

General Tax Remission Seen As A Lever To Force Enactment Of State Sales Levy

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL. AUSTIN, July 11 (AP)—Opinion grew in capitol circles today that the general tax remission bill signed into law yesterday by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel would intensify pressure for a retail sales tax.

to do in view of tax remissions that had been granted a number of counties and was criticized as another move to force a sales tax and giving away money with which the state could not afford to dispense.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville, a leader of the group which blocked the O'Daniel-endorsed sales tax constitutional amendment at the recent session, declared the remission was "just another effort to force a sales tax."

Here's Discussion On Whether Youth Has Harder Time Than Formerly

The controversy over whether things are better "when I was a boy" or whether "Times are different now-days" have led to some pretty hot arguments between the younger generation and their parents.

Many of the younger ones believe that, what with depression, changes in modes and customs, and limited opportunities for expansion, they have the hardest lot.

On the other hand, members of the last generation point out with some asperity that when they were growing up they didn't have the modern advantages and opportunities that the young folks have today.

Just to see how some local people felt about the situation the following question was asked: "Do you believe that youth today has a harder time, economically and in other ways, than it had 50 years ago?"

Here's what some say: IRA THURMAN, banker—"No, I don't think so. Children of today don't work any harder, although they do have a harder time getting a job."

MRS. S. C. BLEDSOE, housewife—"Youth of today doesn't have such a hard time. Old timers had much more difficult times."

MRS. R. E. LLOYD, housewife—"The modern conveniences of today give our young people a much easier time than the young people of 50 years ago had."

OMAR PETERMAN, jeweler—"Youth now has a better advantage in the world than 50 years ago. The opportunities of today are much greater, so I think that today is easier."

MRS. JOHN GARRISON, housewife—"Taking all in all, youth of today has a much easier time. They have the opportunity of an education and can depend on brains instead of brawn. Of course, youth has a lot of criticism to contend with, but they also have much more freedom."

VERNON WHITTINGTON, chief clerk at refinery—"I think that the kids of today are a lot lazier than they used to be. Times are easier, are."

The Effects Of Liquor Cannot Be Repeated

Excerpts from a broadcast by Roger Babson, given under the auspices of the National W. C. T. U.

Thomas Edison's last words to me, when I asked him shortly before his death, what great invention he visualized in the future, aviation engine, the airplane and radio broadcasting, were—"Babson, my belief is that God may not let this nation advance much materially until it catches up spiritually."

The American people are spending over five billion dollars a year on intoxicating drink. Of course, a large proportion of this goes to labor. Perhaps this represents the employment of one million people.

If, however, this five billion dollars were spent on building and furnishing homes instead of on liquor, it would put two and one-half million persons back to work. For these and other reasons, I wish to pay a tribute to the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union for its work in helping America both spiritually and economically.

When a dollar is spent to develop a waterfall, the materials and labor employed performs an almost everlasting service. Certainly one that lasts a hundred years as a minimum. When a dollar is spent to build the average house, the material and labor serves a useful purpose for fifty years. When a dollar is spent to buy an automobile, the product of the material and labor lasts ten years, or perhaps more. When a dollar is used to buy an overcoat it may last five years, or if used to buy an undergarment it may last only a year. When the dollar is used to buy tobacco, the result lasts only a few hours, when used to buy a firecracker it lasts only a few seconds. When, however, the dollar is spent for something harmful like liquor, the result is minus. It not only serves no useful purpose, but it actually pulls down and destroys both the individual and the nation as a whole.—(Submitted by and published at the request of the local W. C. T. U.)

State Tax Remission

A statute that carries significant implications insofar as the future of this state's tax policy is concerned is the tax remission measure signed Monday by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel. It provides for the return, to all counties, one-half the state's ad valorem tax collections in each county, for a period of five years beginning in 1941.

It seems strange that the state should be returning an estimated $3,500,000 a year from the general fund, when that fund already has a deficit of $18,000,000, with no certain system yet provided for erasing that deficit. As the governor said when he signed the bill, the principle of remission is indeed questionable.

There are other factors, however, behind the tax remission program which already are being pointed out. One is that it opens the way for eventual abolition of the ad valorem tax. And if and when that abolition comes, there will be a complete change in our tax structure, with the sales levy, perhaps, getting preference as a substitute.

The remission, further, puts a tremendous responsibility on the shoulders of the various county commissioners courts. They will have money they had not anticipated and there will be a temptation to spend more freely without giving the taxpayers any relief to which they might be expected to be granted.

If there is no such reduction, then it becomes the duty of the county authorities to see that the state remission is applied to projects that are 100 per cent meritorious.

Others will have worthwhile conservation or road building projects. But there always must be exercised caution lest the "new" money be wasted. If the taxpayer is going to be assessed a new levy, and it appears a virtual certainty that he will, he is entitled to whatever relief the remission system might bring him.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—Mischa Auer, the sad-faced mad Russian, took his ego to its Waterloo on his recent New York jaunt.

Feeling very expansive and prosperous after a delayed Hollywood success, Mischa went backstage to greet the veteran star with whom, years ago, he made his debut in a walk-in role.

He found the actor in his dressing-room, taking off his greasypant. "Oh, hello. How've you been? Sit down, old man, got a show?" the actor said.

"Not exactly," said Mischa, dead-pan, suspecting his former associate did not recognize him. "I'm on the air, just now."

"The radio, huh? Not bad to fill in. Well, maybe things will pick up. Had a show lately?"

"No, it's been years," said Mischa, suddenly conscious of his new and expensive evening scarf, evidence of prosperity, and removing same from view.

"Well," said the old actor, "maybe I could get you something. Have a little snort with me at the club?"

"Can't," said Mischa. "I've got to be getting along." "Oh," the greasypant was off now, and the actor turned in embarrassment. "Say, old man, for the life of me I can't remember your name."

