

U. S. DENOUNCES ANTI-JEW DRIVE

LEWIS OPENS CIO CONVENTION

John L. Lewis is shown on the platform opening the CIO convention at Pittsburgh as he made a slashing attack on foes of industrial unionism and on European oppression of Jews.

Constitution Is Adopted By CIO

Leadership Given Broad Powers Under New Setup

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (AP)—The C. I. O. convention quickly completed adoption of a constitution, establishing the union as the Congress of Industrial Organizations and giving broad powers to the leadership, after John L. Lewis warned against attempts to deny acceptance.

The constitution provided, a revenue for the new labor group that, based upon its estimated membership of 3,684,812 could amount to more than $2,000,000 annually to push forward a new organizing drive which leaders told the convention was the "paramount" question here.

The motion to adopt the 10 articles as a whole passed unanimously. On two sections, when they were considered separately, there were a few "no" votes.

These two articles gave the executive board the power to name the date and site for conventions and assessed small industrial unions a per capita tax of 50 cents.

Lewis was aroused by an attempt yesterday by west coast delegates to hold up consideration of the second article for another hearing by the constitution committee.

Lewis told the 500 delegates the constitutional committee had drafted the document after careful study and conferences with executive officers, and that the acceptance or rejection of the recommendations was the only question which could be answered.

Although the constitution resembled that of the American Federation of Labor in many respects, the CIO document gives the central organization more money in addition to more power.

PICKETS PREVENT WORKERS FROM ENTERING PLANT

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 16 (AP)—A United Automobile Workers picket line that grew until it included 2,000 men and women from several factories, prevented 200 employees from entering the strike-closed Reynolds Spring Co. plant here today.

Slow Progress Reported By Red Cross

Membership Total Only One-Fifth Of Objective

Annual roll call of the Howard-Glasscock county Red Cross chapter moved slowly ahead Wednesday, showing appreciable but hardly encouraging gains.

At noon Wednesday the total number of memberships stood at 519, little better than one-fifth of the objective of 2,500 members for the chapter. The gain over the previous day was only 131 members.

Chapter officials, however, believed that once workers start reporting regularly, the membership total will rise rapidly. Mrs. Mary DeBridge, who organized the residential workers, said that reports had been received from only 14 of 75 areas. In the business district, from whence is expected the bulk of the subscriptions, only five of 32 areas had been heard from.

Of the total membership and $748.85 received to date, it was disclosed that 204 members and $310.75 had come into the chapter headquarters at Cunningham and Phillips No. 1 unsolicited. The remaining $437.90 and 315 members had been reported by workers.

Shine Phillips, chapter chairman, renewed his appeal for support from the public, reminding Howard and Glasscock county people that Red Cross last year spent $6,500 in the area, some $4,000 of it in relief to sufferers from a severe storm last June.

He also urged workers to complete their canvassing and report as rapidly as possible. "This will help us reach our goal," he added. "We need that help for we cannot afford to fail."

Firms reporting 100 per cent memberships since Tuesday noon were Southern Ice Co., Inc., J. C. Penney company, Chamber of Commerce, Empire Southern Service company, Continental Supply company, T. P. Club, State National Bank, Rix Furniture company, Dr. W. B. Hardy, Big Spring Weekly News, Tate and Bristol Insurance agency, Empire Southern Service district office, Southern Life Insurance company branch office, Safeway Grocery, and LaMode. This brought the number of 100 per cent institutions to 49.

MAN ABSENT FOUR YEARS, WIFE FINDS HIM AFTER DEATH

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, 29, pretty school teacher from Alabama, said here today that "some time I wish I had never known what happened," to her husband. If she had not known, she could have continued hoping, as she had for four years, "that some time he would come back."

The husband, Marvin Cayse Wright, 38, was killed when he fell from a truck near here Friday. He had worked for a power company here for three years as "Arthur C. Lee."

Four years ago Wright packed his kit of lineman's tools and left his wife and their two young sons in Guin, Ala. He left no note and never wrote back. His identification after his death was established through the aid of a Pensacola, Fla. power company for which he once was employed and which he gave as a reference here.

Protest Is Lodged On Destruction Of Properties

40,000 Hebrews In Germany Believed Under Arrest; Others In Seclusion

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Jews sought seclusion against any fresh outbreaks of German anti-semitic feeling today while the United States embassy sent a formal note to the foreign office protesting the destruction of American Jews' property during the attack last week.

No details were given in the note but the United States reserved the right to take further action in behalf of any interests harmed.

The number of Jews under arrest throughout Germany was conservatively estimated today at 40,000, including some of the best-known rabbis and most of the leaders of important Jewish organizations.

The majority of those held were understood to have been taken to three main concentration camps: those in north Germany to Oranienburg-Sachsenhausen, near Berlin; those in central Germany to Buchwald, near Weimar; those in the south to Dachau, near Munich.

An editorial of an important Nazi newspaper angrily assailed what it called the "concessions of the American government to American Jewry."

Directed at Ickes The editorial was directed specifically against the United States secretary of the interior, Harold L. Ickes, and the summons to Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson to return to the United States.

It was published in the National Zeitung of Essen, the newspaper of Field Marshal Goering who is second only to Chancellor Hitler in the Nazi regime.

The article apparently was written before President Roosevelt's statement in Washington yesterday that he personally had summoned Wilson to return for consultations on the Jewish situation.

It was a religious holiday, the German Protestant Day of Atonement, and other papers made no comment. All government offices and business houses were closed and Jews were keeping out of sight until after the funeral of the Paris embassy secretary, Ernst vom Rath, on Thursday.

His assassination by a Jewish youth resulted in the anti-Jewish attack.

Under the headline "Washington under Jewish order," the National Zeitung editorial said of the American ambassador's trip home: "We in Germany know too well the circles in the United States which answer for such maneuvers to give them too much credit."

"As in all previous anti-German campaigns of agitation this time, too, the American Minister of Interior Ickes is at the head of agitation directed against the Reich."

Ickes spoke on a Sunday night radio forum deploring the German anti-Jewish drive.

BRIBERY CHARGE IS FILED AGAINST N. Y. OFFICIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Charles A. Hartnett, state commissioner of motor vehicles, was arrested in the district attorney's office today on charges of bribery and extortion.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office said Hartnett was alleged to have accepted $67,000 in bribes between October, 1934, and January, 1938, from the Parmelee Transportation company and through three subsidiaries, the National Transportation Company, Inc., the Yellow Taxi Corporation and the Hamilton Peters Operating Company, Inc.

QUINTS DOING NICELY

CALLANDER, Ont., Nov. 16 (AP) (Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets were permitted today to resume their regular diet for the first time since the removal of their tonsils and adenoids a week ago. Dr. Allan R. Dufour said they were "getting along fine."

NAMES CLERK

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Baacorn Giles, state land commissioner-elect, announced today his chief clerk would be Maj. John W. Harkins, attorney and former employee of the land office. Giles expects to take office Jan. 1.

BURNS ARE FATAL

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 (AP)—R. D. Romo, Works Progress administration worker, died at the Randolph Field hospital last night of third-degree burns he received when cleaning fluid, used to remove wax from floors, caught fire.

Newlyweds Think Of Gifts While Lost In Snow

CEDAR CITY, Utah, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two California newlyweds, lost for two days in a southern Utah blizzard and snowbound two days more, said today they escaped death by thinking of their "wedding presents back home."

In a hospital here with severely frozen feet, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Radford of Bakersfield, Calif., told of trudging for miles through deepening snow with no idea of where they were going. Twice, said Mrs. Radford, they were on the point of giving up, then pushed on "because we just kept thinking of all those wedding presents waiting for us back home."

Minister of Education Bernhard Rust (above) telegraphed rectors of all universities in Germany ordering them to oust Jewish students.

DIST. 9 FOOTBALL SQUABBLE THROWN INTO DEEPER MUDDLE

TYLER, Nov. 16 (Supt. J. M. Hodges threw the fight over Tyler high school's football team into a deeper muddle today by stating if Tyler should be ruled ineligible, there is a chance District 9 would not be represented in the state schoolboy race.

Hodges, formerly head of district nine's committee, said no member of the district except Tyler had filed an eligibility list with him before playing their first games on Sept. 16.

Hodges, in a statement to the Tyler Courier-Times, said the state interscholastic league rules specifically state "each school shall fill out eligibility blanks in duplicate furnished by the league, these blanks to be signed by the superintendent or principal, one mailed to the state executive office, one filed with the chairman of the district executive committee, before the school is allowed to take part in any game."

Hodges served as chairman of the committee until the morning of Sept. 17 when W. L. Dodson of Kilgore was selected to replace him. Other members of the district include Longview, Gladewater, Athens, Marshall, Texarkana and Kilgore.

Nations Won't Cede Colonies

Germany's Chances For War-Lost Possessions Fade

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Government leaders of Great Britain, France and the Union of South Africa—the holders of Germany's war-lost African colonies—served separate notices today they had no intention of returning territories under their administration to the Reich.

Statements of Colonial and Dominion Secretary Malcolm MacDonald, Premier Edouard Daladier of France and General Jan Christian Smuts of the Union of South Africa thus served to emphasize the possibility that any plan for colonial appeasement of Germany might have to be based on:

- 1—The acquisition of Africa territory from Portugal and Belgium for a transfer to replace Germany's own former colonies.
- 2—The formation of an international colonial pool with Germany as a member to give the Reich free access to former possessions.

MacDonald said in the house of commons his government authorized the announcement it "did not contemplate the transfer of any territory under British administration." The authorization he said was telegraphed to the governor of Tanganyika territory in East Africa, held by Britain under a league of nations mandate.

