Memphis, Lakeview Cagers Downed in District Tourney

Both Teams Defeated By Thalia; Quail Takes Top Honors in Tourney

Hall County's two representative teams, Memphis and Lakeview, in the district basketball tournament at Childress last weekend were each downed in their first games by the same team, Thalia.

The Quail team, once noted for its basketball prowess, again came to the front and took the district four championship honors, although the Collingsworth County lads were not expected to show much power.

Quail downed Crowell in the finals 42 to 18 after taking a 10-point lead in the first three minutes of the game. Crowell was never able to threaten the Quail cagers.

Lakeview's Eagles, which were favored over Thalia, lost to that team by a score of 45 to 16. Thalia then proceeded to enter the semifinals with a 30 to 22 victory over Memphis. The Cyclone team had drawn a bye in the opening rounds.

Quail downed a favored Silverton, team in the first round, beat Quannah 38 to 28 in the quarter finals, ousted Childress 31 to 21 in the semi-finals, and then blasted Crowell in the finals with the 42-18 victory.

The Crowell team, defending champions, downed Carey and Thalia to enter the finals.

Memphians who lost articles from their automobiles recently may have the articles if they can identify them from the stolen goods now at the office of the chief of police in the City Hall.

The material consists mainly of auto accessories, Ed McCreary, chief of police, said, and the owners may have them by identification of the articles.

Most of the accessories were taken recently from cars parked near a local hospital, McCreary said.

"Have fun with your kite—but fly it SAFELY!"

Let you regret—

REMEMBER:

1. Keep away from electric wires.
2. Do not use wire or metal on any part of kite.
3. Do not use string with wire in it.
4. Keep kite dry.
5. Do not climb poles if kite becomes caught in wires.

Don't Take Chances!

MARCH winds blow. Kites dot the sky... dipping, soaring, climbing, as they play tag with the wind. It's a favorite sport, and a grand sport. But be sure it's a safe sport, too.

Reddy Kilowatt reminds parents of these precautions. See that your child understands and observes them. We don't want to discourage anyone's having fun—safely. There is plenty of open space in our West Texas country where a kite can be flown safely. But kite-flying should not be attempted among wires of any kind.

Serious and even fatal accidents have resulted from kites coming in contact with high tension wires. We want to help keep your child—all children—safe from harm.

Students of Lakeview Schools Work Preparation for County Meet

Party Held for Class

The Lakeview students have been studying their words for the spelling contest of the county meet very hard for a number of days and the first try-outs are over. The group has been cut down to 11 boys and girls. The inter-school competition will take place in the near future when the team will be selected.

Speech Class

The assembly brings the school closer to the outside world. It is the place where the weakness or the strength of the student body is revealed. If the students have a sense of honor and pride, they attain a high level of assembly conduct. If they do not have this spirit, it will be a source of embarrassment to their faculty.

Assembly Manners

Some of the things a student body should be careful about doing are: When the signal is given to be seated or to stand, be prompt—don't be the last to sit down or to stand up.

When you change seats

When you change seats be as careful to move as quietly as possible. Don't make a commotion. When anyone is speaking be attentive and very quiet even if the speaker is dull and uninteresting.

Do not whisper or read a paper

Do not whisper or read a paper or do anything which will show discourtesy to the one who is conducting the assembly and your own lack of breeding.

If someone is late in getting to the assembly

If someone is late in getting to the assembly, do not let your curiosity cause you to turn around and look. If you do, you may embarrass the newcomer.

When you start to applaud

When you start to applaud, be sure that the performer has finished. Do not continue your applause if it is evident that the performer does not wish to give an encore.

Unless it is absolutely necessary

Unless it is absolutely necessary, do not leave before the meeting is over. If you must, leave quietly so as not to distract the attention of those who remain.

To sum all of this up

To sum all of this up, remember to conduct yourself so that you will in no way make yourself conspicuous or disturb anyone else.

Students Prepare For County Meet

News for the paper is rather scarce this week since everyone is working on his part in the Interscholastic League meet to be held at Lakeview soon.

