CASH AWARD POSTED FOR NAMES OF THOSE WHO "SOAPED" TRACKS

A cash award of two ($2) dollars has been posted by the publishers of The Democrat for the names, or name, of the men, or boys, who soaped the tracks of the Fort Worth & Denver line and stopped the first train in this city years ago.

The information would make for good reading in the Pioneer Edition to be issued next month, which accounts for the posted award.

The incident, which has all but become a legend, happened many years ago, before the Fort Worth & Denver officials recognized Memphis as a stopping point along their main line.

The fact that committees of civic-minded men had failed to impress the officials with the importance of this

BODY FOUND

Little Damage Is Reported; Moisture Exceeds One Inch

Frequent thunder, electrical, wind and rain storms during the past week resulted in little reported damage to crops and property in this area. Excess rains may result in some replanting and high winds damaged only utilities' lines and poles and small trees, it has been reported.

Electrical disturbances through this area Wednesday night interrupted power and light service and left Memphis in darkness for approximately half an hour. The disturbance was accompanied by rain and wind.

A flash of lightning struck an insulated wire in the downtown section Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock, burning out a ceiling fan in the county superintendent's office. Several persons in the courthouse and in buildings around the square reported receiving mild electrical shocks.

Precipitation, received in Memphis and immediate vicinity during the week, totaled 1.08 inches Thursday at noon, according to the United States Weather Bureau report. Three-tenths of an inch fell on Sunday, .07 on Tuesday, and .71 on Wednesday and Wednesday night.

It had not been learned how much rain had been received in other parts of the country, but it is believed that most sectors had some rainfall. Only a few farmers will have to replant their crops, due to the extra moisture, was the estimate of J. J. McMickin, weather observer here for the Department of Agriculture.

Replanting was already under way in some sections of the county where little moisture has been received during the season, it was understood early this week.

Oil Test at Turkey Reaches 2,965 Feet

The Jacobs-Hanner No. 1, wildcat oil test, located three-fourths of a mile west of Turkey was drilling at 2,965 feet last Wednesday in a blue shale. A 350-foot formation of anhydrite and dolomite had been drilled through and fifteen feet of the blue shale had been penetrated.

Hines Not to Run For Governorship

Harry Hines, member of the State Highway Commission, who has been frequently mentioned as a candidate for Governor of Texas, has reiterated that he will not become a candidate at this time.

His paramount reason for not running, Mr. Hines said, is that he accepted the appointment on the Highway Commission some three years ago with some very definite objectives of re-organization.

Mr. Hines stated, "After analyzing all of the reports throughout the state, I recognize that I am passing up a very unusual opportunity, and only regret that I cannot at this time do that which my friends desire me to do, but I feel that I am in the middle of a job and that it is my duty to finish these objectives, which I recognize is a charge of responsibility to keep."

Among his objectives he listed: Stepping up the efficiency of department, eliminating gaps in trunk lines, inaugurating a farm-to-market highway program, and doing away with a great deal of the overhead cost of the Maintenance System. His ideas along the line of safety, he said, were gradually being put into execution with the creation of a "Safety Engineering Department," leveling off of shoulders, widening of corners, and other safety measures.

Toys Which Would Delight Boy's Heart Used to Uncover Engineering Secrets

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—To small boys whose ideal of dreamland is a department store toy shop, the experimental laboratories here would prove to be Utopia indeed.

For modern engineers, remembering that toy electric motors were turning toy engines while industry still used steam power and kids played with electric trains long before electric locomotives traveled the nation's railroad systems, have taken a tip from boydom.

These adult men are doing a bit of toy tinkering themselves using Lilliputian models to discover the practical operating secrets of giant machines.

