QUANAH INDIANS ARRIVE THIS MORN FOR TILT WITH CYCLONE

Tribe Is on Warpath and Will Stage the Toughest Scrap Which Cyclone Fans Have Witnessed on Local Gridiron This Season.

The stage is set and the curtain will rise promptly at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon on the toughest scrap yet to be witnessed on the local field during the 1924 grid season. The Quanah Tribe arrived this morning, accompanied by their Braves and Squaws, and information received in a pow-wow with the Big Chief Conley, reveals the fact that his Warriors are on the war-path, and are ready to face the fury of the Cyclone. It is understood that the Indians will feel the sting of the defeat handed them the last time the two teams met, and will don their war-paint and seek revenge.

The Cyclone on the other hand is well prepared for the attack, and no matter what tactics are used in the battle, the team is capable of withstanding them. During the past two weeks, the boys have worked into best form and are probably in better condition than they have been any time during the season. The Cyclone, second string team, have been mixing with the regulars in practice games during the past week and put them in prime.

Since to-day is a holiday and there will be hundreds of people gathered to witness the mill, and since both teams are runner-ups for championship titles in their respective districts, the game will surely be no crrip. The American Legion has agreed to reserve a section of seats free for the Cyclone squad, at the boxing and wrestling exhibition, Thursday night, provided they win this game.

H. Arnold Undergoes Operation At Dallas

The main operation will be performed in about ten days, or as soon as thought practical. It is reported to be doing as well as possible, considering conditions.

A Day of Thanksgiving

Leigon Card Delights Fans Fight Night

Card Arranged For Thanksgiving Night Is Best Ever Announced In Memphis.

Last Saturday night at the Ar-nwood Opera House, the American Legion staged its third and best Boxing and Wrestling Card of the season, before a crowd of over five hundred fans.

Sam Beattie of Wichita Falls, is promoting these cards under the auspices of the Chas. R. Simmons Post of the American Legion, and from all accounts is offering good clean amusement to the lovers of the manly art of self defense.

In the first event of the card, a four round preliminary, Kid Daniels outclassed Blondy Francis of Memphis, and won the referees decision after winning every round by a wide margin.

Kid Norfolk and the Rattlesnake, dusky leather pushers, furnished plenty of thrills until the Rattlesnake floored Norfolk in the fourth round of a 6 frame go. The Rattlesnake says, "Boy yo' s'prised me." Had the Kid been in better shape and not become exhausted in the second round, the result would have probably been a different story.

In the main event, an eight round go between "Wild Cat Monte and Jackie Saunders, of Wichita Falls, the Wildcat was awarded the decision by the judges, after travelling 8 fast rounds with the speedy little Jack. Good solid left and right blows, an even break on the infighting and fast work in the clinches, won the judges favor and the decision. Sanders fought low and was hard to hit while in this crouch. Monte landed whenever Sanders came up from his defensive pose. Sanders worked hard on Monte's body but with little effect.

In the wrestling event, between Cowboy Rogers and Jack Bentley, Bentley pinned Rogers in ten minutes of fast wrestling. Rogers took the offensive from the go and came near to downing Big Boy in the first minute, with a wristlock, but Bentley crawled off the mat before he was pinned. After ten minutes of fast grappling, Rogers fell into an arm scissor and was stretched out by the powerful Bentley. Rogers challenged Bentley for a return match, which will be staged at a later date.

Mr. Beattie announces a special Thanksgiving program for Thursday night to be held at Ar-nwood Opera House at 8:15 P. M. for which he has secured three good main events and some good preliminaries.

The main boxing event will be an eight round go between Ed Sorey, of San Antonio and Battling Brown-ing of Breckenridge, heavyweight fighter, who promise to offer a real battle. These boys weigh 175 pounds and will offer a much different style

Poultry Show Being Well Advertised

Catalogs Advertising Show Are Being Sent Out This Week. Other Matter Distributed.

As the date of the Third Annual Hall County District Poultry Show draws nearer, plans become more mature and promise the greatest exhibition of Poultry in the history of Hall County. Advertising matter is being distributed daily, and poultry raisers in every section of the four counties comprising the district are being encouraged to make entries.

The catalogs advertising the show are being sent out this week. These pamphlets, which contain more than twenty pages, carry the rules and regulations governing the entries. Also several supplementary pages of information valuable to the poultrymen, including ways and methods of destroying insects, and an entreaty to improve poultry houses. In every instance, the encouragement of the better poultry is portrayed as the primary object of the show.

Placards announcing the date of the show have been displayed over the district and advertising of a more individual nature will follow. An effort is being made to attract show visitors as well as entries, as the encouragement of the non-poultry raiser is considered equally as important as that of the poultry man.

