COTTON LOAN IS ADVANCED TWO CENTS HERE

Increase Is Made on Last Year's Crop By Local Buyers

An additional advance of two cents per pound on government loans on last year's cotton is being made by Hall county cotton buyers this week. Those who received the 10 cent advance last year and desire the additional two cent loan are advised to make application immediately, according to J. A. Whaley, chairman of the Hall county cotton reduction committee.

Applications for the additional advance are made to the buyer who made the original loan on last year's cotton. Mr. Whaley pointed out this morning. The additional advance is in keeping with the government's plan of making a 12-cent advance on this year's cotton.

Advances on this year's cotton are not being made at this time because sufficient forms for making applications have not been received. The form, including the producer's note, loan agreement, warehouse certificate and other information needed for the government advance is expected to arrive within the next week, and will be placed in the hands of buyers immediately, according to members of Mr. Whaley's office force.

An 11-cent advance on cotton less than 3/8 inch staple is provided in the loan plan, and 12 cents per pound is allowed on all cotton of 3/8 inch staple and over.

Unmasked Bandits Rob Harleton Bank

MARSHALL, Sept. 25.—Two men late yesterday held up the First State Bank of Harleton, 18 miles northwest of Marshall, and escaped with a sum estimated at $2,000.

Two young men, unmasked, entered the bank and while Tom Little, cashier, and Miss Hallie Teal, assistant, were alone, forced them to stand aside and gathered up all money in sight from the cages and vault.

They ran out of the bank, jumped in a waiting automobile and headed west on the road leading to Kilgore.

These Seven Little Children Remain Together in Home

Their faces beaming with happiness, seven little homeless children are at home today, thanks to the welfare department of the Hall county relief office.

The little tots, faced with the possibilities of becoming separated and never seeing each other again, will play together every day for a long time to come at their newly found home at Buckner's Orphanage at Dallas. And the oldest of the seven, the little 10-year-old twins, will not be denied the privilege of seeing their little baby sister who is less than a year old. And they are going to be mighty proud of her, too, because there is only one other baby at the orphanage.

These seven little children who have seen so much tragedy in their short lives are the nephews and nieces of Mrs. L. A. Stillwell, near Memphis, with whom they have

New Evidence Points to Hauptmann In Lindbergh Case; Jury Adjourns

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The $13,750 in ransom money found in the garage at the home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, alleged receiver of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom, and ransom notes and other messages of the kidnaper were taken before the Bronx county grand jury today.

The evidence was presented in District Attorney Samuel J. Foley's effort to obtain an indictment charging extortion against Hauptmann.

The money and notes were taken to the grand jury room while Albert S. Osborn, handwriting expert, and his son, Albert B., were before the jury.

The Bronx grand jury adjourned until tomorrow after a three and a half hour session.

While Osborn and son were before the jury for an hour, the father, who has said the handwriting on the ransom notes were similar to that of Hauptmann's on applications for automobile licenses, was questioned most of the time.

Col. Henry Breckenridge, personal counsel for Lindbergh, was before the grand jury for half an hour.

DR. W. C. DICKEY IN ROTARY TALK

Speaks on 'The Rotary Motto, Its Development and Appeal' at Luncheon

A deftly turned address, replete with example, and showing exhaustive study and research was delivered by Walter Dickey at the weekly meeting of the Memphis Rotary club Tuesday noon. Dr. Dickey had for his subject, "The Rotary Motto, Its Development and Appeal."

The Rotary motto, "He profits most who serves best," was given a thorough analysis by the speaker, especially insofar as profit and service are concerned. There are many different ways in which to profit, the speaker stated, other than financial. He also showed clearly what service means.

The Rotary motto is as fundamental to Rotary as the Constitution of the United States is to the United States, the speaker stated. Dr. Dickey traced the rise of Rotary from its inception in Chicago as the result of a desire on the part of Paul P. Harris for companionship and convivial friends to share with him his noonday luncheon. He showed, clearly and distinctly, that the Rotary motto and its practical application has spread over the civilized world, so that today, Rotary clubs are functioning in some thirty-six countries.

