

Drastic Trade Ban On Italy Voted

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK

by Joe Pickle

A belated move to send a representative crowd from here Monday to the Midland fair in getting momentum rapidly. There are two good reasons why this city ought to send a large delegation. First, it would be a big step in our "good neighbor" policy; second, Big Spring might get its eyes opened. Midland has put unlimited effort and much money behind its gigantic effort for a sectional autumn celebration. Citizens of that town have gone in whole-heartedly to insure success of the venture. We might inquire from whence comes such cooperation.

All things come to them who wait, thanks to a kind providence. Thus, it was that last week a suit was filed in Austin by the state highway commission for a strip of land through the Dr. J. T. O'Bar property in Glascock county. Since the summer of 1932 this five-mile stretch has stood in the way of a completely surfaced road to San Angelo, and eventually to the Gulf. Until a recent legislature enacted a law whereby the commission could condemn the land when local agencies refuse or neglect to do so, the situation was apparently a hopeless one. No settlements could be made and the Glascock county commission's court was just passively interested in a road which only cut across one corner of the county. As it stands now, one man may be inconvenienced by a road across his land. As it stood before the suit was filed, thousands upon thousands were inconvenienced because the road did not go across his land. In a democracy we must continually recognize the rule of greatest good to the greatest number.

And while on the subject of highways, don't forget we have a beam in our own eye. It is this situation east just inside the city limits. In 1932 the commissioners court of Howard county agreed to furnish all right-of-way needed in opening the re-routed highway No. 1 and No. 3. It made this agreement with the state highway commission. In 1934, in keeping with this contract, it made another agreement with the city to pay for damages incurred by opening the road within the

HEAVY LOSS IN MONTANA QUAKE

Housing Shortage Results In Brisk Trade In City Property

When the depression came six years ago, people here stopped their buying and building of homes out of fear. Today fear is driving them into the biggest buying wave since 1929. A check of several realtors showed here this week. Within the past six weeks more than two dozen homes have been bought, one well informed real estate dealer estimated Saturday. Reports from others indicated he was accurate in his figures. At least a score other houses are involved in pending deals. This new "fear" at the root of the sharp increase in residential property sales arises out of the acute-ness of the local housing situation. People are buying homes in order to have some place to stay. Renters are also buying to keep from having their homes hold out from under them. It has evolved into a sort of a game of every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. Rents have shown a phenomenal advance since the turn of the year, yet very few houses go begging because of a rental price. An anticipated building spurge is overdue, chiefly because, it is said, building and loan and insurance companies have too many good houses on the block for a bargain. Only those who can well afford to build and who want to plan their own private home are taking out building permits. Farm property is showing a fast turnover but is far behind the pace set in Big Spring, realtors said.

Relief Work Underway In Damaged Area

Four States Are Rocked By Tremors; Two Dead Many Injured

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19 (AP)—A giant broom fashioned from federal relief funds began sweeping the earthquake debris today from this picturesque state capital nestling at the Continental divide, even as receding tremors left two dead and damage of million-dollar proportion. Felt in Four States

Physicians said that perhaps 100 persons were treated for cuts and bruises, with a dozen others requiring hospital attention. A severe shock, the sixtieth of a sequence, tore at the mountains along the divide and spread into three states—Montana, Idaho and Washington—and the province of Alberta in Canada. The tremor was a climax of a week of tremors that had traced a crazy-quilt pattern across the Northwest.

A negro was killed when the front wall of an unoccupied structure collapsed, and an inmate of a transient camp met death when the roof of a camp building collapsed.

City In Darkness The city was thrown into darkness, and panic-stricken residents rushed into the open when the quake struck. Damage in other places was reported to be light.

Crowds in theatres rushed to the streets, screaming. A brick store building on North Main street trembled. Its front smashed into the street and sent sidewalk pedestrians scurrying.

Butte, Billings, Bozeman and Missoula, widely separated, reported quakes about the same time. Windows popped out explosively throughout the city.

Commission's Oil Engineer Resigns Post

Thompson Blames Low Pay By State For Loss Of Men

AUSTIN, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gordon Griffin, chief petroleum engineer for the Texas railroad commission, Saturday resigned his post, announcing he would enter private business. Lon A. Smith, commission member, said that V. E. Cottingham, Griffin's assistant, probably would get the latter's post; but that no definite announcement will be made until members of the commission confer.

MIDLAND, Oct. 19 (AP)—E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, here today, said that V. E. Cottingham, formerly stationed at San Angelo, will succeed Gordon Griffin as chief petroleum engineer for the commission.

Thompson strongly attacked pay standards of the state which, he said, made a "training school" of the railroad commission. He asserted that seven highly trained and efficient engineers had been lost to the state because private concerns were able to offer several times the salary that the state pays.

Big Delegation To Go To Midland Fair

4,000 On Hand For Opening Day Of Exposition

Headed by 50 Rotarians, the high school band and pep squad, Big Spring will send a large delegation Monday to the Midland fair which opened Saturday before a crowd estimated at 4,000.

Many merchants and individuals notified the Chamber of Commerce Friday and Saturday that they would join in the motorcade leaving here 12:30 Monday for Midland.

Monday is expected to be one of the biggest days of the entire fair since the racing program starts in the afternoon.

Big Parade While hundreds lined the streets, the fair was ushered in 10:30 a. m. Saturday with a colorful 2 mile parade replete with floats from clubs and schools. Four high school bands from Wink, Fort Stockton, Odessa and Midland were on hand to provide martial music.

Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, was heard at 2 p. m. Saturday in an address. Following his speech, the rodeo got underway, Brahma cattle giving contestants plenty of trouble. The calves were the same ones used in the Big Spring Cowboy reunion in September. A large crowd witnessed events in bulldogging, bronc riding, wild cow milking, bronc riding, steer riding, and team roping.

Zenge Facing A Life Term

Is Found Guilty By Jury In Emasculation Murder

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Mandeville Zenge maintained his "incurability" Saturday night as he faced the prospect of life imprisonment, a fate recommended by a jury which Friday night found him guilty of the emasculation slaying of Dr. Walter Bauer, who had married Zenge's schoolyard sweetheart, Louise Shaffer.

The 26-year-old Missourian, central figure in one of the most sensational criminal trials here in recent years, heard the verdict without show of emotion.

Will Appeal His counsel, attorney Joseph Green, announced immediately that an appeal would be taken. The jury deliberated four hours and 25 minutes before reaching its decision which disregarded entirely the defense contention that Dr. Bauer was attacked during a fit of temporary madness.

Under Illinois statute, Zenge would be eligible for parole in 20 years, with time off for good behavior while a prisoner. The prisoner's father and a brother, with other relatives, heard the verdict and left to inform his mother, Mrs. Alice Zenge, who was awaiting the report at the home of a relative.

Mrs. Bauer, who jilted Zenge, her childhood sweetheart to marry the Kirksville, Mo., osteopath, was not in the courtroom. Judge Cornelius J. Harrington set Oct. 25 to hear defense motions for a new trial. Three bailiffs brought the defendant into the packed courtroom.

The young Missourian's father, J. Andy Zenge, Sr., commented just before the jury returned: "Of course, there was a lot of evidence we couldn't see. I do think it would have been different if she (Mrs. Bauer) had poured out her heart."

He referred apparently to the court's action in overruling certain defense efforts to prove a strain of hereditary insanity in Zenge and to Mrs. Bauer's testimony, in which she traced her friendship with the young delinquent.

Oil Scouts To Convene Here

Big Spring Is Chosen As Site Of Future Gatherings

West Texas oil scouts will hold their weekly check meetings in Big Spring beginning Thursday, it was learned Saturday.

Peck Cunningham of the Humble Oil and Refining Company will be here Thursday morning to arrange for meeting quarters and will be met by a local committee.

Plans are to provide rooms in either the Petroleum building or the Crawford hotel.

Scouts will confer each Thursday, checking samples and information. When they come here this week it will be the first time since 1930 when they moved their meeting place to Midland and San Angelo.

CCC Worker Is Attacked By Longshoremen

HOUSTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Alton Hufstetter, 19, CCC worker of Brenham, was beaten this afternoon near the headquarters of the International Longshoremen's association headquarters, whose members are on strike in Gulf ports. Hufstetter said a group of men asked him if he was looking for work, and even though he said he was not, about 12 or 15 men attacked him.

Bollworm Damage Claims Must Be Filed Wednesday

Wednesday is the last day on which claims for damages growing out of the Pink Bollworm quarantine can be filed, William A. Wilson, Lamson, member of the claims board, reminded Saturday. Approximately $50,000 remains at the board's disposal to care for scattered, unfiled claims.

Park Program On Even Keel

Officers Non-committal On Notice To Vacate Oct. 28

Work on the Scenic Mountain state park continued on an even keel the past week despite an order received by the army to vacate Oct. 28 for Sweetwater.

While army officers were non-committal on the order, National Park service officials in charge of the project were not fearful that the camp would be abandoned before Nov. 15, tentative date set by D. E. Colp, state park board chairman, for completion of the park work.

Joseph A. Dodge, park superintendent, was going ahead Saturday with program looking toward Nov. 15 as the evacuation date.