"I'm Mischa Auer," said Mischa Auer, ready for the glad cry of recognition, perhaps the tribute to his Hollywood fame.

"Oh, yes, Him-m-m... Well, good luck—and maybe we'll have that little snort some other time. So long."

The make-up profession is not entirely devoted, as one would think, to the transformation of glamor girls into more glamorous girls, of ordinary men into Apollons (or monsters), of youngsters into oldsters, and vice versa—perhaps more frequently vice versa. No, as Mel Berns of RKO pointed out, pointing to Whiskers who sat in Chair No. 6—no!

Whiskers isn't something character men wear; it's the name of a dog, playing the faithful pet in "Nurse Edith Cavell."

Whiskers, in the raw, didn't resemble the nurse's just dog Jack, described in her memoirs as a "brownish, melancholy dog of no breed especially—with a tail like a fan." Whiskers, naturally, was white and tan and had a wagging stump of a tail—until chief make-upper Berns went to work on him. Berns dyed Whiskers' hair, clipped it here and there, and attached a tail like a fan.

"Ten minutes ago," said Mel Berns, "I had Ginger Rogers in this chair—and now here I am making up a dog."

FOUR BLIND DATES

Chapter 31 THE KING OF HEARTS The Chiseler inspected the upper stories of the house. They were in total darkness. Having noted this salubrious fact, the Chiseler glided across the lawn, and fumbled along the side of the house until he found a rainspout. Peering aloft, he perceived that this rainspout, on its easy journey to the roof, ran close to an iron balcony some fifteen or twenty feet off the ground.

"Okiedoke," muttered the Chiseler, who occasionally permitted himself the luxury of lapsing into the vernacular. In his youth Mr. Jennings had been no mean porch-climber. And the art of porch-climbing is similar in certain respects to those of swimming and bicycle riding. One forgets the finer points with the passing years, but the rudiments remain. In short, once a porch-climber, always a porch-climber.

Mindful of the crying need for absolute quiet, the Chiseler removed his shoes and secured them in his belt. Then he went up the rainspout nimbly.

He gained the balcony without mishap and climbed cautiously over the rail. But, all of a sudden, he paused. A light had been switched on in one of the rooms that gave on the balcony.

Drawing back into a darkened corner, the Chiseler took counsel with himself. He speedily came to the conclusion that it would be the height of folly to be stampeded by this slight untoward occurrence. Doubtless the light had been snapped on by a maid who was turning down a bed or something. She'd probably be gone in a minute. He resigned himself to wait.

Five minutes passed. Ten. Fifteen. And during them there came at intervals to the Chiseler's ears small slithering sounds as of birds fluttering their wings. The sounds issued from the open windows of the lighted room and the Chiseler was at a loss to account for them. He began to fidget. Valuable time was passing.

He permitted another two minutes to go by. Then he came to the conclusion that the maid, having turned down the bed, had left and neglected to switch off the light. He stole forward stealthily and looked in the window. At a table sat a portly woman playing what appeared to be solitaire. And the sounds he had heard were made by the cards as she shuffled and riffled them.

Mrs. Dipsang, housekeeper at Saltair Acres, had called it a day. Having made adequate provision for this party of Mr. Jonathan's, she had turned the reins of government over to Matheron and his subordinates. Then she had slipped up to her room, intent upon a quiet cup of tea.

Before ringing for it, however, she had sat down to tell her fortune a few times. Mrs. Dipsang was an inveterate teller of fortunes. True, it was very seldom that the events prophesied by Mrs. Dipsang came off, or anybody else ever came off. Nevertheless she persisted, buoyed by the fact that upon the night of the decease of the late Dipsang, a seafaring man lost overboard in a blow off Cape Hatteras, the jack of spades had come up no less than seven times in spots significant of disaster. In Mrs. Dipsang's occult scheme of things, the jack of spades was a bird of ill-omen.

The present set-up of the cards indicated nothing exciting. Mrs. Dipsang sighed, gathered up the pack and tried again. And this time it was apparent from the first that something big was about to happen. Propitious card after propitious card filed from the deck and fell in the proper juxtaposition with one another. Cards indicative of health, wealth and happiness practically twined together. The eyes of Mrs. Dipsang bulged and the Dipsang knees trembled. Never before had she had such a favorable fortune. Great events, all of a favorable nature, were ganging up with a view to transpiring in the near future. The stars were whirling in their courses. The world was shaking and jittering, just prior to flinging itself at Mrs. Dipsang's feet.

With nervous fingers she slipped over the next card. And a little cry left her throat. The card was the king of hearts.

Brimming Cup Mrs. Dipsang's cup was complete. The king of hearts, turning up with other cards of salutary significance, could mean but one thing. A large light man of regal bearing was about to come into her life. And, in addition to entering her life, this large light man was predestined to remain in it, doubtless replacing the national Dipsang who had so carelessly waded down Davy Jones off Hatteras. Yes, destiny was arranged on the side of Mrs. Dipsang. And Mrs. Dipsang, heart a-flutter, sat back gasping, the happiest woman on Long Island.

It was at this momentous instant in the world's history that Chiseler Jennings essayed to vacate the balcony.

But, fortunately for the Chiseler, she said it in a low throaty voice. The Chiseler, abruptly, ceased to dance. As a matter of fact, he had been dancing, only temporarily, while making up his mind as to how to proceed next. And in an instant his stupendous intellect was swarming to his aid. This card-playing woman looked like a simple soul. He would, therefore, hold her in play with the heavy artillery of his vocabulary until some cock-and-bull story occurred to him.

"Seah!" he whispered, by way of kicking off. "There is no call for hysteria, my good woman." He might well have omitted reference to hysteria. Mrs. Dipsang had no intention of indulging in a fit of nerves.