Ribbons are being offered for the first five places, in each class, but no cash awards will be made. It is probable that special premiums, such as birds and eggs will be offered by large poultry farms, as was done last year. However, the exhibitors will display their birds for the purpose of advertising their flocks, which is in keeping with the plans of the Hall County Poultry Association, who are sponsoring the show.

of battle than that of the lighter boys.

"Wildcat" Monte will meet Dude Armstrong of Wichita Falls, in the eight round semi-wind-up. This bout needs no comment as local fans are acquainted with Monte's ability, and as Dude is going good, this promises to furnish plenty of thrills.

The wrestling match is to be a feature in itself, as Mr. Beattie has secured the services of Jack Gorman, lightweight champion of the world, to wrestle to a finish match of two falls of three, Irish Murphy, lightweight champion of the English Navy, who has been downing our boys in one two order. This match alone is a whole show and local fans are fortunate in being able to witness such men as these, here in Memphis.

The Memphis Cyclone, local football team will be the guest of the management, and a special reserved section has been arranged for them.

TEACHERS OF FOUR COUNTIES WILL MEET HERE IN INSTITUTE

Institute Work Will Be Conducted on Same Plan as Last Year. T. H. Shelby, of Texas University Will Be In Charge.

The Four-County Teachers Institute, which will bring to Memphis the teachers of the counties of Childress, Collingsworth, Donley and Hall, will convene at the High School building on December 15, for an assembly of five days. Preparations for the entertainment of the teachers for the week are already well under way, and the leading civic organizations of the city are assuming their share of the responsibility of providing for the amusement and accommodation of the visitors. Indications are that Memphis hospitality will be exhibited in an unprecedented manner.

Salisbury School Organizes Parent-Teacher Ass'n.

A Parent-Teacher Association was organized at the Salisbury School, about four miles South of Memphis, Monday. A good representation of the parents was present, according to information received from that community, and much interest was manifested. This is the first organization of the kind in the history of the community.

At the meeting Monday, a School Carnival and Box Supper was planned for Saturday evening, November 22. The proceeds will be used in buying a modern drinking fountain for the children, including a storage tank and pump. This is the first undertaking of the new organization.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCann and Miss Rowena Sansing are the teachers who are taking the lead in obtaining the co-operation of the parents.

WELLINGTON LAD CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER CAR WHEELS

John T. Payne, of Memphis, Accidentally Drives Car Over Small Brother, Saturday

John T. Payne, jeweler, of this city, is suffering a collapse and is in a very depressed and hysterical condition, at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Payne at Wellington, as a result of an accident which occurred Saturday afternoon in which he blamed himself for the death of his seven year old brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne had driven to Wellington for a week end visit with the parents of Mr. Payne. Saturday afternoon they were driving on the street with the younger brother in the rear seat. Mr. Payne noticed the youth standing in the rear of the car and insisted that he sit down, but before the boy was seated the car jolted, the door flew open and he was thrown to the ground under the car, which passed over his skull, crushing it and causing instant death.

Reports state that Mr. Payne blames himself for the accident, while his wife who was with him, and bystanders declare he was in no way responsible.

Mr. Payne is probably more deeply affected over the tragedy because of the fact that he, 12 years ago, accidentally shot and killed another one of his brothers.

The body of the little lad was buried in the Wellington Cemetery Sunday afternoon. A number of friends and relatives being present at the funeral.

Cousins Boy Is Shot and Killed In Kansas Town

A telegram was received here Monday by W. G. Cousins, stating that his son, Willis had been shot and killed at Leavenworth, Kansas, where he was employed in the Federal Service as guard at the Penitentiary. No details of the tragedy has yet been received by the family here.

Billy, of this place and Jessie, of Childress, brothers of the deceased, left Monday night for Leavenworth to attend the funeral.

Mrs. T. Kittinger spent Monday in Newlin with her mother, who is ill.

The teachers of Hall County met at the High School building at 2:00 P. M. Saturday for the purpose of discussing the plan of entertainment for institute week. It was generally conceded that the method followed last year was a popular one, and the program is being worked out in accordance with the suggestions of improvements offered. In this meeting, at which a good representation of the teachers of the county were in attendance, it was agreed that the members of the Hall County Teachers Association show more hospitality toward visitors than was in evidence last year.

The form of entertainment for each evening during the week has been planned, but the program will not be announced until a later date. One evening will be given over to banquets. This action was taken due to the fact that some of the banquets last year denied the teachers the privilege of taking part in the evening programs of the same day. A musical program consisting of band, orchestra and vocal numbers will be arranged for another evening, and a theatre party and stunt night, with all expense paid by local organizations, will conclude the special program for the four nights.

