AT CHURCH OF CHRIST SINGING LARGE CROWDS; INTEREST MANIFESTED

ERNEST FRANKS BURIED SUNDAY MILITARY HONORS

Mr. Ernest Franks, aged 31 years, died at his home on South Sixth street at 6:30 last Friday afternoon, the cause of his death being pronounced diphtheria. The funeral was held Sunday 4 p. m. at the First Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. A. L. Moore of Clarendon, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Jameson and Dr. J. M. Mallard, of this city, with the American Legion and Masonic Order attending the funeral in a body, and having charge of the burial service at Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Franks was a young business man of this city, being owner of the Exide-Battery station on West Noel street, and was well and favorably known to the people of Memphis and Hall county. He was courteous and pleasant to his customers and was popular in business and social circles, being held in high esteem by all who knew him. He had lived in this county since 1900, was born in Hayes county in 1896. He was married to Miss Josephine McMicken November 20, 1920—the wedding service being pronounced by Rev. A. L. Moore, now of Clarendon. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and a member of the American Legion.

Mr. Franks was a World War veteran, having made an enviable record as shown by his discharge papers as follows: "Enlisted October 9, 1917, at Memphis, joining the 136th Division, being trained at Camp Bowie; in American Corps Co. E 111th Supply Train, commissioned Corporal July 1, 1918; engagements in Meuse, Argonne Offensive Champagne and Verdun) October 6 to 29 inclusive, and October 30 to November 11, 1918; character excellent; remarks—No A. W. O. L. or absence G. O., service honest and faithful; A. E. F. July 31, 1928, to June 3, 1919."

The funeral service was attended by a large crowd of sorrowing friends, and the funeral procession was preceded by a guard of honor of the American Legion, and the Masonic Lodge. The Masonic burial rites were read at the grave, and the American Legion bugler sounded taps and fired a volley over the grave of a departed comrade.

No news has shocked the community for many days as did the news of Ernest's death. He leaves a wife, father T. R. Franks, sister Mrs. E. P. Thompson, brother Hugh Franks of Dalhart, and many other relatives to mourn his death. Those out of town attending the funeral were Hugh Franks and wife of Dalhart, H. E. Franks and son of Dalhart, and Mrs. Robt. Pierson of Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Markham and daughter, Ethlyn, of Childress were visiting from Sunday until Wednesday.

MARRS TALKS TO TRUSTEES HALL COUNTY

S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, spoke at the court house last Thursday afternoon to a number of county and district trustees, and a few other citizens interested in education, and his address should have been heard by every patron and trustee in the county. "The slogan from now on" he said "should be better schools for the money, as Texas has passed laws which assure the school districts enough money to conduct schools for six months without touching the local tax money. The State apportionment this year will be $15 per capita, and the same amount will be available for the next school year. Now that the objective of securing more money from the state for school purposes has been attained, I am pleading with the trustees everywhere to change their slogan from 'more money for the school' to 'more school for the money,' by providing better teachers, better school government and higher efficiency. The importance of education in the eyes of our legislators is indicated by the fact that 45 cents out of each $1 of tax money is expended for education.

"Previous to the 40th Legislature, however, there had always existed a gap between the rural school and the state colleges and University. Where the rural school offered no high school course, the parents had to pay high school tuition somewhere else, over and above the transferred per capita money, which was sometimes not transferred. Completing the plan of providing equal educational opportunity for all children alike, whether they live in city or rural community. Heretofore the rural parent has had to pay tuition.

Hereafter, under the act of the 40th Legislature, when a rural district does not offer high school advantages, it must, if able, pay the tuition of children living within the district who go to another district to get high school work. If the district is unable to pay such tuition, then the State reimburses it. This guarantees to any child a free education, from elementary grades to the high university—free so far as tuition fees are concerned."

Mr. Marrs told of other changes in the law, one of which is that hiring teachers must be done when trustees are in session. This will eliminate a teacher going to one trustee and getting him to say he will be agreeable if the other trustees are, then going to the others and get them to agree. The trustees must hold a meeting to transact business to make con-

AUCTION SALE LOTS; NEW CITY

The new town of Weatherly, on the Denver Road half way between Estelline and Turkey, will have a big auction sale of lots Friday and Saturday of this week, and a great time is expected by the promoters of the townsite. The famous Estelline Band, with Paul James direction, will furnish music for the occasion.

This new town is practically in the center of Hall county and in a very fertile section of country. The company states that machinery for a new gin is being placed on the ground and will be rushed to completion to take care of the cotton this fall. Some other business institutions are locating there, and it is expected that a good town will be built during the next few months.

A business lot will be given to the person that is first to start and carry to completion a building in the restricted district, and a residence lot will be given away at the auction sale.

ONE THOUSAND AT OPENING OF ICE STATION

The opening of the new ice station of Tenth and Noel last Friday night was attended by more than a thousand people who came and enjoyed the affair in spite of threatening rain. Mr. J. A. Brewer, local manager for the Central Power and Light company, was highly pleased with the welcome visitors extended the new ice station by attending the formal opening, and believes they would have been swamped if the weather had not been threatening.

