BURGLARS ENTER LOCAL DRUG STORE LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

The Leverett-Williams drug store was entered by burglars last Friday night and the store sustained a loss of approximately $200 as near as can be ascertained by checking. The thieves gained entrance to the building by tearing off a screen and breaking an upper pane out of a rear window. The loss consisted of watches, pocket knives and jewelry, etc., and five dollars in cash, which was taken from the cash register by prying it open. It was also indicated that the thieves attempted to work the combination of the store's large safe, but did not damage it in any way. The work is thought to be that of amateurs, but as yet the officers have been unable to discover any clue that throws any light on the guilty parties.

PROMINENT YOUNG LADY OF MEMPHIS MARRIES

Miss Helen McNeely of this city and Mr. Gerald R. Sensabaugh of Cleburne were united in marriage in a beautiful church wedding at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, 8 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. O. F. Sensabaugh of Cleburne, father of the bridegroom, performing the ring ceremony, assisted by the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. J. Harding Mallard, in the presence of hundreds of guests.

Mrs. Sensabaugh is a charming daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. McNeely of this city, and is an accomplished artist, having taught speech arts in McMurry College at Abilene the past year. She numbers her friends by all who know her, and will be missed from the social circles of this city. The bridegroom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Sensabaugh of Cleburne, and is a splendid young man of excellent qualities who will make good in life in whatever line of work he undertakes. They will make their home in Cleburne after August 15.

Out of town relatives and guests at the wedding were Dr. L. A. Suggs and daughter, Miss Katherine, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lomax and daughter Miss Elizabeth of Denton; Mr. W. H. Suggs of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. O'Rear of Wellington; Miss Dona Lock and Mr. Ellis Lock of Miami; Miss Nell Connolly of San Antonio; Mr. Carroll McMurtry of Clarendon; Mr. Alfred Freeman of Abilene; Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Sensabaugh of Cleburne; Mrs. Leona Holt of Dallas; Mrs. J. P. Rooker and Jessie Mae and George Rooker of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. P. Martin Baker of Corsicana. A detailed account of the wedding will be published in next issue of the Democrat.

GENERAL RAINS MAKE PROSPECT FOR CROPS GOOD

More than two inches of rain visited this immediate section from Friday morning to Monday morning. Other portions of the county received a greater amount of rain than around Memphis. The Deep Lake and Brice communities, which had received practically no rain at all during the spring and summer, came in for three inches or more. The rain seems to have been general over the entire Panhandle and North-West Texas.

Friday morning about one and quarter inches of rain fell here, and then again early Monday morning nearly an inch fell. The rains fell slowly and practically every drop went into the soil. Crops have taken a new lease on life and are growing rapidly, putting on more fruit and filling out feed and corn to the extent that the crops this fall will be normal, for the moisture now in the ground practically assures a good yield. The weather has been cloudy and damp nearly every day since, is also of much benefit.

Hall county will have at least forty thousand bales of cotton this year, with the usual amount of feed and other forage crops, and the price will more than likely be far better than last year. The banner county will again unfurl her winning banner this fall.

SAYS THE DROUGHT HERE WAS NOTHING

Jim McMurry of the Brice Community stated Monday while in town that they had a great rain last Friday, but very little Sunday night. Said he was used to dry weather. One time when he lived in the Wise end of Jack county it got so dry that his two water wells went dry and he had to carry water from stagnant pools on Cottonwood creek. The water was full of wiggletails and he would drink this water. When he coughed he would cough up mosquitoes and they would then turn around and bite him. NEXT!

PREBYTERIAN PASTOR ARRIVED LAST SATURDAY

Dr. J. Harding Mallard and wife arrived Saturday from Haynesville, La., to begin work as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. These estimable people are extended a hand of welcome on behalf of the community, and come highly recommended as splendid people and church workers.

Dr. J. M. Ballew sold the 40 acres of land south and east of his home place to Jim Webster latter part of last week who will likely build a residence on same in the near future.

POULTRY SOLD COOPERATIVELY IS AID TO RAISERS

"The operation of the Southwestern Poultry association has resulted in better prices being paid for poultry and poultry products to all producers who sell in Brownwood. Better facilities for refrigeration and handling have been provided, and poultry production has been greatly stimulated," said O. P. Griffin, county agent, Brownwood, in a discussion of the Southwestern Poultry association before the poultry group at the Farmers Short Course, A. & M. College of Texas.

"As an educational agency, cooperative marketing has helped put over methods of production and handling eggs. More than half of all eggs brought to market in Brownwood in summer are infertile. Before the organization of the cooperative only a very small per cent were infertile and large numbers of eggs were candied out, causing heavy loss to the producer.

"Cooperative marketing helps in several ways to raise the price level. It makes competition in buying more alert to find the best outlet. The association member has access to markets other than his home town. Then too, the cooperative by grading and selling a superior product, finds a ready market at good prices.

"With reference to whether it will pay to attempt organization for marketing the following things should be considered. Flocks of less than 100 chickens are not worth anything to an association. A greater degree of success can be had with a large production within a small area. In order to have a high grade product to market, eggs should be delivered at least twice a week, every day would be better.

"An association can make a better showing with turkeys than with either eggs or chickens. And last and most important of all, there must be volume enough coming from people who really want to cooperate to pay the overhead expenses without taxing the product too much."