"Come here," she ordered peremptorily. Better Balconies The Chiseler hesitated. He had a congenial objection to allowing his particular cast of countenance to be observed while on balconies attached to the better homes of Long Island.

Mrs. Dipsang, however, was not altogether a fool. "Come here," she commanded again, a little stridently. "If you don't, I'll scream."

The Chiseler waved his hands in front of his face in an agitated attempt to divert the threatening larynx of Mrs. Dipsang.

"Madam," he said, striving for composure, "in the delightful conversation that will presently ensue, I must beg of you to modulate your voice. I can explain everything to your entire satisfaction."

"Then come here," said Mrs. Dipsang. Hers was a single-track mind. When it went after a point, it went after it like a bloodhound. The Chiseler came, sidling a little in deference to his sick trousers.

In the illumination that poured from the window, Mrs. Dipsang subjected him to a critical inspection. Nor was she ill-pleased by what she saw. Here stood a tall ascetic-looking gentleman of dignified bearing.

Wherefore the Chiseler may, at this point, be forgiven for making one of the few mistakes of a long and dishonorable career. "Strike me pink," quoth the Chiseler, in a hoarse and sibilant whisper.

Startled, Mrs. Dipsang leapt to her feet and rushed to the window. She was, in no sense of the word, terrified. On the contrary, her condition was one of happy excitement. The cards had indicated a large light gentleman of kingly presence just around the corner.

She popped her head out of the window and perceived the Chiseler, now dancing in some confusion near the end of the balcony.

Mrs. Dipsang was an assiduous reader of mystery thrillers. Therefore, she knew just how to accost shadowy figures who danced uninvited upon her balcony. "Stop, thief!" said Mrs. Dipsang.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The new relief bill brings democracy to the ranks of WPA labor with a jarring impact. No longer will a carpenter be able to earn his monthly allowance in a half-dozen days of work at $11 to $14 a day while the common laborer toils throughout the month for the same money.

Under the present act, every type of worker will work 120 hours a month, regardless of whether he is a shovel hand or plasterer. For that amount of work, each will be paid the same money—a country average of about $61.

Certain exceptions are written into the bill. For instance, in parts of the country with lower living costs, the rate of pay will be lower. Further, a single man with no dependents will be allowed less per month, and will work correspondingly fewer than 120 hours to earn it.

A PAIN IN THE NECK

The disparity of wages between skilled and unskilled workers has been a pain in the neck to the WPA administration ever since the idea of paying the "prevailing wage" to WPA workers was invented more than two years ago.

Since a man working on WPA is allowed to earn only a certain sum each month, his rate of pay might be high enough to permit him to earn it in eight or nine days. He was free all the rest of the month.

Colonel Harrington, WPA administrator, told congressional committees that a man with such free time would offer to work in private industry at cut wage rates, and thus tend to break down the very wage scale the old terms were supposed to protect.

He called it chiseling because it hurt wage scales and because it tended to keep men on relief who, if harder pressed, might have gotten out into private employment. The new provision will keep WPA workers on duty most of each month, regardless of their skills. Harrington said that men compelled to work 120 hours on relief for an amount they could earn in private industry in far less time would likely get out and hustle for private jobs.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES

And the old provision caused other troubles, Harrington explained.

"An example of the difficulties involved in scheduling operations as a result of the differences in the hours of work for different classifications is afforded by a building construction project in Pittsburgh.

"Bricklayers are permitted to work only 48 1-2 hours per month while the hod carriers work 63 1-2 hours, the building-trade laborers 89 hours, and unskilled laborers 120 hours. On the same project a plumber is limited to 50 hours' work a month, while his helper must be scheduled for 71 1-2 hours of work. Compressor operators are limited to 66 3-4 hours per month while jackhammer operators (getting power from the compressor) are scheduled for 119 hours of work.

"It is obvious that schedules such as these render any practicable type of staggering of employment ineffective in producing efficient operations."

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—I have been trapped in New York against my will, foregoing a journey through the Mohawk country to fish with Mel Graff, the comic strip tradesman, and so if my views are tainted with acid, forgive me.

In this moment I should be 200 miles up-state, in an old pair of pants, trolling for walleye in the Sacandaga watershed. My pants are still old, but I'm not in a boat. No far-flung panorama of upland countryside meets my eye. I'm looking at a fleet of trucks with "meat" painted on their sides.

As the waning moon dips behind the trees I should stand on the rise overlooking the lake, with the sweet, cool scent of balsam in my nostrils, listening to the murmur of the water against the shore.

But the only place this moon will wane will be behind the Flatiron building. The scent in my nostrils will be the Fulton street fish market. The trail I follow will be Broadway.

Second Bank Robber Slain

GARDEN CITY, Kas., July 11 (AP)—Two young desperados from Denver paid with their lives for a $10,000 bank robbery at Ft. Morgan, Colo.

They were Myron Earl Howen, 20, shot and killed early Sunday by a state highway patrolman, and Kenneth Allen, 22, slain in a gun battle with peace officers at Sidney, Neb., Saturday. Both had served terms in Kansas reformatory.

Fleeing from Ft. Morgan, Howen and Allen were intercepted at Sidney. Police Chief S. H. Moore shot a tire from their car. They separated and ran. Harvey Vizna, sworn in as a special officer only a few minutes before, brought Allen down in the street.

Howen, wounded, leaped into the automobile of Glenn Oldenburg, 23-year-old filling station employe, pressed a pistol to his back and told him to "drive hard or I'll fill you full of lead."

Oldenburg drove—forced to remain at the wheel nine hours while they dodged through Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas. They arrived here late Saturday night. Howen gave $25 to Oldenburg to get home and bought a bus ticket for Kansas City.

