Calls On Fleet To Head Off Jet Fuel For Reds

WASHINGTON, N. March 12 (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California demanded today that the 7th Fleet act, if necessary, to halt a Finnish tanker carrying jet fuel to Red China, but Sen. George of Georgia disagreed.

George, who is Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that since the United States is not blockading China "I wouldn't think we had any right to stop any ship going into those ports."

He said that if the Chinese Nationalists want to intercept the tanker Aruba, they "wouldn't advise" 7th Fleet action at this time.

The vessel is now plodding through the Indian Ocean with 13,000 tons of jet aircraft fuel from Red Romania. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said the U.S. Navy should stop her if all other means fail.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said the tanker's voyage dramatizes "the failure of our government to do something about this most disgraceful situation" of trade between Western nations and Red China.

McClellan announced he will investigate this trade. He said that in 1954 vessels of this country's allies made more trips to Red China than in any year since 1950, when the Korean War started, and that the trade was still mounting.

McClellan centered his fire on Great Britain rather than Finland, which is not an ally of the United States. He said most trade between Western allies and Red China is in ships which fly the British flag and which "receive protection from the British fleet."

There was no immediate comment from Harold Stassen, foreign operations administrator who has charge of efforts to curb trade with Communist nations. But his aides said their figures indicated that in dollar volume there was a sharp decrease, rather than an increase, in free world trade with China between 1950 and 1954.

Knowland, who frequently has called for sterner measures against Red China than the administration has been willing to take, said: "It would be folly to permit this supply of jet fuel to be delivered to Red China and possibly to be used against us in that part of the world."

Britain Buzzes Over Margaret's Love Dilemma

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—"Little does he know of the problem that confronts me this day," Edward VIII, sweating out his abdication decision, muttered these plaintive words 19 years ago about a smiling servant who had no notion of the King's dilemma. A similar dilemma—the choice between love or duty—appeared to be building up tonight for Princess Margaret as reports persisted of her intention to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Britons buzzed with talk about the rights or wrongs of her purported romance with a divorced commoner of 40.

Few voices were heard disputing her right to marry any man of her choice. But the Church of England could not officially approve her marrying a divorced man whose first wife is still alive. And some devout church folk were qualifying their private approval with such phrases as "a shame she must go against the position of the Church."

Around the firesides and in shopping queues as the discussion grew, some Britons—a minority—those heard, but a vocal minority—were saying that marriage between the princess and Townsend would lower the prestige of the monarchy.

"Two 'wrong' marriages in 20 years—that is a lot," one Englishman commented.

Margaret rested in the seclusion of the royal lodge at Windsor tonight as talk about her and Townsend took on the proportions of a national debate.

Queen Mother Elizabeth was joining her there tonight, after a

Union Leader's Conviction For Lying Is Upheld

EL PASO, March 12 (AP)—Federal Judge R. E. Thomason upheld today the conviction of union leader Clinton Jencks on charges of lying in a non-Communist affidavit and charged turnabout witness Harvey Matusow with criminal contempt of court.

The judge told Matusow: "You deliberately and maliciously and designedly schemed to obstruct justice and caused the filing of an affidavit that obtained this hearing on a motion for a new trial. You attempted to obstruct justice to set aside the conviction of Clinton Jencks to further your own personal ends."

Matusow had been a principal witness in Jencks' trial here in January of 1953.

Jencks was found guilty of lying when he signed an affidavit in 1950 swearing he was not a Communist. He was then president of Local 800 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers at Bayard, N.M.

Matusow in January repudiated his testimony against Jencks and against numerous others accused as Communists.

The judge said Jencks had been "found guilty before a fair and impartial jury."

The judge also barred from his court a top attorney for the Mine-Mill union, Nathan Witt. Witt was called to the stand this morning and declined to answer questions about possible Communist affiliation.

Thomason said, "No lawyer who takes the witness stand and invokes the Fifth Amendment on grounds of self incrimination will be allowed to practice in this court."

Witt is a former member of the National Labor Relations Board and has been associated with the union for years.

Thomason ordered Matusow to appear before him Wednesday for a hearing on the criminal contempt charge. The charge carries a possible five-year term.

All this came after a week-long hearing. Jencks presented an affidavit signed by Matusow in which Matusow said he lied in Jencks' earlier trial.

He requested a new trial on the basis of this affidavit.

U.S. attorneys argued that Matusow swore truthfully in the earlier trial but lied later when the union allegedly agreed to finance Matusow's book, "False Witness."

Jencks' case will still be considered by the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Matusow was not held. He left the courtroom immediately after the ruling to confer with his attorneys on their course in next Wednesday's hearing.

Witt who acted in an advisory capacity for Jencks in his trial and at the hearing just ended, was called to the stand by Judge Thomason himself after the hearing.

Demo Tax Plan Doomed, Claims Sen. Knowland

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) predicted today the Senate will defeat by a margin of several votes next week a Democratic "compromise" plan to cut income taxes.

The Republican leaders said the chamber then would pass an administration-backed bill to continue present corporation and excise taxes, scheduled to drop April 1 under present law.

Knowland said his party members would refuse to compromise with the Democrats who have proposed a 908-million-dollar yearly income tax reduction for lower income families.

"We are going to stand pat on the bill to extend present corporation and excise taxes," Knowland said. "There will be no Republican compromise offered."

The House passed a bill extending these levies for one year beyond April 1 but tacked on to the measure a provision for a $20 income tax cut for each taxpayer and dependent.

When this provision was stripped away in the Senate Finance Committee, Democrats came up with a substitute to give lower income persons a $20 reduction for the taxpayer and $10 for each dependent, except a spouse. They linked to this repeal of certain tax relief the last Congress voted for stockholders and corporations.

Knowland said he believes President Eisenhower would veto a bill containing these provisions, although he said there had been no word from the White House to this effect since the "compromise" was worked out.

Attorney Says Giles Meant No Reflection

The San Antonio News said Saturday it would stand behind a story by News reporter Howard Hunt that former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles said "there will be plenty" to say about Gov. Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd in Giles' trial on a bribery indictment.

Clint Small Sr., Giles' attorney, said in a statement at Austin Giles had no occasion to "reflect upon or embarrass Gov. Shivers or any other friend" when he made bond in San Antonio Thursday.

The statement said the quotes from Giles' appearance in San Antonio as carried in the News were correct. "However," the statement said, "based on these quotations we have no defense for their headlines."

The Houston Post quoted Giles as denying he made the statement. Small said his statement would be amplified and that Giles would have nothing to say about the matter.

The San Antonio News said it was "glad to note that Giles' attorney admits that our quotes are correct" and said "that seems to close the matter as far as we are concerned."

Small asserted in the statement that the "incident in San Antonio was carefully staged to embarrass and humiliate Mr. Giles."

Giles was fingerprinted and photographed at the county jail in San Antonio Thursday and posted $50,000 bond on the indictment that charged he took a $30,000 bribe. It alleged the bribe was to see that the state purchased 652 acres of Bexar County land for resale under the veterans land program.

Managing Editor Charles Kilpatrick of the San Antonio News said as they walked along. He said it was made in the presence of several newspaper reporters and radio and TV newsmen.

"It was in answer to a question by Hunt. I don't know whether all reporters present heard it, but Hunt did and so did others," Shivers and Shepperd each had "no comment" on the statement attributed to Giles Thursday.

Shivers wrote legislative probers Friday that he wanted an end to "veiled threats, rumors and insinuations" in connection with the land program. He said he would be glad to appear before any investigating committee if "anyone feels that by so doing I could be helpful."

The statement released by Small said: "Several of you gentlemen of the press have earnestly requested me to assist you in clearing up the reported errors in the stories carried by several newspapers with reference to what was said by Bascom Giles at the time he made bond in San Antonio last Thursday. I was not present on this occasion and cannot give you first hand information, but I am advised that a tape recording was made by a person who stood next to Mr. Giles during the entire proceeding. Certainly this recording which is available will furnish the best evidence as to what was said. Also Asst. Dist. Atty. Price Rogers, who is entirely trustworthy and free from prejudice, was near Mr. Giles at all times. We think you are fully justified in taking his word on this matter. In addition to the above, my investigation shows that the quotes from Mr. Giles appearing in the San Antonio Light, final edition, Thursday, are correct. The same can be said of the quotes found in the final edition of the

Witness-Tampering Efforts Reported In Land Probes

BROWNWOOD, Tex., March 12 (AP)—Bill Allcorn, special assistant attorney general, said tonight he has been told of efforts to "tamper with witnesses" in veterans land fraud cases in several counties.

The former district attorney, named by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd to handle prosecution of criminal cases in the GI farm investigation, said some witnesses had been subjected to "high pressure."

Allcorn's statement followed an announcement by Shepperd earlier today that grand juries in DeWitt, Dimmit, McCulloch and Zavala counties have been asked to investigate reports of efforts to unduly influence witnesses.

Those are the four counties in which grand juries already have been making major investigations of alleged land deals.

It was reported that in one case veterans were called together and told their equity in the land would be bought back for sums ranging from $200 to $1,200. The veterans, in this case, also received an offer to provide them with a lawyer.

Allcorn said the grand juries will be asked to determine whether witnesses—presumably the veterans—had been "improperly approached." The special assistant attorney general said a number of men from the attorney general's office will look into the "tampering" reports.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

If you're looking for good news, how about that $198,000 lift the schools received from the federal government last week? Four years ago the schools asked for help on buildings used in part to house youngsters whose parents were in civilian and military employment of Uncle Sam. Last week the check came, and now 18 to 24 classrooms will be added to the strength of it.

The 18th annual 4-H and FFA livestock and capon show comes up Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Everyone ought to visit the Howard County Fair Buildings, particularly Wednesday, to see some of the best cattle, sheep and capons in the nation—and if you don't believe that, consult the record.

More than a decade ago a popular event was the dinners which brought rural and urban men together at various rural schools. The neighborhood visits were resumed last week at Gay Hill and proved quite as popular as ever.

If you're planning a trip to Lake J. B. Thomas today or in the future, you can now take the "short cut." Turn north off the Snyder highway at the Mitchell County line, about 3 1/2 miles northeast of Vincent, go through a pasture road and then turn north on the re-opened short cut. There likely will be signs to help at turns.

Trustees of Howard County Junior College may pass on plans for proposed enlargement of the school at their next meeting. With present space about filled and larger grad-

Uncle Sam Calls On Parr For Over A Half-Million

SAN ANTONIO, March 12 (AP)—Records at the U.S. Tax Court in Washington show George B. Parr, South Texas political boss, has been billed for more than a half million dollars by the Internal Revenue Service.

This was reported today by the Washington Bureau of the San Antonio Express.

Parr already faces two federal accusations involving his income. The paper said court records showed the service sent Parr a bill Dec. 30 for $585,604.70 for income tax, penalties and interest which the government says he owes for 1945 and 1947.

The other counts charge Parr, political leader of Duval County, with income tax evasion involving more than $85,000 for 1949, 1950 and 1952.

Parr and his former wife, Mrs. Thelma Parr, Corpus Christi, also

Mother Hatch Dies; Was Devoted Baptist

Mrs. R. C. Hatch, for 30 years a resident of Big Spring and a tower of strength in the First Baptist Church, died suddenly in a hospital here Friday evening.

Services have been set for 2 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church, with her pastor, Dr. F. D. O'Brien, officiating, assisted by Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist minister. Immediately afterwards, the remains will be taken to the Wilkerson-Hatch Funeral Home in Waco.

The remains will lie in state at Nalley Funeral Home until 1 p.m. today when they will be taken to the church to lie in state until time for the service. The casket will be closed then and will not be reopened.

Graveside rites will be conducted at 4 p.m. Monday at Lorena, where her body of her husband, who died Feb. 17, 1923, is buried. Dr. Harold E. Lindsey and Dr. W. W. Melton, both Waco ministers, will officiate.

To a host of friends she was known simply as Mother Hatch. Her pastor said simply: "We will never see her like again." Her smile and good humor had helped the congregation over many rough spots; her burning missionary spirit had inspired greater support to the cause; her fidelity had been one of the most potent testimonies in her church.

Mrs. Hatch was 88 years of age at the time of her death. Two days previously she had entered the hospital following a light heart attack. She was doing so well that she had sat in a chair and was in the best of spirits. Suddenly, at 8:30 she asked to be placed back on her bed, complaining that she did not feel well. She smiled and was gone.

For many years now Mother Hatch had made her home with a daughter, Mrs. R. T. Piner, 600 Matthews.

State Cases On Week's Docket

Four criminal cases will be called for trial in 118th District Court Monday.

