On the Level

a colyum by William Russell Clark

On the part of a man it is often to be scoffed at. Most people are considered for writing columns in the place, and I am no exception to the general rule. However, I had worse things come my way and if this column fails to please along every week, I will stop writing.

Last week, I stood by a grave and watched as a man of eighteen, a victim of an automobile accident, was laid to rest. Near at hand stood my friend, his heart heavy with grief, as he watched his brother leave forever the land of the living for the realm of the dead. It was such a moment when nothing that may befall will comfort. It is a time that of us reckon too little with.

It is not pleasant to write of death. Ever since I can remember I have been taught to look upon death, to study and observe it, to attempt to understand its makeup. I have thought that it is unhealthy to look upon death, or to converse with the coming of the reaper. On the other hand, I have never been permitted to look upon death in an impartial sort of way, when it has loved one, a friend, or a loved one.

When I am a good deal older, I will know. I do not know death. I can not know the why of it as I can not know mathematics. Why do millions of our young people taken before their lives have allowed to fully flower? Why do we ask such a question that it can not be wrong? The individual answer: I do not know.

God there is a hope of in the hearts of most of us about the prospects of a better death—a life which we believe is without taint—living it and not being worth the while. The student of the Bible, nor tend to be, but there is a promise of Scripture that is a comfort to me, just as it is to millions of others: "Father's house are many." If it were not so, I would have told you, that where ye may be also."

It was the side of the road last Tuesday morning when I needed the suffering all I felt surer of Heaven. I felt for a long time. I am not a believer—that—but it just seemed all that was transpiring was a "still small voice" that added comfort even in the hour of affliction that I needed so suddenly upon my friend.

It has been termed a great into the unknown. I believe that statement something saying that death is a venture into the known. I venture to those who believe pass by as though a Eternity knows no time. A boy only eighteen years of age was buried Tuesday. The immortal tribute that stands out in crystals as the years go on; that when thy summons to join a venerable caravan that remains of shade, where I take my rest in the silent halls of the past, like the quarry slave who lies down to please his master, and wraps the drapery about him, and lies down to please his master.

Pioneer Resident Who Settled West Of Memphis In 1894 Dies On Sunday Night At Ripe Old Age Of Eighty-eight Years

On last Sunday night at 11 o'clock, one of Hall County's oldest citizens passed away. Matthew Walkup, who settled in Hall County thirty-five years ago, and had attained the ripe age of 88 years and one month, succumbed to the weakness of old age and answered the call home.

Mr. Walkup settled a few miles west of Memphis in about 1894 and resided there until the health of his only daughter required a change of climate, when he removed to Colorado Springs, Colorado, where both his wife and daughter died. Of late years, Mr. Walkup has resided in the home of Judge J. M. Elliott, where all the tender care that children could bestow on a parent was given to cheer his declining years.

Funeral services were conducted at the Elliot home on Monday afternoon at 4:30 by Rev. Arthur W. Jones of the First Christian church, of which church Mr. Walkup was a charter member, followed by the ante-burial service of the Masonic lodge. The body was accompanied to Colorado Springs for burial by Judge J. M. Elliott.

Lightning Strikes Ray Martin House During Storm Here

A hard rain storm, accompanied by high wind and hail, descended upon Memphis about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. Reports received in Memphis were that light rainfall was general over the county and that the hail did no material damage to crops. According to J. J. McMicken, local weather observer, one-half inch of rain fell here.

When the storm was at its height, lightning struck the home of Ray Martin on South Seventh street, damaging the chimney considerably. Soot was scattered throughout the house and the electrical fixtures were damaged. All lights in the block in which Mr. Martin lives were put out of commission for the remainder of the night.

The storm lasted for only about one hour, but it brought with it one of the most severe electrical displays of the season. This is the second time recently that lightning has struck a local dwelling.

REPAIRS TO LOCAL BANK ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Repairs to the Hall County National Bank will be completed within the near future, according to officials of the bank. When all work has been completed, a detailed account of the improvements will be published in The Democrat. The bank will be modern in every respect when the work now under way is completed.

STORM OF WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS MOST SEVERE OF SUMMER SEASON

One of the severest storms of the season descended upon Memphis Wednesday night, making the second storm in as many nights. Rain started falling shortly after eight o'clock and by 9, the storm was raging in all its summer fury. Street lights were on and off spasmodically; programs at the picture shows were disrupted and those people who had work to do Wednesday night, were forced to do it at stated intervals.

One Inch of Moisture According to J. J. McMicken, Memphis received one inch of moisture Wednesday night. This is in addition to the one-half inch received Tuesday night. The rain fell for the most of the night and did not stop until early Thursday morning, with prospects rife for more rain in the immediate future.

The rain was accompanied by a severe electrical storm and heavy thunder. The storm would seem to abate for a time, only to begin again when it was least expected. This was the situation throughout most of the night Wednesday.

Extends to Claude Reports received from trainmen on the Fort Worth and Denver train arriving in Memphis Thursday morning, the rainfall extended north as far as Claude. It was stated that a severe hail storm swept a wide belt of country north of Amarillo, but missed the wheat belt and that no material damage was done to the wheat.

UNION SERVICES HONOR FALLEN SOLDIERS

Memorial Day Sermon Is Preached By Rev. Arthur Jones

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in Memphis last Sunday with union church services at the First Presbyterian church, taken part in by all the congregations of the city. A large crowd attended the services, and veterans of three wars were present to hear the sermon delivered by Rev. Arthur W. Jones, pastor of the First Christian church.

Sunday afternoon, a large concourse of people went to Fairview cemetery and decorated the graves there of soldiers who have passed on.

Beautiful and Appropriate Rev. Jones' sermon Sunday was in keeping with the spirit of the day. He said, in part: "The custom of our annual Memorial Day is a beautiful and appropriate one that, while originating in the South, soon after the war between the states, so commended itself that it has spread to every section of the nation and has come to embrace the dead of all our wars."

Greene Dry Goods Company Installs G-E Water Cooler

Customers of the Greene Dry Goods Company have no need to go thirsty during the remainder of the summer months, as this concern has recently installed the new General Electric Water Cooler. Plenty of ice water may be had here throughout the day, which will be of convenience to the many patrons of this establishment.

The General Electric Water Cooler is connected directly to the city water supply. It assures a plentiful supply of cool, fresh water at the healthful temperature of 50 degrees. It eliminates all necessity for icing of the cooler. The water from the city supply passes through the cooling coils and is drawn off at the tap without having come into contact with the air or being subjected to any possible source of contamination.

The drinking water coil is placed inside the cooler tank and the tank filled to a definite level with fresh water.

BIDS ON BAPTIST ANNEX READY TO BE RECEIVED

Bids for construction work in connection with the erection of the Annex to the First Baptist church will be accepted any time between now and the twenty-first of this month, according to the Annex committee. All but $400 of the $15,000 necessary to begin building operations has been raised and this amount will be available when the work starts.

Wires were down in several parts of the county Thursday. Heavy rains were experienced at Estelline, Lakeview, Turkey, and over the county generally. About one and one-half inches fell at Estelline, it was reported.

Holiday or No Holiday, People Want Democrat

Here's what happens when the U. S. Postoffice has a holiday on Thursday, The Democrat's publication day: 6,792 people phoned and wanted to know if the paper was out. 6,792 people were told that their home paper was out on time, but due to a holiday being observed by Uncle Sam's hired hands it had not been distributed in the postoffice.

