DEFENSE MOBILIZATION PLANS TO BE TALKED; CIVILIAN AIR RESERVE IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Training Plan To Go Before Roosevelt

Govt. Would Train Pilots, Mechanics As Added Force

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—A plan for training 100,000 civilian pilots and 125,000 mechanics at government expense during the next five years to buttress the national air defense has been agreed upon by the Army Air Corps and the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Up To FDR It must hurdle the scrutiny of President Roosevelt, to whom the scheme is scheduled to be presented late this week, and obtain the approval of the new congress meeting in January before it could become effective.

Intended as part of the air rearmament program under contemplation by the administration, it would give the United States an air force reserve numerically approximating that which Germany is reliably reported to have at the present time.

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, already has mentioned the figure of 12,000 airplanes as a likely goal toward which the army will build in the equipment aspect of the air rearmament program. A force of 3,000 planes for the navy was authorized by the last congress.

Some 35,000 persons hold "student flying licenses now. About 5,000 mechanics are enrolled in commercial schools. The two groups would be culled over to obtain a nucleus for the proposed civilian air corps.

READING AND WRITING

"LEONARDO DA VINCI" by Antonina Vallentin (Viking; $3.75).

There come, on occasion, minor revivals of interest in the lives and works of great men which cannot easily be explained. One such has been the Franklin revival, which has produced easily a half dozen books in the last year, culminating in Carl Van Doren's fine biography published early last month.

Perhaps Leonardo da Vinci is in for something similar. In any case the Edward MacCurdy translation of Leonardo's notebooks is just published in two large and handsome volumes, and now comes a biography by Antonina Vallentin which is certainly one of the most delightful inquiries into the life and mind of that great genius to have been made in many years.

These are, of course, perfect material for the biographer. Leonardo was the illegitimate son of a moderately well to do middle class Italian with excellent connections. There was good stuff in the family blood, and there must have been exactly the complementary elements needful to produce genius in the almost unknown girl who was Leonardo's mother.

134 Years For Robt. Irwin

Sculptor Sentenced For Easter Triple Slaying

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Robert Irwin, eccentric young sculptor who pleaded guilty to the 1937 Easter morning triple slaying of Veronica Gedeon, attractive model; her mother, and Frank Byrnes, a boarder, was sentenced to 134 years in state's prison today by Judge James G. Wallace. He will be taken to Sing Sing prison later in the day.

Trial of Irwin, specifically for the murder of Byrnes, was interrupted by Irwin's guilty plea before the jury was completed. He pleaded guilty to second degree murder. Irwin's lawyer, Samuel Leibowitz, in offering the plea, told the court the sculptor was "crazy as a bed-bug."

Four husky attendants surrounded Irwin as he was led into the courtroom today. Standing before the bar, he made a futile plea to be heard before sentence was pronounced.

"This asking a prisoner whether he has anything to say before sentence is just a farce," cried Irwin. "I have something to say."

"You say you represent justice," he shouted at Judge Wallace. "I say you do not. You represent a rich man's justice."

'Phantom Slasher' Is At Large In English Town; Women Stay Indoors After Eleventh Victim Wounded

HALIFAX, England, Nov. 28 (AP)—Women of this grimy north English town today were ordered to remain indoors after nightfall because of a "phantom slasher" who strikes unseen along darkened by-ways.

The slasher added an eleventh victim to his list early this morning, slipping up behind Mrs. Constance Wood, a mill worker, only a few yards from her doorway.

He knocked her down, hacked through her heavy coat to inflict two gashes in her left arm, and escaped.

Police have been unable to trace the slasher who has attacked eleven persons within the past seven days. All but two of the victims were women. Nones was seriously wounded.

Screams from one of two women who were slashed last night brought nearby firemen to the rescue. Crowds leaving church joined the hunt but without success.

It was feared the phantom, who so far only has wounded his victims with a sharp-edged weapon, might suddenly turn murderer.

Women of this industrial town, at least those brave enough still to venture out at night, were arming themselves with large hatpins, bags of pepper and walking-sticks for self defense.

Patrols of boy scouts were pressed into service.

The only clue to the slasher's identity has come from one of the women victims who described him as having "staring eyes and a big mouth" which she said she would recognize again.

It was expected troops would be brought in soon if other measures fail to catch him.

JAP MUNITIONS PLANTS WRECKED BY THE JAPANESE

SHANGHAI, Nov. 28 (AP)—Chinese today reported they had inflicted heavy damage, through fires and explosions, on Japanese arsenals and munitions plants in China.

A huge arsenal at Mukden, Manchoukuo, was said to have been wrecked by a mysterious fire and explosion Nov. 20.

In addition to destruction of large amounts of munitions and aircraft, 200 Japanese and other workmen were said to have been killed and 60 Japanese military guards injured.

A second Japanese arsenal, Chinese reported, was blown up two days ago at Taiyuan, in Shansi province, killing 300 Japanese soldiers and workmen.

Meanwhile, foreign apprehension over Japan's future course in China was heightened by Japanese construction of a huge military base near Woussing, at the mouth of the Whangpoo river downstream from Shanghai.

THE SPORTS PARADE

by HANK HART

Within three hours time the Rose Bowl outlook for Texas Christian changed completely around Dallas and vicinity. In the lobbies of the hotels and on the street Saturday morning where nothing but the gridiron game was being discussed that was the subject of conversation. Football fans in general were rather confident of sending another Texas eleven westward for the classiest of all football classics but during the time that the Frogs were defeating Southern Methodist something was happening in Durham, N. C., that was to change the outlook completely. The mighty Duke Blue Devils were defeating Pittsburgh, 7-0, and, although Coach Wallace Wade had stated several weeks ago that Duke would not be interested in a bowl bid, it was conceded that the Carolinians were eligible and in a big way.

Now comes word that Wade has already been approached by coast officials on possibility of an invitation for the Jan. 2 Pasadena clash. Texas Christian fans are still hopeful that their team's magnificent record will warrant consideration but are not as hopeful as before.

The Christians clearly showed their superiority over all other teams in their own conference by decisively defeating the Mustangs but Matty Bell's charges put up a great defensive and had the Frogs sweating for the first time. The manner in which they stymied drive after drive the Purple in the second half dispelled the rampant tales of TCU invincibility. Twice within the last half the Ponies put on goal line stands that had the vaunted Christian line crumbling.

