'Big Salary Book' Most Widely Read in Capital

Far more popular than any "best seller" is this book, which can't be bought at any price and is the most eagerly read volume in Washington, this "buddle" being only one of scores seen every day over its pages. There is only one copy of this book and it lists every corporation employe whose salary is $15,000 a year or more. Sucker list salesmen are especially interested in its contents. The book cannot be removed from the House Ways and Means Committee hearing room and no photostatic copies can be made from it.

Newlin Coming

According to advices from Newlin, practically the entire male population of that community is to be represented in the Horseshoe Tournament at the Carnival of Values, beginning tomorrow in this city.

Horseshoe pitching seems to be the favorite amusement of Newlin and they are jealous of their ability in that line. They are anxious to meet the champions from Lakeview, Turkey and other county communities in the tournament.

Elopes With 14-Year Old Girl; Caught at Clovis, N. M.

Sheriff Colvin and Deputy Turlington left this morning for Clovis, New Mexico, where they will take into custody John Potts, a mechanic at the Ewing Motor Company of Estelline, held for the local officers in that city.

Potts, who is about 40 years of age, yesterday afternoon stole a car from his employers at Estelline and eloped with a 14-year-old Estelline girl, bound for California.

The Sheriff's office here was notified and immediately sent calls to all cities along their probable route. Last night at 9:30, the Clovis officers phoned that they had apprehended the couple and were holding them for the

SPECTACULAR FEAT THURSDAY

Daredevil to Crash Through Burning Wall in Auto

One of the most thrilling features of the Carnival of Values, the crashing of an automobile through a blazing wooden wall, will, due to the extreme danger of the stunt, be performed only one day of the celebration, instead of two, as first announced.

Tomorrow afternoon, after the boxing matches are completed, Reg Robbins, Fort Worth aviator and daredevil, will drive a Ford V-8 at sixty miles per hour through the burning wall of boards. The start of the run will be from Noel Street on Fifth; the wall will be erected just short of the Fifth and Robertson intersection. By the time the car reaches the wall, it will be doing not less than sixty miles an hour, for in the high speed of the car rests the safety of both car and driver.

The horseshoe tournament will be held on the vacant lot on South fifth, half a block off the square. Contestants are asked to be at the lot by 10 o'clock.

Other events of the program will be held on the north side of the square.

Committees in charge of amusement events on the program announce that everything is ready for the opening of the big three-

HIGHWAY MARCHES NORTH

BEGUN with a few short strips of paving, a few more stretches of badly laid asphalt, a few miles of graveled road and miles upon miles of dirt road, the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway was inaugurated with the ambitious intention of ultimately improving it from the Gulf of Mexico to the Colorado metropolis—Denver.

When the project was first started, thousands laughed at the wild dreams of the promoters, who had the audacity to envision a strip of paved highway that length.

At that time there was little paving in the entire state, and the very idea that any road should be paved for hundreds of miles was held to be the height of the ridiculous.

But the men who first envisioned this great road had the courage of their convictions, and years of hard work resulted in long stretches of the highway being paved and improved.

Within a few months now, it will be possible to traverse the entire route, as first planned by the promoters, without getting off a hard-surfaced road.

And now, by action of the federal highway department, the Colorado-to-Gulf is to become, in effect, the Wyoming-to-Gulf, for the department has changed the designation of the Denver to Wyoming highway from U. S. 85 to U. S. 87, the latter being the federal highway designation of the Colorado-to-Gulf, or Highway 5.

Many of the forward-looking men who first planned this great traffic artery have passed away, but those remaining with us must view with satisfaction this culmination of the efforts in a measure far beyond their most fond expectations when the highway was first proposed.

The merchants of Memphis are this week-end offering the people of the Memphis Area one of the greatest opportunities in their lives to obtain real worth-while bargains, and at the same time enjoy three days of fun and amusement.

Owen Fields sporting one of the neatest and blackest "shiners" we've seen in many a day. We understand that Owen was a guest at a quail dinner night before last, and it may be that one of the quail kicked him in the eye.

And speaking of black eyes, if Bill Ozment, of the Sheriff's Department, didn't wear glasses he'd probably have a black eye. Anyway the right lens in his spectacles looks like a non-shatter windshield that has been hit with a brick.

Can there be any connection between the two above items, or is it merely a coincidence?

