SENATOR THOMAS F. WATSON DIES AT HOME IN WASHINGTON

Fighting Georgian, Statesman, Historian and Literatist Succumbs To Asthma

Washington, Sept. 26.—United States Senator Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, died suddenly at his home here early today. Death was said to be due to an acute attack of asthma, from which he had suffered recurrently for some years.

Although failing health had interrupted Senator Watson's attendance at the Senate sessions frequently in the last several months, he was in his seat Friday when the Senate adjourned and his friends believed that he was then showing improvement. He was stricken suddenly after dinner last night and passed away shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He was sixty-six years of age.

In the Senator's own language as given in his biographical sketch in the Congressional Directory, he conducted his campaign for the Senate as an anti Wilson, anti-League and anti-War measure Democrat. After defeating Senator Smith and Governor Dorsey for the nomination he was elected over Harry S. Edwards, independent candidate, who favored American participation in the League of Nations, by an overwhelming majority.

The body of the Senator will be taken to his home at Thompson, Ga., today at 3:15 o'clock.

FERGUSON WILL SUPPORT PEDDY FOR SENATOR

Principle Should Prevail Over Party. Duty of Citizen to Vote For Interest of State.

Temple, Sept. 27.—James E. Ferguson, defeated in the runoff primary of Aug. 26 for the United States Senate, today issued the following statement, giving reasons why he will support George E. Peddy, independent candidate:

"Shall I vote for Earle Mayfield, the klanman, or shall I vote for George Peddy, the patriot? Shall I go with the law or shall I go with the mob? Shall I go with those who want to set up an empire or shall I go with those who want to uphold this republic? Shall I go with that which is unclean or shall I go with that which is sincerity? For the sake of party, shall I sacrifice principle or for the sake of principle, shall I sacrifice party?"

"Those and many others are the question that have been running through and racking my mind for three days. I did not produce the issue. I did not produce the candidate. I did not attend the San Antonio convention that refused to endorse the bill of rights, that refused to endorse the right of trial by jury and refused to stand for religious liberty and political freedom. Nor did I attend the Dallas convention that condemned the klan and nominated George Peddy. Although I was in Dallas last week, I did not attend the convention, and although urged to do so, I remained away.

"The question up to me and every other citizen is: 'Shall we vote in November or shall we do like the darkey and take to the woods?'

"The task is not easy. No man ever faced such a crisis as now confronts me. I know better than anybody that it is impossible for me to please all my friends, who have supported me in former campaigns. I know that no matter what I do, I am going to be criticized. My motives as well as my actions will be questioned.

"But I shall not shirk my duty as a citizen. I shall perform that duty as God has given me mind to see it. He who does less betrays an obligation to his country. I shall therefore vote in the November election."

Non-Voter a Coward.
"If we fail to vote either because we are lazy or afraid, then the right to vote should be taken from us. The indifferent voter is today a greater enemy to his government than the corrupt voter. The voter who now stays away from the polls to escape going on record and to escape letting the world know how he or she stands is a moral coward and a traitor to the Nation. I am in favor of a law which would deny the right to vote back the brokers are to blame.

Good Crowd and Good Display of Exhibits, and Much Interest Shown. List of Prize Winners. 7 Win Trips to Dallas Fair.

The names of the contestants and the scores made follow:

Guy Orr 225
Brown Smith 207
Aubry Hughes 205
Glenn Thompson 198
Winfred Cooper 185
Morgan Dennis 170

Seven club members won trips to the Dallas Fair, the list follows:

Guy Orr, for stock judging;

The list of prize winners on canned fruits and vegetables and other exhibits are left off this week because Mr. Thompson lacked the time to prepare lists for this issue of the paper.

County Agent Hunter, of Childress was here and assisted Mr. Thompson in arrangements for the fair. He expressed pleasure at the showing made by the boys and girls, saying that the fair was excellent in every way and that the interest shown was a complement to Mr. Thompson as a club organizer, and to the membership as workers.

FORD SAYS "BUY
AS LITTLE COAL AS POSSIBLE"

High Time Robbery of Public Through Juggling and Manipulation Should Be Stopped

Detroit, Sept. 23.—Henry Ford, in an interview today, advised the people of the country to "buy as little coal as possible," declaring coal prices are tumbling.

