set a small bowl and beater in refrigerator to chill.

Heat together in the top of a double boiler over simmering water, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are dissolved

22 (½ lb.) marshmallows

1 cup strained orange juice

1 tablespoon lemon juice

Set mixture aside to cool slightly.

When mixture is slightly cooled, place in refrigerator to chill until mixture becomes slightly thicker.

A few minutes before marshmallow mixture is of desired consistency, using the chilled bowl and beater, beat until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly)

½ cup chilled whipping cream

Blend the whipped cream with the marshmallow mixture. Pour into the prepared pie shell. Sprinkle the reserved crumb mixture over top of pie to form a decorative pattern (see color photo).

Set pie in refrigerator to chill until firm.

Citrus Unlimited

Meals mean more to us when they are nutritious as well as eye-appealing. Use citrus fruits generously and imaginatively in all phases of food preparation. Here are suggestions for ways they may be included in all courses of the menu.

Kumquat Hors d'Oeuvres—Lovely to look at and lively on the palate. To prepare these tempting hors d'oeuvres, remove the kumquat leaves; rinse and dry the fruit. From the bottom of each kumquat cut and discard a thin slice to form a level base. To form the flower, use the tip of a narrow, sharp-pointed knife to outline the shapes of four petals. Start at the top of the kumquat and mark down to ½ in. from base. Cut on the marked outline—just through the peel—and gently pull the peel away from the fruit, spreading the "petals" to form the opened flower. To decorate, soften cream cheese and tint with green food coloring. (Dip tip of a wooden pick into food coloring, then into cream cheese.) Force the cheese through a pastry bag and a No. 27 decorating tube onto the end of the fruit, forming a tiny rosette.

A Jewel Cocktail—Add sparkle to your table setting with this cocktail. To prepare, cut small cubes of firmly set gelatin (use several colors, if you wish).

Fill clear 4-oz. glasses with chilled citrus fruit juice. Add 2 or 3 teaspoonfuls of the gelatin cubes to each glass.

Citrus Shrubs Moderne—Fill clear 4- to 6-oz. glasses with citrus fruit juice (or a mixture of citrus juices). Float a small scoopful of one of the tantalizing citrus sherbets on each serving.

A Sunshine Salad—Arrange a bed of curly endive on a chilled salad plate. Top with alternate sections of chilled orange and/or grapefruit and slices of avocado. Drizzle with French dressing.

Salad Dressing—Substitute lemon juice for vinegar when preparing French dressing, and then just taste the difference in flavor!

A Main-Course Salad or Dessert—Destined for praise: a medley of fruits piled into a pineapple shell (prepared by cutting the pineapple lengthwise through the spiny top, removing the fruit and discarding the core). Sprinkle a few drops of lime juice over the fruit and top each serving with scoopfuls of one of the sherbets, choosing one that will accentuate or complement the flavor of the fruits. Garnish the rim of the pineapple with a thin slice of lime at either end.

Citrus-Frosted Rolls—Before you pop the next batch of yeast rolls into the oven, top each one with a cube of sugar that has been dipped into orange or lemon juice to form a self-icing.

Main-Dish Pointers—A ham slice studded with cloves, topped with a brown-sugar-and-mustard mixture, and baked in orange juice is especially delicious. (Be sure to baste several times during the baking period.) Orange sauce or gravy is the natural-born accompaniment for roast duckling. And Lemon-Parley Butter is the classic accompaniment for fish. Or garnish fish or shellfish with lemon wedges so that the tangy juice can be drizzled over the servings at the table. For a flavor bonus, add a bit of grated citrus peel or a dash of juice to a ground-meat mixture.

Garnish Glamour—Slices of citrus fruit cut into fancy shapes add glamour as well as garnish to soup, meats, or beverages. Lemons or limes, cut into halves and pulp removed, make charming little sauce cups and double as gay garnishes. A flash of grated peel adds flair to a frosted cake.

A Dessert Delight—Pack grapefruit halves or whole oranges with tops removed (pulp removed) one-third full with ice cream. Pack Grapefruit Sherbet in grapefruit halves and Creamy Orange Sherbet in oranges, filling to tops; freeze. Just before serving, cover sherbet generously with meringue (swirled faintly over the top), and put under the broiler with top of meringue about 3 in. from source of heat, until meringue is lightly browned.

Chocolate-Coated Peel—To prepare this delightful confection, partially melt candy-making chocolate over simmering water. Remove from heat and stir until completely melted. Coat a few pieces of candied orange peel or grapefruit peel at a time and place on a rack over waxed paper to drain.