A 60-member jury panel including five women, has been ordered to report to the 118th District courtroom at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Strother is charged with second offense driving while intoxicated. Dec. 26 and she was indicted in January.

Stringer is charged with burglary of the Howard Newton residence on May 27, 1954.

Lopez and Garcia both are charged with assault with intent to murder. Lopez was charged with assaulting Luis De Los Santos on Dec. 24, 1954, and Garcia was charged with assaulting Francisco Flores on Nov. 6, 1954.

City Gets Top Rank For Traffic Safety

Big Spring has ranked first among all Texas cities in its population bracket in its traffic safety program for 1954.

News of the honor came Saturday, in a letter to Mayor G. W. Dabney from J. O. Musick, Austin, general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

Big Spring, said Musick, is first place winner in the TSA's contest for Group II, embracing cities in the population category of 10,000 to 24,990.

A special award to the city will be presented at the banquet of the 16th annual Texas Safety Conference, in Houston on March 21. It had not been determined Saturday who will represent Big Spring in Houston to receive the coveted award, but it is likely that either Police Chief E. W. York, or George Oldham, Jr., executive secretary of the Citizens Traffic Commission, will attend.

The award was based on the following factors: (1) traffic death record; (2) enforcement; (3) traffic safety education; (4) traffic engineering; (5) traffic court system; (6) local public support and public information program.

"The award was made after a complete report," said Musick, "and we extend to your city congratulations and commendations for a job well done."

The TSA award climaxes about two years of special activity here on the part of the Citizens Traffic Commission, in cooperation with the city administration and other

$16,000 Pay Hikes In The City Budget

Additional employes and salary raises will cost the City of Big Spring approximately $16,000 during the 1955-56 fiscal year, according to the proposed budget.

The budget, which was tentatively approved by the city commission last Tuesday night, calls for total expenditures of $1,530,957.

This figure is subject to change, as a public hearing and additional reviews will be made Tuesday March 22, at 5:15 p.m.

There has been talk of additional pay raises provided a way can be found for more income. Revenues are now pegged at $1,523,352, but some commissioners have discussed the possibility of increasing charges in garbage collection and water costs.

As it stands now, the budget calls for longevity pay raises for hourly employes and hikes in the salaries of 10 others. Pay for a new patrolman and two police women also raise the budget ante.

The hourly paid employes, of which there are about 80, will receive a $1 salary raise each for every year of service up to 25 years. This same raise was given to monthly paid employes last year.

City Manager H. W. Whitney pointed out that the longevity pay raise calls for an outlay during the year of approximately $4,000, as some of the hourly employes have worked a good many years.

The new patrolman will receive $3,672 during the fiscal year, and the two women—who will check parking meters—will draw $3,580. The women will be paid $225 each for the first six months and $240 for the last six months.

The pay raises for the 10 others will amount to $1,520 per year. Raises in the base pay of the 10 were asked by city commissioners to equalize the amount offered to individuals in the same job categories, Manager Whitney said. The raises do not include longevity payments.

The fire chief and the police chief will both be raised to base pay rate of $400, while the fire chief was receiving $389 and the police chief $352.

The water production superintendent, the water distribution engineer, and the street department supervisor each will be given $375 during the coming period. Their salaries are now $354.50, $368, and $354, respectively.

The park superintendent, purchasing agent, and warehouse supervisor have salaries pegged at $350 per month, the raises being from $347, $342 and $347, respectively. The sewage plant operations salary goes up from $298 to $305, and the parking meter operator salary is raised from $315 to $325.

The entire salary outlay for the city during the coming period will be more than $600,000.

Pope Receives Big Ovation

VATICAN CITY, March 12 (UP)—Pope Pius XII received an ovation today—the 16th anniversary of his coronation.

It was the first time in three years that the head of the Roman Catholic Church, now 79, had been well enough to participate in a commemorative ceremony. In March 1954 and again in 1953, he was ill and celebrations were canceled.

Today, three months after the pontiff suffered his gravest illness, more than 5,000 pilgrims, Romans and others, packed in two antechambers of the Sistine Chapel, hailed him with cheers of "Long live the Pope." From his portable throne, the Pope raised his hand repeatedly in blessing.

Congratulatory messages came from many parts of the globe. The Vatican Press office said Roman Catholic churches throughout the world would celebrate the anniversary of the "Feast of the Pope" with ceremonies and special prayers.

TAX PAYMENTS UP HCJC Revenues Exceed Estimate

Howard County Junior College revenues already are running ahead of budget estimates for the fiscal period which started last Sept. 1.

With six months of the fiscal year remaining, expenditures are well within the budget. With $207,679 in disbursements planned, the expenditures thus far have hit $134,444.35. That leaves $73,234.65 for the remainder of the year if the college operation matches the anticipated expenses.

Financial statement released during the past week for the month of February and the year to date shows receipts have totaled $216,048.14 for the year. That's $8,369.14 ahead of the budget estimate of $207,679 for the entire year.

However, the majority of anticipated revenues are in. These include most of the local tax collections and tuition payments.

Local tax payments account for the big gain in revenues over what was projected in the budget.

Tax collections for the year thus far total $156,653.14 — some $19,450 more than was expected for the entire period.

Half of the state subsidy, or $17,500 already has been received, leaving that amount due before next Sept. 1.

Tuition has amounted to $15,196.81 — about $600 less than was anticipated.

Other revenues to date include $3,241.15 from athletics and student activities, $9,228.26 from bookstore and similar services, $5,336 from fees, $7,867.78 miscellaneous, and $25 from land rental.

Disbursements have included $1,691.42 for library, $5,837.97 for athletics, $4,821.78 for bookstore, $2,118.78 for cafeteria, $13,739.88 for administrative salaries, $5,862.03 for clerical help, $38,337.13 for teacher salaries, $15,312.24 for plant operation, $20,168 for equipment, $3,072 for streets and gutters, and $2,007 for buildings.

Half Of Residents File Tax Returns

The Internal Revenue Service has refunded over $10 million to approximately 130,000 North Texans, according to Ben Hawkins, senior agent in charge of the local IRS office.

Hawkins said the office is mailing an average of 10,000 refunds per day. Already, 129,962 checks have been mailed, he said, and they totaled $10,044,311.45.

The IRS has about 300,000 refunds which are being processed at the present time, Hawkins explained. In spite of the large number that has been processed, there is about 300,000 North Texans who haven't filed their return yet and are due a refund.

It requires about six weeks to process a return, he said, and persons should file their return as soon as possible to get their refund early.

Gambling 'Layout' Seized By Sheriff

A dice-shooting "layout" was confiscated from the back room of a northwest Big Spring cafe Saturday morning by Sheriff Jess Slaughter.

The sheriff said charges of operating a gambling layout will be filed against at least two persons. Both, Negro men, were in custody Saturday afternoon.

The equipment seized included a dice table, dice, cards and a quantity of pennies, Slaughter said.

Polio Vaccination Plans Discussed

Plans for a possible polio vaccination program were discussed Friday night at a meeting of the Howard-Glasscock Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Some 1,768 boys and girls in Howard County will be inoculated with Salik's polio vaccine if it is proven that the vaccine works, those present were told.

Results of a vaccine test last year are now being studied, and a report will be issued April 1. If the report shows that Salik's vaccination prevents paralytic polio, then the vaccine will be administered to local children.

Only those children in the first and second grades will receive the vaccinations, it was disclosed in the meeting. Reason is that these children are in the group more likely to be stricken by infantile paralysis.

"If Salik's vaccine proves successful, the vaccination program here will not be another test but the first use of a new preventive measure," said Dr. Robert Hale, director of the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit.

Each child whose parents request vaccine inoculation will receive three spaced-out shots over a period of five weeks. Dr. Hale said. The shots should be administered before the school term ends and before the polio season begins.

Reason for the planning sessions even before it is known whether or not the Salik vaccine works is that the time element calls for early organization.

A number of volunteer workers will be needed for the program, members of the polio chapter were told, and they will be headed up by Mrs. Nell Norred, Health Nurse Jewel Barton and Nurse Bessie Love will direct the inoculations, which will be administered by registered nurses of the city under doctors' direction.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. reported that better than $11,000 was collected here on the recent March of Dimes drive and that 50 per cent was kept in the local fund. Those present at the Friday night session included Red Ware, Dr. Arch Carson, Mrs. Norred, Miss Barton, Mary Cantrell, Mrs. Moore Sawtelle, Miss Love, George Zachariah, Lige Fox and Edith Gay.

Names to be included on the ballot are G. W. Dabney, Willard Sullivan, and Ward Hall. They were the only three to file as candidates before the deadline, said McClenny.

Dabney and Sullivan are now on the commission, and this is Hall's first announcement for any election.

Ballots will be cast in the fire station at City Hall on April 5, and election judges will be Lawrence Robinson and W. R. Yates. Two commissioners will be elected for the coming term.

Labor Feuds Continuing

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Hard feelings run deep among some top union leaders despite the aura of harmony growing out of the agreement of the AFL and CIO to merge.

There are enough smouldering feuds and rivalries, some old and some new, to indicate that when the merger comes about next fall, as is now expected, a good deal of conflict will continue within organized labor.

An explosion, for example, could develop soon, even before the merger is consummated, between AFL president George Meany and Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters Union.

Beck's union has 1,300,000 members and is the largest in the AFL. He is going ahead with plans to absorb the 60,000-member International Longshoremen's Assn., the waterfront outfit ousted by the AFL nearly two years ago on charges it was dominated by racketeers.

The AFL, led by Meany, invested a lot of time and money in a do-or-die fight to kick the I.L.A. off the waterfront and reorganize its workers into a new hoodlum-free longshoremen's union. The drive failed, but Meany has not yet given up.

The AFL chief, due to head the combined AFL-CIO organization, is not likely to accept without a scrap Beck's plan of returning the I.L.A. to the AFL by the back door by making it part of the teamsters.

There is speculation that Meany may counter with a move to throw Beck's teamsters out of the AFL. Such a step would split the close-knit AFL hierarchy wide apart and thereby even endanger the AFL-CIO merger.

While this is the most talked-about controversy developing in the union field at the moment, there are plenty of others. They involve leaders of rival unions, and even rival leaders within the same union. They include such figures as John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers and Walter Reuther of the CIO and Auto Workers.

Lewis, now 75 and seldom heard from these days although still active, has been nursing for years an open grudge against both AFL president Meany and CIO president Reuther. Lewis has kept mum on the AFL-CIO merger plan. He is not involved directly because the UMW is affiliated with neither.

Reuther has a continuing problem in his own Auto Workers Union. This is posed by the big Detroit Local No. 600 whose leader, Carl Stallato, was once thrown out of office by Reuther only to be re-elected handsily.

Beck has an even larger leadership threat in the Teamsters Union from James R. Hoffa, the union's brash, young central states chief. His influence within the teamsters has been spreading toward both coasts.

Another ripening controversy is among the operating railroad unions, none affiliated with the AFL or CIO. Guy Brown, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers who frequently supports Eisenhower administration policies, often finds himself at odds with other rail unions.

Defends State Financing For Hotels At Parks

AUSTIN, March 12 (AP)—Chairman Frank Quinn of the State Parks Board said today the board is not invading private enterprise in its plan for resort development in state parks.

Quinn said the housing contemplated is "not by any means the plush hotel type", but is comfortable "lodge type" quarters. On the free enterprise question, he told a reporter:

"1. It is private capital which will buy the bonds for the development.

"2. It is private contractors who will build the lodges.

"3. The lodges will be leased to private operators who will furnish them and operate them."

Quinn said the parks board proposes to back the spending of only 3 to 5 million dollars now to see how its plan to make the parks a better drawing card for vacationers works. It contemplates development at Atlanta State Park on Texas, Arkansas Lake, Eisenhower State Park on Lake Texoma, and Inks Lake State Park near Burnet.

Pending before the Legislature are two bills. One would limit state financing to not more than 12 lodges accommodating four adults each. The other would validate bonds issued by the board for improvements.

Atwell at a hearing last week said that the board plan represented the "creeping socialism" theory of government.

Nehru Threatened With Knife, Rickshaw Boy Quickly Nabbed

NAGPUR, India, March 12 (AP)—A rickshaw boy wielding a six-inch clasp knife leaped on the running board of Prime Minister Nehru's open automobile here today but struck no blows.

Nehru, physically fit at 65, pushed him away and police, fearful of an assassination attempt, grabbed him.

The rickshaw puller was identified as Basu Rao, 32, from the Maharashtra region of western India. A Maharashtra man was hanged for the 1948 assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi. Another man not immediately identified was arrested with Rao.