General Smuts, South African World war commander, asserted his country would fight if necessary to retain Southwest Africa. Premier Daladier declared France would cede no colonies and would protect French colonial integrity. In a press statement he said cession of colonial territory never had been considered.

SMALLPOX AND DIPHTHERIA SPREADING

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP)—Prevalence of smallpox and diphtheria throughout Texas worried state health department officials today. The department said the year's reports of smallpox showed it was five times as prevalent as last year while diphtheria had increased by 100 cases over the 1937 total to date. Ninety-six cases of the latter, an increase of four over last week, were reported.

Future Action Awaits Talk With Wilson

FDR's Condemnation Also Applies To Catholic Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The White House said today President Roosevelt's condemnation of measures taken against German minorities applied to Catholic elements as well as Jewish.

Widespread Approval

Stephen Early, press secretary, told reporters the morning newspapers, in referring to the president's formal statement yesterday, denouncing the Nazi attacks, had "overplayed" the Jewish angle and neglected to point out that Catholics also were involved.

He added the statement was intended to take in the stoning of the Catholic cardinal's home in Vienna and measures against Catholics elsewhere who, he said, had been mistreated.

Trade Agreement With England, Canada To Be Completed Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The state department announced today the trade agreements with Great Britain and Canada would be signed at the White House tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Secretary of State Hull will sign up for the United States.

For Great Britain, Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay and Arnold Overton, second secretary of the British board of trade, will sign. Overton was head of the delegation which came to this country to negotiate the reciprocal treaty.

Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King will sign for Canada. The trade agreement with the United Kingdom was completed after six months of negotiation between a special delegation sent here by Great Britain and experts of the state and commerce departments.

The British agreement brings the total number of trade agreements concluded to 19. The Canadian agreement is an enlargement of the existing Canadian agreement which expires Dec. 31.

Details of both agreements, including the hundreds of items on which tariff concessions have been made, will be announced for publication Friday morning.

The complete release numbers hundreds of pages, since the British agreement is the most important yet completed. It has been regarded as the apex of Secretary Hull's cherished program to stimulate world trade.

Great Britain is the United States' best customer, having taken more than half a billion dollars in American exports in 1937.

The agreement with Great Britain, the state department said, includes also northern Ireland and the world-scattered British colonial empire, including her possessions in Latin America.

The United Kingdom agreement will be accompanied by a note from Great Britain expressing that country's willingness to discuss with the United States any tariff reductions which might follow on other products exported by the United States.

The discussion will take place after Britain is released from some of the obligations she owes to the dominions because of the Ottawa preferential agreements.

Defects Show Up In 65 Pct. Of Autos

Have Faults Corrected, Patrolman Urges

Safety—particularly driving safety—was stressed in a program before the Lions club Wednesday noon with Sgt. W. M. King of the state highway patrol and Jimmy Lynch, safety demonstrator, addressing the club.

Sergeant King, under whose direction a safety lane is being held in Big Spring, disclosed that more than 3,900 cars have been tested here in two days time. The 737 vehicles put through the lane Wednesday morning ran the total machines checked since Monday afternoon to 3,321, he said.

"Pointing out that 65 per cent of the cars had been found to have mechanical defects which might affect driving, the speaker urged drivers to correct these faults for their own safety. 'It's nothing to us,' he said. 'We only have to tell you. But it's the wisest policy to get it fixed.'"

His men check wheel alignment, he said, to eliminate undue tire wear and a blow-out hazard. Windshield wipers are checked to insure good vision, mufflers to prevent fumes from dulling the sensibilities of drivers, and brakes to reduce the accident toll of 17 per cent of all mishaps from that fault.

Safe machines, he added, are not enough. They need sane drivers. Accidents, he continued, are not confined to traffic alone and accordingly urged carefulness in all activities. As to traffic, he revealed that Texas, operating the only two portable safety lanes in the U. S., also has shown the only noticeable decline in traffic fatalities, having cut the figure 20 per cent under last year.

Lynch, who was to give a demonstration of driving practices, told Lions to turn the wheel in the Jackson Into Cabinet Post?

Solicitor General Talked As Successor To Cummings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Robert H. Jackson, 46-year-old solicitor general, appeared to many capital politicians today to be the likely successor to Attorney General Cummings.

Cummings, 68, will return to private law practice in January, marking the third cabinet change since President Roosevelt took office in 1933. The president said yesterday he had not yet given thought to a successor.

The two previous cabinet vacancies, occasioned by the death of George H. Dern and the fatal illness of William H. Woodin, were filled by men from their departments.

Besides Jackson, men whose names figured in speculation over a successor to Cummings included Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, Assistant Attorney General Brien McMahon, and Assistant Attorney General Carl McFarland.

Red Vestal, Rice Grid Star, Dies

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Jack (Red) Vestal, star blocking back of the Rice Institute Owls, died here today after an illness of more than a month.

The 22-year-old Sherman High graduate, who was one of the mainstays of the Owls' 1937 Southwest conference championship team, was stricken shortly after the season opened.

Taken to a hospital, it was believed, at first that his illness had been caused by a scrimmage injury, but attending physicians declared that theory after discovering that the cracked vertebra, discovered in examination, had been caused some time ago.

He had an attack of pneumonia two weeks ago, and had been given blood transfusions by his teammates at regular intervals since then.

Italy Winner In Agreement

Britain Recognizes The Conquest Of Ethiopia

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP)—Italy emerged as the final victor today in the economic war England led against her during the Ethiopian campaign in 1935.

Britain formally recognized Italy as sovereign over Ethiopia when the Earl of Perth, British ambassador, presented to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano new credentials accrediting him to King Vittorio Emanuele as King of Italy and emperor of Ethiopia.

This was part of the process of bringing into effect the Anglo-Italian accord signed at Rome April 18 for composition of the differences of the two powers in the Mediterranean, Africa, the Near East and Spain.

Britain with France sponsored the league of nations fight which came to a climax when they joined with 50 nations in voting economic sanctions (penalties), which went into operation Nov. 17, 1935, designed to isolate Italy.

The economic protest did not deter Italy from taking Ethiopia but it did bring resentment against Britain, now ended by the British-Italian accord, and to a lesser degree against France.

Soviet Russia and the United States are the only big powers to have not yet recognized the Ethiopian conquest. The United States did not participate in the economic boycott. Russia, as a communist government, is not likely to give formal recognition to the fascist victory.

France has accredited an ambassador to Italy as the new empire, but has not yet reached a friendly understanding although negotiations are proceeding.

The fascist press has stopped attacks on the English but still is critical of the French. Premier Chamberlain of Britain got the friendship accord with Italy exactly seven months ago, after the resignation of Anthony Eden who as foreign secretary opposed it. He had engineered the sanctions campaign.

Phillip A. Benson Is Successor To Orval Adams

HOUSTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Phillip A. Benson of Brooklyn, N. Y., today was elected president of the American Bankers association to succeed Orval W. Adams of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Robert M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, N. C., was elected first vice president and P. D. Houston of Nashville, Tenn., won the second vice presidency.

The three officers were elected unanimously. Houston, who had been opposed by W. Laird Dean of Topeka, Kas., and Frank P. Powers of Mora, Minn., was the choice of the convention's nominating committee. Dean offered the motion closing the nominations for the position. Houston is slated to become president of the ABA in 1940.

A return to those fundamental procedures on which the foundation of the United States was laid was urged by Dr. Adam S. Bannion of Salt Lake City, one of the principal speakers at the general session of the convention.

Dr. Bannion said he did not think Americans would "leap to fascism or communism" but he said the two political doctrines may "snook up on us in disguise."

J. Reuben Clark, Jr., of Salt Lake City pictured the world as undergoing an economic conflict and said "upon its final issue, liberty lives or dies."

THE SPORTS PARADE

by HANK HART

It is hoped that Lloyd Devan's plan for a Class C football league in this sector captures the enthusiasm of other coaches before next season rolls around. There are at least six "C" teams playing independently around here at the present time and the mentors of Garner and Westbrook could be cajoled into moving along, it is believed.

Devan last spring had an opportunity to join hands with the PSAA six-man league but shied away when he learned they were bolting the Interscholastic League. He firmly believed that no loop could operate without the protecting and governing wing of the state department.

That organization since has had so much internal trouble with ineffectualities and arguments that could be carried to no presiding head that it probably will not operate next fall.

Much more interest could be aroused if Devan's plans go through and Ackerly, Klondike, Dunn, Pyron, Hermleigh, Fluvanna all come in.

The other day when Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, two of the nation's leading pro golfers, exhibited their wares over the Lubbock CC course but 47 enthusiasts paid to follow the two around and see Ben break Alton Holton's record with a sizzling 66.

The failure of the Lubbock people to respond to the attraction disgusted Pro Charles Akey no little but the two swingers didn't seem to notice it. This department would like to see a similar attraction thrown here. Either of the local courses could guarantee a better gallery than that.

Speaking of golf the classy Odessa course, which when completed will boast the only bent green layout between Fort Worth and Los Angeles, is fast shaping up. West Texas golfers can expect another top tournament to be added to the list of this sector's attractions when the new course is opened next year.

Professional prize fighting in San Angelo apparently is paying its way. Lew Jenkins, the Sweetwater lad who recently won the Texas lightweight title in a fight at Dallas, has agreed to come to the Concho city next week to appear against a prominent opponent in a six-round match. Jenkins, who has a sister living here, will be remembered chiefly as a youngster who hung around the CCC camp when that unit was located here two years ago.