LOCAL MEN RETURN FROM COLLEGE STATION

County Agent Thompson and son Eldon, and Supt. Theo Swift returned Saturday from College Station where they attended the Farmers Short Course. They report a week of interesting and profitable meetings. At least five thousand people were in attendance—much greater than ever before.

BOY SCOUTS TO GO IN CAMP FOR FOUR DAYS

Plans are being perfected for a four-day Scout Camp for Memphis Scouts, starting August 10. Ed Knittle, field executive for this district, writes that he will be here first of the week to complete arrangements. He wants special committees appointed to handle the securing of equipment, rations, etc. and to make definite arrangements for camp site and swimming.

All Scouts who desire to attend this camp should enroll at once with Dave Price, Vance Johnson and Alfred Jameson, or either of them. A minimum fee of $3.50 will be charged for the entire four days. This will take care of the eating and other expenses of the camp. This may be too much, and if it is, the surplus will be turned back to the boys.

The camp will be under the supervision of Executive Knittle and other adult leaders, and a great time is expected by all the scouts. Besides the recreation, the Scouts will be given tests in Scouting, and it will be a good opportunity for all boys to advance in the work.

MAN ARRESTED THOUGHT TO BE FAMILY SLAYER

A negro suspected of the murder of the Frank Weatherby family of Alanreed June 24, is under arrest at Shreveport, La., giving his name as James Rucker. He answered the description sent out for Shelby Dozier, negro charged with the Weatherby murder, and was armed when arrested.

Finger prints and photographs have been sent to Clarendon for identification.

The Weatherby murder occurred near Alanreed, on the Sam. J. Hamilton farm, June 24. Weatherby, his wife and two small children were murdered. The same day Shelby Dozier and his wife, who worked for the Weatherbys, disappeared in the Weatherby car, and big rewards have been offered for their capture. The murder created intense feeling in this section of country.

ROTARY CLUB HAS SESSION OF INTEREST

The Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday was very interesting and entertaining. Dr. Mallard, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the speaker and used for his subject "Service." He illustrated how mankind is serving better than ever before by telling of many incidents of the great flood in Louisiana. He is a splendid talker and entertaining speaker. Roy Beights, who is leading the singing in the Methodist revival, led the song service and sang several solos, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Robertson. The music was enjoyed by all present. The question of a Students Loan Fund came up and a committee was appointed to report at next meeting plans for the formation of a permanent fund immediately.

FORMER CITIZEN OF HALL COUNTY DIES

Charles K. Auburg died at his home near Lovington, New Mexico of heart failure, June 30. Chas. will be remembered by many citizens of Hall county as he spent several years of his early life in and around Esteline, moving to New Mexico some years ago where he died very suddenly and was buried at Hobbs. He is survived by his wife and mother Mrs. S. S. Auburg who had spent the winter with them, also two brothers J. T. of Brownfield Texas and Fred of Childress; also four sisters Mrs. P. A. Cunningham of Hobart, Okla. Mrs. H. E. Mullins of Turkey, Okla. Mrs. Frank Cox, Esteline; and Mrs. C. L. Cooper, Alaska.

The following article is from the Lovington News:

The people of Lovington were greatly shocked and surprised this morning when they learned that C. K. Auburg, a prominent ranchman living east of town had died about midnight the previous night.

Mr. Auburg's death, which came suddenly was caused by heart failure and was unexpected. He was in Lovington transacting business yesterday and was apparently in the best of health.

Mr. Auburg was an old time resident of Lea County and has many friends here. He leaves a wife to mourn his loss in addition to many relatives in other parts of the country. J. T. Auburg, a brother living at Brownfield, formerly lived in Lovington.—Lovington News.

MRS. T. E. TYNER

Mrs. T. E. Tyner, aged 35 years, died Wednesday at the family home three miles west of Esteline where they lived for past seven years. She leaves a husband and six children. The funeral is to be held this Thursday at Esteline.

FOUR PROPOSED AMENDMENTS DEFEATED BY LARGE MAJORITY

The small percentage of Hall county voters who voted last Monday turned out a negative vote against all the four proposed amendments. The state of Texas turned them down in like proportion. The tax plan fared worse than the other three, while the judiciary system received the most favorable vote.

Following is a list of voting boxes and the votes cast for and against the amendments No. 1 (Judicial), No. 2 (Tax), No. 3 (Fee System), and No. 4 (Salary).

Concrete is being poured on Highway Five. The work was begun Wednesday morning and 325 feet was finished that day. The machinery is being tuned up and the men are learning their jobs so that in a day or two the work will be speeded up and it is expected from six to seven hundred feet will be completed each day. The actual completion of the road has been looked forward to since 1923, and now the dream is coming true.

The work is being done by the V. P. Strange Construction company of Utah, under the supervision of R. C. Meyers. The machinery being used on the job is practically all new and of the very latest type. The mixer takes a truck load of material at a time and mixes it into concrete, moves up under its own power and shaves the road bed as it goes. As the concrete is poured it is followed with a smoothing machine which leaves the road in fine shape, and all that is needed to follow the smoothing to complete the road is one or two hand planers. The concrete is left in almost perfect condition when finished, and County Engineer Hasie says he believes they are getting as good concrete as it is possible to get.