Unhurt and unruffled by the incident, Nehru described the weapon as a "very small knife and not at all dangerous." He dismissed the episode as "no significance" and pictured the rickshaw boy as "a cranky person."

There was no official indication of a motive. Nehru himself said he thought at first the man was trying to present a petition.

In New Delhi, government officials declared the incident could not be called an attempt on Nehru's life. They insisted the rickshaw boy might have been aiming at some one else in Nehru's car. They suggested Pandit R. S. Shukla, chief minister of Madhya Pradesh State, whose government controls rickshaws through a licensing system, could have been a target.

The prime minister, who has faced many dangers since he first took up the cause of Indian independence, said he would have taken the knife away from Rao himself "but in the meantime police attacked him and removed the man from the spot."

Nehru was driving from Sonegan Airport to Shukla's residence when the attack occurred. He had arrived in Nagpur, 420 miles north-east of Bombay, shortly before on a flight from New Delhi.

Police said Nehru, standing in the open car with Shukla and the governor of Madhya Pradesh State, pushed Rao as he leaped on the vehicle's running board. A security guard seized Rao as he fell. He was taken to a hospital after being questioned by police.

Rodeo Cowboys Included In The Hall Of Fame

KANSAS CITY, March 12 (AP)—Trustees of the Cowboy Hall of Fame said today the hall will honor rodeo as well as other cowboys.

A statement from C. A. Reynolds, chairman, said:

The Hall "will honor both the brave men who through their hardy skills tamed a vast wilderness to fill it with the cattle that feed the world and the rodeo cowboys who keep alive these skills, improving them through competition in the best American tradition."

"The Hall of Fame would be an empty memorial without either of these elements."

Reynolds said the statement had been approved by the Hall's executive committee and is being sent to all cities being considered as a site for the hall and to Bill Linderman, president of the Rodeo Cowboys Assn.

A committee of five trustees is studying 19 cities to select one as the site. These are Canyon, Cheyenne, Colorado Springs, Dodge City, Kan., Las Vegas, N.M., Miles City, Mont., North Platte, Neb., Oklahoma City, Prescott, Ariz., and Rapid City, S.D.

DO IT YOURSELF Fireside Bench Adds That 'Special Touch'

You'll enjoy having a fireside bench in your home. It is a versatile item of furniture and it adds a note of warmth to a room that few other pieces can add.

You'll be building your own fireside bench in your workshop with the help of my new pattern number 142. And you'll only spend a few cents for material and a few hours of effort.

Simple lines are featured in the bench, yet they are bold enough to give real character and a feeling of strength to the finished piece. The smoothly flowing lines help to make it easy to build.

In the pattern package you'll find exact-size pieces made of heavy-duty paper. These you'll tack to the wood and trace. Cutting and assembling is made easy with this method, and there is no chance for error.

Also in the pattern package you'll find...

Here's how you can order your Fireside Bench pattern: send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check cash or money order. Mail your order to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Be sure to ask for pattern number 142.

Easy-To-Make Bench

Your fireside bench will add beauty to your home. And the easy-to-make item is also very useful. That's Hollywood actress Virginia Lee with Bill Baker's newest do-it-yourself design.

find a full material list and easy-to-read instructions. Again, this makes for smooth sailing when you step into your shop.

Your finished fireside bench will find many uses in your home. As a decorative item alone it rates an important place in any room. The warmth of natural wood is an excellent accent note.

But the bench is also useful. More than three feet long and more than a foot wide, its size makes it ideal as either extra seating space or table space. It makes a fine lounging spot and also an excellent table. A foot and a half tall, it is the right height for informal dining, too.

Actually, the fireside bench doesn't have to be confined to the fireside. It will be useful and decorative in any and every room in your home.

In your bedroom it can hold magazines or art objects. Or you can use it as a chair. In your hall it can break an uninteresting wall, and it can also be handy for use when you want to reach a high shelf in your closet.

Perhaps you'll want to build several for yard. Here you might choose to make them of redwood. They make ideal seats. And the bench can also be used as a garden coffee table.

Remember, the fireside bench is easy to build. And it's useful and beautiful, too.

Medical Lecture Set For Mar. 24

Dr. Maurice M. Scurry will deliver a lecture at the Veterans Administration Hospital here on March 24. Dr. Scurry is connected with the Southwestern Medical School.

Subject for the lecture will be "cardiac arrhythmias and electrocardiographic aspects."

Dr. J. H. Friedlander of the VA Hospital said all interested doctors in the area are invited to attend the lecture. General practitioners and interns should find the lecture especially interesting, he added. The discussion will be held in the VA Hospital Recreation Hall at 1 p.m., Friedlander said.

Last Three Major Jobs Of CRMWD Move Rapidly

Rapid progress is being made on the last three major contracts of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

E. V. Spence, general manager, estimated Saturday that the pair of 15-million gallon reservoirs from Snyder and Big Spring are at least 25 per cent along. Meanwhile, United Concrete Pipe Company has produced all of the 18,000 feet of 18-inch supply line which will carry water from Lake J. B. Thomas to the Sharon Ridge repressuring project.

The earthen reservoir just north of Big Spring has about 10 feet of the embankment raised and as the width of the embankment narrows, the work will go faster. The embankment on the other reservoir, to be erected about four miles southwest of Snyder and to serve SACROC and Snyder, has reached about eight feet.

W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, who teamed with Andy Fruit on the bid, has most of the plastic membrane lining material on the grounds so that when dirt work is completed this water-proofing phase can begin. City of Big Spring officials are anxious to have the reservoir completed because it will provide a cushion against possible disruption of supply from the lake even for a short space of time. It also would help take up the slack in sudden surges of consumption in Big Spring.

Only one easement remains to be had from the lake to the Sharon Ridge water plant site south of Knappe. Spence said he hoped this could be secured this week, in which event United Pipe Company would begin delivery of pipe at once. Clyde Yarbrough, Odessa, has the contract for installing the line. Service to the plant is scheduled for May 1.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Librarian Favors Putting Two Libraries Together

(Letters to the Editor must be signed by the writer and with his or her street or mailing address. This is necessary for verification. Attempts have been made to use fictitious names.)

To The Editor:

Mr. Lawhorne's suggestion for combining two of Big Spring's libraries (HCJC and the Howard County Free Library) in the March 4th "Around the Rim" was of great interest to me. A superior quality of library service will be furnished to local citizens only when enough of us become aware of its absence to create a real demand for it. The newspaper support exemplified by Mr. Lawhorne's editorial in the first necessary step toward securing such service—a cultural advantage which our community deserves. Combining the two libraries could well bring a high quality library service to all of Howard County or, in Mr. Lawhorne's words, "make one of the best small libraries in the country."

One point not made by Mr. Lawhorne is this: the present differences between the two libraries are the result of design rather than chance. He says "the two libraries are as different as daylight and dark" but does not add that this is because they each serve a different public. The public library must attempt to be "all things to all people" while the college library serves a relatively homogeneous group and must specialize in the needs of that group. HCJC's library has few peers among junior college libraries (which is the only fair way to judge it) and so cannot be justly called "mediocre" (which Mr. Lawhorne termed it) except from the view-point of a public it is not designed to serve.

All this does not change Mr. Lawhorne's argument for combining the libraries (an argument which I heartily support) but it does explain why an harassed citizen of Howard County must often travel from Courthouse to College in search of the information or book he may need. Combining the libraries would eliminate not only this extra travel but also the term "mediocre" as descriptive of Howard County's library service from the standpoint of all segments of the effected.

Sincerely,
 J. P. Vagt
 HCJC Librarian

Takes Issue With Another Writer

To The Editor:

In regards to the letter of one J. Dyer on March 7 calling for an "open town" and bemoaning the lack of native brains hereabouts, I would note that no one forced Master Dyer to bring his talents here or is deterring his departure. As one of the many outsiders who came here because he likes the place, please permit me to advise the gentleman that the fathers, brothers and husbands here have no intention of turning things wide open. If the future of America ever has to depend on such ilk, God save the day. I wonder if the brother has to blush as he backs up to get a pay check which comes out of tax-payers' money. Can it be that the recently found feel of money has unbalanced his metabolism and his ego? Evidently he has not outgrown the need for a trip to the woodshed.

Signed: Pete Piper

(There were other letters on this subject which were unsigned and therefore not reproduced. One concurred but all others disagreed. Typical was one from the wife of a former serviceman who said "we have found nice people and churches everywhere but never were we accorded the reception the airmen in Big Spring are . . . We think the people are wonderful and not a bunch of 'deadheads.' I will admit we don't have any burlesque shows here and there is not a bar through every other door, but if that is being 'dead,' we like it that way. I am sorry Mr. Dyer doesn't.")

Would Censure Bullfighting

To The Editor:

It seems to me that instead of so much favorable publicity being given Pat McCormick that she should receive censure from the public. Bullfighting has long been outlawed in Texas as well as elsewhere in the United States and should be in Mexico.

I think the people of Texas should protest continuously to the government of Mexico against this cruel treatment of animals. Everyone should . . . should do all with his power to alleviate suffering, whether among animals or human beings. To a person who loves animals it is such a grief to know they are allowed to be killed in this manner.

There seems to be a great need for more missionaries in Mexico. I do hope and pray that the outcome of Miss McCormick's getting hurt would be that she would change her way of thinking. God was good to spare her life but how sad it is to see that she is choosing to return to (bullfighting).

Life is short. I think a good way to plan our lives is to think of the end of them . . . to look back on the things we wish were changed. If we think of this seriously I believe we would try to make our lives count for something helpful to the world.

C-City To Get Dial Telephone Building Soon

COLORADO CITY—The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported Friday that plans were complete for the building of its new dial telephone building in Colorado City.

Contract for construction was awarded to the Suggs Construction Company of Big Spring. The proposal of the construction company was for $54,382.

The building will be one story brick, with a cable vault in the basement.

Telephone company officials said that Colorado City operators place 487 long distance calls per day and 9,473 local calls each day.

Colorado City's first telephone exchange was built in 1882, by B. F. Mills and offices for several years were in the southwest second floor room in the Simpson building at the corner of Oak and Second streets.

Later, the telephone system was owned by the Texas and Pacific Telephone Company, a Colorado City concern managed by R. M. Webb. In 1910, shortly before the exchange was acquired by Southwestern Bell, the T&P Telephone Company had 500 subscribers in Colorado City and long distance service extended from Big Spring to Abilene, Snyder to San Angelo.

Smoke Screen Tested During Little A-Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 12 (AP)—A junior size atomic explosion was used today to determine whether a smoke screen can substantially reduce nuclear heat radiation.

The fifth detonation in the 1955 series flashed at the desert test site 75 miles from here at 5:20 a.m. It was brilliantly white, as seen here, and it appeared like a flash of lightning at such places as Los Angeles, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Phoenix, Ariz., and Klamath Falls, Ore. It was heard in Bishop, Calif., 135 miles west, and rumbled in Inyokern, Calif.

But it was nothing like the whopper which illumined the sky like a sudden sunrise in 11 Western states last Monday morning.

The Atomic Energy Commission, Department of Defense and weather experts planned an evaluation conference for tomorrow morning to decide whether the next test will be ready for firing Monday. There was no indication of the size or type for No. 6.

Today was a smoke pot operation for the Army Chemical Corps, although the AEC said there actually were 35 tests of developmental weapons and civil effects.

Forty smoke generators, remotely controlled, threw out a smoke screen about 50 feet off the ground over part of the test site near the 300-foot detonation tower on Yucca Flat. The smoke consisted of vaporized oil — an oily fog with droplets 30 millionths of an inch in diameter.

Past theoretical studies and laboratory work had shown that thermal (heat) radiation from an atomic blast could be reduced by a large percentage because the smoke would absorb, then scatter, direct radiation. Objects, or humans, beneath the screen would thus be greatly protected.

Sabre Knights Perform in Speedy Jets Monday

Four jet interceptors will criss-cross at a closure speed exceeding 1,000 miles an hour here Monday. This will be part of the precision flying demonstration by the Sabre Knights, four pilots who do most of this spectacular flying on their own time.

The exhibition of mechanical and human performance in hurling four aluminum chutes at speeds well in excess of 500 miles per hour, with scarcely breathing space between them, will be a high point of wing review set for 2 p.m. at Webb AFB.

Col. Charles Young, wing commander, has invited the public to witness the review, in honor of graduating class 55-J, and to see the Sabre Knights in action. At 3:15 p.m. graduation exercises will be held in the academic auditorium and Douglas Kaker, Erie, Pa., will be honored as the outstanding graduate of the entire Flying Training Command.

