E. C. W. OFFICIAL WILL SPEAK IN FOUR COUNTIES

Extension Agent from Regional Office to Address Farmers

J. O. Stovall, county agent of Collingsworth County, and V. E. Hafner, Childress County agricultural agent, are meeting this afternoon with James A. Jackson, Hall County agent, with the intentions of arranging an itinerary for D. A. Dobkins, assistant extension agent of the regional ECW offices at Dalhart.

Mr. Dobkins will appear in Hall, Childress, Collingsworth and Donley counties in the near future, and the county agents of these counties are arranging a speaking program for the government official. H. M. Breedlove, county agricultural agent of Donley County, was in Memphis yesterday conferring with Mr. Jackson.

Talks by Mr. Dobkins in Hall County will be given at Memphis, at Estelline and at Lakeview, Mr. Jackson stated.

GO DEER HUNTING

Sheriff Joe Colvin and Cleo Rothwell left yesterday for Mason County, where they will hunt deer. They were to stop at San Angelo enroute, to pick up a brother of Rothwell's.

Turkey Hunt

If you are going to participate in the Democrat's Christmas Turkey Hunt, and have mislaid yesterday's issue, you may secure one at the office. You will need a complete file of Thursday issues, to participate in this event, so save your Demos and win a big turkey for your Christmas table.

NYA CERTIFIES THIRTEEN HALL COUNTY STUDES

Students Approved At Estelline and Lakeview

Thirteen Hall County high school students have been certified by the Texas National Youth Association for part-time jobs under the NYA set-up, Miss Vera Topp Gilreath was advised in a letter this morning from Lyndon B. Johnson, NYA administrator for this state.

Seven students at Estelline and six at Lakeview were approved for the positions. Nothing was said concerning the applications from Memphis and from Turkey, Miss Inez Mason, assistant county superintendent, said.

Acceptance of the Memphis and Turkey applicants is expected within the next few days.

FIRE DAMAGE IN NEGRO TOWN

Fire from Defective Flue Calls Dept. to Morningside

Fire caused by a defective flue resulted in small damage to a residence structure in Morningside Edition, negro settlement, here this morning about 9:15 o'clock.

The Memphis Fire Department answered a call to the scene of the fire, but the blaze had been extinguished by the time the truck arrived. A few burned shingles on the roof was said to be the extent of damage.

MANY ATTEND CCC SERVICES

Local Pastors Are in Charge of Weekly Services at Camp

Large attendance is reported at the religious services that are held each Tuesday night at the local Civilian Conservation Corps camp here, according to local pastors who are conducting the services.

Memphis citizens are invited to join the CCC enrollees for the weekly sermon at the Recreation (Continued on Page 12)

LAKEVIEW MEN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER SCS WORK

Endeavor to Line Up Land Owners Their District for Work

Approval of the work being done by the Emergency Conservation Camp here was expressed by members of the Lakeview soil erosion committee yesterday, as they viewed the activities of CCC workers at the G. W. Sexauer farm west of Memphis.

B. E. Durrett, T. M. Isham, E. C. Barnett and W. D. Bevers, comprising the Lakeview committee, were enthusiastic in their praise of the government work that is being done on the farms in this section and they intimated that they would strive to get the farmers of their section to cooperate with the government in com- (Continued on Page 12)

ADMINISTRATOR VISITS CAMP

State ECW Official Inspects Local SCS Camp Today

W. L. Cowan, State Administrator of the Emergency Conservation Work, and Harold R. Baker, chief clerk of the ECW regional office at Dalhart, are in Memphis today on an inspection tour of the local ECW camp, according to George Hull, head of the Soil Conservation Service here.

The high state and regional officials were lavish in their praise of the work being done by the local camp.

DISTRICT BYPU MEETS TONIGHT

District Societies In Contest Tonite At Baptist Church

Baptist Young People's Societies from a number of churches in District 10 will have representatives present for a meeting tonight in this city, at the First Baptist Church.

The occasion is a series of contests, to select delegates to the State Convention of the B. Y. P. U. at Dallas, on Thanksgiving Day.

Delegates from Amarillo, Stratford and other towns in the Panhandle are expected to be present. The contests cover all phases of young people's training school work, including senior oratorical contest, intermediate sword drill, junior memory drill and primary story hour contest. Winners will go to the State Convention, as representatives of the Panhandle district.