The trucks hauling the material are turned around near the mixer on a turntable, backed up a few feet and the load dumped into the mixer. The forms are of steel nine inches high with a surface at the top like the top of railroad rails, and the wheels of the machinery run on this. Already 1,600 feet of forms have been set. A machine is used in making the ditch for the forms, and this part of the work is watched with interest.

Plenty of sand and gravel is on the railroad yards here to keep the work going several days, and the company states that enough material will arrive daily to prevent any delay in the work. A large crane is being used to unload the cars and loading the hopper from which the trucks are loaded. It is all very interesting work and is being watched by plenty of spectators.

Judge A. C. Hoffman and Engineer Hasie are highly pleased with the work that is being done, and believe that Hall county will have one of the best hard surfaced roads in the whole Panhandle. The company is employing local men wherever possible, which is of material benefit to local men.

The work was begun at the Donley-Hall line two miles north of town and will continue to Red river, a distance of 13 1/2 miles. Thus does Hall county continue in the lead of counties in this section of Texas.

J. M. Willborn and family arrived last week from Borger. The family will remain here, while J. M. went back to Borger Wednesday.

POULTRYMEN SHOULD CARE FOR PULLETS

"Since the poultryman's future business depends upon his pullets, he should take a great pride in their growth and development," W. C. Homeyer, professor of poultry husbandry, John Tarleton College, Stephenville, said in a discussion of preparing pullets for the laying house given before the poultry group at the Farmers' Short Course, A. & M. College of Texas.

"The success of any poultryman depends largely upon the proper preparation of the pullets for the laying house. Far too many people neglect the growing stock until the birds are ready for the laying house, and then they expect to find a feed that will make the small, and immature pullets lay eggs of good size, and plenty of them. A pullet that has been neglected during the growing period will lay less eggs, will be more susceptible to disease, will lay for much shorter period, and the eggs from such stock will, as a rule, produce weak chicks.

"The secret of success in feeding growing pullets is to never feed a forcing ration. Give them a chance to grow and mature well before forcing egg production. A pullet that starts laying early in the season usually goes into a molt in the fall of the year, and consequently produces less eggs during the period that they are worth most. Furthermore, a pullet that starts laying before it is well matured cannot stand the strain of high egg production and when used as a breeder will produce weak chicks.

"In order to mature pullets that will make a real laying hens, be sure that you do not neglect the following points:

- (1) Separate the sexes and have all of the pullets in one house, grouping the pullets according to size.
- (2) Place them in a house with plenty of room, fresh air, roots, feed hoppers, and water fountains.
- (3) Give them a range that is shady and provided with an abundance of succulent green feed.
- (4) Keep houses, yards and birds sanitary and free from insects.
- (5) Be sure that the pullets get a properly balanced growing ration at all times, which includes green feed, mineral and water as well as grain and mash.

"Well prepared pullets mean strong healthy birds, and a good profit. Through preparedness, you are better able to compete with your fellow poultryman regardless of feed and egg prices."

NEW ASSISTANT CHIEF ENGINEER CHEVROLET CO.

O. E. Hunt, vice president in charge of engineering of the Chevrolet Motor company, today announced the appointment of J. M. Crawford, for 21 years an automotive engineer, to the newly created position of assistant chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor company. Mr. Crawford assumed his new duties the latter part of July.

Prior to joining the Chevrolet organization, Mr. Crawford was for six years chief engineer for a well-known builder of medium-priced cars. His new position with Chevrolet, the largest manufacturer of gear shift cars in the world, is regarded in automotive circles as a distinct and well-merited promotion growing out of his extensive, practical knowledge of motor car building.

He entered this field in 1906 and has literally grown up with the industry, serving with various automobile manufacturers, chief of which was the old Chalmers Motor company, from that date to the present time.

Mr. Crawford was born and reared at Indianapolis, Indiana. Upon his appointment as Mr. Hunt's assistant he moved to Detroit, Michigan, where his headquarters are located in the main office of the Chevrolet Motor company in the General Motors building.

With their huge Fokker monoplane half buried in the waters of the English channel after a forced landing, Commander Richard E. Byrd and his companions of the third trans-Atlantic flight were lucky to escape with their lives.

OUTPUT DODGE 4S INCREASED

Production of "American's Fastest Fours," introduced last week by Dodge Brothers as the most remarkable four-cylinder cars ever made, has been stepped up rapidly during the past few days to permit increased shipments to Dealers.

"The reception accorded the new line by Dodge Brothers Dealers everywhere has been equalled by only one other event in Dodge Brothers history—the introduction of our six cylinder line," Mr. Lee stated.

Two features of the new line stand out above all others in the minds of those persons who have inspected the cars now being shown by Allen Figh Motor Co., local Dodge Brothers Dealer, according to Mr. J. R. Figh, Sales Manager.

DAMAGE DONE BY WINDSTORM

That section of the Panhandle country between Malden and Goodnight, a stretch of approximately four miles along the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, was severely hit Sunday night by a wind and electrical storm which reached cyclonic proportions and did considerable damage.

More than half a hundred telegraph line poles along the railroad between Malden and Goodnight were razed, disrupting wire service and as a result impeding traffic, both freight and passenger, over the Denver road.

There was no damage of any consequence reported in either Malden or Goodnight, although the wind reached a velocity of more than 40 miles an hour. The most damage was in the stretch along the Denver road.

