Disaster for Steamer Lexington

Half of the slashed hull of the 40-year-old steamer Lexington here lies in East River, New York, after a collision that missed being a major disaster only because the river was crowded with boats at the time. The freighter Jane Christenson knifed through the Lexington below Brooklyn Bridge and half the smaller ship sank at once. The other half was carried upriver by the tide to Manhattan Bridge, showing in the picture, and sank 10 minutes later. So rapid was rescue that only four of the 191 aboard the Lexington were unaccounted for.

SINKING OF RUM RUNNER NOT JUSTIFIED

U. S. To Apologize, Pay Canada for 'I'm Alone'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The ghost of the rum runner, I'm Alone, was laid Wednesday by a final judicial ruling that Canada should receive an apology and $50,666 but the United States could cross of the rest of the $386,803 demanded in damages. The American-Canadian Judicial Commission, bringing one of prohibition's most spectacular episodes nearer conclusion, declared the sinking of the vessel was not justified. "The Commissioners consider," said the decision, "that the United States ought formally to acknowledge its error."

Woman Struck by Car 'Doing Well'

Mrs. R. W. Chaney, who was seriously but not critically injured when she was struck by an automobile at a residential street intersection here yesterday, was reported this morning as "resting as well as could be expected." Mr. Chaney, who also received minor cuts and bruises, was reported as "doing just fine." The couple are convalescing in a local hospital where they were taken for treatment immediately following the accident at about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Guard Against Nazi 'Putsch' Follow- ing Plebiscite

VIENNA, Jan. 10.—It was reliably reported here today that Italian troops are being concentrated along the Austrian frontier ready to act should the German Nazis attempt a "putsch" in Austria after the Saar Plebiscite. The Austrian and Italian governments are taking extreme precautions, fearful of what may follow the expected German victory in the plebiscite. Hundreds of known Nazis and sympathizers have been arrested in Tyrol province, adjoining the German frontier.

AMARILLO MAN IS POTENTATE

N. H. Mohler, of Amarillo, has been selected as the new High Potentate of Khiva Shrine, succeeding James E. King, of Memphis.

New officers were chosen at the annual election held last night at the Masonic Temple in Amarillo. Following the election of officers, Mr. King, Mr. Mohler and Norris Ewing, of Amarillo, were named as delegates to the Imperial Council to be held in Washington, D. C., June 11 to 13.

Mr. King has been Potentate for the past year and has had an important part in the many activities of the Patrol during the time.

Church of Christ Talks End Tonight

The special series of lectures at the Church of Christ has drawn large and interested audiences the past three days. The main feature of the program has been a different preacher from the Church of Christ to give each address. Different religious subjects have been studied and discussed.

Yesterday, Mr. Carpenter of Hollis; and Mr. Woods of Kirkland brought inspirational messages. Last night the message was delivered by C. C. Morgan on "The Church in Prophecy". The women of the church served a delightful lunch and dinner to the visitors in the basement of the church yesterday.

This series of lectures will close tonight with an address by E. M. Borden, of Pampa, on "The Superiority of the Church of Christ." The public is urged to attend.

Ickes Is Asked To Explain Oil Stand

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—The senate today called upon Secretary of Interior Ickes to advise whether, in effect, he sanctioned the recent magazine article criticizing Texas oil control methods. A resolution by Senator W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales, inviting Ickes to appear in Texas and explain the statements in the article attributed to him was adopted without opposition.

DIME BELIEVED MINTED IN 1788 IS OLDEST U. S. COIN

A United States dime that is so old that the date cannot be discerned for certain, but apparently was minted in 1788—147 years ago—is the oldest U. S. coin in the Memphis Area that the "Coin Editor" of The Democrat has discovered today. This old coin is the property of R. D. Evans, 169 North 10th street. Mr. Evans said the money was powered up on his farm in Tennessee 22 years ago and has been in his possession since. Mr. Evans also has a nickle dated 1870, a half-penny minted in 1882, a penny dated 1880 and a dime bearing the date 1875. H. B. Estes this morning exhibited a penny as large as a half-dollar, bearing the date 1819, and Chas. Oren has one of these coins dated 1820. "Uncle Sam" Alexander also exhibited a half-dime this morning, made in 1857.