7,423 people came by the office and wanted to know "why I didn't get my paper." They, too, received the above answer. 65 people bought every Democrat local newsstands had to offer. 103 came by the office and bought copies because they "just couldn't wait until Friday morning."

Number Of Farmers In Hall County Have Purchased Farms Entirely On Credit And Now Own Them Free From Indebtedness

The second of a series of interviews with W. B. Quigley, president of the Citizens State Bank, was obtained this week. In this interview, Mr. Quigley discusses how it is that a number of farmers in Hall County have purchased farms entirely on credit and today own them free from all debt and incumbrances.

The interview as given by Mr. Quigley is substantially as follows: "A few years ago in conversation with one of the best known bankers in the Southwest, after what I considered an able discussion of the financial situation looking into the New Year, he wound up by saying, 'And I may be entirely wrong.'"

No Judgment Infallible "There is no man whose judgment is infallible. The ripe experiences of a lifetime can be vastly improved by the wisdom of a new generation. Someone always will do better than the best we can do. Yet, we owe it to ourselves and to our surroundings to do our best. In last week's issue, I discussed home economics along the lines that have been proven and found to be profitable. These suggestions are not mine; they have been practically demonstrated and handed down by thrifty farmers and I have merely observed from the sidelines.

Wichita Falls Will Likely Meet Cyclone In Football Contest

The Democrat is in receipt of a letter from Nolan Walter, football coach-elect for Memphis High School in which he states that negotiations are now underway, whereby the Cyclone football team will very likely play the football team of the Wichita Falls High School. According to Coach Walter, he has been conducting a correspondence with Coach Barry Holton of Wichita Falls, and from what he has been able to learn, the game will be played in the neighboring city early in October.

If the Cyclone makes a good showing in this game, it will be a big boost for the team throughout the remainder of the season, as Wichita Falls is noted for having hard teams to down. Coach Walter stated further that he is looking forward with pleasure to his work in Memphis and that he is going to do his best to give Memphis a winning football team.

The Democrat has received a picture of the new coach and it will very likely be published with in the near future, if a satisfactory cut can be made from it. If not, Mr. Walter will be asked for another photograph which will be used some time this summer.

FARMERS UNION COMPANIES VOTE FOR INCREASE IN STOCK

June 1 closed the ninth ginning season of the Farmers Union Gin Company with headquarters at Memphis. It also closed the twenty-second year of the Farmers Union Supply Company. About 125 stockholders were present at the annual stockholders meeting. Financial reports were furnished by John T. Bishop, who is manager of both concerns. Twenty thousand dollars cash dividends were paid to stockholders of the Farmers Union Gin Company and six thousand dollars in cash dividends were paid to stockholders of the Farmers Union Supply Company.

Everybody Well Pleased In speaking of the stockholders meeting, Mr. Bishop stated: "Everybody was well pleased with the year's work. There was a unanimous vote by the stockholders of both concerns to increase the capital stock. The Farmers Union Gin Company will increase from $100,000 to $150,000. There is something like $35,000 surplus on hand that will be distributed to the present stockholders which will leave about $15,000 stock to sell."

CHARLIE PERDUE IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Well Liked Boy Dies Sunday In Amarillo Hospital

Charlie Washington Perdue, eighteen years of age, second son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Perdue, of Hedley, died Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo, as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident near Estelline last Friday afternoon shortly after five o'clock.

Had Gone For Ride Charlie, in company with a friend, Wilma Huddleston, had gone for a ride in a new Ford milk truck. In rounding one of the curves on the highway that leads into Memphis, the driver lost control of the car and it was overturned. Charlie was taken into Estelline while Miss Huddleston was brought to a local hospital for treatment. She was able to leave the hospital the following day, and although considerably bruised and suffering from shock, is expected to fully recover.

As soon as Mr. Perdue was informed that his son had been seriously injured in an automobile wreck, he left Hedley for Estelline immediately and had his son moved to the home at Hedley. Medical attention was given the youth throughout the night Friday and early Saturday morning he was put on a train and taken to Amarillo.

Only Matter of Time As soon as the doctors had examined Charlie, they knew that it would be only a matter of time before he passed into the great beyond. His skull was fractured in two places. Charlie had a wonderful physique. His strong body and splendid constitution probably were the factors that kept him alive for almost 48 hours after he was injured.

Seven Members Of Local Rotary Club Attend Dallas Meet

Seven members of the Memphis Rotary club returned the latter part of last week from Dallas, where they had been in attendance upon the annual convention of Rotary International. According to those who went from Memphis, there were fully 10,000 guests and delegates registered. It was said, however, that this number was considerably swelled by visitors who did not register at the convention booths.

Those attending from the local club were J. Claude Wells, named as delegate, Olin V. Alexander, alternate, W. B. Quigley, T. J. Dunbar, J. P. Watson, Dr. Winfield Wilson, and Allen Grundy.

The big feature of the convention program, it was stated, was the pageant given Monday night of last week in the convention hall. It was taken part in by 500 Dallas girls, when the flags of all nations where Rotary clubs exist were banded about the Rotary wheel.

Representatives attended the International convention of Rotary from all sections of the civilized world, many of them being dressed, at times, in their native costumes, which added color to one of the largest conventions Texas has ever entertained.

Best of Attention

Charlie had the very best of medical attention, but there was nothing that anyone could do but await the inevitable. Charlie began sinking at noon Sunday, and his condition grew steadily worse as the minutes passed. Mr. and Mrs. Perdue arrived shortly before three o'clock Sunday afternoon and had to be told that Charlie could not live but a few minutes.

Shortly after four o'clock, the family left for Hedley, all except George, who waited for his married sister to arrive in Amarillo from Plainview. The body was taken in charge by an Amarillo undertaking firm and brought by ambulance to Clarendon, where it was embalmed. Then Charlie was brought home.

Funeral services were decided upon by the family to be held at the First Baptist church in Hedley, Monday afternoon at two o'clock, to be followed by interment in the Clarendon cemetery, where two of the Perdue children, who had died in infancy, were buried.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY ENTERTAIN FOR VETERANS

The Daughters of the Confederacy turned back the pages of history Monday, June 3, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, when they entertained the Confederate Veterans, their wives and widows of the Confederacy, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wheat from four to six o'clock.

The house throughout was aglow with lovely roses and larkspur, making a pleasing background for the U. D. C. and their honored guests, who were so cordially welcomed by the hostesses.

The program consisted of music and readings. The opening song by the chapter was "Just Before the Battle, Mother." The president, Mrs. W. L. Wheat, extended greetings on behalf of the Chapter.

This was followed by a quartette, "The Men in Gray," by Mesdames Joe DeBerry, Sam West, Curtis Cudd, George Sexauer, Mrs. Baskerville playing the accompaniment. Then Mrs. Ernest Clark gave a reading, "On the Rappahannoc."

The outstanding feature of the entertainment was the music rendered by Forest Copeland, a namesake of the gallant Confederate general, Nathan Bedford Forest, and A. W. Howard, Mr. Copeland playing the violin and Mr. Howard the guitar. When the strains of "Dixie" floated out on the air, the Chapter stood in reverence. This was followed by old time music, bringing back the time when these men and women of the Sixties danced to "Turkey in the Straw" and "Sally Gooden."