The Palace Orchestra furnished music during the evening, and the visitors enjoyed the music as well as a talk by Frank Houston of Childress, district manager for the company. Several blocks of ice were brought out for the visitors to see. These blocks of ice had cut flowers frozen in them, and certainly made a beautiful picture.

Following music and speaking two large blocks of ice were brought out which had been chiseled out and punch was poured into these and the people served by Mrs. Mac Tarver and Miss Ophelia Webb, the two bookkeepers for the local company. Souvenirs were handed out to those present. The souvenirs were stamps for the running board of automobiles, and permits ice to be hauled on the running board without danger of sliding off.

The visitors were then taken thru the building to see the very latest workings of an ice service station. All in all, it was a gala affair, and the Central Power and Light company is to be commended for giving this city a station that is a credit to the town and a feather in the hats of the officials of the company.

LOCAL GOLFERS WIN TEAM CUP AT INVITATION TOURNAMENT

The Memphis golf team, composed of Raines West, Frank Foxhall, Carl and Tom Harrison, won the team cup in the Amarillo Country club's sixth annual invitation tournament, held at that city last Friday and Saturday. Memphis golfers won a place in every event except one, the championship flight in which Raines West failed to uphold his reputation and was eliminated from the titular round by Eddid Johnson, Panhandle champion, 5 and 4.

By an unlucky draw Carl Harrison, youthful golfer, was paired with the Panhandle champion, Young Harrison gave Johnson a battle and was only one down at the ninth hole but finally gave way to the champion.

In the second flight Frank Foxhall furnished a thrill for the gallery when he sunk a ten-foot putt to win the match from Charlie Hoover. Hoover was once considered one of the best golfers of this section, but now is a radical shooter, making the course under par at times and again shooting

Miss Susan Landon, educational director for the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, is coming to Hall county next week and will speak in Memphis at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, August 24, and that night at 8:30 at Lakeview, and Thursday she will speak at Estelline and Turkey, according to information given by Mr. J. Miss Landon is a woman of unusual ability, and has given co-operative marketing a deep study. She went to Denmark and other nations of Europe for this specific purpose, and only recently she went as the head of the Texas Farm Women's special through the western portion of the United States to make a study of the results of co-operative marketing in the places where it had been in practice the longest.

She is a pleasing and interesting speaker, and the women, business men, farmers and their wives should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear this gifted woman speak, for it will be impossible to get her again.

The Democrat editor heard Miss Landon speak at A. & M. Farmers Short Course last year, and can fully recommend her to the people of Hall county as an interesting talker as well as one who has a message worth while. It has been suggested that the business houses all close during the hour she is to speak in Memphis, and no finer thing can be done than just that.

Miss Landon will speak in the basement auditorium of the court house at 2:30 and school auditorium at Lakeview at 8:30. Let every business man, farmer, farm women and women's clubs attend this meeting. You will not regret it.

RURAL SCHOOL STUDENTS GET FREE TUITION

The following is the Act of the fortieth Legislature which provides for free tuition for rural high school students:

"The county board of trustees shall classify the schools of the county in accordance with such regulations as the State Superintendent may prescribe into elementary schools and high schools for the purpose of promoting the efficiency of the elementary schools and of establishing and promoting high schools at convenient and suitable places. In classifying the schools and in establishing high schools, said trustees shall give due regard to schools already located, advancement of the students in their studies. In the event any school is so classified that a resident high school student within the free school age cannot receive instruction in his home district, his tuition for the number of months attended in any high school recognized by either county or state, shall be paid by warrants drawn by the local trustees on funds of said district and approved by the county superintendent. Provided, that said student, after having completed the course of study offered him in his home district is not prepared to enter a high school recognized by either the county or the state, the superintendent of the school district which maintains the high school he desires to attend, shall place said student in the proper grade and said district shall be entitled to receive tuition for said student in the same manner as if said student should attend the high school of said district. If the high school attended receives the transfer of state and county funds for said student, credit shall be given for the amount of same. The rate of tuition charged said pupil shall be based upon the actual cost of teaching service in the high school attended exclusive of all other current or fixed charges and in no event shall said tuition rate exceed five dollars ($5) per month. In the event the funds of the said district or not sufficient to maintain the school for the desired length of term and pay tuition of resident high school students the said local district shall receive reimbursement on July 1 of each year from the State of Texas, for such tuition as has been paid on sworn statement of the trustees, approved by the superintendent and the county board of trustees, by warrants drawn by the comptroller at request of the state superintendent of public instruction on any funds appropriated by the Legislature for this purpose."

In explanation of the foregoing Act the term "rural district" will refer to the residence of the student; the term "high school district" will refer to the district having the high school which receives the student and "county board" will refer to the county board of trustees of the county having jurisdiction of the "rural district."