BUSINESS SEEKS VIEWS OF F. D. R.

Six Direct Questions Asked Of Chief Executive After 'Apprehension' Cited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Spokesmen for organized business, declaring the existence of a "general state of apprehension" yesterday called directly upon President Roosevelt to clarify his position on NRA's control of business, currency stabilization and budget balancing.

Six definite questions were asked of the chief executive in a statement approved by half a hundred directors of the chamber of commerce on the United States. No immediate reply was forthcoming from Mr. Roosevelt at his Hyde Park summer home.

Feeling of Uneasiness

The industrialists, who in recent days have issued numerous pronouncements that budget-balancing was necessary and that the president should act on other lines as well, asserted definitely that a general feeling of uneasiness prevailed "among business men of the country." Declaring that business could not supply continuous employment "without a restoration of confidence," the spokesmen added:

"The board representing business men throughout the United States, believes it would make much for the restoration of confidence and the promotion of the general welfare of our citizens if the administration, speaking through the president, would make a definite statement as to its policy and program respecting the following subjects:

"1. When and how it is proposed to balance the federal budget?"

"2. Is it the intention of the administration further to reduce the value of the dollar; if so then to what figure and what shall be the content of the dollar so reduced?"

"3. Will the administration at the earliest possible moment collaborate with the other nations in (Continued on page 4)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—Col. Lindbergh and wife flying east, landed at an isolated airport here today, fueled their plane and sped off a few minutes later in the direction of Columbus.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A similarity between footprints of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, suspect in the famous Lindbergh kidnaping case, and those found near the Hopewell home of the Lindbergh's was disclosed today by the justice department.

Department scientists is seeking data on footprints of the late Isidore Fisch, also mentioned in connection with the abduction, to see whether there is a similarity between his and those found at Hopewell.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley today had evidence Dr. John Condon's address and telephone number at the time of the Lindbergh extortion were written on the wall of a closet in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home.

Foley said the address and telephone number had been recently smudged and obliterated. Condon (Jafsic) paid the $50,000 ransom to "John".

Foley said the case against Hauptmann, as receiver of the ransom money, has "completely broke."

Another closet panel in the Hauptmann home, Foley said, bore serial numbers, one of which has been found to be number one of the ransom bills.

Foley said the boards are proof to him that Hauptmann was in communication with "Jafsic" regarding negotiations and that "Hauptmann is undoubtedly the man who received the $50,000 ransom from Dr. Condon."

BEACH CLUB GIRL

By MAE McELROY

BEGIN HERE TODAY BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, is snubbed by wealthy SYLVIA RIVERS.

Almost immediately she realizes the marriage is a mistake. Russ gets a job in Miami and leaves, promising to see for her.

Boots gets a job in a department store. She is lonely until she meets DENIS FENWAY.

One Sunday he appears unexpectedly and takes Boots to visit cousins of his at Easthampton.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII A cloud had fallen over the face of the sun for Boots.

But she remembered Boots, certainly! It would be easier to hate her, thought the younger girl with a fierce pang of resentment.

Somehow Boots made her farewells to the group. Kay waived a slim ringed hand at them.

She felt the taste of salt on her lips and knew it to be the taste of tears, not of the sea.

Leo was marshaling his forces. They must all go on to Tony's, the Dune House, he said.

"Oh, I've got to get back to town," she said, looking about her. Do you suppose someone could run me to the train?"

Denis tore himself from Kay's side and the older girl watched the little scene with amused, almost mocking dark eyes.

But she was firm. Honestly, honestly, she protested, she must get back. The air of the place now suffocated her.

So at last it was arranged. She dressed hurriedly in the cabana, hearing the boom of the surf, the light laughter and the clink of glasses outside.

Whatever else happened, Boots determined, she would not telephone Denis on the morrow.

She had not thought of Russ, consciously, in weeks. Now, in real earnest, the tears came.

"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse Writing from her home in Festus, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative."