Thirty-seven other Americans and seven Turks will receive their wings. The Sabre Knights will arrive here late this afternoon in their F-86D jet interceptors. These planes, designed as separate operations, has invited the public to witness the review, in honor of graduating class 55-J, and to see the Sabre Knights in action.

Major Vincent P. Gordon heads up the quartet who prove that American pilots can do anything—including gluing four Sabrejets together for intricate maneuvers. Others, who, like him, hold down regular assignments at Hamilton AFB, Calif. in defense of the West Coast, are 1st Lt. James F. Low, the only second lieutenant jet ace in the Korean campaign; Capt. Richard L. Hellwege, veteran of more than 2,000 hours in almost every jet the Air Force possesses; and Capt. Bruce D. Jones, who battled MIGs over the Yalu River and also has more than 2,000 hours jet experience to his credit.

Maj. Gordon is commander of the 325th fighter-interceptor squadron at Hamilton Field. Others on the team also have regular assignments, and all practice is done on their own time, as is most of the time actually spent in putting on the demonstration.

At Hamilton they stand alert to get the F-86Ds airborne in a matter of minutes when ordered. Their exhibition is not a stunt. Although it includes some breathtaking episodes such as the "bomb burst" and "orange blossom" criss-cross, it is based on fundamental maneuvers which every pilot must master. By disproving the experts with their steadiness, they hope to instill confidence into every young pilot, to salute the Air Force personnel who never fly but give pilots their chance, and to dramatize for the American public the capabilities of Air Force pilots and planes.

Wichita Falls, March 12 (AP)—J. S. Bridwell, oil man and rancher, is willing to spend $8,750 to get his employees to quit smoking. He offered each employee of his oil company and ranch $50 to give up smoking.

Bridwell said he would take the word of the employe that there was no more smoking. Each gets the $50 if he doesn't smoke between March 25 and Dec. 15.

"This is not a request," Bridwell wrote his 250 employes. "If you feel that smoking does not hurt you and that it is not a hazard to your health and the length of your days ahead, I will think just as much of you if you don't accept my proposition."

Bridwell said he made the offer after reading statements about smoking in relations to health.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Both Cosden Planes Make Flights During Past Week

The Cosden Petroleum Corp. planes made a trip each during the week. The Dove flew to the Dallas-Ft. Worth area Tuesday. Passengers were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thompson, J. R. Alexander, R. L. Tollett, and Sam Hefner. All except the Thompsons made the return trip.

The Bonanza flew to Dallas Thursday for its 100-hour inspection. Friday it went from Dallas to Austin and picked up Dan Krausse, bringing him back to Big Spring. Bill Edwards and Jack Gulley were pilots on the Dove and J. T. Wilkinson piloted the Bonanza.

There were numerous re-fueling stops made at Hamilton Field during the week. A Cessna 140 landed Monday for fuel. The aircraft belonged to Aviation Inc. and flew from Tulsa, Okla. John Edwards, from Excelsior, Minnesota, stopped here in his Piper Pacer.

R. D. Hughes of Dallas landed his Navion at the field. Another Navion belonging to the An-Son Petroleum Corp. in Oklahoma City also landed here.

R. H. Butcher of Ft. Worth refueled his Piper Tri-Pacer at the field Friday.

A joint meeting of Big Spring service clubs will be held Wednesday at noon in the Settles Hotel ballroom in observance of Brotherhood Week.

Speakers for the occasion will be the Rev. W. J. McCoy of the Catholic Church, Hyman Kanter of the Jewish faith, and the Rev. Jordan Grooms, Protestant minister.

The week is sponsored nationally by the National Conference of Christians and Jews with the idea of promoting understanding and cooperation between the various groups.

Club members who will gather at the Settles include those from the Jews, Kiwanis, American Business Club, and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The three speakers will also speak at the senior and junior high schools and at the junior college. Rev. McCoy is associated with the Sacred Heart Cathedral in Dallas. Rev. Grooms is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Big Spring, and Mr. Kanter is executive director of Temple Emanuel of Dallas.

Ranch Established By Englishmen Sold

SAN ANGELO, March 12 (AP)—About 10 sections of a Tom Green-Comcho County ranch that was established by two Englishmen many years ago have been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Upton for $228,000.

The sellers were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson, also of San Angelo.

The ranch was established by the late Claud Anson and the late Lord Vernon, two early day sportsmen. The ranch, of around 25,000 acres, later known as the Campbell Ranch, was purchased from Anson and Vernon by A. C. Campbell. Henderson has operated the ranch since 1916 and bought the acreage in 1948. The Hendersons retained around 19,000 acres and their ultra modern ranch home.

Mystery Calls Preceded Death Of Cab Driver

FORT WORTH, March 12 (AP)—A cab driver was slashed to death about dawn today and his wife told of a mysterious visit by a Negro and a white man, a cryptic telephone statement and colic dog who awoke her to lead her to her husband's body.

Slain, his throat cut, was William A.D. Koch, 55.

Here is the story as told by Mrs. Koch and others.

Koch, scheduled to go off duty at 6 a.m., checked out at 2 a.m. He came home in a rival cab company's vehicle because his automobile had been stolen from a downtown street, he said.

The telephone rang about 4:30 a.m. and Koch talked for a while, then said: "You can take the job and you know what you can do with it."

Fifteen minutes later, Mrs. Koch related, the two men came to the front door. She said they came in a taxi.

She said she heard her husband say: "This is the end—they've come after me!"

Mrs. Koch said she went to the door, then went to bed as Koch and the two men started through a kitchen door into the garage.

She said she went to sleep. Later, she said, the family colic jumped on her bed, waked her, and led her to Koch's body back of the garage.

A nine-inch butcher knife lay near the body.

Deputy sheriff Ed Max said the FBI and federal district attorney's office had been called into the case.

Improvements to the North Side park have been promised by City Commissioners. A delegation appeared before the municipal fathers last week urging basic construction—of a nature vandals could not easily destroy. Target date for completion is June 19 when the traditional celebration for that sector is scheduled.

Elbow School is to have a new gymnasium auditorium. Voters last week approved a $100,000 bond issue which will provide 9,000 square feet of space for a gym, stage, cafeteria, kitchen, equipment.

The City of Big Spring announced a budget of $1 1/2 million for the next fiscal year beginning April 1. There are no drastic increases—couldn't be with municipal revenues hemmed in as they are. Public hearing is March 22 at 5:15 p.m.

Kiwanians were busy little bees Friday evening working for the kiddies. That was the case because proceeds from their pancake supper went to the boys and girls work. This Is Drought Insurance

Howard Newton, who farms eight miles northwest of Big Spring, may have hit a little drought insurance in a well which seems capable of irrigation use. Newton, right, is shown here with Joe Hotland of Stanton Implement, who was testing the well. It had gone at the rate of 165 gallons per minute Thursday without lowering the water table. On that basis this would be enough to do some sprinkler irrigation. The well, thought to be the largest in that area, was bottomed at 71 feet on top of the redbeds and had logged 27 feet of water sands. (Keith McMillin Photo).

DO WE FIGHT FOR QUEMOY?

Plans Ready For Action If Coastal Islands Attacked

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The U.S. military high command has drafted plans for use in case President Eisenhower considers it necessary to fight for Quemoy or the Matsus.

It is understood that a guiding principle behind the plans is this: If the Chinese Reds launch an attack of a kind which prompts the President to act, the initial American moves would be sharply limited. The hope would be that a display of American power, inflicting more damage on an enemy force than the enemy had caused, would discourage the Reds from pressing the issue.

In reserve, however, is the three-front strategic concept which Secretary of State Dulles advanced in a recent speech and in talks with this country's allies in Southeast Asia. The idea of this would be to confront the Red Chinese with a chain of opposition in the Korean, Formosan and Indo-Chinese sectors simultaneously. If they seem committed to open aggression in any place.

The United States is publicly committed to help Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists defend Formosa, the Pescadores and "related positions." Whether those related positions would include the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsus has been left uncertain.

Officials said today no decision would be made by Eisenhower on that question until the Reds make a specific challenge. Some hope remains here that the Reds will not force the issue, that despite their belligerent talk, they will gradually let the Formosa situation settle down. One reason for this hope is that Russia, which supplies Red China's weapons, is believed to oppose an open clash with the United States.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, which has the task of planning for any emergency, is understood to have worked out a number of alternative military programs. One of the difficulties is that no one in Washington really knows how the Reds may move and no one can anticipate what situation the United States may have to deal with.

This is most usually expressed in conversation with officials here by the question "Does one Chinese junkload of troops constitute an attack?" The answer is that it obviously does not.

The United States, officials say, is determined to depend on Chiang Kai-shek's resources to the maximum extent for defense of Quemoy and the Matsus. Thus, in any slow buildup of a Red Chinese campaign of conquest the United

3,500 Hotcakes Downed By Throng At Kiwanis Supper

Kiwanians sold hot cakes like hot cakes Friday evening.

More than 800 people went through the line at the high school cafeteria and put away an estimated 3,500 flapjacks. Although the doors were open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., most of the traffic concentrated in the two-hour period starting at 6:30 p.m. With seven griddles going, Kiwanian cooks had pancakes ready as fast as customers could move through the line. There were numerous refills.

Proceeds from the traditional event will go to the boys and girls work of the club, said Leroy Olsak, president.

Saturday Olsak expressed thanks to all who contributed to the affair, both in furnishing materials and entertainment. Pillsbury not only provided the mix for the supper but gave a package to each adult. Bacon was given by Big Spring Locker, D. & C. Packing Company and others. Syrup was given by Morton's Food, Radford Wholesale Grocery, West Texas Products Co. Candy and Carnation furnish-ed milk, and margarine was given by Kraft Food.

Continuous entertainment was furnished by Bill Bodner, who did pantomimes; Bill Evans, pianist; Don Lovelance, vocalist; Dee Phillips, western singer furnishing his own guitar accompaniment; Marilyn Constance, tap dancer; the Star Duster band headed by Julius Glickman and furnishing terms of Friedwald, Bill Engle, Robert Stripping Jr., Donald Cannon, Allen Gaser, Bill Gage; the Mighty Knights barbershop quartet composed of Gil Cook, Bob Clark, Red Torbett, Ed Johnson; the Black Tights composed of Sue Barnes, Sue Boykin, Cecilia McDonald and Sylvia Mendolia; and a girls quartet.

Two Are Injured In Knife Fight

A Negro man and woman were cut in a knife fight on the north side last night, and after treatment at local hospitals they were thrown in jail with two other Negroes.

The four were involved in a fight at the compress about 9:15 p.m. The woman was stabbed in the back and the man was cut on the left shoulder.

The two who were injured were charged with disturbance. Another Negro woman who was arrested was charged with simple assault, and another Negro man was charged with drunkenness.

Youth Struck Down By Hit-Run Driver

Joe Blanco, son of Ben Blanco, 210 NW 7th, was struck Saturday evening by an automobile operated by a hit-and-run driver.

Police said the youth was not seriously injured and he was released from a local hospital after receiving first-aid attention. He was bruised considerably. It was reported.

The accident occurred at North Eighth and Aylford, officers said. The boy's father saw a 1940 Ford pull away right after his son was struck. A search was being conducted for the vehicle.

Texas May Take Part In Juvenile Delinquency Study

Texas may participate in a nationwide study of juvenile delinquency, according to E. L. Fisher, area supervisor of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Fisher said the Texas Social Welfare Association has initiated a movement to get Texas accepted as one of the six states that will take part in the project initially.

Fisher said that Harvey Hooser, Howard County attorney, is planning to ask the Howard County Bar Association to back the project and request that Texas be one of the states where the plan is put into effect.

The project is being sponsored by the National Probation and Parole Association with a $600,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. Six states are to be chosen for the study in the first year and a half of the project and plans now include adding 15 more states in the five years which the project will run.

Aims of the project, according to Fisher, are:

1. To examine and evaluate existing facilities and services which are used from the time the juvenile delinquent first makes contact with the law;

2. To determine what is needed to adequately combat the problem;

3. To get the public interested in the problem;

4. To secure the participation of the community in combatting the problem.

Churches Entered, Nothing Is Stolen

Two churches here were broken into Friday night, but police said that they did not believe anything was stolen.

The buildings entered were of the First Presbyterian Church at Seventh and Rannels and the St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Fifth and Rannels.

Entry was made through a window at the Episcopal Church, and a number of papers were moved. Officers said that apparently the culprit only rumaged through papers at the Presbyterian Church also.