The parent of the high school student must make application to the county superintendent for transfer to the high school prior to August 1. Parents must notify home trustees, preferably in writing, of the names and number of the high school children to be transferred and to what high school districts; also the date of entry into the high school.

Rural District—The trustees of the rural district will pay monthly by warrant approved by the county superintendent on the depository account rendered by the superintendent or the principal of the high school. Attendance of rural students shall be counted for date of entry and two weeks continuous absence shall be deducted from the bill. Prior to June 1, if the rural desires reimbursement from the state, the trustees shall make application in the form of a sworn statement to the county board, of their income and disbursements of the year including amount of tuition paid, and if the county board approves reimbursement for any or all the tuition, the statement shall be transmitted with the county board to the state superintendent.

High School District—The superintendent or the principal of the high school district shall permit the transferred student to attend for as long a period as his transferred funds will pay his tuition observing the rule as two weeks continued absence and basing the tuition rate on the actual cost of teaching service not to exceed $5 dollars per month. He will then make sworn monthly statements of accounts due for subsequent attendance and submit them to the trustees of the rural district. The state will in no case reimburse the district for the per capita transferred. The rural district will also pay the tuition of students between the ages of seventeen and twenty-one. The county board shall scrutinize each account carefully. No approval for reimbursement should be made unless clearly necessary. The limited appropriation of $100,000 will probably not be adequate and not part of it should be paid to a district financially able to pay the tuition.

General Statements—Tuition cannot be paid to any private school. If public school selected by parents is not within the county or cannot legally receive the transfer of the per capita, the parents will be required to pay the amount of the per capita for the privilege of choice. The rural district shall not pay tuition of any child who has not finished the work his own district offers.

High school districts are not allowed to charge a higher rate of tuition than five dollars per month as a condition precedent to permitting the student to attend high school. The intention of Legislature was to provide free tuition for all high school students. No transfers for high school purposes should be permitted by the county board unless rural district school was classified after August first and parent was not aware of the classification. An indirect purpose of the law was to relieve the small rural school of the necessity of teaching advanced subjects and thus reduce expense and enable the teachers to give more attention to the primary and intermediate grades. Blank forms for administering the law will be furnished school authorities prior to September 1, 1927.

two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better." Think of it, today your own father is in the very blessed and hallowed presence of the Son of God who shall one day return with ten thousands of his saints to rule as King of kings over this old world of ours. May our blessed Lord hasten that day when He shall descend from heaven with a sk. it, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God, when the dead in Christ shall rise first, and then all we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with the in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Oh, Brother—Ross, isn't it glorious that we have a promise like that. We need not sorrow like those who have no hope. He has promised unconditionally that He will guide with His counsel those who fully trust him, and then afterwards receive them to glory. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints."

As you say, it is wonderful to live this life without much of its worldly goods; without much personal charm or attractiveness; without weight or influence derived from outstanding achievements or successes, and through it all live so noble, so honorable and so true toward Almighty God and mankind that at last men gather about your bier and render praise and thanksgiving unto God for such a life whose quite, unassuming and trustful attitude permeated the very atmosphere with an aroma which begot faith and love in the hearts of all those who came in contact with you. Such was your father's life, simple, modest and yet so fully resigned to the Will of God that those who knew him best were constrained to say, "This day a prince has fallen in Israel."

The largest piece of mobile artillery in the world is shown here in action. It's a 14-inch railway rifle, part of the defenses at Fort MacArthur, at San Pedro, Calif., indulging in target practice. It has a range of more than 15 miles.

After all Brother Ross we find out that it is not things—oil wells, gold and silver or for that matter even health that goes to make up a glorious and happy life. For the most part mankind is money mad and places undue emphasis upon the dollar mars. Our main concern should not be how to get wealth or how to keep from suffering, or how to be comfortable or how to have an easy time. God blessed the world far more through Job's poverty and suffering than he could have through Job, prosperous and sound in body. Paul could testify of the sustaining grace of God as he could not have if he had not been able to say I suffer the loss of all things that I might gain Christ. Our chief concern is to find the will of God and work in with His plans, even though we do not understand all of its purposes. Oh, if we could have no ambition past the will of God, our lives would be successful, and we would leave a heritage behind that would enrich the lives of men. I count a man's life, I care not how unassuming, a great success if he has strived to live according to the will of God, because the maximum achievement of any man's life, after it is all over is to have done the will of God. "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

LAW AND ORDER

The Childress Post recently had an editorial in favor of law and order that sounds the key note in no uncertain terms, and should be heeded by all men. Below we quote a few paragraphs of the editorial:

"As ye sow, so shall ye reap," said a man who knew men as does no other. Childress has been sowing slot-machine, crap shooting and card gambling, in both social and professional circles, wide-open bootlegging with prominent business men known as customers of bootleggers, and with broad hints on all sides that vice and crime is operating under protection.

