WAY OPENS FOR HAMILTON DEATH

Walker County Grand Jury Returns Indictment Of Murder Against Him

HUNTSVILLE, May 28.—A Walker county grand jury today returned a murder indictment against Raymond Hamilton, Clyde Barrow's partner in crime.

The indictment cleared the way for the state's third effort to send the youthful desperado to the electric chair.

Mamilton evaded the death penalty on two previous counts, on which his imprisonment mounted to 263 years. He was tried in Dallas and Denton on bank robbery charges, but was allowed to plead guilty in both cases.

FRENCH FLIERS COME DOWN IN NEW YORK

Land After Making Ocean Crossing From Paris

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 28.—The French fliers, Lieuts. Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, brought their huge silver plane, Joseph Lebriz, to a safe landing on Floyd Bennett flying field this afternoon at 1:38, Eastern standard time.

They appeared from the northeast, circled over the airport three times and dumped gasoline preparatory to landing.

Upon landing, the fliers had been in the air for 38 hours and 28 minutes, after taking off from Paris at 11:10 Sunday night. They covered approximately 3,700 miles.

The French flying pair were attempting a transatlantic flight from Paris to some point between San Diego and San Francisco, Cal., a distance of approximately 6,100 miles.

The fliers last year set the world's long distance flight record from New York to Rayak, Syria, in the famous ship, Joseph Lebriz. The plane started with 1,875 gallons of gasoline and 92 gallons of oil. As the 650-horsepower ship reduced the gasoline load its speed increased. The gasoline supply was regarded as adequate for 65 to 70 hours.

The fliers were equipped with two life belts and two parachutes. But decided to dispense with a collapsible boat.

They carried coffee and champagne, cold chicken and fruit for food and refreshment.

Minor repairs will be made on the plane at Floyd Bennett field.

JAMES PERKINS LEAVES FOR ELECTRICAL SCHOOL

James Perkins left last night for Chicago, where he will attend the Corne Electrical college. He plans to take an electrical engineering course and a radio course.

MAN 'FALLS OUT OF COUNTY JAIL'; TWO OTHERS ESCAPE

Two men escaped from the county jail here last night and a third was captured by Sheriff John Alexander while attempting to effect an exit.

According to the sheriff, the men sawed their way through a second floor window and let themselves to the ground by the use of blankets, tied end to end. The escape was effected about midnight.

Dick Dickerson, charged with burglary, and a man who gave his name as Musgrove, who was being held for Wellington officers, escaped, and "Doc" Shoffit of Clarendon, was captured by the sheriff when he "fell out of the jail."

Shoffit is being held on charges

ON FRONT LINE IN TOLEDO RIOTS

With rifles, gas guns and machine guns ready, Ohio guardsmen are shown (at top) alert for a new onslaught by injured strikers and their sympathizers at the Electric Auo-Lite plant in Toledo. Failing in their efforts to disperse the throng, and sniped at continually with stones and bricks by members of the mob stationed behind buildings, one detail of guardsmen fired into the crowd. Two men in the throng were killed and a dozen wounded by the volley, which officers declared had not been ordered.

Nine Arrests Made Here In Two Days

Nine arrests, including two men and two women and five negroes, were made by local police over the week-end which was the largest number of arrests made in several months.

A man and woman, who identified themselves as man and wife, were arrested yesterday morning (Continued on page 8)

Why Plant Cotton If Last Year's Will Still Grow

Why plant any cotton at all? Last winter was not cold enough to kill that which was planted last spring.

At least L. U. May gave that as the reason why a stalk remaining in the field all winter sprouted leaves this spring.

He displayed the stalk this morning. He found it today on his farm two miles southeast of Memphis.

According to Mr. May, this is common in East Texas, but he and several others stated it was the first they had seen in this part of the country.

Former ACC Student Is Killed, Six Are Hurt In Explosion

OVERTON, May 28.—S. A. Adams, 24, former student at Abilene Christian College, was killed and six others were burned seriously today as a result of a boiler explosion at the Oil Refiners Incorporated plant.

Names of the injured were not learned immediately.

Most of the plant was wrecked and oil was thrown across the street, setting fire to a row of shocks.

COLLAPSE THREATENS DISARMAMENT GROUP

GENEVA, May 28.—Representatives of the United States and England, emerging from a long conference, indicated today that the disarmament conference is in a grave situation, and collapse is foreshadowed unless some nation can take heroic action to save it.

It is understood that Sir John Simon, British conferee, gave no inkling that England would propose any concrete steps to save the conference.