Then Miss Freeman, a niece of Mrs. Clark's, gave a humorous reading, which was well received. The guests were then invited into the dining room to partake of a sumptuous feast prepared by the U. D. C. The table, running for almost the length of the room, was covered with snowy linen centered with a bank of beautiful red roses, carrying out the U. D. C.

colors of red and white. Tables were also arranged in the adjoining room, each centered with roses.

After the invocation by Rev. Baker, dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Land, Mrs. Fannie Craver, Mrs. W. A. McMurry, Mrs. Frizell, Ben Baker. Members attending were Mesdames C. W. Broome, G. C. Baskerville, D. E. Brumley, J. D. Browder, Ernest Clark, Curtis Cudd, Joe DeBerry, T. R. Eastering, F. R. # NATIONAL RECOGNITION SECURED BY B. Y. C. STORES IN MAGAZINE

Recognition of B. Y. C. Stores, Inc., is gradually spreading over the United States. The most recent recognition of the merit of this chain store organization is to be found in a national magazine known as "Chain Store Age" for June. The magazine is published in New York City.

The story is replete with illustrations and gives Memphis a large boost in the matter of advertising this town as the location of the parent store in the chain. The story reads as follows: "If food, books, giftwares, house furnishings, packages, candy and automobile accessories can be sold by the self-service plan, why not men's furnishings?"

Parent of Chain
"A brand new self-service men's furnishing store has been opened at Memphis, Texas. It is too soon yet to predict that the self-service plan—evolved from the store lay-outs of successful cafeteria grocery chains—will endure. If it does the B. Y. C. (Be Your Clerk) Store will be the foster parent of a chain along the same lines, minus any practical defects that will undoubtedly manifest themselves in the "test" store.

Masculine Psychology
"It has been ushered into the keenly competitive commercial world with due appreciation of masculine psychology. The store lay-out is as foolproof as human skill has yet been able to devise, in making it easy for the male to buy what he wants in a satisfactory manner without a clerk constantly at his elbow. His personal comforts, too, have been studied, yet with none of the obvious attempts to rush the man out of the store directly the sale is completed or to force his buying mood immediately on entering. If he wants to hurry, he can do so. If he prefers to stay and linger, that is up to him. But the lingering is done in a non-selling part of the store, the consideration for masculine comfort being a 20x25 foot reception room. Before gaining admittance beyond the railing barrier—which opens into the store proper—he enters from the street into this reception room, where there are soft lounges, rockers, smokers' stands and magazines to make him feel he is in a club. There, too, he can make appointments to meet his friends and while away the time before his train or bus is due. Or just stay there if the weather is bad.

Handles 50 Customers
"The 25x100 foot store has been planned to handle about fifty customers at one time without crowding, the personnel for such business being able cared for by the manager, one assistant and one cashier. The assistant works Saturdays only, to look after the increased trade on that day. As a rule, three customers can be attended to in the B. Y. C. Store during the time a salesman in a service store would be serving one patron.

Stand Not Duplicated
"The B. Y. C. Store possesses a shoe stand that is not duplicated in any other retail establishment at the time of writing. Standing within an area of a trifle less than forty square feet at the middle of the floor, the stand has a display capacity of 480 pairs of shoes. End compartments have custody of 108 pairs of socks. When the customer wants a pair of shoes, he looks at the twelve styles of shoes in a single row on a sloping shelf at the top of the stand. Exactly underneath are the duplicates (in pasteboard boxes), arranged according to size. When he picks the right size to try on, another box of the same model and size is automatically moved from the inner compartment of the rack to the vacant space. The socks are stored in the two narrow side ends of the stand, in chute-shaped cubby holes with about six pairs of socks, according to size, in each section. A sliding dust-proof cover, partly raised during the daytime, lists the socks according to sizes. These compartments are also automatically filled with replacements.

Shirt Stand Typical
"The shirt stand is typical of the open fixtures used for such accessories as garters, underwear, hosiery, caps and hats. The only difference is in the size and capacity of the stand. The automatic feature is somewhat different from that provided for shoes. You see, the shirts repose in dust-proof compartments (the cover is up during the day) about ten deep, according to size. However careless the customer may be, he has a hard time giving the salesman some straightening out work to do after he has left. He reaches for whatever shirt that appeals to him. If, on reflection, it isn't quite to his liking, and he sees another pattern more promising, he puts the shirt back at the top of the pile, and the bottom one falls into place. The process is repeated as each shirt is removed or replaced. The shirt stand is supported on fixtures.

There are six shirt compartments in three tiers.

Selection Is Easy
"These fixtures, with the exception of the large shoe and hosiery rack (which is near the front center of the store) occupy an aisle along each side of the store. Along both walls is a roofed alcove, which shelters suits and overcoats hung in a straight row, each garment tagged with the size and price. Here, again, selection is made easy, although the automatic stock device is absent here since it is realized that a suit has to be serviced to some extent. The wide ledge above the alcoves is occupied by hats in their colorful pasteboard boxes.

Radical Innovation
"The B. Y. C. Store embodies a radical innovation in interior lighting. There are four ceiling lights strung across the middle of the store from front to rear, supplemented by white glass globes directly connected with the display and stock racks. Each such lighting fixture tops the metal rod with which the rack is constructed.

"The last step in the sale is when the customer carries off his purchases to the combined cashier's desk and wrapping table.

Strictly Cash Policy
"This test store will either prove, or fail to do so, that a small town clothing store can operate on a strictly cash policy—one which such a system implies. Whether, too, there will be an appreciable saving in salaries, the volume of business considered. Third, will the automatic stands keep in working order? Can such a store sell for less, when it figures the cost of installing the system? Or will it prove to be a shopping novelty—the kind to try a few times because "it is such fun" or will it endure as the self-service grocery chains have done? It is interesting to speculate on these practical matters and to watch future developments.

Charlie Perdue—

High Type of Manhood
Rev. Brooks, pastor of the Baptist church at Hedley, had charge of the services at the church. He spoke of the high type of young manhood that had been exemplified by Charlie. The youth had professed Christianity at the age of ten and was loved, admired and appreciated, not alone by the immediate members of his family, but by legions of friends as well. He had a cheerful, sunny disposition and was always ready for fun of the right kind. He was a member of the Amarillo chapter of De Molay's. He had been employed for the past several months by a dairy in Estelline.

Flowers Cover Casket
Beautiful flowers covered the gray casket—flowers that mirrored the esteem in which Charlie was held, and this silent tribute to his memory spoke louder than any voice except that from on high, who commanded him to come, and Charlie in all the flush and joy of youth, answered that call. In rest, his features had the look of one who had already tasted of the new life—the life that is prepared for those who believe in the lowly Nazarene and follow in his footsteps.

Burial Is Postponed
The funeral procession left for Clarendon immediately after the services at the church. When Clarendon was reached, it was decided to postpone the burial until Tuesday morning, as one of Charlie's married sisters, Mrs. Jack Connor of Jal, New Mexico, had not arrived. His body was left at the undertaking parlors in Clarendon and his loved ones and friends once more made the trip to Hedley.

