Equipment Arriving For Canning Plants

RIOTING BREAKS OUT AGAIN IN MILL STRIKE

Fierce Fighting Is Started in Maine; Picket Dies

Partial shipments of equipment for Hall county's two government canning plant are arriving almost daily, but work on the construction of the plants will not begin for several days, according to Judge A. C. Hoffman, county administrator. Ample notice of the construction of the two plants through the newspapers before work will actually begin, Judge Hoffman said this morning.

Two canning projects, one in Memphis and one at Turkey were approved by the state board of the Texas relief commission last week, but no working order for the construction of the two plants was received. Even if sufficient equipment for the construction had arrived, no work would be available at this time because working orders for the construction must come out of the Austin office first, he said.

The equipment being received this week includes cookers, canners and sealers from various parts of the state where canning plants have been discontinued. The two plants in this county have been approved for operation on a 60 day period, and at the end of that time, if they are operating successfully and on a paying basis they will likely be continued for a longer period, Judge Hoffman said.

When the plants are put into operation, more than $4,000 will be paid out for operation labor during the two-month period.

Shoot To Kill Orders Issued After Report $2,000,000 Hold-Up Planned

DENVER, Sept. 19.—Shoot to kill orders were issued by police authorities late yesterday as they started a search for John Hamilton and George (Baby Face) Nelson, who were reported in Denver making plans to intercept a mint shipment of $200,000,000 in gold.

Chief of police Albert T. Clark indicated he had received a tip from the underworld sources that the two former Dillinger gangsters were planning the robbery here.

Chief Clark immediately organized a picked crew of sharpshooters from the detective force and sent them on a tour of the down-

PART OF CAST IN MINSTREL SELECTED

Best Talent Chosen For Junior C of C Production

First indications show that the negro minstrel being planned by the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce will contain the best talent in Memphis and will be an outstanding success. Only part of the cast for the mammoth production was selected last night when members of the organization met at the high school auditorium.

The balance of the cast will be selected and other plans laid tonight in a meeting at the high school auditorium called for 7:30 o'clock, according to Dr. L. M. Hicks, president of the chamber.

According to Russell Clark, who wrote the production and is being assisted by Mrs. C. L. Sloan, Jr., in the direction, every member of the cast selected last night is enthusiastic over the plans and every thing is going forward in a satisfactory manner.

A goal of more than 50 members of the organization and others interested in the minstrel has been set for the meeting tonight by Dr. Hicks. More than 30 were present for last night's meeting, he said.

DENIES CAPTAIN MET FOUL PLAY

Rumors Prevail That Head of Morro Castle Was Killed Before Ship Burned

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Rumors that Captain Robert R. Willmont, who died several hours before his ship, the Morro Castle was swept by fire, had met with foul play was denied today by an officer of the liner.

Howard Hansen, fourth officer, today told the Department of Commerce board investigating the disaster he found no marks of violence on the captain's body.

Rumors that Captain Willmont died from unnatural causes, possibly poisoning, were responsible for an analysis of his charred remains.

Jury Is Given G. W. Shoffitt Case Early This Afternoon

Boulder Dam Reaches Toward Sky

With its vast bulk mounting steadily as construction crews drive forward with work on the mammoth federal hydroelectric project, the progress on Boulder dam is shown strikingly by this picture. The height which this section of the barrier has attained is shown as it appears from the Nevada rim of Black canyon.

At about 2 o'clock this afternoon a Hall county jury received the state's case against G. W. Shoffitt, Donley county veterinarian, charged with "assault with intent to murder with malice and aforethought" against Guy Pierce, Donley County sheriff.

The grey-haired defendant is charged with having fired shots at Pierce at Clarendon on the night of December 31, 1933, when the sheriff and Deputy Guy Wright attempted to arrest him on a liquor charge. In the exchange of bullets, both Shoffitt and Wright were wounded.

Completed Yesterday
 The case was tried before District Judge A. J. Fires in 100th District court yesterday and today. This morning Judge Fires read his instructions and charges to the jury, placing the sentence, if the defendant is found guilty, at from 2 to 15 years.

Arguments were given the jury this morning by John Deaver for the state and by Carl Periman and Allen Grundy for the defense.

Both the state and defense rested their cases with the jury yesterday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock and Judge Fires dismissed court until 9:30 this morning, while he and the attorneys prepared their charges to the jury.

Shoffitt Testifies

Shoffitt's testimony in his own defense was the high spot of yesterday afternoon's court proceedings. He was called to the stand at 1:30 o'clock and gave his account of the shooting affray, which, in almost every instance, was in direct opposition to that given in the morning session by Sheriff Pierce. His plea was self-protection and protection of his property from unlawful intrusion. Pierce had previously admitted having made the raid without a search warrant.

