Report of Resolution Committee
We, your committee on resolutions submit the following reasons why we voters should cast their votes for Charles A. Culberson for reelection to the United States Senate.

First, BECAUSE—
He is a true and tried democrat, as always been found on the firing line of the Democratic Party, and in harmony with and upholding the present Democratic Administration.

Second BECAUSE—
He has been and is supporting our President in these strenuous times, and this presidential year, when every democrat should show his colors and assist in every way the great constructive statesman, Woodrow Wilson.

Third BECAUSE—
His long public service has been a well directed endeavor for the good of all our people, and his achievements such as to equip him in every way and to make him one of the most influential senators who ever represented Texas, and for the best interests of all he should be continued the United States Senate.

Fourth BECAUSE—
He is the friend of all classes. Too big to be influenced against his convictions when he believes that conviction to be for the right, and yet ready and willing at all times to give a patient hearing to his constituents upon any measure presented.

Fifth BECAUSE—
His record since his advent as a public servant, both State and National, has always been in the interest of the laborer, whenever and wherever he has been called upon to act. His great ability and his wide influence have been thrown to the benefit of the man who makes his living by the sweat of his brow. He it was who said, "The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce" and this sentence at his

FARMERS' IN SESSION STATE UNION MEETS

Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of Texas Holding Annual State Meeting.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 8.—The fourteenth annual session of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union convened in the Beach auditorium here today, with approximately 1500 delegates representing every county in the state in attendance.

This is the second consecutive time that the annual convention has been held, Houston being selected last year for the meeting.

President H. N. Pope is presiding, and following the organization meeting held this morning, some of the most important questions confronting the Texas farmers today will be acted upon. Chief among these are the financing and marketing of the cotton crop and the building of bonded warehouses for the storing of cotton. The union has been striving for years to secure some governmental action on these important matters, and the present convention finds them elated at the success of their efforts as both the national and state governments have recognized their demands for cooperation.

The session will continue through today, Wednesday and Thursday. Executive officers, including president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, general organizer, conductor chaplain, door keeper, and five members of the executive committee will be elected before adjournment.

LUBBOCK AUTOMOBILE RACES

Pierce Arrow is Second in The One Hundred Fifty Mile Event at Lubbock.

Lubbock, Aug. 5.—Tony Workman piloted his big white Hudson Super Six around the Lubbock race course for its third victory in as many days, taking the 150 mile race, the feature event of the entire meet. A Pierce Arrow with Hubbard finished second and Armstrong's Hudson, third. The time was 2:15.

A feature of the day was a moving picture taken of the more than 1,000 cars in attendance as they promaded around the track.

A suggestion was embodied in labor legislation.

Sixth BECAUSE—
His work on the Anti-Trust Bill deserve unstinted praise. Read what President Wilson thinks of him: The White House

Washington, September 10 1914
My Dear Senator:

"May I not have the privilege of expressing my admiration of the way in which you have handled the trust bills? I read your report with genuine admiration, and it has been the greatest comfort to me to feel that the whole matter was in such hands from beginning to end.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

(Signed) Woodrow Wilson
Hon. Charles A. Culberson,
United States Senator."

In addition to the above your committee appeals to the voters of Hall County to come out and cast their ballot on Saturday, August 26th, 1916 the date of the primary election to determine the nominee for the United States Senate.

PIONEER CITIZEN PANHANDLE DEAD

E. L. Biggerstaff, Pioneer and Prominent Panhandle Business Man Dies in Kentucky.

Word was received in Childress Monday that E. L. Biggerstaff had died that afternoon at 3:30 in Franklin Kentucky. Mr. Biggerstaff with his wife and little daughter, Kate, left about three weeks ago for a visit to their native home and state. Mr. Biggerstaff became ill a day or two after reaching Franklin and an operation was performed, but did not seem to relieve him. Sunday a telegram came announcing that he was no expected to live. His son, Junior, and Mr. Jim Mitchell left that night, but Mr. Biggerstaff died before they reached him.

His body will be brought here for burial. The company will doubtless arrive Friday, the nothing definite can be learned, since Mrs. Biggerstaff and daughter awaited Junior's and Mr. Mitchell's arrival before starting home.

The deceased was a very prominent business man of Childress. For many years he has been in the furniture business here, and under his direction the establishment has grown wonderfully. He was a prominent member of the school board, serving as secretary for the last several years. He has always taken an active part in church work, being a member of the Christian Church. He will always be remembered for his straightforward Christian life, which has been an inspiration and model for others. Not only will the immediate family sustain a loss in him, but the whole community will miss his unobtrusive influence and weighty opinions.—Childress Post.

STATE CONVENTION VERY MILD AFFAIR

Democratic Convention at Houston Dominated by Ferguson Crowd. Little Excitement.

The state democratic convention now in session at Houston is dominated by the friends of Governor Ferguson, who have something like two votes to their opponents one.

A resolution incorporating a plank instructing the state legislature to pass a prohibition amendment resolution, was lost by a vote of 524 1-4 to 299 1-4.