Snow Brings Work For Bus Drivers

The snow that fell Sunday and Monday caused a little trouble on the bus routes Monday and Tuesday.

From a very small seed

From a very small seed planted indoors about January 1, one can grow within a 12-month period a papaya tree-like plant 10 feet in height which may produce 100 or more melon-like fruits.

Lakeview Class Preparing Play

The speech class of Lakeview High School is preparing another play to be presented this week, either Thursday or Friday night.

The title is "Comin' 'Round The Mountain."

Be sure to keep your eyes open for the date for there will be plenty of laughs for everyone, one of the directors said.

When the "mountain folks" get started, anything can happen and it does. There is also a lady sheriff to add to the amusement of the audience. She is really tough too," it was explained.

P-TA MEETING

The local Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday, February 27, at 2:30. The program will center around the Founder's Day theme. There will be, in connection with the meeting, a planting of trees.

they could at least get the spades, hoes, rakes, etc., in good shape so the women could use them. If it were left to the women, and the men would do as they wanted, Memphis would soon be the best looking town in Texas.

Due to wet weather the WPA work at the city park was postponed Wednesday. Active work is expected to start as soon as the weather permits. It is hoped the improvements will all be completed by summer so the people of this section can enjoy the facilities of the park for their outings.

Mrs. Russell A. Wingert, wife of the Presbyterian minister, having lived in the "deep south" all her life, had never seen a dust storm or very much snow until she moved to Memphis. Shortly after their arrival here, one of the worst dust storms in years made its appearance. Then, Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday she had opportunity to see snow falling in perfect style. Along in March of April one of those old-time sand and gravel storms will come along and thoroughly initiate Mrs. Wingert into the mysteries and wonders of the great Panhandle of Texas.

Speaking of birthdays, Monday night was really an opportunity to celebrate a lot of birthdays when a bunch of Methodists gathered to have a birthday party. Birthdays for every month in the year were recorded, even to February 29.

purchases of seed, as outlined by Miss Love are as follows:

1. This program applies to every farm family in the county, no matter what the circumstances.
2. It has been an effective method of introducing a better variety of foods in the family diet.
3. Seed on hand at planting time eliminates the fear of late planting due to the lack of seed or money at garden planting time.
4. Standard packages of seed secured from germinated tested seed and reliable houses not only insures good quality seed, but reduces cost materially. Many of the standard packages delivered last year at a cost of from $2 to $3 would have cost $8 and up had they been purchased individually.

MATCHES ARE STRUCK—BUT NOT HERE

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

As you've probably noticed, I haven't written you in a long time. It's mainly because I just haven't had much to write about.

In case you don't remember me, I'm the fellow who had the bright idea of operating a candy, pop, and coffee concession—one on wheels—at each one of the fires in the city.

As I told you then, I figured that there were so many people there, I couldn't miss. I also wrote you of my troubles in getting to the fires, etc., and how I decided to drop the whole affair.

That, if you remember, was pretty early in the year, and I figure I'm much better off now, financially speaking, than I would have been if I had continued the business.

Why? Because there just ain't been many fires in Memphis since then. And fires were the only times I would have been able to make any money. And the fires we have had were so insignificant, with one or two exceptions, that I probably wouldn't have had time to brew up a batch of coffee—much less sell it.

At any rate, Mr. Editor, I'm just writing this note to you which I hope you will relay to the city's fire marshal, fire boys, and all who have anything to do with keeping down the number of conflagrations in Memphis (that word "conflagrations" is one of my newly-learned ones).

Insurance companies had to pay out only $2,619.23 in fire losses during the past year, I read in your newspaper the other day—and I mean that is really a very low total loss for a city this size.

Of course, I don't suppose the credit can all go to one person or even just the fire boys. They did more than their share in keeping the fire losses low after the blazes were started, but the citizens themselves are to be complimented for doing their part in being more careful with fires.

Memphis now has, as it did last year, the credit rating of 25 per cent on insurance premiums, which saving itself should more than pay for what it takes to keep up the fire department. That's a pretty fair record.

