CITY FIGHTS TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATORS

On the Level

a column by
William Russell Clark

HERSCHEL MONTGOMERY
Folks, you don't know how swelled up with pride I am—I'm just bubbling over with excitement, and as proud as a peacock (somebody said they were proud). For William Russell Clark, the creator and skipper of this column has gone and left "On the Level" to be written by some one else of the Democrat force or for The Democrat to go to press without this column.

So, for 12 or 13 reasons I elected myself, by acclamation, to write On the Level for this week. Really, I am more modest than the first paragraph would lead one to suggest, and I wouldn't want just everybody to know that I am glad of the fact that I have the opportunity to carry a by-line at the top of the most important article in the paper, but I don't mind for the two or three people who will read this week's On the Level.

Of those 12 or 13 reasons writing this column is that I am Robbins, president, general manager, advertising salesman and writer of the column "This and That" wanted to put his column on the front page instead of "On the Level." Now, I will leave it to any of you three readers— isn't that reason enough? My own personal opinion is that The Democrat would have a hard time living down such a disgraceful and degrading act. And besides there is just lots of things that could not be classed as either This or That and yet are On the Level.

Just being an ordinary "punk" typewriter operator, you can't expect to produce a column that compare in any respect to one of Russell's. For when I say that I am a typewriter operator, I don't expect it to raise my standard of rating any too much, for it has often been said that "any d—n fool can operate a typewriter."

I have often wished that I could be a great columnist like O. O. McIntyre, Arthur Brisbane, Colonel Erasmus Tack, and L. E. R. but I doubt if I will ever realize that "secret" ambition. However, I think that the greatest obstacle that I have encountered so far has been the lack of opportunity. And, up until this time, there had been no doubt, in my mind, that if I had the chance, and could once hit my stride, it would not be any time until my "great sayings of philosophy" would be noticed and I would be "picked up" by some newspaper syndicate or the Associated Press, to do nothing but write a column.

And now, at last, while Russell is spending several days in the Ozarks of Arkansas, taking life easy—resting, sleeping, drinking cool mountain spring water, bathing in placid pools of refreshing qualities, and in all probability, "fishing" the fair-skinned, beautiful daughters of Arkansas, my one big chance has come—and I don't know what to do with it.

I can't even think of a good subject to write about. One of the boys here in the office advised me to write "about" as little as possible, and insinuated that that would probably be too much. So, I suppose, my hopes and wishes for the future as a newspaper columnist will end as this column will end—eventually—without having gained very wide popularity. And in utter disgust and despair, I have about decided to indulge in the drinking of some clean, clear, thirst-quenching ice water and call it a bad day dream.

AUTO COLLISION INJURES TWO MEMPHIANS

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Orr Suffer Cuts and Bruises in Wreck

W. D. Orr and Mrs. Orr were injured Tuesday night when the car in which they were riding was struck by a truck on a bridge two miles north of Hedley. Mr. and Mrs. Orr were rushed to Hedley in a passing auto, where they were given first aid treatment, and Mrs. Orr, who suffered from a severe cut in the forehead, was rushed to Memphis by Tom Moore of Hedley. She was given treatments for cuts and bruises about the head and body at the Memphis Hospital. Mr. Orr, who only suffered slight bruises about the legs and face, remained in Hedley to arrange for the taking care of his car, and then came to Memphis later.

Collided on Bridge

According to Mr. Orr, he and his wife were driving on to a bridge on the highway two miles north of Hedley, when he noticed that a truck was coming down the hill on the other side of the bridge and was not stopping. Mr. Orr stopped and attempted to back off the bridge, but the truck struck them as they stopped. Mr. Orr stated that the engine of his car was doubled up by the impact of the blow, and that his car was carried back about ten feet off the end of the bridge. Half of the steering wheel was snapped in his hands.

The motorometer was broken off and hurled through the windshield, and Mr. Orr believes, was what struck Mrs. Orr on the forehead. The sheriff of Donley County was notified, and he took charge of the case.

Mrs. Orr was released from the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Farm Board Leaders Will Speak Friday

J. Henry Read, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter from the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce stating that he has been placed on the reception committee for Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, on the occasion of their visit to Amarillo, July 11.

The farm board chairman and the U. S. agriculture head will speak in the Municipal Auditorium at Amarillo at 11:00 a. m. Friday relative to the present wheat situation. Mr. Read will be accompanied from Memphis by County Agent E. W. Thomas and several others.

Grocer Thanks His Customers And Democrat

"Democrat advertising certainly does pay," declared John Vallance, owner of the "M" System and Vallance Grocery here and 4 other stores, Tuesday just before he left Memphis for a short vacation. "I want to thank Memphis people for the fine manner in which they responded to our fifth anniversary event which began last Saturday," he said.

Since John has gone on a vacation, The Democrat presumes that he really did sell some groceries last week because he said he couldn't leave Memphis unless he did!

ROTARIANS ARE TO IMPROVE THEIR CLUB

Suggestions Made In Talks At Tuesday Luncheon

Plans for improving the Memphis Rotary Club were the order of the day at the regular luncheon Tuesday at noon. The dinner was well seasoned with a thirty-minute concert, interspersed with vocal numbers, by a four-piece orchestra composed of Ronnie, Donald and B. F. Shepherd, sons of Mrs. Ben F. Shepherd, and Miss Evelyn Carter of Fort Worth.

At the beginning of the program, Pres. R. S. Greene announced that the first of a series of out of town visits, to occasionally take the place of regular luncheons, had been arranged with women of Salisbury. The club will dine at Salisbury next Tuesday night, in lieu of the Tuesday noon luncheon.

Suggestions Made

Jeff Watson opened the program with a suggestion for bettering the club. Mr. Watson recommended that a number system be instituted that will prevent the same Rotarians from sitting together at every luncheon. He also recommended that visiting Rotarians be interrogated as to their classifications at the beginning of the luncheons and that they be seated with a local member of like classification.

Henry Read next spoke on fellowship, and detailed several methods in which this important feature might be improved in the local club. "By all means," Mr. Read said in the course of his talk, "make our visitors feel at home and glad that they had the opportunity to lunch with us."

Frank Phelan ended the discussions with a suggestion "in the flesh" for increasing attendance. Mr. Phelan described a phoning system that he had worked out and gave each Rotarian a card with four other names on it to be phoned at 10 o'clock each Tuesday morning. The plan was designed to remind the entire membership of the meeting within a very few minutes.

Thomas L. Martin Dies of Gun Wound

Thomas L. Martin, 62, of the Webster community died about 8 o'clock Monday morning as the result of a self-inflicted shotgun wound at 7:30. He was discovered by a neighbor in a barn, near his home, immediately after the gun was discharged. The deceased had been ill for some time and it is believed he had become despondent over his failing health. His wife and a son, Howard Martin, 25, survive.

Mr. Martin came to Hall County 20 years ago and aided greatly in the development of this section as an agricultural community. He owned considerable land in the county and was considered an outstanding and substantial farmer. Funeral services, in charge of King's, were held at the Methodist Church in the Webster community Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in the Lakeview Cemetery.

Mother Of Local Grocer Dies July Fourth In Abilene

Friends of Russell C. Howerton, local grocer, will regret to learn of the death of his mother, Mrs. J. V. Howerton, in Abilene on July 4. He and Mrs. Howerton were called to his mother's bedside early last week. Shortly after their arrival it was believed she was showing some improvement, but she later suffered a relapse and passed away on Friday.

Mrs. Howerton was 68 and had pioneered Taylor County with her husband. Mr. Howerton and three sons, C. J. and E. L. of Abilene and R. C. of Memphis, survive. Funeral services were held in Abilene last Saturday.

Russell Howerton returned to his business Sunday night, but Mrs. Howerton and the baby will remain in Abilene for a few days.

According to Mr. Kennedy, Mrs. Odle had 67 great, great, great grandchildren; 46 great, great grandchildren; and 18 great grandchildren.

OFFENDERS MUST PAY FINES OR REFORM, SAY CITY OFFICIALS IN STATEMENTS TO DEMOCRAT

War Declared On Motorists Who Ignore City And State Ordinances Regulating Automobile Traffic In Memphis

The City of Memphis has declared war on traffic law violators. This was the edict issued from several official sources this week. The city dads have apparently become disgusted at the lack of cooperation they are receiving from some citizens in the observance of traffic laws, and they are now determined to have these laws enforced.