The platform of the Democratic party, as reported by the committee on platform and resolutions, provides for the general indorsement of the national Democratic administration and a specific indorsement of President Wilson's Mexican policy. Governor Ferguson also was given both general and special indorsement. Submission or prohibition were not mentioned.

Mrs. Laura Edmonson Dead.

Mrs. Laura Edmonson, died here this morning at 9:00 o'clock; and will be buried this afternoon at the Estelline cemetery. Funeral to be held at the Methodist church at Estelline at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Edmonson was afflicted with cancer and has been a long and patient sufferer.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the two orphaned children and other relatives.

TAKE THREE STRAIGHTS FROM ELECTRA AT HOME. GOOD ATTENDANCE, AND GOOD PLAYING.

THREE DAYS AT BURKBURNETT

Loss One and Win Two at Burk Burnett. Today, Tomorrow and Saturday at Electra.

The White Sox played three games last week with Electra at Panther Park. The first they took by a score of 3 to 1. The second was strongly contested by the visitors and twelve innings were necessary for a decision, the score was 6 to 5. Saturday the 3 to 1 score was repeated. The visitors, though they failed to win a game, were good players and the games were all interesting and attracted good crowds.

Monday the Memphis boys went down to Burk Burnett where they played three games winning the first two by scores of 4 to 2 and 12 to 2 respectively. The last game went to Burk Burnett by a score of 6 to 4.

From Burk Burnett they went to Electra today and will play there the next three days.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building- tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

An Historic Fainting Spell.

In the Mexican war Brigadier General Franklin Pierce of New Hampshire fainted while in action from the pain of an injury sustained when his horse fell on him. This incident—this unmanly fainting at a time when other people were getting killed—was used unmercifully to make Pierce a target for ridicule in later years when he ran for the presidency.—Hartford Times.

Love's Ordeal

By ALVAH GARTH

(Copyright, 1918, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Don't do it, Althea." "I shall."

The first speaker shrugged her shoulders daintily.

"As you will, my love," she said, "but I am older than you and more experienced. It is nonsense to say that Roscoe Blinn is not in love with you, devotedly, desperately."

"He doesn't show it, then!" flamed out Althea Kendall. "Only four weeks ago we arranged for four engagements during the next two weeks. I waited hours and hours Tuesday, ready dressed for the Merrivale reception. When it was half over I received a phone message, brief and indifferent, it seemed to me, bearing his apologies. An unavoidable circumstance had detained him, he telephoned!"

"Well, then—"

"The next day, not himself, but a friend of his called me up. He said that Mr. Blinn had requested him to tell me that he must postpone the Thursday engagement. That settles it!"

"And you are going to write him—"

"Cancelling all the other engagements, and advising him that tomorrow I am going on the western two months' trip with the Demings. I had given that up on his account. Now, see the result of my sacrifice!"

"Still, I wouldn't send the letter," advised Althea's friend.

"There, That Will Do," She Decided.

"I shall send it. I am mad all through! I shall never speak to Mr. Blinn again."

"You mean Roscoe, dear?"

"I don't. Oh, if he dares to ever approach me again!" and there Althea broke down, the tears came, and she ran into the house precipitately, leaving her friend without warning, and had a good cry.

"Oh, it was shameful!" she told herself, when vexation and the womanly caprice of feeling abused succeeded to the first outburst. True, they were not engaged—true, further, he had spoken no word of love, but for nearly a month she and Roscoe Blinn had mutually realized that they loved one another. Even to observing outsiders this had become unmistakable.

Althea sat down with great deliberation. She felt herself as hard as steel and immovable as marble. Half a dozen times she wrote and tore up a note, formal in its tone, then cutting, then fairly cruel.

"There, that will do," she decided, with flashing eyes, but dewy, and her pretty lips set firmly, but quivering. "Oh, it's all over—the beautiful, beautiful dream!" she wailed, and threw herself face down on the couch—and wept again as though her tender but rebellious heart would break.

Then came gloom, it might be called desperation. She felt herself to be a somber executioner of love. She did not read the note of dismissal, disdain and severity again. She sealed it, addressed it, affixed a stamp, put on her wraps and left the house like some heroine going to her doom.

It was at a busy corner that Althea came across the first mail box. How her heart fluttered as she opened the slot of the iron receptacle and held the fatal missive poised. Even there she debated.

"I—I believe I'll wait till morning. Then I will be gone, before he knows of my plans," she cheated herself into saying.

"Beg pardon, miss."

But Althea only uttered a little cry of concern and dismay, as a man hurrying for a car jostled against her. He had vanished by the time she had fairly realized that the letter had slipped from her fingers into the box.

"I—I wish I hadn't!" she gasped. "Oh, dear!"

She stood there, her troubled pose attracting the attention of passers-by. She became conscious of this, and, embarrassed, crossed the pavement to the shelter of an overhang in the wall of the nearest building.

some new energy and interest in life.

"My old friends had programmed a sort of a reception for me in the town," reported Rufe, after a pleasant evening with the little ones, "but I shut them off on the happy water end of it. Now then, friends—for you are that—I've got some business to talk over with you. I was a good deal surprised when I got inquiring around, to find that the Golden Hope mine had petered out."

