Other Conditions of Sign-Up Unchanged, Officials Announce

Registration for gasoline rationing in Texas has been postponed until Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 19 through 21, it was announced earlier this week by rationing authorities. The delay, it was said, is occasioned by failure to complete and distribute the necessary forms and ration books.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Volunteers are needed to assist in the registration on November 19, 20 and 21, of car owners for gasoline rationing. Supt. W. C. Davis, who will be in charge of the sign-up in Memphis, said today. He asked that men and women who can assist one or all three days during the registration please call him at the high school, phone 18-M, or at his residence, phone 204. This is very important as it is not planned to close the schools and there will not be enough teachers available to carry on the registration.

The sign-up were November 12 through 14.

The effective date for actual rationing of gasoline has been postponed indefinitely, the county chairman said, and Hall County car owners will be informed later of this date. Some daily newspapers have given the date as December 1. All passenger car tires in excess of five to each car must be turned in by November 22 however.

It will be necessary for all who go to the school houses to register on the dates designated to have available the serial number of the five tires they plan to retain, as well as their 1942 car license receipt.

Cyclone Swirls Over McLean Tigers 7-0; Meet Crowell Friday

Attacking by air in the first quarter, the Memphis Cyclone whiffed across a touchdown in the first period for the only score of a conference encounter with the McLean Tigers on the McLean gridiron last Friday night.

The pay-off pass was heaved by Clark and snagged by Jackson Jackson also booted the pigskin squarely between the uprights to convert the extra point.

Although the rest of the game was scoreless, fans who saw it said the Cyclone had the situation well in hand at all times. The Memphis gridder had possession of the ball on McLean's 10-yard line when the referee's whistle signaled the end of the game.

The next game on the Cyclone schedule is on Friday night when the squad will journey to Crowell for a non-conference set-to with the powerful Crowell Wildcats. Pointing for the title in their district, the Wildcats have not yet been defeated in conference play.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING

Commander Allen C. Grundt of the Chas. R. Simmons Post of the American Legion, announced that the regular monthly meeting will be held tonight, and urges all members to be present.

Here's Why You Should MAIL CHRISTMAS PARCELS EARLY

The Post Office Department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world, according to J. H. Valance, Memphis postmaster.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising. Such heavy purchases always presage heavy mailings.

If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postal workers have already been taken (Continued on page 8)

Truck Travel for Migratory Workers Will Be Simplified

No Need to Leave Jobs and Return Home, Says Bulletin From District ODT Office

Migratory farm workers who use trucks in traveling from job to job and who are away from home are requested to contact the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation on the proper procedure to procure their Certificate of War Necessity.

There are many such workers in this district who are planning to leave their jobs and return home in the fall that they would be unable to operate their trucks after November 15.

Everything possible will be done to expedite the handling of these applications so that trucks used by migratory workers will not be forced off the road. It will not be necessary for these workers to leave their jobs and return home in order to obtain a certificate. This would only be a waste of time and rubber and would probably delay rather than expedite the issuance of the certificates.

Any migratory worker who has not received his application should contact either the county agent in the county in which he is at present located, or the district office at 623 Lubbock National Bank building, Lubbock, for detailed information.

BRUIN—Certain to see a lot of action against the powerful University of Tulsa eleven is Leroy Robertson, rugged guard from Memphis for the Baylor Bears. Nuts Designated Victory Special English walnuts, almonds, filberts, pecans and other domestic tree nuts will be Victory Food Specials for the period November 9 through 21, the Agricultural Marketing Administration announced last week.

Total quantity of domestic tree nuts available this season will exceed 300 million pounds of unshelled nuts. This year's production added to the supplies carried over from last year brings the total stock to near record level.

Local merchants will feature tree nuts and homemakers are urged to make nuts part of their menu rather than a supplement. By using the abundant supply of tree nuts, other less abundant foods can be released for the armed forces.

Oh, Sugar!

After midnight Saturday, October 31, Stamp No. 9 in your War Ration Book will permit the purchase of three pounds of sugar, which will be your supply for a period of six weeks.