Police Commissioner J. A. Whaley has issued strict instructions to Chief of Police W. H. Huddleston to arrest all offenders. Especially did he stress the ordinance prohibiting private cars other than those driven by firemen from following the fire trucks and requiring them to pull to the curb when the fire siren is sounded.

The police chief has passed the word along to his men, and they are after results.

MAYOR IN SYMPATHY WITH ACTION

Mayor Sam T. Harrison, in a statement made to The Democrat yesterday, said the drive to curb recklessness and thoughtlessness in Memphis had his hearty approval.

"There is no doubt but that we have been much too lenient with traffic law violators in Memphis," he said. "Long ago we should have tightened up on lawlessness in this regard and demanded respect for our city ordinances and state laws that govern the operation of motor vehicles in populous centers for the protection of life and property. This is a drive against recklessness and thoughtlessness. We intend for it to be successful and we are giving the people fair warning that they must observe our laws or pay the penalty."

Chief of Police Huddleston declared in no uncertain terms that he and his men intend to present all offenders with red tickets that require them to appear before the city attorney with their pleas. Some of the offenses he mentioned were ignoring stop signs, double parking, following fire trucks, driving with open exhausts or with cutouts, running over fire hose, driving without lights, and speeding. "I believe Memphis is large enough to demand a little respect for her traffic ordinances," the chief said. "My men and I expect to tag every law violator that we can catch—and we are out to catch them all. Speeders, who are daily endangering the lives of other people, will especially have our attention. Drivers who think the stop buttons are merely placed there as ornaments will not be forgotten, either. I am a firm believer in a dose of medicine for those who are sick. A few fines will make some of our wild drivers wake up and come down to earth."

CITY ATTORNEY WILL ASSESS FINES

As a final link in the chain designed to curb wild driving and disrespect for traffic ordinances, City Attorney Sam J. Hamilton has announced to The Democrat that he will assess fines on possessors of the innocent-looking little red tickets that city officers intend to hand out freely hereafter.

"People who expect to get scot free from city court had better have a clear cut case of innocence," the city attorney declared. "I am delighted with the opportunity to co-operate with other city officials in the drive against speeding and other violations of traffic laws. I am of the firm opinion that Memphis should be permanently freed of this nuisance and I agree with my friends on the City Council that the assessment of fines against all offenders is the only sure cure for the evil."

J. A. Whaley, commissioner of police, declared the drive would continue until the evil is corrected. In a statement made to The Democrat early Thursday morning, he said: "Every thinking citizen wants the law enforced and we are making an effort to bring this about. In the opinion of the City Council, reckless driving must stop and we intend to leave no stone unturned until we meet with success. The drive will continue until our traffic laws are respected."

Sixteen Owls Off To Tournney

Sixteen Memphis Owls left Wednesday afternoon for Amarillo where they will compete in the annual Amarillo Globe-News Baseball Tournament. The club was accompanied by Ben Woodington, business manager, who will remain in the Plains Capital for several days to look after living arrangements for the players. Charlie Pullen of Rube's Coffee Shop was also in the party. Mr. Pullen will be official Owl cook.

The personnel of the club for the tournament is as follows: Bob Clary, manager; Rube Leissner, Red Gaither, F. L. Carleton, Jack Knight, J. O. Walker, Clark Burleson, "Lefty" Squires, George Thompson, Jr., Jess Tunnell, Clyde Morrison, George Wessels, Wade Wilson, John Luther Garner, "Lefty" Venible and Hubert Maddox.

Adrian Odom, sports editor of The Democrat, left with the Owls and will remain to cover their activities for his paper.

The Democrat would like to have the names of everyone from Memphis who expects to attend the Small rally. Phone 15 if you are going.

BOARD OPPOSES REVAMPING OF BAND FOR FAIR

Conditions Not Ripe, C. of C. Officials Aver.

That financial conditions do not warrant the re-organization of the Gold Medal Band in time for the Hall County District Fair, September 16-19, was the general consensus of opinion of Chamber of Commerce directors who met jointly with the Board of Governors of the band at noon Thursday.

The Board of Governors had previously voted to re-organize the band in time for the fair, provided sanction of their decision was granted by the Chamber of Commerce. The matter was thoroughly discussed Thursday and it was finally decided that the band matter should be dropped until October or November.

All Chamber of Commerce directors expressed themselves as heartily in favor of perpetuating the band, but they were also unanimous in their opinion that the

Expect Thousands At Small Rally In Amarillo Friday

(Special to The Democrat)
AMARILLO, July 10.—An all-Panhandle rally for Senator Clint Small will be held in Amarillo Friday night of this week.

According to plans of the general campaign committee, assisted by the Small-for-Governor clubs in cities throughout the Panhandle territory, the rally will draw a crowd of thousands and will be the greatest political gathering in the history of this section.

Reports coming to Grover Hill, chairman of the Amarillo committee are to the effect that large delegations of Clint Small supporters will be on hand from every city and community throughout the Plains. Various delegations will bring bands.

Speakers of state-wide prominence will address the crowd, and two minute talks will be made by prominent citizens from the various Panhandle cities represented.

The rally is being planned as a testimonial to Senator Small of the support which this section is giving him in his campaign for governor, and as an indication of the confidence which his Panhandle friends have in him.

The rally will be held on the courthouse lawn, a special speaker's platform having been erected this week to the occasion. Radio stations will broadcast the speeches.

The meeting will come at the close of a general gathering of farmers in Amarillo Friday for the program to be given by Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, and it is expected that at least two thousand farmers will be in Amarillo and will remain over for the Small rally.

"I am getting more encouragement every day," Senator Small told T. E. Johnson of the News-Globe Tuesday in a long distance call from Waxahachie, "and the spirit of the Panhandle folks in arranging the Amarillo rally is wonderful."

"Some of my opponents are saying the Panhandle isn't supporting me, but I am not worrying about that propaganda," Senator Small said.

"I would like mighty well to be in Amarillo Friday night, but you folks up there know that I appreciate what you are doing just as much as if I were there and could be present."

"Prospects are brighter every day and there isn't any question but what I will be in the run-off," he said.

Enjoyable Fourth Of July Picnic Is Given

A number of friends and relatives spent a very enjoyable day, the Fourth, on a picnic up in the hills. The crowd met in Lakeview about nine o'clock and drove from there to Mr. Watson's pasture, where a beautiful shady place had been selected for the picnic.

The fun began. Some played croquet, some dominoes, while others enjoyed sitting in the cool shade and chatting. At noon a real spread of fried chicken, roast beef, salads, pickles, cakes and pies, with plenty of iced tea and lemonade, was served. After lunch some of the men returned to their domino games, some of the young people went swimming, while several went to Turkey to see the Memphis Owls play ball.

About three-thirty the tired crowd left the picnic ground, every one declaring that Mr. Jarvis knows how to plan a real picnic.

Those enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. Matt Monzingo, and sons, Frank, Allen and Kermit, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Monzingo and daughter, Velma, Miss Rebecca Sitton, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Memphis Rotary's New Officers Are Installed Tuesday

Memphis Rotarians heard a brief report from R. S. Greene on the recent International convention at Chicago at the regular luncheon Tuesday at noon. Mr. Greene, who is the club's incoming president, detailed some of the high spots of the meet and closed his talk by asking for the individual co-operation of every member during his forthcoming regime.

The new president also called the club's attention to a plan being used by some other clubs, of meeting periodically in nearby rural communities for their lunches. Women of the Salisbury community have already extended the club an invitation of this nature.

J. Claude Wells, retiring president, introduced the new Rotary officers to the club as follows: R. S. Greene, president; Horace E. Tarver, vice president, and R. L. Ragsdale, secretary-treasurer. The new directors are J. Claude Wells, W. C. Dickey, S. J. Bailey and William Russell Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Nelson, of Floydada, and their daughter, Mrs. Otto Forkner, of California, visited here with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Nelson, Sunday and Sunday night.