By the end of the week he was able to announce that rock work on the caretaker's cottage was 80 per cent complete and the entire structure more than half finished. Actual work on the cottage has been under way less than two weeks.

Sunday, Dodge announced, the drive around the mountain will be opened all the way around. The lower section has been closed 10 days for surfacing operations. While the descending portion of the road is not finished, it is ready for traffic.

With interior finishing nearing completion, workmen are pushing rock work on the tower of the concessions building.

Monday placing of asphalt topping on walkways atop the mountain will begin.

Laying of water and gas mains was started the past week, said Dodge.

Appointment Of Farm Debt Group Made

Reagan, Stripling, Thomas To Aid In Solving Problems

Hugh F. Weaver, Lubbock, Saturday announced the appointment of a farm debt adjustment committee for Howard county.

On the committee are E. Reagan, Fox Stripling and L. H. Thomas. Reagan was named chairman, Thomas vice-chairman and Stripling secretary.

Purpose of the body is to aid farmers in solving their debt problems, Weaver said. The committee serves as a contact agency between debtor and creditor.

"This service is furnished free by the federal government for the purpose of saving worthy farmers who are behind, through no fault of their own, on their farm mortgages," said Weaver, "and farmers who have been thrifty and ambitious enough in the past to own a home and are reputable, self-supporting farm citizens."

He added that it was a part of the National Agricultural Rehabilitation program to aid distressed farmers in re-establishing themselves.

"Farmers with debt problems and who are desirous of receiving aid through the committee should contact it or the county agent," said Weaver. The committee convenes the second Monday of each month and will be convoked more often if needed.

Weaver, who is supervisor of extension districts 2 and 6 embracing 89 counties and 4,343 farmers, made an appeal to "all citizens of the county" to cooperate with the federal agency to relieve debt distressed farmers.

Livestock Sold By Crenshaw And Hamil

Deals involving approximately 600 head of cattle and totaling $22,000 were closed here the past week by Crenshaw and Hamil. Buyers from Plainview and Abilene brought two sizeable herds. Top for dry cows was $45.

24 Enlisted In Extension Work

Twenty-four teachers were enrolled for the beginning of the extension course being offered here by Texas Tech college.

Two classes were held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning by Dr. D. D. Jackson of Tech. He is teaching the new curriculum course.

Miss Anne Martin, county superintendent, said that an effort is being made to enlist 35 city and county teachers in the course.

Next classes will be held Nov. 2, two-hour sessions being scheduled for both morning and afternoon.

Nations Move To Terminate All Commerce

Duce Faces Loss Of Exports; Has 11 Days To Change Mind

GENEVA, Oct. 19 (AP)—The league of nations general committee of 52 members tonight voted to drop the gullotine of a drastic "buy nothing from Italy" boycott on the Italy-Ethiopian war.

Delegates fixed October 31 as the date when the league members will decide just when to let fall this knife, first of its kind in history.

70 Per Cent of Trade In Other words, Premier Mussolini has eleven days to think things over.

The league's action would mean the cutting off of about 70 per cent of Italy's exports, the percentage normally sold to countries that are members of the league.

The buy-nothing proposal was accepted on recommendation of the league's 18-member sanctions committee which earlier had approved the plan, submitted by Great Britain.

France meanwhile promised to follow the British if the latter nation is attacked while imposing sanctions against Italy.

The sanctions committee also approved an embargo on the export of "key products" used in the manufacture of war munitions and materials.

The league group further approved a mutual assistance project for league states that are hit by repercussions from the sanctions move.

Peril Of War Britain's Premier Stanley Baldwin Saturday declared that no nation is secure from war, asserting that "even America is up against that peril." French sources said that it was improbable that French warships would replace the British vessels now standing watch in the Mediterranean.

An Italian spokesman declared that the Italy-British negotiations announced that largely to the Mediterranean problem; and London sources said that Britain intends to maintain the Mediterranean fleet despite the easing of the Italy-British tension. It was understood a definite understanding with France exists.

In War Zone In the African war zone, Ethiopian charges that Italian bombs had killed a child in the Tigre province. It was announced from Addis Ababa that Emperor Haile Selassie's armies are being concentrated for the first time since hostilities began.

General de Bono, commander of the Fascist rule in the Tigre province, announced that slavery had been abolished in the territory the Italians now hold.

A delayed dispatch said that a sharp clash near Omager, last Tuesday resulted disastrously for Ethiopian forces who tried to invade Italian Eritrea.

Mussolini's leaders were advised that Ethiopians in the southern territory the Fascists now hold were preparing to make a counter-offensive.

War materials, released from other countries after the league of nations lifted the arms embargo, were flowing steadily into Ethiopia.

Around And About The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley TWO FORMER Steer players, Orville Hildreth and Jack Shetler, are making the East Texas State Teachers college eleven, according to word received here. Hildreth is playing at right guard and Shetlerworth in the backfield. Jack is president of the freshman class and Orville is vice-presy.

IF YOU are doping out the state junior college champion college football team, don't overlook Schreiner. The hill country boys have been going good.

AT THE same time, Amarillo Junior college, defending state champions, can not be counted out of the running. Just as Schreiner is almost certain to win the southern district, Amarillo is nearly certain to win the northwest. The Panther boys have been rolling up impressive scores against strong opposition.

AND STILL you're not through with strong title contenders. Those who know that Texarkana has this year (all of last year's team and plenty of new material besides) will tell you that Texarkana is sure to gain the state title this year—for which it was runner-up last year.

A LITTLE Rock newspaper, after the Texarkana-Magnolia Aggie game, said that Texarkana had the "strongest junior college team in the United States."

SAYS COLLIER Parris in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal: "It also seems that Lamesa, king of Class B athletics in this region, and possibly Coleman will go Class A next season, enrollments at these schools having passed the stipulated Class B limit, and that the logical district for Lamesa and Coleman is No. 3. District 3 does not extend the glad-hand-of-welcome to Lamesa and Coleman. In fact, Sweetwater, San Angelo and Big Spring make no bones about being opposed to kinship with Lamesa, saying that the Golden Tornadoes would be a poor drawing card and would provide little competition. This might be true for the first year or two, but if we know our Ted McCollum and our football-crazy Lamesa friends, the Dawson team would soon develop into a real contender and drawing card. When they need football players at Lamesa, they go out and get 'em, and they've done mighty well for themselves in Class B. If they needed more power, they doubtless know where they can put the finger on it.

"Early this year there was talk of Lubbock's shift to District 3. Sweetwater and Big Spring favored the move, but nothing official ever was done. Now that rules require another member or two, and since they don't want Lamesa, the papers of the district, including the stubborn San Angelo papa, they are inviting Lubbock and Abilene.

"In the case of San Angelo, however, according to the paper, it is a matter of accepting the least of two evils. At first, the San Angelo representative to the Sweetwater meeting was strongly opposed to Lubbock's entry, and even threatened to take his school and go to the Oil Belt with it rather than play with Lubbock. He relented, it seems, when informed that Lamesa probably would enter the league, he agreed to join the others in inviting Lubbock to come over.

"Said Coach Chapman Friday night: 'If Amarillo and Pampa persist in their attitude toward us, I am most heartily in favor of accepting the invitation to join District 3. And you can quote me.'"

MUSTANGS DEFEAT RICE OWLS, 10 TO 0

Alvin Krueger Eliminates Gene Sarazen From P.G.A. Nat'l Tourney

B. WILSON STARS IN PONY WIN

Maurice Orr Starts Scoring In Fourth With A Field Goal

By HANK HART Herald Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 19.—Led by their brilliant aces, Bobby Wilson and Harry Shuford, and a line that battered the Rice offense to a standstill, the S.M.U. Mustangs walloped Jimmy Kitts' heretofore undefeated Owls, 10 to 0 here Saturday afternoon before a crowd of more than 25,000.

Overshadowing the play of their rivals, John McCauley and Bill Wallace, the brilliant Pony pair fought at the Houston end of the field for three quarters and finally put the Mustangs out ahead in the fourth period when Maurice Orr booted a wobbly field goal through the uprights and Wilson took a lateral inside the ten yard line and sidestepped his way across the goal line. After a brief flurry by the visitors in the first quarter, Matty Bell's forces took command of the situation for the remainder of the game.

Both sides were erratic in their aerial attacks but the Ponies showed a wide advantage in ground play. Shuford ripped the Rice line to shreds throughout the game and with good assistance by Bob Finley and Shelby Burt, was threatening again as the final whistle blew. Wilson contributed a brilliant dash in the final minutes of play when he ran through the entire Rice line and circled McCauley and Wallace for a seventy-two yard touchdown jaunt, but the play was called back and the Ponies penalized for roughness.

Truman Spain teamed up with Orr to stop everything that came their way while Captain Wetzel was a shining light at guard.

One nearly put the Mustangs out in front during the first quarter when he attempted a field goal inside the Owl's twenty yard line, but kicked short by only a few inches. With victory stowed away, the Mustangs avenged the 9-0 licking handed them by the Owls at Houston last year. The win made them a wide favorite to capture the Southwest crown and served notice that the Mustangs would have to be considered for the Rose Bowl classic New Year's day.