"How assert itself? Men have long been accustomed to gathering together in mass meetings to discuss issues of vastly less importance. The men, and the women, of Childress could do no better thing than to hold an early and well-advertised mass meeting to give concrete form to the determination of the people to unite solidly behind a program of law enforcement and efficiency of officers. Such a meeting could band together those valiant spirits such as laid the foundation for our nation and inspire them to patriotic mass action against the recurrence of such scenes as on Saturday when gangs were rushing up streets and down alleys, hunting negroes like dogs hunt rabbits. A hundred men should be banded together and pledged to act swiftly in breaking up such unlawful assemblies as Saturday's.

"The commercial aspect of the incident adds to its enormity. On the eve of a gigantic cotton crop, when pickers will be sorely needed, the negroes in our midst are terrorized. Will others come in, when our resident negroes are leaving? The farmers know that this situation can not be laid at the door of the best people of Childress, and the loss, if any, will fall on farmer and businessman alike. But it is a disgusting climax to the careful plans which have been developed for getting cotton pickers into Childress county. We shall be waiting for cotton pickers this fall, and who can blame them if they refuse to come?"

GET PERMITS

The City Council is publishing a notice this week to the effect that permits are required for the construction of new buildings, repairing any building already constructed, or removing any building from one location to another. This is very important, and it seems that all concerned would be glad to conform to the City's requirements in the matter. There is no way of checking up on the amount of building done in Memphis in any length of time, without permits being secured. Then there is the fact of conforming to the kind of buildings required in certain areas to be considered. The time has come when the citizens should aid the city authorities in all they are attempting to do in making Memphis the kind of town that is should be. Haphazard methods are alright for small towns but when the town enters the city class these methods should be changed for better ones.

It is a shame to have to mention anything more than once, but the traffic laws shouldn't be violated so often. The devil-may-care drivers who think the busy streets are race tracks and that the open season is open, need to be taken down a peg. When something serious happens it is then too late to do anything but call the ambulance or undertaker.

Hall county crops have done some fast growing the past two or three weeks, and it now looks like Old Man Prosperity is just around the corner. A drive in any direction from town is a sight-seeing trip worth while; for there is nothing more beautiful than fields of feed and cotton in the very prime condition.

The coming Hall county fair will be the best in the history of the county, provided the people will cooperate in bringing exhibits and attend as they should. A county fair is an institution for all people and should be supported, for its ultimate aim is the bettering of conditions and drawing the people into closer relationship. The exhibits are in the county and can be shown with just a little effort. The people are here and can see the show with

The Democrat editor has been advised that he has been appointed as a member of the official reception committee to receive Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh at Abilene September 26. Also Mayor Foxhall has been appointed on the committee, and both of us may attend if they will send Lindy to Memphis in his Spirit of St. Louis to take us to Abilene. Then, too, Memphis is asked to elect a sponsor for the occasion. Of course, all of West Texas will feel proud of an opportunity to see and meet Lindy—the greatest hero of modern times.

The telephone girls have a hard time of it trying to render service to the public, but handicapped because of poor worn out equipment, and the subscribers have a hard time trying to get service because of the worn out equipment. Do not blame the operators, they are doing the best they can.

Now that Memphis has a network of sidewalks to all parts of the city, houses numbered and street signs up, just a little effort on the part of the citizenship would get for Memphis city delivery of mail and that without additional cost. What say you?

Several weeks ago Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador in Paris, received a letter from a 14-year-old Illinois boy, asking for his autograph and those of "any other French officials." The Ambassador sent the boy five autographs including those of Foch and Poincare. Accompanying the youth's letter of thanks was a dime, "so that you may buy yourself a good cigar."

VACATION VAGARIES

(J. C. Wells)

Some scenic country was gone over in the detour from Winslow to Holbrook, with the Painted Desert in the distance, but near enough for one to get an idea of the many colors of soil that go to making it a painted desert. It is said that geologists found about 90 different and distinct colors in this desert. Every hill and every cliff have these layers of colors and one is made to gasp with wonder at the works of nature fashioned by the hand of God. One mountain is called Sunset Mountain because of the flaming red layer of soil on its peak, making it look like the sun is shining on the peak even before or after the sun rises or sets. Because of the detour we did not get into the Painted Desert proper, but got enough views at a distance and the outcroppings of colors close by to give us a good idea of how the desert proper looked.

Just a few miles south of the Painted Desert is the Petrified Forests, and here one is made to wonder how it came about that great trees and hundreds of them have been uprooted and the whole trees have become petrified—harder than granite, and limbs, bark, roots, and trunks lying as if they had just fallen, but solid rock. This old world has enough of these mysterious things to make any one pause and think of the guiding hand that shaped and is ruling the world and all contained therein.

Then there was the section of country covered with fifty extinct volcanoes. Everywhere could be seen the porous volcanic rock, and at one place we looked into the crater which was not very deep, but was filled with cindery looking gravel, and this was being used to gravel the roads thereabouts.