Health is the greatest fundamental of life. An education is of little value without health. Wealth loses its savor unless there is health to enjoy its advantages. The attainment and retaining of health is a close attention to the nerve lines. When the mental impulses that travel from the brain to the nerve cells in all organs of the body are able to go and come with freedom, there is normal action in all organs and a state of health is realized. To free the spinal nerves of interference so that normal function of all organs is at all possible, go to a chiropractor and have these spinal adjustments made. We do not hesitate to recommend the services of the well known chiropractor who has an office that is modern in detail, located at 815 Main street. Who is this reliable chiropractor?

UNDER THE STERLING PLAN TAXES WILL BE REDUCED IN HALL COUNTY

The taxpayers of Hall County, including the farmers, homeowners and business men are now assessed an average tax of approximately 45c on the $100.00 valuation to pay for the construction of State Highways, a tax that should be borne by the State.

Under the Sterling Tax Reduction plan the State will assume this obligation and pay for it out of the gasoline tax.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan will place the burden of paying for the state roads your county has built on the traffic, where it belongs.

The Sterling Plan will provide the state with adequate fund to build a connected state system of hard surfaced, all-weather highways and for paving the gaps over the state without county aid and without increasing the gasoline tax one penny.

The Sterling Tax Reduction Plan provides that no property tax shall ever be levied to carry out its purposes.

OWLS DROP TWO TO TERRIBLE TURK NINE

1-0 Errorless Game July Fourth Best This Season

The Memphis Owls fell before the fire of the Turkey nine in two games at Turkey, Thursday and Friday, losing each game by only one run. In Thursday's game the Owls took the weak end of a 7 to 6 score, and Friday they were nosed out in a one run game.

Burleson took the mound for the Owls in the first game, and was relieved in the seventh inning by Clary. Hodges lead the opposition with Jimmie Garner taking the helm in the eighth. Turkey took the lead in the first stanza Check pulled out a homer two men on bases. The Owls were unable to overcome lead until the eighth when runs put them in the lead by a one-run margin. In the ninth Turkey came back to make two runs after two men had struck out, and won the game, 7 to 6.

The game Friday was the best exhibition of ball playing that has been shown in any Owl game. From the start it was a battle between Jack Knight, Owl hurler, and J. Bribwell, who held the same position with the Turks. For eight innings neither team had scored or threatened seriously to score. J. Bribwell doubled into left field, where cars were parked so that the fielder had no chance to field the ball, and was followed by Van Meter, who repeated the hit to score Bribwell for the only run of the game.

As a grand finale, the Owls lost the game when Garner flew out to shortstop with the bases loaded. The game was errorless.

The Memphis Owls, loaded for bear, were escorted to Amarillo Wednesday by several local fans. The Wise Birds will compete in the annual Globe-News Baseball Tournament, which opened July 10.

watch the Amarillo Daily News each morning during the tournament for this information. If the Owls draw a game this week end, large numbers of fans from Memphis are expected to journey to Amarillo to watch their favorites in action. The Owls will be eliminated in the contest as soon as they lose two games. But, as Manager Bobbie Clary puts it, "We hope we don't lose even one game."

The second game was one of the greatest ball games ever played in this part of the country. It was a battle between the pitchers, that ended with one run and no errors. It did not matter who was victorious. What we must have now is a three game series with Turkey at Memphis right after the tournament.

The Owls are in Amarillo now where they are going to make a strong bid for first place in the News-Globe tournament. The team that took the road up there is the best that the Owls have had this season, which is saying a whole lot, for the night birds have played some very good ball in the last few weeks. The Memphis team is known throughout the Panhandle as one of the strongest.

Bobby Jones at Interlachen shot his first practice round in par. A few days ago many golfers were playing the course to become acquainted with it, and they blamed their unfamiliarity with the course for the high scores they turned in. Bobby shot a par on

When the Owls lost to Turkey in the two holiday games, they were games worth losing. That first game shouldn't have been lost, however. The Owls outplayed the Terrible Turks, but when Burleson played out, there was no relief pitcher. Clary had to go into the box for the first time this season. Even at that Clary held them until they ran in some pinch hitters, who were too much for him.

It seems to be impossible to get away from cow-pasture ball. The umpires in that game were the poorest that ever called an Owl game. It is not that the umpires were "crooked," they just didn't know baseball. The Owls played under a decided handicap in the number of players that they had available.

Frank Snyder is to remain as manager of the Fort Worth Cats, and all the rumors that have had it otherwise are wrong. If a man were turned out just because his team loses, there would be many jobless managers and no teams. Snyder has been against some real work with the cats and on the whole has done some excellent work with good results.

DALLAS PLANS WATERWAY TO GULF AS NEW CANALIZATION OF TRINITY IS DEDICATED

DALLAS, July 10.—All the drama and pageantry attendant such an important affair will be in evidence, Monday, July 14, 12:30 p. m. when the Dredge John J. Simmons, which will strike the first blow in the canalization of the Trinity River to the Gulf of Mexico, will be dedicated. Immediately after the dedication ceremonies, the giant "spider"—dredge propeller—will bite deeply into the mud and water of the Trinity River Reclamation district—the first step in the construction of a turning basin and the canalization of the Trinity River which will bring the sea to Dallas and Fort Worth.

The spectacular affair will be under the auspices of Fort Worth, Dallas, Trinity River Navigation Association, Trinity River Reclamation District, Chambers of Commerce and Civic Clubs of all cities affected by navigation plans.

The committee of arrangements consists of John Carpenter, president of the Navigation Association; Roy Miller, vice-president of the Association; Walter Scott, of Fort Worth, also one of the Association leaders; E. V. Noyes, consulting engineer to the reclamation district and Fort Worth and Dallas business leaders.

Expect 10,000. The program calls for the attendance of Major E. F. Fowler, United States engineer at New Orleans and leading civic and business officials of Fort Worth, Dallas and all cities affected by navigation plans. It is expected that 10,000 will witness the dedication ceremonies.

The ceremony will be initiated with a grand parade from the City Hall to the reclamation district at noon. Floats provided by the various clubs of the city, augmented by the fire and police department bands of Fort Worth and Dallas, will form the background of the parade. The ceremony at the dredge includes an invocation delivered by a local clergyman, and the christening of the dredge with a bottle of water from the Gulf of Mexico by a Fort Worth girl. The christening of the dredge with gulf water will symbolize the union of the gulf and the river.

Honor Simmons

Tribute will be paid to Supervisor John J. Simmons, in whose honor the dredge is named. One of the local judiciary will be asked to pay homage to Mr. Simmons for his zealous, untiring activity in behalf of the reclamation project.

The main speakers will be Major Fox and Roy Miller. Immediately after Major Fox's speech, the dredge will be thrown into operation and work on the navigation of the Trinity will begin. A tour of the reclamation district is also part of the program. The visitors, divided into groups, will be guided over the district by engineers who will explain the various engineering features. A banquet is planned for Monday night at one of the local hotels.

Engineers contend that the navigation of the Trinity is comparable to the Panama Canal project. Instead of joining two oceans, the river will unite the Gulf of Mexico and the thriving cities from Galveston to Fort Worth, opening new trade territory and giving these cities a chance to send their products into the competitive markets of the world at waterway rates.

Konjola Ended Two Years Of Stomach Misery

Again This New and Different Medicine Shows Why It Has Become Famous

Strange, but absolutely true—Konjola, the new and different medicine seems at the very peak of its powers when pitted against the stubborn cases that have held on with bulldog-like tenacity. Take for example, the experience of Mrs. Bertie Cowan, 614 West Second street, Fort Worth, Texas, who says:

"For two years the lightest of foods caused misery. At times I had to gasp for breath, and I belched up bits of undigested food. I took soda constantly. My kidneys gave me trouble too. I had backache and had to rise many times at night. But Konjola ended all this, and today my back is free from pain, my nerves are steady, I sleep soundly and wake up every morning rested and refreshed."

Thus Konjola works, swiftly yet surely. It is strongly recommended however, that a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles be used if best results are to be obtained.