A TOUCH OF HUMAN INTEREST

LISTENING in on the radio in our home a night or two ago, we caught a touch of human interest which held our attention.

On a program originating from Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Company, John Charles Thomas was the featured artist.

Mr. Thomas rendered a number of selections, each of which we enjoyed, but the thing which struck us most about his program was that at the close of his sign-off talk he used three words—"Good night, mother."

Mr. Thomas has made a name for himself in the radio world, and his services are eagerly sought after by sponsors of radio programs. His name is a household word in the homes of radio fans of the nation, and his songs are on the lips of the world. Daily he receives hundreds of requests for photographs and autographs.

In short, Mr. Thomas is a celebrity.

Yet, unlike many so-called celebrities, Mr. Thomas is still the boy who once knelt at his mother's knee and said his prayers before she tucked him into bed. He is still the lad whose form that mother watched as he sturdily trudged away from home on his first day in school. He is still the young man who his mother watched approach and reach manhood. He is still, and will always be, his mother's "little boy."

Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of miles away from the studio at Chicago, his mother sat that night, as every night her son broadcasts, beside the radio, drinking in every tone, every expression of that wonderful voice. No doubt her eyes were moist, as her memory wondered back to the years when he was still a small boy at her knee. As is true of a mothers, she loves her son with the love that passeth understanding.

And when the program came to an end... when the last golden notes had died in the ether waves... when John Charles had paid his respects to his public... when that last fond whisper, "Good night, mother," reached the waiting ears of that mother... we know that there came to her lips a smile, and to her heart the realization that despite the adulation of the public, her boy was still "her boy."

West Ward P. T. A. Meets

The West Ward P. T. A. met yesterday afternoon, Nov. 14, with a goodly number present.

The stage was all dressed out with new curtain recently purchased by the P. T. A. and with many pot plants very effectively arranged, furnished a real setting to the following program: Reading, "Dimples in My Cheeks," Jiveta Fay Pounds. Reading, "Thanksgiving," Bill George Kesterson. The Rhythm Band played several numbers which were enjoyed. "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung by the entire assembly, followed by the invocation by Dr. John Angus MacMillin. Dr. MacMillan also gave the devotional, a very inspiring discussion from the tenth chapter of John, verse ten. "I came that you might have life, and have it abundantly." He made a wonderful application in line with his theme of the program, "Cooperation of Home and School in Health."

Dr. W. Wilson discussed the project, Community Hospital for Memphis.

We're becoming more "Centennial minded" and to remind us of the fact, Mrs. Maynard Drake, sponsor of the Mothers Singers, conducted a sing-song acquainting the P. T. A. with several of the new songs pertaining to the Centennial.

Following this a motion was carried to purchase the six flags which had flown over Texas at

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer

If we had a national pie week (and goodness knows we may any minute) it would likely come in November. Thanksgiving and pies are so closely associated that we become pie-minded for the entire month. I know a hostess who serves individual piping hot mince pies with tea any afternoon at four o'clock from the middle of November until after Christmas.

For regular meals I like a whole big pie that can be cut in conventional wedges best, but for little festive affairs there's something about individual pies that is especially appealing.

Orange Tartlets Glace

Four oranges, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 package flavored gelatin, 1 1-4 cups warm water, 1 cup whipping cream, nine 3-4-inch tart shells. Peel oranges and separate into sections. Free from skin and membrane. Sprinkle with sugar and let stand ten minutes. Dissolve gelatin in warm water and pour over orange sections. Let stand until gelatin begins to thicken. Whip cream until firm and fold four tablespoons thickened gelatin into it. Chill for several hours. When ready to serve put a layer of whipped cream in each tart shell. Chill ten minutes. Arrange jellied orange sections on cream and add enough thickened gelatin to fill tart.

Cake Mixture for Nine Tarts

One cup cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons milk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift three times. Cream butter, slowly beating in sugar. Add egg well beaten. Add milk alternately with flour mixture, beating until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla and use to cover jam.

Prune and Cranberry Lattice Top Pie

Line a dish with plain pastry and fill with 1 1-2 cups cooked prunes, pitted and sliced; 1 1-2 cups chopped raw cranberries, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup prune juice, 1 tablespoon butter. Mix cornstarch, salt and sugar and stir into prune juice. Pour over the fruit in the pie shell and dot with bits of butter.