B. Hooser said this week.

A Hosiery Gift Will Be Treasured

THE gift of gifts this year will be lovely stockings. When you go out to select stockings for yourself or for gifts, you'll find new rayons which will appeal to your own exacting tastes and meet with the approval of your friends. The high twist yarns used in today's rayon stockings give them a sheerer, dulter appearance and improve resistance to snagging. While the special high strength rayon yarns, perfect for hosiery, which science has developed, are being used in the war effort and cannot be produced commercially until after the war, rayon stockings have definitely been improved as far as conditions permit. If you have a thorough knowledge of your new rayon stockings, know how to handle them, how to wash them, care for them, select them, they'll give you pleasure, good wear and satisfaction. A helpful leaflet, "The Selection and Care of Rayon Hosiery," containing all the facts you should know about rayon stockings you'll be wearing, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Woman's Feature Department of this paper, specifying leaflet No. 101.

'Black Brothers' Program Topic of Atalantean Club

For he that is honest is noble, whatever his fortunes or birth" was the quotation used in the opening of the program on "Black Brothers" at the Atalantean meeting on Wednesday afternoon, November 4, at the home of Mrs. D. A. Neeley.

During the short business session, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday were the days designated for members of the club to aid in the surgical dressings program at the local Red Cross center.

Mrs. H. D. Stringer gave a paper on the subject, "Twelve Million Black Voices." Mrs. N. A. Hightower discussed the topic, "If I Were Black," emphasizing the spiritual, as well as the physical characteristics of the colored race.

One of the high points of Mrs. Hightower's talk was that of a colored soldier's opinion of democracy: "It is far from being perfect, but the means through which 'perfection' might be reached." That being true, she said, may we dare to make it perfect, since nationalism and racialism are the two most destructive myths of our time.

A resume of "The Old River Man" was given by Mrs. C. W. Broome.

Curtailed Medical Care for Civilians Definite Prospect

With One-Third of Doctors In Armed Services, People Must Guard Health Carefully

It has been reliably estimated that within a year approximately one-third of the total number of 150,000 physicians in the United States will have left their practice to serve with the Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

There is no desire to imply that the family physician, now or later, must not be summoned except in dire need. In fact, there is greater reason than ever before to seek his advice on living habits, to have him give a thorough periodic check-up, and to have him treat conditions promptly, which if disregarded, are apt to cause more serious trouble later on.

While in cities, lack of medical service has not yet reached an acute stage, there are already rural sections feeling the pinch. It follows that everyone, both for his own and his country's sake, should live sensibly to the end that maximum health may be attained, and avoidable home medical service be eliminated.

NEWS about boys in the Service

Two Estelline brothers, E. B. (Buck) and W. E. Ewen, who were students at Texas Tech, Lubbock, before the shooting started are heard from via a clipping from a Lubbock paper. Buck is an apprentice seaman in the U. S. Naval Training Station at Chicago, and E. B. is an aviation cadet at the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, due to get his wings soon.

Concerning his activities, Buck writes: "They keep us in a long run all the time; we don't even have time to close our eyes before they call us for extra detail or special duty. I guess it is doing me good though, because I sure haven't lost any weight; I weigh a smooth 205. This sure is a swell town for a service man when he is having liberty. They have four big service men's centers with games of every kind, free eats, dancing, etc. All the people look upon a service man in the highest regard. They have plenty of good looking decent girls, too, each of whom has to be recommended by four or five persons before they can belong to the club. They opened up another big club the other night and they put out a call for 300 girls. Only 3,000 answered the call."

Sgt. A. G. Callahan, son of Mrs. J. J. McMickin of Memphis, gives a vivid description of a soldier's life in England in a letter to his sister, Mrs. Ted Truelove of Amarillo. The letter follows:

October 18, 1942 My dearest sister: Your letter of September 18 arrived the other day and I am just getting the chance to answer it. It was a very welcome letter and I enjoyed it very much. It seems that though time must elapse between the sending and receiving of letters, they are always found very interesting.

I have been hitting the ball since I left the states and they have kept me quite busy with squadron work, so that I have very few minutes to myself, or to write very much at one time. One thing about this war, the soldiers in it have very little leisure time and they are constantly at work on something.

We have kept to one area since we arrived here and we are stationed in a very pleasing location. At least compared to the places where we were back in the states. We reside in barracks once used as a women's camp and therefore the barracks are more accommodative than if they were originally built for us. We live four to a room with double bunks. Each room has a wash basin with hot and cold water, and what little privacy a soldier might enjoy can be had within it. I am quite pleased with the set up, and though hard work is always on my shoulders and very few minutes to call my own, I guess that I am satisfied.