Apparently the Frogs' top strength lies in a great pair of ends, two magnificent line backers. Davey O'Brien is the toughest little war horse in the family but he is far from being All-American. It is not even the TCU hand. Cool under fire and possessed of the grey matter needed of a signal barker, O'Brien was correlated most of the time in the fracas. Earl Clark, in this observer's estimation, is far and away the best all around back Dutch Meyer has. Yet the Breckenridge boy won't even rate All-Conference.

Second best appears to be Connie Sparks, a better fullback than Jimmy Lawrence of the 1935 Sugar Bowl champions. Sparks is a Broncho Nagurski type of back, should be All-American in a couple of years.

Durwood Horner and Dan Looney were outstanding at the terminal posts for the Frogs and undoubtedly accounted in a large way for TCU's victory. Best performer of the afternoon, as it looked from this corner, was Billy Dewell, the Pony wing a tower of strength. O'Brien sent his gunners into the left side of the SMU line and again for prominent gains but could not push the Dodge City, Kansas, giant out of the way. Dewell had to chase the play during most of the second half because no plays were run in his direction.

The long touchdown pass O'Brien tossed to Johnny Hall in the first period was a beauty and one that undoubtedly caused Chelsea Crouch, SMU half, plenty of embarrassment. Crouch, watching O'Brien fade back, began to move forward when he saw the ball start its flight, apparently sure of an interception, at the same time to get away from Hall, a would-be tackler. He leaped high for the oval but it slipped through his fingers and squarely into Johnny's hands. Crouch was immediately taken from the game.

The Frog wall was rocking on its heels in the fourth period when Mustang chargers twice broke through the vaunted line and blocked Connie Sparks' attempted punts. The first resulted in Collins' touchdown run.

Kicking was exceptionally poor. The first time Ray Mallouf, SMU star, attempted to boot downfield he fired the ball but 19 yards and TCU immediately started a drive that resulted in their first touchdown.

Speaking of Mallouf, he's going to be plenty rough in a year or two. He was handling the ball on nine of ten plays and doing a good job of it.

Kl Aldrich, the popular TCU center is invaluable as a line backer but his flair for showmanship is off color. The Temple boy is exceptionally good at blocking and diagnosing an enemy play but, contrary to his dreamy press agents, he cannot pull out on an end sweep after centering the ball and lead the interference. He's hardly that good.

Comparing the TCU eleven with those of the past, they do not look as strong as did either the SMU or TCU aggregations of 1935 when the Mustangs went to the Rose Bowl, TCU to the Sugar Bowl. SMU certainly had a stronger backfield that fall than O'Brien, Sparks, Clark and Hall. The Frogs of '36 apparently were a better balanced club.

Lefty Bethell, the loping fullback of the local high school grid eleven, was chosen as a half-back on Bob Cooke's Sweetwater reporter and Larry Priddy's All-western Oil Belt aggregations over the weekend which should make him unanimous choice for the berth. Lefty was previously rated as "all" by the Abilene Reporter-News and others on Cooke's eleven were: Voss and Akins, Sweetwater, and Jay, Sweetwater, and Chambers, Abilene, tackles; Bean and Pike, San Angelo, guards; Sibley, Abilene, center; Gray, San Angelo, Wetsel, Sweetwater, and Webster, Sweetwater, and backs.

Chock Smith, end; Clyde Smith and Alton Bostick, backs, made the third of Cooke's three teams. Priddy's nominees varied with Cooke's only in one tackle berth where Bill Davenport, San Angelo, would have been instead of Jay. Bill, remember, was an offensive fullback and defensive tackle for the Bobcats.

Cecil Voss, Thomas Hendrick, Joe Elrod, Buck Wetsel and Aubrey Gill are leading candidates who earned numerals last season. Only Elrod of that quintet did not play football the past season.

Eight Tilts To Hold Spot In Grand Finale

Tennessee To Meet Miss., Irish Vies With USC

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Old Man Pijaskin, co-starred with Miss Upset in the 1938 football drama, takes a couple of curtain calls this week although the play itself ended with last Saturday's climatic scene.

The curtain dropped on a cast that had only eight important members whose performances throughout the two-months' show was perfect. Duke and Tennessee of the South, Georgetown of the East, Notre Dame and Oklahoma of the Midwest and Texas Christian of the Southwest were the principal actors who suffered neither a defeat nor a tie. In the main supporting roles were Western Reserve and Texas Tech, both with perfect records. Villanova was tied once but unbeaten.

Ten other teams had unbeaten, untied seasons, but theirs were only walk-on roles.

The main roles in this week's curtain piece will be played by Notre Dame, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Texas Tech.

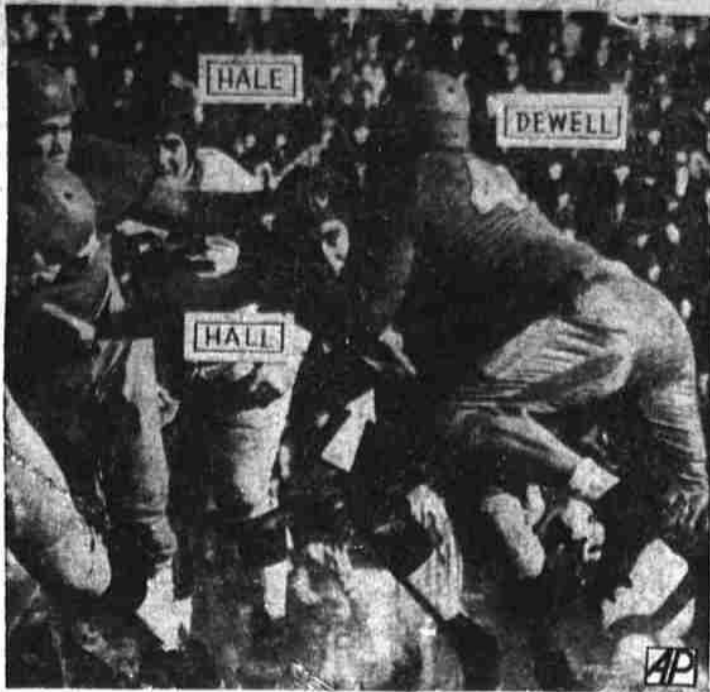

Irish Head West

The Fighting Irish, after a week off, go west to meet Southern California, co-champion of the Pacific Coast conference and likely choice as western team to play in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2. Oklahoma, winner of the Big Six title, meets an often-beaten Washington State team at Norman, Okla. Tennessee defends its Southeastern conference crown against Mississippi. The Vols can't be beaten mathematically, but since the title is unofficial Coach Bob Neyland says he won't claim it unless the Vols beat Ole Miss. Texas Tech, 21-2 winner over Marquette, takes on Centenary.