Oldenburg and a cab driver who notified Howen's wounded shoulder pulled police. Howen fled to a rooming house. Highway patrolmen, methodically checking rooming houses, found him.

"It's one or the other of us," Howen shouted to Patrolman Walter Dunn. He flourished a pistol. Patrolman Gerald Murray, hiding nearby, sent a revolver bullet through Howen's chest.

In Denver, Walter Howen, a respected Colorado state highway department employe, said "I was afraid this was going to happen" to his son. "Myron went bad several years ago. I was unable to stop it."

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Any youngster competing in the West Texas Junior golf meeting this weekend at the Munny course becomes eligible for the state meeting, ticketed to be staged at San Antonio next month.

Very little effort was made toward sending a representative team to the state playoff at the conclusion of the tournament here last year but it is hoped that more interest will be taken in the move hereafter. Pro Harold Akey, anticipating a record number of entries, may plan with Bill McCall, district recreation supervisor, and Haddon Malone, local recreation chief, toward sending a team into Santone to represent West Texas.

Since the drums began beating for the local get-together, the laddie whose prospects for a title have shined the brightest is Bill Roden, the Glen Rose carrot top, a brilliant shot artist in many senior tournaments this season. But lately Roden has lost some of his gallery. He continues to have his troubles in practice rounds at the layout and there is no indication that he will regain his championship edge when the youngsters tee off for the first time Thursday.

Too, a 14-year old star from San Angelo way, J. L. Hall, who could be said to be a prodigy, arrived in town Monday and immediately stepped over the front nine in 39 strokes, which is exceptionally difficult to do without a long tee shot.

Total distance on these nine holes in 5,248 yards, a yardage not exactly built for the kids' game but Hall, they say, was putting plenty of distance in his drives, exhibiting a sound iron game and a good putting touch, a combination which makes a champion.

Them, of course, there's Billy Martin of Lubbock yet to be heard from. Billie won the Lubbock district high school championship in May and turned up the Lubbock country club course in doing it. He is expected to lead a team of four or five Lubbock boys here.

Angelo has Jack Johnson, besides Hall, Johnson was last year's champion. Midland's hopes lie in Harry Sandorf, last year's medalist and a tough customer who may be difficult to handle. Jack Vaughan, Lamesa, too, will figure.

Big Spring's hopes of bringing the crown back to town still depend largely upon the shoulders of Jimmie Brigham, who has done most of his practicing over the eastern country club course. Jim doesn't have all his shots in working order, but he has beaten Roden in practice rounds and may figure.

Bobby Savage, a leading pitcher in the local softball leagues, was impressive in his first start in the Monahans city league, pitching an oil company team to a 4-5 victory in ten innings last week. He beat the league leaders. He's to play again this week.

Local baseball fans are again reminded to cast their votes for a southern team for the WT-NM league's all star classic July 25. Changes of local players making the squad depending entirely on the support given here. Ballot blanks appear elsewhere in this edition of The Daily Herald.

Remember, any local player is eligible.

Motorists Are Routed, 21-3, By Lone Star

Lone Star Chevrolet route Big Spring Motor 21-3, in a Munny softball league battle at the City Park Monday evening.

Combining the offerings of Day-long, Motorist twirler, for a total of 19 base blows, the mechanics broke loose with a seven run out-break after being held in check through the first two rounds.

Bubbee's four licks led the mace attack. Grovelle Malone, worked on the slab for the mechanics, scattered seven hits effectively. Wooten and W. Cunningham found him for two blows each.

Score by innings: Big Spring Motor 000 201 0-3-7-7 Lone Star 107 945 2-1-19-0 Daylong and Dungan; Malone and Busbee.

14-Year Old Lad Gains Attention

Angeloan Fires 39 In Drill For Junior Tourney

Whirling around the front nine in 39 strokes Monday, 14-year-old J. L. Hall, 115 pound San Angelo youth suddenly gained plenty of attention as the sector's youngsters continued practice for the West Texas Junior Golf tournament which gets under way Thursday at the Munny course.

Hall was playing the course for the first time, but he had all the shots it takes to win. His figures were but three strokes off the standard figures.

More than 50 youngsters took occasion to practice Monday morning. Pro Harold Akey said. Sixteen players will compose the championship flight instead of eight as erroneously reported in previous editions of the Daily Herald. Match play is to get under way Friday with semifinals and finals scheduled for Saturday.

The champion will be given a new set of woods. Winners of other flights will be awarded golf bags, runermats in all flights puttees and consolation winners Carry-all bags. Some of the prizes are now on display at the Munny club house.

Young Infield Cutting Up For Blues

By HAROLD CLAASSEN KANSAS CITY, July 11 (AP)—Oh, Mr. Vitt, that rookie second baseman you coveted so openly to plug your Cleveland dink, only to find he was destined for the New York Yankees, has just helped bring the American Association all-star game to Kansas City.

But for your information—and further displeasure, Mr. Vitt—you should have taken another glance at those other farmhands. The infield, which largely was responsible for the Blues half-game advantage over Minneapolis at mid-season, functions so smoothly.

Manager Bill Meyer says he is willing to pay his way into the park to see it perform. Second Baseman Gerald Priddy, your 19-year-old dream child, Mr. Vitt, has been the pivot in a majority of the Blues' 92 doubleplays and one triple killing. He's batting .343 after 79 games, in his first year in double A competition.

Flanking him on the right is Tiny Rizzuto, a five foot, four inch miniature of Pepper Martin. The 20-year-old shortstop is bashing along at a .353 clip in the hit parade.

His career is a duplicate of Friddy's. They were teammates last season at Norfolk in the Piedmont league. Both were named to the league's all-star team before it was determined the Blues would be hosts.