Cinderella and Her Prince

One of the biggest weddings in the St. Maurice river country of Quebec, ever has known took place recently when James "Bud" Stillman, son of the New York financier and society man, James Stillman, and Lena Wilson, "Cinderella of the Woods," were married. Lena, in her wedding dress, and "Bud" in the cap and gown he wore when graduated from Princeton, are pictured above.

J. O. Y. CLASS MEETS IN BUSINESS SESSION

The Baptist young ladies held their regular business meeting with Mrs. Jones on Monday evening. Mrs. Peterson is to take Mrs. Owen's place as teacher of the class. After business matters were discussed the president, Yetta Mae Hackworth, presented the bride, Mrs. Jones, with an ice bowl and pick as a gift from the class.

The hostess served ice cream and cake to the following girls: Yetta Mae Hackworth, Florence Wherry, Radia Moreman, Olive Ruth Ewen, Elizabeth Bryant, Mrs. Collier, Janice Miller, and Avis Lard.

MISS IONE WEBSTER GIVES PARTY SATURDAY

Miss Ione Webster entertained with a going away party at her home on 921 Noel street Saturday morning in honor of Miss Emma Ruth Lindsey of Denton.

Games were enjoyed and a delicious salad course was served to the following: Misses Emma Ruth Lindsey, Carolyn McNeely, Mildred Owens, Dorrae Powell, Florence Wherry, C. J. Goodnight and Shirley Greene.

BREAKFAST HONORING MISS HELEN McNEELY

A pretty affair in the morning hours of Saturday was a breakfast given by Mrs. Elmer S. Shelley at 9:30 o'clock at her home on West Robertson street, Miss Mary Helen McNeely, bride of the month was the honoree of the occasion.

A gold and green color note was followed in decorations and throughout the breakfast. The table was laid with a hand embroidered luncheon set. On the center cloth was a large crystal basket surrounded by small crystal baskets all filled with Nasturtiums, marigolds and zinnias, the handles tied with green tulle and a yellow butterfly on each.

The bride's place was designated with shower bouquet of the marigolds and zinnias tied with gold. The place cards of the guests were miniature brides. Favors were nasturtiums tied with gold ribbon.

The menu was iced eantoupe topped with mint, Fried chicken, rice molds with gravy, beau-reard eggs, frozen salad in gold and green, iced tea, hot rolls, apricot marmalade, peach ice cream, brides cake. Just before the ice course the honoree and guests were entertained with a cake contest, after which the hostess presented the honoree with an index recipe box and each one gave a menu with recipes for the box.

During the ice course Mrs. Shelley gave a clever reading, "The Bridal Procession."

The guests were those who assisted in the wedding as follows: the bride's mother, Mrs. M. McNeely; maid of honor, Miss Carolyn McNeely; soloist, Mrs. Coleman Hasie; matron of honor, Mrs. Allen Grundy; decorators, Mrs. L. D. Pierce Jr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Noel.

TEXAS & TEXANS

Tax Values Increase
TEXAS tax values show an increase of $150,000,000 for last year. Of the seventeen largest counties in taxable valuations only four show a decrease from previous valuations. Those are in the section most seriously affected by the drought of 1925, and the decrease is only temporary.

Hondo Prosperity
Hondo, county site of Medina county, is having a building boom, new business houses and residences going up on nearly every street. Its banks report the largest business in their history. The Hondo natural gas field produces 500,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. The secret of Hondo's prosperity lies in both the fine surrounding country and the thrifty, industrious citizenry.

Texas Cities Building
Those who have been predicting a slump in building activities in Texas this year have another guess coming. Most of the towns of the State, and especially the cities, are building right ahead according to the permits issued even the early summer months showing no let up. Reports for country districts are not available, but it is generally believed that country building is not keeping pace with that in the towns and cities. In Texas, as elsewhere, there is a steady movement of population from the country into the towns except in those sections where agricultural development is particularly active. Tenancy apparently is on the increase in the country, but in the towns there is an increase in home-ownership.

Austin-San Antonio Road
Almost every Texan who travels from home in an auto and nearly every tourist from out of the State has occasion to use the Austin-San Antonio highway at least once, and all who go over the road are thankful when the trip is safely ended. The scenery is all that could be desired and the center of the road is usually in possible condition. It was one of the first roads to be built in the State and in most places is too narrow for the heavy travel going in both directions. It curves with every farm corner and has numerous winding hill climbs. Apparently it crosses a railroad track wherever one is low enough to be climbed and most of the crossings have claimed numerous victims. A movement is on foot to widen and straighten the road and to remove fourteen of the most dangerous crossings. It is stated that the distance between Austin and San Antonio will be reduced from 85 to 75 miles by taking out the worst curves. Texas needs wider and straighter roads than those that were first built.

Indianaola Hotel Project
Work will soon begin on a $700,000 resort hotel and thirty cottages near the old town of Indianaola, one of the most picturesque coast spots on Matagorda Bay, it is stated by those promoting the project. Indianaola was once practically the only port through which Texas settlers communicated with the outside world, but for years only a few old buildings have been left standing surrounded by oceaners and other flower bushes that have survived the neglect. This is one of numerous enterprises looking to the building of health and pleasure resorts all along the Texas coast line.