Maybe we ought to hire the fire trucks for hauling purposes, or something along that line. If the city doesn't need the money, I guess I could find a use for it.

Anyway, congratulations are in order to the fire department, the fire marshal, and the citizens.

Yours for even smaller fire losses—and still smaller crowds at the fires,

I (Did) Lovefires.

THE FAT STOCK SHOW

THERE'S BIG "doings" in store for Hall Countians Saturday, for that's the date of the annual 4-H and FFA fat stock show.

Not that there will be a large crowd at the show, for there never is a true representation of either the city or the country present. But there should be.

These young men are doing some extensive studying and work along the line of producing better cattle—yet few people take the amount of interest in their annual displays that should be taken.

Lack of interest on the part of the "older folks" does not tend to make the boys increase their interest most anyone else—they like to be encouraged in the raising better cattle. Boys, naturally, are like work they are doing.

It would help no little amount if a good representation of the vicinity visited the stock show. The visit would surely be of benefit to the boys—and more than likely to the visitors.

If you go, there's one thing you can tell the boys—that good cattle are developed into good cattle—not just born that way.

Farm Families May Get Loan Funds For Installation of Water Facilities

Robert C. Land, rehabilitation supervisor, David R. Shahan, assistant supervisor, and Bessie Mae Love, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Hall County, have returned from Amarillo where they attended a district meeting to discuss the FSA's water facilities program.

Mr. Land said that he had received additional authority to recommend for approval water facilities applications from farm families in all parts of the county.

"Funds in the form of loans to farm families are available," Mr. Land said, "for the installation of facilities for farmstead and livestock water developments.

"Facilities which may be installed, repaired or developed," he continued, "are cisterns, wells, pools, ponds, tanks, springs or seeps. Appurtenances for the use of water, such as windmills, stock troughs, storage tanks, bathroom fixtures (including minor house repairs), sinks, pipe, towers, necessary labor, garden fences, windbreak tree plantings, milk troughs and so forth are also included," he said.

It was emphasized, however, that no irrigation systems, other than the one-acre maximum per farm unit, are authorized, except in the Rita Blanca Drainage, Coldwater Palo Duro Watershed, and Mustang - Monument - Seminole Area.

Farmers and farm women interested in obtaining complete information about this program should immediately contact Mr. Land or Miss Love at the county Farm Security office in the old Hall County Bank building.

About Folks You Know . . .

MEMPHIS PERSONALITIES . . . BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE MEMPHIS PROGRESS

B. E. DAVENPORT

Tomie Potts of Lakeview, who had been Mr. Davenport's partner in the bank there. During 1928 this company enjoyed a banner year. At one time they had 23 employees on the payroll, amounting to $6,000 a month. During that year they sold more than 750 cars, including 454 new ones. At one time they held $42,000 in paper, and collections were so good that they carried over only $1,200 Jan. 1, 1929.

In March of 1932 Mr. Davenport and Mr. Potts divided their business, and Mr. Davenport engaged in the business of financing automobiles and buying cottonseed.

In January of 1934 he established his present business, handling Case tractors, implements, hardware and other associated lines, locating at its present site.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport have four daughters: Anna Kathryn, 18, a student at Tech, Lubbock; Bobbie Clare, 14, Peggy Lou, 9, both in the Memphis schools; and Patsy Jean, 6.

Mr. Davenport is a member of all the Masonic orders in Memphis, took his Shrine work in Fort Worth, a charter member of the Khiva Temple in Amarillo, a member of the Scottish Rite order and a 32nd degree Mason. For 9 years he was a director in the Retail Merchants Association and served as president and vice president of that organization. He has been a director of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce for 10 years and has served as president and vice president; a charter member of the Memphis Country Club; charter member of the Lakewood farms and Brookhollow Country Club; a Rodeo and Reunion Committeeman; served as Mayor of Memphis two terms, city councilman for six years and chairman of the city's finance committee and mayor protem one term while serving in that capacity.