In his direct testimony, Shoffitt declared that he asked the sheriff and his deputy to leave his place after the sheriff had searched his house for whiskey. A bottle containing three-fourths of a pint was the only liquor found, the testimony showed.

Says Sheriff Opened Fire

When the officers stepped out of the house, Shoffitt followed, carrying a double-barreled shotgun because "Pierce had made threats to kill me if he ever had the chance," the defendant declared. Upon looking around and seeing that he was armed, Shoffitt testified that Pierce cried out to Wright, "Look out, he's got a gun! Shoot him!" and then fired at him with a pistol. He answered their fire with two blasts from his shot-gun, he said. Deputy Wright was struck in the left side of the face by the shot-gun fire, putting out an eye, and in the exchange of bullets, Shoffitt was wounded. When he discovered he had been hit, he ran towards the house exchanging shots with the officers, he said. He testified that he used a pistol after emptying his shot-gun.

Returning to the door of the house with a high powered rifle, Shoffitt testified that he was fired at again as Sheriff Pierce drove off in his car with Wright. He answered this fire with two shots from the rifle, he said.

Goes To Hospital

After officers left, Shoffitt said he got into his car and started to a hospital to have his wounds dressed. He had been shot in the right arm, the bullet passing through his right side and coming out about the center of his back, according to the testimony of Dr. Oscar Jenkins, who dressed the wound afterwards.

While on his way to the hospital, the defendant said Pierce and his brother, I. D. Pierce, followed and fired twice more before forcing him to stop. After being pulled from his car, Shoffitt said he was struck over the head with a large flash-light and carried back to his home while officers searched the place. Upon cross-examination he said that it was some 25 or 30 minutes after his arrest before the officers took him back to the hospital to have his wounds treated.

Say Machine Guns Are Sold Without Any Restrictions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Senate Munitions committee was told today that foreign machine guns have been imported and sold without restriction in this country.

The testimony indicated that Federal Laboratories, Inc., engaged in lobbying in the state and national capitals to prevent legislation against the use of tear gas.

Martin Insull Trial Is Delayed One Week

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the criminal court yesterday postponed the trial of Martin Insull until next Monday.

Insull, 65-year-old brother of Samuel Insull, the former power king, is charged with embezzlement while serving as President of Middle West Utilities Company.

Fire-Swept Nome Faces Long Night Of Alaskan Winter Without Shelter

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 19.—Dire need in the face of approaching winter harassed the virtually helpless populace of fire-stricken Nome today.

Every building in town except the government wireless station, one hotel, a hospital, a section of waterfront warehouses and a few residences in the northern part of the municipality lay in smoking ruins.

Eskimos, some of them drunk, others frightened, ranged through the ruins of Alaska's famous City of Gold. Many were arrested and placed in improvised jails to prevent possible looting.

Hundreds of the town's 1,500 population were homeless, foodless and even without household belongings. The city's food reserve was in ashes, temperatures dipped near the freezing point. The Arctic Winter and the long night were creeping upon the forlorn community.

ADMITTANCE OF RUSSIA BEING PROTESTED

Federated Republics Protest to League Of Nations

GENEVA, Sept. 19.—A protest against the admission of Russia to the League of Nations was received by the assembly today from representatives of a group of independent republics federated with the Soviet government.

Azerbaijan, Northern Caucasus, Georgia, Turkestan and Ukraine claimed that Russia committed aggressions in their countries, occupied them by military force and is "governing only by terror" at the present.

ITALY OF TODAY: GERMANY OF 1914

SURPASSING, even, the great military drive of pre-war Germany, Italy has announced the most widespread military law ever passed in history. The home of the Fascist is to become another beehive of military activity.

The law requires military training of every male in the nation from ages of eight to 33. The lad of eight will have along with his reader and speller, in effect, a book on military science and tactics. From the day the boy starts to school he will be prepared "spiritually and physically" for battle. In other words, the use of the sword will become his religion.

Italy's Council of Ministers, in announcing the new law, stated that "the functions of citizens and soldiers are not dividable in the Fascist State."

This is another step in the race for armed power now going on in Europe—nothing more. Those that are not openly arming to the teeth are doing so privately; and if any is not doing so, it is worse off than the others.

For hundreds of years Europe has been a hotbed of strife and conflict. We are inclined to take the view of Hendrick Van Loon that until natural divisions are made in the states of Europe; until treaties that have no power when war is in the offing are burned up and the people who by nature belong together are corralled into the same pen and those who do not mix are separated, and then each is instructed to ignore the other, Europe will never see any duration of peace. It is the hodge-podge of civilization on the continent that makes it different from North America, where the nations can easily get along with one another.