The Dallasites piled up thirteen first downs to the Owl's five and made a total of 262 yards from scrimmage while the Owls were making 101.

BAYLOR FROSH MEET RAMBLERS

WACO, Oct. 19.—Coach Jim Crow's Baylor freshmen eleven makes its 1935 debut against the Allen College Ramblers here Tuesday night under the floodlights on Carroll field in Waco. Inter-squad scrimmages and drills against the varsity eleven has hardened the Cubs, and their supporters believe they will usher in the first of a three-game schedule in a manner that will mark them as one of the strongest first year teams in Baylor's history.

Coach Jake Wilson's Allen crew is reported to be strong again this season, and Coach Crow realizes that his proteges can not make a lackluster performance and hope to annex a win from the Ramblers. He believes his team is ready for stiff competition, and that it will function in surprising early season fashion.

The Cub backfield is the strongest part of the team, and it is likely that a brilliant offense will greet the Allen eleven. Billy Patterson of Hillsboro, the Cub quarterback, is a sensational passer and the ever-ready game will be one of the spearheads of the young Bear's offense. Ted Lewellen of Temple will be at one halfback position Tuesday night. Possesses speed and shiftiness, and has a penchant for long runs. He has a cautious pivot that he uses to full advantage in twisting away from aspiring tacklers with ease and grace.

As Cordill Scored First Touchdown Against Cisco

Ole Cordill, Bristow's big smashing back, is shown as he lunged over from the two yard line in the second period for Big Spring's first tally against the Cisco Lobos here Friday night. The touchdown culminated a drive from midfield. In the foreground, J. W. Coats, Steer back, can be seen with a block on Burnam, 175 pound Lobo bruiser. Stansbury and McCauley of the Cisco team were coming up from the end zone. Stansbury is No. 5, McCauley No. 1.

Steers Thump Lobos Here Friday Night, 19 To 7

Cordill Leads Local To Victory Over Oil Belters

Unless Big Spring shows a tremendous improvement over play against Cisco Friday night, the versatile San Angelo Bobcats will trim the Steers by twenty or thirty points, according to Dexter Shelley, coach of the Lobos.

Shelley should know. His team lost to the Bobcats, 49 to 0, and the Cats didn't flash their full bag of tricks then, in Shelley's opinion.

The San Angelo coaches have one of the surprise teams of the state. They started the season with a lightweight line-up that was not well spotted with experience, but pulled out of the rut and are undefeated to date.

Cordill 2, Coats 1

Cordill drove over for two Steer touchdowns with Coats running over another. Rylee, who did most of the ground-gaining for the Lobos, tallied the Cisco counter and Burnam added the extra point from placement.

The Longhorns displayed a great superiority in ground performance, although they showed little defense in the first period when the Ciscoans sifted through the line deep into Steer territory and Rylee darted over center into pay territory to give the visitors the lead.

For the first few minutes of the game the teams bounced around in midfield but Rylee placed the Big Springers in a dangerous position with an accurate boot into the coffin corner that sent the ball spinning out on the Bovine one-foot line.

Upsets Stun Grid Fandom

Owls, Michigan State Spartans, Duke Fall By The Wayside

By HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

The underdogs had nothing but football "strikes" Saturday and left the already shell-shocked fandom guessing the defeat of a half dozen prime favorites Saturday, headed by the Rice Owl, Michigan State Spartans, and Duke Blue Devils.

To Boston College, Georgia Tech gave the credit for engineering the most startling upsets of the day. Michigan State, in what appeared to be a warm up with Boston College, turned in an amazing performance to whip the hot favorites, 18 to 6.

Georgia Tech, which ruined Duke's undefeated record two years ago, came through with another bang up game to win, 6-0, in the most stunning of the southern series of form reversals.

Rice fell before S. M. U., 10 to 0. Indiana's 7 to 0 setback at the hands of the University of Cincy and Nebraska's scoreless tie which previously had lost to Port Hayes Teachers, likewise came as a shock to form players.

Meanwhile, Yale, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California, Washington, Army and Dartmouth continued their unbeaten charge through the opposition.

THE NEW FOOTBALL--

game for Big Spring, completed a short one over center to Jones who was downed on the Cisco 38. Coats backed away to try another pass but was dumped for a six-yard loss just as the half ended.

Steers rallied with a rush as the last half got under way. Fighting the mud and a stubborn Cisco defense, the Bovines, with Cordill and the Coats brothers taking turns at totting the ball, placed the ball deep in enemy territory where Cordill set the stage for another touchdown by taking the ball to the five for a first down. He needed only one attempt to score, going over standing up. Cordill failed to add the point from placement.

Although holding the upper hand throughout the third period, playing mostly in the visitor's territory, the locals were unable to score again until late in the fourth. Laterals and a spread play took the Lobos to the Big Spring thirty early in the last period, but a fumble by Ryles which was recovered by Jones, Big Spring wingman, cut the drive short. After that Bristol's boys had the situation well in hand.

Cordill went over center to his own 47, off tackle to the 45, and then W. Coats shot a nice pass to Ole who was downed on the Cisco 26. The pass bounced off two Cisco men. Cordill picked up to the twelve for a first down and then went to the ten.

Woodrow Coats got away to the five on a reverse and Cordill lunged off tackle to the two. From there, W. Coats plunged through the center of the line. Cordill missed the point.

Big Spring had sixteen first downs to six for the Lobos. The Steers tried three passes, completing one for fourteen yards, while Cisco tried five, completing one for five yards.

Lubbock Favors District Three

LUBBOCK, Oct. 19.—Coach Weldon Chapman of Lubbock High school expressed himself as favorable to the transfer of Lubbock to District 3 when informed that officials had extended a membership invitation to the Westerners.

At a meeting in Sweetwater this week, representatives of the three schools which now comprise District 3, San Angelo, Big Spring and Sweetwater, voted to extend membership to Lubbock and Abilene.

Coach Chapman said that no action has been taken by local officials so far as he knew. An effort was made by Lubbock last spring to transfer to District 3 but was bitterly opposed by San Angelo.

Action of Texas Intercollegiate league authorities will be necessary before the changes can be made, but officials here have been informed by the state committee at Austin that this will be the last year only three teams will be permitted in the district. It is believed state officials will agree to Lubbock's transfer from District 1 to this sector.

There was one dissenting vote when move to invite Lubbock was made, that by Superintendent Chester Kenley of San Angelo, secretary of the District 3 executive committee. Later in the meeting, however, Kenley, after first saying San Angelo would seek to become a member of the Oil Belt district should Lubbock enter District 3, agreed to join others in inviting Lubbock and Abilene.

JACK DEAN TO GO WITH WHITE SOX

Leo Flynn, who managed the Amarillo Shannock baseball team the past season, stopped in Big Spring Saturday afternoon on his way to El Paso and reported that Jack Dean would probably go to the Chicago White Sox next year.

Flynn said that Amarillo would like to make a White Sox farm and that White Sox scouts had been favorably impressed with Dean's pitching in the Panhandle circuit. Two more boys with the Amarillo team last year are slated to go with the Sox, Evans and Pacheco.

The Amarillo manager said that Dean had a bad habit of overworking himself, and almost burned out during the season. Dean is now in school at Independence, Kan.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 19.—UP—Tulsa University piled up an imposing three-touchdown lead in the first half of its game with Washburn here Friday night and emerged with a 19-to-6 decision.

Kahl scored Tulsa's first touchdown when he intercepted a Washburn pass and ran 61 yards over the goal line. This was near the middle of the first period. Early in the second period Blackwell and Kahl of Tulsa bucked the ball to the six-yard line, from which Dennis went over and added the point.

The third touchdown came on Dennis' 31-yard pass to Clark, who skirted Washburn's right end for the score.

Washburn's score came in the third period. The Kansans recovered a Tulsa fumble on the 11-yard line and East plunged the ball over.

The mishap occurred as the Lubbock people were en route home from Big Spring, where a brother of Mrs. Feldman, Israel Leva, had undergone surgery last Wednesday. The car in which Mrs. Feldman and others were riding overturned after a collision with another automobile.

Mrs. Feldman suffered a broken back, resulting in partial paralysis, but she was expected to recover.

Mr. Feldman and Mrs. A. I. Glassman were given emergency treatment at the hospital.

Urge Further Work On Park In Davis Mts.

Planning Board Backing West Texas Scenic Project

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—"The Texas planning board is very much interested in the early completion of the Davis Mountains State Park highway," W. M. Massie, chairman, has announced. "Our board has considered the matter and believes that it is important to the people of Texas from a resort, scenic, and health standpoint. At our last meeting we unanimously adopted the following resolution: that the Texas planning board believes that the completion of the Davis Mountains State Park highway will afford needed additional recreation facilities for the people of Texas. The board, therefore, urges the state highway commission to order the resumption of work on this project as soon as funds are available."

"We feel that the completion of McDonald's observatory will add much to the interest of this area, and it is incumbent on Texans to complete the Davis Mountains State Park highway to give visitors to the observatory an opportunity to see more of the picturesque mountain surroundings," continued Mr. Massie.