Other outstanding contests listed this week are today's South Carolina-Catholic university game at Washington, postponed Saturday because of snow Miami-Georgia Friday and on Saturday Florida-Temple, Rice-Southern Methodist to wind up the Southwest conference season, and North Carolina State-Citadel in the Southern conference finale.

The next task is the selection of performers in Rose, Cotton, Sugar and other year-end "bowl" games. The Pacific Coast conference will

Christians Are Hopeful Of Bid From Coast

Pasadena Bid Will Come First; Sugar Bowl Officials At Work

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
FORT WORTH, Nov. 28 (AP)—Undeclared Texas Christian's footballers, a massive bunch led by a wild Irish lad of 150 pounds, nursed a case of nerves today and wished the telephone would ring.

Their preference in the way of telephone calls was a long distance one from out Pasadena, Calif., way — and from their attitude, they would almost "chip in" and pay the tolls if it were a Rose Bowl invitation.

Champions of the Southwest conference for the first time since 1932 after winding up second best the past three seasons, the Horned Frog band that finished its string of ten straight, runaway victories with a 20-7 rout of Southern Methodist Saturday, wasted no words about their hopes.

"Boy, we'd just go to that Rose Bowl right now if they would have us," grinned Robert David O'Brien, the midstar of the team that gained 3,360 yards with its masterful aerial and ground attacks.

O'Brien, the durable boy who threw 19 touchdown passes and led backfield mates Connie Sparks, Earl Clark and Johnny Hall on running sprees that netted 1,933 yards, wants to play just one more game. After that, he'll be a spectator and a geologist, he hopes. No professional football for him, despite the fact his brilliant passing record this season surpassed that of Slingin' Sam Baugh, his predecessor, in his best collegiate season.

Aldrich Interested

For that matter, only one of the burly band of Christians seemed interested in pro football. He was Kl Aldrich, the 198-pound center who rates as the finest pivot man in Southwest conference history.

One invitation to a post-season classic already had been formally presented to the Christians—from the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. But officials said it would lay unanswered until action by the Rose Bowl.

Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer, who took his first head coaching job at Texas Christian in 1934 after 11 years as freshman coach at the same school and a brilliant athletic career of his own even before that, joined his boys in hoping for a Rose Bowl game—for the boys' sakes.

Eyes Frogs

No definite action will be taken on any bowl game for another 24 hours, it was indicated. Reports were current that the New Orleans attraction, the Sugar Bowl game sponsored by the Mid-Winter Athletic association, also had eyes on the Horned Frogs.

If it is not invited to the Rose Bowl game, Texas Christian, good unofficial sources said, would consider the bowl offering the stoutest opposing team. That is, if invitations are extended. It was reported from reliable quarters that the Sugar Bowl had lined up one team—an eastern eleven with a great record.

Only one more game remains in the Southwest conference—Southern Methodist's invasion of the Rice Owl camp at Houston next Saturday. The Methodists, despite their defeat by TCU, still have second place cinched. The Owls were whipped, 21-6, by Baylor Saturday.

Texas waited until its last game to score a victory, but it was a sweet one 7-6, over Texas A. M. in their annual traditional game. Arkansas completed its schedule with a 6-6 tie at Tulsa.

Tyler's battle with Lufkin gets the top spot in inter-scholastic league football this week and the field of contenders for the state championship dwindles to eight teams.

It is the only game matching undefeated, untied clubs and many critics predict a finalist will eventually result from this engagement.

Both have won ten games and both have impressive records. Ranking second in importance appears to be the Gainesville-High-

North Texas Winds Up Schedule With Kansans This Week

By The Associated Press
The Sam Houston Steers grabbed second place honors in the Lone Star conference Thursday afternoon at Nacogdoches where they defeated their arch rivals, the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks, 13 to 6 in their annual Thanksgiving Day grudge battle.

Under the tutelage of their new mentor, Coach Punny Wilson, the Steers lost to only one league rival, East Texas, by a 14 to 6 count. In non-conference engagements the Huntsville machine won five of six starts.

Dropping one position from their standing of last season, the North Texas Eagles finished the conference race in third place, with S. F. Austin a notch lower and Southwest Texas in the cellar.

The East Texas Lions terminated their gridiron season Thanksgiving by slaughtering Missouri State Teachers of Kirksville 53 to 0 at Commerce. The win over Kirksville was the Lions' eighth win out of nine battles this fall; their only loss being a 26 to 6 trimming at the hands of the Hardin-Simmons Cow boys.

The last of the conference team to wind up its schedule for the year, North Texas entertains the Kansas State Teachers collegiate team of Pittsburg at Denton Friday night in an inter-sectional tussle.

DUKE'S BOWL CHANCES SOAR; 3 TEAMS READY TO GO WEST

By ROBERT MYERS LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28 (AP)—Conflicting reports filled the air today that Texas Christian, Duke or Tennessee would get the coveted bid to the Rose Bowl as the Pacific Coast conference prepared to name its own entry in Pasadena's annual post-season gridiron but.

U.S.C. to Washington, California to U.S.C. The 10 members of the league—U.C.L.A., Washington, Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho, Montana, Stanford, California and U.S.C.—voted on the Rose Bowl selection.

Announcement was expected to be made around noon 12 p. m. (C.S.T.) as to whether Southern California or the University of California would carry the somewhat coveted honors of the Rose Bowl into the big bowl next January 2.

U.S.C. officials this morning met with stony silence reports that any team had been invited west. For weeks most of the Rose Bowl talk has centered on Texas Christian, and today leaders of the Texas state society here promised that "10,000 Texans" would be on hand if the Horned Tonsils from Fort Worth were invited.