PRISONERS RUN WILD IN ESCAPE

Kidnap Two Men In Wild Ride Through Oklahoma After Breaking Texas Jail

GUTHRIE, Okla., May 28.—Three heavily armed prisoners, who escaped the Grayson county jail at Sherman, Tex., Sunday after slugging the jailor, were making a wild ride for freedom across Oklahoma today after kidnaping two men.

Speeding between Ardmore and Turner Falls this morning, the fugitives encountered Robert Jones of Dallas. Abandoning their car, they took his, holding Jones as hostage.

Two miles north of Guthrie, Jones' car heating, the fugitives stopped another motorist. When they took him and his car, they released Jones.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICE IS HELD HERE

Graves Of War Dead Decorated During Ceremony

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary and other ex-servicemen yesterday observed Memorial Day in a memorial service at Fairview cemetery.

Before a large crowd that attended the services, the legion gave its ritual ceremony. Dean J. Morgensen, Jr., gave "In Flanders Field." Roy L. Guthrie gave the world war roll call, and Mrs. W. L. Wheat, the veterans' roll call.

Graves of the war dead and others who were commemorated were decorated with flags and poppy wreaths.

A volley of three shots was fired over the graves, and the ceremony ended with the playing of "taps."

The Auxiliary opened the memorial services Saturday by the sale of poppies made by disabled World War veterans. They reported a generous response, for which they took occasion to thank the people of Memphis and the country for their aid.

High Potentate Jim King Is Honored At Affair

Headed by James E. King, high potentate of Khiva Temple, a large delegation of Masons from Memphis and neighboring towns attended the district out-door ceremonial of the Khiva Shrine 11 miles west of Amarillo Saturday.

A colorful parade through the streets of Amarillo and an elaborate dance at Khiva Temple in Amarillo were the high spots of the Masonic celebration, which was the first open air ceremonial held by the organization. A similar affair is planned for next year.

One feature of the ceremonial was the initiation of 80 Shriners into the Camel Herders. A number of Masonic novices were taken over the burning sands of Mecca.

FARM CREDIT UP TO $44,500,000

This Amount Is Handled By Credit Administration In Spring Financing

Special to The Democrat

WASHINGTON, May 28.—As the Farm Credit Administration rounds out its first year's work, Production Credit Commissioner S. M. Garwood reports that the farmers' production credit associations, which were organized last winter and began to do business in volume in April, have handled about $44,500,000 of spring financing.

"The associations have advanced $27,300,000 of this amount," Mr. Garwood said, "and the balance of $17,200,000 has been allocated to the accounts of borrowers. Most of this balance goes to farmers who are getting their loans in a series of payments during the season, so they will have the money when they need it and meanwhile save on interest charges."

"Most of the loans made this spring have been for crop production." Mr. Garwood continued, "and while the spring seasonal demand for crop production loans has now passed its peak, the gradual increase in the size of loans indicates that farmers and stockmen are turning their attention to livestock loans for general farming purposes."

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are circus performers. Years earlier Madeline ran away from her grandfather's home.

When Donna is injured in a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She falls in love with BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, and though she is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell them the truth.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus. He tells her he is going to put her in his animal act.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV

Almost before Con David had kissed his bride, the entire circus troupe descended upon them. Down the Pullman aisle came the strange folk, rattle and horns and drums raising a blatanant din above the grind of the train wheels and the chug-chug of the engine. State-room doors were thrown open. Chairs and cushions were flung into the aisles. Hampers of food and against all regulations, bottles of wine and beer were produced. Every one from the clown to the musician, from equestrian star to midget, had something to contribute to the festivity in the way of food or song or story.

Renfro, who had had a good week, was the gayest of all. With the mercurial spirit of the trouper, he was certain that business was going to be good now. Didn't the weather reports for the next few days predict sunny skies? And sunshine brought the farmers to town and sent pennies into Renfro's pockets. Besides that a wedding always brought good luck.

La Belle Mtailde, regal in black satin and the diamonds she had few occasions to wear, supervised the feast. Twenty-four hours earlier she had been ready to denounce Madeline as a trouble-maker, but that was over. Madeline was a bride now.

Two acrobats seized the girl in their strong muscular arms and flung her upon the upper berth. Some one demanded a speech and Madeline, under giggles of embarrassment and the bravos of the crowd, proclaimed her great happiness and gratitude to them all.

When it was time for Con to make a speech it was discovered that he had disappeared. During the merry-making and confusion he had slipped from the car to the one adjoining, thrown himself on a couch in the smoking room and fallen asleep.