Champion Hog Breeder

J. R. Oliver of "Whitewright, Texas, is now the largest breeder of Duroc-Jersey hogs in the United States according to reports made by the Duroc-Jersey Association. He has 582 registered hogs on his little farm of 90 acres. He began the business ten years ago and has given it his closest personal attention. Besides his hogs and hog pasture he reproduces wheat, oats, corn and cotton, and has a few registered Jersey cows. He has shown that pure bred animals and seed pay. He has built up large sales throughout the country through advertising extensively. Mr. Oliver has merely applied good business sense to his farming and hog raising.

Too Much Commission Government

Attorney General Claude Polard has gone to Washington to appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission in support of an effort the Santa Fe railroad is making to extend its line some nine miles out from Oak Cliff to serve some industries now being served exclusively by another railroad which is opposing the extension. Those who are anxious to see Texas develop can't see any justice in letting a railroad monopolize a territory or an industry simply because it got its claws fastened there first. The country is being controlled by "commissions" of one kind and another until competition is about stifled and "Jones," the ultimate consumer, must stand whatever losses result.

Baller to Have Creamery

Baller is the latest Texas town to organize a co-operative creamery. The initial investment will be $10,000. If it is well handled, the creamery will be worth much more than that to Ballinger every year. The creamery pay checks are issued every week throughout the year. The steady pay roll is best for any community.

Why California Onions?

California-grown onions are selling in the San Antonio markets at about $5.50 a hundred pounds. Just why any Texan should want a California onion is hard to guess. Texas grows the best onions (so onion eaters say) in the world and should be growing enough of them to feed every Texan who wants an onion.

BRICE BREEZES

Both Sunday were well attended last Sunday. There was no church. Every one is wearing a broad smile since the rain last Thursday. Vera Hatley entertained the young people with a delightful party at her home Saturday night. Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Hope Lemons are on the South plains at work. Mr. J. B. Estes, who has been away at work, came home since the good rain of last week to work out his crop. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cross and family and Mrs. Marvin Aduddell spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hightower and family. Marvin Aduddell left for Abilene last Thursday where he will work. Mrs. N. L. Murff has been sick for the past two weeks. We hope she will recover soon. Charlie Murff returned from Amarillo last week where he has been at work. Wool is being made from pine needles by a process recently perfected in Germany. In addition to yielding fine strong fibres, the resin extracted from the needles can be made into briquettes giving a high heat valuable in the manufacture of illuminating gas. Owning an Auto in China is distinctly a luxury. The license fee in one city costs $27.50 a month and when gasoline is cheap it is $1.50 a gallon. In addition, a jaunt of main thoroughfare requires the services of at least four attendants. Parasol Ants Derive their name from the fact that they cut pieces out of leaves for making nests and then march along carrying the pieces over their heads like umbrellas. Seeing New York by air is cheaper than by taxi. The same route covered by an airplane at a cost of $5 will run up a taxicab bill of $4.10 it is reported.

THE SPIRIT OF TEXAS

Phebe K. Warner.

While the folks at home are reading this, 3,000 Texas boys and girls with a goodly number of their fathers and mothers will be having the time of their young lives, sweltering and fanning, and laughing and playing under the A. & M. skies.

There is not a doubt about it, folks. The Farmers' Short Course has become of the greatest educational and social factors in this State. Educational because it attracts those bent on gaining new knowledge along the most practical and essential lines of life. The betterment of all our homes and the improvement of not only crops but rural life at large. And when you build up the farm life of a State you have built up ever industry and every line of business in the State. Some day things will be in Texas as they ought to be, when Rural life is made FIRST instead of LAST in our State program.

It has taken eighteen years to build up the spirit of the Farmers' Short Course to the high point it holds today. But that's not long. That's not even a generation of time. And you seldom ever mold a State-wide or nation-wide new thought or enterprise in less than a generation.

As a rule when a State wants to mold an entirely new thought or system of education or anything else except "fashions" it has to wait until a new generation can be born and reared in the new belief. My! How we would all grow if people would only accept and adopt new ideas as quickly and as universally as they do "fashions." Wonder why that is? What would it mean to America if women and men, too, were as quick to change the style of their thoughts on the inside of their heads as they are the style of hats on the outside of their heads. But that's too deep for me. That's a problem for the psychologist or the evolutionist.

But great and good as the educational side of the Short Course is, do you not believe its social influence is even greater as a new State power? Is there any way to estimate the value of two thousand Texas boys and girls coming from every section of the State once every year to compete in every kind of a productive, industrial and educational contest? What is it going to mean in a political way to this State twenty years from now? What will it mean in an industrial way?

If this good work keeps on for twenty more years and it will, for it is just getting a good start, the people of Texas will actually KNOW one another personally. The Bible is the only book which is never off the press. It is from the Red and the Rio Grande and from Tealine to Brownsville and from Texakana to El Paso. Do you think any of those old boys will ever forget the boys from some other part of the State who beat them in a judging contest? Never! Do you think the girls who are at the A. & M. Short Course this year will ever forget who won the clothing contest and the canning contest? Never! Do you think the women will forget who won the Kitchen Contest? No! And whenever one of these prize winning boys or girls is nominated twenty years from now for some responsible office in Texas, the new generation of voters will know just who he is and what he or she is good for. And don't you doubt it. Mr. Voter of today. Texas is training a generation of real LEADERS for the future. Boys and girls who have been brought up to do their own thinking and judging. It may be only pigs and chickens and canned tomatoes they are judging now. But they are being trained to look for and SEE the good points in their products, and WHY they are good points. Twenty years from now these twelve, fifteen and eighteen year old boys and girls will be just as keen judges of men and women and their fitness for certain positions as they are today of pigs and chickens.