"Property owners have already shown their interest in this highway by dedicating rights-of-way and 2,500 acres of land for state park sites," concluded Mr. Massie.

"and since this has been done some three or four years ago, we should find some means of completing this scenic drive at an early date."

Local Firms Praised For Credit Help

Bureau Ranks At Top In The State, Eubanks Reports

Cooperation of Big Spring merchants in assembling credit data is lauded by L. A. Eubanks, secretary of the Retail Merchants association here, who announced last week that the Big Spring bureau is rated by the state association secretary among the top-ranking units.

Eubanks returned last week from the annual school of the Texas Retail Credit Bureau secretaries, held at New Braunfels. The report on the local association was given there.

Said a bulletin issued by the Big Spring association:

"The state secretary of our association has rated the Big Spring bureau with the top circle and said after checking our file information that it was the most complete he had seen. We gave the reason for this, the fact that we have the best bunch of merchants who give complete information in assembling credit data. We want to keep the Big Spring bureau rated with the top and by the continued help and assistance of the best lot of merchants in Texas, we will."

"Since credit extension is now being handled on a more business-like basis than it has been in the past, it is necessary for the leaders in the credit field (the credit bureaus) to compile reports in such a manner so that the credit manager of the Eastern finance companies, who are buying the re-discounted paper, can have a mental picture of the paying ability, paying habits, history and resources of the individual who signed the contract or the credit application. If these finance companies who have millions of dollars capital demand such reports, it behooves the small merchant with limited capital to get the same type of report."

CROWTHER MAKES 1st GENT MARK

Pass, Sands To Collins, Puts Steers In Permanent Lead

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—The Texas Longhorns came from behind after Centenary had taken a lead in the first quarter to defeat the Centenary Gentlemen, 19 to 13, here Saturday.

Crowther put the Louisianans out in front by counting in the first period, but Atchison deadlocked the score by passing to Morrow for a touchdown.

Another pass, Sands to Collins, put the Steers in a permanent lead.

Crowther accounted for the other Centenary tally, lunging three yards for the counter.

Tales Of Early Texas

Mrs. W. C. Durham holding slate that was used in school by her grandmother Ann Davis Hardin and her grandmother's cousin, Jefferson Davis. The slate contains the dates of Jefferson Davis' birth and death.

TALES OF EARLY TEXAS HEROINE RECOUNTED BY GRANDDAUGHTER ON VISIT

Big Spring has a resident who is related to three eminent people, all of them famed for widely differing accomplishments.

Gone To San Antonio

MRS. J. B. YOUNG

Mr. Blount is entertaining his mother, Mrs. W. C. Durham of Belton, this month. She is regaling him and his family with many interesting facts about early Texas and the family history.

when she was seven and the children were sent to their grandmothers. The old lady passed away in 1888, one year before Jefferson Davis died.

Mrs. Durham used the slate also. It is a fairly large slate, and the edges are reinforced with tin corners. Mrs. Durham said it was that way when she was a little girl, but she does not know who reinforced it or how long it had been that way.

The grandmother told some hair-raising tales of the Texas of those days, long before the town of Austin was founded.

Ann Davis was married to Warren Creswell by a Mexican Catholic priest in a mission. After two children were born, her husband died, a victim of a cholera epidemic that swept Polk county.

Another heroism that Mrs. Durham prizes as much as the slate is an old-fashioned night cap belonging to her grandmother. But she did not bring it to Big Spring with her.

Mrs. Durham's memories of her grandmother are vivid because she was reared by her to the age of 14. Mrs. Durham's mother died for a shotgun.

The Hardins settled in Hill county and once owned much of the land over which the town of Hillsboro is now spread. They say an uncle sold the site of one of the city's most prosperous drug stores for a shotgun.

EVENT ON NEXT SATURDAY WILL BE A UNIQUE DISPLAY OF BLOOMS, POTTED PLANTS

Mrs. L. E. Eddy, General Chairman, Announces Names Of Committee Chairmen, Lists Of Awards And Donors

Details for the Flower Show to be held here next Saturday in the show room of the Big Spring Motor company (Ford) were completed at a series of committee sessions held at the home of the general chairman, Mrs. L. E. Eddy Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Eddy announced that the show would be a departure from the customary exhibit in several respects. Prizes will be given instead of ribbon awards to first and second winners. An exhibit of tables using cut flowers for centerpieces will be a new feature.

Personally Speaking

Three entrants are already listed for the tea table exhibit.

Mrs. Eddy stressed the fact that the flower show is not limited to members of the Garden Club. Anyone may exhibit cut flowers, potted plants, hanging basket window boxes, or any arrangement of flowers he desires.

A visitor's registration book will be another new feature of the show. The project of the Garden club is to promote the planting and growth of flowers and shrubs adapted to this semi-arid climate.

Mrs. Horace Penn was named chairman of the committee to secure a building for the show; Mrs. J. A. Boykin, chairman to secure stands, chairs, etc.; Mrs. Merle Stewart, contacting flower-growers to make entries; Mrs. J. P. Dodge, assembling plants, decorating.

Mrs. T. J. A. Robinson, registration of plants; Mrs. E. D. Merrill, prizes and ribbons; Mrs. L. S. McDowell, hostesses; registration of visitors, Mrs. R. V. Hart.

A generous array of prizes has been donated by the merchants of the city. This is the first time the Flower Show has ever offered prizes to those bringing in the best exhibits. Hitherto ribbons have been awarded. Ribbons will be awarded this year to those winning third place, but first and second winners will receive substantial prizes.

Another innovation is the listing of classes of plants in which entries may be made. In other years people brought down what they had and the classifications were made at the show. Mrs. Eddy asks that flower growers study these lists and strive to enter plants that will fall into one or more of the classes.

First prize for best collection of roses; $3 worth of plants donated by Ross Nursery. Second prize, one quart of auto polish and polishing cloth donated by Thorp Paint store.

First prize for dahlias, electric table lamp donated by the Texas Electric company. Second prize, hand garden fork donated by Rie Furniture company.

First prize, on coles, 24-pound sack of flour donated by Robinson & Son Grocery.

By MRS. MARY BUMPASS
The museum was open during the V. F. W. fair week and many visitors called. The following were hostesses: Meses. E. M. Conley, W. F. Cushing, Mrs. Stripling, L. L. Freeman and Kathleen Williams.

One of the most interesting gifts during the past week was the N. R. A. emblem donated by E. O. Jones and mounted by Mrs. C. A. Bass. Mrs. Bass is quite an artist when it comes to creations of models in art. The pedestal is in the form of a woman handsomely gowned in blue and gold and from which the "Blue Eagle" spreads its protecting wings. Two vases covered with walnut hulls and painted in blue and gold and a statuette of Cinderella whose dress is adorned with golden sea shells from Corpus Christi bay fill an old antique table.

Robert Bassetti brought in two large Indian grind rocks and fifteen grinders last week from southwest of Cochen refinery, a former Indian camp ground. Others have contributed until the Indian collection has become a central attraction. Many recent collections have been added to the Harrison-Garnette case.

J. H. Dement has a unique collection of airplanes, knives, bullets, foreign coins, etc., recently placed in a case. Albert Burger and William Gray have added interesting collections of ships. Mrs. Hart Phillips sent an adobe brick from an old squatter's home in New Mexico.

Bruce Frazier, Centennial board member, received word from H. E. Wright, Houston, asking that Howard county contribute a piece of wood from some historic tree or a tree in a historic spot to be placed on a Texas historic table that he is making for the Centennial. A piece of cedar from the Big Spring, approximately where Capt. Randolph Barnes Marcy camped with his army in 1846 has been secured by Mr. Frazier and mailed to Mr. Wright by Mrs. Mary Bumpass with the history connected with the Big Spring.

According to Mr. Wright's letter, every county in Texas will have a part in this tree table-top, each with its history attached. Mr. Wright is director of the arts department in the John H. Reagan high school, Houston.

The Tardy publishing company is putting out a magazine dedicated to the southwestern inhabitants of the U. S.

It covers a big field, trying to embrace all of the various activities of that part of the country including libraries and schools, clubs and club women and poets.

The magazine made its first appearance in August. It is well printed and is particularly slanted at writers, if the September issue is anything to judge by.

It seems a good reference for those who want to know everything that is doing in this part of the country, but whether it will find sufficient material to fill its pages every month is something to report on later. The September issue is a promise only.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Distinguished new beauty of line has been combined with the outstanding comfort, safety and performance that have put the Ford V-8 in a class by itself. The car that led all others in 1935 has been made still better for the new year. It has been proved by the past and improved for the future. The New Ford provides every modern feature, with the assurance of satisfactory service. There are no experiments in it—nothing that has not been tried and tested. This means a great deal to motorists—especially in mechanical construction and safety. . . . The Ford gives you distinctly better performance because of its V-8 engine—it stands out also because it is such a safe car. The Steel Body, Safety Glass all around and Super-Safety Brakes provide exceptional security. . . . The Ford V-8 for 1936 is the finest, safest, most reliable Ford ever built.