As his sister from New Mexico had not arrived Tuesday morning, it was decided to go ahead with the final services. Relatives and friends left Hedley at nine o'clock and arrived at Clarendon some forty minutes later. The procession left from the funeral parlors there for the Clarendon cemetery, which was to be Charlie's final resting place. Three of George's schoolmates with Mrs. C. F. Wilson and another were in line. George lived at Mrs. Wilson's home while going to school in Memphis and she regards him with all the affection of her own son. Also in the car were James Hammond, with whom George played football last year, Ted Read and Melvin Jones.

To Await Resurrection
On a gently sloping hillside in the Clarendon cemetery, near two small graves of other members of the Perdue family who had passed on, Charlie was lowered into the ground to await the happiness and the glory of the Resurrection. Sorrowing relatives and friends gazed on the mound with its myriad hued flowers, and in the quietness that comes at such hours, Rev. Brooks again paid tribute to the boy who had gone to sleep in the protecting arms of Jesus. The minister paid tribute to Charlie's father, who, in his capacity of deputy sheriff and night watchman at Hedley, had continued to serve in that capacity while his dearly loved son lay dead. The citizens of Hedley, in appreciation of Mr. Perdue's fine work, contributed a substantial sum toward the funeral expenses.

There is little left to be said. What need to remark of that ride back to Hedley and to a home where the family circle had been broken? What need to try to detail what was said when friends took leave of the family? Perhaps, in Hedley, the fires of friendship burn the brighter, but at what a terrible cost!

Missed From Football
When Fall football training begins in Memphis in August, Charlie will not be in the lineup. He will not hear the shouts of the crowd, the plea for victory, or experience the sheer love of the game for the game's sake. But as a relative of Charlie's said, "He is so much better off than we are here." After all, God knows best, and Heaven has been made a better place, because Charlie is there.

Charlie is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. G. H.

Perdue, of Hedley; three brothers, George of Memphis, Lee and Bobby of Hedley; and seven sisters, Mrs. Jack Connor of Jal, New Mexico; Mrs. Frank Snyder of Borger and Mrs. E. B. Meadus of Plainview, and Irene, Mildred, Dorothy and Opal of Hedley.

Union Service—

of evening gatherings and fades, sit gazing on the pictured face of the loved one, or fondling the hallowed tokens of days forever embalmed in undying memory.

"They live in the new born spirit of altruism that is glowing in the breasts of uncounted thousands of their fellow citizens, for the world is growing better and we are, more than ever, ashamed of our selfishness.

World-Wide Fellowship
"They live in the spirit of world-wide fellowship and cooperation, which, if we could but detach ourselves enough to see it, is perhaps the most characteristic mood of our present generation. The hearts that laughed at death at Balleau Wood, Chateau Thierry, Soissons and the Argonne, are the hearts that still beat the noble march to better things. The hands that caressed the sword hilt, or fondled the rifle in No Man's Land, are the hands that directed Wilson and Harding in their heroic efforts to make the world safe for democracy and limit the competitive construction of deadly armaments. The hands that clutched with the Huns in death's last struggle and wrested democracy from the grip of militarism are the same hands that moved Coolidge and Kellogg in preparing peace pacts and now move the Quaker heart of Hoover to quiet the hatreds of centuries and to make the dream of the prophets and the Prince of Peace come true and 'forge the swords into plowshares and the spears into pruning hooks.'

Should Secure Purpose
"And so, let us not break faith with those that died and sleep beneath the poppies of Flanders' Field, but as we face the West today, let it be with a deep resolve that by every means humanly possible, we shall secure the purpose for which they died and make the world safe for democracy and secure the final peace of the 'war to end war.'"

PRUNERS TREAT PANHANDLERS ROUGHLY

Ross Springer Tosses Grocers to 12-7 Victory

Bonehead plays and luck of hits spelled defeat for the Panhandlers to the tune of 12-7 when they met the Prune Peddlers Friday. The result of the game left the Prune Peddlers on top in the standing of the clubs—the only remaining club with 1000 percent.

The Prune Peddlers' healthy lead came early in the game. Costly errors on the part of their opponents enabled them to run in 6 men in the second inning. The Panhandlers remained from four to seven runs behind for the remainder of the game. A short-lived last inning rally gave them 3 runs, but it was just another case of closing the gate after the horse was out of the stable. McLearn, Panhandler first baseman, made a beautiful and very difficult catch in the second inning for the third out after six men had scored.

Another new pitcher was introduced to the City League Friday when Ross Springer took the mound for the Prune Peddlers. He secured nine strike-outs, while the two opposing pitchers, Maddox and McLearn were able to fan but 2 and 4 men respectively.

Friday, the Prune Peddlers meet the Wholesalers and the result of the game is in doubt, spite of odds that favor the wholesalers. Fans who received a gentle surprise last week when the Cubs defeated the All Stars are wondering just exactly what will happen when W. J. Hill's aggregation and H. L. Nelson's boys cross bats at Fair Park this afternoon.

CUBS WIN WITH LAST INNING RALLY

Wood Hits Two-Bagger to Score Three Men

By the very skin of their teeth the Cubs defeated the Braves Wednesday in a phenomenal, fiction-like last minute rally that climaxed a game over which darkness was rapidly closing.

The Braves not only lost a close game, 5-4, that was undoubtedly theirs until the last minute, but they also lost their best opportunity to date to get out of the "cellar."

"SI" Wood, Cub left fielder, virtually lost the game in the fifth inning when he lost himself in the wilderness between second and third bases, with the bases full, and finally found second just in time to learn he was out. In the last inning, with the bases again full, he smacked out a two-bagger, scoring three men for a Cub victory.

The game may not have been the best from the standpoint of careful playing, but it was decidedly the season's biggest thriller so far. A remarkable improvement was noticeable in the Brave lineup Wednesday. Acquisition of several new players has strengthened the team considerably, and clubs that consider the Braves an easy mark had better inquire at Cub headquarters before they become cocksure.

Paul Blevins, twirling for the Braves, pitched a fine game, allowing but 4 hits. Montgomery and Gilliam, on the mound for the Cubs, held the Braves to a like number.

Texas Aggies Will Compete in Track Meet at Chicago

COLLEGE STATION, June 6. (UP)—Four members of Coach Frank Anderson's champion Texas Aggie track and field team entrained today for Chicago where they will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field meet June 7-8.

9 HITS WIN FOR PANHANDLERS MONDAY

All Stars Go Down Before McLearn's Pitching

Nine hits by the Panhandlers, as compared to 3 by the All Stars, were responsible for the 9-7 victory of the former at Fair Park Wednesday.

The tussel began with the All Stars favored to win, after the score stood 3 to 1 in their favor at the close of the first inning, but two clean hits, one a three-bagger by Cason, earned four runs for the Panhandlers in the second. They continued in the lead until the end, when a last inning rally by the All Stars fell three runs short.

Carl McLearn, crack Panhandler first baseman and one of the City League's smoothest players, pitched the entire game. Opposing him was Helm, standby for the All Stars. Helm's performance continues steady with no sensationalism attached. McLearn pitches a variety of ball that contains plenty of "stuff," but his arm seems often beyond control. A little wild yet, but he's got the makins'.

Monday's game constituted another of the season's surprises. In the first place, the All Stars were favored to win by a considerably topeavy score. In the second place, they didn't! Wise fans have quit trying to guess the outcome of these games. You never can tell what will happen next, and the first half of the season still belongs to any one of four clubs.