The Institute work for the day assemblies will be conducted on the same plan as last year, with T. H. Shelby, head of the Extension work of the State University, in charge. He will also have charge of the High School Department, and the Inter-scholastic League Work. Mr. Shelby is one of the organizers of the League.

S. C. Wilson, of Sam Houston State Teachers College, Huntsville, will have charge of the rural school Division. He is an authority on rural school work, having arranged a number of books on this particular phase of school life. He will give the teachers the benefit of his personal opinions, based upon extended observation. E. D. Jennings, of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, will conduct the Intermediate Department. He has been connected with the Institute in past years, and most of the teachers are acquainted with his work.

Miss Willie Boster, of Dallas, was secured for the Primary work at an early date, but word has been received that she will be unable to attend. An instructor for this department will probably be supplied by Mr. Shelby.

Many problems connected with the Institute, of which the housing of the visitors is considered the most difficult, remain to be worked out later. Civic Organizations, the Memphis Schools, and local ladies' clubs will have a part in working out these problems.

Commercial Courses Will Be Offered At Night School

According to information given out by J. F. Paton, instructor in the Commercial Department of the Memphis High School, a night school will open December 1, for the accommodation of those desiring commercial instruction and who are unable to attend school during the day.

Courses will be offered in shorthand, typewriting, and bookkeeping, and other courses will be arranged if there is sufficient demand. The classes will be conducted between the hours of 7 and 9.

It is believed that a number of young people, who are employed down town, will be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity of obtaining commercial instruction.

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11. Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

58,767 Soldier Cases a Month
The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 58,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 23,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the tedium of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases
The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 Chapters, an increase of 182 communities where problems affected by the war veterans' condition required solution through immediate and intelligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $173,976.36 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,500 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, of veterans of foreign wars, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor doled.

Definite Service to 73,700
Of a total of 84,000 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,185 new cases were presented and a total of 26,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service
The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,246 cases. There were 36,395 separate soldiers' and sailors' claims; 29,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharges, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 39,658 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,220 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and nearly 46,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainment and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 9,500 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.

GERMAN SCHEME IS FOILED BY A DRUG

Sleeping Sickness Cure Bars Dicker for Colonies.

Toronto, Ont.—Germany has lost what little chance she had of recovering her African colonies by trading off for them the formula for curing the sleeping sickness, for France has now the same remedy, or, as the drug gists say, "something just as good." Bayer 205 has a rival in Pasteur 309. Such is the announcement of Dr. H. H. Dale, head of the pharmacology department of the national research council, London, physiology section, here at the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

When Africa had been partitioned by the allied powers they found much of their territory becoming uninhabitable by the spread of the sleeping sickness, which devastated a belt 2,000 miles long and in places 100 or 200 miles wide, stretching up the Congo from the Atlantic almost to the opposite ocean. The disease was discovered to be caused by the trypanosome, an infinitesimal wriggler carried by the tsetse fly and infecting the blood of man and beast.

German chemists set about to find a drug that would kill the creature without harming its host and after fifteen years of effort succeeded. But meantime Germany had lost her African possessions.

The formula for Bayer 205, or, as it is now called, "Germanin," was kept secret, but it was intimated that it would be disclosed if the allies would return the German colonies, amounting to 1,000,000 square miles. The allies showed no eagerness to buy the recipe at this price, but set their own chemists at work on the problem, following such clues as could be obtained from the prewar Bayer patents.

Now Fourneau, working in the Pasteur institute at Paris, has found that his 309 preparation has "similar and probably as valuable properties" as Bayer's 205.

Injected into the blood it will not only free the animal from the trypanosome in a few days but render it immune to further infection for months afterward.

Thrifty Bulldog Has His Own Savings Bank Account

Chicago.—Bim Elgert, a bulldog, earns his own cash and deposits it in a bank. So far as known, he is the only dog who has his own bank account.

Bim is owned by Mrs. Orel Elbert of Sheridan road, and he earns his money by going about the premises and putting things in their proper places. He gets a dime for going to bed promptly, and if he whines or barks his pay is cut off. He carries baskets to and from the market and gets an extra quarter for watching the automobile.

Once a week he takes his collection of quarters and dimes to the bank, stands in front of the receiving teller's window on his hind legs, gets his book back and trots home. His balance was $68 with no withdrawals.

Firstborn Said to Lead in Mental Deficiency

London.—Defenders of primogeniture, backbone of the English hereditary principle, received a formidable blow when Dr. Robert Hutchison stated before the British Medical Association that two-thirds of the mentally deficient children he had had to deal with in his practice had been firstborn children.