Southern California's Trojan, unbeaten in three appearances in the Rose Bowl, and California, victorious over Alabama at Pasadena last New Year's Day, are tied for the conference championship, each having won six games and lost one.

Duke's chances soared when the Blue Devils from Durham, N. C., signed out Pitt, 7-0, and kept intact last season's record of never having been scored upon. Tennessee, the last of the untied, undefeated trio most discussed, likewise kept in the running with a thumping 16-0 victory over Kentucky last week.

Mason Honor Wins Sectional Award For Second Time

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP)—An Iowa youth, Myron A. Johnson, 20, of Boone, won highest honors today in the ninth annual, meat animal project contest sponsored by the National 4-H Club Congress.

Sectional honors went to Texas, Montana, and Maryland. Held in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition, the contest drew entries from 36 states. Awards were provided by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer.

Gordon Grote, 17, of Mason, Texas, won southern sectional honors for the second time. Western sectional honors were awarded Joe W. Eisenman, 19, of Park City, Mont., and the eastern award went to Roland H. Mullinix, 19, of Woodbine, Md.

Johnson successfully completed 10 years of livestock and five of corn projects in connection with his farm and school work. As national winner he was awarded a $300 scholarship which he plans to use in Iowa State college.

His projects included the handling of 18 baby beeves, 50 sheep, eight sows and litters and 11 acres of corn. He exhibited 112 entries at the county and state fairs and won $411.50 in prizes, including nine championships. Sales returns from his projects totaled $3,641.

Grote, who lives on a 960-acre livestock farm, has fed baby beeves exclusively for six consecutive years, handling 52 head in all and making a record as a feeder, fitter and exhibitor which club officials said was unequalled by any boy in the nation.

His total gross income for the six years was $1,471 from prizes and $7,994 from sales. He won second award in the national competition, a $200 scholarship, and southern sectional honors. Mullinix' successful record was based on six years of club work.

TECH CHOOSES A BUSINESS MAN

Those who put over-emphasis on pedagogy and the formal training of the classroom might be inclined to find some fault in the selection of Clifford B. Jones of Spur as president of Texas Technological college.

There can be no question as to Mr. Jones' business ability. His record in Texas speaks for itself. A man of wide interests and capabilities, he has held down a dozen responsibilities at the same time, contributing to business and governmental and civic activities all the while he was administering, successfully, a great cattle business.

Specifically as to the Tech position, no man has a better understanding of the operations and the needs of the great college at Lubbock. He has been a director of the institution since it opened in 1925, has been chairman of the board for 11 years.

CONCERNING OUR DEFENSES

The matter of our national defense will be of first importance in the next Congress. Every newspaper that we read warns us that we are neglecting our armaments to a long already.

This autumn we have seen a capitulation of Britain and France to the dictators which would have been unthinkable five years ago, and the event, since Munich, hold out no possibility of peace by agreement on any terms that are compatible with honor, democracy, or national independence.

But it is of the most vital importance that the American people become clear in their minds what they are arming to defend. Otherwise, we may be strangled by our own armaments, and under the pretext that we are arming for liberty and democracy destroy them both.

There is not the slightest need that we should do so, either in peace or in the event of war, but there are, in Washington, a great many plans for our doing so, among them the Iniquitous industrial mobilization act, which is a blueprint for setting up a Fascist state in this country in case of war.

That act is not the result of a plot. It is the result of a certain conception of our defense needs. If we are preparing to send expeditionary forces off this continent or if we are contemplating the possibility of war being fought on this soil, then we must prepare to militarize ourselves and militarization today is "total." It means that every man, woman and child, every factory and field, the whole social and economic life must be mobilizable by the state, and prepared, even in advance of war, for such mobilization. It means, that is to say, the relinquishment of the very things that this people have a passion to defend—personal freedom and democracy.

But if we intend only to make absolutely certain that we can keep open our communications for essential trade, and make it impossible for any hostile army ever to invade this country, then we can be both safe and free. For we can defend ourselves by seapower—the navy, by the only force of armament compatible with freedom.

The strongest navy in the world does not demand that the whole economic, industrial and social life of the country be mobilized and organized under the state.

Our geographic position makes this freedom possible, for, as yet, and for foreseeable time, we are secure from any form of attack except that which is carried by ships—provided, of course, that no other great power is able to establish air or naval bases in the Western Hemisphere. On this subject we must be absolutely intransigent. We must not allow any non-American power whatsoever to establish such bases. We must seek every collaboration with our neighbors to prevent any such establishments.

The people of Great Britain were free for generations because of the British Navy. They are not free today because that navy can no longer protect them from attacks from the air. But aviation genius has not yet devised planes which can invade and bomb us from other hemispheres over two oceans, crossing and returning without refueling, and attacks from the air are useless as an instrument of war, unless they can be followed by invading armies. We must be in a position to prevent any such invading armies from ever setting foot on this soil. And that means unquestioned supremacy on the sea.

The watchword of the American people should be millions for seapower and adequate military and air forces to secure for it freedom of action. All other defense measures should be subjected to the most critical and skeptical evaluation by lovers of freedom and democracy.

This argument has been brilliantly made and supported by George Fielding Eliot, formerly major in the Military Intelligence Reserve of the United States Army. His recent book, "The Ramparts We Watch," is required reading for wide-awake American citizens.

And the Republican party of the State of Vermont is to be congratulated on putting into its platform this year a warning against some of the measures contemplated in Washington. This platform admonished Vermonters of the need of preparedness, but said:

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Some say Swing is passing out.

But Hollywood doesn't believe it. Hollywood is set for a ride in a jitterbug. Hollywood is going to bring it back, if it's gone. Or give it the coup de grace, if it's going.

The Dead End Kids did a little of it in "Angels With Dirty Faces." The Little Tough Guys, not to be out-trucked, are showing their stuff in "In Society." There's a picture at Universal—with Ted Weems and his orchestra—called "Swing, Sister, Swing." There'll be swing in "Ice Follies," and swing (in a bit) in "The Three Musketeers."

Which is all very well—for the swingsters. The rest of us can have our jitterbug jamboree in wait-time—in "The Great Waltz." That sequence showing how the Vienna villagers succumbed to the waltz is as frantic jitterbugging as ever you'll see today—but in good wait-time.