Mr. Davenport's civic record is one of which the community is justly proud. He has made an enviable record, serving long and well in capacities hard to fill. His outstanding achievement in civic life was serving the community as mayor and councilman and chairman of the finance committee during the depression when property valuations were dropping and taxes could not be collected. He placed the city on a cash basis and carried it through these perilous times a sound financial unit.

His outstanding business achievement was his activities in the Chevrolet business when he established the all-time record for sales of cars in 1928.

Mr. Davenport's hobby is trout fishing, and likes to go to the favorite fishing spots of the southwest every chance that is afforded. He also likes saddle horses and keeps three for riding in the summer.

Mr. Davenport recalls his most embarrassing moment when he asked his prospective mother-in-law for her daughter's hand in marriage. Fright was mingled with his embarrassment, so when he approached her, he took a deep breath and blurted out: "I'm old and I'm going to get married, what do you think about it?" His mother-in-law-to-be put him at ease when she replied: "That's fine Bascomb, be good to my girl." His embarrassment may have been relieved, but the fright lingered on. Mrs. Davenport relates, since she had to tell him to kiss the bride when the wedding ceremony was finished.

As a civic minded citizen and successful businessman Bascomb Davenport has done much for his native county. He has seen it progress from a wild barren waste to fertile fields and proud cities, and has contributed immeasurably to that progress. He is a true son of the pioneer who has elected to carry on the work of perpetuating, improving, and bettering the place his father chose to make his home and life's work more than half a century ago.

GEORGE R. CULLIN

"More service in fewer years" would be a good slogan for one of Memphis' outstanding personalities and beloved citizens—George R. Cullin, who has lived in Memphis only a short while, but who has rendered great service toward community advancement and betterment.

George Raymond Cullin was born March 11, 1900 at Flatonia, (pop. 966, and it's actually on the map, between Janice and Engle on the T&NO, we looked it up!) Fayette County, Texas. His father was a boiler maker connected with the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Mr. Cullin spent his childhood and boyhood at Flatonia, attending the public schools in that city. His father died when he was ten years old, and since that time Mr. Cullin has made his own way. After schools, on Saturdays and during vacations he would work at any, or all odd jobs that came his way. He sold papers, drove an ice wagon, fired the boiler at the ice plant, worked in hardware store polishing stoves, was janitor at the Baptist Church, in fact took to any kind of work that would make him a few dollars.

In his senior year in the Flatonia High School, 1918, he quit school and tried to join the S.A.T.C. at A. and M. College to become a flyer in the World War I. He was turned down and promptly volunteered in the United States army. He was accepted and was called to duty November 11, 1918, the day the Armistice was declared.

"My service record with the army is about the shortest on record—about three hours long," laughs Mr. Cullin, recalling how eager he was to serve his country, even though he was only 18 years old. He did not return to school to graduate, but came to Wichita Falls, where he had relatives, seeking work. His first full-time job was as a mechanic for the Dodge Motor Company in that city. He worked there for a short while and became an employee of the North Texas Gas and Electric Company as a meter reader. He was soon transferred into the company's offices and worked with them for four years as a bookkeeper.

In 1923, when he was 23 years old, Mr. Cullin decided to fulfill his lifelong ambition to be a railroad engineer and started with the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad. His first job with them was in the yard office and in the freight offices. He soon realized that years and years of service would be required before he could reach his goal, and he could see no future in the railroad business, so in 1926 he resigned his position with the company.

In September of 1926 he joined the Continental Oil Company, working in a clerical capacity in the division office at Wichita Falls. Later he was transferred to the wholesale warehouse. January 1, 1928 he was sent to Lubbock as the company's agent and eleven months later was promoted to the district superintendent's office, with headquarters at Stamford.

In 1930, February, he was made traveling auditor for the company and stationed at Amarillo. In October of 1932 he was sent back to Lubbock as auditor, in June of 1934 he was transferred to Wichita Falls in the same capacity, a year later sent to Dallas as auditor and in July of 1936 he was sent to Amarillo to serve the company again as its auditor.