Defenders of primogeniture point to the efficiency of innumerable European monarchs which history reveals, while the backers of Doctor Hutchison's contention mention Benjamin Franklin, who was the fifteenth child of his parents, history being mute regarding the achievements of the first four children of Josiah Frank-

Looking Ahead
They had been planning their wedding, and had decided on a magnificent ceremony. "How about the honeymoon?" she asked, coyly. "Well, what do you say to a trip to France?" he asked. "But," she objected, "you know how afraid I am of sea-sickness, dearest. I can't stand the water for even ten minutes." "Yes," he replied, tenderly, "but you ought to know that love is the best remedy for that." "Perhaps," she said, slowly and doubtfully. "But—but what about the return trip."—London Tit-Bits

Sealed! to protect Buick performance

Buick's chassis is sealed. Iron and steel housings protect the operation of all driving parts—seal them in to safeguard Buick performance.

Here are the vital points at which Buick engineering provides this extra protection:

- 1 FAN HUB—Fan bearing totally enclosed—lubricated by its own gear pump.
- 2 MOTOR—Steel cover keeps water from short-circuiting spark plugs. Steel cover over valve in head mechanism keeps dust out, oil in.
- 3 STARTER-GENERATOR—Delco single unit starter-generator completely housed in single housing. Starting gears housed with flywheel.
- 4 FLYWHEEL—Completely housed. Starting protected from road damage and accumulation of mud and dirt.
- 5 CLUTCH—Multiple disc—completely housed.
- 6 TRANSMISSION—Completely protected. Shifting mechanism holes sealed.
- 7 UNIVERSAL JOINT—Completely encased in ball joint at front end of torque tube—lubricated automatically from transmission.
- 8 PROPELLER SHAFT—Buick's third member drive, which is a torque tube, completely encloses the propeller shaft. It is impossible for road dirt to work from the shaft into the universal joint or rear axle.

Boydell Farms Are On the South Plains

Pioneering a few years ago meant struggle and hardship. Motor trucks and modern farm implements do away with pioneering. Our daddies never dreamed of such conveniences in their day.

SOIL AND SIZE OF BLOCKS

Boydell Farms has fifty blocks of 177.2 acres each. The soil of all of them is a rich cat-claw and mesquite loam, some scattering shinary on a few of the blocks.

BOYDELL LAND PRICED TO SELL

The price is $10 to $15 an acre cheaper than any land of the same grade on the SOUTH PLAINS. The terms are $5 an acre cash, ten annual lien notes for about $155 each, the balance we carry as a loan secured by first lien, the amount of which will be according to the price of the land.

WATER

Can be had in abundance from 150 to 200 feet at any place you drill.

LOCATION

Boydell is located 26 miles west from Ropes, and about 50 miles southwest from Lubbock on the South Plains, and far enough south to make cotton grow off early, fruit well and to opening fine, a fact of considerable value to all who know this before buying land.

DREAMS OF SUCCESS

If your dreams of success comes true, you must take some chance or make some venture. You will have the school for your children, and few or no privations after the first year. You will make money out of your crops from the beginning, and you will make money out of the enhancement of the land, too, for if we may judge the future by the past, any one of these rich Boydell Farms will bring $17,700, or $100 per acre in ten years.

What is Your School Problem?

By Phebe K. Warner

Most of us are inclined to magnify our losses and misfortunes. But how often do we magnify our blessings? We forget the greatest blessings of life almost entirely. We forget the good things that come our way. But we seldom forget the bad things. There is another peculiar element in most of our natures by which real values are often fixed. Instead of being grateful for manifold things we do have, how often we fret and fume and worry because we do not happen to have what everybody else does.

Money, land, bonds, and material wealth, all are too often used as the standard measurements of happiness. And they are good things to have if you know how to use them. But after all, if we only knew it, we are all nearer on a level when it comes to real values than we have realized. Most of us have two good eyes. Would YOU exchange any amount of material wealth for your eyes and let out this world of beauty from your life? None of us know what that means who have never experienced it but it has always seemed to me, I would rather give up any other part of my life than my EYES. Just the joy of seeing things! Think what that means to every one of us. What tragedy it must be to never see the sunlight. Just live in utter darkness all the time. But I have seen people with two good eyes that did not get as much joy out of life nor put as much joy into the lives of others as a few I have seen and known who were totally blind. Can you think of anything more ungrateful than not to be thankful for such blessings as sight and so much to see? Then what would it mean to you to have all sound shut out of your life? There is another whole world of joy and pleasure that is ours, and another thing we all love to do—EAT. Suppose you had lost the sense of taste and everything tasted like alkali and that was a dull neutral taste, like the gravy without any salt? How much pleasure would you miss? Then there is the power to DO things, the power to walk and move. What world this would be if you had sat in a chair all the time as a few men have to do. And then what blessed thing it is to have two hands with which to earn a living. And then back and above all is our mind and the power to know and learn and think and speak. What would you do for that? But best of all is the power to love our children and our friends. "Faith, Hope and Love, but the greatest of these is LOVE," so sayeth the Good Book.