His absence was a signal for the crowd to disperse, though none of them realized as Madeline did (since no one else knew that Con did not love her) that the celebration of his wedding was like pouring vinegar into an open wound.

Madeline was pale and weary when she bade the crowd good night. Then she sat down to wait for her husband's return. She had few illusions about her marriage. Con had played the gallant to save her, with no intention of marrying her, really. Between herself and Renfro he had been catapulted into a publicity stunt that made a husband of him. Nevertheless, she argued he need not insult her this way. He hadn't been compelled to tell Renfro they were engaged, and whether Donna ever married Bill Siddal or not she certainly would never have married Con.

"Damn! Madeline muttered. "Why did they have to make all that fuss? Just when he seemed to care something for me they had to come in and spoil everything! But I don't care! I won't care! I'm his wife. And so help me, nothing he does will send me away from him!"

But because she loved him and because more than her pride was hurt by his indifference she burst into bitter sobs that shook her from head to foot.

Daylight crept under the blinds, streaking a pattern of yellow on the strip of carpet beside her bed. It made gray and bleak the whitewashed walls of the stateroom and showed the girl's swollen eyelids, the tense lines about her mouth, and the bluish pallor of her face.

Madeline rose, swaying dizzily, and stared at the reflection in the mirror. "My wedding night," she laughed grimly. "My wedding night! Well, the joke's on me! What a hag I look!"

She bathed her face in cold water, opened her make-up box and proceeded to rouge her cheeks and lips. When her appearance was improved she opened the stateroom door and peered into the aisle. It was still in darkness. A draft of cold air made her shiver. She lifted a shawl from the untouched berth, pulled it about her bare shoulders and then crept cautiously, noiselessly down the corridor.

On right and left doors were closed, but from the slatted transoms issued snore and audible breathing.

She stepped out on the platform and stood in the chill morning air, letting the wind tangle her curls until her befogged senses cleared a trifle. Then she went into the next car. The smoking room door was ajar. Con, in his wedding suit, sprawled on the couch, one arm flung over his head, the other hanging limp at his side.

Her lips twisted as she stood looking at him. Then, with a half-defiant toss of her head, she entered the room, closed the door behind her and crossed to his side. She bent over him and placed her hand on his forehead.

He moved, opened his eyes, blinked in bewilderment and then sat upright. "Has the gang gone yet?" he asked.

"Gone? It's morning. I didn't want any one to find you here. It might cause talk."

"Morning!" He looked towards the window. "Good Lord! Have I slept here all night?"

"You have."

"Oh, I'm sorry. Why did you let me?"

She turned her face away so he could not see the quivering of her chin and her tear-filled eyes.

"I thought you did it on purpose."

"You know I didn't. I couldn't stand their raked—"

"I know," she interrupted bitterly. "You were thinking how different everything would have been if Donna were there instead of me."

"We won't speak of her," he said coldly. "If you're going to lay the blame on Donna every time I do anything you dislike we'll get along about as peaceful as a lion and a tiger. I'm not used to staying awake much after midnight and I was tired. Maybe that doesn't seem much of an excuse to you—but I didn't intend to hurt you. You've got to believe that."

"If you loved me nothing could have kept you away from me last night," she said.

He took her hand and pulled her around, facing him. "Let's get this straight, Madeline. I never said I was crazy about you but I think you're a nice kid, I'm fond of you. You said you loved me and would take me just as I was. I'm no good at pretenses—and if I was I wouldn't make them. Too much of an effort. But there's no reason why we can't be happy together if you don't get false notions and jealousy in your head. Probably I'll make you a better husband

'Coldest Woman' Makes Hot Denial

Called the "coldest woman in Hollywood," Elissa Landi, film beauty, above, suing for divorce, regards the title as an unjust stigma. She declares she chose a hermit's life because of her "high regard for the marriage contract," after her husband, John Cecil Lawrence, London attorney, refused to go to Hollywood to reside, fearing he would lapse into obscurity as "Mr. Elissa Landi." She charges mental cruelty in asking freedom from Lawrence.

Dillinger's Girl Puts on Style

Clad in a chic summer outfit, Evelyn Frechette, John Dillinger's sweetheart, made a striking appearance, as shown here, in St. Paul court while on trial for harboring the outlaw. She declared she loved the bandit and that they were to marry as soon as she won her divorce from her convict mate.

than if I were mad about you. And I promise not to walk out on you again. Forgive me?"

"Yes."