At first is "Grandpappy" John Strum, a southpaw all the way and a .302 struger. Despite his advanced age of 24 years he's still nimble, and in the series in which Kansas City projected its slim lead so valiantly hammered out eight hits in 10 trips to the plate.

On third is Billy Hitchcock, younger brother of former All-America Jimmy Hitchcock of Auburn. It's his first year in organized baseball but he is hitting .275 despite a two-week's slump.

Jack McAllister, a scout for the Boston Bees, recently timed Hitchcock in four seconds for the sprint from home to first base after a bunt.

All in all, Mr. Vitt, they are just a bunch of boys, whooping it up at a collective .320 clip.

SABIN TRIMS SURFACE NORTH CONWA, N. H., July 11 (AP)—Wayne Sabin's hopes for a U. S. Davis cup berth soared after he defeated Hal Surface of Kansas City 6-5, 9-7, 6-1 yesterday for the first leg of the Eastern slope tennis club's handsome gold racquet trophy.

Backs, Thayne Amott, Plover; Hugh Munnell, Highland Park; Jake Harvey, Diamond Hill (Fort Worth); Kenneth Robbins, Sunset (Dallas); Keel Ramsey, Breckenridge; Eugene Keel, Masonic Home; Bill Thompson, Amarillo; Walter Webster, Lubbock.

He was five under at the end of 13 holes yesterday but ran into trouble and wound up with a 69 to go with the 68 he shot the previous day.

BARRISTERS PROPOSE TO PROTECT CIVILIANS IN WAR TIME

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (AP)—A proposal to protect non-combatants and civilian populations from the horrors of aerial warfare was brought to the American Bar Association today.

The Association's section on international and comparative law asked the parent group to approve a "world wide agreement to cease for all time" the aerial bombardment of other than strictly military objectives.

The 3,000 delegates at the 62nd annual meeting of the barriesters held sectional meetings today prior to tomorrow's sessions of the general convention assembly and the house of delegates.

National Loop Determined To Win Again

McCarthy Figures Club To Win In Own Orchard

BY GAYLE TALBOT NEW YORK, July 11, (AP)—Sixty thousand fans were expected to swarm into vast Yankee Stadium today for the seventh annual all star charity tussle between picked teams of the National and American leagues.

Play started at noon (EST) with Red Ruffin of the Yankees firing them across for the American leaguers, and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati Ace, pitching for the visiting Nationals.

In some respect, the battle promises to be the most evenly and truly fought since inception of the classic in 1933. Both leagues were shooting the works, fielding with their major minds considered the strongest possible combinations regarding of batting averages and the affections of the fans.

Six members of the great New York Yankees were in the starting lineup for the American leaguers, with two from the second place Boston Red Sox, and one from the Detroit Tigers. The Nationals bitterly determined to make it two straight over the rival league, countered with five of the biggest guns of the Cincinnati Reds, and one each from Chicago, St. Louis, New York and Pittsburgh.

Both manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans and manager Gabby Hartnett of the Nationals could have named a string line-up with greater batting power, judging by the season's averages, but this appeared not to be the first consideration. McCarthy packed his team with Yankees obviously figuring they had an important advantage in playing in their home field.

Morris Aronovitch, of the Phillies leading National league slugger, with a mark of .327, was not picked to start. Instead Hartnett chose Duke Medwick, of the Cardinals, who is hitting only .330 this season but has clouted .389 in the last all-star games.

As a result, the two teams bumping heads today were not, on paper quite the "dream team" of past years. The collective batting average of the eight starting American leaguers (not counting the pitcher) was only .315, as against .310 for the Nationals.

These marks would have looked puny in all other all star struggles when the policy was to pour all the available batting power into the line-ups, even at the expense of playing in the dinner than their customary positions. The American leaguers learned a painful lesson last year at Cincinnati when Jimmie Foxx, a third baseman for Detroit, made a wild throw that virtually handed the Nationals a 4 to 1 victory.

Foxx, one of the American leaguers top hitters, was passed up as starting first baseman today in favor of Hank Greenberg of Detroit, whose season sticking average is only .286, but is leading his league in home runs. The entire American league batting order, in fact, was composed of distance hitters.

In Regular Order The strangest aspect of the National league line-up was the sight of four Cincinnati Reds, Lonnie Frey, Ival Goodman, Frank McCormack and Ernie Lombardi, batting in their regular order. Hartnett thus preserved the most effective run making combination in the National league.

For the first time, neither all-star pitcher planned to wear a southpaw pitcher. For starting Ruffing, McCarthy choose to follow ADD-STORY.

Tommy Bridges, Detroit Veteran, and Bobby Fellers, great Cleveland speed baller. Hartnett's choice was Derringer, Bill Lee of Chicago and Whitlow Wyatt of Brooklyn, each working three innings unless the opposition failed to cooperate.

At last account, local bookmakers were offering 2 to 1 against the National leaguers, but doing little business.

Starting line-ups follow, with individual batting averages: American League Roger Cramer, Boston, RF, (.329) Red Rolfe, New York, 3B, (.317) Joe Di Maggio, New York, CF, (.426) Bill Dickey, New York, C, (.328) Hank Greenberg, Detroit, 1B, (.286) Joe Cronin, Boston, SS, (.287) George Selkirk, New York, LF, (.307) Joe Gordon, New York, 2B, (.311) Charlie Ruffing, New York, P, (.211) National League Stanley Hack, Chicago, 2B, (.286) Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati, 2B, (.307) Ival Goodman, Cincinnati, RF, (.326) Frank McCormack, Cincinnati, (.326)

TURTLES TRAINED COATESVILLE, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Constable Lawrence Rubine's 14 land turtles are in training on a tomato and hamburger diet and "champing at the bit" for Coatesville's annual turtle derby.

"I believe I have a winner in the crop," says the constable.