New Modern Lines—New longer hood extends gracefully over the distinctive new radiator grille, accentuating the length of the car. New luxury fenders, with a wide flare, contribute to the imposing front-end appearance. Homs are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlights. New hood louvers. Steel wheels of entirely new design. Rich, enduring upholstery. Attractive appointments.

New Easier Steering—Steering gear ratio increased. Steering gear sector shaft mounted on roller bearings.

New Gear Shifting—Easier, quicker, smoother. Shorter distance for gear shift lever to travel. Quiet shifting. Quiet running in all speeds because of silent helical gears.

Super-Safety Brakes—Safest, most reliable type of brakes under all driving conditions. Mechanical brakes of the cone proved design as have been used for years on America's finest cars. Extra large braking area. Easy to apply.

Welded Steel Bodies—The Ford V-8 has a genuine all-steel body structure—electrically welded for still greater strength.

Safety Glass Throughout—All Ford body types are equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no extra cost.

V-8 Engine—Fine-car power, speed, acceleration and smoothness. The reliability of the Ford V-8 engine has been proved in actual service by more than two million motorists—over a million Ford V-8s purchased in the last year. Figures show that the Ford V-8 is the most economical Ford ever built. Every year the Ford costs less to run.

No "Breaking In"—The Ford V-8 engine is made to such high standards of precision that it requires no breaking in. You can drive 25 miles on hour the first day.

Efficient Cooling—The cooling system of the New Ford V-8 for 1936 circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-siphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit rapid flow of air around the engine.

Bodies Insulated for Quiet—The floor, dash and body panels of the Ford V-8 for 1936 are insulated with new materials that absorb and deaden sound.

Center-Pole Hiding—All passengers ride near the center of the car—cradled between the soft flexible springs. Exceptional comfort on every type of road. The Ford V-8 gives a front-seat ride to back-seat riders.

Unusual Body Room—Short, compact Ford V-8 engine takes up less space under the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used by passengers. There is increased room in the 1936 Ford Sedans because the rear quarter trim is recessed above the new style arm rests.

LOW FORD V-8 PRICES

Brian Aherne Opposite Star In Dramatic Romance

Joan Crawford brings a new kind of picture as well as a new leading man to the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday with her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "I Live My Life." The story is ovel, dramatic, and at times uproariously funny. The leading man is Brian Aherne, the distinguished English actor who with this picture comes into his own as a leading man of note.

STATE INTANGIBLE TAX LAW WILL FACE A TEST IN COURT

AUSTIN, Oct. 19.—Constitutionality of Texas intangible tax law will be determined at trial of a case beginning Oct. 28 in Federal district court at San Angelo, Attorney General William McCraw said Saturday. The attack on the law is contained in a suit brought by Atlantic Pipe Line company to enjoin Brown county officials from collecting taxes on its intangible property for 1934.

"The result of this case will be of far-reaching effect and will decide whether the act of the legislature passed in 1933, placing pipe line companies under the intangible tax law, will be upheld," McCraw explained. Not Uniform? The plaintiff alleged that the law, as applied to pipe line firms, is unconstitutional on the grounds that it does not constitute uniform taxation for the reason that other corporations having intangible values are not assessed under the law. It also was contended that the intangible values of other corporations are not taxed by the local tax authorities.

Another attack made upon its assessment is that the State Tax Board used a wrong method in determining the value of the plaintiff's intangible property. McCraw said the valuation placed upon intangible property of the Atlantic Pipe Line company for 1934 was approximately $6,000,000 for all of the counties through which its lines run.

Several of the major pipe line companies have filed suits in Travis county to enjoin the State Tax Board from certifying to the various counties the intangible value for 1935, and have secured temporary injunctions. These cases are set for trial on their merits Nov. 21.

In this suit, Assistant Attorney General H. Grady Chandler, Attorneys Marvin Hall, W. N. Sanders and M. E. Latham of the Tax department, will represent Brown county.

Oil Case Another important case, involving validity of the Texas Railroad Commission order requiring 100 per cent strapping of oil tanks, has been set for trial in Federal district court at San Antonio, McCraw said.

This order is being assailed by the Texas Pipe Line company in a suit to enjoin enforcement of amended Rule 9 which the Commission put into effect Dec. 1. It requires that the quantity of oil shall be computed from correctly compiled tank tables showing 100 per cent of the full capacity of the tanks in all oil fields of the state, but which allows a correction for temperature and a deduction for foreign materials.

Prior to the amendment the same corrections and deductions were allowed and in addition an arbitrary 1 per cent. "It is this change in the rule which does away with the arbitrary 1 per cent which is being attacked by the pipe line company," Chandler, who will represent the railroad commission, said.

It was claimed by the plaintiff that the railroad commission is without authority to promulgate the rule and also that the effect of the amended rule is to take property without due process. The plaintiff alleged further that the order was an attempt to regulate interstate transportation of oil.

Laboratory Machinery Is Ordered

Machines for the Elbow school industries laboratory were ordered Saturday. Included in the purchase order were saws, grinders, turning lathes and jig saws. Total cost was about $150.

The laboratory industries course is a new one for Elbow and is one of the few in Texas. It is designed for economy in equipment and features teaching of four types of work at a time. Classes are divided into four groups, one taking mechanical drawing, another woodwork, another sheet metal and a fourth electrical work. Each nine weeks the groups revolve to a type of work previously studied by another group.

Eighteen high school and 14 elementary students have been engaged for the past seven weeks in the laboratory, J. R. Hale, principal, said.

Mrs. R. V. Hart went to Santa Anna Friday to see her father who underwent an operation. She has reported that he is doing very well.

NEW TEAM OF ROMANCERS

Joan Crawford has a new leading man, Brian Aherne, in her latest starring vehicle, "I Live My Life," a dramatic romance. The two are shown here in a scene from the picture, which opens a two-day run today at the Ritz.

Elbow Students On Cavern Trip

Students of the Elbow school from the fifth through the ninth grade went through the Catibad Caverns last week. Fifty-two school children and four faculty supervisors made the trip in two school buses. They camped out two nights, one at Black River village, the other near the caverns. The trip was made without cost to any of the students. Faculty members had only to pay entrance fees into the caverns. Accompanying the students were J. R. Hale, principal, Mrs. Hale, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKee.

Jail Cell Is Setting For This Picture

The disclosures that followed a surprise raid last year by civic officials and reporters on one of New York's biggest penal institutions indicate that nothing is too wild or improbable to occur in an American jail. In writing the original story and screen play of "The Daring Young Man," the Fox film now at the Lyric theater, the authors found no need of exaggerating these disclosures in order to write one of the season's funniest stories.

The Lyric picture reveals radios and curtains in every cell, poker games going full blast, and gangsters giving orders to their mob via telephone. James Dunn and Mae Clarke have the featured roles in "The Daring Young Man," as a pair of rival newspaper reporters, whose romance is interrupted when Dunn is sent to jail by his city editor to get first hand information of conditions there. Neil Hamilton, Sidney Toler, Warren Hymer and other favorites are in the cast.

State's Cotton Ginnings Low

DALLAS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Texas cotton ginnings prior to Oct. 1 total only slightly more than half those at the same date last year. Harold M. Young, manager of the Dallas office of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, revealed that before Oct. 1 this year only 927,891 bales had been ginned, against 1,720,630 on the same day last year. Young said the lowest figures in comparison to ordinary yields were in the belt hit by worms.

Cooperative Gin Movement Is Spreading

Many New Farmer-Associations Formed In The South

More than 200 separate local groups of farmers in Oklahoma and Texas are ginning their cotton on cooperatively owned ginning plants this year, according to a study by the Cooperative division of the Farm Credit Administration. In some counties, it is estimated, fully half of the cotton will be ginned cooperatively. Favorable cotton crop prospects during the past spring and summer, as compared to the previous year, gave a decided impetus to cooperative cotton ginning in these states with the result that quite a number of new cooperative ginning associations were organized. In fact, a few new associations were started in 1934 despite the almost total failure of the cotton crop that year in many sections of these two states.

The Ford V-8 touring sedan for 1936, illustrated above, provides easy riding comfort and plenty of room. The built-in trunk is one of the conveniences, getting luggage out of the way of passengers. The bucket-type front seats are made more comfortable and the rear seat is wide and roomy. The rustless steel running board moulding is a new exterior touch. The new Fords are being shown at the Big Spring Motor company.

Crowds View '36 Ford Models Shown By B'Spring Motor Co.

In connection with a nation-wide showing of the Ford V-8 cars for 1936 were presented to the public of this section Saturday by the local dealer, the Big Spring Motor company. This display here attracted a large crowd throughout the day.

Tudor, Fordor and coupe types are being shown here, along with a commercial model.

Body lines which strike a new note in conservative streamlining, a new treatment of the interior and three important refinements in chassis engineering summarize the principal improvements in the 1936 car. There are no radical changes. The 85-horsepower V-8 engine, of which more than 2,000,000 are now on the road, is unaltered.

Of the three principal chassis improvements, one—improved steering—is aimed at greater ease and safety of operation. Two others tend to greater comfort. One is the use of new steel wheels which lessen the unsprung weight of the car and thus provide greater riding comfort. The other is an improved transmission, using quiet helical gears in all speeds, including reverse.