"Yes, two years ago," nodded Ward. "The vein ran short—not until they had taken out a little fortune, though."

"So I hear," said Rufe, "and I found the runway going to ruin and the stamp mill rusted and broken. Do you know that the old owner of the mine offered it to me for a thousand dollars?"

"I know it's gone begging, and no one would touch it at any figure," remarked Ward.

"Well, I'm going to buy it," announced Rufe. "Don't think I've gone out of my senses," he added. "Will you stake me?"

"You mean, will I loan you a thousand dollars?"

"Just that."

"Rose, bring my bank book," directed Ward, without a moment's hesitation.

"Not so fast, dear old partner!" interrupted Rufe. "The money will do tomorrow. I want you to help me—will you do it?"

"You mean work with you?"

"Yes."

"Rufe, old friend," spoke Ward. "I wouldn't give five cents for the Golden Hope. You're buying it for a thousand dollars. I never knew you to make a miss in the mining game. I don't know your plan, but I do know that you know your business. Use me. With you for the leader, I follow."

"Thank you, Ward," replied Rufe with palpable emotion—"you shan't miss it."

The Golden Hope mine was located out of the traversed trails. For a solid month every day, quietly and keeping their own counsel, Rufe and Ward visited the abandoned digging. Every day Rose brought them their dinner. What a new glorious life—what a mighty throbbing secret those three talked over, worked over, dreamed over! And every new day two ardent hearts understood one another better and better. At the end of the week Rufe Glidden drove out of town with a hired wagon and two horses. He returned, with a cover over the heaped-up wagon box, in front of the assay office. A crowd gathered. The rumor spread like wildfire that Rufe Glidden had found a giant pocket of pure gold at the old mine.

"It's gold, boys," he admitted buoyantly, "but it came from no pocket. Why, you stupid galoots! it's been lying before your eyes in the clear open ever since the Golden Hope closed down."

And then he explained:

"You see, the careless old workers let grease drop onto the quicksilver plate, and the corrugations let about as much gold slip into the tallings as they really got. We've simply worked the dump—and panned it, pound by pound. If we don't get a clear fifty thousand dollars out of the clean-up, I'm a tenderfoot!"

He was a tender lover to Rose, and that was all of his life, and he went back to the States her proud, loyal husband.

"The treasure we found in the Golden Hope," explained John Ward, when he showed his new neighbors a minted bar of the products of the tallings of the abandoned mine.

"The treasure worth more than all the wealth the Golden Hope ever held!" added Rufe Glidden, his arm encircling bonny, contented Rose.

HELP THE EGYPTIAN WOMEN

Christian Missionaries Are Doing a Wonderful Work in the Country of the Pharaohs.

For the girls of Egypt the schools open the door into a wider and brighter world. But this is not possible for the women in the homes; hence the gospel message must be brought to them. And this is being done by the lady missionaries, married and unmarried, and by the more than fifty Egyptian and Syrian Bible women under their direction, who go from house to house, teach the women to read the gospel, give a simple message suited to the understanding of the women, or conduct simple prayer meetings, and in every way possible try to reach their hearts with the message of salvation. The wives of the Egyptian pastors, and the teachers in the girls' schools, are also doing a good work for the women in the various congregations. The doctors and nurses in the hospitals of the mission are doing much to alleviate the physical sufferings of the women and at the same time instruct them in the Bible. Weekly prayer meetings and monthly missionary meetings furnish instruction and training in Christian work for the women of the church. In these various ways faithful effort is being made for the salvation and uplift of the women of Egypt.—Rev. C. C. Adama.

Nice Distinction.

Bert, who was fond of a young man who was home on his vacation from a medical college, injured his hand quite severely, and his mother told him to go over and let Jack—the student—look at it. The little fellow said: "Shall I call him doctor, or just Jack?" Then quickly he added: "Oh, I know; if he has on his old clothes I'll say Jack, but if he has on his good clothes and is all fixed up, then I'll say doctor."

THIS IS THE SEASON FOR SILK FROCKS

They Fill Many a Gap When Summer Cottons Show Signs of Wear.

Taftetas Among the Most Popular

No doubt, most of us are feeling that our summer wardrobes are beginning to look a little the worse for wear. It is invariably the case when August comes! The dainty voiles and organdies that were so crisp and fresh at the beginning of June and July when we started the season with them, are looking limp and faded since they have been pressed into service through the warm weather.

Dress of Checked Taffeta

While it may seem rather late in the season to start getting new summer things, just now the stores are full of wonderful bargains in dainty summer frocks, and this is the opportunity for those who have to be economical. Lovely dresses and blouses in waffles, flens, crepes and other sheer fabrics can be picked up for a song, as the saying goes, and it is well worth getting them for the remainder of the season.

But you will make no mistake in having one of the simple silk dresses that are so much in vogue. They are wonderful for filling in the gap between the seasons—and not only that, they are going to be very good for fall. They will be quite comfortable with a top coat, if the weather demands it or with a fur cape or scarf. The warm weather has not at all dampened the enthusiasm for fur capes and scarfs. It is such a common sight to see them worn on days when the mercury rises to great heights that one almost feels that one has been laboring under a delusion all along to believe that furs could be anything but cool.