The western world will not be bothered if only it will have sense enough to stay out of an argument that does not concern it in the least. War has not yet spread to the point where all the world must be included when two nations clash, if the rest of the world will only realize the fact.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, is snubbed by wealthy SYLVIA RIVERS. Due to Sylvia's gossip, Boots is forced to resign from the Juniors. Both girls live in Larchneck, fashionable New York suburb.

Russ goes to Miami, promising Boots he will send for her later. She gets a job in a big department store. After a few months she has an attack of influenza and is befriended by DENIS FENWAY, young author. Fenway sees that Boots has a doctor and nurse and begs her not to worry about expense. After she recovers he asks her to tea at his apartment. There she meets beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD who has a possessive manner toward Denis.

Just before her illness Boots received a telegram telling her Russ has been killed in a motorboat accident.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII

The routine of the shop began again. Hurry, hurry, hurry. Hurry to the street car, to the time clock, to the washroom. Hurry to lunch, hurry back. Boots' 19th birthday passed almost without notice. If she paused to think about the day at all it was to reflect that she felt at least 10 years older.

Occasionally she saw Denis. These were the bright spots in her life. Denis was working hard on the book. He gave himself a daily stint and kept to it religiously. And there were, of course, parties to distract him. So it was only a rare glimpse of his charmed life that Boots observed. Now and then he spoke fleetingly of Kay. She was going to be something or other in the Beaux Arts Pageant. Faymin was going to paint her. Faymin thought her, would ask her to come home for the holiday dinner. But he didn't. Mrs. Mooney looked in upon her about 12 on her way to "late church."

"We're having a turkey," she said robustly. "Ye must come and help us eat it."

It was so kind of her, Boots said, but she was going to dine with friends in Pelham. She told the lie bravely. Not even Mrs. Mooney should pity her.

After Mrs. Mooney had departed Boots dressed hastily with only a casual glance at herself in the mirror. If she had ever been thought pretty, she decided, she certainly had lost any claim to that distinction now. The delicate oval of her face was transparently pale; her eyes were ringed by shadows.

She went out into the snow-enrusted streets. Church bells were ringing all along the way and she passed hurrying groups of people, bundle laden. It seemed to her that she was, in all the big, strangely quiet city, the only person quite alone.

She wandered aimlessly over to Fifth Avenue, a slim figure in her dark blue coat, the fur collar pulled up snugly about her face. She would have a brief walk, she told herself. Later she would dine frugally at that little French restaurant near 10th street. She could not quite keep the tears from coming to her eyes. It was dreadful, dreadful to be alone in New York on Christmas Day.

And Denis who might have called... might have looked for her... had forgotten her. Not even a card...

She squared her shoulders resolutely, facing the wind.

The big car which had been traveling slowly near the curb drew up with a whine of brakes. She heard her name called in loud, cheerful tones.

"Mrs. Lund!"

Wheeling, she faced the pleasant brown face, the sturdy figure of Edward Van Sciver, muffled in a great coonskin coat.

"I thought it was you," he said with his big, boyish laugh. "I couldn't quite be sure. What luck! I was feeling forlorn as a stray pup, barging along. Then I saw you and I wasn't quite sure..."

He was urging her gently toward the car as he spoke, his big, gloved hand under her elbow. Boots protested faintly.

"Ah, but you must come along and have some chow with me," the young man stated firmly. "It

Cyclone Tackles Lakeview Eleven in Scrimmage

CLASHES BEFORE PADUCAH GAME ARE CLOSED

Locals To Open Season Here Friday Night

Going through their final scrimmage before they tackle the Paducah Dragons here Friday night in the first game of the season, the Memphis Cyclone clashed with the new Lakeview eleven at Fair Park yesterday afternoon in a grueling half-hour scrimmage.

Coach "Chesty" Walker learned several things about his charges in that session. He found that the squad is, generally speaking, ready to go to battle. He also learned that there are some weak spots that need working on, the outstanding of which is pass defense.

Fall To Stop Passes

Whereas the boys showed plenty of drive and power in pushing back the Lakeview visitors both on defense and offense, they let the opponents loose on numerous long tosses, that could mean touchdowns during a game.

Displaying a strong aerial attack of their own, the Cyclone indicated yesterday that early games, at least, may prove to be sensational scoring affairs, with both teams getting away for long pass gains if not for numerous touchdowns.

Lakeview Has Good Club

The invading Lakeview club, a large group of equally large boys, showed fine development for a group that has never had football experience before. The club is apt to develop into a real threat before the season is ended. The team is being coached by Bob Clark, former football and basketball star under the late S. D. Burton at West Texas Teachers college and last year a member of the Oregon, Utah, Boosters basketball club.