Woody Herman Orchestra To Stage Concert, Dance

Tickets have been selling at a brisk rate for the Tuesday night performances here of Woody Herman and his prize-winning orchestra, the Third Herd.

Sale of the tickets has been high for both the 7 p.m. concert in the city auditorium and the dance at Webb Air Force Base, it was reported. The tickets are being purchased at Anderson Music Company, Big Spring Drug, and the Record Shop.

The Third Herd is one of the top dance bands of the country, and Herman himself has been recognized for many years as a leading musician.

The concert has been set up to allow those not caring to dance an opportunity to hear the orchestra, and advance publicity indicates that Herman has quite a show planned for the occasion.

Tickets to the concert are $2.00 for downstairs seats and $1.50 for an upstairs berth. Students can get in for half price. The dance at Webb, which will be held in the huge hangar Number One, requires $1.80 per person for admittance.

Herman's Herd consists of four-teen instrumentalists and Lea Mathews, 24-year-old vocalist of considerable experience who is recognized as one of the top singers of ballads and popular songs.

The band has been hailed by Time, Parade and other magazines as the group that brought back dancing, and it has cut hit records for a number of major companies.

WOODY HERMAN

Herman recently signed with Capitol for major recordings.

Herman is a triple threat performer—singing, playing clarinet and blowing the alto saxophone. He and his Herd come here directly from successful engagements in Chicago, Hollywood and New York.

Reorganization of Reserves Gets Support

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Two high officials today joined an apparently concerted administration drive backing President Eisenhower's plan to reorganize the military reserves.

The praise came from Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.

It was learned that the Defense Department, with the White House concurring, has pressed civilian department heads such as Weeks to issue statements endorsing the program. It has met a cool reception in Congress. Military leaders have applauded the plan in statements over the past several weeks.

Weeks said the plan deserved "the understanding support of all our people."

Hershey said the United States "has never had an adequate ready reserve. It has always needed one. In fact, it has fought wars costly in money and in blood because it did not have a large enough reserve ready to fight without additional time for training."

The plan calls for continued training in reserve units of men who have served as either volunteers or draftees in the different services. They would make up a "ready reserve," subject to immediate call in case of emergency, for periods of up to six years.

One part of it would provide six months of basic training for up to 100,000 volunteers a year. They would be exempt from the draft but would be required to continue reserve training for another 9½ years.

Two Assessed Jail Sentences

Two persons were fined and assessed jail terms and a fine was levied against a third in County Court Saturday.

A fine also was assessed Friday, and bond was set for a man who pleaded not guilty to charges against him Saturday.

Assessed jail terms were Miller (Sandman) Guider, who pleaded guilty to charges that he committed aggravated assault against Geraldine Devree Friday night, and Loyce Todd, who pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Guider was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and was fined $50. Court costs also were assessed. Todd was assessed the mandatory three-day jail term and was fined $75.

A fine of $150 was assessed against Harry Dooley Jr., who pleaded guilty to charges of unlawfully carrying arms. Police said he had a pistol in his possession when he was arrested Friday night.

Thomas James Marion pleaded not guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated. Judge R. H. Weaver set his bond at $500.

Harry L. Parker Friday pleaded guilty to charges of carrying a pistol and was fined $100.

County Attorney Harvey Hooser said Miss Devree was struck and her clothes were torn off Friday night in a disturbance in northwest Big Spring. He said she received treatment at a hospital.

BETTE FORD JOINS PAT

Girl Bull Fighters Win More Laurels

By GLENN COOTES

Bull fighting is no longer monopolized by males. As Big Spring's Patricia McCormick and several other girls have demonstrated, the fairer sex can handle the bulls on a par with the best matadors.

An ex-model and TV star, Bette Ford, proved this to approximately 2,800 aficionados last Sunday afternoon. Fighting in the Macarena bull ring at Ciudad Acuna across from Del Rio, Bette captured the honors of the evening from her two male competitors.

She was awarded one ear from her first bull and both ears and the tail of the second one. The matadors appearing with Bette, Emilio Rodriguez and Antonio Gomez, fought one bull each and only Gomez impressed the judge enough to win one ear.

The promoter and owner of the Macarena bull ring, Senor Chevo Cantu, said Pat McCormick was one of the best bull fighters to appear in his ring. He told this reporter that Pat was probably the most popular matadora in Mexico today.

Cantu is making arrangements to have Pat fight in the Acuna ring next month. He said that he had talked with her about it and that tentative plans had been agreed upon to have Pat appear in the Macarena ring April 17. This would be her first fight since she was seriously gored in the same ring last year.

Still another matadora is scheduled to appear in the Macarena ring March 20, Cantu said. Also from Texas, Patricia Hayes calls San Angelo her home town. Pat Hayes made her debut as a matadora in the Macarena bull ring last year.

Two popular matadors are to share the bill with her. They are Homero Garza Romerito and Tito Palacios.

In her fight last week, Bette Ford kept the crowd on its feet most of the time with her close work with the bull. Almost every pass she made brought the bull close enough to jostle her hip with his shoulder. And the afternoon was filled with narrow escapes.

Bette's first bull almost gored her when she went in for the kill. But her sword reached him before his horns reached her. She was thrown hard against the sideboards but escaped injury.

Her second bull was as tall as she is. She kept it under control, however, until the grand finale. Her first sword try was unsuccessful, the blade hitting a bone and spinning out of her hand. The bull kept rushing her but she stood her ground slapping him in the face and grabbing at his horns. The crowd went wild at this.

Her second try was good. After plunging the sword in and while the bull was still on his feet, Bette caressed his horns with her sword hand. For an instant, she stood at death's door. Then he died. For this, she won the tail and both ears.

Bette is an improved matadora over her previous performance in the Macarena ring. She last appeared at Acuna in November. At that time, she did not have the artistry she has now developed nor did she win any honors.

The Macarena ring has a capacity of 2,800 persons, Cantu said, and it is filled on every bull fight Sunday. Fights are held the first and third Sundays of each month. The first fight starts about 4 p.m. and four bulls are killed each afternoon.

Cantu has been a promoter of bull fights for over 13 years. He said he gets only the best and bravest bulls possible for his arena. The bulls are from the La Plaza ranch in the state of Nueva Leon.

Promoter Cantu pointed out that these bulls are bred for fighting and have several distinguishing characteristics. Most noticeable is the large neck muscle of the fighting bull.

From the Atlantic, the Panama Canal runs southeast, not west, to the Pacific, says the National Geographic Society.

HELP YOUR P-TA BY ANSWERING THIS BRAND-NAME SURVEY!

Yes, the Parent-Teacher Associations of the Big Spring area are co-operating with the Big Spring Herald in a BRAND INVENTORY SURVEY. This is simply a check of items that YOU HAVE IN YOUR HOME, and will be used in a general statistical survey only.

The Big Spring Herald is paying each Parent-Teacher Association 25c per completed Survey Page. You can help your own P-TA by filling in the page COMPLETELY, and turning it in to the P-TA member by April 1.

Your cooperation will help in an important brand survey, and more than that, it will help your own P-TA unit to make money for organizational needs.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

Please Read Carefully
Before You Start

To be eligible for the payment to the P-TA, you must fill out the questionnaire COMPLETELY. Place a check mark in the line by the word "None" if you DON'T have an item in the house NOW. Don't list brands you "sometimes use" or "usually have." ONLY LIST BRANDS THAT ARE IN THE HOUSE NOW.

Don't guess at the brands you think you have. LOOK THEM UP. It takes only a few minutes. Ask the man in the house to help you with items he knows about, such as shaving cream, razor blades, tobacco products, etc.

List all products by their BRAND NAMES. For example, under "Cold Breakfast Foods", don't just write in "corn flakes", write in the BRAND NAME of your corn flakes. If you have more than one brand of the same product, BE SURE TO LIST ALL OF THE BRANDS.

Please remember, only ONE completed questionnaire from each family. USE A PENCIL. INK SMEARS ON THIS PAPER.

When You Are Finished, Return
Completed Page To Your P-TA Member

ALL PAGES MUST BE TURNED IN BY APRIL 1

Our Religious Faiths

What Is A Lutheran? (Part II Of Article VIII)

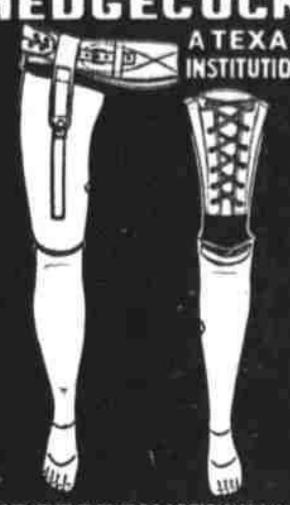

This is another of a series of informative articles on present-day religions, written for The Herald by leading authorities of the various faiths and denominations. Other articles describe other faiths.

By G. ELSON RUFF
Editor of the Lutheran Church Publication House

Do Lutherans believe in the Holy Trinity?
They do, along with orthodox Christians of all ages. God the Father is our Creator. God the Son is our Redeemer. God the Holy Spirit is the Sanctifier and Nourisher of our souls. Yet there is one God in three personalities. It is not possible to make any essential Christian teaching — such as how God could be a man, how the dead can live eternally, how one God can be three personalities — conform to mathematical formulae or submit to scientific proof. Such things are beyond the range of human reasoning and are matters of faith.

Are there any special rituals in Lutheran worship?
There is no requirement that Lutheran congregations should all worship in the same way. There is wide variation between the ritual of a cathedral of the Church of Sweden, for instance, and of a small country parish in Saskatchewan.

The service of confirmation of youth (usually at age 14) on Palm Sunday or Pentecost is a rite which has a distinctive form in Lutheran churches. Also, preceding each celebration of the Lord's Supper, there is a service of public confession which is characteristically Lutheran. Private confession is practiced by Lutherans in some places but is not required. In the Lord's Supper, the communicants kneel at the altar rail and receive both bread and wine.

Do Lutherans believe in heaven and hell?
The goal of the Christian life is the perfect existence which will finally be ours when we can be completely obedient to our Creator. Lutherans do not believe this kingdom of God will come through gradual improvement of human nature. Fulfillment of God's purpose lies beyond the limits of our present life. Those who live and die in faith in Christ will live with Him eternally, freed from the limitations of time and space.

Predictions about this eternal life must necessarily be in some sort of picture language, for it is beyond the range of finite minds. Naive descriptions of heaven and hell, which were common in old times, are obviously inadequate. But victory over death is the certain destiny of God's people.

What is the attitude of the Lutheran Church to the Pope?
The Roman Catholic Church? To Roman Catholics?
We are more moderate in speaking of the Pope than Luther was. For one thing, the Papacy has been drastically reformed since Luther's time. However, Lutherans absolutely reject any teaching that God has delegated supreme authority over the souls of His people to any man.
There is only one church, we believe, but it is not any visible institution, such as the Roman Catholic Church or the Lutheran Church. It consists of all the congregations of believers in which "the Gospel is rightly taught and the Sacraments rightly administered." ("Augsburg Confession," Article 7.)

As for our personal attitude toward Roman Catholics, we should love them as Christian brothers, however much we disagree in our understanding of the gospel. The Pope and bishops of the Roman Catholic Church often make profound statements of Christian truth and peace. Lutherans know that among Roman Catholics are many of the finest Christians on earth.

What is the Lutheran position on divorce?
God intends marriage to be lifelong. He established the family as the training school in which His children may learn to love and serve one another. But human sinfulness crops up in the marriage relation just as everywhere else. Some marriages become so badly eroded by infidelity and selfishness that to declare them no longer existing is less evil than to try to keep them going. Following the New Testament, Lutherans agree that adultery and desertion may be grounds for divorce. Christians should not legislate general principles to apply to all cases. Every case must be considered individually.

Do Lutherans believe in birth control?

There have been many statements by Lutheran organizations on this question, but there is no general objection to the well-known fact that countless Lutherans practice birth control.

A recent statement of the Commission on Social Relations of the American Lutheran Conference included these words: "The means which a married pair uses to determine the number and the spacing of the births of their children are a matter for them to decide with their own consciences, on the basis of competent medical authority and in the sense of accountability to God. No moral merit or demerit can be attached to any of the medically approved methods for controlling the number or spacing of children.
Whether the means used are those labeled 'natural' or 'artificial' is of far less importance than the spirit in which these means are used. Continence in the marriage relationship, when its sole purpose is the selfish avoidance of pregnancy, is equally as wrong as is the use of contraception toward this same selfish goal. An overabundant production of children without regard to the responsibilities involved may be as sinful and selfish as is the complete avoidance of parenthood."