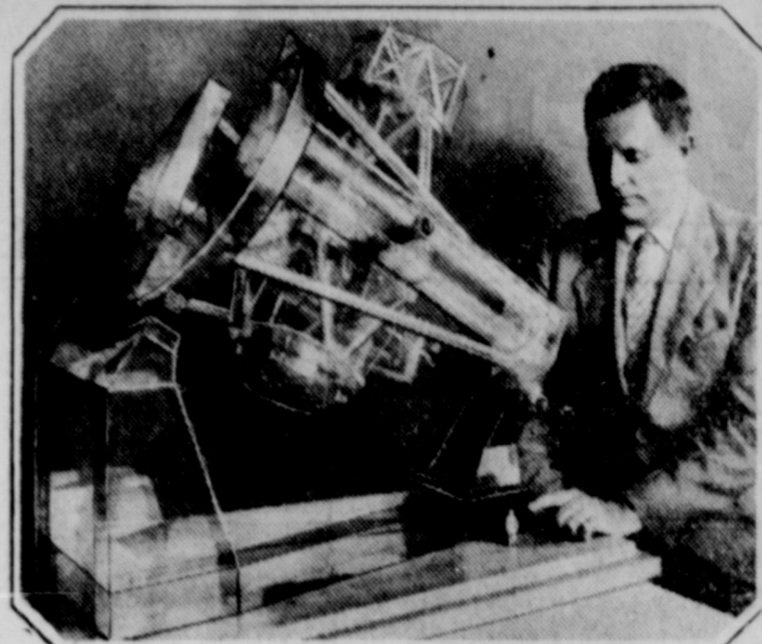

A TOY model, for instance, will help astronomers to see twice as far into the mysteries of the heavens as ever has been possible. When plans for the erection of a 200-inch telescope on Mt. Palomar, Cal., were evolved, engineers met a baffling problem.

A support had to be built for the huge mirror and the mounting had to be rigid enough to carry the mirror while it was being swung into sighting position.

Working out their solutions on paper, the designers agreed that the support should be a tremendous hollow structure welded into a unified piece and floated in oil to eliminate vibration. But it was impossible to experiment until they knew exactly how the completed telescope would operate.

So the engineers built several models of the machine, enough to iron out all mechanical wrinkles. The models were made of celluloid because of its transparency, ease of handling, and steel-like behavior when subjected to tests. Then, with a micrometer, the men measured the tiny movements of the celluloid parts.

In the East Pittsburgh Westinghouse laboratories you meet Willie Vocalite, a mechanical robot who can taste with an "electric palate," talk, smoke a cigarette, or rise from a chair upon command. Willie's actions are controlled by photo-electric tubes. His taster is an "electrix," so sensitive that it records the acidity of fruits.

Toy walking men have helped the researchers eliminate many industrial troubles resulting from self-induced vibrations in machines. With such vibrations large waterwheel generators have shaken themselves to destruction and airplane wings have been torn from the aircraft's fuselage.

THESE are just two of the models. There are many more.

Engineers near here are just completing a $550,000 flood control system of steel gates and pumps to keep the waters of Turtle Creek from backing up the valley. Before the work was started, the builders knew exactly how much water could be pumped through the tunnels at the side of the gates. They had studied a celluloid model.

A miniature electric locomotive, speeding along on two rollers, is solving the problem of vibration-caused train wrecks. A toy boat, propelled by heat, is helping to eliminate vibrations in large sea crafts.

WHEN LIFE DEPENDS ON FIRE SAFETY

ALWAYS Firestone

CONSECUTIVE YEARS THE WINNERS OF THE APOLIS 500-MILE RACE HAVE PROTECTED LIVES WITH FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES

THEY said it couldn't be done — that tires could not withstand the torture of the new high speeds. Yet Floyd Roberts set a new record, at this year's Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour for the 500 miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

With the sun-baked brick of the straight-away and the granite-hard surface of the turns pulling and grinding at their tires, 33 daring drivers, every one on Firestone Tires, waged a thrilling battle for gold and glory. Never before have tires been called upon to take such punishment. Never in all the history of the motor car has tire safety been put to such a grueling test. Yet not one tire failed — not one single cord loosened — because Gum-Dipping, that famous Firestone patented process saturates and coats every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply with liquid rubber counteracting the tire-destroying internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Why risk your life and the lives of others on unsafe tires? Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with Firestone Triple-Safe Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedways for your protection on the highways.