One of the best features of the Farmers' Short Course is the coming together of the farm women of Texas. Lord bless them! It's the only State-wide meeting they have ever had a good excuse to attend. There is no way to measure the sunshine and inspiration those women will take back to their entire community. Did you notice last week's home papers? Every county where there was a home demonstrator the girls and women were busy holding food sales, and giving entertainments to help pay the expenses of some member to the Short Course. Hundreds of farm women will actually have a week's vacation for the first time in their busy lives. Think of it!

Get in their car or get a two cent fare (both ways) ticket thanks to the railroads for their part in the big plan and get a thousand mile ride across the State to their own State school and go to a real college for five whole days and PAY their BOARD instead of doing the cooking themselves. And eat 15 meals in one of the biggest dining rooms in the State with two or three thousand of the happiest, noisiest youngsters you ever saw or heard? And eat at the first table and have somebody wait on them instead of waiting on everybody else first and taking what was left. A. & M. BEST OF ALL GET UP AND WALK OUT WITHOUT WASHING THE DISHES. Just walk out and go to a show or lecture or something instead of washing the dishes, feeding the chickens, milking the cows, shutting up the calves, locking the hen house door, running the milk through the separator, washing all the milking equipment, getting things ready for breakfast, putting the children to bed, winding the clock, putting two the cats, and blowing out the lights. No sir! Those women are marching to their meals this week to music and drifting over the A. & M. campus to the call of the bugle, with nothing to do at night but press a button when some boy sounds "taps."

But best of all is the Spirit of Texas. It's worth the whole trip and the week's time it takes to go to the Short Course, to just catch the Spirit of Texas that is in the very air. Every boy and girl, every man and woman will go back home loving their State more and prouder of themselves because they too, are a part of the Spirit of Texas.

RELATION OF POULTRY TO AGRICULTURE

Excerpts from addresses by R. W. Dunlap, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, U. S. Department of Agriculture, before World's Poultry Congress, Ottawa, Canada, Evening of July 27th, 1927.

The poultry industry is one of the large and important farm activities of the United States. According to the department's estimates, there were produced in 1926 eggs of an estimated value of $629,000,000, and poultry with a value of $1,181,000,000. It should be remembered that only poultry production on farms is included in these figures and not the production in cities and villages. The value of poultry products amounted to about 16 per cent of the total value of livestock and its products for 1926, being surpassed in this respect by only two other branches of the livestock industry—the dairy industry, with 49 per cent of the total, and the swine industry, with 22 per cent of the total.

The distribution of the poultry industry is county-wide, as poultry flocks are kept in every State and in every county. However, the greatest production occurs in the East North Central and West North Central States, a region in which farm poultry flocks are predominant and which accounts for 50 per cent of the total eggs produced in the country and only slightly less than 50 per cent of the chickens raised. Iowa leads all other States in total chicken and egg production. Specialized egg farming is particularly important on the Pacific Coast and in the North Eastern States. Usually the value of eggs produced in the Northern States exceeds the value of the chickens raised. The value of the chickens raised exceeds the value of eggs produced.

It is safe to say that 80 per cent, and probably more, of the total poultry crop is produced on general farms rather than on specialized poultry farms. The income from poultry on general farms plays an important part in the total farm income.

In recent years the tendency toward the development of commercial egg farms has been very strong. This has been made possible through the development of artificial incubation, through the use of stove brooders which would accommodate larger flocks of chicks at one time, through specialized breeding effort to increase the egg production of individual hens, and through the development of large commercial baby-chick hatcheries. Investigations in the field of nutrition have also brought out important facts which have made it possible to keep layers under relative close confinement with good results.

Undoubtedly the development of the baby-chick industry has had a great influence upon the development of the poultry industry in the United States. This is a development of recent years, since the extensive selling of baby chicks does not go back over a period of more than ten or fifteen years. At first, the hatcheries were developed very largely to take care of a local demand for baby chicks. As it was discovered that chicks could be successfully shipped considerable distances, the size of the hatcheries increased until now there are some having a capacity upwards of one million eggs. There was a decided tendency at first for this industry to concentrate in certain sections of States where eggs suitable for hatching purposes were more plentiful and more readily secured. The success of this industry led, however, to a wider distribution of the commercial hatcheries until now the country is quite thoroughly dotted with them and their aggregate capacity 290,000,000 eggs at one setting. At present, there is a growing demand for better quality chicks than it has been easy to produce in these large capacity hatcheries. As a result, it may be that the future trend of the baby-chick industry will be toward the development of community hatcheries probably of smaller capacity than many of those in existence at present, and which would attempt to supply a smaller, nearer-by territory. Hatcheries operated under such conditions find it easier to get eggs for hatching which will produce chicks of the quality demanded.

As poultry production increased in volume and as it spread over a wider and wider territory, there developed of necessity the business of collecting, transporting and distributing these products in the areas of large population. This activity has now developed into a highly specialized business by means of which the eggs are gathered from producers, graded and shipped to market under refrigeration. The poultry is gathered in a similar manner, often fed in feeding stations, slaughtered and shipped to market in refrigerator cars.