The country around here is a sight to behold and one that you could never imagine unless you had the chance to see it. Everything is neat and in order. Everything seems to fit into its place and the uniformity of it all is quite amazing. The people, of course, are just about like those you find anywhere. Some are very nice and others resent us, but we have been fortunate to meet with only a few that have not welcomed us. The people in the majority have gone out of their way to do everything in their power to make us feel at home, and many of us have enjoyed many hours within the portals of their homes. I had the privilege of being chosen among 40 from the 36th Air Depot Groups to represent the organization at the ceremony of dedication of an old English regiment in a church that was celebrating its 1300th year in service. It was an event that shall live within my memory forever. It was quite an honor, along with being very interesting.

Your letter proved very interesting as to the events taking place at home and how everyone was doing. I was glad to hear all about them, and though it makes me a little homesick to hear them, I enjoyed your telling of each one.

There is not much to write about interest you, because our mail is limited to just bare interest because of military importance, but I am doing all right and feeling O. K. Write me when you can and tell those at home to do likewise. So that I may get your letters promptly, please send them all air mail.

I will close, sending my love to all of you at home and hoping that some day I may return to be within that circle again. Until then I send my blessings upon those who keep the home fires burning. Your little bud, A. G.

Call 15 For QUALITY JOB PRINTING

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS AFTER THE WAR

Every American knows that the manufacture of automobiles has ceased for the duration of the war. The great automobile industry which in 1940 produced and sold more than 3 1/2 million cars, has been re-tooled to produce airplanes, guns, tanks and munitions of war. Where will these companies get the money necessary to resume the manufacture of automobiles when the war is ended?

The automobile industry happens to be important, and there are thousands of smaller industries which will also face the same problem. What will the millions of workers do when the demand for war machines stops?

What will happen to the domestic market for farm products when those millions of war workers no longer have jobs? The stage seems set for an even worse depression after World War II than we suffered after World War I unless right now we start to plan about these surpluses.

It is comforting to learn that Congress is now considering some plan to prevent, or at least to ease, any after-the-war depression.

War Profits for Peace-Time Recovery

The best plan seems to contemplate the dedication of a portion of war profits for the purpose of providing industry with the ready cash on hand to quickly change to peacetime activity and thus lessen the shock to manufacturing and agricultural surpluses when the war is ended.

A Recovery Bond program has been suggested whereby each industry, big and little, will be required to invest at least 20 per cent of its war profits in Recovery Bonds which do not bear interest until the war is ended and which cannot be sold by the purchaser until peace is declared.

Such a plan would build, at the rate of almost a billion dollars a year, a huge recovery reserve to convert war industries to peace production, launch new products and maintain employment. It would place this reserve immediately and automatically in the hands of those businesses and industries with the greatest after-the-war needs.

The moment peace is declared the "time lock" automatically releases this recovery reserve, the bonds become negotiable and begin to draw interest. Purchasers holding them will then treat them like any other Government bonds, to be sold or used to borrow money. There would be no waiting for a post-war Congressional appropriation, no red tape, and no delay in launching the business and industry offensive that may turn threatened depression into unrivaled prosperity.

The plan is simple, practical and fair. During late years science and research have discovered many new uses for present major farm crops and many new crops which can be used in industry. A plan of this character places immediately in the hands of industry the resources which can be used to finance further research and to plan for the conversion of surplus crops, surplus factory buildings and the employment of war workers in new and useful enterprises whenever this war shall cease and normal peacetime industry, business and agriculture shall be resumed.