NOTHING BUT PROSPERITY AHEAD

"WE ARE going to have the greatest era of prosperity and happiness we have ever known." Those were the words of Henry Ford in his first statement on public affairs in several months. This forecast is also supported by certain other indications.

"And it will all come from a back-to-the-land movement," the manufacturer added. The very fact that Ford forecast this movement while at the same time refusing to discuss his recent visit at the White House leads some to believe that the average American can not see so far ahead. Ford has long been considered a sound and successful businessman. He has been asked to run for the Presidency. He has predicted good times and bad times before and has been fairly accurate.

To further support his statement The Democrat points to the recent forecast of Roger W. Babson, prominent economist. "There are signs that business is bottoming out. It will move upward, and things should be looking a whole lot better by the November election."

Another fact that can not be overlooked is that national retail companies have opened more new stores in recent months than in any period since the pre-depression days.

No economist or manufacturer is needed to point out the fact that this area is well provided with "cash on hand," generally speaking, and that Memphis, itself, is enjoying a small boom in retail business and population.

According to such mentioned sources it is to be concluded that there is nothing but prosperity ahead.

RESEARCH LABORATORY IN TEXAS?

THE STATEWIDE Cotton Committee of Texas is making a serious effort to induce the Federal Department of Agriculture to establish Cotton Research laboratories in Texas. Newspapers of the state are joining the organization in favoring the movement.

It is one of the most common-sense undertakings ever attempted in this state, is the sincere belief of The Democrat. The surplus problem results almost directly in the decline in America's foreign market. In the past, Texas has exported 90 per cent of all the cotton it produced, and it is the chief cotton producing state in the Union. If Texas isn't interested in cotton research work what other state in the Union is?

Texas is developing rapidly in industry and commerce. It is more industry-minded today than ever before. The federal project would benefit from the support of the state's own experiment and research work. Cotton, as a principal raw material in Texas, is outranked only by oil. Each of these facts invite an editorial, but space does not permit.

The Democrat is proud of the Committee's efforts and favors the establishment of the laboratory in Texas . . . with Memphis as its post office address. And why not? Hall County ranks in the top brackets as a cotton producing county!

TO PRODUCE PAPER IN EAST TEXAS

WITH THE ground breaking ceremonies set for July 15, the first unit of the four-unit newsprint manufacturing plant will soon be established in East Texas, at Lufkin.

This marks another forward step for southern industry. It is, within itself, a prediction that other similar mills will follow in the southern states from Virginia to Texas.

The south is turning to industry, or rather industry is turning to the south. Such a trend will also effect trade and commerce and in turn bring vast revenues to the areas that actually produce the raw materials. It has long been the case that North and Eastern milling industries have profited greatly through cheap raw products bought from the South.

Questions About County History

How well do you know history? Do you remember incidents of interest in Memphis, Hall County and the surrounding territory, or do you overlook a great deal of colorful history—a history of which we are justly proud?

Try a few of these: What man in 1920 gave to each school child in Hall County six shade trees? How many trees did he order?

Do you know what was the first woman's club organized in Memphis and when it was organized?

Do you know who built the first wire fence in Hall County?

When were the first roads laid out and started in Hall County?

More next week and answers will be found in the Democrat Pioneer edition next month. In the meantime let's all think, write, talk Pioneer celebration—making it the best yet.

The Democrat's staff of able correspondents throughout the county are already well at work on gathering bits of information, according to their reports. "I am working very hard to see every Old Settler of our community and am hoping to send you several letters in the near future," reports Mrs. C. L. Padgett of the Friendship community.