Because so many people know from having used it that Treadwell's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.

clothes. And with all her heart she hated him!

People—people—all together, thought the girl bitterly. Mothers and fathers in little sedans; lovers in roadsters with canvas tops folded back, picknickers waving from some sandy knoll.

The city was insufferable after all this. Streets which had been lying baking under the sun all day gave out the pungent odor of hot tar.

Whatsoever else happened, Boots determined, she would not telephone Denis on the morrow.

She had not thought of Russ, consciously, in weeks. Now, in real earnest, the tears came.

Cyclone Is Planning 'Real Battle' Against Childs

LIGHTS ARRIVE FOR MEMPHIS FIELD

Locals Scrimmage Today in Preparation For Encounter

With lighting equipment on hand for its own field, the Memphis Cyclone returned to its drills yesterday afternoon to prepare for its first night game of the season, to be played Friday night at Childress.

The huge reflectors that are to be placed at the top of eight giant poles and cast a light "bright as day" upon Fair Park playing field arrived in Memphis yesterday. Installation work was to be begun today.

Although it is not certain when the lights will be turned on, it is likely the Cyclone will take at least one night drill before invading the stronghold of the Class A Bobcats.

Promises Good Battle
"We hope to be able to give them a real battle," was the summing up of the game with the old rival, a team that Memphis has played no a par basis throughout the years until the team advanced to Class A through increased high school enrollment. That statement was made by Coach Chesty Walker, who initiated another series of drills that have passing as their main objective.

A short scrimmage is slated for this afternoon. The boys did not get "rough" yesterday, but they received several minutes of hard work on the sled after quitting time "because they've been loafing."

Cats Make Good Show
Railbirds were pepped up yesterday—and at the same time they looked on the situation with misgivings. The Cyclone, they are certain, is going to give Childress a battle if the club functions as well as it did against Paducah—with a number of rough places smoothed out.

At the same time, the showing the Cats made against Polytechnic of Fort Worth does not augur well for the "Class B" outfit. That, they decided, is mostly up to the members of the local team, however. Whether or not they let the fact they are playing a Class A club interfere with their self control and determination.

Although defeated 25 to 7 at Fort Worth, the Cats were reported to have played the Poly eleven on an even basis throughout most of the game, until a blocked punt, the first against Childress in five years, threw the club into a tailspin and Poly scored three touchdowns before the visitors recovered.

Expect Big Following
While Childress is expecting 1,000 fans to turn out for the Bobcats' opener against Memphis, a large delegation of Memphians is expected to follow the Cyclone, hoping the new and better club, which opened its season with a 44-6 trouncing of Paducah, can score another victory over an old rival. And if this is impossible, at least see the Cyclone put up a real fight in its first outstanding test of the year.

It had not been definitely assured this morning that the Black and Gold band and high school pep squad would make the trek to Childress, but according to school officials, it is almost certain that they will follow the club.

Compared with the modern archer, the Indian was a very poor shot with the bow and arrow.

Colorful Radio Characters in Palace Comedy

Piercing the ether waves and peering behind the scenes of a radio broadcasting station, "Strictly Dynamite" lavishes its comedy on the colorful characters who entertain radio listeners. The RKO-Radio laugh hit comes to the Palace Theatre today and tomorrow, with Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante and Lupe Velez in the starring roles.

The Four Mills Brothers appear in "Strictly Dynamite" as real life broadcasters, singing the new catch rhythms, "Money in My Clothes" and "Swing It Sister." Durante and Miss Velez contribute musical specialties, Durante vocalizing his own "I'm Putty in Your Hands" and "Hot Patata;" and Lupe introducing "Oh Me, Oh My, Oh You," all of which promise to be popular melodies.

"Strictly Dynamite" also presents Eugene Pallette, Minna Gombell, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn and Jackie Searl, under the direction of Elliott Nugent. Robert A. Simon and Robert T. Colwell wrote the story from which Maurine Watkins and Ralph Spence wrote the scenario. Additional dialogue was