At Springerville, we were again near the mountains and snow could be seen on Old Baldy. It seems that every town in the mountains have their "Old Baldy." Around Springerville it is said there are more than 300 miles of trout streams, and fine big game hunting during the winter months. From Springerville to Scorro, where we stayed our last night out, one crosses mountains, deserts, green verdant valleys, and pine forests alternately and had a skyline drive—and very high, but real interesting. Crossed the Continental Divide at an altitude of seven thousand feet, in a beautiful range of mountains, with pine forests and valleys on every side. Passed a Country Club Lodge which advertised that it had the only revolving dining table in the country. Passed through Sherwin-Williams Paint Co's mining town, Magdalena just at sundown, and being just twenty miles from Scorro we decided to travel after night (the first time on the trip) and sure regretted it before reaching Scorro, for ten miles of it was winding down a mountain on a narrow road not wide enough for two cars to pass and hardly wide enough for one. But we made it and landed in Scorro. The next morning we started on the last day's ride for home; crossed the Rio Grande river, and going up the hill from the river we had the first and only tire puncture of the trip.

Then we were in a hold up. At least we thought it one until we found that it was some young fellows from Lubbock who had car trouble and had been out all night without food or water. One of them rode with us to the air, a beautiful town at a high first garage. On to Mountain-altitude, where Pinto beans is the principal crop of the farmers, and the first dry farming section we had passed after leaving New Mexico on our way out.

Vaughn, Clovis, Amarillo and home. A distance of some 3600 miles had been covered during the time away from home, and every minute of it enjoyed. Glad to get home, but would have enjoyed another three weeks outing.

RURAL LEADERSHIP

By PHEBE K. WARNER

Home again! Home again! Ready for work. Such is the spirit this morning of nearly four thousand boys and girls, men and women who last week attended the Farmers' Short Course at A. & M. College. In attendance, in results, in spirit it was the greatest Short Course in the history of Texas. Everybody said so.

Eighteen years ago Dean Kyle of the Department of Agriculture conceived the idea of the Farmers' Short Course as a means of bringing to the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College the real dirt farmers of the State. His motive was to bring the older farmer in contact with what the State of Texas was doing for agriculture as well as what it was doing to train the younger generation of farmers.

Who was paying for the A. & M. College? The farmers of that day were meeting the bills and paying a large per cent of the taxes that made the A. & M. College possible. And they were getting the benefit of it, too, in an indirect way. But then, as today, the people of Texas do not and can not begin to appreciate what the A. & M. College means to them until they go there and spend a few days looking over that great institution and watch it in action and at work. There is a lot more inspiration in seeing a race or a show of any kind than there is in staying at home and reading about it. The writer may not see things as you would have seen them and then YOU are getting somebody's else idea of your own institution rather than your own. It pays to GO, see your own institution in action yourself.

At that first meeting there were only a few farmers who responded to the call. Most of them camped in tents until a storm blew the tents down. And then they went home. But they had started something, which has grown bigger and better every year until in 1927 the Farmers' Short Course eclipsed any other meeting of its kind in Texas history.

About twelve years ago the farm and home demonstration work took root in Texas. This brought not only men but the boys and girls and the farm women into the agricultural circle. Why not? Are they not a part of the farm as much as the men? And variety of folks brought variety of interests until this year everything in Texas from bees to boys and from homemade rugs to Flood Control had a place on the program.

It would be impossible for any one person to see and appreciate all the good points in the Farmers' Short Course. But I believe I am safe in saying that one of the most far-reaching features of the whole Short-Course is that of Rural Leadership.

What has caused the decline in rural life for the past half-century? Lack of leaders more than any other one thing. We have always had plenty of people. Have yet. Even though three-fourths of our folks have moved to town there are still enough left on the farm to produce all the nation needs to eat and wear with the help of improved mechanics. But until very recently all we have advanced in methods of production. And just as fast as somebody would invent a mechanical device to do the work, away went another million farmers to town to find a better job. And just as fast as the farmers educated their children, away they went to some town to enter some profession or business. And the idea got out some way that you don't need to know anything to farm. You don't need any leaders in the country. Why, what would they lead? All the smart folks and all the leaders must go to town to find an opening for their superior intelligence and leadership. The business of the country people is to PRODUCE. That's what land is for. And isn't it the business of the farmer an dhis family to till the soil to feed the rest of us? Anybody who can't do anything else can farm! Why worry about leaders? Let every fellow lead himself. As for the art of living on the farm, well, farm folks don't have time to live, so why worry over that? It's more blessed to GIVE than to RECEIVE, anyway, and it's their business to give.

But that idea is passing. "Them days is gone forever." The farm demonstrator and the home demonstrator have introduced a new philosophy of life. They are proving that there is an art in living on the farm. They are proving the value of trained leadership in the country. And they are doing more. They are discovering leaders all over this great State, among the farm boys and girls, and men and women, and they are training these native-born leaders to grasp the problems of their community life and with the help of their neigh-

...ors win the victories over all the neglect and misunderstanding of the past. It's the greatest work going on in Texas today. Adult education in the most essential things of life, home management and child training will do more to solve all our home problems than any other one thing.