A considerable live poultry business has developed also where the live poultry is shipped in specially constructed cars to markets where there is a large Jewish population which requires live poultry for its use. Some idea of the volume of this business, and the consequence facilities required and persons engaged both at shipping points and in distribution in the markets, can be obtained from a statement of the receipts at the principal markets. In 1926, for example, there were received at New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston a total of 14,767,709 cases of eggs each holding 30 dozens. In the same markets the receipts of dressed poultry amounted to 355,814,801 pounds. At New York City, the principal live poultry market, the receipts of this commodity amounted to about 12,000 cars, or approximately 200,000,000 lbs.

Since both egg and poultry production is seasonal in character, the cold storage of these products has been developed to hold the surplus of the flush production for the period of relative scarcity. In recent years around ten million cases of eggs have been held in storage at the height of the season, and well over 100 million pounds of dressed poultry. In addition, from 50 to 100 million pounds of eggs which are broken out of the shell and held in a frozen condition, are also stored. The present trend is toward a leveling of seasonal production by securing a greater egg production during the fall and winter months and by the production of early or winter broilers. Seasonal variation in production will never be eliminated, but eventually it may have sufficient influence to reduce somewhat the proportion of the yearly crop which must be carried to cold storage.

In recent years, competition between those engaged in the concentration and shipping of poultry products and those engaged in their distribution in the markets has become keener and keener. This has led to some tendency toward consolidation of small individual packing plants into larger units. It has also been one of the factors leading to improvements in the marketing process designed to secure greater efficiency.

One of the most important developments in marketing has been the formation of cooperative marketing organizations. The most outstanding examples of this are the cooperative on the Pacific Coast which maintain a federated selling agency in New York City for the distribution of Pacific Coast eggs in the eastern United States, and cooperative marketing associations in Missouri, Minnesota, Ohio, and elsewhere. At the present time a large volume of business is carried on by these cooperative organizations. For example, in 1926, sixty cooperative associations handled 4,150,000 cases of eggs valued at $29,900,000 and thirty-one associations handled 17,000,000 pounds in poultry.

There has long been apparent a great need for a higher degree of standardization in our egg crop. Eggs have been packed and sold very largely on the basis of individual packer's marks or brands or upon official exchange grades of the different cities. These grades have not been uniform and in consequence there has been a lack of any common nomenclature of quality which could be applied to the eggs of commerce. This has resulted in more or less uncertainty

The World has never known such Value!

All former standards of motor car value fell when the new Buick for 1928 swept into view.

All previous conceptions of beauty... smartness... luxury and comfort were discarded as people thrilled at Buick's graceful, youthful, low-slung bodies and Buick's harmonized interiors, as exquisite as the finest drawing rooms.

All previous performance records fell into insignificance before Buick's broad abilities—mighty power, performance vibrationless beyond belief and get-it-like an arrow from a bow.

Here are listed all 16 Buick models for 1928, with their prices, so that you may see for yourself how little Buick costs, and you consider how much Buick gives.

All prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan. Government tax to be added.

Was In Misery All Over

"I was in a dreadfully run-down condition," says Mrs. Chas. L. Lacroix, of Montegony, La. "I suffered a great deal of pain. I was in misery all over. I could not sit up and I could not lie down. I couldn't sleep and at times I would have dreadful vomiting spells. The aches and pains seemed to cover my whole body.

"One night my husband brought me home six bottles of Cardui and I began to take it. I could tell that I was improving from the first bottle, but I kept on taking the medicine, for I knew that I needed a tonic that would build me up and strengthen me where I was weak and run-down. That is exactly what Cardui did for me. After I had finished the six bottles I felt fine.

"I feel truly thankful for what Cardui has done for me, for I could not have gone on living in the desperate condition I was in."

For sale by all druggists.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION BIG CONTRIBUTION

"Public school education is the greatest single contribution made by the American Republic to civilization. It is the biggest single business in the nation today; biggest from the standpoint of both responsibility and money expended," said E. S. Richardson, superintendent of the Webster Parish school board, Minden, Louisiana, in an address before the county superintendents' group at the Farmers' Short Course.

"And yet, the business of education never sells a dollar's worth of its product, never shows either gross or net profits and never pays a dividend in cash or its stock. It is a business that is admittedly not yet thoroughly organized, and inefficient in many respects, but it is a business that will never fail.

"There are no businesses in the United States that are conducted on such a huge scale and expend such large sums of money as do our public schools. No business expends its money with as little effort toward true economy. We, who are styled educators, need to be more concerned with how we spend public tax moneys and with results obtained from them.

"The country's ever increasing universal demand for more economical school administration and at the same time the public's cry for better schools and longer terms in the rural districts of the nation make the problem of more efficient administrative school machinery a vital one that will continue to press school officials for solution until the highest possible degree of efficiency is reached both in the country and in the towns. The ultimate end of this problem is 'equal educational opportunities for all the children at equal minimum cost.'

"Can we expect to get the best results educationally for the people's money when we continue to operate this tremendous big business of schools of the present day on the same antiquated system of twenty-five years ago? In order to meet the present day demand in education it is absolutely necessary that a modern twentieth century county unit system of school administration be inaugurated in every county of every state in the nation.

"It is my belief that the state's first step toward reaching the ideal democratic goal in education is to pass a law authorizing complete county control of school administration and county-wide budgeting of all school moneys. Then equal rights to all children and special privileges to none can be given. All tax money received for public education locally and from cities and wealthy centers of the country should be pooled and used for maintenance of the schools of the whole country. All moneys for school maintenance in a county should be received and disbursed on a county-wide basis. There should be only one school fund so far as distribution is concerned. Equal educational opportunities for all children in the county cannot be approached in any other way."