And Henry Drummond says that LOVE is the greatest thing in the world. How many of us have real love in our hearts today for someone? What would you take for that?

Then this glorious country belongs to us all. What would you take for Texas and America and the Stars and Stripes? What does all this mean to you? If it were only possible for every grouchy, ungrateful person on this continent to be set down across the seas and told to go to work and rebuild some of those war-wrecked countries without a job, without means, without a home, then we might appreciate the meaning of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and "America, the Beautiful." And have you health and strength to do your daily work? What does that mean? There are millionaires in America today that would give up everything to be well and happy. Are you well? And have you a job or a business by which you may use your physical strength to provide for your family? If so, have you anything to be thankful for?

Yes, the crops were poor in places. The cotton was a failure in spots. The Thanksgiving turkey market went down just when it should have gone up. There are bills coming due and you may not see your way clear to pay them. It is almost time to pay taxes again. The children's clothes are getting thin and the weather is growing colder. There are a lot of things to worry about but after all they are small compared to the big blessings that you are enjoying. Or should be enjoying. We wonder sometimes how the Lord does keep up His goodness to us when so many of us are so ungrateful for the best things in life. If you had done as much for another as the Creator has done for you, would you not feel like stopping your source of supplies if there were no signs of gratitude? But you are human. And the Lord is divine. That's why the sun continues to shine and the birds sing and you keep your eyes to see and your ears to hear the charms of Nature.

But get out of your ungrateful RUT on this Thanksgiving Day. And for once in your life "COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS," instead of your misfortunes. Cher up and try to make some one who has had more to bear and less to bear it with, happy on this Thanksgiving Day and you will be getting happy yourself if you don't watch out. There are three things in this life that you can not have until you give them away. And those things are service, happiness and LOVE. So if you feel like you are the most unfortunate person on earth today and can't think of a thing to be thankful for then get out of your old selfish shell and do something to make another happy, and see how it effects you. You would be surprised how it will boost up your drooping spirits. And remember the first Thanksgiving Day was to celebrate the fact that the early settlers were not all DEAD. It was a day of Thanksgiving not for what they had hoped but for what they had left. The Pilgrim Fathers had lost more of their number than they had left. They had suffered more hardships than joys. Their crops had not been a great success and they had no market at all. But they were thankful for the little they had and the hope of the future. What a future they prepared for the children of men! And we are a part of those children. Let us not forget to be thankful for the great civilization they founded for us. Thanksgiving Day like most of our great happy holidays, was conceived in sorrow and sacrifice from which often springs our greatest praise and thanksgiving. Thanksgiving means gratitude for what we have. What a blessing that our thoughts and attentions are called to make an invoice of our lives once a year, or we might forget to be grateful.

Few Climb Mount Ararat

Mount Ararat has long been the goal of mountain climbers and its slides have been attacked with varying success, for generations. With an altitude of over 17,000 feet, its precipitous slides present difficult problems in climbing. A proposed railroad to the summit, while within the range of engineering possibilities, is an almost fantastic scheme. A legend persists that fragments of the ark still lie upon the summit of Ararat, but the few hardy climbers who have reached this goal discourage the belief. Noah, after descending the mountain with his ship's company, is supposed to have planted a vineyard below the snow line, where he was afterward buried.

A Passive Helper

The new pastor observing a poorly dressed individual who was sitting in the rear of the church greeted him and said: "I am not sure but that we could find some place for you in church work." "Thank you, sir," the man replied, "but I already have my place in church work." "Indeed! And what is that, may I ask?" "I'm one of the poor and needy."—Boston Transcript.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Memphis Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Memphis case is one of many:

Mrs. One Brooks, E. Main St., says: "My back bothered me a great deal with a dull ache and it was so sore and stiff it was a task for me to do my housework. My kidneys didn't act right either and my feet and ankles swelled so I couldn't put my shoes on. I used Doan's Pills and they cured me. I have had no return of the trouble at all."