Condon Remains Firm on Hauptmann Accusations

Condon Is Firm in Accusation

John F. Condon, the Bronx teacher who as "Jafsie" tried to contact the Lindbergh kidnapers and passed $50,000 of ransom money to a mysterious man now alleged by the state to have been Bruno Hauptmann, stood firm today on his accusations of Hauptmann despite the heavy pounding of the defense counsel. This, Condon's most recent photo, shows something of the strain to which he has been subjected during the past two years.

By Associated Press
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 10.—Dr. John F. Condon, state's star accuser of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, remained unbroken through the continued hostile examination today.

His story that Hauptmann was the "John" who negotiated and collected the Lindbergh ransom money and asked, "Will I burn if the baby is dead?" was withstanding the defense's heaviest pounding.

The state relies on his story as one of the strongest links in the chain of evidence by which it hopes to send the stolid German carpenter to the electric chair for kidnaping and murdering baby Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

Defense Counsel Reilly wanted to know if Condon told anybody on City Island, where he has a shack, that he thought a gang was responsible for the kidnaping. "I can't recall," he replied.

Reilly pounded on the "hollow cough" of the mysterious "John" when he sat on the park bench with Condon for an hour discussing the ransom.

The defense may contend that Condon talked, not with Hauptmann, but to Isadore Fisch, who died of tuberculosis in Germany. Hauptmann has claimed the ransom money found in his possession was given him by Fisch for safe keeping.

Condon's cross examination ended unexpectedly as court began the afternoon session.

Mason Degree To Be Given Tonight

A certificate degree team will confer the second degree in Masonry tonight at the Memphis Masonic hall, it was announced this morning by Glynn Thompson, worshipful master of the local lodge.

The degree work was originally scheduled for Friday night but will be conferred tonight because of an Eastern Star entertainment previously planned at the hall for Friday night, Mr. Thompson said. Light refreshments will be served in the course of tonight's special call meeting, it has been announced. All members of the lodge are especially urged to be present, and all visitors are invited.

Flier Arrives for Month Visit Here

Alfred Godfrey, a former Memphian who is now enlisted in the government air corps in the Panama Canal Zone, arrived in Memphis yesterday for a visit with relatives.

He is the son of the late Mrs. J. M. Godfrey, for whom funeral services were held here Thursday afternoon. Immediately upon being notified of his mother's death, young Godfrey sailed for home, leaving Christoba, Panama, January 2. He arrived in New Orleans on the afternoon of January 6 and made the balance of the trip to Memphis by train and bus, arriving here yesterday afternoon. He plans to be here about 30 days.

Doesn't Want President—Just 'Normal Girl'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Representative James W. Mott, Oregon Republican, predicted his daughter—born Monday—would become president of the United States in 1970. She will be the first woman president of the United States in that year, when she is 35, he added proudly. Mrs. Mott, however, honors her (his) daughter will grow into a "normal American girl."

Officers Seeking Motive in Hammer Slaying of Bride

ADULT CLASSES SHOW GAIN IN ATTENDANCE

Increase from 30 to 100 Percent as In- terest Mounts

AMARILLO, Jan. 10.—As George Hamlin broods in a solitary cell officers today still were gathering up "loose ends" of the confession, which early yesterday revealed him as the hammer slayer of his bride here last Friday. Was there another motive besides the quarrel over money matters that ended in the murder? In his signed statement, Hamlin said continual quarreling over finances led to the crime. Rings Still Missing What became of the diamond rings, taken to "make it look like robbery?" Hamlin said they were hidden in the basement of his Oakland, Calif., home, but officers have failed to find them. The questions continued last night to puzzle officers, who broke through the man's alibi with the aid of airport officials. "Yes, I killed her," Hamlin admitted finally after nearly 10 hours of questioning following his wife's funeral. Still nervous and "badly shaken," as officers described his condition, the retired Oakland, Calif., fireman has made only one request since his statement was made. It was for cigarettes and cigars. They were supplied. "No, I don't want to see a lawyer," the prisoner replied when informed of his constitutional rights. Sleeps Fitfully Hamlin has slept only fitfully since being lodged in jail. Except for a light lunch late yesterday he has eaten nothing since 2 o'clock yesterday morning when he asked for something to eat. While making his statement he ate heartily