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are doing nothing to contribute to the longevity of swing. Not this time. In "The Castles" they haven't even any new dances. Just the old ones that Irene and Vernon danced and made popular.

Hermes Pan, a tender-hearted guy, is having his troubles. The big chorus numbers of yesterday are gone from the screen. The other day he had to select 60 steps for a series of dance shots showing how Castle dancing influenced the world.

"Two years ago," he said, "the girls were all busy. I couldn't have found 60. Today I ask for 60 and 500 girls apply."

He knows most of the girls, but he has to look through them when he's selecting. He can't hire all of them. It breaks him up. He wishes the "big numbers" would come back, but thinks they won't—not soon.

The movie Castles—while most of Hollywood is on the jitterbuggy will do the Tango too. Sonja Henie, a smart girl, is doing a tango on ice in her new touring show. She'll put it in her picture, and she'll be making it about the time "The Castles" is showing. That ought to underscore the tango heavily.

LOCAL COUPLE GET LIMIT IN DUCKS, FISH GALORE L. A. Eubanks missed his deer hunt this year, but he and Mrs. Eubanks more than made up for it on a fishing-duck hunting trip to the Gulf coast during the Thanksgiving holidays.

CONVICTED DOCTOR CHARGES FRAMEUP OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 28 (AP)—Charges of "frameup" and promises of a grand jury investigation today followed the conviction of Dr. Kent W. THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

SKELETON IN THE CLOSET Adam didn't speak for a minute, and I saw the dream fade reluctantly from his eyes. He shook his head, as if to rid himself of it completely, and when he spoke it was sadly, wistfully.

"There were no pulleys." A little sigh, like wind in the cornfield, admitted that we hadn't really believed it either. "It was just an idea," said Mrs. Flower modestly.

I saw Lou Orpington glance at her with grudging admiration. For it was a perfectly beautiful theory—infinite more satisfactory than Lou's own. In fact I wonder if the murderer, later, didn't suffer untold rage of spirit for not having thought of it first.

The telephone announced itself again. Adam's astonishing legs carried him to the library door in about three strides. Again that unabashed silence descended upon us. Again I held my breath to listen and was aware that others were holding theirs. But I, for one, could distinguish none of Adam's few words.

"I heard the shot fired," she said slowly and stopped. "You thought it was a backfire?" Adam prompted her.

"I thought it was a shot. There was a car passing, but it was no backfire. I've smelled burnt powder before." "Where did it seem to come from?" he asked eagerly.

"That's all right for you—you can sleep all day. But how about me?" her husband protested. "Afraid To Go Home" Shaw started for the kitchen, turned back and suggested weakly that Barney might like some coffee too.

"All of us," said Mary Shaw firmly, making no move to rise. "A man. He was all in white...." She paused, building up suspense. "In fact," she drawled, "I'm almost certain it was Charlie Spencer."

"You'd better spend the rest of the night with us, Mrs. Orpington," I heard Elizabeth say. "You won't want to be alone. And how about you, Mrs. Flower? Did your husband go home?"

"I really don't know," said that lady brightly. "Aren't you the least bit worried about him?" Lou Orpington asked curiously.

"Worried? Oh no! Flower's a very clever person. He can take care of himself...." "No, Lou, you come home with me," Mary Shaw decided. "I'll be scared to death when Phil goes to duty."

In the midst of the amiable argument Adam strode off to the library. I wasn't sure whether he wanted me or not, but I remembered concealing my notes under the stair rug and I followed to find them for him.

I gave them to him and he thanked me, then patted my hand in a suddenly fatherly fashion. "I wouldn't worry about Charlie if I were you," he said in a tone that matched the gesture. "I'm almost certain he has an alibi this time."

"I'm not worried about him," I said flatly. "If he did it he'll get less than he deserves. I hid his gun, but that was early in the evening. Anyhow, but I've had time to think things over and I'm not shielding any murderers."

"I don't think she did it," I finished defiantly. "Looking at her, you know she wouldn't do a deranged thing. But the fact remains that she could have done it, and you have as much right to that knowledge as I have...."

"I thought he looked rather pleased than otherwise." "Thank you for trusting me," he said with a nice smile. He inspected me benevolently for a minute. "How do you feel? Tired?"

"I nodded. "Much too tired to sleep. I'd like to stay on and help you, if it can be arranged." He tiptoed to the door, came back laughing quietly. "They're still here—afraid to go home in the dark."

He sobered quickly. "Not that I blame them.... I'll be very glad of your help. I'm waiting just now for the telephone. After that we'll go pay a visit to Charlie." I must have looked my surprise, but he did not explain. Instead he launched into a recital of his call from Chicago.

"Dead-end street again, I'm afraid. I got hold of one of the partners, all right—and the right one, by good luck. But there was very little he could tell me. He had never seen his client, and he was business was transacted by letter—the letters were mailed in Omaha, the checks were drawn on an Omaha bank, and all of the lawyer's correspondence was directed to Leslie Curtis, in care of the bank. Tell me, is Leslie a man's name or a woman's?"

"Either one, I think." "He nodded. "I asked him which it was, but he didn't know. He seemed to remember that the signature looked like a man's, then changed his mind and said it could have been a woman's. And, oddly enough, he couldn't recall a single reference in any letter as to the relationship between his client and the patient—father, mother, sister, brother, husband except, of course, that there was always referred to as Miss Curtis."

I stared at him. "That couldn't be all accidental," I suggested, not too brilliantly. "Someone has gone to a lot of trouble to conceal an unfortunate relative," he agreed gravely. "I tried to put myself in the place of that someone and failed completely. If it were Eileen, struggling against such a horrible infirmity...."

"Is it hereditary, Adam?" "I asked Doc that. He says they don't know. It's one of the few diseases—if it is a disease—about which the medical profession is still pretty much in the dark. Some so-called epileptic patients have been found to be suffering from varying forms of pressure on the brain. When the pressure was removed they lost the symptoms. Others were more mysterious. There seems to be a general idea that epilepsy is inherited and that there is apt to be insanity in the family—lawyers like to use such a history in basing a defense plea of insanity. But just what the relationship is, if any, medical authorities are reluctant to say."

"I shivered. "Then you think the—killer might be insane?" Adam spaced his words carefully. "I think the killer is someone a little too eager to keep the skeleton in the family closet."