LAKEVIEW, June 6.—The Lakeview baseball club allowed a victory for Estelline by one score Friday and won from Quitaque Saturday by the same margin.

The diamond became a race track early in the Lakeview-Estelline game. Runs, hits and errors all were plentiful. A ninth inning rally, when 6 runs were scored, won for the visitors.

CHILDRESS 'Y' IS SHUTOUT BY LAKEVIEW

Williamson's Pitching Too Much for Visitors Sunday

LAKEVIEW, June 6.—Lakeview fans saw the type of shut-out baseball one often reads of but seldom sees, when the Childress Y. M. C. A. club was defeated by the locals 9 to 0 here Sunday.

With Al Williamson on the mound, the Lakeview boys kept the visitors from securing a single hit or a score. Williamson, as a rule, plays third base for the local club, but as a pitcher he was "just right" Sunday. His brilliant pitching was the game's chief feature.

It was one of the season's most interesting games. The Lakeview players were in good form, although one error each was made by the first, second and third basemen. Aside from pitching

MR. AND MRS. BRYANT ENTERTAIN TUESDAY

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bryant spent a delightful evening at their home Tuesday evening, honoring their daughter, Mrs. O. L. Jamison, and granddaughter, Yvonne Jamison, of Knox City, who are visiting here.

The entertainment began most enjoyably with an exceptional performance by talented little Yvonne Jamison whose clever vaudeville act delighted the guests. Combining her reading and dancing talent, she was very pleasing as a young girl who was anxious for a position on the stage in a Belasco production in New York City. She experienced difficulty in convincing Mr. Belasco that she was entitled to a tryout, but when she had finished demonstrating her ability to the noted producer, the audience was certain she had succeeded in making the first step of a stage career. Though only 10 years old, Yvonne displays remarkable dramatic and Terpsichorean ability. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. L. Sloan, Jr.

There followed several games of bridge. Inclement weather held sway on the outside, which made the social evening even more appreciated.

Delectable refreshments of fluffy angel food cake and ice cream "flowers" were served to the following: Mrs. O. L. Jamison, Knox City; Mrs. B. Gist, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Draper, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Art Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Quigley, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Jones, Mrs. Sam Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kinslow, Miss Elizabeth Bryant, Lyman E. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bryant.

City Fathers Buy $12,500 Fire Truck On Tuesday Night

The latest model American La France fire truck was purchased by the city Council at the regular meeting of that body held Tuesday night of this week. The truck will cost $12,500 and will be delivered in Memphis by September 1. The council acted upon the recommendations of the special fire committee consisting of J. M. McKelvy, chairman, B. E. Davenport and J. F. Forkner.

750 Gallon Pumper
The new truck will have a 750 gallon pumper with an 80 gallon booster tank, which will take the place of the old chemical tank, now becoming obsolete. The booster tank will have 90 pounds of pressure. The engine develops 115 h. p., has a six cylinder motor and will travel as fast as 65 miles per hour.

Present Truck Retained
J. L. Plummer, from Dallas, represented the American La France Company of Elmira, New York, in the matter of the purchase. The present Stutz truck will be continued in service, but the old Brockway truck is being traded in on the new truck. The American La France truck will be the lead truck to all fires when it is received by the city.

Firemen Thank Council
W. J. Mangum, chief of the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department, and each member of the department desires to express their appreciation to the City Council for buying such a splendid truck and thereby giving the city of Memphis adequate fire fighting equipment.

Graham-Paige Takes Honors

PARIS, June 6.—Graham-Paige won the challenge trophy of the Automobile Club of Paris, scoring highest in its particular class, in the 2,730 mile Tour de France, a classic French motoring competition under the auspices of the Motorcycle Club of France.

The Graham-Paige entry, a four-speed six-cylinder cabriolet, strictly standard, finished without penalization of any sort, despite the strict schedule that imposed a loss of points for the slightest delay due to mechanical trouble.

The Tour de France is unique in its arrangement. The route covers all the principal cities of the country, and at the end of each day's run, averaging over 300 miles, the cars may compete in regional contests in hill-climbing, acceleration, cold starts, etc. In these events, Graham-Paige carried off three regional cups, those of Alsace, Provence, and the Mediterranean. The hill-climbing contests required a start from a stand-still, and a stop at the finish mark, thus testing acceleration, power, and braking.

In addition, the Graham-Paige, driven by Roberts, a famous French racing pilot, also won special premiums offered locally.

Coming on top of the Graham-Paige victory over all entries in the international Monte Carlo tour, and its perfect performance in the more recent Paris-Nice race, the Graham-Paige success in the Tour de France has given this make, which was virtually unknown in Europe one year ago, a top place in the motoring public's esteem.

The Tour de France this year was unusually difficult. Cold weather and bad roads in the western and northern regions, added to the hardships of the competitors but enhanced the honor of finishing without penalty.

The contestants were on the road 16 days—9 days on the route between control points, and 7 days spent in local contests and special events. At each of the cities where the cars remained over for a day, they were arranged in a special exposition in a public square, so that the tour was not only a test of stamina, but a traveling automobile show as well.

The tour started and finished at Paris; noon-day controls and overnight stops were respectively at Nancy and Colmar; Dijon and Saint Etienne; Avignon, Nice; Marseilles, Beziers; Tarbes, Bayonne; Bordeaux, Niort; Nantes, St. Briec; Caen, Rouen; Lille, Paris.

Texas University Faculty Studying Problems of State

AUSTIN, June 6. (UP)—Study of the state's problems has been instituted on a large scale by members of the University of Texas faculty.

Using funds provided for this purpose, University instructors have undertaken thorough studies of conditions, particularly pertaining to economics and sociology.

Chief among the economic problems have been a study of the potash deposits and a study of highway administration in the state. A combined economic and sociological study is being made of the effects of farm tenancy and absentee landlordism.

Problems of the Mexican-Texas population are also being given consideration. Prof. Max Hand has charge of this branch of investigation. It includes a study of the immigration situation, education of the Spanish speaking people, the part of former Mexicans in Texas politics, and the diet of Mexicans in Texas.

Miss Ruth Allen, adjunct professor of economics, is making an intensive study of the women on Texas farms. George Marrison Engerrant, associate professor of anthropology is making a study of the slavic races in the state.

Most of the work is being done by the investigators under leave of absence granted them for the purpose.

Two Texas Girls Signally Honored

AUSTIN, June 6. (Special)—When diplomas were given to over five hundred University of Texas students Monday night at the forty-fifth annual commencement of the University in token of their having completed the required work for the various degrees, two girls, Miss Mary Goldmann of Austin and Miss Frances Gillum of Elgin, received the first degree of master of science in home economics ever conferred by the University.

Both girls are graduates of the University department of home economics, Miss Goldmann having received her bachelor's degree in 1925, Miss Gillum in 1927. Miss Goldmann will serve on the faculty of the College of Industrial Arts next year. Her thesis was on the subject, "A Dietary Study at the University of Texas Nursery School." Miss Gillum wrote on the subject, "A study of the Adequacy and Economy of Some Mexican Diets."

Wool and Texans

By Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas

Wool in Texas
 The spring wool crop of Texas is estimated at 33,000,000 pounds. More than 20,000,000 has sold at prices ranging from 15 cents a pound. At this time Texas will be enriched some $4,000 by the spring clip. Sheep and goats are in every year but many have not learned the value of a head of these money-making animals on the small farm. The great flocks in the countries of West Texas are if they can't have large there is no need to go to the trouble of caring for a few. Sheep or goats often will larger proportionate return from flocks of hundred or thousand because the small flock is its feed from what would be the waste of the large. There are few Texas farms all for profitable sheep or raising.