He laughed and, bending gave her a perfunctory kiss. She clung to him, her moist lips pressed against his. "I love you so," she sobbed. "I love you so terribly, Con."

"But you wasn't. Too much love only causes heartaches. I know from experience."

She drew back with a sharp intake of breath. "Donna!" she cried.

"Stop it. I was in love with her once, but that's dead. I wouldn't walk across the street to save her from perdition now. Just remember that when green devils get hold of you."

"You hate her?" breathlessly.

awake so late, most of the performers were moving about, busy at chores. Lines of stockings and handkerchiefs hung across the aisles. Letters were written and clothing was mended. Band instruments were tuned and polished. The devout ones, in preparation for church mass, were dressed and ready to leave the car when it pulled into the siding near the lot where the circus performance was to be held.

Con, who always attended mass when it was possible, asked Madeline, if she wanted to accompany him. She agreed eagerly, but when she added that they might have a priest remarry them with a church ceremony, he frowned and said it could be done later when they played a longer engagement somewhere.

By one o'clock when they returned from services, the tents had been raised and Con strolled off to inspect his cage cats. While the men who cared for and fed the animals were to be trusted, Con never failed to visit them. An aching tooth, an ingrown nail or an irritating insect might cause his own death.

The new Bengal tiger in a cage alone, snarled viciously and Madeline, beside her husband, shrank back with a little cry of terror.

Con laughed at her fears. "The poor thing is nasty because she isn't used to confinement. But isn't she a beauty? Don't believe I ever saw a handsomer animal. Wait until your spirit is broken, old lady," he added, leaning near the bars.

"Don't do that!" Madeline rasped.

"That's no way to begin," he said, turning to her. "The first thing you have to do is to conquer your own fear. I think we'll have your first rehearsal this afternoon."

Mix sugar and corn starch and stir into boiling pineapple juice. Cook, stirring occasionally, in double boiler for 20 minutes. Add lemon juice and let cool. When ready to use fold cream whipped until firm with salt. Add macaroni, pineapple and bananas to dressing and serve on tender leaves or head lettuce with a garnish or halves of fresh strawberries or maraschino cherries. A cube of bright jelly will also serve as an attractive garnish.

Get Child Into Habit of Retiring on Time

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Quoting directly from the United States Government Bulletin, issued by the Children's Bureau, the Department of Labor:

"Does your child sleep long enough or soundly enough? Is he rested when he wakes, or is he still tired? Does he go to bed happily every night at the same hour or does he tease you into letting him stay up? Does he play hard all day without a rest so that he is too tired to sleep well at night, or does he get a daytime nap as well as a long peaceful night sleep? Does he go to sleep as soon as he goes to bed or does he lie awake turning and tossing?"

"In short, is your child getting all the help from sleep that he should, or is he struggling along on a starvation allowance of sleep?"

Tables For Sleep

Before we go any further, let us look back and review the tables for sleep.

Young baby—20 or 22 hours out of 24.

Baby 3 months old—20 hours.

Baby 6 months old—12 hours at night; 2 hours morning; 2 hours afternoon.

One-year-old — 12 hours at night; 1 long nap; or 2 shorter naps.

Every little child—12 hours at night; 1 nap or rest.

We can substitute "13" hours for "12" in many cases.

Bedtime before six years should be about 6 p. m.

Bedtime after six years at about 7 o'clock. The hour may be moved ahead slightly as the child grows but 8 o'clock is not too early for the child of ten. And 9 is a good round hour for those in Junior High or the first year of High School.

A table of sleep is like any other rule for routine care, something that cannot be adhered to perfectly at all times; but being the most vulnerable of all standard schedules, it needs to be emphasized that nothing should interfere with regular hours except illness or emergencies beyond family control.

In spring and summer it is so easy to give in to coaxing. Nearly all children fight bedtime. But now that they are playing harder and longer, they need not only the full quota of sleep hours, but even more.

Avoid Fatigue

As to little children, the daily nap cannot be over-accented. The too-tired child either cannot sleep, or will sleep fitfully and uneasily at night.

Habit is the best ally a mother can have. Every child should anticipate his regular bedtime. A half hour before, his exciting play should be stopped. Ten minutes before, bedtime should be mentioned. He won't be jerked willingly off to bed on the instant, so give him just a bit of time. But don't argue or let him argue.