WELLINGTON IS OPPONENT IN TWO GAMES

Second Teams Start Play at 7 O'Clock At School Gym

Probable Starters

Memphis	Pos.	Wellington
Childress	f	Glenn

Grimes, Ches.	g	Towne

FIRST GAME — (Second teams) 7 o'clock.
SECOND GAME — (First teams) immediately after first game.
LOCATION—High school gymnasium.
ADMISSION — 10 and 25 cents.
REFEREE — Wendell Harrison.

The Memphis Cyclone opens its basketball season here tonight, meeting the fast, smooth-working Wellington Skyrocks at the high school gymnasium.

The battle will be a doubleheader affair, with the second teams of the two clubs meeting at 7 o'clock. The main attraction will start immediately after the close of the first game.

Admission will be 10 and 25 cents.

Starting Late
The Cyclone is getting a late start in the cage sport, due greatly to the fact that Coach Arthur Howard had no experienced letterman around whom to build his club. Starting from scratch, he has worked the team up slowly until it at least appears to be ready to give a creditable account of itself.

However, against Wellington, the Cyclone is going to be fighting one of the finest high school fives in this section, which is a pretty tough assignment for the opening game.

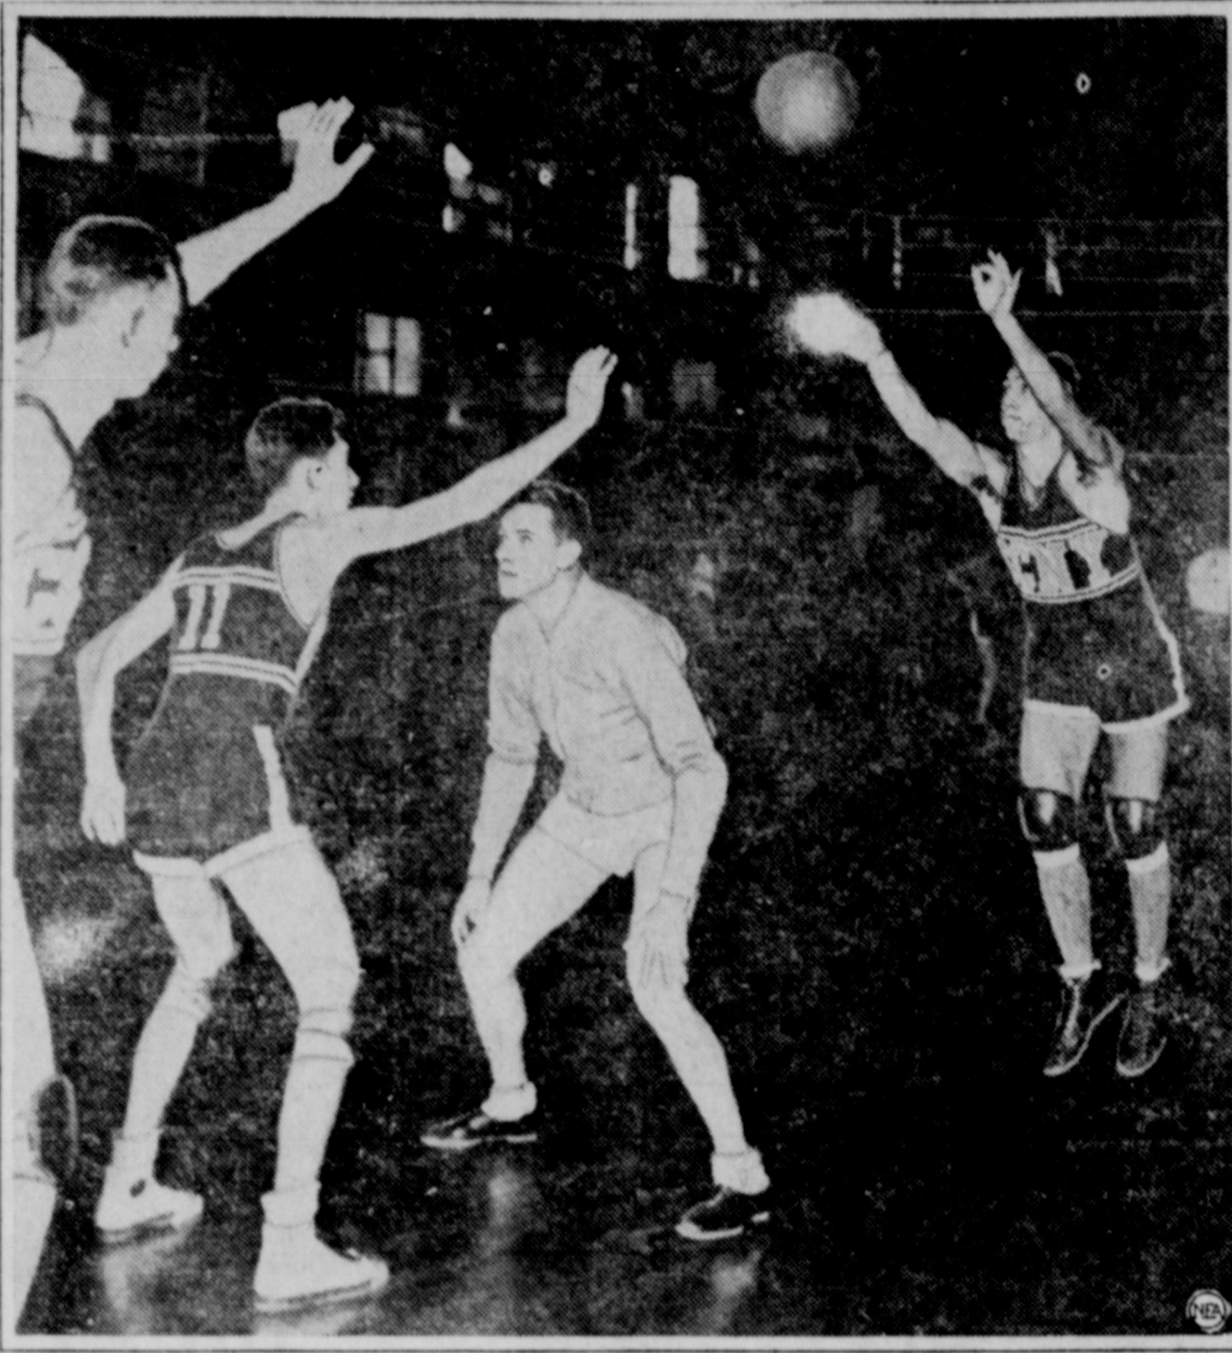

The local cagers, inexperienced as they are, will receive valuable experience in a tilt with such a quintet. They will be fighting a high-scoring machine that clicks off tallies in rapid order, clicks smoothly through its plays and does not waste a great amount of energy in needless circulation about the court.

At Estelline Friday
To meet this attack, the Cyclone squad is going to have to stay on its toes at all times and be prepared to meet almost every type of attack. At that, the team is likely to witness some surprising plays. Such competition may prove invaluable farther along the schedule.

Not content with the one demonstration, the Cyclone goes to Estelline tomorrow night to complete the week's schedule in another double header affair with the Bear Cubs. This tilt is apt to call for as much head-up battling and smooth playing as will the Wellington affair.

Estelline and Kirkland Battle to 34-34

SCREENING THE PASSER

Much in the manner of an offensive fullback dropping back with the passer to screen an aerial thrust, Nat Holman, cage coach of the College of the City of New York, illustrates how to screen a man making a shot for the basket.