Tafteta the Leading Silk

By far the most popular silks for dresses just now are the taftetas. They are especially smart in self tones and in the many striped, checked and blocked effects seen. Navy blue and the rich dark tones predominate. In some very striking designs both check and stripes are combined. Following in the lead of tafteta are messaline, faille, figured and dotted foulard, crepe de Chine, silk voile, chiffon crepe and Georgette crepe.

A Good Thing For Children

Foley's Honey and Tar is a particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort.—Fickas Drug Company.

Housing Farm Implements

Texas farmers have been lectured many years on the subject of protecting farm implements from weather. Director Youngblood, of the Texas Experiment Station, after a careful investigation, says many mistakes have been made by farmers in building such sheds. "An implement

The two illustrations shown here are typical of the simplicity of the present styles. The dress of checked taffeta has a gored skirt with panel front and back, and of course, it would not be complete without the large patch pockets on either side of the front, for pockets are as popular as ever in spite of their having been in fashion so long. In the waist the panel gradually tapers toward the neck, where it is met by a collar of Georgette crepe, with ripples at the back though the front is quite flat. Chiffon, net or organdy is often substituted for Georgette crepe in fashioning collars for this type of dress. The only trimming in this model is seen in the buttons on either side of the panel. The color harmonizes with the dress.

That the vogue for combining plain and figured materials has not by any means diminished, is shown in the dress of plain and figured foulard recently seen on the avenue. It is trimmed with ribbon arranged in bands on the underskirt and cuffs, and in plaiting which finishes the neck and hem. Not the gathered pockets and the strait tunic plaited at the top. These are two prominent style features of the season. This model is one which at first sight may seem intricate, but on closer inspection one discovers that the novel touches which make it so very chic are, in reality, easily carried out.

Parasols and Sport Clothes

At all fashionable resorts, parasols of bright hues and fancy shapes are strongly in evidence. They are in all colors, both in self tones and in effective combinations of two harmonizing colors. One of the novelties which has been taken up is the Japanese parasol with its many colorings harmoniously blended.

Sport clothes continue to be largely featured. The craze for silk sweaters keeps steadily on the increase. Gold, bright green, blue, old rose and gray are among the most popular colors. The sweater as a rule is in some gay color, and hat and stockings to match enhance the charm. Smocks and middy blouses are now made not only of flens and heavy cottons, but are very frequently developed in taffeta and crepe de Chine also silk and wool jersey cloth. The smock of taffeta worn with a jersey skirt is one of the latest combinations shed", says Mr. Youngblood, "should not be expensive. Whenever it is so large and expensive that depreciation becomes as great as the amount saved by housing the implements, the investment comes to naught." With that idea in mind, Director Youngblood has prepared a set of plans and specifications of an implement shed which meets the condition named. Copies may be had by writing to Director Youngblood, College Station, Texas, and asking for Circular No. 10, New Series.

SOME FAMOUS CANVASSES AT STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

Alex Sanger

One of the most interesting features of the great State Fair of Texas, and from an educational viewpoint, one of the most valuable, is the Art Loan Collection annually exhibited in the Fine Arts Building. Alex Sanger, director in charge of the Fair's Fine Arts and Textile Department, states that the Art Loan Collection to be shown this year, will include a great number of very famous canvases, representing the work of a majority of the best contemporary American artists. The celebrated Texas artist, Julian Onderdonk, who is acting as the Fair's Special Art Representative, has just returned from the East, where he visited many of the most famous studios and completed arrangements for the various specimens to be shown in the Art Loan Collection this fall. Mr. Onderdonk is very emphatic in the assertion that the collection secured this year is of the very highest class, and one that will be thoroughly appreciated by Southwestern lovers of art.

Mr. Sanger makes the further announcement that entries in the Textile Department, in which are shown all phases of woman's work, are coming in in unprecedented numbers, and that there is every reason to believe that the exhibits in this department this fall will be much larger than formerly.

What is true of the Textiles, is equally true of all other departments and divisions of the Fair, and there seems to be no reason to doubt that the 1916 exposition will be much the largest ever held in Texas.

MANY EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS AT TEXAS STATE FAIR

W. I. Yopp

A feature of the State Fair of Texas which possesses great educational value, and one which, last year, was of intense interest to thousands of Fair visitors, is the Better Babies Contest designed for the purpose of creating a higher standard of health for Texas babies. W. I. Yopp, director in charge of the State Fair's Department of Colleges and Schools, in which the management of the Better Babies Contest is vested, states that complete arrangements have been concluded during the past year to conduct this contest with better facilities than prevailed last year. A handsome and convenient auditorium has been constructed for the purpose in the State Fair's beautiful Hospital building, and this Auditorium will be provided with the best of modern equipment.

Mr. Yopp states that a great deal of interest has been aroused throughout the State by the preliminary announcements of this contest, and that present indications point to a very large number of entries.

It is also announced that a majority of the State's larger educational institutions are preparing large exhibits. The University of Texas, State Agricultural and Mechanical College, Prairie View Normal, College of Industrial Arts, Southwestern University and others have already made application for space, and it is expected that several others will be in line by September 1. Mr. Yopp predicts an unusually big year in the educational division.

COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR OF INTEREST

Louis Lipsitz

The tremendous advantage of exhibiting before the hundreds of thousands of Fair visitors, are sending in their requests for space this year unusually early, and Mr. Lipsitz states that the displays made this year will be of the most ambitious nature.

Many of the large retail stores of Texas will conduct individual fashion displays at the Fair, and some of the most artistic creations of the year are expected to be shown. In the commercial exhibits division there will likewise be shown big and interesting displays of modern furniture, stoves, pianos and all the other conveniences, comforts and luxuries of our present day civilization.

Those desiring to exhibit in this division are requested to announce their entries at an early date, as the available space is limited, and the Fair management desires to know, in advance, just what arrangements will be necessary to provide suitably for all exhibitors. Inquiries should be addressed to Mr. W. H. Stratton, Secretary State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Texas.

While in Washington we saw Senator Culberson in the senate chamber. We were really shocked at the feeble condition of the man. He is as white haired as a centurion and is palsied to a degree which almost prevents his getting about. His hands, when he does not grasp something to steady them, will jerk continually as much as a foot; and he can scarcely walk about the senate. The fact is we never saw a man so badly palsied in all of life. He should be retired to rest and his friends are not favoring him when they insist otherwise.—Senator W. A. Johnson, in Hall County Herald, July 8, 1916.

An article published by Home and State and reproduced (with silent approval) by the Hall County Herald, says:

"Colquitt's vote consisted of the three elements, the German vote who are opposed to President Wilson and his foreign policies, some good American citizens mainly on the international border who have a narrow and incorrect view of our relation to Mexico and the proper course to be pursued in handling the Mexican problem, and the lower stratum of saloon men."

Colquitt carried this county by a plurality of over 150 votes, over Campbell, his closest opponent. In spite of the fact that this county voted over five to one in favor of prohibition and that an attempt was made to make prohibition an issue by local supporters of Campbell, more than one-third of the votes cast went to Colquitt, although he had five opponents. There are no saloon men, of any stratum, in Hall county and probably not more than a dozen German voters. The Colquitt supporters in this county are mostly farmers; and the farmers of this county are among its most progressive intelligent and best informed citizens. As a class they are quite as well, and perhaps better, informed on public matters than either the merchants or professional men. To put them in the same class with such American citizens as those described as "mainly on the international border," or with the "lower stratum of saloon men," is slander and libel; and such false statements and abuse will get few votes for the anti saloon organ and its me-too followers.

Poor Judgment.
"It was a pity to let the maid overbear us quarrel."

"I have rectified that by discharging her."

"That was a mistake. She is smart enough to take the whole story to somebody in our set and get a good job on the strength of it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Uncle Sam Plans to Extend Service Which Was Started as Experiment.

DAILY REPORT AVAILABLE

Information Disseminated Regarding Conditions at Buying Centers, Movement of Cars, Prices Offered and Condition of Products.

Uncle Sam made such a success of the experimental market news service which he inaugurated in 1915 that he is extending it to cover many other perishable crops. In 1915 the government only attempted to disseminate market information regarding four crops but plans are being made to perform the same service for the producers of 16 different crops. One of the latest steps has been the inauguration of such a service for the Texas Bermuda onion crop.

The work was begun in 1915 with the dissemination of data on the strawberry, cantaloupe, tomato and peach crops. This service will be continued and it will be extended to other crops as rapidly as possible.

Reports From Three Sources. The market news service of the department is based on three different types of reports: First, those from railroads in the producing sections; second, reports secured from large consuming markets; and, third, in some cases local reports secured in the producing sections. All the reports provide data from which daily estimates may be made regarding the probable movement of cars, destination of cars, etc.

The information secured in these three ways is telegraphed to the office of markets in Washington and there analyzed and condensed into summaries. These summaries are telegraphed to the agents of the office in the producing and marketing centers and by them made available to those locally interested. In addition, the summaries are furnished to the press and are telegraphed to anyone who will guarantee to pay the telegraphic charges. To many others the summaries are mailed the same day in mimeographed form.

The reports from the large consuming markets in 1915 covered 22 cities. These were located in the territory extending from Boston, Mass., to Denver, Colo., and as far south as Ohio river points and as far north as Minneapolis. The number of markets will be extended and some of the more important southern markets will be included.

Agents in Principal Markets. Salaried employees of the office of markets and rural organization are stationed in all of the principal markets, such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, St. Louis, Chicago, and Kansas City, for the purpose of procuring, receiving, tabulating, and distributing market data. In the smaller markets arrangements are made, either by means of temporary employees or of reports from several of the large dealers, through which an accurate quotation of market conditions is secured. As a result of the office's arrangement with the railroads, its market reporters are able to know the exact number of cars of any commodity arriving in the market in any one day, as well as the section in which the cars originate. The reporters also report the general quality and condition of arrivals, the wholesale price obtained each day, and the nature of the demand for each commodity. Weather conditions affecting the market also are reported.