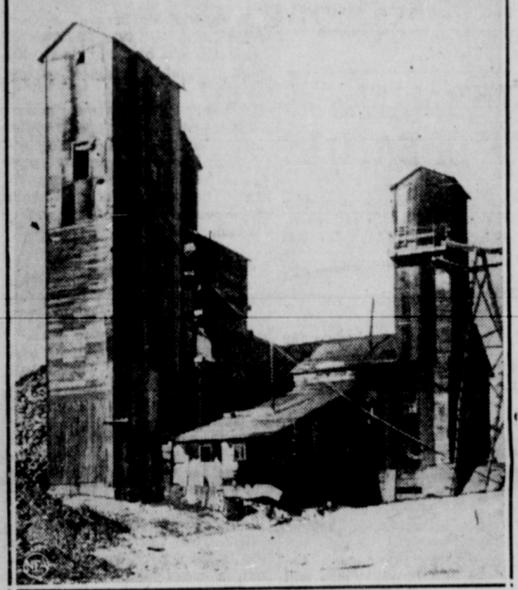

See that he is comfortable, has all his night supplies and his toilet needs attended to before his door is closed. Then don't allow him to wheedle and whine.

In summer he should be cool, but watch the weather and adjust covers and windows accordingly. Always go in later and see that everything is all right. Children sleep better in separate beds. Cots will do if they are level and comfortable.

Too much hot sun will excite some children and this may interfere with sleep. Watch out for this in the coming months.

The originator of hot dogs died recently at the age of 78, having been careful to avoid eating the products of his idea.

Sam Howdy: Super Salesman

This Popular Comic Strip Character Has Selling Technique All His Own, But He Gets Results---And How!

Here's Sam Howdy, demon salesman, going out after an order.

Guzzlem & Howdy

Years ago, though, Sam formed a partnership with one J. Guzzlem and went into the retail business under the firm name of Guzzlem & Howdy. Although the partnership did not survive (Guzzlem finally kicking the irresponsible Sam out of the firm) the store has been the one place that the demon salesman could always get a job.

To this queer emporium, with its weird signs on display and its amazing inventory of goods, Sam has unfailingly returned after his wanderings and always managed to find a welcome. If Sam were a less resourceful person, Guzzlem would have washed his hands of him long ago. The patience of the irascible proprietor of J. Guzzlem & Co. has been sorely tried by the other's total lack of responsibility and his habit of walking off to let the business take care of itself; but one of the qualities of the irpressible Sam is his ability to turn trouble into triumph. When things look blackest for him, he always blunders through.

He Comes Up Smiling

One of Salesman Sam's weaknesses as a retail merchant is his habit of overstocking. A great order getter himself, he has often fallen easy prey to the glib line of another salesman, ordering a dozen grand pianos with as little concern as though he were ordering a dozen crates of eggs. Then, with Guzzlem scolding and threatening and the fate of the store hanging in the balance, Sam has come up smiling with a happy solution for moving the goods. Return a profit instead of bankruptcy.

And that's Salesman Sam for you. Life may be a serious proposition for others, but not for him. Nothing worries him, nothing cramps his style. Even when his best girl turns him down—and as a ladies' man he has not been so successful—he sheds the rebuff like a duck shedding raindrops and faces the world with beaming countenance.

And, anyway, who would want to see Sam settle down and marry?

LUNCHEON: Cheese fondue, creamed celery, sliced tomatoes, kiss pudding, milk, tea.

Chop eggs coarsely and combine with macaroni, celery and olives. Add salad dressing to make moist and serve on a bed of shredded leaf lettuce. Garnish with halves of stuffed olives. It's better to use the olives stuffed with pimentos rather than those stuffed with celery or nuts because the red of the pimento makes an attractive touch of color.

Macaroni Fruit Salad

One cup cooked macaroni; 1 cup diced pineapple, 2 bananas thinly sliced and marinated in lemon juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 1-4 cup orange juice, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

It's a good idea to dice the pineapple several hours before you want to make your salad. Sprinkle with sugar and if you want to, drain and use the juice in place of orange juice to make the dressing.

$1.70 A SHOT FOR RUNYAN

NEW YORK, May 28.—Paul Runyan, who led the pick over the winter professional golf trails, has figured that his purses, when divided by the number of shots taken in the tournaments, would average about $1.70 a blow.

AFTER NINTH LETTER

MILWAUKEE, May 28.—Marquette soon will have another nine-letter man to take his place along with Gene Ronzani. He is Ernie Kukla, who, in addition to starring in football and basketball, is sure to win his "M" in track.

Reds now have a membership of 35,000 kids in their Knot Hole Club. . . and they're all admitted free in the Red's park.