Babe Ritchie, the Lubbock slasher who has represented Texas in the National Golden Gloves tournaments during the past two years and who is now a pro, is also appearing on supporting cards on the Angelo weekly cards.

Eddie O'Shea, who helped initiate wrestling here three or four years ago and who later joined a carnival because he was growing stale, is back in the circuit. He's appearing in Abilene most every week.

Weldon Bigony, 1937 Steer football co-captain, had a big part in the Baylor Cubs' smashing 32-6 triumph over Paris Junior college the other day but his name was rarely mentioned in resumes of the game. He's a blocking back, carries the ball very little. He's rated by Jim Crowe, Baylor freshman coach, as one of the three best bets in the first year camp. The other two are Parks and Wilton, versatile backs.

The writer unintentionally omitted the name of the Longhorns' manager, Blake Talbot, in giving the name of the grid letterman in yesterday's edition.

4th Stringer Now Regular On Bear 11

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 16 (AP)—Others may reap the all-American glory but football's No. 1 success story on the University of California campus will be framed around a small chunk of human dynamite named David Andrew Queen.

He's the little fellow with the big pigskin push who rushed into the opening game of the season as a fourth string center and emerged as the varsity snapper-back.

Queen weighs 166 pounds sopping wet. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall and in the class rooms looks like a candidate for the table tennis team. On the gridiron he behaves like a wildcat with his tail caught in the cage door.

He has finished every game weighing from seven to eight pounds less than when he started. He is the lightest center in the 30-year football history of the university. Some boy, this 19-year-old youngster who was born in Enid, Oklahoma.

In the last period of the St. Mary's game, opening the season in September, he went into the line-up. California was behind in the score. Queen's entry helped turn the tide of battle. California won. The number 4 substitute on the list of centers became the first string man in a few minutes of play.

She lost it in an Orange county traffic crash.

Sometimes later police chanced upon the severed member. Speedily delivered by motor-cycle it was sewed on by a surgeon. Today the lost-and-found operation was pronounced successful.

Galento Hurt Reputation In Thomas Brawl

Must Go Back Home With Breath Of Fans' Lashing

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The local boxing mob is in mourning over the Tony Galento-Harry Thomas affair in Philadelphia on Monday night, fearing the game in general will be dampened by the splash.

Specifically, the Mike Jacobs group is afraid the blasting given Tony's third-round knockout victory will keep many a customer away from Friday night's middleweight scrap between Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett III at the Garden.

The fight fan is a seary bird at best, and wasn't too excited about Apostoli and Corbett to begin with, so the locals naturally think it was a dirty trick for Galento and Thomas to flush the flock right at this time, with winter coming on.

"It was nothin' but greed," declared the manager of several big-name fighters. "Here we had what looked like a big season comin' up, and these mugs have to come along and ruin it. Galento couldn't wait a few months until he had clear recovered from that pneumonia and then fought a real fighter. Now he's ruined."

The consensus is that Tony's ruined, all right. They've yanked in the welcome mat on him in Philadelphia, and any chances he previously had of getting a big fight under Jacobs' auspices are gone. The colorful Tony will have to go back to his East Orange anion, even though he generally is considered an innocent party.

Most of those who witnessed the stirring event are inclined to place the blame on Thomas for not giving a better exhibition. Galento, all agree, went wading in like he thought it was a battle to the death, like his last previous one against pneumonia.

There will be, however, no more loud talk about the globular Galento challenging Joe Louis or anyone else for the heavyweight title.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., head of the National Professional Golfers association as president today for the seventh consecutive year.

Jacobus was re-elected yesterday at the P. G. A. convention, defeating Tom Walsh of Chicago who was re-elected secretary. Delegates from the group's 28 sections also voted to make the P. G. A. senior championship an annual event. It will be held Dec. 5-7 at Augusta, Ga.

Committee reports disclosed professionals, by the end of 1938, will have played for $182,500 in purses, an increase of $19,150 over the 1937 total. The 1939 purses will aggregate $200,000 for 40 tournaments, four more than on last year's program.

M. A. Clifton, formerly of Abilene, has been added to the staff of the Texas State Employment Service here, S. G. Merritt, local manager, announced Wednesday.

Until July Clifton was junior interviewer in the itinerant service, and since that time has been with the employment service state-wide farm crew in South Texas.

With three and a half years experience, Clifton now becomes junior interviewer in the local offices which are located in the Ellis building at 2nd and Main streets.

In an open letter addressed to F. B. Holland, chairman of the growers industry committee, McDonald yesterday answered the committee's recommendations last week favoring volume proration of valley shipments as a means of improving the market price through decreased shipments.

"Shipments of Texas citrus under consignment or public auction, minus support or provision for a minimum price at which the fruit may be sold is impracticable marketing and detrimental and destructive to the citrus industry in the lower Rio Grande Valley," McDonald wrote.

GERMAN ENVOY TO BE BURIED AT DUESSELDORF
DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 16 (AP)—The body of Ernst Vom Rath, whose death at the hands of a young Polish Jew in Paris last week launched Nazi Germany's latest wave of anti-Jewish violence, was brought today to Dueseldorf, his home, for burial.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler is expected to attend the state funeral tomorrow.

Bethell, Bostick Named On Team

Four Eagles Rate Berths On The Daily Herald's '38 Loop's 11

By HANK HART
The four teams of this sector are well represented on The Daily Herald's selection of the 1938 all-western Oil Belt football team with Abilene's third place Eagles leading the way with four placements.

None of the players are "repeaters" although three of the performers who "rated" last season were back for competition again. They were Roland McAdams, Abilene, Cecil Voss, Sweetwater, both ends, and Ross Callahan, Big Spring, a back.

The Big Spring Steers, who did not win a ball game, had two backs named, Alton Bostick, a triple threat, and Harold "Lefty" Bethell, a race horse whose forte was carrying the mail but who could juggle the oval a teammate's way when the necessity arose and who was not a bad kicker even though he was given little chance.

Bostick was the more versatile. He was a great defensive back as well as an offensive spark plug. He eluded off 538 yards from scrimmage runs in 129 tries this fall, an average pickup of about 4.3 yards and his pitching gained 327 yards in 76 attempts. His kicking average was about 36 yards.

Bethell, of course, was used as a blocking back some of the time but he was the leading scorer of his team, was an excellent pass receiver and came along fast after a slow start.

Neither Bostick nor Bethell were regulars in 1937. Bostick did not even earn a letter.

Named along with Bostick and Bethell in the secondary were Amos Gray, San Angelo, probably the best back in the district, and Jake Webster of Sweetwater. Gray took personal charge of the Bobcats after a slow start and has maneuvered them into a contending position. A tall, wiry boy with plenty of speed, the Bobcat offense never clicked until Amos took a hand.

Webster had great possibilities but never functioned as he might. Undoubtedly the greatest kicker in West Texas high school circles Jake was held down most of the time but his all-around abilities earned him a place.

Other prominent backs considered were Charles Jones, Abilene, and Buck Wetsel, Sweetwater.

The line boasts a combination of weight and speed. Abilene placed both tackles, an end and the center to lead the way. Gene Bennett succeeded a teammate, Roland McAdams, as the all-star wing, shared the terminal posts with Joe Akin of Sweetwater whose mate, Voss, was not considered due to an early injury that kept him inactive most of the time. Bennett is tall, appeared best on the defense while Akin was equally potent on both defense and offense.

Travis Ables and Raymond Chambers, both of Abilene, stacked up just about the top tackles although they were pushed by Angelo's Bob McCure and Sweetwater's Johnson.

Angelo players monopolized the guard berth, placing Alan Pike and Jim Beam. Beam joined the team late but was undoubtedly the league's standout candidate for that berth.

Center berth went to Dub Sibley, a reformed guard, who succeeds another Abilenean, Lilius Virden, as the pivot man.

Only a first team was chosen.

Compete lineup:

Player	Pos.	WL	Hgt.	Team
Joe Akin	LE	180	5-11	Sweetwater
Travis Ables	LT	190	6-00	Abilene
Alan Pike	LG	162	5-10	San Angelo
Dub Sibley	C	169	5-10	Abilene
Jim Beam	RG	162	5-09	San Angelo
Raymond Chambers	RT	173	5-11	Abilene
Gene Bennett	RE	187	6-00	Abilene
Amos Gray	QB	162	5-11	San Angelo

Many outdoor sportsmen changed over from shotguns to rifles after having gotten their limit out of a plentiful supply of ducks and geese on the bays, lakes and streams during yesterday's opening of the new 45-day migratory waterfowl season.

Bearcats And Sterling To Meet Friday

Garden City Seeks Second Win Over Sullivan's Six

GARDEN CITY, Nov. 16 — Herschel Wheeler will lead his oft-bent Garden City Bearcat eleven gridiron to Sterling City Friday where they will seek their second victory of the season over Red Sullivan's crew.

The Kats ran over the Sterling aggregation, 25-18, in a hard fought game in Garden City two weeks ago but Wheeler predicted a much tougher battle this time out.

The Kats' best bet for victory lies in Meelin, a hard running back with the ability to chunk the pigskin, and the Rogers brothers, who played a big part in the victory over Sterling.

Large Trophy To Be Given To Grid Star

The outstanding college football player of Texas will be presented a beautiful silver-gold trophy, pictured in a contest started November 11, in connection with the "All Texas Football Round-Up" radio broadcasts heard Monday through Fridays over Station KSTB and the Texas State Network.