Denying a rumor that the price of Country to go to Estelline with him, but it seemed that they had their eyes set on Clarendon. Wonder who the Clarendon charmer is?

Harry Delaney jubilating because he had gotten rid of the office of secretary of the Memphis Insurance Exchange. By shifting that office over onto M. E. McNally, Harry is now secretary to only about six organizations and clubs.

Cliff Bumgarner, of the Northern Texas Utilities Company, denying a rumor that the price of gas was going up. From the amount of our gas bill last month, we agree with him... the darn stuff has already gone up.

WASHINGTON.—Along with its other troubles, the administration must almost certainly face a battle over relief at this session of Congress.

Its program apparently isn't meeting the problem. Surveys by the American Conference of Mayors, the International City Managers' Association, and national welfare groups all show that the plan to put the "employables" on WPA work relief and the "unemployables" on local direct relief without federal aid just isn't working out.

About a million "employables" haven't been covered by WPA, although that federal agency has about reached its quota of 3,500,000 put at work. It is estimated by Paul V. Betters, secretary of the mayors' organization, on the basis of partial results of a survey covering 188 cities and 48 states.

That would mean a load of from three to four million men, women, and children on community direct-relief facilities which was not contemplated in Roosevelt's work-relief program.

Nearly all city officials insist they can't handle that added load. A few say they can get by if the federal government will do its promised part. Others say they can't handle their "unemployables" even if WPA does take over the rest.

FEW realize it, but the $1,032,000,000 allotted to WPA will be about gone by April and Harry Hopkins will need about half a billion more if the program is to carry through the fiscal year to July.

Some or all of this may be snatched from other allotments from the $4,000,000,000 work-relief fund.

Meanwhile, WPA has no inter-ford smiled as her mouth opened slightly and she stared at him unbelievably. He knew perfectly well that to anyone with Julia's ambitions the name of Smith Garland was magic indeed. Once the leader of a nationally known, orchestra, he owned two night clubs, one in another city, and had even become a political leader in the state.

"Of course," Woodford went on, "I don't know that Garland can do anything. But it won't hurt to have him hear you. Like to come along?"

"I'd like very much to," said Julia quickly.

"Good! We expect to pull out sometime late tonight. But I suggest you go along to the yacht club about 9 o'clock and get aboard. The name of the boat is the Wood Nymph. I'll phone the skipper to expect you."

"Thank you, Mr. Woodford. I can't tell you how much I really appreciate—"

"Forget it, Miss Craig." He smiled up at her. "I need a singer aboard, and you're a good one."

Julia hoped so. She hurried back into her office, her thoughts in a whirl. For the rest of the afternoon she went through her work like an automation, and got precious little done. She could scarcely wait to get to the apartment and tell the good news to Amy Sanders.

But Amy wasn't at all surprised that Julia was to get her chance. But she was astonished at its source.

"I knew you would finally bump into a break, Julia. When a girl wants a thing as bad as you want this, she finally gets there. But it does bowl me over that you'd find the rainbow right in your own office. Right in the place you've been trying to get away from."

Julia laughed. "I've found the rainbow. But not the pot of gold yet. Nobody knows whether Smith Garland will like my singing."

"Nobody but Smith Garland," admitted Amy. "But think what a break it is for him to hear you aboard Woodford's yacht. He'll know you work for Woodford, and that you're a guest on board, and—"

"Not a guest," amended Julia. "I'm just going along as an entertainer." Amy gave Julia a long look. "Do you really believe that?"

"Why, of course, Mr. Woodford said he needed a singer, and he happened to hear me spoiling all that lovely radio music—"

"Listen Julia," her roommate interrupted "I'm about five years older than you. So that makes five more years I've watched the male of the species in action. Woodford could have got all the singers he wanted. He wants you to go along."

"If I thought you were right I wouldn't go."

"Oh, I don't mean he doesn't want you to sing, darling. And I don't mean he asked you for any other reason except that he liked the way you sang. He probably doesn't realize it himself as yet—but he thinks you're a pretty neat dish."

"You're talking a lot of nonsense, Amy. Mr. Woodford doesn't know I exist except as a secretary."

"He will after this yacht trip. It's funny how an evening dress can change a female employe into a woman."

Julia smiled. "You've been seeing too many movies, Amy!"

"Laugh if you want at this old gray head," Amy misquoted cheerfully. "But you'll see."