Price 60, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Brooks had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

Kids Pull Monkey-Shines at Senior Annual Blow-out

On the evening of Friday, November 21st, the Senior Class entertained the Junior with the usual annual social event. After many conferences and discussions as to what the Juniors would like the best, it was finally decided to give a "Kid Party." The rules were that every person present would be dressed like a kid, and none would be admitted unless he was so attired.

The Seniors were a little uneasy about the manner in which the participants would join in the events of the evening, but were happily surprised when the guests began to arrive. The faculty especially, created a great sensation dressed as small boys and girls, carrying dolls, teddy bears, balls, dogs, and other toys. The guests chewed their gum, sucked their uckers and fought and fussed and played until the games began.

The first entertainment was a style show, in which most of the kiddies did well. However a few got excited, when they appeared on the stage for the first time in their young lives, and began to cry and ran off without displaying their garbs. The following program was rendered.

A Poem—"Mary Had a Little Lamb" by Paul James, Jr., a freckled-faced, snaggle-tooth, country lad.

Tenor Solo—"It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," a wonderfully clever child considering his few years.

A Comedy Sketch by Duncan Trapp Acrobatic Stunts by Seigle Walker.

An Attempted Speech, ending with a scream of terror and a mad rush for the side door, by little Marianna Porter.

An Act in Magic, so that no one could catch on to his arts, by Hubert Dennis.

Many Kid Games, such as "Ring Round the Rosie," Cross Questions and Crooked Answers, "Pleased and Displeased," were enjoyed by all immensely.

Refreshments, consisting of lemonade, apples, stick candy, peanuts and chewing gum, came all too soon, even though they were much enjoyed, because this was a sign that the party was drawing to a close. The guests departed reluctantly, each expressing himself in words to the effect, "I never enjoyed a party more in my life."

The Seniors are glad that their plans were successful and the Juniors had a delightful evening. The time spent by the Seniors after the party was over, cleaning up the debris left by the small tots, fled quickly during the laughable reminiscences of the gay party.

Pasberky: (To small boy holding gun) What are you hunting, bub?
Leon: I dunno, I ain't seen it yet.

Sylvan: I trust that I make myself plain.

George: You don't have to, Nature attended to that.

Miss Madden: Why are you late?
Holmes: Mother heard that a man was arrested for stealing hens and beating two policemen; and she sent me to see if it was father.

Raymond B: What makes incubator chickens so tough?

Jim Gibson: It must be because they are raised without a mother.

Local Pastors Speak At Assembly on Educational Week

As last week was Educational Week, it was planned that the students should hear talks on that subject. The American Legion had charge of the programs and sent us two speakers, Rev. Jameson, Pastor of the Methodist Church and Rev. Richter, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Jameson talked on the never-tiring subject, the American Flag. He explained the meaning of the colors in our flag and what it means to us. We were very much pleased with this splendid talk and cordially welcome and invite Rev. Jameson to again be with us.

Rev. Richter had visited our school before and we knew just how much his talk would mean. He talked on the "Value of Education," giving us valuable statistics on illiteracy, and urged that the students do their part in doing away with it. We enjoyed and appreciated this address and feel that it will aid the M. H. S. students in many ways.

Campus Comments

Miss Maria, while eating custard pies, struck something hard and wanted to know what Mrs. Read used to jelly pies.

George, do you still have the same feelings for Miss Rogers that you expressed so ardently in the beautiful song, "I Love You Truly?"

Margaret McElreath is also attending school in Canyon. She is well pleased with her work and she has received many compliments from her instructors for her thorough, efficient work.

Interviewer: What do you think of a voter who casts his vote for the one he thinks is the best man?

Politician: He's a traitor to our party.

Where was Miss Maria's ticket for "Mrs. and Mrs. Polly Ticker?"

Why does Tina linger around the M. E. Church looking for a new Ford with a green shade?

We were so sorry Jimmie Cooper could not come to the Kid Party. It is rumored that she will tell the girls why, but the boys are still in the dark.

Why is it that Alice George and Pearl Lipscomb take such a spell of homesickness blues every Friday about 3:00 p. m.

Ray Dunn has a new Ford and as a result, his hat is a little small. He even thinks he can make two dates for the same night. Ask Mildred if it works.

Ora Lee Bray is in West Texas State Teachers' College and is doing excellent work. She has made the Freshman basket ball team and has recently won a tournament in tennis.

Miss Porter: I want a piece of meat without bone, fat or gristle.

Butcher: You'd better have an egg.

Disappointed Friend: I thought you told me this election would be Defeated Candidate: It was, but I was the door-step.

Try-outs for Girls Basketball Team Increase Daily

A number of the girls are faithfully coming out to practice and are being complimented on the manner in which they are developing team work and endurance. They are anticipating a victorious season, and are training hard. More girls are really needed in these practice games so Miss Madden will have the best material possible from which to choose her first team.