Committee Begins Road Procedure In Collingsworth

Want to Connect with Proposed Hall-Childres Farm-to-Market Road

A meeting of residents of Wellington, Rolla Community and Swearingen Community was held Tuesday night with a view of sponsoring the building of a road from Wellington southwest through these two communities.

This road would connect with the proposed road from Memphis east through the northern part of Childres County and Hall County.

The most important event of this meeting was the appointment of a committee to work out the details of procedure in securing the road. The committee consists of P. E. Starr, chairman, Pink Sullivan, E. M. Trew, Jet E. Roberts, Tom Campbell, R. D. Wiley, and E. N. Lewis.

Members of the Commissioners Court present were N. C. Tennison, M. F. Hunter, and Luther Grizzle, and they will join with the committee in furthering the procurement of this road.

Coming at the same time as the effort to secure the road to Memphis was an announcement that Clyde Drake, resident engineer of the State Highway Department, and his aides have completed the survey of State Highway No. 53 from the northwest corner of the original townsite of Wellington east to the Texas-Oklahoma state line.

Field notes will be furnished the County Commissioners Court within the near future for the purchase of the right-of-way for this road.

In addition to being a state highway, this road is now on the Federal Aid System of highways.—Wellington Leader.

Fund for Erecting Memorial Growing

Half of the set goal of $1,000 for the Goodnight Memorial Fund has been raised. W. H. Patrick of Clarendon, chairman of the committee in charge, announced last week.

Now on its last lap, the campaign to raise money to erect a monument at the grave of Col. Charles Goodnight, pioneer Panhandle cattleman, has become more intensive. Col. Goodnight's grave in the cemetery at Goodnight, has been unmarked since his death in 1929.

Members of the committee plan to erect a monument identical with that of Mrs. Mary Ann Goodnight, who is buried beside her husband. Then, a bronze plaque will be placed between the two graves and the burial plot will be enclosed with an iron fence.

Mr. Patrick urged those who have contributions to make to the fund to send them soon either to himself or to Mrs. Harold D. Bugbee, treasurer of the fund, in Clarendon.

"Contributions in any amount will be appreciated," he said. "The most popular amounts have been $1 and $2. As a matter of fact, the committee would be greatly pleased if the balance of the fund could be raised entirely by small donations, in order that more Panhandle people might feel they played a part in paying honor to this great plainsman."

Fire Is Reported

The Memphis Volunteer Fire Department answered a call about 7:15 last Friday morning to the house owned and occupied by T. M. Burns in southwest Memphis.

An oil stove had exploded, and its destruction was the only damage reported. The house is located about two blocks south of Noel street near 17th.

Paragraphs Culled from The Democrat's Exchanges

A Wichita Falls pastor refuses to confirm or deny a report that when he visited one of the roadhouses, he saw two of the higher-ups among his members enjoying themselves . . . After all, they may have been investigating, too.—John Gould in Wichita Daily Times.

Turning to Livestock

The livestock business is growing in Hardeman County. Farmers are realizing that they will have to depend upon something else besides cotton in the future, and know that this is one of the best stock farming countries on earth.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

Another thing the city man can't understand is how a farmer gets grass to grow without sprinkling it.—The Sandhill Sage in Paducah Post.

Forced Economy

Citizens of one of the largest cities in the state have banded together and are urging the non-payment of city taxes, on the theory that if the money is not available the city fathers cannot spend it. This is one way to practice economy.—McLean News.

Notice!

Circle the date of June 27 on your calendar as that is a very, very important date. According to some publicity reaching us today the date of June 27 officially marks the opening of National Iced Coffee Week. Of course, Shamrock will want to do her part in this big national observance and our purpose in calling it to your attention at this time is to warn you against confusing Iced Coffee week with Iced Tea week, the titles of the celebrations being so similar. Please call this to the attention of your neighbors.—JAUB in Shamrock Texan.

Highway Towns

Towns and cities which, forsaking their rail lines and waterways, but going forward with the times, have built and kept building roads, are the centers which are gaining ground fastest in the race for supremacy in their respective areas.