By this time Mr. Cullin was tired of being transferred from place to place every few months, and besides he had a family and in his own words "I wanted to eat supper at home every night for a change."

So he severed his connection with the company in an executive capacity and decided that Memphis would be a good place to locate. In April of 1937 Mr. Cullin purchased Hylton Buster's Conoco agency here and moved his family to this city.

He has been in the service of the Conoco Company for the past 16 years.

January 19, 1923 he was married to Miss Essie LeNeil Davis of Wichita Falls. He met his bride attending BYPU meetings at the Baptist Church in Wichita Falls. They have two sons, Raymond, age 9, and Charles, age 7.

Mr. Cullin is a member of the Baptist Church, having joined at the age of 14. He is a deacon at the First Baptist Church of Memphis. He is a past member of the K. P. fraternal order, a member of the Rotary Club, a member of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, served one year as director, another as vice president and last year was president of that organization. He was chairman of the executive committee of the Rodeo and Reunion celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of Hall County.

Mr. Cullin enjoys a hobby of hunting. He states that he has killed lots of prairie dogs and enjoys the shooting as much as he does killing the game. He is a remarkable marksman and specializes on the .22 rifle.

He owns his business here and holds several filling station equities.

Mr. Cullin recalls his outstanding business achievement as selling two 10-car load contracts of fuel oil while associated with the Conoco at Lubbock.

His outstanding civic achievement was the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the founding of Hall County held last summer in Memphis. Mr. Cullin was president of the Chamber of Commerce and the celebration's executive board chairman, and much of the credit of the success of this great enterprise should be accorded him for his untiring and unselfish work.

Mr. Cullin recalls his most embarrassing moment as having occurred about five minutes before he was married. He hadn't asked his bride's father for her hand, and just before the minister arrived to perform the ceremony his prospective father-in-law said to him, "George, you haven't a bit of nerve. Here you are marrying my daughter, and haven't said a word about it."

Mr. Cullin recalls his boyhood as being one of hardships, but filled with boyish pranks. He recalls one occasion when he passed a neighbor's house and noticed two game cocks picking at each other through the fence. He thought it might be fun to put them together, so he lifted one over into the other's pen. Explaining the presence of a dead game chicken might not have been embarrassing, but it was difficult the next day when his "fun" was discovered.

Mr. Cullin recalls that one of the favorite sports in Flatonia among the boys when he was growing up was running the "niggers" out of town on Saturdays with buggy whips and Roman candles. Favorite Sunday afternoon sports were to get up a baseball game, or any kind of contest between the white and black boys, pick an argument and "whip the niggers." It didn't always turn out that way, Mr. Cullin recalls, since sometimes the "niggers" whipped the whites.

He recalls a close call he had when he was a boy when he and a friend were out riding one afternoon on a newly broken pony. They were coming to a railroad crossing when an approaching train blew for the crossing. The pony became frightened and jumped across the track. Mr. Cullin fell off the horse right between the rails in the path of the oncoming train. Fortunately the breath was knocked out of him and he had presence of mind enough to walk off the tracks just as the heavy locomotive, with brakes locked, slid over the spot where he had fallen. "It still scares me to think about it," Mr. Cullin muses as he recalls the incident.

Most of Mr. Cullin's education was gathered by hard knocks, night schools and correspondence courses. He helped his brothers and sisters get their educations in the regular manner, and is proud of their accomplishments.

For a man who has lived in a community for less than four years, George Cullin certainly has amassed an outstanding record of public service. It is one of which the entire community is justly proud, and one that deserves the slogan "More Service in Fewer Years."

Way "Build-up" Helps Will Interest Women

The cause of a woman's periodic suffering from headache, irritability, cramp-like pain, may be functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, a condition that is often helped by CARDUI.

Principal way CARDUI helps is by stimulating appetite and the flow of gastric juices. Thus it may aid digestion; help build up a woman's strength, energy and nerve-force; so increase physical resistance to periodic discomfort.

It also helps reduce periodic distress for many who take it a few days before and during "the time." Your confidence in CARDUI is invited by its 50 years of popularity.