Mr. Ford declared it was "high time systematic robbery of the American people and manipulation of the country's economic resources is stopped," and renewed his charges that financial interests staged the rail and coal strikes for the purpose of "killing the people."

Asked the exact reason for the closing of his plants which he termed an "industrial strike," the manufacturer continued:

"The plants were closed, first, out of consideration for our workmen, and second, consideration of all the people in Detroit—and I'll be surprised if the people of the whole United States do not profit by our action and the employ of our workmen in not buying coal now when very shortly they can buy much more cheaply.

"It's high time that the studied, calculated systematic, wholesale robbery of the American people through juggling manipulation and holding back of the country's economic resources should be stopped.

"The coal brokers and that dirty gang of Wall Street financiers that back the brokers are to blame.

CULBERSON'S SECRETARY FOR PEDDY IN RACE FOR SENATOR

Says Dallas Convention "Marks An Epoch in Constitutional Government."

Washington, Sept. 23.—C. W. Jurney, secretary to Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas, in a letter to George E. B. Peddy, Republican and independent Democratic nominee for Senate, indorses Mr. Peddy's candidacy and scores the Ku Klux Klan.

Mr. Jurney says the Dallas convention "marks an epoch in constitutional government" and is an "event which is the beginning of a movement which will not end until the Ku Klux Klan is suppressed." Mr. Jurney says, at one point, "As a Democrat, I welcome the Republican party of Texas as an ally in this struggle for the preservation of our liberties. I pledge you my support, and I believe every other Texas Democrat who will look the facts fairly in the face must come to the same conclusion."

Aroostook County wants to sever connections with the state of Maine and become the seventh New England state. The country is located in the northeastern part of the state and occupies about a third of the state's area. The county has grown more than 30 per cent in population since 1900 and 300 per cent in valuation.

OUSLEY WRITES OF KU KLUX KLAN AND DEMOCRACY

Members of Democracy Betrayed In The House of Their Fathers. Must Cast Out Klansmen.

The following, written by Hon. Clarence Ousley as an introduction to an able article opposing minority nominations, as practical under the present primary system, is reproduced because it so concisely and correctly sets out the principles of freedom and the foolish fallacy of fanaticism and intolerance:

The calling out of Mr. Peddy to oppose Mr. Mayfield for the United States Senate is a perfectly natural result of perfectly natural forces and traits operating under the mechanism of the Texas primary statute. When the flow of a stream is obstructed, the natural law of gravity works out another course.

It is a matter of constant amazement to me that people must learn over and over again, from generation to generation, from decade to decade, almost from day to day, the two unvarying truths of human nature which have been manifest in political affairs from the foundation of the world.

The first is that in every circumstance and relation of life men will abuse power. The second is that men will resist tyranny whenever the occasion offers even a remote chance of success.

It was not strange that the Ku Klux Klan seized the power of the Democratic party. The fact that other such efforts in the past came to grief sooner or later did not serve to restrain the passion of religious intolerance which persists in spite and experience. The temptation to misuse power is irresistible. All the conquerors, monopolist and usurpers of the world have had the same conceit of strength—oftentimes the same affectation of righteousness—and the same fatal contempt for the strength and character of those whom they would oppress. That is precisely the reason why the founders of this Republic set up a Government of limited powers—limited whether exercised by chosen officials or by classes or by the mass of sovereigns. The failure of a similar undertaking three-quarters of a century ago the Know Nothing Society, did not deter the klan. Example and philosophy have no meaning to the man or set of men in possession of individual, a group or a cult—assume wisdom superior to the wisdom of other tyrants who have failed or circumstances different from those which undid other tyrants, or under the obsession of conceit fails to think at all.

Nor was it strange that ambitious men used the Ku Klux for their own advancement. The most virtuous and the wisest movement con-

"DOLLAR DAY" BARGAINS BRING NEW CUSTOMERS

Co-operation Effort to Widen Memphis Trade Territory Has Satisfactory Results.