A Surprise Package for Party Time—Cut oranges into halves and scoop out the pulp. Pack half of orange cups with orange sherbet and remaining halves with a different sherbet. Put two matching halves with different fillings together and freeze. To serve, tie a becoming ribbon around each; pile on a dolly-lined platter or in a deep bowl and let guests help themselves.

Some Citrus How-To's—To section grapefruit or oranges, cut away peel from the fruit with a sharp knife. Remove sections by cutting on either side of dividing membrane over a bowl to save juice. Remove and discard seeds, if any. To serve grapefruit or orange halves, cut fruit into halves. With a grapefruit knife, or sharp paring knife, loosen each section by cutting down along either side of dividing membranes and around outer skin. Do not remove fibrous center.

Don't be "old" before your time!

It's the hide-bound, rock-bound refusal to accept new things that often "ages" a woman

Invitation to a Prom

by Allyn Rice

SOME OF THE NICEST things about Spring are proms. And some of the nicest things about proms are glamour clothes. Exquisite ball gowns are a frothy blend of femininity and sophistication. Young men look so attractively debonair in well-tailored tuxedos. This kind of gala traditional dress contributes a special excitement to proms, helping them to become memories of a lifetime.

TV Comes to Tyonek

With a 21-inch television set aboard her dog sled, Carolee Novak of Hollywood mashes from airstrip to Tyonek, Alaska, a tiny Indian village which was awarded the set because of its isolated location.

TYONEK, Alaska, isn't the most modern community in the world. The only bathtub in the town hasn't been working for years; the schoolhouse is the only building with electric lights, and drinking water must be carried from a spring nearly half a mile away. But Tyonek does have television.

The tiny Indian village (population 110) recently was selected by a TV-set manufacturer as the most isolated community within receiving range of Anchorage, where the two northernmost TV stations are located. The company furnished the TV set, and Art Linkletter's "People Are Funny" program supplied a pretty young blonde to present it to the Indian chief of the village.

The day the set flickered on was probably the greatest day in the history of Tyonek, for most of its citizens had never even heard of the electronic marvel called television.

The villagers marveled when the set was turned on, for most of them had never heard about television.

Chickalusan, 78-year-old village chieftain, meets Miss Novak and thanks her for the wonderful gift.

Industry's Good-Will Ambassador

Preaching prosperity to the free world is the self-appointed task of Harlow H. Curtice, dynamic president of General Motors.

by Robert Fitzgibbon

WHEN Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, was in Copenhagen on a recent European visit, he met the Danish prime minister, the late Hans Hedtoft. Curtice was explaining the U. S. economic outlook in glowing terms. When he finished, the prime minister said, "You're an optimist."

"An optimist," returned the GM president, "backed by facts and figures."

And that's a pretty apt self-description of the man who heads the biggest business in the world. Affable, ruddy-faced "Red" Curtice does speak enthusiastically of peace and prosperity. But he speaks that way not just to sell automobiles, but out of a deep conviction that we can and will enjoy ever-increasing prosperity. He speaks with an authority derived from 40 years' experience in the giant automotive industry. And he backs up his words with deeds.

At the beginning of 1954, many business leaders were eyeing the future cautiously, even fearfully. But not Red Curtice. He gave the entire U. S. economy a shot in the arm by announcing a huge GM expansion program. Last Fall he did the same thing in Europe. He visited England, Belgium, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, and France, and announced a $182,000,000 program to expand GM facilities there.

During his one-month stay in Europe, Curtice created good will for America everywhere he went. He visited factories, talked with workers, met the press, answered questions, and liberally disbursed his favorite commodity—optimism. He was hailed everywhere for his sincerity and friendly humor.

To the 61-year-old GM president, the future of America and the free world is nothing but bright. And he should know—he's helping make it that way!

While announcing GM's $182-million expansion program in Europe, Curtice talked with hundreds of workers there.

Throughout Western Europe, "Red" Curtice was hailed for his demonstration of confidence in the future of the free world. In Paris he posed with the experimental Firebird, America's first gas-turbine car.

DESIGN FOR DINING in Style

by Ruth W. Lee, Home-Furnishings Consultant

THE RECENT Home Furnishings Market in Chicago spotlighted contemporary and provincial designs in dining-room furniture. Their good lines and natural-toned wood finishes fit in handsomely with today's interiors.

Contemporary styles are scaled for the smaller modern quarters. Drop-leaf and oblong expansible tables serve dinettes and dining rooms. Buffets and room dividers for living-dining areas provide extra space for storage purposes.

Early American designs faithfully copied in natural maple feature Colonial brass hardware or round wooden knobs for drawer pulls. Captain's chairs or simple side chairs with turned legs combine with round drop-leaf tables. These provincial styles have a youthful appeal that is particularly appropriate to small ranch homes.