Arizona Sets Pace In All-Star Grid Poll

CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—Bronko Smilanich's backers apparently figure a good start is half the battle for ballots to select an all-star college team to oppose the New York Pro Giants in Soldier Field Aug. 30.

The University of Arizona half-back has 71,912 votes for a spot on the team and the balloting only started Saturday.

Voting continues until midnight July 22. Thus he has a lead of more than 51,000 on the second highest vote getter among the halfbacks—Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh.

Tony Oppolito of Purdue also had already piled up a big lead over other hopeful fullbacks. His vote total was 50,468, a margin of more than 32,000 over Howie Weiss of Wisconsin in second place.

Other early leaders are: Enda, George Lenc, Augustana, Ill., College, 15,328; Earl Brown, Notre Dame, 14,986.

Tackles — Ed Beiner, Notre Dame, 13,807; Bob Voligs, Northwestern, 9,256.

Guards—Charles Gross, Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., 16,108; Ralph Heikinen, Michigan, 15,672; Center—Ed Longhi, Notre Dame, 9,255.

Quarterback — Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian, 12,638.

THREE-YEAR OLD QUILTS SMOKING

BROCKTON, Mass., July 11 (AP)—Because publicity attendant to his liking for cigars, cigarettes and pipes has caused so much bother, Bobby Nordquist, who'll be three in September, swore off smoking today.

Bobby's mother, Mrs. Clyde M. Nordquist, said candy hence forward would replace tobacco on the young man's list of necessities. She said he had been smoking for six months without apparent harm.

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

His complexion was definitely on the light side. And, as if to clinch this fact, he sported a pair of sand-colored mustachios that would have brought tears to the eyes of a bull walrus. Mrs. Dipsang's mood changed from one of faint suspicion to that of extreme affability.

"Come in," she said courteously, suddenly throwing open a door which gave on the balcony.

The Chiseler had suspected the presence of this door. But he had not seen it since it was near the opposite end of the balcony. Now that it was open, however, he did not care to go through it. In his opinion, it was not a good idea for this matronly woman, obviously an inmate of the house, to see too much of him.

"I very much regret, Madam," he said now, clearing his throat, "that I shall be unable to—er—linger to enjoy your kind offer of hospitality. Before going, however, I feel that you are due an explanation of my rather unconventional method of appearing on your balcony."

"I certainly am," said Mrs. Dipsang, decisively. "Come in and do your explaining."

"There are reasons," said the Chiseler, "why I prefer to remain here."

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Dipsang. "With your permission," proceeded the Chiseler smoothly, "I will now..."

Mrs. Dipsang cut him short. "Here," she said, peering at him. "Why haven't you got your shoes on?"

The Chiseler pampered her curiosity in a courteous manner. "Because, Madam," he said, "I was not fortunate enough to be invited to the festivities that are being held on below. I was, therefore, forced to gain admittance in some—ah—less conventional manner."

and little Ben Hogan, ex-Texas also playing out of White Plains, led the way into the second round of match play in the national P.G.A. golf championship today at the Pomonok country club.

Hogan, one of four co-medalists at the end of the qualifying round yesterday, continued his brilliant scoring by playing 12 holes in four under par to shut out Steve Zappo of Springfield, Ohio, who got in a playoff, 7 and 6. Runyan eliminated veteran Morris Dutra of Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 1.

Dick Metz of Lake Forest, Ill., runner-up for the U. S. open title in 1938, went Hogan one better by playing 12 holes in five under standard figures, with an outgoing 31, to rout Pat Ciroelli of North Tarrytown, N. Y., 7 and 6.

Confesses Taking Part In Killing 11 Years Ago

LOS ANGELES, July 11 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Johnson, 28, former circus trapeze artist, walked into a police station, raised her right hand and said, "I want to confess a murder."

Detective Lieutenant Aldo Corsini, who booked her today on suspicion of murder, said she claimed she was involved in a grocer holdup-killing at Amarillo, Texas, in 1928.

She was accompanied to the station by her husband, Leslie Johnson, the officer said, and told this story: "My maiden name was Mary"

Jansen. I was only 27 at the time and living at Amarillo, Texas. One night I was driving with two young men.

"The boys jumped out and tried to hold up a grocer whose name I believe was McCormack. I heard some shots. They said the grocer had pulled a gun.

"The next day I read in the newspapers that the grocer died—and that he didn't have a gun.

"The boys threatened me with death if I told police. One of the boys was killed during a robbery a few weeks later."

Sterling Co. Old Settlers Meet Aug. 20

Third annual reunion of Sterling county old settlers will be held on Aug. 20, it was announced here today.

Pioneers of the Sterling country are expected to gather, some 1,500 in all, at the old Doak's Crossing where Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Davis of the Rio Concho ranch have given land for the reunion purposes. The crossing is about 10 miles east of Sterling City.

Although there is no definite date requirement for "old settlers," it is generally conceded that the term applies to those who were in the area prior to the turn of the century. Members of the pioneer's families, of course, also are eligible.

A feature of the gathering will be an old fashioned barbecue with all the trimmings. The event is self-sustaining although no subscriptions are taken. In the first two years of operation, donations by old settlers have cared for the expense.

The initial reunion in 1937 drew 1,500 and last year around 1,400 were on hand.

Conservation Applications To Be Taken

Applications for conservation districts will be accepted by the Texas Soil and Water Conservation board V. C. Marshall, chairman told a meeting of county agents at College Station Monday.

Among those ready to submit was that composed chiefly of Howard and Martin counties.

Both Howard and Martin county landowners last month signed petitions applying to the state board for a hearing on establishment of a district. Before they left for the agent's annual meeting, county Agent George Bond of Stanton and County Agent O. P. Griffin of Big Spring said that they were awaiting the announcement of a date for applications by the board before proceeding with plans for the formation of local districts.