A new front end treatment gives added distinction to the body lines. The hood is longer, extending gracefully over the attractive new radiator grille. With its vertical slots and more accentuated "Vee," as well as its smoothly rounded lower edge which blends with the streamlined curve of the inner portion of the fenders, the new grille contributes a note of smartness which is distinctive and new.

Fenders are streamlined, a wide flare giving them an imposing appearance. Louvers are of new design. Horns are recessed in the fender aprons back of small round grilles beneath the streamlined headlamps. The latter are relatively small and parabolic in section, finished in enamel to match the body color and set off by rustless steel rims.

Body Types The welded steel body is low and wide, with flowing rear quarter lines. Finish is a Ford-developed baked enamel. The new steel wheels with 12 1/2-inch hub caps materially improve the appearance of the ensemble. Hub cap centers are of polished rustless steel.

Thirteen body types are available, ten with de luxe appointments and three without.

Interiors of the new cars, especially luxurious in the de luxe types, reveal a distinctly modern treatment. The color motif is a rich gray, with which the tape of the upholstery fabrics harmonizes.

The passenger space is commodious, unusual roominess being provided for by the location of the V-8 engine forward over the front axle.

Additional elbow room in the back seat of the Fordor and Fordor touring sedans is furnished by recessed arm rests. The Tudor sedan types have form fitting individual front seats. All driver seats in closed cars are adjustable.

Seat cushions are deeply pilowed and set off with new piping. Mohair, broadcloth or Bedford cord are optional in the de luxe sedans.

Mohair or broadcloth in the de luxe coupes; wide wale Bedford cord only in the types without de luxe equipment. Seat cushions in the cabriolet and convertible sedan are in genuine leather or Bedford cord; the seat cushion in the roadster and those in the phaeton are of genuine leather.

IMPROVED PONTIAC FOR 1936 DISPLAYED BY LOCAL DEALER

Many Refinements in Models Offered By Kiesling-Webb; District Manager Here

Models of the new 1936 Pontiac, which includes three lines—the straight eight, six and de luxe six—are now on public view at the Kiesling-Webb Motor company, Big Spring Pontiac dealers. The new models are being displayed throughout the nation.

In connection with the showing of the new cars in Big Spring, J. D. Eudaly of Dallas, district manager for the Pontiac Motor company, was in Big Spring Saturday, conferring with R. R. McEwen, manager of the Kiesling-Webb company.

Prices on the new models are within range of low priced automobiles.

Improvements included in the 1936 line are greater in number than they were for the 1935 models and fully as important to the motorist. Many of them are not as apparent at glance and probably none of them stand out as boldly as Fisher turret top bodies, hydraulic, triple sealed brakes or the sealed chassis of 1936, McEwen said.

A close examination discloses that the Pontiac engineers have gone through the 1935 chassis and bodies, feature by feature, refining this one and perfecting that one, keeping in mind the comfort and convenience of the motorist, and the economy, performance and safety of the car.

Nineteen Body Styles

The straight eight and de luxe six are available in six body styles each, while seven are mounted on the six chassis. Common to all lines are two-door and four-door touring sedans (with built-in trunk), all accommodating five passengers; the standard coupe for two passengers and the sport coupe for four passengers. The cabriolet built for four passengers is also available on the six chassis.

Many optional features are offered, with a wide variety of trims and finishes recently developed by Duco color engineers.

The seven models on the six chassis range from $615 to $745. De luxe six models are priced from $675 to $795 while the body styles on the straight eight chassis list from $730 to $860. All prices quoted are f. o. b. Pontiac factory.

Probably the most striking change in external appearance is the front end treatment, where the chromium grille has been crowned as it sweeps up over the radiator in an unbroken line, thus emphasizing speed and giving the impression of a longer, sleeker, faster and lower car, despite the unchanged wheelbases of 117 inches on the eight and 112 on the sixes.

Engines and Chassis Improved

Many refinements in the power plants and chassis have been made to give improved performance, quicker acceleration, easier starting, higher speed, better economy and greater convenience in handling. Pontiac features that have proved highly satisfactory, such as metered flow lubrication, cross flow cooling, silver-cadmium bearings, electro-plated pistons, rifle drilled connecting rods, square bore and stroke, and ample engine room for dependability and durability, naturally are retained.

The cylinder bore of the eight has been stepped up to 3 1/4 inches, thus increasing the piston displacement from 224 cubic inches to 232, and the horse-power from 84 to 87 at 3,800 R. P. M., with a consequent increase in acceleration, hill climbing ability and top speed.

Triple sealed hydraulic brakes are more positive than ever and have a still greater safety factor now with new and more sensitive cast iron brake drums and moulded linings.

Automatic choke, automatic throttle opener, new intake manifold and new combustion chamber are improvements in the six and de luxe engines. All models have a new clutch plate and new all-helical gear, synchro-mesh transmission.

sign to conform to the modern effect of the instrument panel, which has a center decorative scheme of chromium strips, in the de luxe types. De luxe car panels are fitted with 100-mile speedometer, with trip mileage recorder; ammeter, water temperature indicator, electric fuel gage and electric oil gage, as well as a cigar lighter, tilting ash tray and glove compartment. The ash tray may be removed and a Ford radio installed upon special order. The attractiveness of the interiors is also enhanced by more ornamental door and window mouldings and new style hardware. Mouldings and instrument panel in all cars are finished in gray metallic pyroxylin.

De luxe types have rear seat arm rests, dome light, two swinging type sun visors and an arm rest on the left front door for the convenience of the driver. Fordor types and the convertible sedan have robe rails and rear compartment foot rests. All sedan types have ash trays in the rear compartment. All body types are equipped with clear vision ventilation. Safety glass is standard in windshields and all doors and windows.

Shipment Of Chevrolets Is On Way Here

1936 Models Will Be Shown Nov. 2 By Carter Co.

A shipment of new 1936 Chevrolet standard and master deluxe cars is en route to Carter Chevrolet Company here, according to notification received Saturday by Ben R. Carter from the Chevrolet Motor Company. Mr. Carter was informed that his full quota of cars for the local announcement would be in his hands before Nov. 2, the introduction date.

"Production has been under way for many weeks, according to word from the factory," said Mr. Carter. "This means that we shall not only have a full line to show on Nov. 2, but that we will be able to make immediate deliveries."

"Our service personnel has been undergoing factory-directed training in the servicing of the new product, as part of a countrywide program instituted by Chevrolet. When the new cars come out, the service organization throughout the United States, including our own personnel, will be more thoroughly schooled in every detail of maintenance work on our new cars than ever before in Chevrolet history."

10 Million Acres Leased For Oil

Long ago sown by nature and now being reaped by man is oil, one of West Texas' and Southeastern New Mexico's principal crops. Even though no oil were produced at the present time, land under lease and averaging 25-cent annual rental in this vast empire totals some 10,000,000 acres, the annual rental income being upwards of $2,500,000.

But with the oil being produced annually the crop figures become tremendous. Since 1923, when oil was first taken from the country, 790,774,517 barrels of liquid gold, according to records, have come from fields of the Permian Basin. At the average price of oil for that period, these barrels totaled in value $993,080,886.75, the royalty portion of which would be $74,135,110.84.

Horses, Mules Sell At $100 Average

WICHITA, Kan., (U.P.)—The horse and mule market is coming back in the southwest. At a recent horse and mule anniversary sale by a commission firm 1,000 of the animals brought approximately $100,000.

Farmers in the southwest were among the heaviest buyers. With correspondingly high prices for farm machinery and gasoline and oil compared to low prices for feed the farmers are returning to animal power.

Funds Mailed To School Districts

AUSTIN, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—The department of education has mailed checks aggregating $4,330,536 in payment of $3 on the per capita apportionment to school districts. Common school districts received $1,486,540 and independent districts $2,843,996. Payment was withheld from one county and several hundred independent school districts because of failure to file approved depository bonds.

J. R. Petty New Dealer Here For Hudson-Terraplane Line

REFINEMENTS IN NEW HUDSON

Top photo shows the new Hudson eight-cylinder sedan mounted on 117-inch wheelbase with 113-horsepower engine. This is a full six-passenger capacity car with modern ventilating system and welded steel roof. As shown below, the late model Hudsons are featured with deeply upholstered seats. Finer fabrics are used and many conveniences have been added. J. R. Petty is the new dealer in Big Spring for Hudson-Terraplane cars, with salesrooms at 400 East Third street.

Announcement of the appointment of J. R. Petty as new dealer in Big Spring for the Hudson-Terraplane line of automobiles was made Saturday. The new agency will be located at the Auditorium Garage, 400 East Third street.

One of the new Terraplans is being exhibited now. Petty announced, and Hudson models are expected later.

A long-time resident of Big Spring, Petty has for many years been associated in the automotive business here.

The new line of Hudson and Terraplane cars is now being placed on display throughout the country. With more improvements than ever, the cars are said to reach a new peak in Hudson-Terraplane development, and goals the company has sought for many years have been achieved.