Indianapolis Track And 1933 Race King

Here is a section of the 2 1/2-mile brick track at Indianapolis over which 33 speed demons will whirl, May 30, in quest of the richest auto race prize in America. Inset is Lou Meyer, winner in 1928 and 1933, and favorite to win this year's 500-mile grind.

By HARRY GRAYSON

It would not surprise any member of a panicky Yankee party if Babe Ruth chuckled it any day now. The most precious pair of dogs in the history of baseball is barking right out loud. Ruth is rich, can earn plenty of pesetas in other ways, and is not expected to make any attempt to finish the season as a regular.

Meanwhile, the idea that it was going to be a walkaway has been knocked out of the nogginns of the New York Americans. The pitching sickness of last year has turned out to be a permanent ailment.

Vernon Gomez and the red-headed Charley Ruffing are the only dependable dealers on Col. Jacob Ruppert's payroll at the moment. Joe McCarthy, in starting the thinly thached veteran, George Uhle, in Cleveland the other day, gave the tipoff. After two good games, Johnny Allen pulled up in Detroit with a bad arm.

When Danny McFayden beat the AAAAAA's twice in April, it appeared that he finally was to come through. But the bespectacled bowler, for whom the brewer paid the Red Sox $100,000 in 1932 is on the market, as the result of being belted out of there, for the fourth consecutive time, in Cleveland.

Russell Van Atta, who stood out as a freshman in 1933 has lost everything but his motions. He also has had to be recued in his last four starts. And to add to the Jersey southpaw's misery, he was spiked by Mickey Cochrane in Detroit.

Paging Burleigh Grimes

Johnny Murphy evidently contracted a seven-inning gait working nightcap for the Newark farm team. Jimmy De Shong has yet to establish himself, and McCarty is commencing to question the sight of the forager who recommended Harry Emythe, a 30-year old left-hander from Baltimore.

Indeed, the New York slinging is in such sorry shape that one of the writers traveling with the troupe suggested that McCarthy sign old Burleigh Grimes, with whom the spitball made its exit from the majors.

So-o-o, the Yanks must make a trade. With an eye on the cantankerous Wesley Ferrell and George Willis Hudlin, McCarthy dispatched an emissary to Billy Evans, general manager of the Indians.

Farrell can't help Cleveland, which is topeheavy with mound talent, and churn in the North Carolina Textile League at the same time. Hudlin seems to have worn out his welcome in Cuyahoga county, and Walter Johnson appears none too enthusiastic in regard to the Oklahoma.

Alva Bradley's outfit would consider giving up Ferrell in a deal that would bring an outfielder, a third baseman, or a catcher of worth, and it is highly probable that it would yield Hudlin's contract in the same kind of transaction.

Relief For Rickety Ruth

The Tribe's crying needs are the flychaser and the third baseman. Dick Porter lags as a big league retriever and Sam Rice has reached the end of the pike at 41. The latter's release is expected daily.

Willie Kamm's tendon ailment is likely to force him off third base at any time.

But with the acrobatic Lynford Lary sold to the Red Sox, the Yankees have no spare infielder to bandy. And, paradoxical as it might appear, McCarthy hesitates about letting an outfielder go, despite the fact that he had two complete sets.

The Cleveland club unquestionably would consider Sam Byrd, head man of the second string, or Myril Hoag, who four years ago represented an investment of $65,000.

But Dixie Walker, of whom much was expected, now has a dead arm, and indications are that he will be able to do nothing more than bat and run this term.

And playing the biggest outfield in history is commencing to tell on the 32-year-old Earl Combs. The colonel patrols with the Great Man with the shifting of the sun.

Ruth must be kept in the shade as much as possible. And if everybody in baseball had his way, the big fellow could sit out there under a beach umbrella.

As a result of heavy rains during the middle of the past week, softball games scheduled for last Thursday and Friday will be played Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

This will mean the playing of a game every day from Monday through Friday. The schedule for this week is as follows (home team listed):

Monday—(today) Presbyterians vs. Baptists.

Tuesday—Baptists vs. Christians.

Wednesday—Methodists vs. Presbyterians.

Thursday—Christians vs. Methodists.

Friday—Methodists vs. Baptists. The Baptists and Methodists will each play three games, and the Christians and Presbyterians will each be seen in action twice.

As this is written league officials have about definitely decided against playing at Fair Park for the remainder of the season. Managers Blevins, Burleson, Clover, and Delaney all seemed to be of the opinion this afternoon that much of the fan interest would be lost if such a move were made, since the West Ward diamond, where the games have been played is handier and more centrally located.

All agree, however, that the Fair Park location would be easier on the players themselves.