Highways and Small Towns
 Parts of Texas highway engineering straighten out the highway in some instances result in leaving small towns off rough routes of travel. In cases this has engendered and bad feeling. The Texas Press Association recent resolution takes the position, saying: "In the progress of highway construction in the relocation of high-ways should be designed the shortest routes possible, feasible, practicable and economical, but small towns which come to depend largely on traffic as a source of revenue should be protected in the plan of any highway, and the revenue of such towns to gain additional revenue should not be reasonably sacrificed for the economy in distance or construction costs."

Progress is made through compromise, and in most cases progress of every kind is some temporary losses to body. These should be as may be consistent with interests. In no case should be "unreasonable sacrifice."

Boy Slayer, 6, Court Problem

Here is Carl Mahan, 6-year-old slayer of his chum, Cecil Van Hoese, at Paintsville, Ky., and whose case gave the local court authorities a problem. Carl was found guilty and sentenced to the reformatory for 15 years by a county judge. Then a circuit judge set aside the decision and sent Carl home. The boy shot his playmate after they had quarreled over a piece of scrap iron. Juvenile court experts from Cincinnati examined the boy and said he showed no criminal tendencies.

Way Commission has grown to such proportions that hundreds of officials and other interested parties from all over Texas are drawn to Austin on the days that road contracts are let. These are unable to get into the small quarters in which the commission meets and holds its sessions, but have to loiter in the streets and open spaces to await their turn, often standing around in the cold and rain for hours. Many of them have petitioned the Legislature to construct an office building that will provide the needed rooms for the commission and those who have business with it. Many other State department workers are now so crowded for office space that the state's business can not be handled expeditiously. A building large enough to relieve this condition is much needed. The Legislature should provide for it without unnecessary delay.

Mrs. Willebrandt Honored
 Baylor did well to honor Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States, with the degree of doctor of laws, when she delivered the commencement address at the institution recently. Mrs. Willebrandt is an outstanding character because of the position she holds, which alone would entitle her to the distinction given her by the University. Aside from that her activity in the enforcement of prohibition laws has won international recognition, and her attitude toward law enforcement has been in line with the principles for which this Baptist school has always stood. Even those who are not in accord with those principles must concede that Baylor did the nice thing in honoring this notable woman.

Million Motor Cars
 Texas now has more than a million motor cars most of which are classed as "pleasure cars." Nearly 150,000 trucks are busy in the state as vehicles of commerce. Streets and highways everywhere are crowded with all classes of motor vehicles. Not many years ago some Texas farmers threatened to shoot motorists because their cars frightened horses and cows and endangered lives. Now, practically every farmer owns a car and many have several cars. The motor car has replaced the buggy, and wagons are seldom seen on the highways. Tractors are no longer novelties. Texas is well into the era of motor driven power, and this is evidenced in many other ways besides by its motor cars used for pleasure and transportation.

Cassava Plant Growing
 The United States Department of Agriculture, in a recent bulletin calls attention to the possibility of profitable cassava plant production in the section of Texas south of San Antonio. The cassava is a tropical plant grown extensively in Brazil and other South American countries for use in the manufacture of starch, tapioca, glucose and other such products. It is also a fine feed for live stock and poultry. It is stated that it can be cheaply and profitably grown. Mention is here made of this crop possibility merely to emphasize the fact that Texas has numerous sources of revenue of which Texans have not as yet dreamed.

Why Values Increase
 Values in real estate seldom increase except as a result of some local activity of a town's citizenship. In a news item from Brady the statement is made that values there have increased greatly in the last two years owing largely to civic improvements, such as street paving, water works extensions, etc. Look where you will and the towns that are progressing are those that have a citizenship that is forward-looking enough to work together for the general good. Where there is strife and bickering and lack of united efforts towns are not even standing still—they are rapidly retrogressing.

Number of Convicts Grows
 In considering the penitentiary problems it would be well for the Texas Legislature to note that the number of convicts is rapidly increasing under the present pool system of handling convicts. It is stated that the increase has been 65 per cent in the last two and a half years. Part of this may be attributed to the liberal pardon policy of the last administration, which emptied the prisons rapidly, as contrasted with the Moody policy of issuing few pardons. But criminologists agree that a large part of the increase is due to the fact that the Texas system of handling its convicts does not reform but makes criminals. So long as this is true every citizen is in a measure responsible for the increase in crime now so noticeable.

MIDLAND has a farmer who makes $750 an acre on his garden. Noah Kinnemore has been growing peas under mulch paper, and sells his entire supply to consumers who drive to his truck patch. His dewberries, and strawberries, are bringing $500 an acre. He intends growing sweet potatoes this year. The paper lasts three years.

ENDURANCE FLIGHT

The goal for B. Y. P. U. attendance at the Baptist church on last Sunday night was 100. Number present was 119. Therefore we have set 150 as the goal for Sunday night, June 9, and we expect to attain this goal. Much interest is being manifested in the balloon flight. The little folks were ahead last Sunday night, having a total of 32 hours in the air, with the Juniors running a close second with 29 hours. Each new member adds one hour to the union in which he becomes a member, and there were 34 new members in the various unions last Sunday night.

On Sunday night, each union will have a big long balloon, each a different color. In the opening assembly the Primary balloon will be flying the highest, but at the close of the program, during a 5-minute period when the secretary announces the hours, it may be that the balloons will change places, and some other union's balloon will be highest in the air. Let us all keep on working with the spirit that was manifested last Sunday night, and we feel sure that all previous records in B. Y. P. U. attendance and interest and growth will be shattered. You are invited to come and bring some one and help us to attain the 150 goal.

Let us just show our pastor, while he is away in his meeting, that we are backing him up, as all loyal B. Y. P. U. members should. Let us prove to him that his interest in his young people and his work for us is not in vain, but is bearing fruit. He is praying for 150 Sunday. Let us back up his prayers with our work and have 150 in B. Y. P. U.

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH

TWO of the planks in the Hoover platform for agriculture last year were a federal farm board to develop co-operative marketing and to handle surplus and a tariff law which would give the farmers enlarged protection against agricultural imports. Bills representing these two planks in the Hoover platform are now making their slow way through the congress.

Two bills embodying the federal farm board are being considered, one in the house and the other in the senate. The chief differences between the two bills are (1) the senate bill provides a federal farm board of 12 members, while the house bill has only six, and (2) the export debenture plan so long advocated by the National Grange has been tacked on as an amendment to the senate bill, and does not appear in the house bill.

The debenture plan provides that any exporter of agricultural products shall receive from the government a note equal in value to one-half the tariff which is levied by the government on imports of that product. These government notes or debentures may then be sold by the exporter to any importer of any kind of goods and will be accepted by the government instead of cash in the payment of import duties.

The plan is a straight government subsidy, indirectly payable out of taxes. Its effect should be to raise the price level of surplus crops, but most of the argument in congress and elsewhere is as to how much of the value of the export debenture would ever get back to the farmer who grew the crop. Many people believe that nearly all of the value of the debenture would be absorbed in discounts and commissions and by the middleman and that not very much of it would ever be reflected in the price to the farmer.