Expect to Find Chunk of Radium? You Won't for It Can't Be Seen

If you've been living in the hope that some day you may chance upon a million-dollar chunk of radium and abide in luxury ever afterward, you may as well forget it and make up your mind to continue working for your living, for, according to Uncle Sam, who is an authority on this subject, as well as upon many others, radium, as a metal, has been isolated only once or twice and few people have ever seen it.

Radium is ordinarily obtained from its ores in the form of hydrous sulphate, chloride or bromide, and it is in the form of these salts that it is usually sold and used. These are all white or nearly white substances, whose appearance is no more remarkable than common salt or baking powder. Radium is found in nature in such exceedingly small quantities that it is never visible even when the material is examined with a microscope.

Ordinarily radium ore carries only a small fraction of a grain per ton of material and radium will never be found in large quantity because it is formed by the decay of uranium, a process which is wonderfully slow, and radium itself decays and changes to other elements so rapidly that it is impossible for it to accumulate naturally in visible masses.

Before the European war, Americans who desired to go abroad just went—and that was all there was to it. But now it is different. Before the war no countries except Russia, Turkey and the Balkan states required American travelers to present formal credentials from the United States government. Now all the belligerent countries and most of the neutral countries of Europe require passports of Americans.

And just any card of identification will not do. You may not sail unless you have Uncle Sam's express permission. You must state the full details of your business, the why and the wherefore of the journey, and, if then it is decided that your business is real business, you are equipped with a most elaborate set of papers. To obtain these you must upon oath declare your American citizenship and prove your right to the claim by witnesses. In giving your reason for going abroad, you must submit documentary proof of its truth.

When the passport is finally issued, your full description is entered thereon in minute detail—height, weight, general proportions, the color of your hair and of your eyes, the style of your mustache and so on. In the upper left hand corner there must be a clear photograph of your front face— one containing a very good likeness—and upon the photograph must be stamped the seal of the court or the agent of the department of state to whom you applied for the passport.

There are numerous other requirements. If your business require that you go to one or more of the countries of the allies, to those countries you will be permitted to go, but to no others. Likewise the journeys to Germany, Austria, and Turkey. Except on diplomatic business of a highly important character, no American is allowed to go from one of the warring nations into an enemy country.

Before the war, the passport bureau of the state department had a nice sleepy, easy time of it. The special requirements of the governments of Russia, Turkey and the Balkan states necessitated the issuance of about 24,000 passports a year. The formalities connected with their issuance were not nearly so complex. Now, with passports required to all the principal countries of Europe, even though the total number of travelers is much reduced, the number of passports annually issued is amounting close to 40,000. The extra demands upon the labor and time of the state department officers charged with issuance of passports is obvious. Seven clerks served to man the passport bureau before the war began, with one office in Washington, D. C. There are now 25 clerks and a branch office in New York city.

FARM POULTRY

ALL-PURPOSE CHICKEN HOUSE

Structure Possesses Four Basic Principles, Light, Ventilation, Warmth and No Drafts.

Here is a sketch of what I consider my best all-purpose house. This statement brings forth the question, why? Before answering this I want to say that there are many good houses in use upon successful poultry farms or plants.

The house as shown contains the four basic principles necessary to a practically constructed poultry house, writes M. G. Scudder of Merrick county, Neb., in Independent Farmer. These principles are as follows: Light, ventilation, warmth and no drafts. The size of this house is 12 by 16 feet. It will house sixty head of most any variety of laying hens. Roosts and dropping boards are placed in each corner at the back of the building and made so they can be inclosed in extreme cold weather by simply dropping a curtain in front of the roosts. Two tiers of nests are placed against the wall between these roosts at the back of the building. This roosting method gives your flock a chance to divide during their roosting hours without crowding, thus avoiding dangers from colds, etc.

A window is placed toward the front in each end of the house, which helps to furnish light at the bottom of the building where needed when fowls are scratching for their food in the litter. One door, placed as indicated, with the open front two feet from the ground, assures against any draft when you enter the house. There is no need of using muslin upon this front except in stormy or exceedingly cold weather. The open front also furnishes light close to the floor, which also helps the fowls in their scratching for food. It also affords the very best possible system of circulation and ventilation when the front is open by using the adjustable windows at the top as an outlet for impure air. These windows at the front near the top furnish the light which keeps the roosts and roost boards dry. You will note that they come in just the proper place for the sun to shine into the extreme corners at the back of the building. My experience has taught me that we must have light in the house. The more we have up to a certain point, the better.

A house of this size, built of drop siding and tar paper with rubber roofing, will keep 50 or 60 fowls warm and comfortable the coldest weather. Not only is this house splendid for laying hens, but it serves well for surplus cockerels; or, if divided, makes the very best of breeding pens, or may be put to many other uses.

USEFUL COOP FOR HATCHING

Cheap, Durable, Neat, Handy, Lice-Proof, Close-to-Nature Device for Setting Hens.

"In trying to simplify the problem of having to set hens in boxes all over the farm I came across this plan: This setting coop is 12 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 1 foot high. It is divided into 12 runs each 1 by 4 feet in size, which is plenty of room for a hen. The frame is of 1 by 4 inch boards," writes D. O. Krehbiel of Enterprise, Kan., in Farmers' Mail and Breeze. "Sides, ends and partitions are made of poultry wire. Each run is covered with three slats, the outer two being nailed down while the middle one is used as a slide when feeding and watering the hens. This enables one to get at each hen without disturbing the others. The nest is put in a frame one foot square placed in one end."