What could be more inspiring to any State than to see and hear its boys and girls, twelve and fifteen years of age, meeting and discussing the problems of their home community. Standing on their feet in a great auditorium before two or three thousand people telling the story of their victories with so much enthusiasm that they forgot to be frightened. Women who never faced an audience before telling the story of their improved kitchens and how they made the money to improve their kitchens and how they did the bigger thing of interesting their husbands and children in their plans in their plans for a better home for the whole family.

And now today eight hundred Texas boys, eight hundred Texas girls, six hundred Texas mothers, and about a thousand Texas home and farm demonstrators, newspaper men, county school superintendents, bankers, county judges, engineers, experts and educators in every line of endeavor have gone back home to carry the glad news and put into operation the fine ideas they gleaned at the Farmers' Short Course last week. It's great!

It's bringing the whole State of Texas together in one big friendly and understanding family as nothing else has ever done. But best of all it is training a generation of real leaders to carry on the work in the country that will restore rural life to the high standards of living it so richly deserves.

The State of Ohio possesses in Greene county a natural history preserve of five hundred acres from which public worship must forever be barred. Such was the stipulation attached to the bequest by the donor, John Bryan. Otherwise, the preserve is open to all persons regardless of creed, race or color.

The prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince George, hold equal claim to the honor of being the best dancers in the royal family. The Duke of York excels at tennis, while Prince Henry is easily the best cricketer.

'LINDY' TO BE WELCOMED BY WEST TEXAS

All West Texas will have a part in entertaining Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh, the World's most famous aviator, when he stops in Abilene on September 26.

Every West Texas town will be asked to send as representatives its mayor, newspaper editors and one young lady. These will be included in the reception committee that will greet "Lindy" when he lands at Abilene.

Each of the feminine members of the reception committee will be asked to dress in red, white and blue, the national colors and incidentally the colors of the Air Mail Service, of which Lindbergh is a graduate.

West Texans will not only get to see the young colonel and his ship, "The Spirit of St. Louis," but in addition, the distinguished visitor will be introduced to a number of West Texas celebrities and to the "Spirits" of the different towns of this section. Each of the young lady sponsors will represent the "Spirit" of her home town and as such will participate in a spectacular pageant that will be given during the day of "Lindy's" visit here at the West Texas Fair grandstand.

Mayor Thos. E. Hayden Jr., will head the honorary arrangements committee on which will be Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the governor of Texas and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Paxton of Abilene; Hon. R. W. Haynie, Abilene, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, and Mrs. J. U. Fields, Haskell, president of the Texas Federation of Woman's clubs.

Ripon, England, has had an official hornblower for more than a thousand years. Taking up his position in the market square just before nine o'clock each night, he must send out a long, mournful blast on his horn before the sound of the last cathedral chime dies away. If an inhabitant can outblow the hornblower in a contest he gets the job.

The cornerstone of the building housing the National Conservatory of Music in Mexico City was laid on June 29, 1584, on the site of Montezuma's palace.

CHILDRESS GETS TWO RANGERS TO QUIET TOWN

As a result of the little display of mob violence that took place on Saturday afternoon, two Rangers have arrived in Childress and will remain indefinitely, probably through the winter, according to information received from a reliable source. Ranger C. O. Moore came in on the train Monday morning and Ranger Serg. Gonzales arrived Monday afternoon, on the train.

The incident which led to their coming to Childress at this particular time was the affair of Saturday afternoon when a brawl took place as a result of a quarrel between some white boys and some negroes in an alley behind the First State Bank. The argument ended up in a fight and then in several fights. Then a bunch of white boys decided to run the negroes out of town and many of them did leave.

The effort was not confined to Childress alone but on Saturday night the boys visited Hereford Grove community and ran off the negroes of Mr. Alexander there. Mrs. Whitehead telephoned in to the Green Grocery on Monday morning and gave the names of some boys that came to her place Saturday night or Sunday with the object, it is said, of frightening the negroes.

Some of the homes in Childress were visited on Saturday night. These were homes that kept negro servants.

Sheriff John Compton, who related to a Post reporter the incidents leading up to the action of the white boys, stated on Monday morning that he intended to arrest any citizen who made a threat against a negro.

The boys showed an inclination it is said, during the brawl, to disregard the efforts of officers to put a stop to the efforts to drive the negroes away.

The City Council met in special session on Monday morning and accepted the resignation of H. F. Cook as City Marshall, appointing in his place, Dick Moore, a well-known local officer, who has seen many years of service in such capacity and who has the confidence of local people.

Everything had quieted down on Monday morning and there was every indication that there would be no more out-breaks. Many negroes, however, had already left the city and more were preparing to leave on Monday. The appointment of Mr. Moore as City Marshall may halt their flight, however, for he has their confidence. The exodus of negroes at this time right on the verge of a bumper crop harvest, is to be very much regretted.—Childress Post.

Under Vienna's 'Spigot' Tax plan each home or apartment is allowed one water faucet free of tax. Since with every additional outlet the duties rise apace, installation of hot and cold water in both kitchen and bathroom is a distinct luxury.