The stadium's capacity of more than 25,000 seats has already been sold and temporary seats are being erected. Rice was still uncertain as to whether Ernie Lain, star passer and plunger who has been out with an injury, would be able to play against the Frogs.

The trophy reads: "Presented to the College Football Star of the Year—1938—by the Radio Fans of Texas."

Contest closes Dec. 2 when the "All Texas Football Round-Up" series closes a successful season over stations comprising the Texas State Network. The broadcast have been aired under the direction of Zack Hurt, TSN sports supervisor, but accounted for three points after touchdowns.

Radio fans of Texas may vote as many times as they wish, a vote counting the same as nomination. The contest is open to all college football players.

Pitt Frosh Gridders Are Assured Of New Understanding
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (AP)—Members of the University of Pittsburgh's freshman football squad were assured today a misunderstanding regarding tuition fees would be threshed out satisfactorily.

The players reported for practice as usual after John Weber, the university's secretary-business manager, promised he would investigate and that he hoped to "find a suitable solution at a conference after the Thanksgiving recess."

Weber said a group of athletes, one a basketball player and the others football men, came to him yesterday and told of receiving tuition bills for the first semester amounting to $150.

"They thought they possessed athletic scholarships which took care of tuition. Under the new athletic code at Pitt there are no athletic scholarships," Weber said.

The game had been postponed from Monday.

The West Ward victory was a third in four starts and broke a tie with Witherspoon's crew.

Red Routh's West Ward football eleven virtually sewed up first place honors in the City Junior grid league by trouncing Jim Witherspoon's College Heights team, 20-0, in a game played at Steer stadium Tuesday afternoon.

HOGS IN MEMPHIS FOR MISS. GAME

Bell Predicts Scoring Bee In Tilt At Waco; Record Crowd At Houston

By The Associated Press
The Arkansas Razorbacks, their poorest Southwest Conference season in years behind them, were in Memphis today for a clash with the University of Mississippi Rebels.

The Porkers, who were tough for them all to handle but just couldn't win, will be seeking their second victory over the Rebels who fell before the Arkansas aerial circus last year.

Southern Methodist-Baylor, Texas Christian and Rice prepared for wide-open, slam-bang offensive battles Saturday while Texas and Texas A. & M. worked for the season's big game Thanksgiving Day.

Coch Matty Bell at S. M. U. said he looked for a scoring bee. His efforts to keep most of the counting on the Mustangs' side were not helped by probable loss of Bob Bacaus, pass-rushing end, out with an injury.

Baylor's Bruins looked over S. M. U.'s offense in motion pictures then watched freshmen run through Mustang plays. The Bears were in good condition with prospects that Hoyt Williams, center, who has been out with an injured leg, will be able to get into the game against S. M. U.

The Texas Christian gridders scrimmaged long and hard in preparation for their battle with Rice. The Aggies were driven indoors yesterday for most of their work because of rain and heard from Assistant Coach Marty Karow that the Texas passing attack was something to worry about. Karow has been scouting the Longhorns.

The Steers devoted most of their session to skull practice and heard a report from Scout Jack Gray.

The largest crowd ever to see a football game in Houston was forecast for the Rice-T. C. U. tilt Saturday. The stadium's capacity of more than 25,000 seats has already been sold and temporary seats are being erected. Rice was still uncertain as to whether Ernie Lain, star passer and plunger who has been out with an injury, would be able to play against the Frogs.

By way of Bob Johnson of the Spokane Daily Chronicle comes word that what looks like the top schoolboy pitching of the year... The youngster is Ken Gibbins, who threw three complete for 68, 28 and 53 yards for Greenacres (Wash.) Central Valley High... Did Jack Sutherland overlook an A-No-1 ball-carrier but when he let Bill Farlan, a freshman back, slip away from Pitt to Little Franklin & Marshall?

Hymie Caplin, who figures his Solly Krieger got a raw deal in the middleweight business, is thinking of putting pickets around the New York title go between Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett Friday... Hey, Hymie, how about signs for the boys reading: "Don't go inside—it's just a folly; Who's the champ? Why me and Solly?"

If you like to figure out reasons to pick the upsets, consider that South Carolina has won two and tied one in starts against Notre Dame coached teams this year... And Saturday steps out against Fordham, piloted by ex-four horseman Sleepy James Crowley.

WOULD FIGHT FOR AFRICAN MANDATE, SMUTS ASSERTS
MARITZBURG, Natal, South Africa, Nov. 16 (AP)—General Jan Christian Smuts, commander of the Union of South Africa's World War forces, today declared the union would fight if necessary to gain her mandate over Southwest Africa, former German colony.

In a speech here the veteran campaigner termed a "sacred trust" the league of nations mandate which was granted South Africa in 1920 to rule the 318,000 square miles of territory seized from Germany in 1915.

"We are going to defend South Africa and its vital interests, including Southwest Africa, to the uttermost," he said.

Smuts now is the dominion's minister of justice.

Speaking of Defense Minister Oscar Pirow's current visit to Europe Smuts declared, "Pirow has gone to see if he can get from the British government and British manufacturers the means of defense which are vitally necessary for protection of the Union of South Africa."

ELIGIBILITY OF SCOTT TO BE DECIDED TODAY
KILGORE, Nov. 16 (AP)—Disposition of ineligibility charges against Wally Scott, Tyler high school football player, was expected today with the return from Austin of W. L. Dodson, chairman of the District 9 executive committee.

At Austin yesterday R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the interscholastic league, declined to intervene in the case, declaring the league "under no circumstances" could act upon or accept an appeal to its executive committee, and that Longview's protest of the player was entirely in the hands of the district committee.

Longview had protested on the grounds Scott had not been certified on eligibility lists prior to opening of the season. Kidd said the omission carried no prescribed penalty but constituted grounds for a protest.

Jacobus Named To Lead USGA For 7th Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP)—George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., head of the National Professional Golfers association as president today for the seventh consecutive year.

Jacobus was re-elected yesterday at the P. G. A. convention, defeating Tom Walsh of Chicago who was re-elected secretary. Delegates from the group's 28 sections also voted to make the P. G. A. senior championship an annual event. It will be held Dec. 5-7 at Augusta, Ga.

Committee reports disclosed professionals, by the end of 1938, will have played for $182,500 in purses, an increase of $19,150 over the 1937 total. The 1939 purses will aggregate $200,000 for 40 tournaments, four more than on last year's program.

M. A. Clifton, formerly of Abilene, has been added to the staff of the Texas State Employment Service here, S. G. Merritt, local manager, announced Wednesday.

Until July Clifton was junior interviewer in the itinerant service, and since that time has been with the employment service state-wide farm crew in South Texas.

With three and a half years experience, Clifton now becomes junior interviewer in the local offices which are located in the Ellis building at 2nd and Main streets.

In an open letter addressed to F. B. Holland, chairman of the growers industry committee, McDonald yesterday answered the committee's recommendations last week favoring volume proration of valley shipments as a means of improving the market price through decreased shipments.

"Shipments of Texas citrus under consignment or public auction, minus support or provision for a minimum price at which the fruit may be sold is impracticable marketing and detrimental and destructive to the citrus industry in the lower Rio Grande Valley," McDonald wrote.

GERMAN ENVOY TO BE BURIED AT DUESSELDORF
DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 16 (AP)—The body of Ernst Vom Rath, whose death at the hands of a young Polish Jew in Paris last week launched Nazi Germany's latest wave of anti-Jewish violence, was brought today to Dueseldorf, his home, for burial.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler is expected to attend the state funeral tomorrow.

LONG BEACH, Calif. Nov. 16 (AP)—A police officer found and returned Laura McLellan's left ear last night.

NIMRODS ON TRAIL OF GAME IN VARIED HUNTING GROUNDS

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16 (AP)—A compilation of telephone reports from wardens throughout the state led game department officials at a temporary headquarters here today to believe the season's opening day's kill would be 3,000 deer and 2,000 turkey.

Fred Thompson, director of education for the department, estimated there were 10,000 hunters—a record-breaking number—roaming the cedar brakes of the game-rich Central Texas hill country, the mesquite brush of South Texas, the timberlands of the eastern portion of the state, the sandy plains of the Panhandle and the rugged mountain country of the trans-Pecos region.

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16 (AP)—The crack of rifles echoed through this picturesque Central Texas hill country today heralding the opening of the general hunting season throughout the state.

But this game-rich area of deer and turkey, was not the only scene of hunting activities. In the rugged trans-Pecos region, nimrods stalked the big mule deer and caudiced black bear. In South Texas, large-boned white tail bucks lured hunters into the woods and squads of gun toters harried the game in southeast, north and Panhandle sections of the state.

Many outdoor sportsmen changed over from shotguns to rifles after having gotten their limit out of a plentiful supply of ducks and geese on the bays, lakes and streams during yesterday's opening of the new 45-day migratory waterfowl season.

Game department statistics show 30,000 bucks shot during the 1937 season.

Strong Reserves Make Carnegie A Grid Power
By JUDSON BAILEY
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16 (AP)—All suspicion to the contrary, Carnegie Tech's courageous Skibos did not heat Pitt with mirrors. They didn't have Pitt.

So quietly that it has been pretty much a secret even in Pittsburgh, the Tartans have reinforced their football regiment with some of the finest material available in the entire Allegheny mountains—from whence has come much of the best in the land.

WELCH JUMPS TO SECOND IN SCORING
Despite the fact that he was held in check by Brownwood's Lions last week, Bill Ramsey of Breckenridge managed to hold a long lead in Oil Belt conference football scoring with a total of 125 points. Ramsey did not score a touchdown but accounted for three points after touchdowns.