This problem deserves the thoughtful consideration of every American. If we can have the assurance of reasonable security in the after-the-war recovery period we can throw ourselves into an all-out effort to win the war and feel that by so doing we have secured "the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

MAKE IT STRICT; KEEP IT SIMPLE

PROBABLY very few people in this area have ever read a copy of the New Yorker, but most know it by reputation as a humorous publication, accustomed to deal lightly and frivolously with most subjects. However, the magazine hits the nail square on the head with the following editorial on a serious topic:

"In regulating tires or anything else, there is a point beyond which it is foolish for a government to go. Even Leon Henderson says that. We mean that after the regulatory system has reached certain limits of complexity, a reaction sets in and the prohibitions are met with violations and with the spirit of violation. As soon as a control measure simply antagonizes everybody, then it is no longer worth the ration cards it is printed upon. In our opinion the country is seriously near this point in the matter of rubber tires; witness the new and immensely complex certificates of war necessity which the owners of trucks are wrestling with at the moment in order that they may continue to operate their vehicles. Our grapevine tells us that even a patriotically-minded people is going to balk at too much red tape; they don't mind the deprivation but they can't stand the paper work. In other words a government finally reaches point where it has to choose between having the people's tires and the people's patience wear out. In that event, better kiss the rubber good-bye. It's a safer gamble.

"Advice to all composers of regulatory legislation for wartime consumption: make it strict but keep it simple."

The Democrat imagines that many a Hall County truck owner, struggling with the complicated forms involved in registering for a war certificate, will agree wholeheartedly with the above editorial.

KEEP YOUR FEET ON THE GROUND

NEWS of the successful landing of a huge American occupation force in French North African possessions and of the British Eighth Army's victorious rout of Rommel's formidable Afrika Korps has given a tremendous lift to the spirits of people all over America. Here in Memphis and Hall County you notice that in the way people talk and act. They feel that at long last the vast Army of the United States has been building and arming is taking the initiative and performing brilliantly.

Such good news is bound to create a better feeling toward the conduct of the war, but it is well to bear in mind before allowing optimism to get out of control, that the invasion of North Africa is but a stage of preparation, however successfully and brilliantly executed. The long pull is still ahead of United Nations forces. The war with Germany and Italy will be finally won in Europe, not Africa. The Axis warlords must be broken in their own countries, and this will be a huge and bloody task.

No individual should permit optimism over the war news to interfere with unremitting efforts toward final victory. Be confident, but keep working, is the message our leaders give us.

LIVING SPACE—DYING ROOM

IN HIS earlier rantings Adolph Shicklegruber, alias Hitler, made frequent use of the word "lebensraum." He demanded loudly and often more "living space" for his beloved Germans. It now appears that the Russians, whose country he so wantonly invaded, are providing dying room for millions of Hitler's herrenvolk, which should leave considerably more "lebensraum" for those left in Germany. Things do work out.

Ev'rybody Ev'ry Pay Day

6,000,000 Women Enrolled in War Savings Payroll Plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women At War Week, opening Nov. 22, during which women will seek to sell the greatest single week's volume of War Bonds and Stamps will serve to put the spotlight on the mighty contribution women generally are making toward financing the war.

Six million women are on War Savings payroll plans. Their monthly deductions total $70,000,000.

The customers of 300,000 newspaper boys who have sold more than $50,000,000 in War Bonds and Stamps are mostly women.

Volunteer saleswomen run nearly all the Bond booths in theatres from Maine to California. They also are sparking the War Bond sales in retail stores.

Ralph C. Engelsman, Associate Field Director of the payroll savings section of the War Savings Staff, readily admits that without the support of women the phenomenal record of payroll savings enrollments would not have been achieved. Payroll savings plans are now in operation in 148,000 businesses and factories. Employees of twenty-five thousand of these firms are converting at least 10 percent of gross payrolls into War Bonds every payday.

Associate Field Director Engelsman says that women have contributed directly and indirectly toward this record. When a man devoted 10 percent of his pay envelope to War bonds, the woman at home has had a powerful voice in the decision. Her planning, her economies and her cheerfulness play their part in the success of payroll savings.

The Treasury Department is counting upon this woman influence in its current campaign to "top that 10 percent by New Year's." By the first of the year the Treasury hopes to enroll at least 3,000,000 women workers in a payroll savings plan and 5,000,000 more men with total deductions for War Bonds over the 10 percent mark.

VICTORY

Excerpts from the Official OEM Bulletin

Texas Victory Clubs Organized

Victory clubs, enrolling farmers and ranchmen in a program to invest returns from designated livestock, poultry and crops in War Bonds, have been organized in 171 Texas counties. President Virgil P. Lee of the Production Credit Association of Houston announced. The clubs, sponsored by the PCA, are not restricted to PCA members.