Steel Bodies The real complete body is one of them. In this "new type of body" the roof as well as the entire body structure is of steel. Heretofore it has been necessary to make the roof soft in order to keep away the drumming noise which resulted from attempts to use a solid steel roof. Science has now solved that problem and it is strange and interesting to note that it has been solved by the use of principles discovered in the handling of sound vibrations in the radio industry.

Another goal achieved this year is the elimination of the gearshift lever. Buyers of 1935 Hudsons and Terraplans have available to them an entirely new method of shifting gears. A touch of the finger, and the electro-magnet current selects the proper gear—actually in advance of the time it is needed—desired. This is a real achievement. It has been an engineering dream for two decades.

There are other great achievements to be found in these new cars. Swerveless, mechanical braking, fully automatic carburetion and automatic battery charging rate, and unparalleled engine efficiency that provides performance due to an extremely high ratio of power-to-weight.

The aim of the meeting is to decide on the contest music for the next western division contest and also the place of meeting. Mr. Conley said he hoped that Big Spring would be the next hostess city.

NO OVER-NIGHT CHANGE

We are reminded, in press dispatches from Washington that the ending of the drive is less than two weeks away. On November 1, the work relief program is supposed to be of such proportion that direct aid may be abandoned.

One is tempted to be skeptical. Work-relief figures apparently are still far short of the 3,500,000-job goal. Millions are still without benefit of income. Who is to say arbitrarily that "Until November 1, we feed you; after that you starve"?

Many far-sighted individuals opined long ago that the business of relief was much easier to start than to stop; they were told that the needy must be cared for, and the answer was correct; but if the needy required help months ago, do not they need help again this winter?

It is a situation that cannot be erased on any given date. The proposed solution is that states, counties, communities, welfare agencies and individuals shall resume their charity work; but these have not equipped themselves to shoulder a big burden overnight.

They must, of course, be prepared to carry a share of the load again; Big Spring already is trying to do that in the care of poor children at the Junior high school. Doubtless the sponsors of the welfare work will announce that the return to local aid is no simple task.

But the change can be no radical one. Works projects develop slowly; until they are in full swing, and until communities have accepted their part of the relief burden, one can only see a continuation of the so-called dole.

A REASONABLE REQUEST

Texas, in future years, will have cause to regret some of the 1936 Centennial expenditures, unless the celebration results in something of permanence. A lot of money is being spent, and it is money that should bring returns for a long time to come.

A group of West Texans are asking that a part of the centennial fund be set aside for a museum, probably to be located at Lubbock; and it occurs to The Herald that this is a reasonable request.

Reasonable, certainly, when considered in the light of plans to scatter money for glorified carnivals, for sundry roadside markers.

Many have argued that the Centennial should represent the historical phases; a well-planned, well-developed museum would do this as few projects would. There is much of glamor and glory in the development of West Texas that should be retained in its history and its relics.

This section as yet has shared little in the Centennial plans. It deserves some attention, and a museum is logical project for true historical benefit.

SAY IT IN PERSON

Big Spring has a first class opportunity Monday to demonstrate the good neighbor policy.

Right next door, so to speak, the city of Midland has accomplished much in a short time in building and opening a well-rounded fair. It isn't strictly for Midlanders, but for all West Texans, and the city has been generous enough to designate Monday at the fair as Big Spring Day.

It is up to us to show that Big Spring is behind any civic promotion in this section.

A motorcade is being organized. The high school band and pep squad will go along to add zest and color. That motorcade should be a big one, comparative to Big Spring's ability to put over a civic program.

Midland has done a good work. Big Spring, as her neighbor, owes her congratulations. And the best way to say "well done" is to do it in person.

Let the showing in Midland Monday be a big one.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

Radicals—
Nobody admits it publicly, but the A. F. of L. and the administration have virtually negotiated a "gentleman's agreement." Both William Green, president of the Federation, and John Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, have stated their political lives on the White House—Lewis less than Green. Now they just must justify this strategy with their followers. On its side the administration expects these influential figures to keep peace in the industrial sector.

The call for a completely pro-labor party seems to upset this agreement. It suggests that many elements are not satisfied with the policy of playing along with the administration followed by Messrs. Lewis and Green. Unless the movement is checked, it may lead to an alliance between discontented labor left wingers and political "radicals" of all stripes.

Sentiment in favor of a separate political setup was not expected to crystallize at this time.

Admitted—
When GOP Chairman Fletcher goes to sleep each night he utters a silent prayer that his guardian angel will strike republican presidential candidates deaf and dumb. Every time they talk or write they make his job harder.

Every exchange seems to demonstrate that the GOP is hopelessly divided. When Col. Frank Knox spoke in favor of an export bounty as against the AAA program, Senator Arthur Capper and many others leaped on him. It was most embarrassing for Candidate Knox. When Bill Borah urged Teddy Roosevelt to center his fire on "trusts," the great Roosevelt's office sipping politely but publicly declined. He was for hitting the administration's extravagance. Advocates of the constitution as an issue have been howled down by practical politicians.

These preliminary exchanges may seem to be unimportant. But political insiders deplore them. They know that all this airing of GOP differences will make capital for the democrats in the presidential campaign. Charles Mitchell, the democrats' new publicist, admits it.

Separation—
Harry Hopkins and Harold Ickes, now crisscrossing with President Roosevelt, have more in common than one would think. Both are working to separate the two. Both are working to separate the two. Both are working to separate the two.

Under the new system there will be a sharp division between Hopkins' relief work and Ickes' more durable projects. The former will handle unprofitable projects designed to dole out funds and jobs in a hurry, and thereby keep the consumption market active. The latter will dig up projects which will furnish orders for the heavy industries. Mr. Hopkins will have more money, but Mr. Ickes will have enough to furnish a market for steel, machinery, cement, bricks, lumber. There will be a complete separation of "relief" and "recovery" programs.

Details—
Washington sideliights on the war clouds: Although Austria and Hungary have refused to apply League of Nations sanctions to Italy, no diplomatic action that punitive measures will be employed against these nations. They are the economic orphans of Central Europe. Broke and buffeted, they have received aid from both the league and Mussolini. Geneva negotiated loans to feed their starving people in post-war years, and Il Duce saved them from "Big Bad Wolf" Hitler.

The war and navy departments have clamored down the censorship lid on their activities. They seem to think the United States is at war. They won't even give out the number of planes which took part in the recent naval review off San Diego. It was 490—the greatest concentration of its kind in American history.

The annual loss of trade with Italy resulting from the embargo—about $60,000,000—doesn't amount to one-tenth of the yearly operating cost for our part in "making the world safe for democracy in 1917-1918. And the money lost for lack of commerce with Ethiopia will hardly pay for uniforms for our general staff. The figures are official.

Major George L. Berry has sent 5,000 letters to industrial and labor leaders urging their participation in a series of conferences to consider a substitute for NRA. The recipients of his invitations are rather agog at this outburst of activity and highly skeptical of results. It's known that some of Mr. Berry's Washington associates tried to dissuade him from such an ambitious plan—contending that such a wholesale solicitation of views could only confound confusion.

One trouble is that most responsible business leaders will decline to take part in the discussions on the ground that they can't possibly lend anywhere. The only industrial Shrewd political analysts figure that the prohibition argument is due for revival in a big way. Earnest dyes have been busy cataloguing the abuses of repeal—and distillers and brewers have furnished them with a sizeable list. The auto accident toll also plays into their hands. its hand by embargoing Italian imports on the ground of dumping. While the administration intends to restrict its export embargo to war materials for the present—in the hope that hostilities will soon be over—New York insiders understand it is ready to broaden the embargo list any time FDR feels that such a step will serve the cause of peace.

MORNING STAR

Chapter 10
DAWK FUTURE
Half an hour later Judith, clad in vivid pajamas and a pair of scarlet mules, was sitting Turkish fashion at the foot of Emily's bed. One of the most refreshing of Judith's traits, Emily remembered, was this disregard for conventional hours; this unwillingness to relinquish one day until another had arrived.

"Well," Judith demanded, "what did you think of him?"
"He's attractive," Emily admitted. "And what is much more dangerous, he makes you feel attractive too. But he's not for the likes of me! I've had my share of problems for a while."

gracefully to three months of this life; after that you can think about what to do next." She opened the bedroom window, looked Emily warmly in the eyes and went out, the scarlet mules clicking as she walked.

Dan Raynor's house, Emily discovered two nights later, was not another classic example of Early Colonial; it was merely a house, big and rambling and badly in need of paint.

Except for an occasional fine piece of furniture and the Sully portrait in the hall the interior gave no indication of past glories in the Raynor history.

The living-room suggested the lounge of a man's club rather than a private home. It was almost crudely furnished; deep, cushioned chairs, a stone fireplace holding enormous logs, a fine pair of antlers above the mantel, a collection of old guns on the mantle-shelf.

After the inevitable drinks dinner was served on a small table before the living-room fire.

"That dining-room gets under my skin," Dan explained. "It's so big and gloomy that it takes at least a dozen people to subdue the damn thing. And with the present price of cotton! Lord knows when I'll be able to have it done over."

Emily glanced at the dinner which was a typical man's meal, beef filets with mushrooms, soufflé potatoes, Roquefort and coffee.