Bill Welch of Stephenville, enjoying a field day against Eastland, took over second place by scoring five touchdowns. In advancing from the fourth spot, Welch's total went to 90 for the year.

Coy Warren, Cisco, is in third place with 84 points while Ranger's Bill Houghton dropped to fourth when he failed to tally against Ranger. His mark is 72.

Jake Webster is pacing the westward sector's scorers with 28 points. Lefty Bethell leads the Big Spring team with three touchdowns.

The players reported for practice as usual after John Weber, the university's secretary-business manager, promised he would investigate and that he hoped to "find a suitable solution at a conference after the Thanksgiving recess."

LEE, BACK
Last year when they won only two games and tied one, they bested Notre Dame. In other years when the Irish were strong and the Scots were weak, notably in 1926 at the height of Rockne's renown, the Scots had risen silently to crush Notre Dame. It was a recurrent lynch which usually meant nothing to other foes.

So it was that the Tartans came up to their game with Pitt with perhaps only one man outside their own official fold realizing their potentialities. Dr. Jock Sutherland, the wizard of Pitt, knew well but was laughed at.

Sutherland knew how intimately the Carnegie coaches headed by Bill Kern, all former Pitt assistants, knew the Panthers' every strength and weakness. He knew that while Pitt had been playing its heart out to break the string of scoreless ties with Fordham, the Tartans had been coasting against Akron and griding for the big goal. He may have known, too, that all-America Marshall Goldberg wouldn't be able to play more

MIRROR FOR WARMTH AND DEPTH

By The AP Feature Service
It's quite modern to have one wall, or a panel of a room finished in a striking wallpaper. This arrangement shows how to make that effect still more striking. The large mirror is placed flat against the opposite wall of the living room so that it reflects the wallpaper. That gives the room depth and dramatizes the paper. The mirror is of polished plate glass, tinted a peach color for warmth.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Duly Signed, City's Biggest Block Of Bonds Mailed For Registration, Then Transfer To Buyers For Cash

What will shortly be transformed into a quarter of a million dollars left Big Spring Tuesday night as fourth class mail.

These potentially valuable bits of brightly colored paper happened to be the $275,000 City of Big Spring water improvement bonds voted Sept. 27. In a few days, legal procedure satisfied, they will cease to be just paper and become negotiable instruments worth face value of the amount.

Tuesday morning Mayor R. V. Jones placed a blotter over the last of 275 signatures he had affixed to the bonds constituting the largest single issue ever voted by the city. H. W. Whitney previously had finished signing each bond in his official capacity as city secretary and city treasurer.

At Austin Wednesday, the attorney general will find the bonds delivered to his office. After he passes on the legality of the issue, he will send them on to the state comptroller.

The minute the comptroller registers them, they become 275 instruments, each worth $1,000. Consequently, they will be treated with more respect on the second leg of their journey. The Austin National bank will receive the bonds, insure them for the full amount and dispatch them to the First National bank in Dallas, acting as agent for the City of Big Spring. This bank will notify Garrett and Co. of Dallas that the bonds are ready for delivery as soon as Garrett and Co. attend to the matter of depositing a check sufficient to cover the $275,000, plus $1,322 premium and accrued interest amounting to around $1,000.

City of Big Spring will then enjoy a peculiar status. It will have more cash on hand than ever before in the 32-year history of the municipality. It also will owe more than it ever did before.

New Officers For Kiwanis Are Named

To Be Presented At Special Program This Evening

Introduction of new officers of the club will be a feature of the program when members of the local Kiwanis organization and their wives gather for a banquet session at the Crawford hotel at 7:30 this evening. The district governor, Bob Wilson of Ponca City, Okla., will be honor guest and principal speaker.

Dr. Lee O. Rogers is president-elect of the club, and will succeed Dr. W. B. Hardy in office. Others in the list of new officials are Thomas J. Coffey, vice president; Merie J. Stewart, secretary-treasurer (re-elected); and W. W. Barker, H. W. Smith, Ben Cole, Dr. D. F. McConnell, E. D. McDowell, Walter Wilson and Dr. Frank Boyle, directors.

District Governor Wilson, who was forced to cancel a previous engagement here, will be making his first official visit to Big Spring. He may be accompanied by Paul Pierson of Wichita Falls, lieutenant-governor for the Texas-Oklahoma district.

States Face Economy Demands

New York, Pennsylvania Governors Pledge Savings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Two governors-elect, talking about spending less instead of more, have brought up a subject that already is troubling the Roosevelt administration and will plague congress and the states for many months.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman said at Albany, N. Y., "this is no time to spend money on frivolities." Arthur H. James disclosed at Harrisburg, Pa., his inauguration would be as "inexpensive as possible." The one was a democrat, the other a republican.

Their hints of economy were a token of what they had read in the eyes of the voters—and of what quite a few members of the new congress read in the election returns.

The state governments now are spending more than $3,600,000,000 a year. That is a billion dollars a year more than they were spending in 1932. The counties, cities, towns, villages, school and levee districts and other local governmental agencies spend about twice as much as the states.

The states themselves have a total bonded indebtedness of only about three billion dollars. It would take a week with an adding machine to learn how much the thousands of minor local governments owe. The figure ran to nearly seventeen billions in 1932. Forty-odd state legislatures will be in session again this winter, and the extent of economy demands will become apparent then. Its first evidence in a national way will show up after congress gets going.

JAIL INMATES HAVE TO DO WITHOUT THEIR SPIRITS

Sadness—and even sobriety reign in one of the city jail cells today.

Police nipped a plan to slip spirits to one of the city customers who was lingering in jail a few days because of his love for potent beverages. E. B. Bethell, who accepted the container for delivery into a cell, finished work he was doing before inspecting the parcel. Apparently it was a container of limeade, for lime hulls floated on top. But Bethell beheld a bottle neck. Lo, it was not limeade, but a bottle of lead bay rum. The donor made good his escape, but the prisoner remained sad and thirsty.

PRISON SLAYING TO GO TO GRAND JURY

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 16 (AP)—R. W. Miller of Huntsville, member of the state prison board, said today the slaying of Jack Rogers, 20-year-old convict from Beaumont, in a prison dormitory fight, probably would be presented to the Houston county grand jury for investigation.

Miller said an inquiry had revealed Rogers was slain by Jimmy Bostic, 22, habitual criminal from Corpus Christi. Rogers was stabbed in the stomach.

GETS 50-YEAR TERM

GALVESTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Pete Calandra faced a 50-year prison term today for his part in the jail break slaying of Jailer Ernest E. Goode last June 12. A jury early today found Calandra guilty. Edward Francis Sutton and Roland Tyler also figured in the break. Sutton is already under a life sentence. Tyler will be tried next week.

WITH CIRCUS THURSDAY NIGHT

Two of the performers in the Bible circus, sponsored by the Lions club Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium, are shown above. It is one of the trained ponies out of the King Lear troupe and a clever monkey rider. Other acts in the small circus include other ponies, monkeys, dogs a bear, and birds. There will be surprise acts in addition to the many scheduled novelty tricks by the trained animal troupe.

JERRY SADLER WARNS AGAINST ENCROACHMENTS ON FREEDOM OF THE PRESS IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Nov. 16 (AP) — Jerry Sadler, who becomes a new railroad commissioner Jan. 1, said today indirect encroachments upon the freedom of the press in Texas "must be viewed with rising alarm."

In a luncheon address which touched on industrialization of Texas, advertising, the duties of the press, pensions, taxes, government economy and highways, Sadler warned newsmen it was their "terrific responsibility" to see that the people were accurately informed.

"I must tell you frankly that such recent efforts to curb editorial content as the so-called 'denial advertising bill' must be viewed with rising alarm. The fact that this law has been upheld by the supreme court of this state should serve as a grim reminder that the press of Texas must be ever alert to prevent any further encroachment upon the rights of an inherent free press. x x x There is a dangerous principle involved. x x x And in the same category I might add that this six-months license bogey of the radio folks is another matter that needs immediate attention."

Little Representation
"It has always been a mystery to me that of all the folks that are represented in Austin and in Washington, those who probably have the least representation are those with the most potential power—the newspapers and radio operators."

Touching on Texas industrialization and the part advertising men would play, he said:
"We should consider every possible angle (beforehand). Having been these many years an agrarian state are we now ready for a pall of smoke to cover our valleys and hills? Having been an out-door loving people, do we now propose to become a state of factory workers. I am not attempting to answer these questions. I am simply asking them."

Building factories and selling their goods, he said, was highly important, but "my personal conviction is that we should seek to develop and not exploit."

"The opportunities of Texas and the resources of Texas are really a copywriter's dream."

Sadler suggested, in the face of current problems of old age pensions, taxes, highway safety and government-economy, a "little fact-finding and honesty of the rugged variety."

"I say to you x x x we need a little more of it instead of the evasion, the straddling and the hemming and hawing that we have been adjusting ourselves to. x x x I have always been a firm believer in the policy of 'pithless publicity' where matters of government and public interest are concerned."

"In Texas it seems to me we have failed to give sufficient publicity to the financial affairs of our various governmental units. x x x No citizen x x x should have excuse for not knowing what his tax dollar is spent for and who gets it."

IS ACQUITTED
LOS LUNAS, N. M., Nov. 16 (AP) — Leander Riley was acquitted here last night of murder charges growing out of the death of H. L. Gross, Amarillo, Tex., whose body was found by the Santa Fe railroad tracks near Belen, July 28.