The telephone was ringing again. Adam dashed for it, overturning a chair in his haste. "Hello—hello.... Yes. Yes, go ahead." His eyes, flaming eager, met mine over the silent instrument. "I put in a call to the president of that Omaha bank. It's just a chance—Hello—hello! What? What! Oh! Yes sir. Major Drew speaking."

"The flaming eagerness faded like a tropical sunset. He straightened, seemed to back away from the crackling instrument. His face was turning slowly crimson. (Copyright, 1933, Virginia Hanson) land Park (Dallas) clash. Gainesville is undefeated and untied and Highland Park has lost only one game. Comparative records show the two clubs evenly-matched.

Lubbock's Westerners, who finally unseated Amarillo in the Panhandle, face a tough customer in Vernon but have the advantage of already holding a non-conference victory over the Lions, although by only one touchdown.

Masonic Home's Iron men face the unbeaten Sunset Blasons in another feature game. The Masons, who have about 15 men on the squad, were beaten by Sherran in an upset non-conference struggle but otherwise have a fine record, including a 7-7 tie with the 1937 state runner-up Wichita Falls team that was pushed out of the race by Vernon.

Hold Edge Temple's wildcats, surprise conquerors of Waco's potent Tigers, apparently carry a slight edge over the Kerrville Antlers.

Corpus Christi, another unbeaten team, will be a heavy favorite to take out Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, which has lost two games and tied two.

Two district championships will be decided today. District committees have been called upon to select titlists where ties have resulted. Bowie (El Paso) and Odessa are deadlocked in District 4 and Conroe and John Reagan (Houston) are tied for the District 13 championship. Breckenridge meets the District 4 champion and Fort Arthur engages the District 13 representative in bi-district play this week.

Dates and sites for six bi-district games have been arranged. The other two await selection of champions in Districts 4 and 13.

The schedule:
 Friday afternoon—Lubbock at Vernon, Gainesville at Highland Park, Lufkin at Tyler; Friday night—Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Corpus Christi.

Saturday afternoon—Masonic Home vs. Sunset at Dallas, Temple vs. Kerrville at Austin.

Expresses Surprise Over Action of Holy Cross Grid Mentor

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 28 (AP)—Holy Cross athletic officials, awaiting a bid to one of the post-season "bowl" games, today expressed surprise over Dr. Eddie Anderson's resignation, presumably in favor of a $12,500 football coaching contract at the University of Iowa.

"Dr. Anderson notified me last night by telephone that he wished to resign," Athletic Director Thomas J. McCabe said. "He gave no reason for the move, which comes as a distinct shock to me. Of course I had read accounts in the newspapers during the past week about Anderson's rumored resignation but felt he would consult me before accepting such propositions as have been carried in the press."

FOREST FIRES

M. Stratton Is Victim Of A Gun Mishap

Baseball Career Of Young White Sox Star May Be Over

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP)—Four years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Largent, the couple who scout for the Chicago White Sox, got wind of a promising player buried in the mediocrity of the Red River Valley league down here in Texas.

Post-haste they went to Van Alstyne, host city that day for one of the league games.

The first peek at the player proved the tip was a bum steer. They were about to leave the park when Largent nudged his wife.

"Look," he whispered.

A stringbean pitcher was warming up for Van Alstyne. Two hundred pounds of flesh clung tightly to his bony frame which rose six feet, five inches in the air.

Something about his delivery struck the Largents. It was smooth, distinctive. It wasn't the delivery of a hick pitcher in a once-a-week semi-pro league.

The Van Alstyne manager didn't think much of the 21-year-oldster, for he was doing relief duty. The Largents didn't even see him pitch, but they signed him up anyway.

On the contract he scribbled "Monty Stratton."

Last night Largent waited outside a hospital door. Monty Stratton, who in the four short years since the Largents found him had risen to the number one place on the White Sox pitching staff, was behind the door, facing a possible amputation of his right leg because of a hunting accident.

Only 25 Years Old

That, of course, meant his baseball career was over. Four short years of minor and major league baseball. Only 25 years old, he had been the ace pitcher of the Sox for two years. Last year he won 15 games in spite of being out a month with an arm injury.

Stratton was returning alone from a rabbit hunt on his mother's farm near Greenville, about 90 miles from Dallas, yesterday, when a pistol in the scabbard at his side discharged. The bullet cut into his leg, severing the large vessel behind the knee.

He crawled almost to the house before one of his brothers saw him. When an emergency operation at a Greenville hospital failed to locate the bullet, he was rushed to Dallas.

Dr. A. R. Thomason, chief surgeon on the case, said it was "pretty certain" that Stratton would lose his leg.

Last night the young hurler was given a blood transfusion, and Dr. Thomason said the operation, if performed, would be made within 48 hours.

The accident was a shock to

GARDEN CITY TO BE HOST TO HOUSE OF DAVID, RED HEADS

GARDEN CITY, Nov. 28—Coach Hershell Wheeler was to greet the basketball candidates for the 1938-39 season at Garden City this week. A strong team was expected to be moulded from the remnants of last year's aggregation.

N. P. Taylor, superintendent, announced that the House of David cagers, a traveling troupe which showed here last winter, would appear against a local team here Dec. 31. Taylor said that the Oilton Red Heads, a girls' aggregation, would also show in Garden City Jan. 10-11.

An arrangement with Howard Payne college officials will bring the Yellow Jacket cagers to Garden City Dec. 16 and 17.

White Sox officials, who had counted on Stratton for a good year next season, Harry Grabner, secretary, said in Chicago.

"It was most unfortunate, for Monty was one of the best pitchers in the American League. But baseball is secondary now. Our concern is about his health. We are all hoping nothing more serious develops."

Before the council met, informal comment among several of its members indicated the bid would be accepted and Dean S. P. Nanninga, council chairman, said acceptance was probable.

An opponent for the host team is yet to be selected. Most prominently discussed have been Western Reserve, Georgetown and Boston college.

SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING (FIFTH SERIES)

Prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education, Advertising Federation of America

More For Your Money

Money is important only for what you can buy with it. What you buy is important only for the satisfaction it gives you. And greater satisfaction is the only thing that is important in getting more for your money.