WINNING BASKETBALL

By Nat Holman

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of three general stories and 18 diagrammed basketball plays by Nat Holman, famous coach of the College of the City of New York.

BY NAT HOLMAN
(Famous Player, Coach, and Author of Winning Basketball)

I can't recall the number of times I have been asked to distinguish between eastern and western basketball. I can remember, though, that my reply varied each year, just as the western style of play improved with each season.

Quite a few years ago, when I made my first professional basketball trip through the west, I had the opportunity of witnessing several leading college teams in action. The exhibitions were disappointing. Western style of play suffered badly by comparison with the eastern game. I have a vivid recollection of those games in Indiana and Illinois. The long shot was the favorite offensive weapon, passes were long and erratic, and one-hand tosses from any part of the court were numerous. Teams depended upon hard, bone-crushing attack to carry them under the basket. Deception was not their long suit.

In the east during this period, more time was spent in studying and adapting the style employed by local professional teams, particularly that of the Original Celtics, then at the peak of their fame.

West Rises on Power
As a result, the efficient, short-pass game was incorporated into eastern college basketball at an earlier date. First rank teams were well trained in a deceptive, fast-passing offense and firmly grounded in the game's fundamentals. It was, and for that matter still is, considered poor basketball to lose possession of the ball by reason of inaccurate passes or off-balance shots.

The western game has made long strides since then. I well could realize that after seeing the Notre Dame team in action in the last two seasons. Its style was as fundamentally sound as any I ever have seen, and completely dispersed any opinion that I might have had on the superiority of the eastern game.

George Keogan, coach of the Irish squad, on a recent trip east to meet New York U., gave us his opinion of middle western basketball.

"Our boys are better individually," he said. "Out in our section the players are faster, they handle the ball better, and they know more basketball."

Of course, that is a matter for

BATTLE GOES TWO EXTRA PERIODS

Visitors Quit Court After Teams Tie For Third Time

ESTELLINE, Jan. 10.—In the most thrilling basketball encounter seen here in many a night, the Estelline Bear Cubs and the Kirkland quintet battled to a 34-34 draw Tuesday night.

The game went through the second extra period before the Kirkland five finally left the court, refusing to play off the tie in another extra period.

Kirkland took a quick lead and was far ahead at the end of the first quarter, holding a 13-2 margin. The Cubs came back in the second period to rush in 11 points while holding the visitors to one field goal, trailing 15-13 at the half.

In the final periods the battle swung back and forth, finally ending 28 to 28. Both teams made four points during the first extra period and then repeated with two each during the second session.

The Cubs played the finest game of the season so far as personal work was concerned, as well as the most thrilling local fans have seen in several seasons.

debate, but it does give you an idea of what the west thinks of its game.

Style is Secondary
Victory in an inter-sectional game today revolves more upon the question of ability and less upon contrasting styles of play. This becomes particularly apparent when one finds it utterly impossible to determine a team's locale by the offense or defense employed.

Since this is the case, it would seem to give the west an edge in individual ability, according to Keogan's statement. But the fact remains that the Irish lost to New York U. in their inter-sectional clash at the Garden, although in fairness it can be pointed out that Notre Dame played with two of its stars, Don Elser and Marty Peters, badly out of shape.

Wash Out Your 75,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes. Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 19 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 75,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are Nature's chief way of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

HOME EC GROUP HEARS TALK ON HEALTH

Health in Children Is Topic of Dr. D. C. Hyder

As a result of several days study in child guidance the Home Economics III students were privileged to hear on Thursday, Jan. 3, Dr. D. C. Hyder, who delivered an interesting lecture on "Recognizing Signs of Health in Children". Excerpts from Dr. Hyder's speech follow: "The exhibition of normal mental and physical vigor, in life, associated with normal growth for age, sex and race, and the performance of normal bodily functions, as determined by age, sex and race, may be said to be signs of health in children. In child-life as observed in the school age, one is impressed with those things which are first observed as posture, movement, body weight, mental alertness, disposition, behavior, manners and the physical and mental hygiene. "Manners, good or bad, depend more upon ones physical well-being than upon training. Manners may be said to be the reaction one gives to environment. This reaction depends upon how one feels, whether vigorous, strong, and gay, or feeble, and morose. With the physical condition favorable to the one or the other, it is relatively easy to become pleasing or a snob, as the case may be. These and several other factors enter into the make-up of personality, which, in my mind, is the aggregate of the three-fold type of health, that is physical, mental, and spiritual. "In order that food, even that which contains a proper amount of nourishment, may be taken by the child, it must be prepared in a tempting manner so that it will have the aroma, and flavors which appeal to and arouse the appetite. "Both the man and beast are made what they are by their food" —Lorand."