AN EXHILARATING EFFECT

A bottle of Herbine on the shelf at home is like having a doctor in the house all the time. It gives instant relief when the digestion gets out of order or the bowels fail to act. One or two doses is all that is necessary to start things moving and restore that fine feeling of exhilaration and buoyancy of spirits which belongs only to perfect health. Price 60c. Prospective Business Men, Home Builders and Investors-----Watch for the New Town of

WEATHERLY TEXAS

Where The New F. W. & D. Line Is Now Building!

The Brick School Building in Weatherly is ready to receive the New Consolidated districts of the Letts and Tampeco-School Districts and busses will bring the pupils to Weatherly.

Weatherly offers many other great opportunities that seldom a new town has to begin with. Many towns that have sprung up from nothing to a busy little city have grown in the center of a district where there were very few farms and people were few and far apart, and later the country settled up around the town--But WEATHERLY is located in the center of HALL COUNTY with hundreds of prosperous farmers on good profitable farms in the immediate vicinity to well support the new business houses that locate there.

Thousands of acres of cotton are right at Weatherly's door step--the cotton yield being from half a bale to one and a half bales to the acre.

Nearly every foot of land available is in cultivation which lands have not failed to make a GOOD crop for YEARS. Hardly any farms are for sale or rent and this proves they make good crops always. AND good crops to the farmer means good business to the merchants and that means good PROFITS on your investments in Weatherly property.

Weatherly is located about half way between Estelline and Turkey on the F. W. & D. C. Ry. in that rich fertile Red River Valley district, 27 miles southwest of Memphis, therefore it has a trade territory all its own.

For these reasons and for the most important reason that you desire to make money this is your big opportunity to purchase property in a new town that has every reason to develop into a thriving city in a short time.

The Formal Opening will be announced later.

of the present custom of compelling cotton farmers to accept prices on cotton without having some voice in determining those prices. They declared that if a small tax on tea was tyranny the present custom of gambling in futures, and compelling farmers to submit to their gambling prices is an outrage, and ought to be declared a felony. The Philadelphia convention demanded the right of the Colonists to establish homes, and to be secure in their rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The Dallas convention reiterated the right by the inalienable right of self determination, to the end that they might sustain themselves in the industry essential to supporting those homes. There was one distinctive feature of this conference which was different from that of any similar meeting ever before held in Texas. This was the presence of many reputable business and professional men all of whom without a dissenting voice subscribed to the above enunciated protest against the annual custom of casting up imaginary or real contemplated surpluses, and gambling in the possible futures of farm products. They demanded that King Cotton cease to be a foot ball to be tossed up or down by any one who chanced to possess a ticket to the show, and that this basic industry of the nation be accorded the rights and privileges of all other basic industries, which is the right of free competition in disposing of farm products. It appears that the common adage, "Give a thief rope enough and he will hang himself," was vindicated by a recent act of the Cotton Exchange when that body took advantage of the Government's estimate of a possible surplus of six million bales of cotton. As a result of this estimate the price of cotton went tumbling from 20 cents to 11 cents per pound, precipitating a panic in the cotton market, and bankruptcy to cotton farmers, and many local banks sustaining them. Ten months later, before the next cotton crop began to move to market, the government reversed itself by announcing that this contemplated surplus had all disappeared, contradicted by subsequent facts, convicted the Cotton Exchange, and all in alliance with that institution, on the indictment of either inefficiency or crookedness, and, therefore, no longer deserving the confidence of business men who had formerly accepted as authentic the announcements of that body. As stated above there were many participating in this conference who are not engaged in farming, but who own and operate farms aside from their active professions or business careers, and who are, therefore, directly interested in a solution of the farm problem. Others, merchants and bankers, whose business is closely allied with the interest of farming, accorded heartily with the plan as agreed upon for relief. Among these were some of the best posted and most substantial men of the state and nation, as the following names and firms indicate. Such men as Ex-Lieut. Governor T. W. Davidson, U. S. Senator Sheppard and Mayfield, Ex-Commissioner of Agriculture, Fred W. Davis, Commissioner of Agriculture, Geo. B. Terrell, Judge John Davis, Judge J. H. (Cyclone) Davis, Judge W. A. Collins, Senator Thos. B. Love, Judge J. W. Chancellor, Judge John J. Gough, Judge J. E. Gilbert, W. E. Yeary, G. W. Fant, Joe Buie, J. M. Green, The John Deer Plow Co., The International Harvester Co., B. F. Avery and Sons Plow Co., The Southern Rock Island Plow Co., Adkins-Polk Grocery Co., Padgett Brothers Co., Byrne Commercial College, Huey-Phillip Hardware Co., Advance-Rumley Thresher Co., Boren-Stewart Co., Briggs-Weaver Machinery Co., etc., etc. A working program was agreed upon. A committee was appointed to arrange to finance membership for an organization to carry out in detail the program as agreed upon. It was indeed a great meeting, a second declaration of independence. Mr. McDowell of Lodge underwent an operation at the Boaz Hospital Tuesday, and is reported doing nicely. His son is also in a very serious condition at the McIntosh rooming house.