In her rush to be at the yacht club, which was a considerable distance from the apartment building, Julia quite forgot Amy's well-meant warnings. From the depths of the dressing room she called out, "Anything special you should take on a yacht trip, Amy? I've never been on anything but an excursion boat in my life."

"Don't worry," Amy told her from the other room. "Woodford's yacht is probably the size of a hotel. I'd suggest that white evening gown—a sports outfit, with some soft soled shoes in case he's fussy about the deck paint—and a package of seasick remedy."

There was a long silence, and then Amy added: "I saw some collapsible rowboats the other day. They were made of canvas, and you could probably fold one up and get in your week-end bag—"

A shoe came hurtling out of the dressing room, successfully terminating Amy's advice.

When Julia reached the boat moorings the clubhouse itself was dark except for a dim light at the desk in the lobby. The sleepy night-care taker directed her to the slip at which the Wood Nymph was moored.

"She's all lighted up," he said. "You can't miss her. Big White ship."

The Wood Nymph was a big white ship, indeed, far larger than any of the other boats which Julia passed as she hurried along the boardwalk of the mooring dock. Its white paint shown eerily in the darkness, and its brass work gleamed in the light from the cabin and the after deck.

Her bag in hand, Julia hesitated by the small gangplank which led to the deck. But just then a white uniformed figure appeared from the cabin and touched his cap.

"I'm Captain Bakely. Looking for the Wood Nymph?"

Julia told him that she was. "I'm Miss Craig, and I believe Mr. Woodford said I should be here about 9."

"Of course, Miss Craig. Come right on board and I'll show you your stateroom. Mr. Woodford and the other guests aren't aboard yet."

When Bakely had taken Julia to her stateroom and deposited her bag on the berth, he paused at the door. "Please make yourself at home, Miss Craig. There are deck chairs aft."

"Thank you. I think I'll just stay here a while."

He nodded. "I'll tell Mr. Woodford when he comes that you're aboard."

When Bakely had gone, Julia looked about her. The stateroom was small but very pleasant, and furnished in quiet taste. She wondered whether she should accept the captain's invitation to sit on the after deck, but at length decided not. Bakely might not know that the owner had invited her as an entertainer rather than a guest. The safest thing, Julia told herself, would be to remain in her stateroom until Woodford arrived.

Taking a magazine from a little table in the corner of the room, she sat down to read. She read through one story, and began another. Then, impatient, she looked at her watch. It was after 10, but she had heard no one come aboard, yet the gangplank was quite close to the portholes of her stateroom. "But he said they wouldn't leave until late," Julia told herself, and resumed her reading.

When another hour passed, however, with no word from Woodford she began to wonder. All she had

HORSESHOE PITCHING RULES

Democrat Tournament Regulations

There will be no misunderstandings in regards to the rules of the Democrat Horseshoe Tournament, which starts this Friday and Saturday, American Horseshoe Pitchers' Association regulations have been adopted for the tournament.

The regulations which are in the national championships each year, and the result of careful study of the benefit of entrants in the tournament, we are below giving all the playing rules as a part of the regulations in a short resume of the courts:

Horseshoe Courts

The courts shall cover an area of at least 10 feet and 50 feet in length, and of two pitchers' boxes in the center of each court. The pitchers' boxes are 6 feet apart, and the foul lines are set in the center of the 40 feet apart, and extend the ground 10 inches.

The shoes shall not exceed 7 1/2 inches in length, 7 inches in width and 5 pounds in weight. Toe calks must project more than an inch. Opening belly calks shall not be more than 1/2 inch.

Paying Rules

Rule 9—Conduct of players: No contestant shall make any remarks or utter any sounds within the hearing of his opponent, nor make any movement that does or might interfere with the opponent's playing.

The penalty for violation of this rule shall be the declaring as foul both shoes pitched or to be pitched by the offender in the inning he complained of.

The referee shall be the judge of the violations of this rule.

No contestant shall walk across to the opposite stake and examine the position of his opponent's shoes before making his first or final pitch.

All contestants shall pitch both shoes from the pitcher's box into the opposite pitcher's box or forfeit the value of one (1) point to his opponent.

Any player repeatedly violating rules or guilty of any unsportsmanlike conduct, may be barred from further participation in the contest.

Rule 10—The Foul Lines: The outer edge of the pitcher's box shall be known as foul lines.