Easy-to-move hostess cart narrow enough to whisk through a doorway has an 18x36" top.

Serving area of step-saving cart is doubled when lower shelf is raised flush to top one.

Contemporary natural walnut oblong or drop-leaf extension table shares informal lines with buffet, divider, and chairs. By Mengel.

Junior Treasure Chest

Edited by Marjorie Barrows
Editor of The Chicago Year

Junior Journalists

Dear Miss Barrows:

I have a small brown and white dog named Smokey. I'd like to tell you how she got her name.

My father is a fireman and he got her at a fire. The house burned down and she was the only one of the puppies that lived. She had her nose in the chimney for air and was all black. When we washed her, she turned white, but her name is still the same — "Smokey."

Your friend,
Fred Fletcher, Jr.
Carmel, Conn.

Aged 8

Dear Miss Barrows:

This summer Daddy and I went to Virginia to visit my aunt and uncle. We rode up there on a big bus. There are many wonderful sights to see on the way.

The day after we got there my uncle took us to Yorktown. There are so many interesting sights to see—old guns, models of ships, many things made of whale meat, and even some of the canoes the Indians used years ago!

We saw the York monument, representing the 13 colonies, and also a place where a great battle was fought. We saw the old cannons that they shot with. It would take you a day to see all of these things.

From there we went to Williamsburg, the old colonial city of Virginia. On the way we saw the beautiful James River. The bridge across the river is five miles long.

In Williamsburg the people dress as they did in colonial days. We went inside the old Bruton Parish Church and sat in the seat where John Tyler worshipped. George Washington's great-grandmother is buried inside the church. It is the oldest Episcopal Church in continuous use in the United States today.

We also saw where they used to hang people in olden days. I got many post cards and books about Williamsburg. There are so many things to see here. We didn't have time to see half of it.

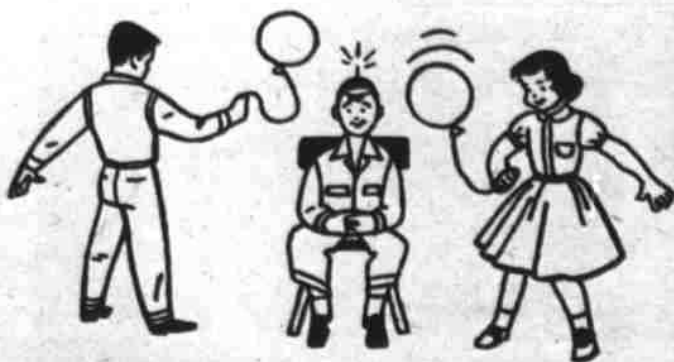

This is the grandest trip I have ever taken. It was very interesting and educational.

Love,

Rebecca Smith

Break-A-Balloon!

Suzie Snider

Seat one player on a kitchen chair, and give him a cap to wear with a pin stuck up through the center so it sticks out on top.

Each of the other players is given a balloon with a one-and-a-half-foot string tied to it, and the group is divided into two teams. One player from each team, holding the balloon by the end of its string, tries to hit the pin and break his balloon. When he does, the next man on the team steps up for his turn, and so on through all the players until one team has finished and won the relay.

Scrambled Creatures

Bess A. Lee

If you like to draw, you will enjoy playing this game. Two or three persons take turns at drawing the different parts of the creatures, and it's fun to see what funny-looking things you have when they are finished. All you need is a strip of paper about four inches wide, and pencils. The first player draws the head at the top of the paper. It may be a human head or any kind of an animal head. None of the other players should be allowed to see what has been drawn until the whole picture has been completed, so the paper is folded over as in Figure 1, covering the picture of the head but allowing the lines of the neck to extend below the fold. This shows the next player where to join on the body. A body is drawn by the next player and folded over as before. The lines for the legs show below the fold. There the feet are drawn, and the last player unfolds the picture.

Why The Catholic Church Says "INVESTIGATE!"

Probably not more than a handful of people hate the Catholic Church as it really is.

But many have heard anti-Catholic calumnies from sources they have been taught to respect, and have come to fear and suspect the Church as it has been falsely represented to them.

It is hardly reasonable to believe that 25 millions of Americans would remain in the Catholic Church if the rumors circulated against the Church are true. Nor would thousands of others become Catholics every year if they believed such things—without inquiring into the facts.

That is why the Catholic Church says again and again to people everywhere: "Investigate! Investigate!"

The Church makes this appeal not merely to settle an argument, nor primarily to win the good-will of the non-Catholic people, although this is a hoped-for result.