Last Tuesday was the first of a series of special bargain days offered by Memphis merchants who are co-operating in offering and advertising "Dollar Day," on Tuesdays of each week with a view of bringing trade to Memphis from a still wider territory.

The results shown on the first day, these merchants agree, fully justify the efforts and money expended.

Quite a number of persons from a distance, who do not trade here regularly, were attracted and each of the merchants who made substantial offers enjoyed a lively trade throughout the day.

Parties were here from a distance from each direction some of them for the first time this fall, and all seemed pleased, both with the special bargains offered and with the general prices made by the Memphis merchants, which, some of them stated, were appreciably below what they had been paying for similar articles.

The advertisers were not only pleased with the immediate results obtained, but expressed the belief that each succeeding "Dollar Day" would bring increasing returns as satisfied customers spread the news among their neighbors and friends.

The "Dollar Day" offers for next Friday, October 3, are more numerous than for last week, several additional advertisers having been added to the list.

In Sandhurst, Bendigo, Australia, it is not uncommon to see old prospectors and tramps prospecting "for color" after a heavy rainstorm. Gold is readily red-lead and a narrow load of this storm-sliced sand has been known to yield half an ounce of fine gold.

U. S. MARSHAL GIVES PRAISE TO STRIKERS

Houston, Sept. 23.—In announcing today that all special deputy marshals, with the exception of 18, have been discharged in account of the peaceful strike situation Capt. R. A. Harvin, United States marshal, paid a tribute to the attitude shown by the rail strikers and their leaders.

"We have been given every method of co-operation by the striking men," Captain Harvin said, "and the result is that only a few deputies are now needed."

THE TWO STANDARDS

"But if I had been a world war soldier and had come through unhurt I would be so proud to have had the opportunity to fight for my country that I would not touch a nickel of bonus. I think the right spirit of young Americans is to get out and make a way for themselves. No, I am not in favor of their receiving an aid in buying homes or farms."

—Charles M. Schwab, head of Bethlehem Steel.

These we should turn this about and say: "If I had the honor of furnishing steel for the great war I should be so proud of my place in the leading industry of America and of the contribution I could thus make to the winning of the war that I would not touch a nickel of profit."

VETERAN PANHANDLE NEWSPAPERMAN DEAD.

Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 22.—J. H. Hammer, 83 years old, Confederate veteran and for sixty-five years associated with newspaper work, died here Thursday night. He was buried in Claude Friday afternoon.

Mr. Hammer was a pioneer in the Panhandle, having moved here in 1890. He was for many years editor of the Claude News, was connected with other newspapers and also with the Memphis Commercial Appeal. He is survived by his daughter, Miss Laura V. Hammer, superintendent of schools in Potter County, Texas.

HERE is a reversal of the usual situation—instead of the easterner going West, Arizona goes to New York; "Arizona" is Clay Lindsay as fearless and resourceful a son of the wind-swept, sun-drenched desert as ever swung a lariat or mixed in the perils of a stampede. Cunning as a fox and hard as nails, this unspoiled man outwits and outfights the worst bad men of the metropolis.

But even Arizona meets its match in the person of a girl as game and resourceful as Clay Lindsay himself, and the ensuing events will satisfy the most romantic reader.

to those who have negligently failed to vote in former elections.

"Having decided that I must vote in the November election, the next important question is, 'How shall I vote?' There is one broad principle that should govern this privilege: vote for that which your conscience tells you is right and against that which your conscience tells you is wrong. When anybody starts out to tell a voter to do otherwise, then he has an axe to grind; and you had better look out.

"The first question that they will jump us with reference to the test printed on the ballots when we voted in the primary. Already they are asking in that self-satisfied way: 'How about the test? Let us meet the issue fairly. If I wanted to play politics and be popular with my 275,000 friends who voted for me in the primary, I would easily get behind the same argument. That would be the easy going for some people to do but not with me. How a man can believe something that he does not believe when dealing with an important question of government is beyond my understanding. No party obligation was ever that binding on the conscience of any voter.

"The test reads, 'I am a Democrat and agree to support the nominee of this primary. The language, 'I am a Democrat,' is just as important and just as binding as the agreement to support the nominees. Mayfield and his election henchmen reared around much about anybody voting who was not a Democrat. They intimidated and illegally kept out of the primary 40,000 ex-American party voters after that party had been dissolved and disbanded for more than a year; because, as they, the Mayfield crowd, said, they were not Democrats.