DUCKLINGS NEED FRESH AIR

Sometimes Well to Open Door of Incubator a Trifle to Permit Them to Breathe.

Ducklings, when hatched in an incubator sometimes need more fresh air in the machine than chicks do and when the hatch is complete and the little ducklings are still in the machine getting strong before being taken out, it is well to open the door a little, say one-eighth of an inch, to let in more fresh air for them to breathe. This, of course, applies to a good hatch, not where there are only a few ducklings in the machine.

STATE FAIR AUTO SHOW TO HAVE ALL 1917 MODELS

J. S. Kendall, director in charge of the Automobile Division of the State Fair of Texas, announces that plans for the biggest automobile show the South ever saw have been completed by the Fair management, and that the active interest and cooperation of the Texas dealers has been secured.

During the past year the Auto Building in Fair Park, Dallas, which houses this big show, has been extensively remodeled and redecorated, and its facilities have been brought right down to date, so that the 1917 show will be presented under the most favorable conditions possible.

There is no doubt but what this show will be presented under the most favorable conditions possible.

There is no doubt but what this show will be intensely interesting to many prospective car owners throughout the Southwest, as it offers practically the only opportunity the people of this section will have to see all the new 1917 models side by side, and to make comparisons of the relative values of each.

John W. Atwood, of Dallas, who is president of the Automobile Dealers Association, states that the members of that body are all actively interested in the coming show and are making extensive preparations for their exhibits and demonstration work.

It is authoritatively stated that practically all of the popular makes will be included in the big show at the State Fair of Texas, and that each will be represented by its very latest models. Trucks and commercial cars will be seen in large numbers, as well as the best of the exclusively pleasure cars.

MANY MADE PRODUCTS WILL BE SEEN AT STATE FAIR

S. I. Munger, director in charge of the Manufactures Division of the State Fair of Texas, announces that the display in his section this year will be a revelation to Fair visitors, and that practically every manufacturer of any importance in the Southwest will be represented with a good and thoroughly representative exhibit.

Particular attention has been paid by the Fair management to the matter of securing exhibits of the products "made-in-Texas," and it is stated that these products will be at the Fair in overwhelming numbers.

The average Texan has little or no real idea of the wonderful diversity of products made in this State, and the "Made-in-Texas" exhibits are expected, for this reason, to be of a great deal of interest. They will include hundreds of articles which are not generally attributed to Texas manufacturers, but which are actually made here—and well made, too.

The Manufacturers exhibits at the State Fair are always increasing. This year, because of their increasing numbers, and also because of the increasing importance of Texas as a manufacturing State, they are expected to be even more so.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the Fair Association, states that practically all the available space in the Manufactures Building has been contracted for, but that a few choice positions are still remaining, and that these may be secured by writing direct to the Fair Association, Dallas.

STATE FAIR ATTRACTIONS OF NEW HIGH STANDARD

The amusement features provided for the 1916 State Fair of Texas which opens at Dallas October 14 are the very best ever offered by any Fair management.

This positive assertion is made by H. A. Olmsted, director in charge of the State Fair's department of Carnival and Music, and is based upon contracts already signed with some of the best carnival and musical organizations in the country.

The F. A. Wortham Shows, considered by many to be the best carnival on the road today, will be at Fair Park throughout the period of the Fair, October 14 to 29. With this carnival are some of the best and highest priced attractions in the carnival world, and these shows are sure to be of great interest to every Fair visitor.

The various musical programs of which there will be many, will be headed by Flavius' Band. This is the organization headed by A. F. Flavius which won premier musical honors at the Panama-Pacific exposition, playing both the opening and closing engagements. Mr. Flavius will bring the same organization to Dallas that scored so heavily at San Francisco and a real treat is promised music lovers of the Southwest.

The various other attractions and amusements are the very best of the kind, and there is no doubt that the entertainment features of the 1917 State Fair will excel all former offerings.

Tribute to the Deutschland

All hail to the Deutschland and the brave Captain Koenig and his crew of sailors bold!

They are off to the open sea and the broad Atlantic is before them. Let the ship capture or sink them that can, but there will be a merry chase before any such end comes to these modern heroes of the deep.

For the Germans have accomplished the impossible. They have come to us through cordons of enemies such as never were before and now they are going back again.

There have been brave deeds before. There will be brave deeds again. But Captain Koenig and his crew have done something that no other men will ever do. They have piloted the very first submarine that has ever crossed the ocean.

In time of peace that would have been deemed one of the most wonderful exploits in all history. In time of war with hundreds of the enemy's ships on the lookout for the undersea boat, with unknown dangers even at the very bottom of the ocean, with countless mines lying every channel, and with fortunes to be made by the treachery of supposed friends, such a feat must be reckoned among the greatest that has ever been done by man.

