THE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

HERE IS AN EXCELLENT thought from the Port Umpqua, Oregon, Courier: "If the Courier man were a judge in courts dispensing sentence upon drunken auto drivers, there would only be first offenders. Regardless of race, color, creed or alleviating circumstances, the person who has so little consideration for the lives of innocent people as to drink intoxicants before or after placing himself behind the steering wheel of an automobile should never be allowed to repeat the performance. Revocation of licenses would be fatal and final. Driving a car is a privilege—not a right.

"It is impossible to prove exactly what percentage of automobile accidents are caused by drunken driving, for the reason that in many cases where liquor plays a part, arresting officers and prosecutors are unable afterwards to produce sufficient evidence for a conviction. But all the best estimates say that alcohol is the definitive factor in a much higher proportion of mishaps than is generally realized. Furthermore, an accident in which a drunk is involved is more likely to be serious than one involving sober drivers.

"Drunken drivers are often released after paying relatively small fines. Some juries are notoriously derelict in their duty in bringing in conviction.

"The drunken driver should never be allowed to pay fine and he should be denied the right to use the public streets and highways. If such a program were carried out throughout the country, one of the gravest menaces to life would be greatly minimized."

On September 1, 1935, the Texas State Employment Service, in cooperation with the United States Employment Service with which it is affiliated, began operations in two of the 12 Employment Districts in Texas. On July 1, 1936, the State Service expanded into a third district. The Service now operates 31 offices where workers may seek employment and employers find workers without charge to either.

On January 3, 1937, the Service had been operating for 16 months. During that period, 19,365 placements were made in private employment through these offices; 54,335 workers were selected for employment on public works and in governmental positions; and 42,996 were placed in relief and WPA jobs. Approximately 26,000 difficult employers have already utilized the State Employment Service to secure workers; and efforts are being made to extend still further its contacts with business, industry and individuals. It is in order to provide an adequate, properly qualified and experienced group of potential office interviewers and supervisors, who may be appointed to its staff to meet these growing demands upon the service, that merit examinations are now contemplated.

New Bird Arrives In This Section

A new bird, the starling, has arrived in this section of the state to add to the scant number of Panhandle birds.

The starling, an European bird and one which infests the eastern part of the United States, has been seen in droves in Memphis and over the county the past few weeks. Memphis bird lovers established the identity of the species by contacting naturalists at Wichita Falls.

At a distance the starling appears to be dull black in color; on closer inspection its plumage is seen to be shot with purple, green, and steel blue. The birds rise and descend in droves, utter no sound, and are picturesque in flight.

The starlings are reputed to be good insect destroyers, although in the East they are considered as big a pest as the English sparrow.

sons, and it is given in this column because of its appropriateness:

"SHAKE"

Old Friend of Mine
It was good to see you
From time to time
And it was good to know
You were a friend of mine.
The smile on your face
Or the touch of your hand
Both let me know
You could understand.
The things that you've done
For your fellowman.
The public may forget
But your friends never can.
Losing you was very hard.
You're here—now gone.
But we'll do as you'd have us do,
Old friend we'll carry on.
The things that you stood for
And the way that you lived,
Always willing to help,
Always willing to give.
God, in His heaven
So wise and so strong
Must have needed you.
Just to help Him along.
You'll be a great man
—a great friend up there.
And heaven will be a better place,
Just for having you there.
So happy landings—friend of mine
Away beyond the blue,
Life is but a moment,
And we'll soon be seeing you.
—Craig Hunter

There are columnists, there are would-be columnists and there are those who write for columns who are not and never will be rated as columnists.

A columnist is graded by the number of readers who follow his columns day after day, or week after week. Old Tack of the Amarillo News ranks A-1 as a columnist in the Panhandle—more people read his column than any other. Deck Wells, who writes "Deck's Didactics" in the Wellington Leader, is a columnist, for he has a lot of readers. Albert Cooper, the JAUB of the Shamrock Texan; J. C. Estaback, the Apostle of Truth of the Donley County Leader, and a few others of the Panhandle are columnists, for they have several regular column readers.

Until at least fifteen people can be enlisted as readers of Name It, its conductor cannot be graded as a columnist. Up until this week this column had two regular readers—the typesetter and the proof reader. Now it has three. At least the latest recruit read last week's dissertation upon Methusalem, as the following letter written by H. T. Sturdivant will testify:

The Letter
To Name It:
I see that the Minneapolis Tribune doesn't have a very exalted opinion of old Father Methusalem. But the Tribune cannot establish the things it said against the old gentleman, and it is not correct when it says that all the history we have of him is his short obituary of four words, "and then he died." I find much more concerning Methusalem, such as "He was begat by Enoch . . . Methusalem lived an hundred eighty seven years and begat Lamech . . . and Methusalem lived after he begat Lamech seven hundred eighty and two years and begat sons and daughters . . . and all the days of Methusalem were nine hundred sixty and nine, and he died" (not "and then he died").