High School Home Ec Members Plan To Attend Rally

The New Year was begun right Tuesday by the Taste and Baste club resolving to make the year 1935 a more profitable one for the home economics department of the local high school.

The business meeting was presided over by the club president, Mary Miles Hall, with Secretary Lucille Rasco calling the roll and reading the minutes. The meeting was then turned over to the sponsor, Miss Marie Martin, who discussed with members of the club ways in which funds could be raised to send representatives to the state home-making rally to be held in Corpus Christi this spring. It was reported that $6.40 were cleared from the food sale held Saturday, Dec. 22.

DEATH IS PENALTY FOR MISTAKE

JUST how much of a crime does a man commit when he makes a mistake that costs the lives of others? Soviet Russia apparently terms him a murderer and the penalty is death, which seems to us to be far too severe for an error that may have been made while the person was conscientiously attempting to fulfill his duty.

Nevertheless, two crack express trains crashed head-on in Russia the other day, killing 67 persons and injuring scores of others. Soviet officials immediately started an investigation, and announced that the person or persons found responsible for the accident will be put to death.

Certainly, if the crashing of those trains were planned and the "error" that led to the wreck committed purposely, then the punishment dealt out is no more than the conspirators deserve.

But if it were an "unavoidable" accident, then the Soviet is following the wrong procedure, it seems to us. It is trying to perfect its workmen through fright, not education. It is attempting to produce superhumans by making a mistake too costly to commit. But it can't be done. So long as man possesses the qualities he has today, he is going to make errors, and some of them are going to cost heavily of life and property.

It cannot be a crime to make a mistake, unless the error is wilfully perpetrated.

NEW DEAL WITH VENGEANCE

IN its report asking Congress for new powers to deal with monopoly, the Federal Trade Commission outlines a program which would make most of the existing New Deal policies seem ultra-conservative.

To prevent one corporation from obtaining control over another by buying its stocks or assets, or by merging; to give the commission power to prohibit unfair business practices in any case which might even "affect" interstate commerce; to prohibit big corporations from getting favorable purchasing terms merely because of their size, and to require corporations to get rid of properties illegally acquired—here would be a new attitude toward big business, with a vengeance!

Would public sentiment permit such a change? It would be hard to say, offhand. Certainly Congress will have to do some thorough canvassing of sentiment if it proposes to act on these requests.

SOCIETY'S DEPENDENTS

ONE of the most startling things about Relief Administrator Hopkins' recent announcement of new policies in the field of public relief is his declaration that fully 3,800,000 of the men and women now being supported by the government must be classified as "unemployables."

These are the people whose support is to be turned back to the states and cities; the physically and mentally unfit, the aged, the luckless persons who will never again be able to take their places among the wage-earners of the nation.

Everyone has always known, of course, that even the return of full prosperity would not completely abolish our relief lists. But it comes as a shock to know that the total of unemployables is so very high.

The revelation graphically emphasizes our need for an inclusive old-age and health insurance scheme broad enough to touch all classes of society.

TO AVOID PARTIALITY

PENNSYLVANIA, one of our greatest industrial states, has never been exactly famous for its industrial peace. Pennsylvania strikes have a way of being somewhat violent; a contributing factor unquestionably is the state law which permits corporations to pay the salaries of deputy sheriffs sworn in to preserve order and protect property in time of strike.

Now it is announced that the United Mine Workers will petition the state legislature to wipe that law off the books; and such a step should do much to ease the tension in future strikes.