Konjola is sold in Memphis, Texas, at Leverett-Williams Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

VOTE FOR SMALL FOR GOVERNOR

And Bury Factional Politics In Texas

Whenever the electorate of Texas can free itself from factional politics, then, and not until then, will the professional politician become an extinct race; and again so long as any section of our state is hindered and torn by factional prejudices, brought about principally by ambitious politicians, it is hard for a leader to arise in such section to command the undivided support of the constructive thought of such section. We have eleven candidates in the race for the Democratic nomination for the office of Governor and ten of these hail from that part of Texas, not included in what is known as West Texas, and only one from the section geographically known as West Texas. The ten candidates are naturally the result of a political condition born of many years of political strife, not sought nor sanctioned by the constructive and conservative thought of such section, but brought about by political ambitions of would-be leaders and fostered by a spirit of factionalism that years of political differences have brought about. West Texas is in a more happy situation regarding these matters than any other section of our great State, in not being burdened to the extent that other sections are; and for the time being should be the best able to offer to the state and the voters of the state a candidate that will and can solve the problem confronting the people of our great state along these lines. It could be the misfortune of West Texas, as it now appears to be the misfortune of other sections, to be burdened with this same condition of factional politics, and a candidate for each faction seeking support, not on the issues of a proper administration of the government of Texas, but primarily on the ground of some issue not an issue in the race for Governor, but some issue foreign to the Governor's race merely to ride into office.

Happily this condition does not exist and Senator Clint C. Small, geographically the candidate from the western part of our state, offers an opportunity to the voters of the Democratic party of the state to harmonize that it may again be the party of actions rather than one of factions. Constructive and conservative minds in all parts of the state are being moved by this view, as their thoughts are indexed in the columns of the daily papers thruout the state, and it remains for us, the neighbours of Senator Small, and also a people not yet badly torn by factional politics and politicians, to stand faithfully by our guns and see that the Senator is given our united support and that we all go to the polls and cast our ballots to "ADJOURN POLITICS AND DEVELOP TEXAS". Can we afford to do less to advance the cause of our neighbor in his aspirations to serve the state as its Governor, when great and conservative minds thruout the state are supporting him with the fervent desire that in him Texas might be spared for the next two years at least from bitter factional politics?

Senator Small's platform is constructive, it has nothing if the political hullabaloo, nor the cure for all ills of the people in it of the kind that the people have been burdened with during every political campaign for the last twenty years. Nothing of those characters of promises that are impossible of fulfillment and only made for the purpose of obtaining votes. His stand on the penitentiary question is the only safe and sane and conservative manner by which this question should be solved. To dispose of the penitentiary lands and re-establish a penitentiary elsewhere would mean a great sacrifice to the state for those lands would have to be sold at a sacrifice that the state can ill afford to bear. Oil has been found and is being produced near parts of these lands and if such is to develop the state should retain it in order that the state may obtain the profits. Again the cost of re-establishing it elsewhere would cost millions more than what is necessary to be spent to modernize the penitentiary as it now stands. The Senator's program of making the penitentiary self sustaining would be the business man's program to accomplish this. He stands squarely for law enforcement and promises the full powers of the governor's office if he should be elected to accomplish such enforcement as the people desire. He has stood in the past for the protection of the rights of property of the individual and during his short time in the State Senate has made his name known thruout the state as a champion of the rights of the individuals in their claim of title to lands that they had honestly purchased from the state and paid taxes upon them, for years, when such rights were being questioned by selfish interests because of the discovery of oil, etc. He still stands for policy in harmony with the fight he has already so faithfully made. He believes in Texas institutions and while inviting the people from everywhere to come to our state and become a part of us, guaranteeing to them a square deal if they come, he denies the right to those who prosper in Texas and fail to bear their part of the expenses of government to curtail the business of Texas. In his own language "All things being equal, the Texas tax dollar should be spent with Texans and thereby offer an opportunity for this dollar to return to the pockets from whence it came". His position on highways is commendatory, also his position with reference to the regulation of utilities. His is a constructive platform and West Texas should be proud of the broad, open fight he is making.

In the language of some other citizen who has endorsed him, let us say, "He is sometimes referred to as the West Texas candidate for Governor. He is. We cannot move his place of residence and do not want to. He would not dare offer for State office without West Texas endorsement.

Let us say to all Texas that we who know him best, his home folks, offer Clint Small to all Texas, approving his private life and personal character and applauding his public record."

Primary Ballot Is Lengthy; Heaviest In Several Years

Faced with the longest ballot in a number of years, voters will go to the polls on July 26th with a "right smart" of scratching to do. Keen competition in the governor's race, as well as some Hall County races, has lengthened the ballot considerably.

Byron Baldwin, secretary of the Democratic Executive Committee in Hall County, and precinct chairman, has issued some information pertaining to absentee voters in connection with the coming primary.

"Voters already out of the state," Mr. Baldwin said, "must appear before a notary public for identification and must exhibit their poll tax receipts or make an affidavit that their poll taxes have been paid. They may then secure a ballot from the county clerk.

"Absentee voters who expect to leave the county within the next few days must abide by the following ruling, an excerpt from the Texas Election Laws."

Any qualified elector, as defined by the laws of this state, who expects to be absent from the county of his or her residence on the day of the election may vote subject to the following conditions, to-wit: At some time not more than ten days nor less than three days prior to the date of such election such elector shall make his or her personal appearance before the county clerk of his or her residence, and if personally unknown to such clerk shall be identified by at least two reputable citizens of such county, and shall deliver to such clerk his or her poll tax receipt or exemption certificate, entitling him or her to vote at such election, and said clerk shall deliver to such elector one ballot which has been prepared for use in accordance with the law for use in such election which shall then and there be marked by said elector . . .

Fifty Years Of Wedded Bliss

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Arnold, above, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The occasion was marked by a reception given in their honor at the home of Mrs. Elmer S. Shelley, a daughter. Mr. Arnold is 76 and Mrs. Arnold is 71.

gine conditions. "It is refined from a special selection of the major crudes to give greater viscosity at higher operating temperatures with a lower viscosity at lower temperatures, and at the same time retain the exceptionally low carbon residue content which has always characterized Texaco Motor Oil in the past.

"It has a flatter viscosity curve, the low pour test characteristic is improved in that the force necessary to shear the oil is less, the flash and fire points are higher and the carbon residue still low.

"Laboratory tests and road test on the oil's performance have shown that the new Texaco is an unquestionably superior motor oil. It is manufactured in five grades conforming to Society of Automotive Engineers Viscosity ratings and on sale everywhere in the United States at 30 cents a quart with the exception of the very heaviest grade, which is sold at 35 cents a quart."

The Coming Generation

This wide-awake, bright eyed baby is Mary Milam Cochran, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cochran of Oklahoma City.

Mary Milam and her mother are visiting with the young lady's grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Milam this week.

"I Firmly Believe It Saved My Life," Says Wichita Lady

"My entire family take Argotane and think it is just fine, it speaks for itself." Says Mother.

"I firmly believe Argotane saved my life," said Mrs. R. H. McNeil, of 1405 Burnett, Wichita Falls, Texas, wife of a well known carpenter here.

"I have been sick off and on for ten years, with gall bladder and indigestion troubles. At times, I would have such severe, intense pains in my back and sides I could hardly move, it would hurt me so. I was bilious and very dizzy, and had a soreness in my stomach all of the time. I had frequent headaches, and was very nervous and had a bad case of constipation. Everytime I ate anything, gas would form on my stomach, until I could hardly breathe. I was getting worse every day, and needed something to build me up.

I don't have gas pains, or that tired feeling at all now, and since taking the first two or three doses of Argotane, I haven't had a symptom of gall bladder trouble. My kidneys are in normal condition, and I don't have any more bilious or dizzy spells. My six children who are home take Argotane every day, and we feel that we can't speak enough for it, for it has helped us so. I'll praise Argotane as long as I live, and I know that if anyone will give Argotane a trial, it will speak for itself."

day's game. The Owl aggregation, happily encamped at a tourist park near Metro Park, is not over-confident, but the boys do feel sure of themselves. They are entering the diamond this afternoon determined to win.

Apparently few of the other clubs entered in the tournament have as much talent in their pitching staffs. Most of the other clubs have four pitchers. Some have five, but Memphis has six, which is one reason Manager Bobby Clary is telling the cock-eyed world that the Owls expect to be in the fight for several days to come.