On this and other ethical questions, the Lutheran Church has little tendency to legislate. The church is not a law-making society but an agency through which the Holy Spirit shapes and directs Christian lives in their growth toward holiness.

How is the Lutheran Church governed?
There is no pattern which prevails in all countries, because Lutherans believe that church government is a practical concern without doctrinal significance.

Lutheran churches of Europe have bishops, but none of the Lutheran churches in America follows this example. Church conventions, which elect presidents and other officials, are the main instruments of authority in the American churches.

The foundation of this authority is in the congregations themselves, because in them the free people of God exercise their right to hear the gospel and receive the sacraments. They cannot be held in obedience to an earthly hierarchy.

Each Lutheran congregation owns its church building or other property and is self-governing in all of its local affairs. Men are called to the office of the ministry by God through the congregations, and if they cease to perform the functions of their office they cease to be ministers.

Does the Lutheran Church permit its pastors to marry?
Luther taught that enforced celibacy of the priesthood was a mistake. Eight years after the beginning of the Reformation, he himself married a nun who had left her convent as a result of Luther's teaching. (The date is important because enemies of Luther often assert that "he left the church to get married.")

Is Lutheranism international?
Lutheranism includes almost the entire population of Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden, a majority of the Germans, Latvians, Estonians and minorities in most other European countries. Mission work has resulted in Lutheran churches in South America, Africa, Asia, Australia.

Lutherans constitute almost half the Protestants of the world. It is impossible to give the total accurately. Of five million Lutherans in Russia in 1918, who know how many there are now? The same is true in all Iron Curtain countries. Perhaps 70 million would be a reasonable guess at the present world total.

Lutheran membership in the United States at the end of 1952 was 6,485,782. An additional four or five million persons give "Lutheran" as their church preference when they fill out questionnaires. Do Lutherans believe in separation of church and state?

In America, they emphatically do. Luther taught that church and state are both ordained by God and that each has separate, clear-cut functions. Church-state separation is a logical application of the Lutheran principle of resistance to attempts of human authorities to rule men's souls.

In the Scandinavian countries and Finland, the Lutheran Church is the state church, under nominal control of parliament (as is the Anglican Church in England). There has usually been some connection between the Lutheran Church and the government in other European countries, due to the historical development of the churches. Yet, in Norway under the wartime Quisling government, the Lutheran Church rebelled against the authority of the state. All bishops and most pastors refused to obey its orders.

In Germany also, some pastors were strong leaders in the opposition to Hitler. They quoted Luther who wrote, "If your worldly master is wrong, and you know for certain he is wrong, then fear God more than man and do not serve him." At present, Lutheran churchmen in the Russian zone of Germany are struggling against Communist tyranny.

Lutherans in the United States last year were unanimous in opposing the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican because they believe it is contrary to a basic American principle to send a diplomatic representative to the headquarters of a church.

Do Lutherans believe theirs is the only true religion?
Yes, but they don't believe they are the only ones who have it. There are true Christian believers in a vast majority of the churches, perhaps in all. Lutherans are among the leaders in interchurch

More Effective Advertising Plans Studied At Workshop

Latest techniques to help a merchant get the most out of his newspaper advertising were studied in a recent Advertising Workshop by Oliver Cofer, retail advertising manager of The Herald.

With 24 other newspaper advertising men, he attended the Workshop in Dallas, one of seven being conducted over the nation by the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Dallas meeting included representatives from papers in Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The primary purpose of the Workshops is to acquaint advertising salesmen with the current problems and needs of the retail advertiser, and how to work with these retailers to make newspapers, which receive the major portion of their advertising dollar, an even more effective selling tool.

A major portion of the training was devoted to learning: 1) how to help a store analyze its advertising and determine ways to make it more productive, and 2) how to build a sound advertising plan that takes full advantage of every selling opportunity, month by month and department by department.

Benefits from sound advertising planning for the retailer were explored thoroughly at each of the "shirt sleeve" sessions by use of demonstrations, group discussions and the study of actual case histories.

The instruction given at the Workshops is the result of scores of surveys conducted by the Bureau of Advertising with retail advertisers, which receive the major portion of their advertising dollar, an

Opening Nite Ducats Ready

The High School Spanish Class drive to sell 3,000 tickets for the first home game of the 1955 Big Spring Cops is officially under way.

The ducats, which will sell for $1 each, as per Longhorn League custom, were returned from the printer Saturday and placed in the hands of the students.

The pupils participating in the drive will realize ten cents on each ticket sold. The money will be used to finance the class' annual trip to Mexico.

Colleen Slaughter, the Spanish class teacher, is directing the campaign.

Students are expected to go into the residential areas in the near future in efforts to dispose of the ducats.

Last year, the local team opened its home season before slightly more than 1,000 paying customers. Club Owner Pepper Martin said he hoped the opening night game will help him get away to a good financial start. It means so much since his is still a 'poor-boy' operation.

The team will start gathering here in less than two weeks. Pitchers and catchers are due to suit out March 25 while the other players report on March 28. The Cops are scheduled to play their first exhibition game on April 3, at which time Pat Stacey brings his Hobbs entry to town.

The Cops have five exhibition games booked for Steer Park. Lubbock plays here twice and Midland, Plainview and Hobbs once each.

The tickets now being sold by the club for bargain rates are, of course, not good for opening night.

Standout Sprinter

The young man who has been turning in the best times in the sprints for Big Spring High School is Bennie Compton (above). A junior, Bennie has done the century in 10.1. He's much improved over last year, according to his coach, Harold Bentley.

Intra-Squad Tilt Slated Friday

LUBBOCK, Mar. 12 (SC)—Seven footballers who made first or second team All-Border Conference will see action in Texas Tech's intra-squad game in Jones Stadium Friday night, March 18.

Heading the list are tackle Jerry Walker of Pampa and fullback James Sides of Lubbock, who have made the all-conference first team two consecutive seasons. Another first-team selection is quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick of Post, who earned that honor and was voted the league's most valuable player in 1953 but was slowed last season by a foot injury.

Among last season's second team selections who'll play in the full-scale game are tackles Bob Killcullen of St. Louis and Bill Herschman of Vernon, guard Hal Broadfoot of Clyde, and center Dwayne West of Fort Worth. Another second team choice, Arlen Wesley of Littlefield will be out with an injured knee.

Coach DeWitt Weaver and his staff will divide the squad equally according to talent next week. Two coaches will probably be assigned each team.

Public will be permitted to see the game. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for all others.

Texas Steers Play Sooner This Week

AUSTIN, March 12 (SP)—Strong in the infield but shy in pitchers and outfielders, the University of Texas opens its baseball season with two games against Oklahoma Friday and Saturday.

Eight lettermen return from last year's conference champions. All are infielders.

Coach Bibb Falk said he expects to fill the outfield with squadmen but may have to use sophomores for the inexperienced pitching staff.

Starters against the Sooners will probably be picked from among squadmen Clinton Irby and Tony Jungman and sophomore Gary Gurwitz.

The infield looks set with converted outfielder Tommy Snow at first, Buddy Stevenson at second, Eddie Daniels at short and Steele McKinney at third. A choice of catchers are available from among veterans Conrad Werthman, Tommy LeBlau and Stuart Benson.

Bunt Wins Game

TAMPA, Fla., March 12 (SP)—Rookie Lou Ortiz bunted home the winning run today as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-2 in an exhibition contest.

Speedy Sports Cars Await Starter's Flag At Sebring

SEBRING, Fla., March 12 (SP)—At 10 a.m. (EST) tomorrow, the flash of the starter's green flag will send 80 of the fastest sports cars in competition roaring away from the starting line in Florida's famous International Grand Prix of Endurance.

Before the brutal test of a man's nerves and a machine's durability ends in darkness 12 hours later, half of the fleet cars will have been abandoned in their pits—crippled by the hot and dangerous pace.

The deafening whine of powerful motors will shatter the traditional quiet of this small city in the heart of Florida's orange groves and will be heard around the world, for to sportsmen overseas this is the No. 1 sports event in the United States.

No gold is offered but famous drivers come from all over Europe and South America to compete in the Sebring race.

The young man who has been turning in the best times in the sprints for Big Spring High School is Bennie Compton (above). A junior, Bennie has done the century in 10.1. He's much improved over last year, according to his coach, Harold Bentley.

Jayhawks Begin Baseball Workouts Monday At 4

HCJC baseball workouts will start under the direction of Coach Harold Davis Monday but the mentor is not due to have his full complement of players before the middle of the week.

The Hawks have seven lettermen back from last season, plus a promising bunch of freshmen.

The veterans are Charlie Rose, Big Spring, a pitcher-outfielder; Jim Knotts, Doyle, La., pitcher-outfielder; Oakey Hagood, Big Spring, pitcher; Doyle Scott, Denver City, catcher; Paschall Wickard, Clovis, N. M., infielder; Ronald Anderson, Orangefield, outfielder; and Arlen White, Forsan, first baseman.

Coach Davis is counting heavily upon Phil Gore, Gerry Hoover, Jack Williams and Melvin Murphree to fill regular positions.

Gore, of Clovis, N. M., will contest White for the first baseman's post. Hoover, who hails from Coahoma, would have been a regular last season had he been eligible.

Williams, a Petersburg lad, is due to fill the shortstop position for the Hawks. He comes here with a lot of promise.

Murphree was a regular on the Big Spring High School team last season. He may fill an infield post for the collegians.

Others due to report are Rex Gibson, Chillicothe, a catcher; Bob Patterson, Meadow, outfielder; Jimmy Castleberry, Meadow, infielder; Pell Phillips, Lamesa, catcher; Garland Harrison, Big Spring, outfielder; Charlie Welch, Lovington, N. M., infielder; Silas Flourney, Fluvanna, first Sportsmen Slate Shoot At 2 P.M.

Members of any gun club are eligible to compete in the Western Sportsmen Club's 22 rimfire rifle and pistol shoot, which will be held starting at 2 p.m. here today.

Next business meeting of the club will be conducted Thursday, March 17, it has been announced. Business sessions ordinarily take place the third Thursday of each month.

A movie will be shown during the business session. Anyone who likes shooting or who is interested in firearms, attend the meeting, club officials have announced.

The conclude takes place at Howard County Junior College.

Lights Authorized For Grid Stadium

AUSTIN, March 12 (SP)—University of Texas home football games may be played under lights this fall. Regents authorized a $200,000 appropriation today for lighting Memorial Stadium and ordered quick work to secure bids.

The regents endorsed the Athletic Council's recommendation that athletes be housed generally in the various men's dormitories rather than as a separate group at Hill Hall, exclusively for Texas athletes in the past. The idea behind the change is to place more emphasis on athletes being part of the student body.

Odessa Bronchos Defeat Steers

ODESSA, March 12 (SC)—Johnny Cutbirth's second inning homer gave the Odessa Bronchos the run they needed to edge North Side of Fort Worth, 1-0, in a baseball exhibition here Friday.

baseball pitcher, Richard Hood, Texarkana, first baseman-outfielder; and Robert Short, Dallas, pitcher-outfielder.

Any one of that group could rate regular berths without causing too much surprise. Davis has yet to see some of them in action.

Workouts will be conducted starting at 4 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, at 2 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and on Saturday mornings for a couple of weeks.

The schedule has not been completed for the Hawks but Davis hopes to arrange practice games with Odessa and possibly San Angelo.

It is understood Clarendon is going to field a team in the West Zone this year.

Gal Grapplers Vie Here On Tuesday

Silver-blonde Bonnie Watson and raven-haired Olga Zepeda, two of the better known women wrestlers, add spice and variety to the Big Spring mat card Tuesday night.

The pretty gals, Watson from West Virginia and Zepeda from Mexico City, share double main event honors with a couple of foreign-born athletes, tough Tony Morelli of New York and Luis Martinez of Chicago.

Morelli was born in Italy, Martinez in Mexico.

Each match is scheduled for two best falls of three or one hour.

Backing up the twin feature will be a special match between handsome Mark Lewin of Buffalo, New York, and Tony Ross of Salem, Oregon.

Lewin, brother-in-law and protégé of famous Danny McShain, has become a popular figure in Southwestern States wrestling. He is tall, broad-shouldered and very strong.

He can get rough, too, and he'll probably be required to when he meets Indian Tony Ross, a native of West Texas but an Oregon resident for some 14 years. He got his first instruction under Dory Detton, Amarillo promoter and director of Southwest States Enterprises.

Olga Zepeda, a well-formed and conditioned athlete, is one of the newcomers to Texas women's wrestling, having operated in the States for little more than a year, but she is fast and alert, as she will have to be to fend off Bonnie Watson, a demure and beautiful character outside the ring, but something of a tiger-woman after the gong sounds.