A. C. Burleson, Christian manager, pointed out, however, that an interest is one of the main aims of the loop, and suggested that a change on the West Ward diamond could greatly improve the fielders' chances on the hard-hit balls.

The time for the play of each game this week is, as usual, 6:15.

GOLF By Art Krenz

Before leaving the mashie-niblick and going into other golf shots, I want to warn golfers against reaching for the ball in this stroke.

Reaching for the ball will produce a flat swing. This must be avoided when playing a short iron. Reaching also will throw one off balance, causing the player to fall into the shot. This results in heeling the shot, hitting the ground before the ball or missing the ball entirely.

Keep hands close to the body. Bobby Jones' hands are so close that at times they brush his trousers in the downswing.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hattenbach left yesterday for Breckenridge where they will spend until Tuesday with their daughter, Mrs. H. K. Whaley. They will go from there to Mineral Wells to attend the funeral directors convention in session there May 28 to 31, inclusive.

Eugene Clements, formerly of Memphis, spent yesterday here visiting friends.

BREAK UP LATE RALLIES FOR VICTORY

Stewart And Leggett Account For Owls' Winning Runs

Living up, at least for the present, to their determination not to lose another game on the home field, the Memphis Owls battled the Amarillo Millers to a tough, thrilling, 6-4 decision yesterday afternoon at Fair Park.

They were forced to fight the invaders to the last to claim the victory, getting two out in the ninth with the tying run on second base.

Stewart, Leggett Hit

The Amarillo club presented a hustling, hard-hitting outfit, but it was not able to match strokes with the Owls, who managed to make more hits count for runs, although getting a smaller number of bingles.

The victory came through the punching of Stewart and Leggett, who knocked in five of the Owls' six tallies. Carl Melear scored on a single on the first ball pitched to account for the other run.

Make Six Errors
Van Dorn, with two, and two of four McKnight brothers, Jack and Hank, brought in the tallies of the visitors.

Although six errors were marked up during the fray, both clubs played heads-up ball, hustling all the way. Four of the errors came when the fielders were working too hard. The others were on such easy chances they did not wait for the ball.

Scores on Single
After Lonnie Ables closed out the Millers in the first frame, Melear pounced upon the first pitch by Graham and caught the visitors before they were ready to start.

He singled through second, and Kearns, in center field, let the ball roll through his legs. Melear circled the bases, attempting to score. He was beaten to the plate by the throw-in, but Sullivan lost control while tagging him out. That accounted for the Owls' initial tally and well as two of the visitors' errors.

Four-Run Lead

The Owls ran up a four-run lead in the fourth, knocking Graham, a weak-powered southpaw, out of the box and continuing against McKnight, who replaced Graham.

Melear started the frame with a free ticket. Allen singled and Newman hit into a double play when his attempted sacrifice popped to the pitcher, who threw Allen out at first. Melear remained on second.

Graham Benched

The Owls first sacker went to third on Lindsey's bingle that drove Graham to the bench. Stewart opened against McKnight with a single that scored Melear. Leggett followed with a triple that brought in Lindsey and Stewart, and Boone struck out to end the frame.

Amarillo tallied in the fourth, and Stewart went to the mound for the Owls to replace Ables, who complained of a sore arm. Jack McKnight started the frame with a single and came home on Hank McKnight's double, after Sullivan had grounded to Ables. Stewart went to the mound and retired Franks and Drennen in order.

Millers Tie Count

With three base knocks, assisted by Allen's error, the Millers tied the score in the fifth. Buck McKnight rolled one to Allen, who came up without the ball. Brother Joe advanced him with a single. Kearns flied out to left, and Van Dorn drove Buck in with a single. Jack McKnight tied the score with a double that scored Joe and Van Dorn. Sullivan flied to center and Hank McKnight rolled to Stewart to end the spree.

In their half of the fifth, the Owls again took the lead when Lindsey walked and scored on Stewart's double.

A safer margin was added in the seventh, with Stewart reaching first on Hank's error and scoring on a two-base knock by Leggett.

Halt Late Rallies

Manager Allen halted a potential rally in the seventh after Sullivan had doubled when one was out. Slipping behind the runner, Allen was caught out of position just in time to receive a low liner and touch the bag for an unassisted double play.

Another potential rally was short lived in the ninth, the Owls getting two out while the tying run rested on second. Franks

Miss Dorothy Elliott Becomes Bride of Jack Jarrell in Simple Ceremony Sunday

Impressive in its quiet simplicity was the wedding of Miss Dorothy Elliott to Jack Jarrell which was solemnized at the First Christian church yesterday morning at nine o'clock in the presence of the immediate families of the couple and a few friends.