Let's Chat Awhile

BY DOROTHY B. ROBBINS

John Hays Hammond Jr., inventor of the Radio-Eye, now being perfected, was interviewed by a writer for the New York Times recently. His work ing place built on a high cliff beside the seashore at Gloucester, Mass., presents the appearance of a medieval castle with the spires and turrets reaching up from the stone walls.

Through the windows of the observatory Mr. Hammond looks out over the sea and meditates upon the great problems he has worked out. The great ones of earth have had time for thought and fruitful ideas are born away from distracting din.

One look at the serious, studious face of the scientist stamps him as one whose vision has reached back and grasped something the world has needed and had reached forward to leave an imprint on generations yet to come.

Mr. Hammond smiles as he calls his idea a simple one, the invention that shows a landing field no matter how thick the fog! He stresses the fact of the greatness of the television eye in time of war doing away with the periscope that acted too often as a target for the enemy.

Still youthful, Mr. Hammond is only 42, and a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School at Yale, he will probably give us many worth while inventions. When only 34 he had more than 250 inventions, he could call his own. John Hays Hammond, the father, was known throughout America and Europe as a great mining engineer. His projects made of him a very wealthy man. The son is worthy of the father but instead of delving below the earth has chosen the realm of the sky. He has added to the list of inventions the most needed of all for men will be daring (and women too), and the inventor who removes the greatest of all hazards is the greatest benefactor.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Long left Wednesday for their home in Clinton, Ill., after a week's visit with Mr. Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Long, of Plaska.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

The desire for a change in the menu often leads the housewife to purchase liver. There are ways and ways to cook this much vaunted food. Did you ever try stewing it with the small addition of minced onion and then grinding, mixing with salad dressing (El Food is a splendid one to use) and spreading between slices of bread. Good sandwiches, and children like them!

Flour the liver, after salting and peppering and place in a pan with the bacon you wish to broil on the broiler a-top of it all. The grease from the bacon goes to the liver and gives it the desired seasoning, it browns quite nicely too.

That strong taste can be removed by pouring boiling water over a platter upon which the liver has been spread and pouring it off—sometimes it is necessary to pour water several times to reach all the liver.

OWLS AND WOLVES TO FIGHT OUT GRUDGE?

That the Memphis Owls are considered favorites to win the Globe-News Baseball Tournament in Amarillo, which opened Thursday of this week, is emphasized in stories that have appeared in the Amarillo Daily News and the Amarillo Globe during the last few days.

Clubs in other towns in the Panhandle admit that Memphis had a strong aggregation several weeks before entering the tournament, and now that the Wise Bird nine has been strengthened considerably they look to the Owls as real contenders for the crown and first money.

After Turkey defeated Memphis in two straights during the July picnic in the Gobbler, the Turks banded themselves with the Silverton Wolves and entered the tournament under the name of the latter. Nature is somewhat of a grudge holder between the Wolves and the Owls, and the Amarillo newspapers have not overlooked the opportunity to play up this fact.

For instance, read this comment that appeared in Wednesday's Amarillo Globe:

"And then there is that sweet, refreshing bitterness between the Memphis Owls and the Silverton Wolves. When the town of Silverton learned that the Owls were entered, fans got busy and picked up almost bodily the nine representing Turkey, added a few first class players and announced they were ready to beat the world, but Memphis. The Owls looked in their eyes and they enjoy nothing better than to see the team to send the Wolves to their way to final showers."

All of which goes a long way toward intimating that the Owls' first game in the tournament will probably be against the Wolves. "Nothing," declared Manager Bobby Clary, "would suit me better. I feel certain we can defeat the Turkey-Silverton bunch, simply because it is our time to win a game from them, if for no other good reason. However, we have

16 good reasons in the form of husky players who are all in tip-top shape."

TEXACO OIL IS LAUDED BY DEALER

Kinslow Says New Lubricant Is Making History.

It has been known for some years that changing engine designs and driving conditions were making increasingly heavy demands upon the motor lubricants. Oil refiners have made every effort to perfect new oils with better body qualities to enable them to stand up and provide effective lubrication. The problem has been to provide an oil with the necessary tougher, longer-lasting body and at the same time not sacrifice any of the other qualities such as purity, and the ability to flow and lubricate at zero.

The Texas Company has been successful, according to C. W. Kinslow. "The new Texaco Golden Motor Oil recently announced by the Texas Company and now on sale by Texaco Filling Stations throughout the country is creating a sensation in automotive and oil refining circles," Mr. Kinslow said. "The new Texaco Motor Oil has a remarkably tough body. It is crack-proof; it flows at zero; and it has an exceptionally low carbon residue for an oil of like viscosity.

Calves Net Big Profit When Fed Proper Ration

BY E. W. THOMAS

A calf feeding demonstration started January 2, by E. M. Ewen and Son of Estelline was completed June 30 when the last calves were sold. Eleven calves were fed an average of 138 days in a pen and allowed to suckle their dams at night and morning when they came in from the pasture. Starting with an estimated average weight of 175 pounds and an average age of 2 1/2 months, the calves when marketed at about seven months of age weighed 572.7 pounds per head. This shows a gain of nearly 3 pounds per head per day for the entire feeding period and about 200 pounds greater weight per head than average calves of the same age from the range.

The ration from start to finish consisted of a mixture of 1 part alfalfa meal to 2 parts ground milo heads, supplemented with cottonseed meal. The alfalfa and milo heads were raised on the farm and cottonseed was traded at the local oil mill for the cottonseed meal. Accurate figures on consumption of feed could not be secured for the reason that the calves were fed in the same pen with older calves. The estimated average daily ration was 3 1/3 pounds alfalfa meal, 6 2/3 pounds ground milo heads, and 1 pound cottonseed meal.

The calves were out of good grade Hereford cows and were sired by a Milking Shorthorn bull. Pigs and chickens ran in the pens and consumed the waste. The manure was utilized on the land. In figuring the results no account is taken of labor either for grinding the feed or doing the feeding, however, it seems probable that this item is largely offset by the value of the pork and poultry produced from the waste and the manure which is particularly valuable on the sandy land farm on which the feeding was done.

It is of considerable interest to note that the calves were kept in a pen and fed rather than being fed in creeks according to the usual recommendations. Mr. John Ewen who did the feeding, attributes much of the success of the enterprise to this system, in that the calves consumed a very large amount of feed and did not waste energy in following their dams over the pasture.

The cows were credited with $32.50 for rearing the calves to weaning age, and this figure taken as the initial cost.

Following is summary of results: Initial cost per head, $32.50; cottonseed meal, 138 pounds at $44 per ton, $3.04; shipping expense to Fort Worth at 50 cents per hundred pounds, $2.86; total expense $38.40. Average selling price, Fort Worth, 572 pounds at $11.56, $66.23. A profit, or the value received per head on home grown alfalfa and milo, of $27.63. Number pounds of alfalfa and milo heads consumed per head, 1,385.8; value received per ton, marketed through calves, for alfalfa and milo heads, $40.16.

Mrs. Hope S. Swan, of Rotan, has returned home after a two months visit with her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Joyce.

GEORGE SPANN TELLS LIONS ABOUT WTU

Club Deplores Post-office Service at Luncheon

Much business was attended to at the Lions Club luncheon July 3. Matters with reference to city sanitation, and a full-time employee to care for streets and alleyways were discussed. The challenge of the Rotary Club to a Golf Tournament was accepted.

George Spann, electric appliance salesman for the West Texas Utilities Company, gave a talk telling of the development of the West Texas Utilities from a small beginning at Abilene about twelve years ago to a large organization operating in 112 towns, rendering electric service, ice, water and power, operating three main generating plants and many smaller plants. "The W. T. U. Co.," said Mr. Spann, "is a corporation with over $45,000,000 investment, serving over 55 thousand customers. It has been asked many times why the West Texas Utilities operates from the three main plants, instead of distributing electric power from the small local stations. This is because it is cheaper to operate from the central distributing stations, and the power can be delivered to the customer at a much lower rate."

Following the classification talk by Mr. Spann, several of the Lions brought up the question of better postal service in the local post-office. A motion was made that the Rotarians be asked to cooperate with the Lions Club in asking for better equipment and better service in the postoffice in Memphis. Much discussion followed on the alleged poor equipment and service rendered. A committee was named to push the matter.