That is why the service of advertising is so helpful. Merchants and manufacturers advertise primarily to sell their goods, but in the long run no advertising can be successful unless it helps the consumer to get more for his money. The most important business job that each of us has to do, next to earning an income, is to buy the best possible living which that income can afford.

Without this modern high-speed marketing machinery Fords, Chevrolets, and Chrysler automobiles would cost much more because fewer would be made. The same is true of fountain pens, radio sets, and frozen foods, all of which owe their wide distribution to advertising. Thus advertising, with all its helpful information, costs the consumer nothing, and brings many articles within reach of the common man's purse.

Advertising has also put identifying trade-marks on food, clothing, and nearly everything else you buy, standardizing the product of each advertiser. If you like a certain brand you buy it again, and if you don't like it you avoid it—the trade-mark tells the tale and advertising puts the trade-mark on the goods. If you want to know what you're getting you buy a well-advertised product, made by a manufacturer in whom you have confidence.

Because there is so much advertising in this country, we are the best-informed people in the world on what there is to buy and where to buy it. Because advertising is an economical salesman, we can buy things cheaper and the country is more prosperous. Because advertising identifies products, we can buy with greater confidence in their quality.

Advertising is one of our greatest helpers in the important problem of getting more for our money.

Wherever we go, at any time of day or night, we constantly see and hear many kinds of advertising. On all sides, industry offers its wares, presenting an enormous show window of everything that money can buy. Nothing is overlooked. Beans, movies, garters, automobiles, oranges, refrigerators, fishing poles, asphalt paving, and correspondence courses. You decide what you want and spend your money accordingly. Advertising gives you a world's fair in motion, a continuous parade of merchandise. The more you see of it the more you know about the world's goods and the better you know how to make your material life a happy one.

By serving the interests of consumers everywhere, advertising does a very important job for industry. It is the only means by which the huge quantity of goods produced today can rapidly be moved to market. Advertising is the most economical and most

Envoys

Paris, and the envoy to Rome, Williams Phillips, who is home on leave, said they had a most enjoyable meeting with the president last night.

Beyond that they refused to talk for publication as they left the "Little White House" in the frigid atmosphere to be overnight guests of Will Moore of New York, veteran infantile patient at the Warm Springs Foundation.

Before the conference officials repeated that Mr. Roosevelt was not only concerned with economic and physical measures against Jews in Germany, but he was just as anxious over the fate of Catholics and Protestant minorities there and in other countries.

It was generally believed, therefore, that this was made plain to the envoys to the totalitarian states, and that the conference also touched on the progress of efforts to find havens for minorities fleeing from oppressive tactics.

Red Cross Drive Is Near Its Goal

The Red Cross moved nearer its goal today with additional contributions coming into the chapter headquarters.

Shine Phillips, chapter chairman, said that the chapter lacked $290, and that perhaps another $50 was due from one concern which normally makes a sizeable contribution.

Three $5 gifts from individuals and concerns previously reported 100 per cent were on hand. They were from Max Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greene and Empire Southern Service Co.

Other firms reported 100 per cent were Keisinger Motor Co., Elliott Ritz Drugs, Taylor Emerson Co., Figgly Wigly, Home Bakery, Reucan and Smith Insurance Agency, Smith and McDonald, County Agent's office, Folsom School, Rockwell Lumber Co., Westex Oil Co., Banner Creamery, and Settles Hotel.

Phillips urged others to take out their memberships so that the drive could be closed out this week.

Traffic Death Toll Lighter

Hunting And Home Accidents Take More Casualties

By The Associated Press

Hunting and home accidents exceeded traffic accidents as hazards to life and limb in Texas during the weekend.

Although post-holiday movements and major football games brought a heavy volume of travel, only three traffic fatalities were reported Sunday.

Miss Nannie Standifer, 24, of Denison, was killed when a rear tire of an automobile in which she was riding blew out and the car overturned. C. B. Moore, 45, of Garrison, was killed as a car crashed into a culvert. Ben L. Pillow, 60, was injured fatally when he was hit by an automobile as he walked in front of his home.

Monty Stratton, 25, ace pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, suffered an accidental bullet wound in his right leg while he was hunting rabbits on his mother's farm near Greenville. He may lose his leg. Fred W. Brown, 29, of Dallas, suffered loss of blood and shotgun pellets in the right leg when a gun was discharged accidentally while he was hunting with two companions.

Mrs. Lula Hall, 65, near Temple, died of burns. Her night clothes caught fire as she stood near a stove. Dave Blackburn, about 65, burned to death in a fire which gutted a three-story untenanted building in Galveston.

Gas asphyxiation killed William Ferguson, 22, student at Texas Technological college, Lubbock. He was found dead in his apartment.

Miss Mary Bullard was burned slightly when a fire, blamed on a gas explosion, destroyed a clinic at Hughes Springs, Cass county. Four Dallas residents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto O. Switzer and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Porter, suffered burns about the face and hands when fire, believed to have been started by a gas explosion, destroyed a tourist cottage office.

measures be taken. In August, he made a detailed inspection of the canal fortifications en route home from a Pacific fishing trip.

Military authorities said that during 1938 the army and navy have dispatched men, guns, planes and warships to make the 30-mile channel between the Atlantic and Pacific stronger than ever.

Woodring told the president it must be made even safer.

"Sudden war would find the troops in the Panama Canal department in an especially precarious position," he reported.

Woodring also recommended augmented war stores and full equipment for the army and national guard, which together form the "initial protective force" of 400,000 men in the war department's defense scheme.

Anticipating a White House recommendation to congress that the army air corps be enlarged quickly, the secretary advised that extension of the existing mobile general headquarters air force "now appears essential."

Senator Clark expressed in an interview his personal opposition to a large part of "this talk about the need for more national defense." He charged that militarists and "super-navy" groups were using "war hysteria as a cover for another pump priming program designed to aid heavy industry."

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Thompson and daughter of Coahoma have returned from Stephenville where they visited relatives during the holiday season.

ISSUES WARNING ON CURTAIN 'RACKET'

Common school districts were warned Monday against dealing with unauthorized "curtain" salesmen.

Acting on complaints from the Moore district where patrons said promises were unfulfilled after money was collected, County Superintendent Anne Martin suggested Big Spring firms withhold contributions to any concern which did not seek approval at that office.