The beautiful ring ceremony was read by the pastor, Norman D. Dyer. The nuptial vows were taken before an altar banked with ferns. On either side were candelabra bearing tall white burning tapers which completed the beautiful altar affect.

For the pre-nuptial music, Mrs. Conly Ward played for a violin number, "At Dawning," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John M. Elliott Jr., of Dallas, sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Elliott played Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the entrance of the bridal party and for the recessional, played Lohengrin.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Judge J. M. Elliott, who gave her to be married. She was attractive in a gown of white crepe, made along fitted lines with an off face white hat, and she carried a bouquet of Calla lilies and white baby breath.

Mrs. James Edward Teer, sister of the bride, and Little Miss Louise Elliott, niece, were her only attendants. Mrs. Teer wore a gown of poudre blue crepe with white accessories and carried an arm bouquet of white roses and blue baby breath.

Mr. Jarrell had for his best man his brother, Raymond Jarrell.

An informal reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. J. M. Elliott. In the dining room the bride's table was lovely with white cut work linen cloth centered with white roses and blue baby breath, carrying out the bride's chosen colors. White tapers in crystal holders burned at each end which lent a soft glow. Mrs. Albert Elliott of Dallas, sister-in-law of the bride, served the wedding cake and Miss Wilma Jarrell, sister of the groom, poured coffee.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for Amarillo and Canyon where they will spend the summer. For her going-away costume, Mrs. Jarrell wore a handsome brown triple sheer crepe two-piece suit with white accessories.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John M. Elliott, and daughter, Louise, of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Elliott, of Weatherford; Rainey Elliott of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Teer, of Clarendon, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roberts of Albany.

C. H. Smith of Duncan, Okla., arrived in Memphis yesterday and will spend until tomorrow here visiting in the Jim King home. Mrs. Smith and son, C. H. Jr., who have been visiting her sisters, Mesdames Ray Martin and Fred Boswell and Miss Imogene King for the past two weeks will return home with Mr. Smith.

Mrs. C. F. Leobnitz and daughter, Florence, who have been visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. J. B. Hanna, left this morning for their home at Telluride, Colorado. Mrs. Hanna and children went home with them for a visit.

Bridge Luncheon Club Meets With Mrs. Harrison

Mrs. T. T. Harrison was hostess for the Bridge Luncheon Club Friday at her home at 502 South Seventh street.

A lovely one o'clock luncheon was served from beautifully arranged quartet tables. Roses were featured in decorations.

Games of bridge were played following the luncheon.

Members present were: Mesdames S. A. Bryant, A. H. Miller, G. D. Beard, G. W. Kesterson, Louis Goffinet, Rab Harrison, C. W. Kinslow and T. J. Dunbar. The guests were: Mesdames Frank and Fred Finch and Miss Margaret Daugherty of Childress.

Drouth Insurance Proves Its Worth

Special to The Democrat

COLLEGE STATION, May 28.—Drouth insurance they called it last summer. Few Texans paid much attention to it when they signed domestic wheat allotment contracts. They came in handy this year, however, those 20-cent-per-bushel payments for 54 per cent of what a farmer raised on the average from 1928 to 1932. There's a drouth on now in some places, the papers say, but this first check is already in and a second one is coming later when contract compliance is proven.

CORRECTION

The Democrat wishes to acknowledge an error made in a recent account of a collision of a milk truck driven by E. O. Hagemier and a car driven by Travis Cypert.

The Democrat stated that the crash occurred when both drivers reached the street intersection at Eighth and Harrison, both failing to stop.

However, according to Mr. Hagemier and witnesses who saw the crash, the wreck occurred after the milk truck had crossed Eighth street at Harrison. The car driven by Cypert was going south on Eighth street and apparently got out of control, crashing into the side of the milk truck, they said.

night added to the excitement which gripped Havana.

After the session, a spokesman said "the government is ready to take most severe measures to end the terrorism."

Four men fired a volley of shots into the doorway of the ambassador's home yesterday in the assassination attempt, which resulted in critically wounding a soldier on guard.

The attack, culminating several days of sporadic terrorism which included a revelation of a plot against the ambassador's life, coincided exactly with the hour at which he usually leaves his home for the Yacht club.

The assailants used a sawed-off shotgun. Their bullets struck a soldier, Francisco Ortega. His right leg was torn off by a bullet, apparently explosive in nature.