Can Klansman Be Democrats?

"Inasmuch as they were that particular and arbitrary during the campaign about having nothing but Democrats vote, then every voter who went into the primary had a right to presume that none but Democrats should be allowed to vote. And they further had the right to presume that the delegates elected by the authority of such primary would not refuse to endorse democratic principles. They had the right also to presume that said election would be conducted honestly and the vote correctly counted.

"Now with all these facts before us, we come face to face with the big question in this campaign.

"Can a Ku Klux Klansman be a Democrat? If not then it was a fraud upon every other Democrat to have let Earle Mayfield vote in the last primary, let alone nominate him; and every Democrat is relieved from any obligation to vote for him.

"It is a simple law that everybody knows that fraud makes void every contract which it taints. This primary was held out to be a primary where none but Democrats could vote and where none but Democrats could or would be nominated. Believing that a man cannot be a Democrat and a Klansman at the same time, I do not think that I am bound by any pledge to support Earle Mayfield, whom I know to be a member of the Klan. It may be said that I knew that he was a member before the election. While that is true, the fact was so well known, I had a right to presume that he and all other known Klansmen would be kept out of a Democratic primary. The failure to keep them out is a fraud on me and every other voter, who had a right to think that none but Democrats would be allowed to vote. They kept 40,000 of my ex-American party friends out, whom nobody ever dared claim did not stand for real Democratic principles; and yet they want to tear down this republic and set up an empire and an emperor to rule this country—who wants to tear down courthouses and abolish trial by jury and set up the rule of the wizard by the lash and the tar bucket. I want to be fair about this question. If the voter's conscience really tells him that this kind of a crowd worshipping this kind of principles is democracy, then he should go and vote for Mayfield and his crowd. But if our conscience tells us that this thing can not endure in a free country, then no pledge ought to bind us and we are moral cowards if we do not go to the polls and vote our convictions.

"Thinks Pledge Not Binding

"Those of us who so believe have decided that we will not vote for the so-called Democratic nominee, Earle Mayfield; and to make certain his absolute defeat, the help of the Republican party machinery has become available, and the Republicans will also vote for George Peddy. They are to be congratulated on their patriotism in this great crisis which now confronts the country. When the Democratic organization shall have purged itself of the Klan, then these real Democrats will return to the house of the fathers, which is now raided and ravished by an enemy.

"There might have been some reason for the contention that the Klan should not have been referred to by name, all for the sake of harmony; but when the San Antonio so-called Democratic convention voted down the Granbury resolution, which declared for the Declaration of Independence, for the Bill of Rights and for the Constitution of Texas, for the guarantees of a public trial by jury, for the right of everybody to select his own religion and for the right to worship according to the dictates of one's own conscience, then and there the real Democratic party ceased to exist and forfeited the right to exist any longer in Texas in that form; and every pledge that was ever exacted ceased to be binding on anybody. The Klan crowd then and there knocked the 'I am a Democrat' pledge into a cocked hat and it went up Salt Creek, where the human foot has never trod and the eye of God has never seen and the whang-doodle mourneth not, and then some—anyhow, that was the last of it.

"Just a few words about my friend George Peddy. He is everything that Earle Mayfield claims to be and aint. Born poor, raised poor and yet, George Peddy, I believe, has all the earmarks to become the Abe Lincoln of Texas. When you see him you will think so, too.

"I don't want my friends to fall out with George because he led that mob against me; because he was only 24 years of age then, and he had just been afflicted with a university diploma and he had not fully gotten over it—in fact, some people never do get over it. But the way George has recovered in the last six years is simply wonderful; and he is one college man that has got 'hoss sense' and is getting more every day. Mayfield is 41 years old and Peddy is just 30; but when you see and hear them both, you will know, whether you admit it or not, that George Peddy has more sense now than Earle Mayfield will ever have if he lives to

to those who have negligently failed to vote in former elections. "Having decided that I must vote in the November election, the next important question is, 'How shall I vote?' There is one broad principle that should govern this privilege: vote for that which your conscience tells you is right and against that which your conscience tells you is wrong. When anybody starts out to tell a voter to do otherwise, then he has an axe to grind; and you had better look out.