COURT REVERSES SLAYING SENTENCE

AUSTIN, Nov. 16 (AP) — Because his confession was obtained by force, the court of criminal appeals today for the second time reversed a 50-year penitentiary sentence assessed Clarence "Puny" Abston in Kent county for conviction of murder in the fatal beating of Rebecca Coursey, Haskell county farm woman.
The court reversed Abston's first conviction on similar grounds.
In his second trial he objected to introduction of another confession made before the grand jury a day after he had been taken from the Haskell county jail to Anson, presumably for safekeeping.
The appellate court ruled the confession was not admissible as evidence because it was not free and voluntary.

HEAVY FOG COVERS EASTERN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP) — One of the worst fogs in years blanketed the eastern part of England, the English Channel and parts of France, Germany and The Netherlands today, seriously affecting shipping, aviation and general transportation.
Two persons were killed and several injured in automobile accidents.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE AT WACO

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Opening of a new office of the social security board at Waco was announced today by James B. Marley, regional director for the states of Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas.
The Waco office (604 Superior building) will be managed by Jesse C. Carter.
Other field offices in Texas are located at Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, San Angelo, San Antonio, Tyler and Wichita Falls.
In addition to the city of Waco, the new office will serve the following Texas counties: Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, Hamilton, Hill, Limestone and McLennan.

QUEEN OF NORWAY SURGERY PATIENT

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP) — Queen Maud of Norway underwent an abdominal operation here today while her husband, King Haakon VII, was on his way to her side.
A physicians' bulletin said "although her majesty has come through the operation well, the next few days cannot be without some anxiety." She is 68 years old.
Queen Maud, sister of the late King George V of Britain, became ill during her annual visit to England.

Today And Tomorrow By Walter Lippmann

(Mr. Lippmann's column is published as an informational and news feature. His views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald.—Editor's Note.) THE PAIR OF WINGED HORSES AND THE CHARIOTEER The question has long been discussed by philosophers as to whether malevolence, that is to say the disposition to pain and misery to others or to the love of power or to self-assertion, that can ever be disinterested. Francis Hutcheson, who was professor of moral philosophy at Glasgow during the second quarter of the 18th century, thought that "human nature seems scarce capable of malicious disinterested hatred, or a sedate delight in the misery of others," and the late F. H. Bradley, of Merton College, Oxford, argued that malevolence, which could not be denied as a fact, should be ascribed to excitement, the love of power or to self-assertion. But his contemporary, Alexander Bain, who was professor at Aberdeen, took the other view, and insisted that "the abundance of examples of delight in mischief of the most absolutely gratuitous kind, beginning in tender years and continuing more or less until maturity" indicate that there is such a thing as "the pleasure of malevolence."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—You may not know it, but Hollywood does; no matter what your calendar says, every year has 95 weeks. Hollywood learned this disconcerting state of time's affairs from the Warner research department, which in turn learned it from the research group of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. Hollywood is interested because, with a full list of all the "weeks" supposed to be observed throughout the land, Hollywood can anticipate each of them with appropriate "art" featuring its stars and starlets. Even thus equipped, however, a publicity "art" man can run into difficulties. How illustrate Truth Week—Honesty Week, or such intangibles as APPLE GROWERS HAVE ANOTHER WEEK as allegedly observed in New York State? Reindeer Week has possibilities, provided he can find a reindeer, also provided the reindeer is agreeable to posing with Olive Delavand, Marie Wilson, or Ann Sheridan. (Lives there a reindeer with soul so dead he wouldn't be agreeable?) Apple Week, yes—Bonita Granville munching one. Prayer Week? Shirley Temple, of course. Grandma Week—that calls for May Robson. Courtesy Week, well, Ivan Lebedeff will bow from the waist. International French Week—who but Danielle Darrieux? Pride in Appearance Week—Adolphe Menjou, naturally. Whoa, here's Find Yourself Week. And Go To High School Week. And Bundles for Near East Week. Weeks and weeks and weeks... I think the publicity artman who brought all this up wishes he hadn't brought it up. Also, by now, quite a few people are wishing that time clocks hadn't been brought up, either. Hollywood became time-clock conscious the other day when a new agreement between producers and the Screen Actors Guild became effective. Actors drawing less than $1,000 a week are supposed to punch the clock to keep strict account of working hours and overtime—and some of our best people make less than $1,000 a week. The first concrete result was a general rush, by producers, to acquire time-clocks, the demand exceeding the supply. (Twentieth Century-Fox ordered 25, got only 10.) Actors, it was estimated, would "punch" their cards from four to eight times daily: at the casting office, in the make-up department, in wardrobe, arriving on the set, arriving for fittings, arriving for publicity interviews or portrait sittings, before going to lunch, again on returning from lunch, again on final departure. Studios anticipated increased overhead, amount unestimated; mad scrambling for the time-clocks, quitting time's lost and misplaced time cards. To avoid where possible overtime payment of players, they worked on more rigid daily production schemes. Early returns from the time-clock front seem to bear out anticipations. Actors and bosses alike were squawking. Indicated was a general clarification of the rules, perhaps the abandonment of clock-punching in favor of some simpler form of record-keeping. Simplest way out, of course, would be for the producers to pay everybody $1,000 a week. None of them, to date, has thought of it.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS By Virginia Hanson

Chapter 12 A DIFFERENT SLANT "You knew her," Adam said simply. "For some time I have thought she was unhappy, tormented. Do you know why?" She made a little artificial gesture with her long, brittle hands. "Anne was not the confiding sort. One knows, of course, certain things from experience. It is not always easy to choose between two men. One falters from inflicting a severe hurt... Have you questioned young Spencer?" I missed Adam's answer. The blood was singing in my ears. My pencil rolled free in my lap and I had to fumble for it in the semidarkness. By the time I found it Adam had launched a counter-attack. "Your husband and Nelson were classmates, I believe. Did you know him at the point?" There was a perceptible pause, but the answer, when it came, seemed candid—almost too candid. "Yes, I had been engaged to Phil for some months when I met Barney. I said just now that I could understand Anne's problem. Believe me, I too, was very unhappy until I found the right solution. I tell you this, of course, in the strictest confidence. Not for the world would I have let Anne know of it. I was very happy that I had found the right girl at last. In fact, I may say I fostered the romance. Poor Barney! One might almost believe in an adverse fate!" Adam made clucking noises and searched her face with his brilliant eyes. He had another question for her. Confidently, what did she think of Barney's brief flurry with Elizabeth? She got out of that one rather neatly without casting a shadow on Elizabeth, who, at all times, the daughter of the commanding officer. I could not help reflecting that Mary Shaw would have made an able wife for a diplomat. According to her the thing was vastly overrated. Anne had sent Barney away until she could test her own feelings and make up her mind. Barney had sought companionship and sympathy from Elizabeth until Anne dismissed Charlie and called him back. This she admitted to be surmise; Anne had confided in no one. It was a singularly apt surmise I reflected. If true—and I admitted the theory was plausible—Charlie was the only logical suspect. Suddenly my mind was illuminated by a flash of memory. Was it really only that afternoon that I had leafed through the Howitzer and found Barney's and Shaw's biographies? Clearly I recalled the last terse, descriptive phrase under Charlie's picture: "Chief claim to distinction: the man who tried to spoil Swede's beauty." I must tell Adam about that at once. I gathered my closely scribbled sheets and waited, tense, for Mary Shaw to effect her lingering departure. Certain formalities must be observed, mutual sympathy and helpfulness expressed, roses involuntarily and stood just behind the curtains, while Adam ceremoniously ushered her out. Short, Bull-Dog Figure But I had no opportunity to impart my scrap of information, for the subject of it followed Adam unobtrusively into the room, wearing his most petulant, defensive scowl. I sat down again and studied him—short, bulldog figure who might be effective in a scrap. Why had he mixed with Barney? Over Mary? But what common could that have with murdering Anne? Once more I watched, with envy, Adam's peculiar talent for putting people at ease. Shaw did not refuse a cigarette. Adam leaned comfortably back, legs crossed, and talked through the smoke that made a blue veil between them. He asked no questions; he told Shaw what he had been doing, with an air of thinking aloud, and presently the younger man relaxed his defensive attitude and put in a word. "Say, what did you do to Wheeler? He came out looking like he had seen a ghost, and they hadn't got out of the club before that battle-axe mother of his was pumping him hot and heavy." "Did she get anything out of him?" Adam asked idly. "Not that I could hear," Shaw admitted frankly. "His jaw was shut like a steel trap. What was it all about?" "He just talked out of turn." Shaw snickered. "I figured it might be that. He'd be sure to bring it up." Adam put both feet on the floor. "What do you mean?" "The same thing you mean. I don't know how you missed hearing about it before. He's shot off his mouth enough since it happened." "You mean—about Anne?" "Yeah. Now don't get sore at me too. I know all about it, and it's true enough as far as it goes. Only it was a put-up job, and Wheeler doesn't know that." Adam eyed him coldly. "Go on." "Well, you see, it was several weeks, maybe a couple months ago—about the time Charlie Spencer started dragging her. We had some house guests and Charlie and Anne dropped in. You know the Wheeler live in the other half of our quarters and Anne saw him sitting by the window reading when they arrived. Ma Wheeler had gone to Chicago on a shopping spree. Don't know how she could bear to let her little boy out of her sight, but she's got him pretty well trained. You know he's not allowed to mingle with us bad boys and girls. "Well, Anne said there was poor Wheeler all alone over there listening to the party, and why didn't Mary call up and ask him to come over. "Well, Mary did ask him once and he declined with horror. So she said never again. And she said why didn't Anne go on over and cheer him up if she thought he needed it. So Anne said he'd probably call out the guard. "Pretty soon it began to look like a swell idea to rib Anne up by breaking in on Wheeler. The girls got to work on her, and I think somebody dared her. We went out in the yard and we could see him still sitting there all alone, reading. Though how he could get any sense out of a book with all the noise we'd been making, I don't know. "Thinking Fast "Anyway, Anne promised to give him the thrill of his first walk in the door, and she said she'd be there when he was facing the other way and before he knew she was there she had plumped down on his lap and kissed him like he was Clark Gable. "We could see it all as plain as day from the lawn. The blinds were way up and the lights full on. Well, you've seen a woman get mixed up with a mouse at close quarters. That was Wheeler. He let out a queer sort of beat, jumped up and tore her loose from him like she was so much poison ivy, backed into a corner and held both hands straight out in front of him to make her keep her distance. He needed to, too. She turned on all the old siren stuff, stretched appealing arms toward him, looked at him soulfully. Been anybody but Wheeler he'd have smelled a rat. "What happened?" "That's about all I know. One of the girls was laughing too loud, so I took her back in our house. The rest of them said Wheeler came to and yanked down the blinds, so they came in too. But it wasn't long until the two of them, Wheeler and Anne, went past, going toward Anne's quarters. She was hanging onto his arm and half running, he was traveling so fast. I guess he took her home. Wheeler's been talking his head off ever since. Not the circumstances, you know. Just hints of what he could spill." "And none of you ever told him the truth?" "Shaw looked uncomfortable. "How could you tell a man a thing like that? I guess everybody else took her home. Wheeler's been talking his head off ever since. Not the circumstances, you know. Just hints of what he could spill." "And none of you ever told him the truth?" "Shaw looked uncomfortable. "How could you tell a man a thing like that? I guess everybody else took her home. Wheeler's been talking his head off ever since. Not the circumstances, you know. Just hints of what he could spill." "And none of you ever told him the truth?"