COMMITTEE TO TOUR THE LOWER PALO DURO CANYON

A committee on the Palo Duro park project from the Memphis Chamber of Commerce is planning a three or four day tour to begin early next week. Those in the party will be F. N. Foxhall, W. C. Dickey, J. Claude Wells and possibly others, and their trip will take them over the entire Tule Canyon and all the lower portion of the big gap.

Miss Margille Sigler, and Marjorie Drake, of Lubbock, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Joyce on a visit to Carlsbad Cavern, Rotan, and Lubbock, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ward returned home Sunday evening from Fort Sill, Okla., where they took J. P. Bolles, Raymond Jarrell, Jack Sitton and Morris Ballew to the Citizen's Military Training camp.

Stolen Hand Bag Found Saturday

A hand bag that was stolen from Ray Bush here Monday of last week was recovered by officers Saturday. The hand bag was found behind the Harrison Hardware Company by two small children, who took it to the sheriff's office. According to reports, the bag was not hurt, and only a little clothing was missing. Bush got the bag from the sheriff, and gave the finders a $10 reward.

It is believed that the bag was placed behind the store in a position where it would be easily found, and that the person who stole it took from it only that which he could wear.

7. More paved streets.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW

IT won't be long now until the candidates will be making their last stand, will be handing out their last box of cards, will be attending their last ice cream suppers, for July 26 is going to slip around before one hardly realizes it is on us. We believe that more interest will be manifested in the coming elections this year than has been the case for many years past.

At this time, it will be hard to say which races will hold the most interest for Hall County voters. It is taken for granted usually that the county elections are followed more closely than the state. But things are different this year. A man from a neighboring county seems to stand a good chance of being in the run-off primary and interest in the gubernatorial race will be at fever heat until the final outcome is known.

Many candidates will be made happy on the night of July 26, while others will find consolation in the fact that they made good races and did their best, even though they were not elected. There is always another day, especially in politics. We, of course, have no idea how many of the county races will go into the run-off primary, but we do know there is a quickening interest that was not visible earlier in the campaign. Politics are being discussed on the streets daily. Memphis' people seem to have a wide divergence of views. All we can do is see what the voters think at the ballot boxes on July 26, and we venture the assertion that they are going to do a lot of thinking before they hand in their ballots.

THE CHICAGO AFFAIR

IT is to be hoped that America's third largest city will "snap out of it" and become eventually a safe place in which to live. We have reference to Chicago, which is the gunman's paradise, or as near to paradise as his ilk will ever get. It seems that a wave of public consciousness and responsibility has finally settled over the city as the result of the cold blooded murder of the crime reporter for the Chicago Tribune.

The rest of the civilized world looks with horror upon Chicago for the many brazen killings that have occurred there practically under the very noses of law and order, as represented by the duly constituted officials. The situation had to come to a head some time, and it evidently did so as the result of the atrocious murder of a reporter. Newspapers in Chicago have taken up the fight for law and order and common decency. It is about time. Something must be done to rid Chicago of gang rule and the newspapers, fighting together in a common cause, can do as much to make Chicago a respectable city as any other agency—perhaps infinitely more. We believe something will come of the crusade—something that will bear results and will do much to erase the stigma attached to the very name of Chicago.

WE ARE HOPING FOR THE BEST

THIS is a crucial time through which we are passing. It may be due to Republican prosperity, or to the fact that it is about time for a lean year, or because of the collapse of the New York Stock Market, or any number of things. Whatever it is, the times demand clear thinking, level heads and optimism. It is hard to be an optimist when things are going wrong, but in times such as these we really get a clear insight into our citizenship. We learn to know them under fire. We find out the stuff of which they are made and this information always comes in handy.

We are hoping for the best. We believe in better days ahead, although it is not up to us to say when they will come. We know that following periods of depression, matters always right themselves and it stands to reason that such will be the case again. We can make our various lots much harder to bear if we forever reflect only the dark side. If we become grouchy, petulant, ill at ease, we are certainly not helping matters to any appreciable extent. We are only making things worse.

Someone should prescribe for us just as a doctor does when we are sick. The times in which we live at the present are ill. There is something wrong, but as long as we have faith in the future, the will to look at things in the best light possible, there is a chance for us. We are by no means the Pollyanna type, but we do believe in keeping a stiff upper lip and living in hope even though it is our lot to die in despair. We are going to continue to hope for the best, until the worst comes, and then we expect to do a little more hoping.

JUST ANOTHER FOURTH

ANOTHER fourth of July has come and gone. We have celebrated the day in our own way. Our idea of celebrating the fourth is to have a good time. We do not stop to take into consideration the real significance of this birthday of American freedom. It is easy to listen to orators tell of what a great nation we have. We take so much for granted. It is not a difficult task to watch baseball games, gorge ourselves on food, drink soda pop until we reach the point of being overfull, but it is hard to bring ourselves to consider that July 4 is a day that marks a real epoch in American history.

The most of us know little concerning the history of our own country. The elementary knowledge we obtained in school has had little added to it. We are content to spend the day as we have always spent it, without giving thought or consideration to the fact that it means a great deal more than a display of fireworks and oratory. If we are living the next fourth of July, suppose we consider for the period of a few moments, what the day really means to us and we may even surprise ourselves when we do so.

Work Suspended On Sloan Test

Work on the Sloan wildcat near Newlin has been temporarily suspended, pending the arrival of fishing tools to assist renewed efforts to recover tools that have been lodged at the bottom of the hole for thirty days, during which period unsuccessful attempts at grappling have delayed the deepening of the test.

The hole is now some 4,700 feet from the surface, according to C. L. Sloan, Jr., who declared the

Brings His Mother Greatest Happiness

"I am so happy since my little boy, Francis, gets out and plays with the children again," says Mrs. G. M. Hays, who lives at 215 Colquit avenue, in Bossier City.

"For a long time he didn't seem to have any life about him and was awfully cross. My mother said he acted like he had round or pin worms. He would cry out in his sleep, and grit his teeth. On my mother's advice I began giving him White's Cream Vermifuge and he started picking right up. He sleeps soundly, isn't cross and doesn't grit his teeth any more. Now my boy romps and plays all day long."

White's Cream Vermifuge is wonderful for children when they develop round or pin worms usually from eating too much uncooked food.

Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction

entertainment in the open air comes easy to the people of south Texas for outdoor life is their second nature. Standing in line for the serving at the luncheon on Nueces Hotel Park, in Corpus Christi, gave the guests the benefit of sea breeze and brilliant sunshine combined. I hunted for a shade and was partially successful. The Valley Special that took us over a stretch of country very similar to our prairies greeted us as we rolled along. I could feel we were descending, as, of course, I knew we were almost the minute we left Hillsboro. After we leave Austin, I have a sense of falling slowly.

There is so much to be said about McAllen, "The City of Palms," and the country surrounding it that I have returned to it after having taken you to Reynosa, Mexico. We arrived in the city in the hottest part of the day, found everything ready for us and had a glimpse of a thriving city that has almost doubled in population since the census ten years ago. Palms were inviting; they give a cool appearance that no amount of bright sunshine can discount.

On Sunday, after breakfast, at Casa de Palmas, where Valley grapefruit was served, needing no sugar, the delegation scattered to form in various knots to wait for the cars which would convey them through the Magic Valley, that land of enchantment, where we saw town after town looking like real Dutch Cleanser ones and row after row of citrus trees of varying sizes irrigated from old faithful Rio Grande. We saw acres and acres of sturdy growing trees that have never had any irrigation, the owner experimenting to prove the rich richness of the Valley. The soil looks fertile enough to grow anything from the rains that descend in season.