"I could eat food like this from the kitchen floor." "Dan always feeds you well," Judith explained with her mouth full. "It's his best trait."

Dan looked injured. "You're an unflattering beast. As if I didn't have a lot of good traits." Judith considered. "Yes—I suppose you have. You're kind and amiable, and loyal to your friends."

Charges Hurlled At The New Deal Based On Three Major Arguments

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Putting aside individual issues, the Republican indictment against the "new deal" may be summed up, as it stands today, in a few brief specifications:

That it is unsound economically. That it is not working in practice. That it is contrary to the Constitution. That it violates the Democratic promises of 1932.

The first three of these charges have been discussed widely, and Mr. Roosevelt's supporters have replied to them at some length.

It has been argued on the administration side that new economic measures were necessary if the country was to be rescued from the depression; that the beneficial results are apparent in improved economic conditions; and that "new deal" policies do not actually violate the Constitution, but merely apply constitutional principles in the light of the greatly changed necessities of the present day.

There remains the final charge of bad faith. Republican spokesmen are declaring with increasing frequency that the most vital features of the Democratic platform on which Mr. Roosevelt was elected have been scrapped; and thus far most Democratic leaders have ignored the accusation, or at least have undertaken no complete reply to it.

Hoover's Indictment
The weight attached to this part of the indictment in Republican quarters is evidenced by the prominence given it by Mr. Hoover in the keynote address he recently delivered at Oakland.

After suggesting that the Democrats would have polled far fewer votes three years ago if they had disclosed their intent to increase expenditures, maintain a deficit and increase the number of government employees, the former President continued:

"They would have lost still more votes had they informed us that they would abandon the gold standard; that they would devalue the dollar by 41 per cent; that they would repudiate government obligations; that they would seek to circumvent the Constitution; that they would attempt to socialize and regiment Americans."

Mr. Hoover takes the negative aspects of the case. He charges lack of frankness, rather than actual affirmative deception. Other Republicans, however, have gone further, quoting directly the Democratic platform promises to reduce government expenditures by one-fourth, maintain a "sound" currency, and enforce strictly the anti-trust laws.

Some even have pointed out it was the Socialist platform, not the Democratic, which proposed such things as a $5,000,000,000 relief appropriation, a $5,000,000,000 public works appropriation, and old-age pensions.

Robinson's Reply
A reply to Mr. Hoover's speech was issued by the Democratic national committee in the form of a statement by Senator Robinson, the party's leader in the senate.

This statement took exception to the former President's figures on expenditures, disputed his thesis that the present industrial system dated from the supreme court decision holding NRA unconstitutional, and concluded:

"Like every other Republican speaker of the present era, while deploring the relief expenditures, he gives no hint of any project, plan, or even an idea of a substitute program to keep the unemployed from hunger and hardship until such time as industry can and will put them back to work."

The statement may or may not have been intended as an all-inclusive answer to Mr. Hoover, but for whatever reason, it did not review in detail his charge of lack of frankness.

If this Democratic utterance is significant in its content and in its omissions, it would seem that the dispute develops in this fashion: The Republicans say the Democratic party has broken faith, duped the voters, and turned its back on solemn promises. The Democrats reply: "How could it have been helped, and what would you have done?"

But perhaps much more will be heard about this later.

P. O. Location At Midland Is Fixed

With the site announced from Washington, next step in the procedure for the construction of a postoffice at Midland will be the drawing of plans by a government architect, it was announced from that city last week.

Midland citizens said they hoped an effort would be made to secure an appropriation of as much as $100,000 for the building.

Location of the proposed structure is at the intersection of Lorraine and Texas streets, lying 175 feet along the Lorraine street front. The property is immediately east of the courthouse block.

Oil Notes

Interest is again focused on another test being made by C. J. "Red" Davidson. Oil men are keeping their eyes on the Davidson and Honolulu No. 1 Bennett, section 678, Block D in the J. H. Gibson survey of Yoakum county. Cementing of 7-inch casing at 4,650 feet will be started as soon as casing has been finished. Thursday it had 3,800 feet of oil in the hole. Total depth is 5,000 feet. Twenty-five dollars an acre was refused for a tract a mile and a half from the well.

Two Continental tests in Howard county are drilling ahead and a third is to be spudded soon. The Continental No. A-1 Settles is in brown and gray lime at 2,235 feet. Their No. 6 Eason is drilling at 1,278 feet in anhydrite while the No. 18 Settles is rigging up for spudding.

Women Drys Open Fight To Bar Beer Sale In CCC Camps

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The W. C. T. U., getting back into stride again, now that beer and liquor can be had legally in most states, deplored the sale of beer in CCC camps and at government posts at the state convention here.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, vice-president of the national organization, said she had written President Roosevelt but that he had passed the question on to the director of camps.

"I asked the president why Uncle Sam, who is supposed to protect the lives, health and morals of the CCC boys, permitted beer to be sold in the camps," Mrs. Colvin said.

A New York camp commander, Mrs. Colvin said, explained he considered it better that the boys get good beer at the camp than had beer some place else.

"And he said only the boys with merits could sell or serve the beer. Imagine making it an honor to be CCC bartender."

Midland Man Sells 250 Head Of Calves

Announcement was made in Midland this past week that W. W. Brunson had sold 250 head of steer calves, delivering them to Hardy Morgan. They were trucked from the L-T ranch to Morgan's place 15 miles south of Sweetwater where they will be run on wheat pasture.

The calves, Brunson said, brought exactly two and one-half times as much as steer calves from the same herd brought a year ago. He pointed out the advantage of immediate delivery, thereby getting the calves off the cows in time to give them a fattening period before cold weather.

Consequently, the publicity department is compiling a calendar of proposed events to form the basis for centennial publicity throughout the country.

Information regarding all centennial events, to be held from this day forward should be sent to the state publicity department, Texas Centennial, Dallas. Plans need not be definite as yet, members of the department emphasized. Advance information is needed to compile the calendar and definite details can be supplied later.

The Week

city limits. The city was to handle such litigation, however. This was done on the west end of the highway. The first of this year a new administration moved in. There remained very little land to acquire, the most costly being the strip through the L. E. Coleman property. Two suits were filed and subsequently dismissed. Now a third has been filed but is in a peculiar stalemate. This, briefly, is the history of the situation. Let's do a little reasoning now.

In the first place the property owners and lease holders cannot be blamed for asking the amount which they believe they are damaged. Likewise the court cannot be blamed for taking into consideration the statute which says that in paying for right-of-way, consideration shall be given to actual damage, also to benefit. The court seems to be willing to get the land. The judge, while wanting the land, is at odds on how to get it. He prefers to refuse to pay a price displeasing to him and let the highway commission sue for the land or change the route. He also objects to the county paying all the damages for the small piece of land and wants the city to pay half.

It seems to us that the state highway commission will not take over the suit nor should it. The county said it would get the right-of-way. We believe it will. Besides this, the route has already been given federal approval. To change it would be a gross waste of time and more expensive than to proceed the present one. The city is just as much a part of the county as any other territory and contributes a large amount of the county taxes. The road is a state highway and not just a county road. The former's function is to go across the county, the latter's to serve the citizens in getting to town or from town to country. Lastly, the judge objects in three towns men serving as a jury view commission because to acquiesce he "would be a rubber stamp." Inasmuch as the three men are agreeable to both parties, it appears that no collusion exists. There should be something wrong with towns people regarding town property when rural people were used exclusively in appraising rural property in similar suits. In the name of commonsense, the issue ought to be promptly faced here and settled here.

Down at Austin some members of the centennial commission are smarting under abuse from West Texas for discriminations against this section in allocation of funds. We learn from them that it is "unfair" and "ungentlemanly" for West Texas to object to getting a meagre portion of the funds. They tell us, it is because we have no historical background. No history indeed—West Texas can only lay claim to the oldest farm and settlement in the United States, to being the route for Coronado's excursion into what is now the states, to making the last advance against Indians, to retaining the last vestige of the pioneer spirit, ad infinitum. Yet, no history.

By Friday the Big Spring Independent school district had collected $12,000 in taxes since Oct. 1. This is principally because the district offers a 3 per cent discount for payments in October. We said at the outset of this plan that it appeared a forward step in tax collections. Experience has borne out the prediction. Right now constitutionality of a bill to permit this being done is on trial. Regardless of whether it is constitutional, it is sensible.

Big Spring stepped into the limelight last week with its air-mail celebration. Much praise is due to the Chamber of Commerce for taking a leading role in the affair and to the citizenry for participating so loyally. Through the one-day ceremony at the airport, this city gained widespread publicity. It is easy to believe that it may have a beneficial effect on future developments of aviation in this section.

Every year the U. S. Experiment Farm does a remarkably good piece of work. If farmers and stockmen would but avail themselves of information gained over a period of years at the farm, they would save time and make more money. For instance, a farmer does not have to guess whether his cotton will produce more if planted after peas or maize or some other crop. He can find out from the farm. Likewise a stockman can learn what native feeds get best results, whether individual feeding pays over group feeding.

Cosahoma is to vote Nov. 3 on a $20,000 bond issue for the school.