The old gentleman must have pleased God very much judging from the long life God gave him. Ps. 34:12-13 says, "What man is he that desireth life, and love many days that he may see good; keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile." So Methusalem must have had those good qualities, judging from his age.

But here comes the most wonderful part of it all, the whole population of the earth today are Methusalem's descendants. Noah was his grandson, and Noah was a righteous man and found favor with God. Enoch was Methusalem's father and pleased God so well that he was translated. We have no proof that Methusalem did not walk uprightly before God and was not a benefit to his fellowman, the same as Enoch his father, and Noah his grandson.

So my brother, if you have a Methusalem in Memphis, don't get alarmed, for his grandson will soon come along and make smooth the pathway.

H. T. STURDIVANT,
P. S. My motive in writing this is that I didn't think old Father Methusalem was getting his just dues, and to guy you a little.

Thank you, Mr. Sturdivant, for taking up the other side of Methusalem's life. (It seems that any question or subject has two sides, and people will do well to look at both sides before allowing themselves to go off at a tangent.) However, Mr. Methusalem must have devoted his entire life to his home only for there seems to be no record where he devoted any time or energy toward the upbuilding of church, school, community, or town, and that's where he failed to do his whole duty. It probably was not necessary to do civic work in his day—but were he living now, he would find an entirely different set-up.

SOMEbody's LITTLE BOY
Somebody's little boy was crossing the street,
Innocent, young and fair
He hadn't the judgment of older folks,
He didn't see the danger there,
Somebody's boy had a song on his lips,
But it died in an instant away.
For a motorist ran the little boy down

And he died at the close of day,
Somebody kneels by an empty bed,
And fondles a little shoe,
Somebody looks through the empty years,
Suppose this somebody were you?
Will you watch for the little boys,
Drivers in the city and town?
Really, it's one of the greatest crimes
To run a little boy down.

He joined the Army in 1918, serving at San Antonio during the Great War training recruits. At the close of the war, Mr. Davis took a position with the Waples-Platter Wholesale Company in Memphis in 1920 and worked for that company the remainder of his life.

In 1922 he was married to Miss Cardelia Steinman of Dallas, who at that time was teaching in the Memphis High School. Two children were born to this union, Jean and Marjorie. Jean died in 1928 at five years of age.

As a tribute to Mr. Davis' long residence in the city and county, Memphis business firms closed their doors during the funeral Saturday morning. An important district sales meeting of the Waples-Platter Company in Lubbock last Saturday was canceled in order that representatives of the company might attend the funeral.

Survivors are the wife, Mrs. Capitola Stewart Crowder; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Crowder of Eli; three brothers, Hughie Crowder of Santa Rosa, Calif., Paul and Roy Crowder of Eli; four sisters, Miss Margaret Crowder of Eli, Mrs. L. H. While in high school and college, he excelled in athletics. He was quarterback of the Goodnight College football team, and was captain and pitcher of the baseball nine. After graduation from college he continued to be active in sports, pitching in semi-professional circles over the entire state.

Honorary pallbearers were John Weatherly, I. N. Reeves, and M. D. House. Members of several classes which Mr. Parsons taught at Weatherly attended the funeral in a body.

Mr. Parsons was killed Wednesday night of last week when the car he was driving crashed into a freight train two miles north of Lockney. The other four occupants of the car, A. J. Weatherly, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Weatherly, and their daughter Betty, all of Hall County, died of injuries received in the wreck.

Mr. Parsons was born December 29, 1887, in Pulaski, Tennessee. He resided there some 20 years before coming to Texas. He attended and graduated from Howard Institute at Mount Pleasant, Tenn., in 1906. Later he attended WTSTC at Canyon, Tex., moved to Texas in 1907 and the following year he came to West Texas.

and helped build the present school house. In all, he taught school for over a quarter century. Mr. Parsons enlisted in the United States Army in Nashville in 1917, but was not called over to seas. He was married in 1917 to Miss Allie Richards of Bonham.

Mr. Parsons often made public addresses for the "Common Man," and he spent much time in helping the person who he thought was not getting a "square deal."

He had an article published in the October number of the "Texas Outlook," and received letters from educators from all over the state.