To make a lattice top roll pastry as square as possible and cut in strips about 3-4 inch wide. Moisten the edge of the under-crust just as if you were going to put on an upper crust. Press strips against the moistened edge working at right angles so the strips will be under and over each other. Then moisten the strip around the edge and place a strip of crust over. Pinch with thumb and forefinger to crimp edge. Bake at 375 for thirty minutes.

MILITARY INFLUENCE

Typical of the luncheon and tea costumes fashionable women are wearing in smart dining rooms these days is this ensemble with a faint militaristic air. It includes a raspberry dress in ribbed silk crepe with draped bodice and silk frogs, black caracul cape and velvet hat with dashing pompom. It was seen in the Terrace Room at the Plaza.

LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

DENTON, Nov. 15.—Fashions come and fashions go. One year we must pull our hair back, gracing it with waves only, and the next year we must fluff it out and insert anything from a rhinestone clip to curled plumes for chic.

One year our evening gowns must have a long train, the next year a mere suggestion of a train, and still the next year we appear with a hem cut evenly all the way around. Last season our dinner dresses were long, fussy and almost formal in style, but this year girls at Texas State college for women (CIA) suggest a dinner dress of street length that answers every purpose when the young man says "Let's don't go formal."

The old stand-by, black silk crepe, in a novelty weave makes the fundamental part of the ensemble. It has a smooth hipline, flared skirt, youthful neck and shirring over the shoulders. It give fashionable fullness and drape to the blouse. Its sleeves are of the dolman type, but short and new looking. A crimson scarf or ascot adds a finished touch to the neck.

The little jacket which is worn with the dress is of white faille shot with silver threads. It is fitted and buttons all the way up to the tiny high collar. A small peplum finishes the waist and has a box pleat squarely underneath shows just enough to add a brilliant touch.

In keeping with this frock, wear a black velvet hat that fits the head snugly and supports a huge bunch of red and fuchsia velvet flowers on the top. Gloves should be of soft rich black velvet dressed up with a tiny brilliant clip to compliment the huge rhinestone ornament on the black velvet bag.

arrival, he shook hands with Engle, wished him good day, got into the roadster and drove away.

Instead of turning back to Midlothian, he hurried on to the county seat, 10 miles away. There he returned the car to the garage from which he had rented it that morning, and took a taxi to the little city's airport. The chartered plane in which he had flown down that morning was waiting for him, its pilot loitering in the hangar.

"Get her warmed up, quick," said Larry. "I want to get back to Dover as fast as you can put me there."

It was still before noon when he entered his office in Dover. He took from his pocket the little bundle of unbladed table knives from the Engle kitchen and carefully unwrapped it. Then he called for Tony LaRocco.

"Tony," he said, as the Italian entered the room. "I think you can make some prints off of these. Try 'em and see what you get, will you? And—step on it."

Tony took the exhibits and departed, while Larry sat at his desk and took a hurried glance at various papers and memoranda that had been accumulated during his absence. He raised his eyebrows over one memorandum, studied it with care, called Agent Frank Watson into his office and talked with him earnestly when he rang up that honest, hard-fisted friend.

Detective Sergeant Mike Hagan of the Dover police, and held a telephone consultation with him. As he hung up Tony came back into the room carrying a huge blotter on which lay three photographic prints, still wet from the fixing bath.

"Three of the knives were too smudged to do any business with," said Tony. "I got these off the other three. Here's what looks like wo fingers and a thumb, from one. Then here's a couple of fingers, from another. The third had a lot of smudges and one halfway decent impression. . . I dunno."

Larry looked at the prints.

automatically drawing out the envelope in which he carried the fingerprint impressions of Red Jackson, Wingy Lewis, and Sandy Harkins. He laid the cards on the table, and Tony bent over them with him.

"This one we don't have," mused Larry. "We'll send it to Washington. This single—here . . . by the Lord, Tony, it that isn't Red Jackson's! Look!"

They made a careful, painstaking comparison, checking loops and whorls with methodical exactness. Then they straightened up, looked at one another, and nodded.

"This other one—looks like a woman's," said Tony. Larry looked at the print. "I blew it up so much, you can't tell," explained Tony. "But on the silver the prints were a lot smaller than the others. I bet it's a woman's."

"Might be Mrs. Engle's said Larry slowly. "Or maybe the Brady woman is with 'em. Well, it doesn't signify—"

He broke off as his bell tinkled, and took up the telephone. He smiled and spoke a word of greeting into the mouthpiece; then, as he listened, he grew tense, and his face became stern.