"The first question that they will jump us with reference to the test printed on the ballots when we voted in the primary. Already they are asking in that self-satisfied way: 'How about the test? Let us meet the issue fairly. If I wanted to play politics and be popular with my 275,000 friends who voted for me in the primary, I would easily get behind the same argument. That would be the easy going for some people to do but not with me. How a man can believe something he is afraid to say or say something that he does not believe when dealing with an important question of government is beyond my understanding. No party obligation was ever that binding on the conscience of any voter.

"The test reads, 'I am a Democrat and agree to support the nominee of this primary.' The language, 'I am a Democrat,' is just as important and just as binding as the agreement to support the nominees. Mayfield and his election henchmen reared around much about anybody voting who was not a Democrat. They intimated and illegally kept out of the primary 40,000 ex-American party voters after that party had been dissolved and disbanded for more than a year; because, as they, the Mayfield crowd, said, they were not Democrats.

Can Klanman Be Democrats?

"Inasmuch as they were that particular and arbitrary during the campaign about having nothing but Democrats vote, then every voter who went into the primary had a right to presume that none but Democrats should be allowed to vote. And they further had the right to presume that the delegates elected by the authority of such primary would not refuse to indorse democratic principles. They had the right also to presume that said election would be conducted honestly and the vote correctly counted.

"Now with all these facts before us, we come face to face with the big question in this campaign.

"Can a Ku Klux Klanman be a Democrat? If not then it was a fraud upon every other Democrat to have let Earle Mayfield vote in the last primary, let alone nominate him; and every Democrat is relieved from any obligation to vote for him.

"It is a simple law that everybody knows that fraud makes void every contract which it taints. This primary was held out to be a primary where none but Democrats could vote and where none but Democrats could or would be nominated. Believing that a man cannot be a Democrat and a Klanman at the same time, I do not think that I am bound by any pledge to support Earle Mayfield, whom I know to be a member of the Klan. It may be said that I knew that he was a member before the election. While that is true, the fact was so well known, I had a right to presume that he and all other known Klanmen would be kept out of a Democratic primary. The failure to keep them out is a fraud on me and every other voter, who had a right to think that none but Democrats would be allowed to vote. They kept 40,000 of my ex-American party friends out, whom nobody ever dared claim did not stand for real Democratic principles; and yet they want to tear down this republic and set up an empire and an emperor to rule this country—who wants to tear down courthouses and abolish trial by jury and set up the rule of the wizard by the lash and the tar bucket. I want to be fair about this question. If the voter's conscience really tells him that this kind of a crowd worshipping this kind of principles is democracy, then he should go and vote for Mayfield and his crowd. But if our conscience tells us that this thing can not endure in a free country, then no pledge ought to bind us and we are moral cowards if we do not go to the polls and vote our convictions.

"Thinks Pledge Not Binding
"Those of us who so believe have decided that we will not vote for the so-called Democratic nominee, Earle Mayfield; and to make certain his absolute defeat, the help of the Republican party machinery has become available, and the Republicans will also vote for George Peddy. They are to be congratulated on their patriotism in this great crisis which now confronts the country. When the Democratic organization shall have purged itself of the Klan, then these real Democrats will return to the house of the fathers, which is now raided and ravished by an enemy.

"There might have been some reason for the contention that the Klan should not have been referred to by name, all for the sake of harmony; but when the San Antonio so-called Democratic convention voted down the Granbury resolution, which declared for the Declaration of Independence, for the Bill of Rights and for the Constitution of Texas, for the guarantees of a public trial by jury, for the right of everybody to select his own religion and for the right to worship according to the dictates of one's own conscience, then and there the real Democratic party ceased to exist and forfeited the right to exist any longer in Texas in that form; and every pledge that was ever exacted ceased to be binding on anybody. The Klan crowd then and there knocked the 'I am a Democrat' pledge into a cocked hat and it went up Salt Creek, where the human foot has never trod and the eye of God has never seen and the whang-doodle mourneth not, and then some—anyhow, that was the last of it.