Survivors of Mr. Parsons are the wife and three children, David, 16, and Betty and Jane, twin daughters, 8; his mother and one sister, both of Pulaski, Tenn.

years, moving to Pampa four years ago to be near her only child, Miss Mary Margaret Arnold. She was married to Austin D. Arnold in Memphis on June 1, 1906, and Mr. Arnold preceded her in death 28 years ago.

Following Mr. Arnold's death, Mrs. Arnold made her home with her father and mother here; and after their deaths, she made her home with her daughter. For a number of years she ran the Ar-Mont Inn in Memphis.

It has been said of "Sister Mary" Arnold, as she was known by her countless friends here, that her life was given to her family and to her neighbors. She was known to be kind and tolerant toward young people, and said that she was dependent upon them for love and sympathy as the years went by.

As an expression of esteem for the former early-day resident of Memphis, a number of business houses closed their doors for the funeral. Numerous out-of-town friends and relatives attended the funeral services here.

Survivors of Mrs. Arnold are the daughter, Miss Mary Margaret Arnold of Pampa; one brother, S. S. Montgomery, prominent Panhandle banker, Memphis; and one sister, Mrs. Boula's Brice of Tulsa.

Northerners who envy their friends wintering in the South may well find solace in Harry Hartz, well-known racing driver, who is conducting a 10,000-mile test economy mule truck, was near the southern boundary of the country, in New Mexico, when it was taken. The large snowball in his hand, and the ample covering of snow on the ground around the cactus plants, prove that points south of the Mason-Dixon Line are not immune to the ravages of Old Man Winter.

the service. There will be Y. W. A. ushers, a Y. W. A. choir, and a special pantomime of "O, Zion, Hasten." The pastor will bring a special message to young people on "Life's Chief Ambition." What should be one's chief ambition in life? Let us think about this in the evening service. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the evening service.

Everyone who is not attending Sunday school and B. T. U. elsewhere is cordially invited to come to the First Baptist Church, "The Friendly Church Where Everybody Feels at Home." You need to study your Bible and tain for more efficient service in God's kingdom. Won't you help us in such a worthy program as is being undertaken at this church?

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
E. C. Cargill, Pastor

Just a little more than two months have passed since we came to Memphis, and this is to assure you of our delight and pleasure in the work of the Kingdom. Meeting many lovely people, and preaching to interested audiences on Sundays is indeed an inspiration.

Our course of study for a few Sunday afternoon hours at 5 o'clock will be interesting to all who will avail themselves of this opportunity. Prof. Henry Gore, will have the first two study periods next Sunday after the devotional Vesper service. A splendid rehearsal by the men this past Monday evening in a number of good songs assures us that their singing next Sunday afternoon, will add much to the service.

Will you help to make next Sunday an unusual day in Sunday School, and Church service attendance.

It is a pleasure to have strangers and friends in our services, and we extend to all a most cordial welcome.

Dr. Pressense, once said: "My will, not Thine, be done" turned Paradise into a desert. "Thy will not mine be done" turned the desert into a Paradise and made Gethsemane the gate of Heaven.

Have you had your Gethsemane?

Thomas Watson said: "It cost me more to redeem us than to create us." In the creation there was no "speaking a word," in redeeming us there was shedding of blood.

We shall look forward to seeing you in service next Sunday.

Morningside Gets New Swanky Hotel

Morningside Addition, Memphis negro settlement, is soon to boast a modern and exclusive hotel.

The hotel will be new, yet will have the dignity of age. The old railway section house that for the past 50 years has stood at the edge of town on the southeast highway has been purchased and is to be transported to Morningside to become one of the leading hotels there.

The old section house is said to have been constructed about the year 1889. Nails used in its construction are the old-fashioned "cut" nails and are square.

500 Farmers Guests Hardware Company

The Harrison Hardware Company here was host last Saturday to 500 farmers of the Memphis area at a luncheon and movie.

Evolution of the plow was shown from the days of the Georgia Stock down to the present plan of mechanized farm work. In the motion picture, great strides were seen during the last 50 years in labor-saving machinery, mass cultivation and harvesting, and transportation of the present day.

Visual ideas of new and better ways to handle the various operations of the farm were shown, and farmers expressed themselves as profiting from the show.

Play, 'As You Like It,' Next Week At Palace Theatre

Romance—merry, madcap, teasing, taunting, gay and glorious—vies with laughter—robust, rollicking, gusty, lusty, hilarious and uproarious—as the pining Orlando tells the disguised Rosalind of his love for the fair maid. "As You Like It" is one of the most beloved of Shakespeare's plays.