Law officers who are paid by one of the two parties to a dispute cannot be impartial. The mere fact that they are paid by the company inevitably exacerbates bitterness and creates hatred.

Pennsylvania would be well advised to repeal the law and make all peace officers what they are supposed to be—non-partisan servants of the state, free of all obligations to either party in any industrial struggle.

HERE COME THE NEW MODELS!

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
To get an idea of the extent to which common sense health regulations were practiced in American homes, a questionnaire was sent to 13,000 public school children by a committee working with the White House Conference on Child Health.

The questionnaire asked particularly about sleeping arrangements, the time of going to bed, eating habits, baths taken, and tooth brushing.

Few children have rooms to themselves. Children of German parentage had rooms alone in 40 percent of cases; negro children in only 19 per cent. Among children of Italian descent, 20 per cent had individual rooms and 8 per cent slept double.

The average time of going to bed varies from 9:15 for rural boys to 10:15 for boys who became delinquent. The average time of going to bed for adolescents was 9:15 for country girls and 10 o'clock for city girls. One child reported his time of going to bed as 5 o'clock a. m.!

Very few children admitted doing without baths during the preceding week, but it was quite interesting that a rural negro group was the only one that reported no child with a bathless week. The children of Italian descent had the highest percentage without baths—namely, 5 per cent.

As an indication of the extent which the tooth brushing campaign has spread, daily brushing of the teeth was reported by most of the children. The lowest records were found among children of Italian and Mexican descent.

From 53 to 71 per cent of children in the other groups reported daily brushing of the teeth. Here, also, it is interesting to discover that the rural white group fell lower than any of the other groups, except the Italian and Mexican.

To test the extent to which these observations were an index of health, tables were constructed

BREECH-LOADING CANNON INVENTED BY BENJAMIN CHAMBERS, SR., 1649.

OLIVER BOOTH BUILT FIRST ICE YACHT AT POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., 1790.

Answers to Previous Questions
CHAMBERS' model, made of wood, was discovered recently in an old smithy and is now owned by the Virginia Historical Society. The Rev. Jeremy Belknap organized the Massachusetts Historical Society in Boston. Booth's ice yacht was a square box mounted on three runners covered with iron, a sail, a rudder post, and a wood tiller.

in which the children were grouped according to number of baths, number of times the teeth were brushed, eating habits, and sleeping arrangements.

No relationship was established. Children who are not sick at all, children who were sick in bed for a week or more, and children who were sick for just a few days have generally the same habits regarding bathing, brushing of teeth, and eating between meals.

However, there seems to be no question that ill health when it did occur in these children, had a definite effect on their lives and on their personalities. Ill health seems to be as much an emotional and social handicap as a physical one.

It is necessary for parents to give attention not only to the physical condition of the child, but also to his emotional reactions.

Don't bother about the "mistake," just call me "Joe." There are no frills about me.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Democrat Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Economies of economic security measures are relying on a single hope—talking themselves to death.

Roosevelt's idea is to throw his important legislative proposals to Congress consecutively, giving Capitol Hill time to clean up each one before it gets the next. This process saves stalling, sidetracking, and mutilation—when it works.

Most of the administration crowd hopes unemployment insurance can be rushed through rapidly in that way. But conservatives are secretly working to head that issue into a maze of committee hearings and complicated alternative proposals.

They take their cue from the business men's meeting at White Sulphur Springs, which recommended a "national system" and a lot of time to consider it.

Delay Is Lobbyist Dish
Even temporary delay would please the lobbyists. The Wagner-Lewis unemployment insurance scheme, which Roosevelt and his economic security committee has adopted in principle, lets any state set up its own job insurance system and consequently requires action by states.

Two-thirds of state legislatures are meeting about now and friends of the Wagner-Lewis idea would like to jam the measure through this month, so those bodies can act now.

If passage is put off, they argue, the system virtually will be delayed two years.

The anti-security lobbyists would not stand a chance, however, if a considerable group of liberals wasn't asking for a more advanced type of "national" unemployment insurance system which would be more closely supervised from Washington and would be uniform in all states.