Marshall said that the board would follow no precedents of other set-ups and would set up no general policies. Factors to be considered in establishment of the districts will be the interest of the people, facilities available, need and equitable distribution.

The proposed local district is tentatively outlined as the territory bounded by the north county lines of Howard and Martin counties, the east Howard county line, the west Martin county line and the divide between the Concho and Colorado watersheds.

From Senator Glass (D-Va.), foe of administration fiscal policies, came the terse comment: "You can get anything through congress that will spend money."

On the house side, Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass) called the program "that glorified presidential pork barrel."

Representative Williams (D-Mo) said that "if the administration insists on passage at this session, we undoubtedly will be here until September 1."

Neutrality

neutrality legislation during this session of congress, that the interests of peace and security of the United States require that we should continue to urge the adoption of the principles of the six-point program.

The administration's stand was not unexpected in opposition quarters at the capitol. Senator Nye (R-ND), champion of the embargo provision, had declared "I don't think we're through with" neutrality yet.

"But," he added, "if the committee took five months to decide as it did today, how long do you think it would take the senate to make up its mind?"

Hull reiterated the six points of the administration program thus:

- "1. To prohibit American ships, irrespective of what they may be carrying, from entering combat areas.
- "2. To restrict travel by American citizens in combat areas.
- "3. To provide that the export of goods destined for belligerents shall be preceded by transfer of title to the foreign purchasers.
- "4. To continue the existing legislation respecting loans and credits to nations at war.
- "5. To regulate the solicitation and collection in this country of funds for belligerents.
- "6. To continue the national munitions control board and the system of arms export and import licenses."

RUSSIANS USE GERMS IN WAR WITH JAPAN

AT JAPANESE ARMY HEADQUARTERS NEAR THE MONGOLIAN FRONTIER, July 10 (AP)—Remnants of Soviet-Mongolian forces apparently still held positions on the Manchukuo side of the Khalka river late tonight after a day of heavy artillery and aerial activity.

In this border warfare which started May 11, soviet troops apparently were resigned to long range fighting for an indefinite period.

Bombardment by soviet planes coast of here along the Kholsten river was followed by a Japanese army spokesman's statement that Russian airmen were dropping bacteriological bombs to contaminate the Japanese water supply.

He declared such bombing had begun Saturday and said dysentery germs were released in the water. Shelling and bombing today was virtually without interruption.

DALLAS OIL MAN DIES IN MINNESOTA

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., July 11 (AP)—The body of H. M. Munger, retired Dallas, Tex., oil man and capitalist, was sent today to Dallas. Funeral plans were incomplete.

Munger, 68, died at his summer home near here yesterday after his second recent heart attack.

The Kemp-Munger-Allen oil field near Wichita Falls, Tex., called the KMA field, got its middle name from H. M. Munger and a brother, the late S. T. Munger.

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—With speculative eyes shifting from the cloudy foreign scene to encouraging business prospects at home, the stock market today put on a fair-sized recovery push.

Gains ran for more than a point for leaders in the forenoon when volume was about double that of the preceding sluggish session. Prices were near the best at the close but the pace of dealings slackened in the final two hours.

The thought of "no war in Europe," at least in the near future, seemed to have gained ground in the financial district. Combined with this lightning of overseas tension the suggestion began to sweep through boardrooms that the market for some time has been well behind business and was entitled to a much friendlier following than it has enjoyed in recent weeks.

Confessor Of Torso Murder Judged Sane

CLEVELAND, July 11 (AP)—Frank Dolezal, confessed slayer of one of Cleveland's 12 "torso murder" victims, was declared sane by two county psychiatrists after two hours examination today.

Dolezal, 32-year-old former brick layer and butcher, was examined by Drs. S. C. Lindsay and K. S. West. Sheriff Marvin L. O'Donnell said he was convinced Dolezal had closed last night the true hiding place of the head of Mrs. Florence Millio, victim No. 3 in the series of headless dead, and that Dolezal would be asked to sign a new confession.

Dolezal told a third story about disposition of the head while taking a life detector test, the sheriff said. He then led officers to a spot on the lakefront not far from where the 11th and 12th headless dead were found last August.

The sheriff said no effort would be made to find the head because excavation, and fill-in work have made it impossible to determine its exact location.

Earlier, Dolezal had asserted he threw the head into Lake Erie, according to the sheriff, then told of burying it in the Kingsbury run sector of Cleveland's "Harlem" area.

Dolezal was not questioned about the other 11 slayings while being tested, O'Donnell declared.

Pendergast

"never explained where the money went."

The audit, ordered by stockholders of the companies, which recently passed from Pendergast's control, showed Midwest Paving was looted of $285,000, Ready-Mixed of at least $300,000 and two minor companies of more than $10,000 each.

The Star calls the theft a "strange, inexplicable mystery" because "his own men swear Pendergast did not profit. x x x History of the thefts is so long that it has required weeks of close scrutiny x x x."

"I know Mr. Pendergast never knew anything was wrong with his companies. I went to him before he went way (to prison)," Colburn was quoted.

"I told him we had this situation. I know it made him sick. But he took it."

Colburn said he had told his entire story to treasury agents and had given them all the checks involved. The agents declined comment.

ident's hands."

While in the Philippines, McNutt was not involved in American internal politics, and there had been speculation he might seek the presidential nomination as a compromise or middle-of-the-road candidate between the new deal and anti-Roosevelt factions. Asked by his arrival here last Thursday about "this middle-of-the-road business," McNutt replied:

"That's usually the safest place to drive—when the road is clear it is."

The white-haired Indian said at the same time everything done in behalf of his candidacy had been on the assumption Mr. Roosevelt would not run for a third term. Indiana friends who already have formed a campaign organization said yesterday that they saw no reason to stop their endeavors because he was taking an administration post.