The Women, Inc., if such a society exists, would place both in the upper bracket.

James Corbett Named LSU Director Of Athletics

BATON ROUGE, March 12 (SP)—Louisiana State University today named James J. Corbett, a former LSU sports publicity chief, athletic director to replace T. P. Heard.

The LSU Board of Supervisors gave Corbett a five-year contract at $10,000 per year.

The 35-year-old Corbett, a native of Boston and a distant relative of the late heavyweight champion, will leave his job as sports coordinator for the National Broadcasting Co. about April 1 to take over at LSU.

Heard and Head Football Coach Gagnell Tinsley were relieved of their duties by the board Feb. 5. Tinsley, head coach for seven seasons, will be paid off on the last two years of his contract. Heard goes on a year's leave of absence at the end of the spring term prior to retirement after 23 years as athletic director.

In other action, the board approved three changes in the football coaching staff recommended by Paul Dietzel, former Army line coach named Feb. 16 to replace Tinsley. The changes were:

1. Terminated the services of Line Coach Will Walls effective

Feb. 18. Walls will be paid until his contract ends Jan. 31, 1956 at his $7,000 salary.

2. Hired Bill Peterson, former Mansfield, Ohio, high school coach effective Feb. 26 to replace Walls at a $7,000 yearly salary.

3. Raised the salary of Charles McClendon, picked by Dietzel as his top assistant, from $7,000 to $8,500.

ULLSWATER, England, March 12 (SP)—Donald Malcolm Campbell, Britain's water speed ace, narrowly averted an accident today while speeding over Lake Ullswater at 150 miles an hour in his turbo-jet hydroplane, Bluebird.

Odessa has replaced Augusta in the Class C Sally League in the Shreveport system.

Louisville And Niagara To Vie In NIT Play

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. NEW YORK, March 12 (SP)—Louisville had too much height for scrappy Manhattan and Niagara had too much speed and skill for Lafayette in the opening games of the 18th National Invitation Basketball Tournament today.

Louisville, with the tall double pivot combination of Charlie Tyra and John Prudhoe accounting for more than half its points, beat Manhattan 91-86. Then seasoned Niagara, with Ed Fleming and Jim McConnell providing the one-two scoring punch, ran away from Lafayette 83-70. Lafayette had won 20 straight against collegiate competition.

By winning these contrasting games, Louisville qualified to face top-seeded Duquesne in the quarter-finals Monday night, while Niagara will meet Cincinnati, the fourth-ranked team among the 12 in the tournament, also Monday night.

Only one other Hawk team in history—the 1952-53 club—ever won more games. That year's Hawks registered 34 triumphs in 40 starts.

The Hawks this year captured championship trophies in the Temple, Ranger and Howard College Tournaments and finished first in the West Zone and Regional Tournaments, earning five first place trophies in seven meets entered.

Jim Knotts wound up as the leading individual scorer with 569 points and an 18-point average. Only Dallas Williams and Casey Jones of the 1952-53 club have scored more points than Jim did in one season.

At that, Knotts counted only 15 more points than did his teammate, Paschall Wickard. Paschall, however, played in what amounted to four more games than did Knotts and finished with a 15-point-per-game average.

Individual scoring:

Water Hazard Costly To Longhorn Golfers

Big Spring High School golfers came up against something strange to them—a water hazard—and it cost them dearly in a four-way meet at Lubbock's Country Club Friday.

However, Bobby Blumh, with a sharp 78, was in fourth place for the day. Big Spring ranked third in the meet. Except for a cold putter, Bobby might well have been in medalist, for he was only four strokes over Floyd Smith of Odessa with 75.

Bobby McCarty shot an 83 for Big Spring and Stormy Edwards and Charles Clark came in with 88 each.

In team play, Odessa came home with a total of 318 strokes, Lubbock with 321, Big Spring 337 and Levelland 362.

Next scheduled match is March 25 at the West Texas Relays in Odessa, but Coach Dan Lewis said other matches likely would be booked before that time.

Robert Rodgers, Lubbock, was one stroke back of Smith. Bill Oliver, Jr., Odessa, registered a 77.

Other players on the Odessa team included Ed Moore, who had a 79; and Bobby Holcomb, who came in with an 87.

Steers' Star Infielder

Hard-hitting Tommy McAdams, shown here laying down a bunt. Is the classy-finding shortstop and cleanup hitter for the Big Spring Steers. The local schoolboys return to action next Saturday, at which time they meet Snyder in a double-bill at Snyder. They also have non-conference games with Andrews and Midland booked before conference play begins on April 5.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Age-wise, not only Tommy McAdams but Frosty Robison would have been eligible to play schoolboy football here next fall had they not spent four years in high school. Each has a scholastic age of 17. Billy Martin, the New York Yankee infielder, may bring his Fort Carson, Colo., baseball team into the area before the 1955 WT-NM and Longhorn League seasons get under way. When the Maroons and the Whites played that 7-7 tie in spring football drills at Texas A&M recently, it inspired scribe Dick Peoples of San Antonio to pen the following verse: "The Aggies have no immediate worry, About adding trophy shelves, For in their present situation, They can't even beat themselves." Midland men who were the targets of some of Angelo Pat McLaughlin's recent vocal bombardments think some of it was a smoke screen Pat is throwing up to conceal his own activities. They argue that Pat might go to extreme methods to field a winner in his first year at Angelo. A Sudan cager named Leon (Podd) Hill led the entire state in scoring last season, with a total of 1,196 points in 43 games. Seminole, incidentally, is sitting pretty for basketball talent for the next two years, as least . . . Of the first dozen or so boys, only two are seniors this year and neither was a starter this year. The Indians fielded a lineup composed of three juniors and two sophomores. Metz LaFollette gave Seminole not only its first state but its district championship in history. There are ten times as many triple playing golf today than in 1932, a recent survey showed. Red Hennech, the newly-ordained business manager of the Odessa baseball club, is trying to interest Roman (Lefty) Loyko into playing ball again and is tempting the ex-Midland manager, Rudy Briner, with a contract. Loyko was out of professional baseball last year.

Ponies Deep In Backfield Talent

Even though he was extended only a one year contract and salary ($5,000, not in keeping with some of the other football coaches of the area, Elywood Turner quite probably drooled when he accepted the job as head mentor at Sweetwater. Reason: The Ponies may have the state's best backfield this fall. Not only will speedsters Harrold Hobbs and Dickie Allen be present but the team will also have such sterling performers as Bobby Hartgraves, Bob Harvey, Richard Ferrell, Don Aiken and Robert Nepper with which to choose. Ferrell was the B team's best last year. The Cayuses will also have top-notch ends in Bubba Meyer and Jimmy Feagin, plus the fastest tackle in the district. He is Dale Littlefield, who does 10.4 in the hundred and 22.5 in the 220. Don Usry, who grew up in the town of Venus, Texas, but who did his high school footballing in Cleburne, may yet go to West Point, despite his recent statement that he wasn't interested. Usry was the only Texan named to Mose Sims' All-American scholastic team last fall. Carlsbad has a Longhorn League season ticket drive under way, in which each dollar will sell for $25, but if 2,500 pasteborders are not sold by next Friday, the offer will be nixed and the money will be returned. Incidentally, some Longhorn League operations are still trying to figure out how Carlsbad spent in excess of $6,000 for salaries of groundkeepers and park attendants last season. That's way out of line. It may all be related to the fact that ball players who performed there last year are balking at new contracts offered them. An area mentor may have to divorce himself of an uncompromising after-hours habit or have his career nipped in the bud. It took some doing by his fellow coaches to keep his name out of the papers a while back.

Coaches Make Most Of Tournaments

A number of the state's schoolboy coaches and more than a few of the scribes are becoming antagonistic toward Texas Interscholastic League wheels for their uncompromising attitude toward certain policies. A typical example was the manner in which Dr. Rhea Williams threw cold water on the recent proposal to break up the State Basketball Tournament and move it to other parts of commonwealth rather than stage it in Austin every year. The coaches and the writers have a point—there are other cities worthy and quite capable of hosting such a show beside Austin. In arguing for the change, one scribe (Dave Campbell of Waco) disclosed an incident which occurred at last year's tournament, when Russell Boone of Sweeney, after shattering the tournament scoring record, went to his dressing room and was followed by two University of Texas coaches and a writer for the UT paper. A guard at the door, a UT student, refused admission to other coaches. When finally the men emerged, Campbell insisted the boy was as good as signed. Sure enough, Boone later sent a letter of intent to Texas (although he changed his mind later and enrolled at Tyler JC). "You're wasting your time trying to interview University coaches during the tournament," said Earl Golding, also of Waco. "They were all off with half a dozen athletes." Campbell points out that the process is repeated when the athletes converge on Austin again for the annual track meet. Many of the coaches who take boys to Austin are, of course, alumni of other schools and don't like the manner in which the UT coaches dominated the time of their boys. One Texas assistant must have been shocked within the past several weeks. He sought an interview with one of this area's finest football players and was told by the boy's coach: "I might as well tell you. The UT doesn't like your school and definitely isn't interested in anything you'd have to say. You'd just be wasting your time."

Midland Wins Canyon Reef Track Carnival

SNYDER, March 12 (SC) — Midland scored 30½ points to win the third annual Canyon Reef Relays here Saturday. Amarillo was a close second, with 27½; while Lubbock, the defending tilist, finished third with 16. A total of 11 records were broken in the 14 events. Troy Harber, Lubbock speedster, was the only two-event winner. He took first in the 100 and 440 yard dash events and emerged as the high point man. Second was A. W. Hammock of Midland, followed by Jimmy McElroy of Sundown and Arbie Holbrook of Winters.

Big Spring wound up with a second and a third place to score five points. Running against time, Bobby Fuller of the Steers was declared runnerup to R. D. Ross of Lamesa, although each broke the record and each finished about a hundred yards ahead of the next nearest man in his respective heat.

By TOM JAY GOSS II
 ROBERT LEE—Just as B.C. is a breaking point for history, B.O. has its own special meaning in Coke County.

That covered all the time before oil—right up to Dec. 19, 1946. On that day Sun No. 1 Allan Jameson came in as a Strawn reef producer a mile southeast of Silver. In quick succession oil was discovered in the Millican field, the McCutchen, Bronte, Fort Chadbourne and Fuller-Coke fields. Rigs are still going day and night in the search of more oil.

Rich in history because it was the site for Fort Chadbourne where many illustrious Army men, including Robert E. Lee, were stationed. Coke was a sheep and cattle haven long after its bounteous game disappeared from the long Colorado Valley.

But it took oil to revolutionize the picture. In 1946 values were about $4 million for the county. Today they are estimated at $25 million. Bank deposits are about $3 1/2 million for a town of 1,200 at Bronte, or double what they were five years ago despite one of the worst droughts on record.

Signs of progress are everywhere. At Robert Lee the school board has just accepted a new $295,000 school building. Construction is under way on a $275,818 courthouse which will include facilities for women jurors. Bronte has voted a $160,000 street bond issue. A $350,000 school is under construction there.

Four-fifths of the county's money comes from oil values. County Judge Jeff Dean says "next year we think it will be nearer five-sixths."

Total oil production in Coke County in 1954 was 7,674,488, or about two million barrels more than for 1953, according to Elmer Simpson, San Angelo, railroad commission representative. The trend is upward in 1955.

The country around Silver has changed since Old Yellow Wolf, an Indian chief, used the area for his hunting grounds. Today the "roughs" are alive with trucks, pickups and offroad equipment. The "little Burmas" road leads from the river up Grubbs Canyon to the top of the plateau and over to Highway 158. Sterling County is building the "big Burma" road from the edge of the plateau down to the Fuller-Coke field.

In the same area Sun Oil operates a gasoline plant which strips gas of its liquid content (butane, propane and natural gasoline) and pumps the dry gas back into the ground to bring out more oil.

Texas Natural Gas is building a similar plant about six miles to the southwest. Fluor Construction Company is contractor for the big job. While river water has been used for most drilling and other operations, it is not suitable for boilers so Texas Natural Gas has developed wells atop the plateau south of the plant. Eight good wells will produce about 400 gallons a minute and will pump their output to a 5,000-barrel storage tank.

Coke County is taking other steps to overcome the water problem. Robert Lee uses water from a reservoir on Mountain Creek, built by the Upper Colorado River Authority; the City of Bronte owns its own lake on Red Hollow; Buffalo Reservoir is on the Colorado River near Bronte, and Oak Creek Lake is in the northeast corner of Coke County and supplies Sweetwater.