Rule 11—Position of Players: In delivering the shoe into the opposite pitcher's box, a contestant may stand anywhere inside of the foul lines.

If in getting a "toe hold" on the front of the pitcher's box the player's foot extends a trifle over the foul line this shall not be considered an improper position. Each player, when not pitching, must remain outside and back of the pitcher's box until his opponent has finished pitching.

Rule 12—The First Pitch: At the beginning of a game the contestants shall decide who shall have the first pitch by the toss of a shoe or a coin. The winner shall have the choice of first pitch or follow.

At the beginning of successive games between the same players the losers of the preceding game shall have the first pitch.

Rule 13—The Pitched Shoes: When a shoe strikes in fair territory and is broken into separate parts, it shall be removed, and the contestant entitled to pitch another shoe in its stead.

Rule 15—Foul Shoes: A shoe pitched while the player is standing outside the foul lines is foul.

If a shoe first strikes outside of the foul lines before entering the pitcher's box, it is a foul.

A shoe striking any part of the pitcher's box is a foul.

Foul shoes shall be removed from the pitcher's box at the request of the opponent.

A foul shall not be scored or credited.

Rule 16—Interfering with pitched Shots: No contestant shall touch his own or his opponent's shoes, after they have been pitched, until the final decision has been rendered as to the scoring value of the shoes.

Failure to comply with this rule shall result in both shoes of the offender being declared foul and his opponent shall be entitled to as many points as the position of his shoes at the peg should warrant.

Rule 17—Measurements: All measurements to determine which shoe is the closest to the stake shall be made by the use of callipers of a straight edge.

Rule 18—Definition of a "Ringer": A ringer shall be a shoe that encircles the stake far enough to permit a straight edge to touch both heel calks simultaneously.

Rule 19—Knocked off and Knocked on Ringers: Whenever a player knocks off his own or opponent's ringer, such knocked off ringers lose their scoring value and the player making the ringer is credited with a ringer.

If a player knocks on one of his own or his opponent's shoes from a non-ringer position to a ringer position the changed shoe has scoring value and credit for a ringer for its owner.

Rule 20—Moved Pitched Shoes:

When a thrown shoe moves a shoe already at the stake, all shoes are counted in their new positions.

Scoring Rules

Rule 21—Regulation Games: A regulation game shall consist of 50 points in all tournaments and matches.

In a league the regulation game shall consist of 21 points.

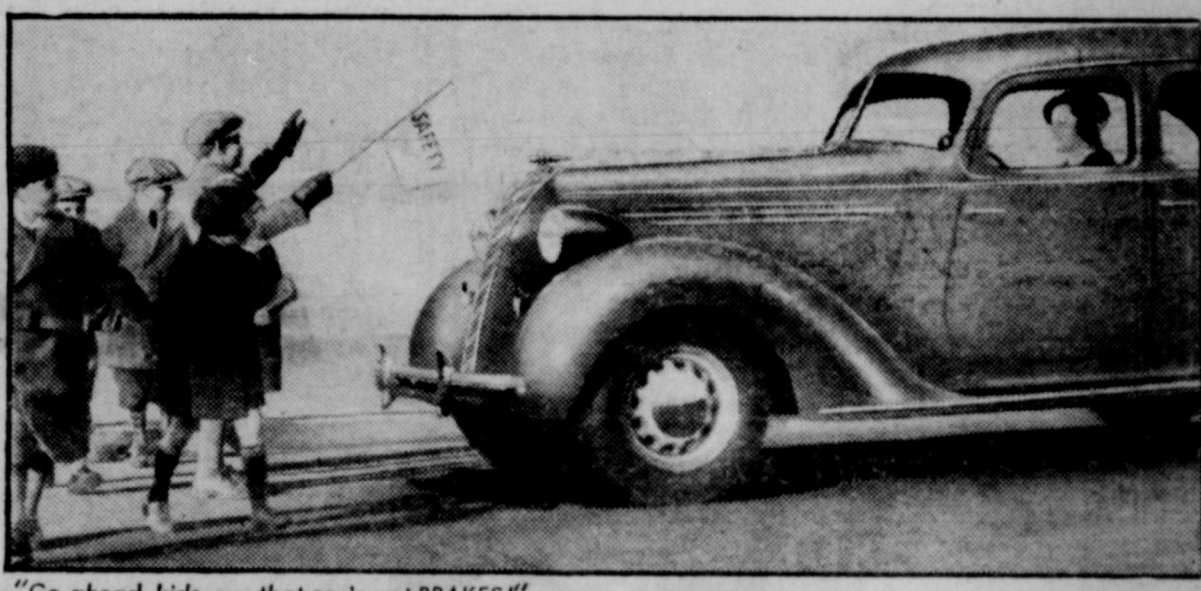

Each game is divided into innings and each inning consists of the pitching of four shoes—the two players each pitching two shoes.