"Just a few words about my friend George Peddy. He is everything that Earle Mayfield claims to be and aint. Born poor, raised poor and yet, George Peddy, I believe, has all the earmarks to become the Abe Lincoln of Texas. When you see him you will think so, too.

"I don't want my friends to fall out with George because he led that mob against me; because he was only 24 years of age then, and he had just been afflicted with a university diploma and he had not fully gotten over it—in fact, some people never do get over it. But the way George has recovered in the last six years is simply wonderful; and he is one college man that has got 'hoss sense' and is getting more every day. Mayfield is 41 years old and Peddy is just 30; but when you see and hear them both, you will know, whether you admit it or not, that George Peddy has more sense now than Earle Mayfield will ever have if he lives to

The above staff was selected during the past week from the respective classes and the High School. This is the first report of this staff and as editions pass, it is their intention to make them more interesting and enthusiastic.

This term has started off exceptionally smooth. All students have been classified and have started to work with a great deal of enthusiasm and determination. The faculty and student body seem to be working in perfect harmony. We all look forward to the best results this term that we have ever had.

Senior Class

Last Monday afternoon the senior class met for the first time and officers were elected. Irvin Johnson was elected president, Rainey Elliott was chosen as secretary and treasurer. The class colors were changed for green and white while the junior motto of last year was retained. There is a large class of seniors this year and every one is pressing forward to commencement with the determination to gain their diplomas.

Junior Notes

A class meeting of the juniors was called Monday afternoon, September 25, and the following officers were elected for the term 1922-23: Clifford Lemons, President; Robert Johnson, vice-president; Margaret Brewer, secretary and Louise Cavines, press reporter. No class colors, motto and flower were selected.

After the meeting it was decided that two class reporters were needed so Mary Jane Cooper was selected as the other reporter.

Junior H. S. Notes

Junior Gable, Laura and Owen Young entered the low seventh last Wednesday.

Lewis Bromley entered the high seventh last Tuesday.

Van Zandt (Jim) Gibson was elected a member of the pep squad last week.

Saturday will be tag day. Tags will be sold by the pupils of junior high school for the benefit of their library.

Girls Athletics

Mrs. Clower called the first girls basket ball meeting Monday afternoon, September 25. We are practicing now for the tryouts of the first and second teams. No officers will be elected until after the final tryouts. The following girls came out for practice:

Lois Pressley, Louise Cavines, Charlotte Schoolfield, Margaret Brewer, Genevieve Morgan, Lucille Read, Lucille Martin, Lena Anthony, Davie Whaley, Mary Cooper, Ruth Leary and Della Guber.

Mrs. Bolton was elected business manager. We are expecting to hold the honors of the county that we won last year and we are asking the support of all the citizens.

Chapel Notes

The pupils have decided to buy their individual song-books for the year. Committee, composed of Mr. Vaughn and Miss Bradshaw, and a representative from each grade, was appointed to make the selection, and to send off the order.

The pep squad, which was recently organized, put some real pep in the High school by giving some of their new yells during chapel, Friday morning.

Memphis High has decided to make her school one of the best in Texas, and to put Memphis on the map during the coming year.

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tested pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making.