Highways now are the life lines of the community. They mark the path of greatest travel. They will make and unmake cities of the great plains country. Most of us have come to realize at last what the good roads builder of twenty years ago knew and foretold.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Droughts No Bother

You hardly ever hear anybody cut here gripe much about his not raining. About all we try to raise is hell and yearlings, in addition to our big money crop, oil. Of course, the yearlings need a little rain and the oil industry uses water, but people in the cow business have learned to expect these perennial droughts and the oil men dig water wells.—Ralph S. Shuffler in Odessa News-Times.

Treasurer's Report

The regular quarterly report of the Wheeler county treasurer was published in the Wheeler County papers the past week. Wheeler commissioners are to be congratulated for tracking the law regarding such reports be published. Tax-payers are entitled to know how their money is being spent, and we are glad to note that more and more counties are coming under the law in this respect.—McLean News.

Deadly Realism

In a strangely realistic dream, Thomas Hambree, Atlanta, Ga., saw a big snake coiled around his foot. Still asleep, he reached for his shot gun, always kept handy at the head of his bed, took aim and fired, shooting off two of his toes.—Claude News.

Help Them Find Work

The other day a certain business man said that all of the graduates he talked to wanted to start at the top. It is only natural for youth to be ambitious, and I'll bet that every business man once had the same idea. Our graduates have to learn some time that it is better to start at the bottom and come up, than to start at the top and go down. That is one of the very reasons we should try to help them find work this summer.—Hereford Brand.

Tribute

This will be one of those happy efforts, like picking up pretty sea shells on the shore and laying them side by side on the sands of time, wondering which of them is the prettiest. My father has been picking up sea shells for his loved ones for many years and has waded out in the deep waters of life when the waves were rough in order to get another pretty shell for his children. He helped each of us to form a perfect pattern for our lives. If we picked up some ugly shells and fitted them into our lives, the fault was ours. Many think father's pattern perfect. He began from scratch, worked hard for church, schools, hospitals. Many times when the sands would be blown by scorching hot winds during July, he would be sorely tempted to return to Illinois with its beautiful streams and trees which he left to come to Childres. Yet he had faith in Childres, never ceasing to work for parks, hard-surfaced highways or lower taxes so that the under man might have a home of his own. It seems to his children now that these shells are like mother-of-pearl, reflecting the evening of his life. His love and wisdom to us is sublime.—Gertie E. Haskett in Childres County News.

THAT counterfeiter, trapped because his money had a peculiar odor, picked the wrong time to operate. It has been so long since some guys were close to a dollar bill that they can scent a genuine at 100 yards.

Farmer boys will soon be forced to call off their afternoon baseball games "on account of grain."

Fashion experts predict that skirts will rise still higher before they begin the descent again. This is a fine time to be asking the girls to don cotton stockings.

About this time of year a fellow always wishes that somebody way back had started the practice of considering dandelions as lawn assets.

Scientists believe that heads of persons doing intense mental work tend to grow larger. This should not be confused with the ordinary case of swelled head.

The amazing inkwell that fills fountain pens Automatically
Once you've seen the amazing ease, speed and cleanliness with which the Terry Penfiller fills your fountain pen, you'll never go back to the inefficient, hunt-the-bottle, pull-the-cork, ink-your-fingers method.
Not a smudge of ink anywhere; not a moment lost when your thoughts are flowing freely. Just reach out, press the pen point into Penfiller... and go on writing. You've never seen anything like it. The Terry Penfiller fills your fountain pen, instantly and automatically. And what it does in the way of cutting down pen repair bills and saving ink means you are losing money without it. Come in and demonstrate the Penfiller yourself.
FILL YOUR FOUNTAIN PEN FREE
The Terry Penfiller is an original idea. It's the most practical device that 50 million fountain pen users have been waiting for. Its beautiful colors will match any desk appointment. Come in for a demonstration today.