As a matter of fact, the plan would never have gotten into the senate bill at all except by the votes of those senators who want to embarrass the administration and by the votes of other senators who wanted to create some trading stock in favor of pet bills of their own. The two measures have been passed by their respective houses and are now in the hands of conference committees. There the debenture plan will be stricken out.

The passage of the farm relief bill does not mean that prices are going to be at once raised on farm crops. It will take the new federal farm board many months to get well organized, to find out what it can do and what it cannot do under the law, to work out its relationships to the co-operative marketing associations, to develop plans for stabilization corporations and to get itself into shape where it can even begin to intelligently lend the government's money for the benefit of farmers.

The job which the board is expected to do has never been done in the history of the world. An entirely new path must be blazed. An undiscovered economic country must be explored. The board will naturally move carefully.

Even when it does move its efforts will be nation-wide in scope and will probably never be noticed directly by the individual farmer on the farm. It may never be possible for a farmer to say, and prove, "I got more per bushel for this or that because of the federal farm board."

If the board succeeds in its operations over a period of years, all that the individual farmer will ever see will be a gradual lessening of the financial pressure against him. It will be made a little more easy for the farmer to pay for the things that he wants and he may find himself with a little more money in the bank than he used to have.

It is possible that no farmer will even be able to trace such an improved condition to the federal farm board or to the operations of the farm relief law. The times will just be a little better for farmers.

WHICH IS MORE IMPORTANT?

MR. Darrow and other wets of like mind declare that the prohibition law is unjust because they enjoy drinking liquor and those who don't enjoy it have no right to make them conform to the habit of life which is dictated by different desires and convictions.

This is an irrefutable argument if we are to consider the personal interest of the individual as more important than the good of the country as a whole. Temperance people argue for abstinence, but they do not base their belief in prohibition on the conviction that it is better for the individual to abstain. They believe in prohibition as a social necessity, removing the protection of government from organized temptation, promoting the welfare of the people by eliminating the greatest of all commercial wastes. Is there an individual who considers his right to drink as so important that the country must suffer great injury in order that it may be easily gratified? Is it an individual to insist that the country tolerate a vast trade which injuriously affects both abstainers and drinkers in order that he may continue a personal habit which gives him some satisfaction? All things must be seen in due proportion. The enjoyment of a glass of beer cannot balance in the scales a great economic and social good conferred by prohibition upon the American people as a whole.

LET THE PRESIDENT DO THE PRESIDENT'S JOB

BISHOP James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in denying a report that he had criticized the presumed appointment of Mr. George W. Wickersham on the President's law enforcement committee is quoted as saying, "I have considered it inappropriate to comment on the proposed action of the president."

Bishop Cannon is right. The president has appointed a commission which he believes will be able to indicate to the country methods of achieving more satisfactory law observance and enforcement. Since the president is charged with the duty of law administration, he should have the privilege of selecting his advisors without being subjected to attempted interference and criticism.

The president is entirely right in seeing the problem of law enforcement in the United States as something very much broader than the problem of enforcement of the prohibition law alone. The prohibition law is only one part of the body of American law. The one thing which makes it stand out in the public thinking and discussion is the effort on the part of those having a commercial interest in its destruction to incite the unthinking and uninformed to its violation. Observance of it has become in some senses a test of loyalty to the constitution as a whole, and violation of it has become identified with hostility to American governmental forms and authority. Nevertheless the problem is essentially only a part of a larger problem and Mr. Hoover has correctly seen it so.

The prohibitionists of the country undoubtedly regard Mr. Hoover's attitude and purpose with entire confidence. The president was elected on the prohibition issue. He is intelligent enough to know that and he is courageous enough to base action upon it. He will doubtless make mistakes, but if he keeps the goal in sight and presses relentlessly toward it, he may feel assured that the confidence of the people will be fully sustained despite any possible errors of judgment in matters of detail.

This and That

By L. E. R.

I know a 15-year-old high school boy who had a date Monday night and was so afraid several other boys in his set would Shanghai him on his way home that he paid one of his chums to wait at Orr's and walk home with him. If that young man will bring me two two-for-a-quarter El Producto cigars by Saturday of this week I will not divulge his name. Otherwise, his name will appear at the top of this column next week. Whoopee! Columnist!

This headline is from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram: "CHILD, FATHER BITTEN BY RAPID HOUSE CAT." Quick work.

A Womack's Grocery was giving away pecans last week (I don't know whether there are any left now or not) and I happened in time to get one or two. Which, in itself, is remarkable because I don't as a rule get something for nothing.

They had a big box of pecans in front of the store and the clerks were inviting everyone who came in to eat all they wanted. Why, it was the most outlandish thing I ever heard of. They had to argue with me for an hour almost before I was convinced there wasn't a "catch" in it.

At first I thought maybe Andy was demented, but he kept insisting that I eat some pecans at his expense. Finally I did, and it certainly was a grand and glorious feeling just to stand there and eat and eat on the other fellow.

But that's not all. Mr. Womack told me to run an ad for him in last week's paper telling everyone about his free pecans. That was just too much. I knew then that the joke must be on me. It's bad enough to be giving pecans away, but to advertise them would be simply ridiculous, because I knew Mr. Womack didn't have over 45 or 50 bushels to give away, and they wouldn't last any time with an ad in The Democrat.

Well, I ate my fill of pecans and went on down the street, pinching myself to make sure I wasn't dreaming. In the course of the week, The Democrat made its periodical appearance and before the ink got dry on the first ten copies, Andy Womack phoned the office and wanted to know why his ad wasn't in the paper! Can you beat it? What's wrong with that man? First he gives pecans away, then he tries to make me think I didn't think he was fooling me when I did!

"That Lyman Robbins," he told a friend of mine, "came over to my store and grazed on my pecans for a solid hour, sold me an ad and then didn't put it in the paper. I guess it wouldn't make any difference to him if I was giving away 48-pound sacks of flour."

Don't we suspicious fellows catch heck?

Clarendon raises pretty flowers as well as pretty girls. I want to thank the Speed sisters, daughters of Charlie Speed of Clarendon, who brought a beautiful bouquet of home grown flowers to The Democrat Tuesday. The bouquet was darn near as good looking as the girls.

Panhandle Press Paragraphs

The county officials of Hall county have issued a mandate that is most worthy and one that should be copied by every county in the state. They have published a legal notice in The Memphis Democrat calling attention to the penalty for dumping trash, refuse, debris, or dead animals on or near the public highways in the county. The distance from the highway to dump trash must be at least 300 feet. The 40th legislature provided a penalty for such abuse, so The Democrat stated, and the county officials are taking advantage of this opportunity to enforce the law and keep their highways free from such unsightly matter for tourists to feast their eyes upon.—Graham Leader.

Our Legislature has adjourned and what have they done? We ask you again what have they done?—Vernon Times.

Much comment has been aroused by the number of posted notices, in every issue of this paper, that land owners have caused to be published. It has been well said that shortly a man going fishing will have to take along a lawyer to bait his hook and use the same legal talent to load his gun if he desires to hunt.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

In commenting on work of farm club work for boys: The future of this section rests upon the shoulders of these boys. They are the county's biggest assets and the movement for purebred dairy cattle in which they are playing a big part, is of great importance. While its value can be seen by some now, its worth will become more evident with the years. The fact that the boys are leading, makes the plan more valuable.—Dalhart Texas.