Its more important aim is to invite people to inquire into Christ's truth as taught and preserved by the Catholic Church down through the centuries. For no man, seeking the salvation of his own soul, can conscientiously discount the Catholic claim to be Christ's Church on the basis of mere rumor and slander when the truth is so readily at hand.

The Catholic Church therefore invites you to inquire into its teaching and practices... to find out for yourself if what you believe about the Church is true or false.

Learn for yourself, for instance, if it is true that Catholics give divine worship to Mary, the Mother of Christ... or if this is not just another calumny. If you have been led to believe that Catholics worship idols and statues... buy and sell the divine worship of the Mass... are opposed to the religious freedom granted all religions by our Bill of Rights, then you have been deceived and misled.

If you have harbored these or any other false beliefs about the Catholic Church and its teachings... and if, above all, such misunderstanding has kept you from examining the Catholic claim to be the Church established by Christ Himself... you owe it to yourself in good conscience to seek the truth.

We shall be glad to send you free on request, a booklet dealing with the points mentioned here and many others... including the attitude of the Church toward Birth Control... secret societies... the salvation of non-Catholics... why Catholic priests are called "Father"... the Inquisition and the alleged goings-on-behind convent walls. It will come in a plain wrapper—and nobody will call on you. Write today for your copy of Pamphlet FM-7.

Do It Yourself

Repair Your Own Screens

by Charles Ballenger

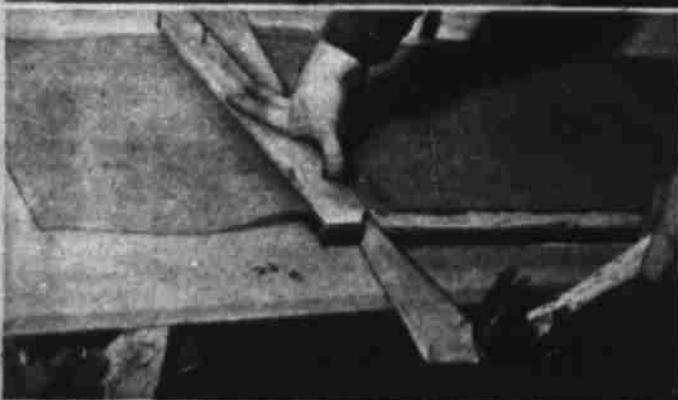

1 Pry off moldings and remove old screen. Cut new screening to size with tin snips and, for both methods shown, fasten one end to the top rail with $\frac{3}{4}$ " cloth staples. Use copper staples with stainless steel, bronze and plastic screening; galvanized steel staples with aluminum and steel-wire screening.

2 In this stretching method, place a board 4" wide and as long as the screen's width against the bottom rail. Place screening over board and tilt up to 45-degree angle. Tack screening to upper edge of board but don't drive staples all the way in. Push board flat and hold down to pull screening taut.

3 In the second method, nail a board to the working surface about a half-inch from the bottom rail. Lay screening over this board and hold in place by a second board partially nailed to the first board. Don't drive nails all the way into the board. Next, cut two wedges from another piece of wood.

4 When screening is secured, place wedges on each side between boards and bottom rail. Tap wedges with hammer until screening is taut. In both methods, tack screening along bottom once it is tight. Then tack the sides and finally the center rail. Cut off excess screening and replace moldings.

Painless Dentistry's "Just Around the Corner"

"This won't hurt a bit," said the dentist, drill in hand. And, surprisingly, the patient didn't squirm or emit muffled sounds of pain. In fact, he came up smiling after a long session in the dentist's chair. The explanation? The dentist had used a water-jet drill, an instrument developed after the discovery that much of the pain of drilling is caused by heat generated in the tooth. With this new device, a jet of water acts as a cooling agent, so some patients feel no pain at all.

The water-jet drill is one of several improvements indicating painless dentistry, long a matter for pleasant speculation, may be just around the corner.

Another comparatively new instrument for cleaning out decayed teeth works on the sandblast principle, using minute particles of aluminum oxide. Many patients report complete absence of pain, others only minor discomfort.

The most revolutionary advance of all employs ultrahigh-frequency sound waves to prepare cavities for filling, virtually eliminating pain. It's still being tested, however, and won't be in general use for some time.

So, although these recent discoveries and experiments are bringing painless dentistry nearer and nearer, dentists emphasize more than ever the value of preventing cavities by practicing proper dental hygiene. Brush your teeth after every meal (this isn't so difficult if you keep a travel-brush kit handy) and use dental floss to clean between-teeth spaces, to help pave your own road to a kind of painless dentistry.