Girls, be loyal! Come on out to practice!

The girls expect to play the town girls soon.

He sauntered in to the typing room with much self assurance and air of familiarity, threw down his card and inquired, "Who's the main squeeze around here?"

"Well," replied Merle Keeling, "they'd all take me for it, if I'd let 'em."

Mr. Miles: "Er—my dear—what's the meaning of this vase of beautiful flowers on my desk?"

Mrs. Miles, why today is your wedding anniversary.

Mr. Miles: Indeed? Well, well, pray let me know when yours comes so that I may reciprocate.

First Lawyer: While you were out to lunch, Harry, we were retained to defend a woman slayer.

Partner: Was she beautiful?

No, she wasn't even young.

Then why on earth did she want to up and kill a man?

Throw Out the Lifeline

Just before the conclusion of the weekly prayer meeting, the pastor arose, and glanced over the congregation. "Is there anyone present, who wishes the prayers of the congregation, for a relative or a friend?"

"Yes, Parson," answered Miss Blanche Temple, "I want the congregation to pray for my husband."

"Why Sister Blanche," exclaimed the parson, "you have no husband."

"I know I haven't, but I want all hands to pitch in and help pray for one for me"

The best and easiest solution of the liquor problem, is for every one to quit drinking. Now why didn't some one think of that before?

If you have been robbed, call the police. In case they fail to locate the guilty parties, call them again—everything you can think of.

Exchange and Hi-Exes

We did not add any new publications to our list of exchanges this issue, but we are more than pleased with the regular appearance of the editions whose names we have printed. We are learning more forcibly every day that Memphis High must be up and doing if it is to keep pace with its class of schools over Texas and the Panhandle, especially.

Helen Madden was home for the Armistice holidays. She reports that she likes to be in West Texas State Teachers College, and we hear good thing about her work there.

Chara Pyeatt, a graduate of '22, is teaching school at Friendship.

Hester West, a graduate of '22, also, is teaching at Indian Creek. Both of these girls are doing splendid work. We are proud of X-es who are now teaching.

Dentist: Pardon me Miss, I must have a drill.

Mildred: For heaven's sake, can't I have my tooth file without a rehearsal?

Margaret Milam: Is it true that Hubert Dennis proposed to you and you rejected him?

Faye Mc: He proposed, but I did not exactly reject him. I told him that any time I wanted to make a fool of myself, I'd let him know.

Cyclone Mixes With Whirlwind During Work-outs This Week

The football boys are still practicing every day. To make the more interesting, Coach Babcock matched two games between the cyclone and Whirlwind. The teams are made up of the players and subs. This gave the valuable practice for the coming week with Quannah. These two games were played on Friday, and 14th. As they were not tised only small crowds were there, nevertheless, the boys played hard and got good workouts, will help keep them in trim.

"I recognize the necklace," Gerald admitted. "I might, under certain circumstances, be induced to buy it. I came in, however, to ask you how you obtained possession of it, and the rings below?"

The man's manner changed. "Monsieur," he said, "I am not able to explain exactly how this jewelry came into our hands. There are certain confidences which, in the interests of our clients, we are forced to respect."

"Quite so," Gerald agreed, "but I can assure you that I am not an impertinent inquirer. This is my name"—he handed the man a card—"and I was an acquaintance of Mademoiselle de Poniere, from whom you must have obtained this necklace. I last saw Madame and Mademoiselle de Poniere under very tragic circumstances, and I understand that they have now left Monte Carlo. I am most anxious to obtain word as to their whereabouts."

"I regret deeply that I am entirely powerless in the matter, milord," the man replied.

Gerald held up the pearls and let them slip through his fingers. He remembered something which Pauline had once said to him—"Pearls are the maidens' children. They love and care for them as such."

"I have reason to surmise," Gerald went on, "that a misfortune has befallen the ladies. If they had confided in me, it would have given me the greatest pleasure to have offered them assistance."

The jeweler smiled inscrutably. "I fear that it would have been useless, milord," he said. "I have had the privilege of knowing the elder of these ladies for some thirty years, and I supplied the first string of pearls which the younger lady ever wore, at the time of her confirmation. I would willingly have undertaken the payment of such debts as were owing in Monte Carlo, without security, but I should never have had the courage to suggest it. You will see an announcement in the evening paper, milord, that all claims against the ladies will be settled by me on demand."

"If I buy the necklace," Gerald proposed bluntly, "will you tell me how and where to find Mademoiselle de Poniere?"

The jeweler's bow was almost frigid. "My word is passed to these two ladies, milord. I have no information to give you."