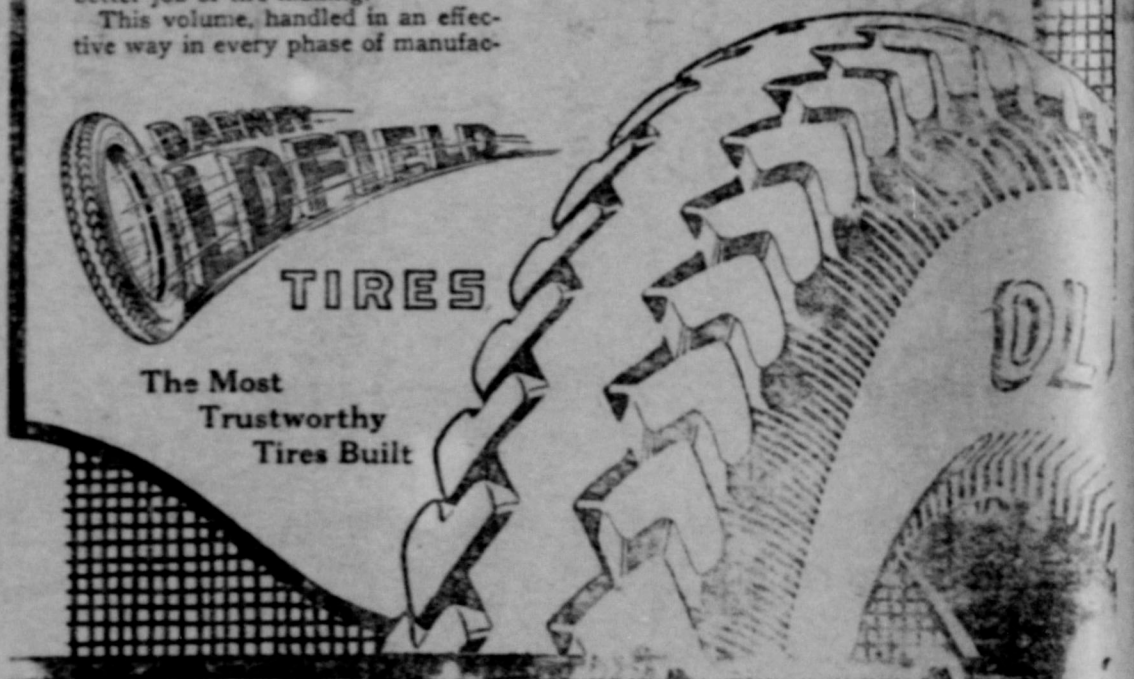

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,525 miles on rough roads proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

If you suspect a man, don't employ him—if you employ him, don't suspect him.—Chinese Proverbs.

All Power, each Tyrant, every Mob Whose head has grown too large Ends by destroying its own job And earns its own discharge.—Kipling.

Speaking of what a newspaper does in a community, the late U. S. Senator Davis of Illinois, made an address in which he said:

"Every year each local paper gives from $200 to $1000 in free lines to the city or town in which it is located, in boosting, praising and praising, churches, schools, societies, etc. The editor in proportion to his means does more for the town than any other man in it, and he ought to be supported, not because you like or dislike him and his style, but because a local paper in one of the town's best features. Today the local papers are doing more for less pay than anything on earth, and it's a fact in many cases of free notices.—Rial Review.

The full amount of the national debt is approximately $22,000,000,000. The annual fixed charges against the United States Treasury on account of the public debt are $1,300,000,000, and not $41,300,000,000 as has been stated.

ceivable will be subject to that settlement.

Revolt Inevitable.

On the other hand, it was not strange that self-respecting and liberty-loving men revolted. They had witnessed an outrage committed upon the body of their political faith. They looked back to the American beginning of their political being, the Declaration of Independence, and the ark of the keeping of its principles, the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of the United States, and in the Constitution of the State, which the klan had repudiated in practice and refused to reaffirm in the name of the Democratic party through which the klan spoke. They recalled the dying injunction of the father of American Democracy to have engraved upon his tombstone:

Here was Buried THOMAS JEFFERSON Author of the Declaration of AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE

Of the Statute of Virginia For Religious Freedom and Father of the University of Virginia.

They recalled his proposal for that statute: "No man shall be compelled to frequent or support any religious worship, ministry, or place whatsoever; nor shall he be enforced restrained, molested or burdened in his body or goods; nor shall otherwise suffer on account of his religious opinions or belief; but all men shall be free to profess, and by argument to maintain, their opinions in matters of religion; and the same shall in no wise diminish, enlarge or effect their civil capacities."

The fathers of the Republic fought for those principles. If they were worth fighting for then, they are worth fighting for now.

Mayfield Bolted Bailey.