The battle was continued yesterday for guard, tackle and half-back berths, with the verdict declared "about 50-50."

Fight for Positions

Four players still hold about equal ratings in the fight for the two guard positions, with Coach Walker still undecided as to whom will be the starters. Bill Alexander, letterman, Ed Bourland, reserve, and Winifred Swift and Carl Eudy, newcomers, are the participants in the scramble. Cecil Grimes is the only casualty on the squad thus far. He is being bothered by a weak knee and is not likely to see action this week. This leaves the tackle positions for the present to Fred Sanders, a letterman, and Bud McAbee, shifted from guard to relieve the congestion.

The end positions are fairly certain with the veterans, Ross Springer and G. C. Baskerville, the choices.

Halfback Scramble

The Co-Captains, Charles Champion, defensive demon, and Jack Norman, the same on the offense, will start at center and quarter, respectively.

Three halfbacks are still in the running for starting positions, with Chester Grimes almost certain of one of the wings because of his pass-shagging ability. W. C. Crump and Dennis Walker are "50-50" for the other wing. To complicate matters here, Ray Childress, a little 117-pounder, is bidding strong and likely to see more than average service.

Norman Deason, a wizard at shagging punts, will start at full and likewise play safety.

Dedication Ceremony

Friday's game will start at 8 o'clock (if all the lighting equipment is ready, and it is being counted on by the athletic council), preceded by a 10-minute dedication program.

Yesterday about half of the fence around the new stadium had been constructed, and with the working going forward rapidly, the job may be completed today. The tall floodlight poles are in place around the field, awaiting only the arrival of the reflectors.

Parade of Witnesses
Upon cross examination, Shoffitt repeated "public" slander against Pierce's character and repeated the sheriff's alleged threat against his life. Both were vigorously denied by the sheriff and state witnesses.

Included in the parade of witnesses were Allen Jeffries, an ex-Texas ranger and close friend of Pierce; A. T. Russell, father-in-law of Shoffitt's son; Guy Wright, Pierce's deputy who was wounded in the affray; L. L. Cornelius, Shoffitt's neighbor, who brought out and drove all of the witnesses to the scene, all of whom were called in the case were not used.

John Deaver, Hall county district attorney, was assisted in the prosecution by R. Y. King, former county attorney of Donley county. Carl Periman was assisted in the defense by Allen Grundy, local attorney.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

RITZ

A model film for remodeled movies: "Among the Missing," Columbia's proof that crime does not pay, current at the Ritz theater.

Featuring Richard Cromwell, Henrietta Crosman and Billie Seward, pretty, dary-eyed star with her first lead, the picture deals with crime, the love of a woman and a girl for a young man who "goes wrong," saved by a dog, determination to "go straight" after the "last job," capture and forgiveness.

Henrietta Crosman, as Aunt Martha, a kind, elderly woman who runs away from the home of her nephew and is employed as housekeeper by a gang of jewel thieves without knowing their real identity, is the outstanding character. Richard Cromwell plays his usual good part as a youth easily led but strong in his determination after he once makes up his mind. Arthur Hohl and Ivan Simpson are good in their parts as jewel thieves. Billie Seward carries her part well in her first lead, but she does not have a chance to do a great deal of acting.

The picture, while not overly entertaining or outstanding, is well handled, has several thrills of an adventurous nature and carries an unmistakable moral lesson.

For children, perhaps; for young people, yes.

Miss Imogene King and Mrs. Ray Martin went to Canyon yesterday to take Helen Boswell and Betty Dale West, who will enroll at West Texas State Teachers college for the coming year. Miss King and Mrs. Martin will return by way of Amarillo and spend today at the Tri-State Fair.

Miss Mamie Bakke returned this morning from a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Bakke, at Clifton.

PALACE

Lots of giggles, a few laughs and some funny situations make the screen comedy "Love Birds" the type of picture that will take your mind off of your troubles and worries. And if you like Slim Summerville and Zazu Pitts and their type of comedy, you will like "Love Birds," showing for the last time today at the Palace.

Zazu has just as much trouble with her hands as usual and Slim is just as awkward as ever. Between the two of them, you are sure to see something that will give you a few pleasant giggles, if nothing more.

The story is light—in fact, so light it nearly floats off. There is not a serious thought in it—but did you ever see this comedy team with a serious thought?

The story begins in the east where Slim and Zazu meet under embarrassing situations and quickly shifts to the "Gold Coast" of California where they meet again after they have bought the same piece of property from a pair of "city slickers."

An amusing ghost scene in the wrecked "Le Mirage" ranch buildings precedes the old, old story of how the "suckers" turn the table