Rule 22—Scoring Points: All shoes shall be within six inches of the stake to score.

"I put TERRAPLANE first because I put Safety First"

"Go ahead, kids . . . that car's got BRAKES!"

NO one needs to be reminded that safe driving in winter, more than at any other season, calls for a car that is safe.

Then why not start this new year with the "safest car on today's highways?" Terraplane—with more new and important safety features than any other low priced automobile ever had!

Bring Safety up to Date!

For safer riding, safer steering, safer stopping, Terraplane brings you Radial Safety Control (patent applied for). Here is a revolutionary principle of front axle and spring design which new owners from coast to coast are hailing as the greatest safety feature in many years.

None but the best brakes are good enough. And no other low priced car but Terraplane meets that demand with Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for). Latest and best hydraulics with a separate safety braking system that takes hold automatically if ever needed.

For added safety on the highway—greater steadiness on curves—two more 1936 improvements: Tru-Line Steering and the Rhythmic Ride.

Safer Bodies! Safer Chassis!

The world's first safety engineered chassis is now combined with America's first bodies all of steel, and seamless roof of solid steel.

There is extra safety, too, in Terraplane's record-breaking performance, to take you out of traffic "tight spots." And in the Electric Hand, an optional extra, for easier gear shifting and safer driving.

Drive safely in 1936—in a car that you know to be safe. Drive a new Terraplane.

The Strange Case—

heard were vague sounds from below her, possibly in the engine compartment—and the occasional soft footfalls of someone on deck above.

She was about to put on her coat and go above when there was a light knock at her door. It was Captain Bakely.

"I've just had word from the clubhouse that Mr. Woodford telephoned and said there'd be some delay in getting the rest of his party aboard. He suggested you needn't wait up unless you wanted to."

Julia thought him, relieved—and decided that she wouldn't wait up. After all, the day in the office and ensuing excitement of Woodford's interview hadn't prepared her to be at her best. "I'll get a good night's rest," she told herself, "and see what the world holds in the morning."

A moment later she was between sheets of the berth and the stateroom was in darkness. With the water lapping rhythmically against the hull of the boat, Julia was soon asleep.

She awakened with a start, conscious of a new, yet still rhythmic, sound. Unmistakably, it was the sound of the yacht's engines. Julia tossed back the covers of the berth and looked from a porthole. Dock and gangplank were gone! All she could see was an expanse of water which dissolved into the pitch blackness of the sky.

But beyond the soft throb of the engines and the swish of the hull driving through the water, there seemed to be not another sound aboard.

(To Be Continued)

Rev. Orion W. Carter went to Pampa yesterday to attend a meeting of pastors of the Clarendon district to discuss plans for Sunday School training Schools to be held over the district. He was accompanied from Clarendon by Dr. Thomas J. Barcus, presiding elder of the Clarendon district. Visitors were present from other districts, including Amarillo and Lubbock.

TONIGHT'S GAME

Industrials vs. Outlaws

School Wins From V-Eights

The High School bowling team, led by M. E. McNally, Jr., got hot last night and took two of a three game series from the V-Eights at the local alleys. The 27 pin handicap of the schoolboys was not enough to win the first game, which went to the Forders by a score of 600 to 558, but the school team did not even need their handicap in the last two games, winning them by scores of 696 to 662 and 603 to 591. Tonight the Outlaws take on the league leaders, the Industrials, and a good game is looked forward to.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed. How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Decision was made by the Texas Company officials to locate the large station in Memphis after several years of consideration. Improved financial conditions of this county and a brighter outlook for the future were basic reasons for the decision, it was said.

The date when ground will be broken and actual construction work will start has not been announced, but it is definitely known that the station will be completed in time for the extensive Centennial trade next June, Mr. Mundy said.

Architectural supervisors and engineers are expected in Memphis shortly to begin preliminary work on the building project.