SOW SMALL GRAIN FOR PASTURE EARLY

On account of the value of small grain, particularly oats, barley, and rye for winter pasture over a large part of Texas, as well as for cover crops, every farmer who has any livestock should sow some of this grain for grazing purposes, if he lives in a section where small grain will grow, states E. A. Miller, Agronomist, Extension Service, A. and M. College of Texas. In case no livestock is to be grazed, these crops will serve the very useful purpose of cover crops to keep the land from washing away and to take up and hold the available plant food, especially nitrogen, which might otherwise be leached out.

For grazing purposes the grain should be sown early, during August or the first part of September, as the experience of farmers is very conclusive that the early sown grain is the most profitable, since it furnishes a good deal more grazing than late sown crops. Small grain pasture, when planted early, will be the means of saving a good many dollars in feed, especially since cotton seed meal and grain will no doubt be rather high this year.

For early planting, oats, barley or other small grain may be drilled in with a small grain drill between the cotton rows or even corn rows, where they are clean, or the seed may be broadcast and then covered with a five tooth, one row cultivator, harrow, or some other form of "scratcher." At least 3 to 3 1/2 bushels of oats, 2 to 2 1/2 bushels of barley, or 1 1/2 to 2 bushels of wheat should be sown per acre. For grazing purposes it is better to sow grain thicker than when grown only for grain.

If a grain or hay crop is desired, the oat and barley seed should be sprayed with a formaldehyde solution at the rate of one pint of formaldehyde to 10 gallons of water to prevent smut. This amount will be sufficient to treat 40 to 50 bushels. The seed are sprinkled with the solution and shoveled over two or three times; then it is placed in a pile and covered with a wagon sheet or other cover for several hours, after which they should be spread out to dry.

For wheat the copper carbonate treatment is now being used. This method consists of placing the wheat in a tight container which is arranged so that it can be revolved on an axis, sprinkling three ounces of copper carbonate per bushel on same, and then thoroughly revolving the container so that every seed will be covered with the powder.

If you have never grown small grain for pasture, it would be well to give them a trial and be convinced of their value for grazing, as well as for a cover crop.

Is Life Insurance Volume the True Prosperity Index?

August Test to be conducted through Southland Life Agents, will decide winning zone

Babson's monthly maps, showing business conditions in the United States, nearly always show a "white spot" (good business) somewhere in Texas. Among the most important factors, determining prosperity of any given section, is the amount of Life Insurance written.

Last year, the Southland Life agency organization made a test to determine prosperity of the four distinct sections. Prizes were offered to the agents of each section to spur their efforts, in favor of their respective sections. South Texas was the winner.

While the idea was devised purely to interest the Southland Life organization, it drew the attention of the Chambers of Commerce, Civic Clubs and others in a fine competitive spirit. In fact, we have been requested to repeat the "August Test" again this year. If you wish your section to win... if you expect to buy additional Insurance anyhow... buy it through your Southland Life Agent in August.

NEWSY LETTER FROM BORGER BY WILLBORN

Borger, Texas, August 8
I left Memphis last Tuesday evening to return to Borger after a week's visit at home. It was hot that afternoon but next morning it was so raw and cold at Amarillo people were going about in heavy overcoats. I wished for mine especially when I got started on the trip to Borger aboard a line car. The driver of the car was a ten cent dude looking fellow called "Bill." Bill had all the external indications of having made a night of it the night before. He had on a Fourth of July rig and reiterated over and over again that he was freezing and would never live to see Borger. I've heard that when the booze begins to "die" in a fellow it's just like that.

When we reached Panhandle and stopped at the stage station all of us went into a restaurant next door to warm up. While we were in there a little flapper, who seemed to be working in the place attached herself to "Bill" and persuaded him to give her a round trip to Borger and back in exchange for the pleasure of her company. I wouldn't have cared for that but I had to give up my front seat where it was warm for my feet and not quite so rough. However, I guess the girl needed the warmth worse than I did as I could have stuffed all the clothes she had on into my pocket book, but she snuggled up to Bill, and put one arm around him and I don't think either of them suffered with cold the rest of the trip. The girl confided to Bill, loud enough for the rest of the passengers to hear, that she was a straw widow; that she was from "Shreveport La.," and that her dad owned a plantation down there; said she got struck on a guy who was crazy about her and she wanted to marry him but the old man butted in. When they ran off by the light of the moon and got hitched anyway. But somehow or other the course of true love did not run smoothly and they both kicked out of the harness in less than a year's time. She said they were in Des Moines, Iowa when they decided to call it "quits" and to use her own language, I don't know where in the devil he is and here I am down here in Panhandle, Texas. I don't know what the other passengers thought about this episode but to me it was a tragedy in real life, with a good looking, and apparently well educated and well raised young woman gone to the damnation bow-wows.