Sharyland, developed by John Shary, proved a veritable oasis where we stopped and entered his appointed home for each of us treated to Rio Rev, a juice which originated in the Valley. The grapefruit juice of the grapefruit serving the tank that is so cooling was presented each guest in a bottle the size of a soda pop one. We had half an hour in this fairyland and were at liberty to walk over the rooms and admire the pictures, arrangement of furniture, the very spaciousness of the main room and many other things that one seldom comes upon in an everyday life. Mr. Sharv, the epitome of culture, mingled with the crowd, all anxiety as to whether each guest had been served the drink of which he is justly proud. He told us that he had a few days before sent a carload of his refreshing beverage to California. When all those in the Valley are produced, Rey may become as real as soda pop. At present, there are twenty-five cents a bottle. You know grapefruit of a superior quality can seldom be bought for less than ten cents. There are two used in each bottle and everybody knows the bottles cost five cents, so—

Sunday dinner at the expense of our hosts in Rio Hondo in the heart of the citrus growing district under an arbor and the meeting with an old friend who has bought extensively, and a friend of his told me, is prospering exceedingly. Just watching his orchards produce—don't forget that he had money to start with, however, it is said that the poor man who goes there with the determination to work can get a start, and children can live out-of-doors the year 'round, thriving on the good sunshine. Our stay at Rio Hondo was brief, for we had exceeded our schedule and had to make up time to arrive at the airport near Brownsville for a free airplane ride.

Such luscious tomatoes as hung from staked vines I never saw. I would have been content to have stepped out of the car with a salt shaker and indulged my taste for one of my favorite vegetables. Many reported for an air ride, but the second story of the main building, on the grounds, enticed me with its comfortable seats and its cooling breezes. "Are you going for a ride?" said a familiar voice. "If you are, come down and sign your death warrant." That didn't appeal to me for each passenger did sign up, I suppose in case of accident, though I surely would have known if one of the passengers didn't return, for I was breathing a little prairier during the entire trip. Rides in cars, on the ground, have grown familiar and it is the familiarity of things that ceases to cause anxiety. Ten more years will make us think air travel safer than any other, no doubt.

One goes right out of Brownsville into Matamoros, which is a prettier place than Reynosa. I would like to be in Brownsville for a month's stay and see the whole of Matamoros. Smelly place, like our towns were before prohibition. How can anybody want drinks back, the open saloon and all the things that accompany repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment? Light wines and liquors returning would satisfy the average man for only an average length of time, for the taste for drink grows. The habit of taking a drink soon doubles itself.

There were many outings I missed, but in place of them, I got some things I enjoyed more. I did not enjoy the Mexican cooking. It lacks flavor, but I do think our entertainers for the privilege of sampling a cookery that I have heard exploited so often. I never saw such generous hosts as ours at the two banquets in Mexico. At the last, there were many varieties of wild game and venison and it is notable that food is brought as long as anybody will eat in the land across the Rio Grande.

There was a tense moment when cars were stopped for inspection. We wondered what would happen, but we were not suspicious characters and got off easily. Tired? When we got to our train, only a few were going back to Corpus Christi, and our car had no lights, but I was glad. We could be cool and rest and think. We had been going constantly for days and so many thoughts were buzzing that I felt—

And still the wonder grew That one small head could carry all she knew.

Accident to our car delayed us in the bay city for one perfect day, such as I may never see again, so bright to begin, with showers near dinner, cloudiness after, and sunshine in the afternoon.

I hope I can go to another press meeting. I enjoyed every minute of this one. I met people I have heard about for years and years. When I was introduced to Mr. Lowery of The Honey Grove Sig-

SOCIETY Presbyterians Leave For Encampment

A group of Presbyterian young people left Saturday for an encampment at Buffalo Gap. Those from Memphis attending the encampment are Misses Chloe Johnson, Marjorie Gull, Mary Winston Walters, Jewell Grundy, Mrs. T. Kittinger, Mrs. Allen Grundy and small son, Larry, and Dr. and Mrs. J. Hardin Mallard.

The object of the encampment is for religious instruction, though recreational sports fill a large part of the day. The instructors for the lesson period are drawn from among the most prominent and brilliant leaders of the Presbyterian Church in the Southwest. Dr. Surface, of Abilene, is one of the instructors, and several returned missionaries will add to the interest of the school. The encampment will last for about ten days.

B. & P. W. Club In Regular Meet Tuesday

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Memphis met in regular session at the Memphis Hotel Tuesday, June 8, at 6:15 p. m., with the new president, Mrs. Tess Potter, presiding. This being the first meeting of the new fiscal year, the matter of paying dues and plate fees was discussed and voted upon. The president then read her list of committee chairmen, together with their members.

After a brief discussion of the ways and means of caring for the needy of Hall County, the guest of the evening, Mrs. Earl Berry of San Bernardino, California, was introduced, and brought a most interesting and enlightening message upon the duties, and work accomplished by the State Welfare Association of California. Mrs. Berry is the children's agent for the County Welfare Department of San Bernardino, and for a number of years has successfully and capably conducted this department, and the club is very grateful for her message.

As there was no further business, the club adjourned to meet July 22, 1930.

Gammage, musician.

Miss Dunbar Entertains O. F. F. Club Tuesday

The O. F. F. Club had a social meeting at the home of Miss Dot Dunbar Tuesday, July 8. Memory, Old Maid, and several other interesting games were played the earlier part of the afternoon. The hostess, Miss Dunbar, assisted by Phaeletha Gibson, served refreshments of pineapple sherbet and cakes, which were enjoyed by all. The remainder of the afternoon was spent playing out-door games. Those present were Misses Dot Dunbar, Phaeletha Gibson, Floy Gerlach, Fay Baskerville, Mary Ellen Hamilton and Ilma McIntosh.

Ladd-Cooper Nuptials At Turkey Tuesday

On Sunday afternoon, July 6, at 2 p. m., Earl Ladd of Sudan and Miss Clemmie Cooper of Turkey, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Michael, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Turkey, in the home of the bride.

Mr. Ladd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ladd of Sudan, and is a fine young gentleman of Christian character. At the present time he is employed with the First National Bank of Sudan. Miss Cooper is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cooper, well known citizens of Turkey. Miss Cooper is an excellent young lady and is well prepared to be the wife of this fine young man. Their many friends wish for them happiness and prosperity along life's way.

COUNTRY CLUB WILL HAVE INVITATION DANCE MONDAY

The Memphis Country Club will give an invitation dance Monday night, July 14, according to an announcement by the house committee, composed of R. S. Greene, Thos. E. Noel, Olin V. P. T. A. PLANS NEXT YEAR'S PROGRAM

Mrs. J. H. Smith, chairman of the program committee of the Memphis Parent-Teacher Association, called her committee together Tuesday evening to work out a calendar for next year's work. Good headway was made but the year's program was not completed.

Refreshments were served to the committee between business sessions.

And so, after all is said and done, I haven't accomplished much, but my intentions have been good as the reasons set forth in a preceding paragraph will affirm. And to, this will be the first column appearing in The Democrat, that wasn't written with a pen, pencil or typewriter. I have used neither, and yet I have provided several inches of space-killer. And this last statement, if none other, is "on the level."

Board Opposes—

time is not yet ripe. The Board of Governors and the Hall County District Fair board of directors will co-operate in attempting to solve the music question for the fair in some temporary manner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hall and family returned Sunday from a visit to San Angelo, Abilene and Ballinger. They were accompanied home by Miss Frankie Lashlee, of San Angelo, who is a cousin of Mrs. Hall. Miss Lashlee will visit in Memphis until early Fall.

Forrest Hall went to Olney Wednesday to look after his oil interests at that place.

County Agent E. W. Thomas attended a stock-judging contest in Wellington Thursday.

A. & M. Farm Agent Sees Good Crop

John R. Edmonds, district agent from the A. and M. College of Texas, was in Memphis Tuesday to discuss crop and farm conditions with E. W. Thomas, county agent. Mr. Edmonds is making a tour of the twenty-eight counties in this district for this purpose. According to him, the crops in and around Hall County are some of the best in the state, and are much better than those in the black land belt in south and east Texas. The crops in Hall County, he says, although young, are the most uniform that he has seen throughout the district. Mr. Edmonds complimented the work that Mr. Thomas is doing as county agent, and urged the farmers to cooperate with him in his work.

THIS AND THAT

{by} LER

Hurrah! Hurrah!

I've won, people, I've won! Three cheers and a couple of whoopees!

The baby's name is Charlie, Jr. Yes, sir, after two weeks of anxiety my mind is at ease.