Miss Martin said that experience of the past few years had shown her that in most cases merchants were wasting money on certain advertisements to irresponsible solicitors.

Executive board of the Buffalo Trail council will hold its regular quarterly session at the Settles at 7:30 p. m. today, Jack Penrose, field executive, reminded scouts.

He said that local scoutmasters and troop committeemen were urged to participate in the meeting. Charles Paxton, council president, and Al Stiles, area executive, will head a delegation from Sweetwater. Others were expected from Midland.

Expansion Of Arms Urged For Japan

Official Says Nation Must Prepare For War On Two Fronts

TOKYO, Nov. 28 (AP)—Declaring the United States does not recognize "the changed situation in the Far East" and that a "Soviet-Japanese conflict apparently is inevitable," Lt. Gen. Eiki Tojo, minister of war, urged upon munitions workers today a rapid expansion of arms industries.

General Tojo and Lt. Gen. Seishiro Itasaki, war minister, addressed leading armaments makers summoned to Tokyo to hear the government explanation of the necessity for expansion and for full invocation of the national mobilization law—which has been invoked partially and which gives sweeping authority to the government in emergency.

"Japan must have sufficient armaments to fight a vast war on two fronts," General Tojo said. "There is every possibility Russia and China may band together as soon as the Soviet completes preparations."

"There is no doubt that the Soviet is hastily replenishing heavy industries and bolstering armaments in preparation for a Soviet-Japanese conflict that apparently is inevitable."

He charged Great Britain was concealing enmity toward Japan and said "occasional gestures of friendship should be interpreted merely as protecting British rights and interests. They mean nothing."

While the United States attitude was neutral, he contended, "I must call attention to the fact that the United States government is sticking to old treaties and is unwilling to recognize the changed situation in the Far East."

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Late buying came into the stock market today and chopped down extreme losses running to 3 or more points.

Steels and motors led the forenoon retreat of the industrials. Utilities held fairly well for a time, but some of these eventually weakened. Rails were rather resistant throughout, although the majority remained behind minus signs.

Dealings were slow the greater part of the day, but volume picked up at intervals. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Livestock

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP)—Although approximately 9,000 head of livestock came into the union stockyards today, trading remained at a standstill. Most of the receipts were billed direct to packers but some were quartered in the yards which were bottled up by the week-old strike of CIO handlers.

The run included 5,000 hogs, of which 3,500 went direct, 2,000 cattle, 200 calves and 2,000 sheep. About 500 hogs were left over from Saturday.

Indications that some livestock marketings are being diverted to other processing centers pending settlement of the strike here appeared in receipts at outside markets. Total hog receipts in western markets were about 28 per cent larger than a week ago and 100 per cent larger than a year ago.

Split-Tax Payment Due By Wednesday

Taxpayers who wish to avail themselves of the semi-annual payment plan have until Wednesday evening to take advantage of the split payment which will defer the last half of taxes until the middle of next year.

On current taxes, where the initial half is paid not later than November 30, the payer has until June 30, 1939, to pay the second half without going delinquent.

At noon Monday the county tax collector's office had a total of $22,393.88 collected under the plan. Full payments on current taxes ran collections to around $50,000. The city also is accepting first half payments and is getting a response from some of the larger taxpayers. The school district, which does not offer the half-and-half plan, will maintain its two per cent discount through Wednesday, then drop to one per cent discount for December payments.

Pleads Guilty In Fatal Hwy. Accident

Lubbock Man Given Five-Year Suspended Sentence

One criminal case, on a plea of guilty, went to trial in the 70th district court Monday as the last week of the concluding term of the year opened.

J. R. Malone, Lubbock, was given a five-year suspended sentence by the court on his plea of guilty to a charge of murder while in the commission of a felony, namely driving while intoxicated.

The charge was an outgrowth of an accident west of here last June in which Ila Mae Wooten was fatally injured. Sam McCombs, highway maintenance superintendent; L. P. McCaslin, state highway patrolman, and Byron Housewright, mortician, were state witnesses. Malone testified in his own behalf.

In assessing the sentence, Judge Charles Klapproth called attention to the fact that "this is the maximum penalty, and it is a serious offense." Malone's driving license was suspended for a period of six months.

The court refused to accept a plea of guilty from Newman Bowman, charged with theft of a car from L. M. Cunningham in September. Bowman, who had entered the guilty plea, said that he did not remember anything about the alleged theft when Judge Klapproth reminded him that 10 years in prison would be the least he could sentence him due to a suspended sentence placed on Bowman in Ector county in 1935. His case was reset for Friday morning.

Likewise, Joel W. Bixton, charged in two cases of driving while intoxicated, withdrew a plea of guilty and decided to take his case to a jury Wednesday morning.

NO ACTION SEEN TO DECREASE RECORD BANK RESERVES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Federal reserve board experts predicted today that fear of upsetting business improvement would prevent any early action to decrease the unprecedented volume of idle funds in the nation's banks.

Last week the banks' excess reserves—cash available for lending and investment which it exceeds the portion of deposits which by law must be set aside to protect depositors—reached the record high total of $3,350,000,000, enough to finance $25,000,000,000 worth of credit.

Dies Seeking More Funds

Another $200,000 Sought To Continue Un-American Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Rep. Dies (D-Tex) said today he would ask the new house to appropriate $200,000 to continue for two years his committee's investigation of Un-American activities.

The committee originally received $25,000, and Dies has said it would be unable to study numerous phases of its subject unless additional funds are provided.

He made public a letter asking Secretary of State Hull to request justice department prosecution of the communist party, the German-American Bund and other groups for alleged violation of the law requiring agents of foreign principals to register here.

Dies asserted that testimony before his committee clearly shows the communist party in this country to be an agent of the communist third international and indicated that the League for Peace and Democracy, the International Labor Defense, the Civil Liberties Union and other groups had similar ties with Moscow.

Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party in the United States, described Dies in an interview here yesterday as the communists' best recruiting agent, declaring his committee had given the party $9,500,000 worth of free publicity.

Later, in an address commemorating the Soviet Union's 21st anniversary, Browder advocated a Washington-Moscow axis to offset the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact. Touching on the United States' defense program, he said that communists, although traditionally opposed to armaments, would support the program "if it is used to stop fascism."