The Great American Home

The human race never does a thing until it is forced to by economic pressure. We expect to see the day come when the vision of crumbling houses will compel the race to be concerned at the right end of the line in divorce matters. We expect to see the time come when the law of the land will require intentions to be declared sufficiently far in advance of the marriage to at least allow the contracting parties to become acquainted and learn each others last names. We expect to see the time come when health certificates of contracting parties will not be considered a joke and an intrusion of rights. We also expect to see the time come when courses of instruction will be given in the great problem of living together.—Claude News.

The auto death toll goes on and on. It seems strange that a vehicle as necessary as the automobile should have to take so many lives. It stands at the head of the list of all accidents. We can not do without the auto, unless something better should come in its place. There is no use to think of the days of the old buggy and the horse. We are living too fast for that. So we will have to reconcile ourselves to the fact that we must put up with more accidents and thus enlarge our cemeteries.—Paducah Post.

Cigarets are more popular in the United States than ever before—production in the United States last year was six times as great as in 1914—but cigars and pipes are losing favor. These conclusions are drawn from figures on the tobacco industry released by the New York Trust Co. These figures show production of cigars and pipe tobacco declining steadily, year by year, last year, for instance, production of cigars was half a billion under the 1914 level.

FERTILIZER USE IS GROWING IN TEXAS

Gain of 55,000 Tons Over Last Year Shown

COLLEGE STATION, June 6. (Special)—An increase of nearly 55,000 tons in fertilizer sales for the present crop year as compared with sales for the preceding year is shown in a report on fertilizer tag sales issued by Dr. G. S. Fraps who, as state chemist, has administration of the Texas fertilizer law.

Records of the state chemist show a total of 194,377 tons of fertilizer sold in Texas for the period beginning Sept. 1, 1928, and ending June 1, 1929. This compares with 139,477 tons for the nine months period ending June 1, 1928; with 79,213 tons for nine months period ending June 1, 1927, and with 123,712 tons for nine months period ending June 1, 1926.

More than half of the fertilizer used in Texas is used for cotton, Dr. Fraps pointed out, much of the remaining being used for fruits and vegetables.

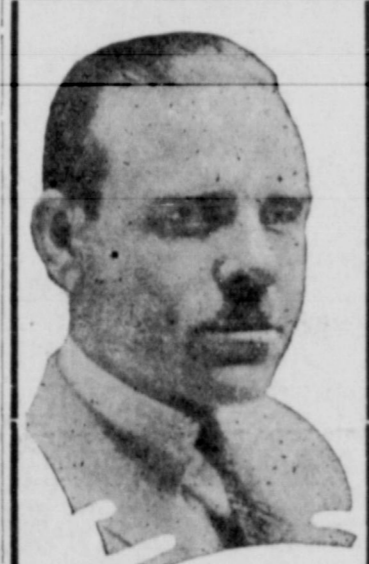

While the use of fertilizer in Texas shows a steady upward trend, this state is far behind others of the United States in the amount used. One reason for this is the fact that Texas soils are relatively new to farming in comparison with soils of some of the other states. Fertilizer used during the calendar year 1927 in some of these other states amounted to 1,171,499 tons in North Carolina, 726,000 tons in South Carolina, 713,000 tons in Georgia, 408,000 tons in Virginia. For that year 80,000 tons were used in Texas.

Two New Yearly Contracts in May

The Democrat's steady progress was marked last month by the acquisition of two new yearly advertising contracts, the First National Bank and the Citizens State Bank, two strong financial institutions of Memphis.

Every action taken by the average bank is typified by conservatism. Bankers are not known to go "hog wild" over anything. They buy carefully, and their success serves as a model for thousands and thousands of business men in every sort of endeavor.

When banks buy space in their local newspaper . . . when a bank president makes public a statement highly complimentary to The Democrat . . . it is time, from every angle of common sense reasoning, that merchants who are interested in the future welfare of their business as well as its present success, should plan a definite advertising program.

National Advertisers Increase Their Space

National advertisers appreciate the worth of The Democrat as an advertising medium . . . a medium that reaches 2,625 white American families and holds their interest. These figures speak volumes:

National advertising in May	20,613 lines
National advertising in April	12,435 lines
A gain in 30 days of	8,178 lines

National advertising linage in The Democrat doesn't just "happen so." There's a sound reason for every line placed in this newspaper, for national advertising dollars are carefully spent—depend upon that.

If you are a Memphis business man who has flatly maintained for years that advertising is not worth its cost, ask yourself this question: "Can I afford NOT to advertise in The Democrat?" Pick up any issue of this newspaper and find the answer above your competitor's signature.

Aviator Takes Trip Around State In A Period Of One Day

SAN ANTONIO, May 30. (UP)—No matter how much old time Texas Rangers stretch the stories of their record rides during frontier days, they can never make them compare with that of young Lieut. Y. H. Taylor of Kelly Field who recently flew around the state of Texas in one day, covering 2,087 miles.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for 15 hours and 55 minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville, and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service-type plane not specially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel in a service plane not specially prepared for a test flight.

Motorists Respond Quickly to Newest Whippet Features

Motorists are quick to respond to mechanical improvements employed by automobile manufacturers in their products which provide added conveniences, safety and comfort. This response is seen in the wide public acceptance of the new Superior Whippet fours and sixes which bring to the low priced field, in addition to outstanding beauty and design, mechanical improvements which set a new high standard of perfection in this price classification.

Finger-Tip Control
Notable among the features on these new Willys-Overland products is the "Finger-Tip Control," which is admitted to be the greatest single driving convenience since the self starter.

The "Finger-Tip Control" mechanism consists of a button in the center of the steering wheel, this making it possible for the driver to start the motor, operate the lights and sound the horn without changing the driving position.

Unusual Interest
With the introduction of these cars the public immediately disclosed unusual interest in the "Finger-Tip Control," so marked was it a new convenience in driving. Then followed the demand for the cars which has resulted in a popularity for these models never rivaled before in the company's history.

This same interest is also disclosed by Willy's Knight buyers, the new Knight engine six of the Toledo manufacturer also being equipped with the "Finger-Tip Control."

Owners of the new Whippet fours and sixes and the new Willys-Knight sixes declare that the safety factor being able to operate the lights in night driving without changing position is equally as important as being able to start the engine without having to fumble and search for a starter button in the toe-board.

Carbon Black Will Advance Is Belief Of Borger People

BORGER, June 6. (UP)—The advent of Harvey S. Firestone, head of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, into Borger insures the advance of the carbon black industry in the Panhandle.

Firestone will manufacture carbon black from his own gas. He has secured option on more than 30 gas wells and also a large acreage in Moore county, so far undeveloped. From this Moore county acreage he expects to secure an additional supply.

Cost of the operation, including both the gas and the carbon black, will be in excess of $6,000,000.

Negotiations have been made by a large New York banking syndicate, with whom Firestone is closely associated, for the preliminary work. The syndicate's first move was to secure option on the wells and the Moore county acreage.

Contract has also been made with the Barnum Oil company for the purchase of a 160 acre tract of land west of Borger on which a carbon black plant and a gasoline extraction plant will be erected. The Firestone company will extract gasoline from the gas and use the residue for carbon black.