"My God, man, it can't be!" he said. "Listen—"

FURNITURE BEETLES HAVE BEEN KNOWN TO EMERGE FROM THE WOOD OF 17-YEAR-OLD CHAIRS.

SOMETIMES, in old houses, it is possible to hear a faint, ticking sound which seems to come from the woodwork. This noise is produced by the grubs of small beetles, which have been in the timber since the house was built. They are able to live for years in the grub stage, in dry hard wood, before becoming large enough to emerge as adults.

Locals and Personals

Mrs. C. D. Sears of Amarillo spent Monday and Tuesday in Memphis on business. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom returned last night from Hubbard, where they went to attend the funeral of their grandchild, James Adrian Odom Jr., who died Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Odom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Weatherby, Tuesday. The infant was born Saturday of last week. Mrs. W. A. McMurry, who has been very ill at her home, 203 South Eleventh street, was taken to the Odom Sanitarium Tuesday, and is critically ill. Mrs. McMurry is the step-mother of T. M. R. B. and J. S. McMurry of this city.

HERE IS HOW BLACK-DRAUGHT HELPED SO MANY

At the first warning symptom of constipation, take purely vegetable Black-Draught for the prompt relief so many say it brings them.

"I take Black-Draught for biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. Helen W. Williams, of Waco, Texas. "Sometimes I have headaches from this trouble or feel dull and sluggish, and I feel this way until I take Black-Draught and get impurities out of my system, after which I feel worlds better."

The writer of the above statement has taken Black-Draught, when needed, since she was a child. "Black-Draught, to my mother, was a family medicine," said Mrs. Williams. Get a 25-cent package, today.

Fashions Steel Like Human Hand, But Cannot Replace It

CAPABLE of exerting 300 tons more pressure than the gargantuan "turret top" presses constructed a year ago, this new industrial giant for the first time provides individual control over the massive slides, making it possible to draw and form sheet steel in much more intricate designs than ever before. Machinery of this type notwithstanding, the Fisher Body division of General Motors still places stress upon the skilled craftsman. Inset: A metal worker hand finishing the seamless steel roof of one of the new "turret top" bodies. His tools consist of emery paper, files and a light hammer.

MEMPHIS AND MOBEETIE CLASH TONIGHT IN LAST CONFERENCE GAME OF 1935 AT CYCLONE STADIUM

Chesty Walker's Memphis gridsters and Coach Fowler's Mobeeite High will clash tonight in a tangle on Cyclone Stadium at 8 o'clock in the final football skirmish of the season.

Raymond Powers fully recovered from injuries received in a random encounter last week. Walker will have strength to hurl against the Hornets.

Memphis will enter the contest as the favorite to cop easily; but the local players are well aware that no game is a setup, and they are preparing themselves accordingly.

After a short practice yesterday afternoon at Cyclone Stadium, the Memphis team appeared to be in the best of the entire year. The squad tapered off a week of drills and skill practices yesterday afternoon, and the men are in fine fettle for the fray.

The lineup for Memphis lined up against the Clarendons will open against the Hornets tonight. Tonight's game will probably see an improvement in the passing game. Powers, was ailing in the London contest with a strained arm and was not up to form. He will, however, be permitted to launch an attack on the Hornets tonight, permitting that may dazzle the Mobeeite backs.

Crump, who has been a threat in the past two weeks, will probably be given an opportunity to show his wares tonight. He will play part of the game at the point position, and will be able to get loose for a long run or two.

Bad McAbee will likely lead the 60 minutes between the end guard post, with Crump playing part time at end. Winfred Swift paraded several Memphis players will probably see action tonight. Among them will be Roden, guard; Garvis Davis; Ray Childress, half; Evans, tackle; Bruce Sitton; Clarence Ren, center; Creath, half; Doyle Dunn, end; Babe Hughs, end; Edwin and John Harris, full backs, having underestimations. Harris had an injury, and Baldwin had an injury on his nose.

The two teams trot on the field at game-time, Memphis will have a game for the first time in a year against an opponent of the same poundage. The average within a few minutes is 149 pounds. Despite the fact that the local fans are offering odds on Memphis to win, it is expected to be a hotly contested one, and the score is expected to be lower than previous years.

Mrs. Tom Evans returned to their home in Lubbock after a visit in Memphis with friends. They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Webster and Mrs. Evans were relatives of Hall county a number of years before moving to Lubbock.