"You cannot even tell me what relation they were to Monsieur Zubin?"

"There is no question of relationship, milord. Monsieur Zubin was, I understand, the steward entrusted with the realization of certain properties belonging to Mademoiselle. I do not know whether I have a right even to say so much," he continued, after a moment's hesitation, "but it suggests itself that it was owing to Monsieur Zubin's embezzlements—he is reported to have lost several millions at the tables here—that the ladies whom we have been discussing found themselves temporarily embarrassed."

Gerald laid down the pearls. "If you care to keep these for me for a week," he proposed, "until I get the money from London, I will have them."

The man bowed. "Milord can take them with him," he said, "or permit me to send them to the hotel. Payment can be as desired."

"I have committed an extravagance," Gerald confessed, as the two young men continued their stroll. "I have given seven thousand pounds for a pearl necklace."

"Great Scott! Why?"

"Because I was right in my surmise. It was Pauline's necklace, left here so that they could pay their bills. Madame's rings are there, too. Pretty sort of adventuresses, Christopher?"

"But what are you going to do with the necklace?" Christopher always intensely practical, demanded.

"I am going to keep it until I meet Mademoiselle de Poniere again," Gerald replied. "Then I shall beg to be allowed to present it to her."

Christopher looked up toward the hills. "It's too misty for golf," he said. "Shall we go and see Myrtle?"

"I suppose so," Gerald agreed, without marked interest. "Any news from your nursery governess friends?"

"They can't take her for a month or so," Christopher replied. "I don't quite know what to do about it. I must leave on Thursday week."

Gerald laughed. "And you don't trust her here with me, old chap, is that it?"

"Something like it, I'm afraid," the other admitted frankly.

Gerald sighed. "What a Lothario you must think me!" he declared. "As a matter of fact, Chris, I don't think that the ingenue does attract me very much. I am too young and unsophisticated myself. It is hardened sinners like you who are bowled over by rusticity and little more advanced in the world's ways."

"Then, for heaven's sake, leave the others alone!" Christopher enjoined curtly. "We have a difficult task before us with Myrtle, especially as for once in her life, Mary doesn't seem inclined to help us. Treat the child sensibly, for heaven's sake."

"What do you mean by 'sensibly, old chap?'"

"Well, remember that she has to be a nursery governess and not a Parisian demi-mondaine. It's idiotic to take her to these smart restaurants and dancing places. It's outside her life. It gives her false bliss."

girls were made to live like butterflies, to be happy just in the few hours when the sun shines."

"You have not even the philosophy of the pagan," Christopher retorted. "You forget that the butterfly enjoys the supreme advantage of being unencumbered with a soul."

The street door was suddenly opened in their faces. They had arrived at Myrtle's lodgings, to find her issuing into the street. She seemed to look through Christopher at Gerald, who was a pace or two behind. Her smile was wonderful.

"I knew that something pleasant was going to happen this morning!" she exclaimed. "I felt it when I got up."

"You were quite right," Gerald assured her. "Something very pleasant is going to happen. I am going to take you over to Nice in the car to lunch."

Myrtle clapped her hands. "Wait one moment," she begged. "I must go and get some different gloves. I'll catch you up before you get to the corner of the street."

The two young men strolled slowly on. There was a serious expression on Christopher's face.

Gerald frowned. "That was rather my idea," he admitted. "Have you anything against it?"

Christopher passed his hand through his friend's arm. They had reached the end of the street and turned slowly back again.

"Look here, old fellow, don't be shifty," he begged. "You know I'm right. We can only look after this girl decently in one way, and that is by finding her some sort of a situation not too far removed from the way she has been brought up, in which she can earn an honest living. I'm on my way to secure this for her, but if you go turning her head by taking her about to these smart restaurants, and developing her taste for the galleries of life, you'll only unsettle her terribly and spoil her chances of contentment."

"You've taken her out yourself once or twice," Gerald reminded him.

"I never take her to the very fashionable places," Christopher insisted earnestly, "and I try all the time to impress upon her the necessity of work and the fact that life out here is merely a holiday existence. Take her to Nice, by all means, if you want to, Gerald, but don't turn her head."

Myrtle came down the street toward them. Gerald's face cleared—as he watched her, it was lit with a wave of admiration.

"She is like a piece of floating sunshine," he declared enthusiastically. "Chris, I'm not at all sure that she ought to be a nursery governess. She's going to be beautiful enough to turn the heads of half the men in Europe."

"It will be very largely our responsibility," Christopher said, lowering his voice a little as Myrtle drew near, "whether that beauty is going to be a curse or a happiness to her. Don't you forget that, Gerald."