"Scare" Advertising Decried

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has voiced strong endorsement of the national campaign against "scare" advertising now being sponsored by the Better Business Bureau. "Scare" advertising, Mr. Henderson said, "is a cheap device used to swindle the public by creating false stimulation of purchasing. People who resort to this dishonest means of promoting their petty self-interest serve neither their country nor themselves."

"Blend" Nylon Hose Sale Illegal

Women's hosiery made from "spun" nylon, nylon "blend" or nylon "combination" may not be legally sold until OPA establishes specific maximum prices for such hosiery, officials stated. OPA's regulation prices for women's nylon hosiery now sets ceiling prices only for hosiery with the leg made from continuous nylon yarn.

Owners' Sales of Used Equipment Exempt From GMPR

Merchants, farmers and artisans, as well as manufacturers and processors, may sell their used equipment and supplies without reference to price ceilings established by the General Maximum Price Regulation, OPA ruled. This exemption from GMPR applies to sales by "any person of his used supplies or equipment not acquired or produced by him for the purpose of sale."

WPB Reserves Hides for Military Gloves

The prospect of nationwide rationing of mileage is credited with a current scarcity of leather suitable for military riding gloves. Farmers, facing mileage rationing as well as a shortage of farm machinery, have tended to retain their horses rather than slaughter them, and as a result the supply of horsehide is diminishing, WPB officials say. In a recent amendment to the leather conservation order, WPB directed horsehide tanners and converters to process horsehide fronts of specified quality into leather suitable for use in military riding gloves.

Syrup Blenders Must Get Price From OPA

OPA has ruled that packers of blended maple syrup, who now add less expensive corn syrup to this breakfast table favorite previously made of cane sugar and maple sugar syrup, must apply to OPA for a ceiling price on this changed product.

tains one and the seller retains one. Similar procedures will be in effect regarding the purchase of repair and replacement parts.

On other parts of the Home Front, additional restrictive orders by the War Production Board in the use of critical materials and new developments in price control held attention.

Use of stainless steel in more than 75 products, ranging from coffee pots and farm machinery to hot water heaters will be prohibited under one of the new orders. The order also provides for stopping of manufacture of more than 100 common items made of iron and steel, in addition to the more than 700 iron and steel items on which manufacture has been stopped since May.

In the most sweeping enforcement action yet taken by the Office of Price Administration, license warning notices were served on more than 4,000 retail outlets, mostly grocery stores, in all parts of the country charging violation of the General Maximum Price Regulation. The notices sent out last week constitute legal warning that if the retailer receiving the notice again violates any price regulation OPA will go into court and ask that his license be suspended. Without the license he will be unable to sell any commodity

Comparison

Ever since our entry into the war, the stench in my nostrils has been frequent boasts heard about so-and-so working for the federal government. Every time I hear of these high wages, in many instances being paid dumb clucks worth on the scales of real ability and equity, I think of our soldiers who, for a comparative pittance, are—or soon will march under OPA regulations. In the six-state OPA region, the notices were sent to 253 retailers. Similar enforcement drives on other commodities will follow.

Increases not to exceed 10 percent in the ceiling prices of men's and boys' suits and separate pants, coats and vests of non-tropical weight to relieve retailers in the Southwest were authorized. The increase overcomes a disadvantage suffered in the Deep South because the basic ceiling prices were fixed at March levels, when relatively few sales of this line were made.

Nazi View of War

To most people war is almost most dreadful evil that has ever been imagined, except, of course, such countries by the Axis nations. In fact, they are rather pleased with it. These words of General Von Hitler's ex-commander in Europe but essential as population in person wins, sometimes but the clever player manage to keep his average high. This cold-blooded attitude toward so great an evil is one of the many counts that make the world so anxious to wipe out Nazism.—The Amarillo Times

Sharply rising costs of everything that goes into the publication of a newspaper, along with drastically reduced advertising revenues, make it impossible for The Democrat to offer a Bargain Rate this year, as has been our custom about this time in past years. Two-Man Jap Submarine on War Bond Tour

Navy turns over midget undersea craft (pictured above at left, as it was captured on fateful December 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor) to Treasury Department to promote sale of War Bonds in hundreds of cities from coast-to-coast. Its visit to this state will be under the direction of our War Savings State Administrator instead of a Tokyo war lord. These two photos tell their own story of how the sub's stab-in-the-back venture backfired.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Millions of Americans will have the opportunity to study at close range the suicide two-man Japanese submarine, which was captured during Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on fateful December 7, 1941, the Treasury Department announced today.