I'll let you in on the secret. Two weeks ago I printed this in my column:

There's some talk of naming Lindbergh's baby for Dwight Morrow. If they name that kid anything but Charles Augustus Jr. I'm going to start a revolution. Why should the unsuspecting child be named Dwight? Ambassador Morrow didn't do a thing but furnish Lindy with a wife, and any number of American fathers would have been glad to do that without sending America's hero to Mexico for his bride, either. I don't see why it should take so long to name that baby. It should have been named Lindy Jr. ten minutes after birth. I'm not suggesting, I'm telling you.

Now read this Associated Press dispatch that appeared in Wednesday afternoon newspapers:

ENOLEWOOD, N. J., July 9.—The name is Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. A young man who was born June 22 and has thrived marvellously for more than two weeks without a name, now has one. A statement issued from the home of his grandfather, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, where he was born, said that the baby's parents had decided to call him after his father. The announcement ended much speculation.

Justice has triumphed at last! I knew Mrs. Lindbergh would quit arguing with her husband and get right when I sent her a marked copy of The Democrat two weeks ago.

My old side kick, the Rev. Dr. E. T. Miller, returned from a revival meeting Monday and paid me a visit.

"Is there a game today?" he asked me.

"Poker?" I queried. "Sir," he answered, haughtily drawing himself up to his full height (which isn't over four and a half feet), "I have reference to a baseball game."

My error.

FOOTNOTE—Bro. Miller stopped me on the street yesterday afternoon and threatened me if I printed the above paragraph. "If that goes into print," he said as he shook his forefinger under my prominent nose, "I will pay you a personal visit and give you a taste of an uppercut from my right arm. Shortly later your friends will be stopping by, dropping lilies on your chest and remarking, 'Doesn't he look natural.'" Now that I have taken the dare I can only await developments.

I know another good one on Brother Miller about the Baptist Encampment in Ceta Canyon, but I'm going to save it until next week. That is, if I'm able to use the typewriter next week.

And while we're discussing preachers we might just as well get rid of all of them right here and now. Arthur W. Jones, whose name you have heard coupled with Russell Clark's for several weeks past, seems to have resented what I had to say about Arkansas in this column last week. I received this letter from him:

Llano, Tex., July 5, 1930. To L. E. R. of The Democrat: I have just read what you have to say about Russell's Arkansas vacation, and if what you say is intended as a slam at Russell, I am here to defend him. Without any allusion to past, and closed incidents, I am ready to assert that this is the most sensible thing Russell has done in many a long day. He will come back a wiser and happier man.

But at one item in that paragraph I wish to protest even more vigorously. You say, or infer, that us Arkansawyers are merely full of words. Either you are ignorant of Arkansas and Arkansawyers, or else mean purposely to slight the good old state. Yes, we are all full of arguments, but you have failed to mention that the natives of that Grand Old State are also full of ticks and huckleberries (the ticks external of course). And it is there among these symbols of industry and plenty that I expect to celebrate on July 18, on the spot where it happened, the 60th anniversary of my discovery of America and the State of Good Neighbors. Just radio Russell to call on me at Caddo Gap, and I will lead him to fish that bite, show him the time of his life, and fix him so he can talk his head off and not have to resort to any yarns to do it.

As expected, ARTHUR W. JONES.

P. S.—I forgot to say, pass the word on to my old Hoovercratic friends in Hall County to stand pat and we will name the next governor of Texas Tom Love. Now I know THAT was as expected!

JONES.

Say, listen here, Bro. Jones. I don't mind you misrepresenting Arkansas to people—trying to make them think it's a decent state, but I do resent bitterly the mention of Tom Love's name in my column. Out of 6 million people in Texas you could have mentioned, you picked out Tom Love. If you want to know something, all your "Hoovercratic" friends, and a lot of Democrats besides, are going to vote for Senator Clinton C. Small. I'm afraid your friend Tom is going to be out, like Lottie's eye.

Really and seriously, though, I was glad to hear from you, Bro. Jones. I had no idea you were nearing 60. You are as active as a man half that age and as vigorous in defending what you believe to be right as the American doughboys were vigilant against the advance of the Germans. I appreciate your friendship, and on the 18th of July I am going to wish you many more happy returns of the day. But it does seem like a man of your age and consequent knowledge and experience wouldn't be supporting Tom Love. There, there, I beg your pardon—I'm getting back to politics.

Which reminds me that the Arkansas ticks you mentioned must be politics.

I believe that will be all about the preachers. If any of you people know anything on Mallard, Robinson, Shaw or Fisher I wish you would please let me know. With your help, I think we can keep these preachers straight.

It looks like I'm getting a letter from the jail almost every week. Here's one from Dr. Pepper, a negro who is lodged in the county bastle. Unlike the letter from a Hall County prisoner I printed last week, this one is both tragic and funny, if that is possible:

July 7, 1930.

Dr. Hydra

Dear sir: To let you hear from me. Now Dr. I omit in one instance that I has owed you a long time. It seems that if a man meant wright he could have paid the account but my condition and health has been so disagreeable on me I did my very best and then tried to play a mans part to show you I means good by sending you my instrument for you to hold until we settle with you. Then I believe you then had more confidence in me of paying my debts. Of course since the last trip to me I needed you more than a dozen times. Not knowing where and how I could get your money I would not call you. I know that you would have come to me. Because you told me any time I call you that you would come. Now please sir for me as my suffering condition is so hard on me try to help me out of dis jail. My fish just fry next to me bones. All right I am swollen to death cant rest for heart flutting and the asmy and getar has come back on me. Bad pyra jums and rises in my head and that what you said I cough has got me spotted on the arms like a leporid and suffers with pyles. It seems like to many deazes but they here to prove for they self on me. It has effect my eyes now. Dr. Stidham is the country Dr for us prison and if you will talk with him it will release me so I may live longer outside and bee a better man. Never bee guilty of this no moore I will go strat. You see you wont have to put yourself to no walking your word on the phone to the co judge or Mr Sid Christian Mr. Maze you and him and Dr. Stidham you all come and see my new condition and pass on it. They will loose me you see if they knows all my condition. I could tell the way Mr Christian Mr Backvill Mr Maze talk with me yestaday if had little help I believe they turn me loos.

From J. L. Pepper age 63. colored at Jail

P. S.—also Mr Bill Hudson please sir this time for me.

Odd Fellows To Install Officers

Memphis Odd Fellows Lodge No. 444 will install new officers at its meeting next Tuesday night, according to J. T. Kincaid. V. J. Hart is to be installed as noble grand, and Milton Todd has been named vice grand.

The Memphis Encampment No. 60 will also hold its annual installation of officers on the night of July 18, according to Mr. Kincaid. New officers of the encampment are M. A. Wylie, Lakeview, chief patriarch; Ed Galloway, Plaska, high priest; R. M. Campbell, Memphis, senior warden; and J. A. Adeock, Memphis, junior warden. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

NEW WASHED AIR SYSTEM IS INSTALLED AT PALACE

"It's the coolest place in town," declared Hollis Boren when the new washed air cooling system was recently turned on Palace Theatre patrons.

The new system has supplanted the old dry breeze-making fan at the Palace. The moistened air absorbs and destroys the heavy, sultry street atmosphere and supplies a healthier and more invigorating temperature, according to Mr. Boren.

FIRE-RAZED COBB HOTEL RECEIVING RENOVATION

Interior ruins of the Cobb Hotel have been cleared away and the building is receiving a new roof and other necessary immediate repairs. Hollis Boren, who owns the building, could not make a definite statement yesterday, as to just how the structure will be remodeled. He contemplates making a store building out of the lower floor and offices above, but final action will probably be delayed until a tenant is secured and his requirements learned.

CLAUD KENNEDY INJURED IN ACCIDENT SATURDAY

Claud Kennedy, local barber, suffered several bad cuts on the face and a bruised back when his car was sideswiped by a passing machine, just south of Qunah, Saturday morning. Kennedy's car was knocked into a telephone pole and damaged considerably. He was returning to Memphis from McKinney where he had taken his wife to attend the funeral of her grandmother.

NEW TILE FLOOR FOR FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The deafening hammering, in an effort to shatter the concrete surface of the floor, that you heard Tuesday if you entered the First National Bank, not only served to temporarily muzzle loan seekers—because they couldn't be heard—but also means that the First National is to have a new tile floor of artistic design. A dozen workmen are busy day and night in order to rush the job to completion.