It will avail nothing to cry party treason. The accusation will condemn him in whose behalf it is made, for Mr. Mayfield, when a member of the Legislature, repudiated the Democratic nominee for the same office which he now seeks and cast his vote against J. W. Bailey. Each self-thinking voter now will exercise the same God-given right which Mr. Mayfield exercised then and square his act with his conscience, his conception of his country's welfare and his appraisal of real democracy. Woodrow Wilson repudiated the presidential nominee of the party in 1896, and expressed the wish to "knock Mr. Bryan into a cocked hat." Theodore Roosevelt exercised the same high privilege of rebellion against party usurpers. The world's greatest men have been rebels against the tyranny of the established order.

The real treason has been committed against our ancient faith. Its defenders have been betrayed—betrayed in the house of their fathers. The Democratic party is in possession of an organization which professes rules of conduct in direct violation of the fundamental principles of free government and in wanton violation of the fundamental law.

The party must unseat this usurpation and purge itself of these heresies or it will die, or free government will die. Without trial by jury, without the right of the accused to be confronted by the witnesses against him, without the right of free conscience in the worship of God—without these elemental rights of man—these inherent, inalienable, privileges of freedom—there is no freedom.

LAUGHING THEIR WAY INTO HALL OF FAME

Owen Moore and Tom Wilson Are Doing the Tricks in "Reported Missing."

Owen Moore and Tom Wilson are deserving of a place in the Hall of Fame for their laugh-producing performance in the Selznick Special, "Reported Missing" at the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday nights. The production was advertised as the greatest action picture ever made and it is all of that. Thrills and laughs follow in quick succession and the story never lets down for a second. In addition it contains one of the most villainous villains that ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat. The wily Omos, Oriental shipowner who tries to deprive Owen Moore as Richard Boyd, his right to purchase a fleet upon which he has an option, is certainly a 100 per cent screen scoundrel. He was seen estab rattlesnake. He was greeted with hisses upon his every appearance. Nita Naldi, of Follies fame, had the tired business men sitting up and taking notice and Pauline Garon, flapper de luxe, won her way into the hearts of all the males present.

Among the thrilling scenes are a race between a sea sled and a hydro-aeroplane, a shipwreck, and a fight in the Oriental villain's stronghold.

"Reported Missing" is what the public wants plus and is the type of picture which has only one aim—entertainment.

Sewing done, plain or fancy, at reasonable prices. 1413, 14th and Bradford Streets. Mr. E. J. Eller.

Chiropractic

Chiropractic is a science that teaches the perfect relationship; disease in disrelationship, or abnormality, is far below the art of adjusting (by hand) disrelations. A Chiropractor is one who practices this science. If he knows his business, and he must if he is a graduate of a reputable Chiropractic school, he is capable of adjusting disrelations. That is, he can, and does, adjust displaced parts of the human anatomy; thus relieving unnatural interference and pressure which restrains the natural transmission of the nerve force, generated in the brain and carried, as needed, to all parts of the human body by the nervous system. One displaced vertebra pressing upon nerve trunks will lessen the nerve force carried and result in the weakening and enfeeblement of the parts involved, giving disease an opportunity to take hold. The adjusting of this displaced vertebra relieves the pressure and gives nature a chance to assert herself and rebuild the tissue, which becomes healthy, throwing off disease.

It is the ability of the Chiropractor to thus assist nature, in a natural and common-sense way, that brings the good results that are attested by thousands of afflicted persons who have found relief. The fact that Chiropractors do this, where the regulars often fail, causes some of the latter to misrepresent and oppose Chiropractic science.

No reputable Chiropractic school or college offers less than a three years' course of study, in spite of representations to the contrary by some of the jealous regulars.

The Chiropractor believes in democracy and in freedom of selection by the patient who seeks relief. He thinks they have the right to a choice as to whom they will have. If they want a regular or an osteopath, or representative of any school, the Chiropractor will not object nor try to IMPOSE his services upon them. The regular, however, takes a different view of the matter; he even goes so far as to try to have laws enacted to prohibit the services of any except himself. Now, honestly who is the IMPOSTER?

Another Success for the Chiropractor

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have been almost an invalid for six years prior to taking Chiropractic adjustments from John W. Fitzjarrald.

I had had several regular doctors who gave only temporary relief.

I began to improve from the first adjustments and am now feeling fine, though it has been six months since I have had an adjustment.

Thanks to Chiropractic, and to Fitzjarrald, the Chiropractor.