Mounted on a huge truck and tractor rig, the submersible, nicknamed "The Tojo Cigar" by its captors, has been turned over to the War Savings Staff for a coast-to-coast tour to promote the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. Along with War Bond rallies there will be naval recruiting activities in communities in which the submarine will be shown.

Starting in San Francisco, the tour winds through California and then heads Eastward by way of the Southwest. Ports have been cut in its sides and walkways installed to give the public a good view of the deadly craft.

The undersea craft went aground on Oahu Island after it had vainly fired one torpedo at an American cruiser. The commander was seized as he attempted to swim to safety. The other member of the crew drowned.

"The Tojo Cigar" was still carrying the two 18-foot torpedoes when captured. It had a cruising range of only 200 miles. Its construction indicated it was truly a suicide ship. Launched overside from the deck of a large ship by cranes, it was never expected to return to the mother vessel.

The midget submarine is 41 feet long, has a beam of 5 feet, and a conning tower 4½ feet above the deck. The hull is constructed of one-quarter inch plate, and is divided into five compartments, two of which are occupied by the electric batteries used for propulsion. The hull and conning tower are streamlined and painted black.

The submarine was propelled by electric motors only and had a designed speed of 24 knots. The periscope of the submarine projects five feet above the top of the conning tower.

The tiny ship is an oversized sardine can. The batteries, electric motor, torpedo tubes and controls left little room in the four compartments for the two-man crew. The ship carried emergency food rations which included wine and some liquor.

The Navy has removed its engines and torpedoes for study.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every day.

Aside from the sixty-mile an hour Mosquito Torpedo Boats, the Sub Chasers are the speedsters of our Navy. Light and fast, they are the eyes of the Fleet on the water. They displace approximately 1,500 tons and cost about $2,400,000 each.

We need many of these powerful, fast little boats to cope with the treacherous submarine type of naval warfare fostered by our enemies. Everybody can help pay for more Sub Chasers by putting at least ten percent of his income into War Bonds. Buy Bonds or Stamps every pay day. Buy them from your bank, your post office, or from your office or factory through the Payroll Savings Plan.

I shall always cherish a pleasant memory of my nine months in Memphis. I like the progressive spirit and attitude and outlook one finds practically everywhere he goes in Texas."

Mail Christmas

(Continued from page 1) en by the war services. Arrangements are now under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this manpower is hard to find and is inexperienced. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather hampering transportation, is starting. The free-mailing privilege granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailing some 30 per cent. Expansion of these forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden. The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in late October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone. The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions during the First World War. I can succeed in these efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

The publishers are attempting to keep the readers informed of all the requirements and changes of governmental rules that are in effect due to the war effort. Besides, Hall County's part in the war such as sending men into service and drives of all kinds, is given prominence in the columns.

Women who have been wanting to do something for their country now have an opportunity to put in from one to three days real work. Gasoline registration takes place Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the school house. Supt. W. C. Davis is calling for volunteers to help. If you women really mean what you say about wanting something to do, call Mr. Davis and offer your services.

Then there are some women in Memphis who say they would like to do Red Cross work, but have other things to do on certain days. The production chairman announces that the work rooms will be open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 2 to 5 p. m., and surgical dressings will be made Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday 2 to 5 p. m. and Thursday night at 7:30 for professional women. These dates have been in effect for several weeks, but some failed to understand that "Tuesday through Saturday" included all the days between those two. Women are needed badly. If the Axis were about to bomb America, all would find time to do a little work. Isn't it better to do the work without such peril attending?

I do not know of part of Texas that needs soil conservation more than these parts. I am now plowing across places where, a short time ago, the gullies were six or seven feet deep." Mackey said a banker once told him that land was a good investment, because the Lord was not making any more of it. But, he said, the good Lord does not assist any in preventing this good land from washing away. That is up to the people who farm the land.

Next to oil and natural gas, sulphur is Texas' most valuable mineral resource. The total annual value of Texas cottonseed products, once dumped at the gin as waste, exceeds $50,000,000.