There will be many a page in the world's history that will tell of this world war. There will be no brighter page than the one which will tell of this marvelous exploit. And the children of succeeding generations in every country will read of Captain Koenig and his men with bated breath. This modern Captain Kidd has usurped all the glory of the vikings of Norway, the buccaners of the Spanish Main, and the heroes of our own battles on the ocean.

Hats off to you, Captain Koenig, and to your men. We shall gladly welcome you again, for you are a true sportsman and a brave man. May kind Providence guide you.

President Pope's Pertinent Paragraphs

The past year has witnessed a phenomenal growth of the Union in numerical strength as well as unification of the membership.

The greatest advancement in agriculture during the year has been the assurance from the Texas bankers to protect cotton at 12 cents per pound and to lend money on cotton at 6 per cent per annum.

I want to recommend the establishment of a state marketing bureau or perhaps the jurisdiction of the warehouse commission can be expanded to cover all phases of marketing.

We have, according to the best estimates available, an increase of 4,500 tenant farmers last year and against this 2,500 farmers have bought homes.

So far we have very little legislation on business cooperation that has reached the tenant farmer.

No farmer can overcome a 30 per cent interest rate and it is doubtful if any considerable number of farmers can survive a 10 per cent rate.

The federal government putting in operation the Reserve bank has made 6 per cent money on cotton in storage a reality.

I want to urge upon all farmers the importance of studying their economic problems and of voting for men and measures most capable of advancing his interests.

The prosperity of the farmer depends more upon intelligently casting his ballot than upon any single factor.—Annual Report Texas Farmer's Union.

SIGNS OF DANGER

That Should be Heeded by Memphis People

There is serious danger in neglecting any weakness of the kidneys. The warning that nature gives should not be overlooked. If troubled by frequent passage of the kidney secretions; burning or scalding; if the secretions are highly colored and contain sediment when left standing—If you have backache, too, with frequent headaches and dizziness, make up your mind that your kidneys are affected and begin using some reliable kidney remedy. Deaths from kidney disease have increased in the United States alone 72 percent in the last twenty years. The risk is great you can't afford to delay. Memphis people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you ask for better proof of merit than the statement of this Memphis resident?

Mrs. Jno. A. Wood, Eight St., Memphis, says: "I and others of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills in the past with good results. I gladly advise anyone to get a box of this medicine at Tomlinson's Drug Store and try them, if troubled in any way with disordered kidneys."

CONSERVE YOUR FEEDSTUFF

Farm Demonstrator Makes Timely Suggestions As To Best Methods of Conservation.

The item that the stock farmer must give the most attention to is maintaining of his livestock at the least possible expense and at the same time keep them in a thrifty condition so that they will make good gain or produce strong, healthy offspring. This is generally done by producing enough feed on the farm to maintain all the livestock without the necessity of buying feed away from home and when the feed crop is short it is especially important that the greatest possible return be secured from all feed grown.

Years of actual farm use and experience by both State and government experience stations have shown that when forage feeds are put into the silo a greater amount of food nutrients can be saved than when the feed is harvested in other way. Putting feed into a silo does not add anything to it, but only saves a very large per cent of what is already in the roughage. It has been estimated that when any of the sorghums are field-cured at least fifty per cent of the feeding value is lost, but if properly put into a good silo the loss should not be over fifteen or twenty per cent; therefore one can readily see that by the use of a good silo a large amount of feed may be saved every year where it would otherwise be lost. This is especially important when the feed crop is short, for when the plants do not mature and are put up by ordinary field curing methods the loss is much greater than is usual with mature plants. The short crops of a few years ago were the greatest demonstrators of the value of the silo we could have, for while those that had silos were able to conserve their feed and get a great deal of good from it, those that had no silos received very little good from their feed and were compelled to purchase large amounts away from home.

After several years trial it would seem that for the Panhandle of Texas and where ever the soil is well drained, dry and in no danger of seep, the pit silo is the best for the average farmer to select, especially for the first trial. The pit silo is cheaper, more permanent, and if properly

Congress' Lightest Occupation

Having appropriated considerably more than one and a half billions, thereby beating all peace records by five hundred million dollars or so, Congress will probably adjourn for the purpose of taking up its serious occupation of electioneering. Swathing itself in the Grand Old Flag it will passionately expound our foreign relations, defying the Kaiser in decisively pro-Ally constituencies, and properly scoring Britain's maritime tyranny in localities with an important German vote. It will explain with vehemence why Mr. Wilson's Mexican proceedings are a glorious success or a scandalous failure, pay some attention to Japan, parade the year's export figures, and modestly enroll the Almighty in its own political organization.

All that, of course, is a foregone conclusion, and it involves strenuous exertions. There may now and then be some lighter moments of mere blistledown dalliance, in which electioneering Congress will turn to the poor, vague platform planks about a national budget, and, between a nod and a yawn, toss off a few careless words on the subject of national economy—a subject to which a billion dollar or a one-and-a-half-billion-dollar Congress never turns its attention, whether in session or out of session, except when it can't think of anything else. The dictionary contains the following definition: "Bunkhouse—a building containing wooden sleeping compartments." But the dictionary's knowledge of bunk is too restricted.—Saturday Evening Post.