MAN HELD IN MURDER OF HIS SON-IN-LAW

GRAPEVINE, Tex., July 11, (AP)—M. N. Tims, 57, is under a charge of murder in the slaying last night of his son-in-law, Harry D. Horton, Dallas electrician.

The shooting occurred at a farm near here where Tims had been a tenant for several months. Mr. and Mrs. Horton owned the property.

Assistant District Attorney M. Hendricks Brown of Fort Worth said Tims told him the Hortons went to the farm early last night and the shooting followed differences he and Horton had over management of the place.

Brown quoted Tims as saying "I just didn't want to be beaten up any more."

Funeral services for the shooting victim were arranged for this afternoon in Dallas.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Betty Norton; three brothers, Claude and Frank, of Memphis and Ralph of Kansas City; three sisters, Mrs. M. M. Urray of Longview, Mrs. M. H. Guillot of Dallas and Mrs. J. E. Rigbee of Iran.

FATHER DIVINE IS AFTER PROPERTY AT NEW PORT

NEWPORT, R. I., July 11 (AP)—"Father" Divine, the negro religious leader who has been acquiring "heavens" in some pretty exclusive sections, now is about to land one in this high society summer colony.

Mrs. Angela Kaufman, owner of a mansion known as "The Castles" said today that "Father" Divine "will have the property" for his flock of "angels." Whether it will be a gift, sale or trade, Mrs. Kaufman would not say, but she did add that the little man who is a big fellow in New York's Harlem section would "be here within a week."

Mrs. Kaufman indicated strongly without saying so flatly, that her action was taken because she was angry at her failure to obtain a liquor license for the mansion she had converted into a summer hotel.

25 REPORTED KILLED OR HURT IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 11, (AP)—About 25 persons were reported killed or injured yesterday near Celaya, Guanajuato state, when Agrarians opened fire on members of a nationalist political organization known as "sinarquistas."

The clash occurred at Juan Martin hacienda as the "sinarquistas" arrived on a political campaign tour. All the victims were said to be "sinarquistas" from Celaya.

QUEEN Warns Japan

MOSCOW, July 11 (AP)—Outspoken warnings to Japanese that they were playing with fire in the Outer-Mongolian undeclared warfare were published by Soviet newspapers today as the Mongolian People's Republic observed the 15th anniversary of its founding with Soviet aid.

Red Star, Soviet army paper, said the Russian army was helping the Mongolian army in the fighting which has been intermittent along the Manchukuo-Outer-Mongolian frontier since May 11, and declared:

"The insolent raids of the Japanese provocateurs will end in a complete fiasco."

The red banner of Vladivostok, site of Russia's Far Eastern military base, listed five reasons why Japanese were "attacking" now:

1. To safeguard the left wing and rear of Japanese armed forces in the Far East while preparing for war against the Soviet Union;
2. Isolate Outer Mongolia and the Soviet Union from China;
3. Prevent union of the Chinese army with the Outer-Mongolian and Red armies;
4. Get control of Outer Mongolia's raw material and livestock for use in a big war; and
5. Create a central base of operations on the Asiatic continent.

Amid the present large-scale fighting with Japanese-Manchukuoan forces, the Mongolian People's Republic is celebrating both the 15th anniversary of its founding and the 18th anniversary of the Soviet-aided revolution which led to establishment of the new state, independent of China.

Under Soviet protection, the republic of 900,000, chiefly herdsmen, has nationalized land, established state control of banking and credit, and set up a state monopoly on foreign trade, Red Star said.

DICTOGRAPH RECORDS USED IN JEFFERS CASE

LOS ANGELES, July 11, (AP)—The slate continued efforts today to convict evangelist Joseph Jeffers and his wife, Ella, of moral offenses by playing dictograph records.

The recording purport to be transcriptions of conversations heard in the Jeffers apartment by investigators in the next room, portions of the records were unintelligible.

THE BETTER WAY TO CORRECT CONSTIPATION

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and cure it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

This Repair-shop Survey* proves the case against old-type oils

SO OUR REFINERS MADE A NEW KIND OF OIL—THE 1939 "RPM"

For months Motor Experts have been saying that old-type oils make trouble in modern tight-fitting engines. Oils once generally favored simply can't cope with modern operating conditions. They deposit gum, carbon and varnish that reduce engine efficiency. In short, the motor gets sluggish—costly!

That's why Motor Experts insist a NEW KIND of oil is needed—badly needed.

But our refiners were ahead at work on this problem. They started at the beginning. They discarded all old-type oil conceptions. They decided on an entirely new refining process. And they backed that new process with a new $3,500,000 plant.

Now we have that NEW KIND of motor oil—the 1939 "RPM"—a NEW KIND of oil that does not "break down" under high temperatures. It stays clean. It keeps the engine clean. And it gives mileage equal to or better than any other oil, regardless of source. Quite naturally, too, the use of "RPM" maintains high engine performance—maximum power and low fuel consumption.

Facts are facts. "RPM"—the NEW KIND of motor oil—gives you smoother operation and a cleaner engine than any lubricants you have known, at any price.

*How oils, until recently satisfactory, are trouble-makers in modern motors is proved by a newly completed Repair-Shop Survey, by an independent research company. These experts found that in modern cars brought in for repairs, 77% of the oil-return passages in oil rings are clogged with gum (the first stage in varnish formation), sludge, carbon, and other deposits.

WE BREAK A TRADITION

By tradition, Standard Oil advertising is conservative—it understates the merits of the products advertised. Because a new kind of motor oil is so necessary today and because this NEW KIND of motor oil, "RPM", is so clearly superior to any old-type oil, we're going to do it full justice—but no more than justice—by saying to you—"RPM" is TODAY'S NO. 1 MOTOR OIL "BUY"!