Everyone Has a Scheme
Many alternatives of the Wagner-Lewis schemes are proposed by as many different liberals—even Dr. Tugwell has his own scheme. The objections to a "national" scheme now are, chiefly, that the hard, complicated job of working one out in detail would take much too long; that states would be allowed to lead the way with experiments, whereas it would be dangerous to adopt an untried national scheme which might flop; and that the Wagner-Lewis measure, providing a payroll tax on employers to be remitted when they contribute as much under a state system, is best planned to withstand a test of constitutionality.

And you have one strong group of New Dealers begging another

Carload of Native Rock Here Returns $20 in Fort Worth

C. C. Hodges, rock fancier, carried a load of gyp rock to Fort Worth on a recent trip there and disposed of it readily for $20. Mr. Hodges states there is perhaps unsuspected resources here from this trade.

A large and beautifully proportioned rock, of a dull red color, five feet in height and about three feet in diameter, weighing 3,100 pounds, secured by Mr. Hodges near Bryant lake, has been placed on a concrete slab in the center of a rock garden at the entrance of Camp Alhambra, as Mr. Hodges' latest addition to the interesting grounds.

knowledge its illegality, and to apologize to His Majesty's Canadian Government therefor; and, further, that as a material amend in respect of the wrong the United States should pay the sum of $25,000 to His Majesty's Canadian Government; and they recommend accordingly."

The Commissioner—Justice Willis Van Devanter of the United States Supreme Court and Chief Justice Sir Lyman Poore Duff of the Canadian Supreme Court—decided further that the captain and crew were not parties to the smuggling conspiracy and hence were entitled to material amends. These added up to $25,666.

Ship Sunk in 1929.

Canada had asked for damages of nearly $400,000 for the sinking which took place in the Gulf of Mexico March 22, 1929, after more than an hour of shelling by the coast guard cutter Dexter.

Recent hearings here were devoted to a determination of ownership. Canada claimed the schooner was of bona fide Canadian registry but the United States contended that its operations were dominated by a New York run-running syndicate.

The commission Wednesday declared that although it was a British ship of Canadian registry, it "was de facto owned, controlled and at critical times, managed and her movements directed at her cargo dealt with and disposed of by a group of persons acting in concert who were entirely, or nearly so, citizens of the United States."

work being done by students in the Memphis schools are being made in down-town show windows today and will remain until Monday. Classes that teach creative work are making displays of their accomplishments, while other classes are making displays in the form of posters and bulletins.

Mrs. Roy Guthrie, former county superintendent, met with the Turkey classes last night and gave an address outlining the accomplishments and possibilities of adult education. More than 60 persons were present for the meeting, according to Mrs. Morris.

LEADERS AGREE WITH ROOSEVELT

To Make Available in Lump Sum Four Billions for New Relief Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Agreement for making available a lump sum to be administered by the president, the our million dollar administration requested for the new year's relief program, was reached today by President Roosevelt and Congressional leaders.

They agreed, however, that Congress would specify how the regular annual three hundred million dollars public works administration money should be spent.

Secrecy Surrounds Gatesville Murder

GATESVILLE, Jan. 10.—Unexplained secrecy today marked the activities of Corryell county authorities in charge of the case of Mrs. Johnson, Dallas, charged with the slaying of her son and daughter-in-law.

Beyond admitting that Mrs. Johnson was in jail here, Sheriff Joe White was non-committal. He said the case is "not ready" for the public to know about.

Mrs. Johnson denied the accusation. Floyd Zeigler, county attorney, would not disclose when bond will be set.

SENATE DRAWS SHARP DEBATE

Attempt Made To Force Immediate Ratification of Child Labor Amendment

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—The Senate sharply debated today an attempt to force immediate ratification of the proposed child labor amendment to the Federal constitution, previously defeated three times by the Senate.

The House completed its organization, sliced one-half from the half million dollar Senate appropriation for saaries and other expenses and heard the governor's message read.

Hundreds of bills and constitutional amendments were introduced.