REFUGEE PROBLEM FOR AMERICA

It would be interesting to know just how many of us who now live in America are living here because of some acute wave of tyranny or persecution in Europe. A few generations ago, each one of the periodic up-surges of repression on the continent sent a flood of new immigrants to America. People came over by the thousand, fleeing from every form of autocracy; America received them gladly and was so proud of the ability to take them in that a democratic party platform in 1856 boasted that the country was "the asylum of the oppressed of every nation." But times have changed. The oppression goes on—in forms which make some of the 19th century abuses look mild—but America's gates are closed. Under the current immigration law, only a small fraction of the host that formerly came is admitted. The most that can enter in any one year now is 150,000. Now that immigration law was not passed hastily. Americans had had good many years to observe the workings of the melting pot, and it was perfectly obvious that in many ways it was not working so well. So restrictions were voted, with the approval of the vast majority of Americans, and there is small chance that a return to the old era of unrestricted immigration would win much approval. Yet we might as well realize that we are facing a new situation in Europe, and that both our humanity and our traditions require us to examine it very carefully. And it is being examined, as witness reports from London which announce the United States ambassador to Great Britain, Joseph Kennedy, has put forward a plan whereby this country and England assist in offering haven to Jewish people seeking escape from Germany. It was reported that this nation would receive 30,000 Jews. The refugee situation abroad is worse, of course, than ever before. The authoritarian states are calmly forcing exile of thousands of people, and in innumerable tragic cases these people have nowhere to go. It is not easy to say that a nation with 10,000,000 unemployed should open its gates to thousands of newcomers. Yet the idea of offering a haven to a select few refugees at least deserves prayerful consideration.

Man About Manhattan by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The big dice games continue to float through the skyscraper hotels, the same sort of games the movies make so much of after Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, was killed. Tonight they are in this hotel, tomorrow in that, but never in the same place two nights running. No one knows until a few hours before they get underway where they will take place, and then the word is whispered around in the mysterious grapevine always in operation on games of chance. They do not toss for chicken feed in these games. The stakes are high and the game is, outwardly, at least, a gentleman's game. Only those whose credentials are established are ever permitted to venture within a city block of the tables. This means that you have established yourself as a man who (A) can keep a close mouth, and (B) your financial backing is sufficient to guarantee any loss which might occur. That is why in big games today a man's I.O.U. is as good as gold. They will always trust you—once. What their reaction to wenching would be I do not know. Maybe they would kill you but I doubt it. The day when the boys arrived for play with 44's under their arm pits, I think, largely disappeared. The killers are getting too tough a deal in this modern New York. But they could make it very unpleasant indeed if you walked out on an obligation. You hear now and then of exin all the desirable offices, the young men who followed them soon grew up. Places have to be found for them, or the second wave of the revolution will engulf the aging veterans. At this point the revolutionary dictatorship is in danger unless it can open up new posts of command by foreign conquests and by dispossessing some part of the population at home. In Russia this has been done by slaughtering the old bolsheviks and by deporting millions of farmers, independently-minded workmen and middle class officials, managers and professional men to work at forced labor in the empty spaces of the Russian continent. In Germany it began with the expropriation of the Jews and, if the manifestations against the Catholic hierarchy mean what they appear to mean, will soon find a new world to conquer. These expropriations not only open up patronage for the younger men of the revolutionary party; they also provide the party with funds of which a dictatorship is always in need because of its inordinately unproductive expenditures. All property which does not serve the immediate purposes of the dictatorship is in principle subject to confiscation. But the property which it is most desirable to confiscate is, of course, the property of those who, having been wronged by the regime, are hated as men hate only those whom they have wronged, and then the property of those who, because they can never in their hearts accept the regime, will always provide points of resistance to it. Thus if we study the thing, seeking to understand what we are unable to prevent, we see that in the madness there is method. (Copyright, 1938, New York Tribune Inc.)

Man About Manhattan by GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK — The big dice games continue to float through the skyscraper hotels, the same sort of games the movies make so much of after Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, was killed. Tonight they are in this hotel, tomorrow in that, but never in the same place two nights running. No one knows until a few hours before they get underway where they will take place, and then the word is whispered around in the mysterious grapevine always in operation on games of chance. They do not toss for chicken feed in these games. The stakes are high and the game is, outwardly, at least, a gentleman's game. Only those whose credentials are established are ever permitted to venture within a city block of the tables. This means that you have established yourself as a man who (A) can keep a close mouth, and (B) your financial backing is sufficient to guarantee any loss which might occur. That is why in big games today a man's I.O.U. is as good as gold. They will always trust you—once. What their reaction to wenching would be I do not know. Maybe they would kill you but I doubt it. The day when the boys arrived for play with 44's under their arm pits, I think, largely disappeared. The killers are getting too tough a deal in this modern New York. But they could make it very unpleasant indeed if you walked out on an obligation. You hear now and then of ex-

You Can Shoot A Turkey Dinner Just As The Pilgrim Fathers Did

By JACK THOMPSON AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Want to get your Thanksgiving bird the hard way, like the Pilgrims did three centuries ago?

Then grab your gun and start for the woods. Not just any woods, mind you, but if you know where to go there are still wild turkeys that would have been the answer to a Pilgrim's prayer.

Uncle Sam has built up a stock of 50,000 wild turkeys in the national forests alone, making him the keeper of the biggest flock in the world. And he lets hunters shoot them under rigid restrictions.

You Can Shoot a Dinner More than a dozen states have arranged their open seasons to give hunters a shot at a Thanksgiving bird. All these states let hunters into Uncle Sam's wild turkey yards.

But descendants of the bird the early Americans hunted for their Thanksgiving feasts have proved a hardy lot. Except in New England, not even hunters' guns, coyotes, foxes and hard winters have been able to stamp them out.

Wild turkeys have increased almost 25 per cent in the past year in the national forests of the Appalachians, stretching south from Virginia.

'Movie Queen' To Be Named Saturday

Parade Will Be Pre-Lude To Benefit Show Dec. 1-2

Members of a casting committee and the director of a forthcoming production, "Movie Queen," to be staged here December 1 and 2 under auspices of the American Business Club, were sifting names Wednesday toward selection of a young lady to play the title role in the play.

As the story of the play goes, the "movie queen" went to Hollywood as simple little Mary Brown, a local girl who won a trip to the movie capital of the American continent. There, she was mistaken for a foreign actress traveling in disguise, and after many complicated and hilarious situations, was cast as leading lady in a hit film. Her career "made," she returns to her home town.

Saturday will be the day of her "return." The "movie queen" will be greeted by city officials with ceremony, and will ride in a parade with other members of the cast of the show. Moving pictures will be made of the parade and these will be shown as the fourth act of the production to be presented at the municipal auditorium on December 1 and 2.

JUDGE TO RESIGN

McKINNEY, Nov. 16 (AP)—Judge F. E. Wilcox announced today he intends resigning from the 59th district court November 25, which he has held 20 years, unless his health improves.

The court serves Collin and Grayson counties. The Collin Bar Association at a meeting praised the jurist and said it hoped the judge's health would not force his retirement.

Judge Wilcox was elected to his four-year term in 1936.

Nearly 1/2 of telephone expenses in Texas goes for wages... Out of more than 23 1/2 million dollars spent by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to provide telephone service in Texas last year, about 10 million dollars... nearly half... went for wages. Wages to 9,000 telephone people, who in turn spent most of that money in Texas. Telephone wages play no small part in keeping the state's business moving. And by assuring telephone users of the services of skilled, efficient people, they play a large part in giving you good telephone service at reasonable cost. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

DEMANDS TRIAL FOR DEPORTATION OF HARRY BRIDGES

Indianapolis, Nov. 16 (AP)—Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., national commander of the American Legion, demanded of Secretary of Labor Perkins today that her department proceed at once with trial of Harry Bridges, west coast director for the Committee of Industrial Organization, on the charge he is an "undesirable alien" and should be deported.