Mrs. B. Webster and children returned to their home at Little Rock this morning, after a visit in Memphis and El Paso.

SOIL EROSION

All material appearing from time to time in this column is furnished through the cooperation of the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It is offered as this paper's contribution to the farmers, in an effort to help them cope with the greatest emergency they have ever faced—that of saving the soil they till. An effort will be made to answer any questions addressed to this paper, and, if necessary, a representative of the local area office will be sent to confer with you concerning your soil problems.
"Six inches or more of fertile top soil is being washed from many cultivated fields in this area in a generation of farm life," is the astounding statement made in Memphis recently by a representative of the soil conservation service of the United States department of agriculture.
Here for the purpose of furthering the scope of the work being done by the erosion demonstration projects now under way in the area, he said that few farmers realize that attempts to fertilize crops and restore fertility on fields affected by erosion, are only temporary and partially effective. Such farming methods are wasteful of the investment and effort expended unless erosion protection practices accompany them.
"Farmers in Hall county are becoming increasingly aware of the losses they are sustaining through needless soil erosion on their field," according to a recent bulletin of the soil conservation office at Memphis, Texas.
The statement went on to say that farmers are beginning to realize that erosion losses are

Sees Great Year Ahead

W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., photographed in New York during the Automobile Show, with part of the 5,000 telegrams from dealers all over the country the day after the announcement of the new 1936 Chevrolets. The public enthusiasm reflected in these messages, Mr. Holler said, forecasts not only the greatest Chevrolet year, but further progress in the country's economic recovery.

greater during the summer months when heavy and intense rainfalls drench the fields still loose from cultivation. Good cropping practices are being instituted to restore fertility to cultivated land and will materially aid in controlling erosion if humus is added to the soil.

CORRECTION

According to Frank Bayouth, of Frank's Department Store, Mr. Bayouth of the Sma. Shop is not his nephew, as stated in a news story in our columns earlier in the week.
Mrs. Roy R. Fultz went to Dallas yesterday, where she will receive medical treatment.

BEES FLY EIGHT MILES FROM THE HIVE IN SEARCH OF FOOD.

Bees fly no farther for food than is absolutely necessary. Usually they confine their foraging to an area within a mile of the hive. But a scarcity of honey-producing plants induce them to travel almost unbelievable distances, and they return with unerring accuracy to their homes.

POPL AND HIS FRIENDS BY BLOSSER

Comic strip panel showing Pop and Nutty talking. Pop says: "I can't imagine what might be keeping him!" Nutty replies: "Gee, Nutty is going like a house-a-fire today! If Freck doesn't hurry and get here, people will forget that he ever played football! Nutty has made three touchdowns already!"

Comic strip panel showing Pop and Nutty talking. Pop says: "When he goes cook, the red phantom, over his fourth touchdown of the day... the kid is simply kicking out into a touchdown rash!" Nutty replies: "Are you sure Freckles said he was going to the game? Absolutely, and at the rate he left here on his bicycle, I'm surprised he didn't get there before he even started!"

Comic strip panel showing Pop looking out a window. Pop says: "I gotta hurry up into the stand. I hope nobody will recognize me!!!"

BARBS

LIVERMORE, Calif., honors Max Baer as a leading citizen. The title undoubtedly originated from his habit of leading with the chin.

Instead of $12 relief check, New Jersey coal dealer, in error, got federal check for $250,000. Surprisingly, he wasn't told to keep the change.

Detroit physician speaks on subject, "How to Keep the Doctor Away." Maybe oratory isn't his forte.

Washington bureau announces Indians face a hard winter. Still, everyone can't win a pennant.

Crowds storm New York planetarium. Many of them, having learned there were stars inside, undoubtedly were autograph hunters. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

batting soil erosion. The men viewed the check dams, stock tanks and brush dams that are being constructed on the Oaks Creek tributaries in an effort to check the overflow of the troublesome stream, and they listened with pleasure to plans of carrying the same type of work along the creek south to the river. R. C. Nelson, agricultural engineer, and Mr. Eppersoll, agronomist, conducted the Lakeview committee over the work site. James A. Jackson, county agent, was also a member of the party.

FANS CAN DRIVE IN
Football fans with cars may drive their cars into the stadium for the game tonight, as long as parking space is available on the inside, according to Superintendent Davis. Heretofore, special permission has been necessary, but anyone may drive in tonight.