I reached my destination about noon and was rather glad of it under the circumstances. It seemed like nearly every one with whom I came in contact from the time I left Memphis until I reached Borger had an aggravated case of the blues. The only two living things I met who gave me the impression that they were glad to be living and all right with the world were the old man who brings any paper every morning and the little black dog "Billy" who took up with shortly after I first came over here.

There was one other exception too. I met the pastor of the Baptist church in the lobby of the post office a few minutes after the stage arrived and he looked as if his last friend had just cashed in. I shook hands with him and asked how he was getting along, and he replied that things couldn't be much worse than the bottom had almost dropped out of the church, in the past two weeks and he didn't know whether to keep up the fight or quit. I decided he was a Job's comforter and started to leave the building. At the door a heavy hand slapped me good naturedly on the shoulder and a cheery voice bloomed out "Hello, Memphis! It was my good friend, W. M. Byars, a kinsman of uncle Si Byars. After exchanging a few words with him and had a hearty laugh I felt better.

I met the old paper man on the street and he seemed to be happy and gave me the glad hand, though I suspect that he hardly had less reason to be optimistic than many of the other people I met. When I got to the shop at Phillips, I found the little black dog, Billy, at the front door waiting for me, although I had been gone a week. She gave me a most effusive welcome. Before I got the front door unlocked old man Salter, who used to run a truck at Memphis, came around the corner of the building. He came in and talked awhile and after he left I felt as cheerful as if I had been sitting up all night with a corpse. To save my life I can see no real reason why the people of Borger or any other town should have the mulligrubs so badly. It is true, perhaps that some of the working men have been hit pretty hard on account of being laid off during the dull season here, but as a rule most of the men who are out of work at present in the oil fields have nobody to blame but themselves for being broke and stranded. They lived on the fat of the land and paid 50 cents a bottle for near-beer as long as their jobs held out and they were making from five to ten dollars a day. In other words they spent money as fast as they made it, and sometime faster.

If any other town in the Panhandle was making as many municipal and industrial improvements and securing half as many big manufacturing plants as is the City of Borger it would be heralded to the world as an unprecedented boom. Since I came back to Borger I learn that the Skelly Oil Co., has been laying off the site for another carbon block plant which will be located between Phillips and the river. This will make four of these immense plants for Borger, two of them being under construction.

At last the people of Borger have achieved the height of their ambition and the hated rangers will soon be no more. The welcome news came from the governor sometime Saturday and a celebration was staged that night. I wasn't there but the paper next day stated that it was not an old-time celebration you will understand what that means but I'll wager that the supply of beer and Virginia Dare cordial was considerably depleted anyway. It remains to be seen whether the removal of the rangers will prove to be the panacea for all of Borger's ills both real and imaginary, as you have perhaps noticed in the papers the trail of Ranger Jack DeGraftenried at Pampa resulted in an acquittal in a few minutes by the jury, as I was sure he would be.

I met Crockett Ward on the street yesterday. I didn't know he was in this part of the country. He is living out at the Dixon Creek Camp of the McElroy Company. I also met Frank Guinn of Brice in town one day this week. It is raining a perfect flood tonight and it is making such a racket on the tin roof I can't hardly hear myself think.

Well, I'll have to close this letter for this time. I am enclosing a clipping from the editorial page of the Borger Herald which I have given the Caption: "What Borger is Doing," which you may publish if you wish. Hoping that these few remarks may be of some interest to the folks at home I will desist until next week.

J. M. WILLBORN.

Just Tottering, So Weak

"I was in a bad state of health and was going through a critical time of my life," says Mrs. Ella Scarborough, R. F. D. 5, Dothan, Ala. "Several different things were recommended to me, but I did not get any real relief until I began to take Cardui.

"I was just as weak as could be. My legs were shaky, and often I would just totter around the house. I finally got so bad that I was in bed several weeks.

"It was then that I began to take Cardui. I kept it up for quite a while, and at last I regained my health. Cardui was certainly a friend to me in time of need.

"My health is splendid now, and I seldom have to use medicine, but I gladly say a word about Cardui whenever I find a friend going through the same suffering which I endured."

Every member of the family should be interested in making over the living room. Every one should lend their ideas of art and comfort and beauty. Every one should lend their help on the work to be done. And there is another chance for every member of the family to be useful, and that is to help make the money that will be necessary to carry out your ideas of an ideal living room.

Won't it be interesting next year at the Short Course to hear mother tell what John did to help pay for the radio and what Mary did to repaper the room and what father did to fix the floor and the windows and what she did to get the new rug and what the children away from home sent back to add to the comfort and interest of the Old Home Living Room? Here's a family contest that will mean more to the State of Texas than all the horse races, or all the prize fights for 1928. CHURCH SUNDAY We were delighted last Sunday morning with a wonderful message from Rev. Jeffrey D. Hoy, pastor of First Congregational Church, Geneseo, Illinois. Those ideals are Truth. His sermon was illustrated and appreciated by all. We predict for him and his good wife, who is a Memphis girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Madden, a bright future.