Chadwick made public at a conference of legion department commanders and adjutants a letter he sent to Mrs. Perkins yesterday. The letter quoted resolutions passed at the legion convention in Los Angeles in September demanding Bridges deportation and charging labor department officials had failed to enforce deportation laws and blocked passage of new immigration acts.

"I have withheld addressing you until the elections were out of the way in order that my thus addressing you should not be considered as a matter of political implications," Chadwick's letter said.

Mutual Plan Of Defense Suggested

Lima Conference May Consider F.D.'s Suggestion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt has supplied a cue for discussions at next month's Pan-American conference by viewing defense of the western hemisphere as a mutual proposition among its 21 republic and Canada.

He told his press conference yesterday that he would ask congress to increase the nation's air forces sufficiently to cope with any foreign aggression against either of the American continents.

But the administration, he emphasized, does not contemplate that the United States should guard the new world alone. National defense, he added, has become a matter of continental defense, and mutual solidarity is needed.

This solidarity is more definite, Mr. Roosevelt continued, than at any time since the Latin republics were struggling for their independence more than a century ago.

The president's remarks are certain to be an important topic among delegates from the American republics at their regular meeting in Lima, Peru, beginning December 9. In fact, Latin American diplomatic circles here consider mutual defense the principal business of the conference—at least behind the scene.

At Buenos Aires, Dr. Jose Maria Cantilo, minister of foreign affairs, said Argentina would be unwilling to consider a formal defensive bloc of American nations if it meant "turning our backs on European nations linked to Argentina by traditional bonds."

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada said at Ottawa that Mr. Roosevelt's statement was a further indication of the common interests of Canada and the United States.

Anti-Jew

inasmuch as the head of a nation rarely comments on internal developments in another country.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated he would receive from Ambassador Wilson, after his arrival late next week, "a first-hand picture of the situation in Germany." This act of officials to predict the two men would talk over not only the Jewish problem but also such points as:

1. Germany's ignoring of repeated American notes asking her to assume Austria's debts to this country.
2. Germany's economic campaign in central Europe which may impair American trade in that region and which already is interfering with the conclusion of a trade agreement between the United States and Turkey.
3. Germany's ambitions, economic and political, in Latin America.

Parleys Continued On Refugee Scheme

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—The British cabinet today sought means of aiding German Jews and other nazis reaction to a mass migration plan attributed to United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The proposal to move the German Jews to North and South America and to parts of the British empire was brought before the cabinet at its regular Wednesday meeting.

Consultations are under way among Great Britain, the United States, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark and Switzerland on the problem growing out of the recent wave of anti-Semitic measures in Germany.

Official sources said the British government was considering calling a meeting of an intergovernmental committee on refugees set up at Evian-les-Bains, France, last July. The purpose of the session would be to study what can be done for Jews in Germany.

One of the biggest problems was the attitude of Adolf Hitler toward efforts of other powers to relieve the Jews.

Germany, now smarting under foreign denunciation of the anti-Jewish disorders, may be inclined to snub advances to her on the question.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—The remaining portion of the stock market's post-election gains last week were largely swept away by broad selling today.

Losses running to three points in leading shares piled up in late trading after the market generally failed to respond to early strength in aviation and steel shares, which enjoyed a short-lived whirl as U. S. plans for increased defense spending were emphasized in the Washington news.

Steel and aircraft shares, too, gave up virtually all their early gains before the late selling waves and joined the list generally in lower ground.

Trading picked up in the late selling, with transactions for the day approximating 1,700,000 shares.

To Interview Young People On NYA Jobs

Ben Jackson, National Youth Administration supervisor for the San Angelo district, and Frank Shaffer, Abilene, field representative, will be here Thursday at the Howard County Welfare offices at 4 p. m. to interview young people interested in obtaining NYA employment.

The two expressed a desire of contacting young men and women between the ages of 18 and 25 years, and who are in need of part-time employment. The NYA is desirous of setting a more comprehensive program here if the need warrants it, Shaffer said on a previous visit here.

They asked that those interested see them at the offices at East First and Goliad Thursday afternoon.

New Manager Named For Settles Hotel

Dan Hudson, who will succeed R. S. "Dick" Norton as manager of the Settles hotel, was here Wednesday to assume his new duties.

Norton, who was named manager here a year ago, will leave shortly for consultation in the home office of the National Hotels at Galveston.

Hudson has been assistant manager of the Texas hotel in Fort Worth for the past eight months. His appointment here became effective Wednesday.

Accompanying Hudson here Tuesday were his wife and Mrs. Winthrop, assistant general manager of the National Hotels at Galveston.

CHINESE MOBILIZED TO DEFEND TOWN

CHUNGKING, Nov. 16 (AP)—Chinese reported today that all able-bodied men were being mobilized to defend Changsha, capital of Hunan province, as the Japanese rapidly approached down the railroad from Yochow, 80 miles to the north.

Dispatches from Shanghai said the Japanese troops were near Pingkiang, 40 miles northeast of Changsha.

American property was reported to have escaped damage in the Hunan capital but fires set by the Chinese destroyed much of the city. British-owned buildings were damaged extensively.

All foreigners were said to be safe.

Mrs. O. P. Miller of Fort Worth, a former resident of Big Spring, was visiting here Wednesday.

No admission will be charged for the performance.

Snyder Pool Extension Indicated

Shell No. Carry- ing 2100 Feet Of Oil In Hole

A slight extension to the northwest was in prospect for the Snyder pool in southeastern Howard county Wednesday as the Shell No. 1 Snyder, edge well 2,310 feet from the north and west lines of section 28-30-1s, T&P, carried 2,100 feet of oil in the hole at 2,868 feet.

Meanwhile, the Magnolia No. 10 A. E. O'Daniel, in the northwest quarter of section 34-30-1s, T&P, in proven territory, neared completion with a hole full of oil at 2,744 feet. It was to shoot Wednesday evening.

Magnolia No. 5 M. H. O'Daniel, a southeast edge well in section 34, ran tubing and rods preparatory to testing. Tests which were cleaning out shots were: Moore Bros. No. 3-B O'Daniel, section 34, at bottom at 2,787 feet; Moore Bros. No. 5-A O'Daniel, section 34, 20 feet off bottom; Magnolia No. 4 M. H. O'Daniel, companion to the No. 5 well, 20 feet off bottom.

Moore Bros. No. 7-A Snyder, in section 28, shut down with a bad fishing job at 2,619 feet for three weeks, was ready to resume drilling. Shell No. 5 TXL, section 33, drilled past 1,010 feet and Eastland No. 2-B TXL, in northeast quarter of same section, drilled to 1,847 feet.

In the center of the northeast quarter of section 27-30-1s, T&P, the Greens Production Co. No. 1 Snyder, rehabilitation test, plugged back to 3,150 feet and was bailing. Martin county's lone oil test, the wildcat T. G. Shaw, trustee No. 1 H. H. Wilkinson, drilled to 3,230 feet in redbeds after shutting off water shows from 2,828-35 feet and 3,122-45 feet with seven inch casing. Location is in section 35-A, B. & C., just across from the Howard county line.

FOUNDER'S PORTRAIT UNVEILED AT P-TA MEET IN LUBBOCK

LUBBOCK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Eight hundred and thirty-five delegates representing the 15 districts in the broad expanse of Texas had gathered by noon today for the 30th annual three-day convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers which opened the third general session this morning at the First Baptist auditorium.

A surprise feature of the morning was the unveiling of an oil portrait of Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter of Dallas, founder of the state congress, which is to hand in the state headquarters in Austin. Presentation was made by Mrs. R. M. Carter of Sherman on behalf of the parent-teacher associations that made the gift possible. The painting, the work of Nicholas Richard Brewer, eminent New York artist, was unveiled by Henry Meredith, senior engineering student at Texas Technological college and a nephew of Mrs. Porter.

Youth Says He Was 'On His Own' When He Shot Official

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP)—The 17-year-old boy who started the German anti-Jewish violence was "on his own" for the first time when despair led him to shoot a German embassy secretary, he told police.

Unnerved and tearful after he learned of the Nazi anger at the death of the secretary, Ernst von Rath, the youth said he had been sleeping on parks and banks of the Seine for two weeks before the attack on November 7.

Here is the story told by the boy, Herschel Grynszpan, slender, dark-haired, of medium height?

He was born at Hanover, Germany, March 18, 1921, of Polish parents. His father, a tailor, became a naturalized German.

He came to Paris two years ago "because there was no opportunity for one of my race to remain in Germany."

Until two weeks before the shooting of Vom Rath, Grynszpan lived with his aunt and uncle.

He decided to earn his own living. The night of November 8 he registered at a hotel. The next morning he bought a gun and shortly before 9 a. m. went to the German embassy. The assault followed.

His immediate resentment, he explained, was because his parents were ordered to leave Germany, without possessions, under a government order expelling many Polish Jews.

Miss Margaret Dubrok has returned from Robertsville, Ala., where she has been on vacation for the past two weeks. She has resumed her duties on the nursing staff at Big Spring hospital.

Miss Milady Stancek, member of the nursing staff of the Big Spring hospital, left Tuesday for Temple, where she will visit relatives and friends for two weeks.