Livestock men once may have grumbled about oil wells ruining grass, but having fallen back on

Potential Due On Two Tests In East Pool

Potential test is being prepared this weekend at Lipkin and Devine No. 4 Snyder, project in the "pocket" area between the Snyder and East Howard fields, and operator is swabbing Mid-Continental No. 6-B Denman.

The Mid-Continental No. 6-B Denman is in the same area as the Lipkin and Devine project, but it is closer to production in the East Howard field. The venture has total depth of 2,892 feet.

Drillite is 330 from south and west lines, 16-30-1s, T&P survey, just southwest of East Howard production.

Drillite for the Lipkin and Devine try is 330 from south and west lines, southeast quarter, 20-30-1s, T&P. It has total depth of 2,548 feet and was swabbed with 10,000 gallons with a good reaction. Pump has already been installed.

Lipkin and Devine No. 5 Snyder, also in the "pocket" area on the northwest side of the Snyder field, was spudding Saturday. Location is 990 from north and 330 from east lines, southeast quarter, 20-30-1s, T&P survey.

Cosden No. 1-27 Susie B. Snyder, on the northeast side of the Snyder field and south of East Howard production, is reportedly making hole at 2,847 feet. Drillite is 330 from north and 988 from east lines, southeast quarter, 27-30-1s, T&P survey.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Cosden No. 5-C Roberts is reportedly coring below 1,350 feet. Location, two miles east of Forsan, is 330 from south and west lines, north half, southeast quarter, 128-29-W&NW survey.

A project in the Moore field, Norwood No. 1 Gaskin, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,220 feet. Drillite, five miles west of Big Spring, is 1,640 from south and 2,310 from east lines 7-33-1s, T&P survey.

CAYCE MOORE

Humorist Booked For API Meet

Cayce Moore, the Hearne barber who during the past few years has become an internationally recognized humorist, will give the program for the March meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

The event will be held in Odessa at 8 p. m., March 22 at the Chuckwagon Barn, adjoining the Ector County Coliseum on the Andrews Highway at North 42nd Street.

In addition to Moore's address, the Odessa Desk and Derrick Club will present a comedy skit, titled, "D&A Drilling Company." A barbecue dinner will be served following the program.

Tickets covering admission to the program and the barbecue are $1.50 per person. The tickets should be secured in advance.

Since Moore started making public appearances as a humorist, he has been written up in the Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, and several other publications with worldwide circulation.

He has been the featured speaker at a number of annual meetings of international service clubs and also has addressed many national trade associations and professional organizations.

Wildcat Yields 60 Bbls. Hourly In Devonian

Approximately 60 barrels of Devonian oil flowed per hour at Anderson-Prichard, U.S. Smelting, Mining and Refining Company, and Huskey Oil No. 1 Webb, North Gaines wildcat, and the third consecutive Devonian test yielded oil at Humble No. 1-B Riley, Central G lines prospector.

The Anderson Prichard et al No. 1 Webb flowed on test from 12,955 to 13,065 feet. The 4,000-foot water blanket surfaced in 53 minutes, and mud-cut oil came to the top in 91 minutes.

The oil flowed to the pits for an unreported length of time, but flow was estimated at the rate of 67 barrels per hour. The tool was still open at last report.

Devonian top is 13,048 feet, and the elevation is not reported. Location is 467 from north and 1,787 from west lines, 20-C35-PSL survey, some five miles west of Seagraves.

The third test yielding Devonian oil at Humble No. 1-B Riley was taken in zone from 11,560 to 11,590 feet with the tool open four hours. Recovery was 360 feet of gas, 2,160 feet of oil, and 120 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Flowing pressure was from 30 to 840 pounds, and the two-hour shut-in pressure was 4,730 pounds.

Ector Strike Flows From Ellenburger

Humble Oil and Refining Company's No. 1-B R. L. York, Ellenburger discovery in South Ector County, flowed at the rate of 40.18 barrels of oil per hour on a drill-stem test.

The test was from 12,393 to 12,417 feet with the tool open four hours and five minutes. Gas surfaced in 57 minutes, the water blanket came to top in 115 minutes, and oil reached ground level in 130 minutes. Flow of oil was for two hours.

The tool was being pulled on last report.

The No. 1-B York made oil shows on three previous drillstem tests of the Ellenburger and on one test of the Connell sand. Zone from 12,392 to 12,417 was the first to flow oil, and a four hour test from 12,369 to 12,392 feet had recovery of 2,250 feet of oil and gas-cut water blanket, 35 barrels of oil, and two barrels of gas-cut mud.

Test from 12,334 to 12,369 feet had recovery of 700 feet of 44.1 gravity oil, and test in the Connell from 12,190 to 12,255 also yielded oil.

This important strike is four miles southwest of Ellenburger production in the South Cosden field and five miles east of Ellenburger pay in the Jordan field. Drillite is 1,980 from east and 660 from south lines, southeast quarter, 14-44-3s, T&P survey, some four miles south of Penwell.

Atlantic Refining Company and General American each have one-sixth interest in the wildcat. Humble has two-third interest.

Fluvanna Pool Has Completion

A completion was logged Saturday in the Fluvanna (Strawn) field of Scurry County, and a new location was spotted in the Diamond M (Clear Fork) field.

Superior Oil and Intex No. 2-537 W. F. Mathis is the project which finished. It made 186 barrels of oil on the flowing potential, through a 14-64th inch choke.

There was no water, and gravity was 42.2 degrees. Gas-oil ratio measured 831-1, and tubing pressure was 350 pounds. Casing had a packer, and completion was natural.

Production was through perforations between 7,862 and 7,868 feet, and pay top is 7,752. Total depth measures 8,371 feet, and the seven-inch string is bottomed at 8,366. Elevation is 2,722.

Drillite of the Fluvanna well was 1,980 from north and east lines, S37-97-H&T survey.

Felmont Oil No. 1 C. T. McLaughlin, 330 from south and 480 from east lines, southeast quarter, 179-97-H&T survey, is the new Diamond M venture. Location is 10 miles southwest of Snyder, on a 112.85 acre lease.

The new try will be drilled by combination tools to 3,400 feet. Elevation is 2,330.

Borden Explorer

Magnolia No. 1 Jesse York wildcat, in Borden County about 13 miles east of Gail, bored to 8,161 feet in chert. Projected drilling depth is 9,000 feet. Drillite is C SE SE, 279-97-H&T survey.

Tubeless Auto Tires Are Taking Over

A Tubeless Tire had been the goal of tire engineers for more than 50 years. But it was for B. F. Goodrich to invent one that worked. The U. S. Patent Office granted B. F. Goodrich the basic Tubeless Tire patents. A new era in driving safety was about to begin.

On May 11, 1947, B. F. Goodrich startled the automotive world by announcing the first successful Tubeless Tire for passenger cars. This same year thousands of B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires were tested in service on police cars and taxis.

On February 2, 1948, B. F. Goodrich placed the first Tubeless Tire on sale in a few stores in Cincinnati. Mass production was begun. It was to be years before any other tire maker ventured into the Tubeless Tire field at all.

Today, over 3,000,000 Goodrich Tubeless Tires have been sold—more than all other brands combined.

The B. F. Goodrich Life-Saver Tubeless Tire, which is puncture-proof and blow-out protected, is the final result of this 5 year lead and experience.

You may see the Life-Saver tested and its advantages explained at JONES AND JONES, Conoco-Goodrich Service Store, Authorized Goodrich Dealer, 1800 Gregg St. Phone 4-2260. (Adv.)

Completions Surge Ahead

AUSTIN, March 12 (AP)—A tremendous surge in Texas oil well completions this week shot the year's total to 2,877, almost 500 ahead of last year.

The number of new oil wells was 346, the Railroad Commission said. Gas well completions totaled 19, bringing the year's total to 292 compared with 278.

Operators reported 127 dry holes for a total of 1,232 this year against 1,288. Wildcaters brought in only 10 of the 346 new oil wells this week, one gasser, and 73 dry holes.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable as of today was 3,334,812 barrels, a gain of 20,238 from a week ago.

Hockley, Yoakum Fields Get Lines

Two pipe line extensions to handle production from the Ropes Field of Hockley County and the Brahoney Field of Yoakum County were announced today by Shell Pipe Line Corporation.

Three miles of gathering lines and a 22-mile six-inch trunk line are being constructed from the Ropes Field north of Brownfield to the Prentice station on the Prentice-Wasson pipe line.

Fifteen miles of four-inch gathering lines and a nine-mile six-inch trunk line is being laid from the Brahoney Field four miles southwest of Plains to the existing Slaughter-Wasson line.

Both projects were begun last week and are scheduled for completion by late April. Present production in the Ropes Field averages 800 barrels daily and in the Brahoney Field, 2,000 barrels daily.

Westbrook Pair To Take Potential Test

Preparations were being made Saturday to take potential tests at two Westbrook field projects, and operator of Albaugh No. 1 Schuster, Mitchell wildcat, was going back in hole with a new bit.

The two ventures to be completed are Blue Danube No. 1-C Bird and Blue Danube No. 1-D Bird. Both have been swabbed with 10,000 gallons.

The No. 1-C Bird, 330 from north and west lines, northeast quarter, 34-28-1n, T&P survey, has a total depth of 3,080 feet. The No. 1-D Bird, 330 from north and west lines, southwest quarter of northwest quarter, same section is bottomed at 3,046.

Albaugh No. 1 Schuster, which is trying for Fusselman pay, has depth of 8,481 feet. Operator hopes to pick up pay momentarily, and the project will be watched closely when drilling begins again.

Location is 660 from south and west lines, northwest quarter, 12-17-SPRR survey, on the edge of the Albaugh (Pennsylvanian) field.

Drilling ahead was the report Saturday on two other projects in the Westbrook field, both by Blue Danube Oil Company.

The No. 2-A Bird, located two miles northwest of Westbrook community, was digging past 1,100 feet. Location is 330 from south and 990 from west lines, north half, southwest quarter, 34-28-1n, T&P survey.

The No. 2-B Bird, 330 from south and east lines, southwest quarter, northwest quarter, 34-28-1n, T&P survey, is reported at 2,944 feet.

Dawson Gains New Producer

Western Drilling Company No. 1 Lattimore, 467 from west and 853 from south lines, 35-M-EL&RR Survey in the Welch field, pumped 66.24 barrels of oil on potential test.

The new Welch field well is about three miles southeast of Welch in Dawson County. Recovery was five per cent water. Gravity is 31.6 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 140-1. Operator used 12,000 gallons of acid.

Total depth is 4,949 feet, the 5 1/2-inch casing to 4,900, and pay top is 4,918.

No Limit To Drilling Changes, Says Pioneer Equipment Maker

LOS ANGELES, March 12 (AP)—Edwin Drake, who ushered in America's oil age at Titusville, Pa., in 1859, would think the movie-makers artists had been at work if he were to see Southern California's oil fields today.

That's the view of R. C. Baker, 82, noted inventor who has watched and aided the development of oil equipment since 1883.

"Drake, the railway conductor who drilled the world's first oil well, would be amazed if he could see the streamlined techniques of the last few years," Baker said.

"It's a far cry from the day I drove mules for Dohney down near Chinatown, and the time I was a tool dresser 62 years ago."

Baker's tools are used all over the world. His first major invention, the Baker Casing Shoe, was patented in 1905.

"They used rotary drilling when Santa Fe and Signal Hill came in 30 years ago. Ten years ago they were using steam. Now it's diesel. You've got to bite through all kinds of strata, sand and rock, and some of today's wells are four and five miles deep. Drake's well, you know, was only 69 feet deep," Baker said.

Baker talked glowingly of the future.

"Now there's practically no horizon. We have buried surface equipment, silenced pumps, camouflaged derricks and built artificial islands in the sea."

Not far from Baker's hilltop home in Whittier are the La Habra Heights oil fields.

Derricks there are disguised to blend with the surrounds. Some soundproofing "gowns" worn by the rigs cost up to $15,000. They're made of a heavy canvas fabric, chemically rendered fire resistant and silenced with glass wool padding.

In another new development, drilling contractors are using compressed air to cut costs and speed their work.

Air has been used to drill hard-rock sections of several wells, to core an oil sand, to drill into a weak pay zone, to get through cavernous formations. But camouflage and new power sources aren't the only innovations.

In Long Beach, harbor visitors may drive by thousands of barrels of oil without knowing that it has been pumped from below the ocean floor.

One Western derrick manufacturer reported that in the 1920s and 1930s, it sold steel derricks by the thousands every year. Last year it sold only seven. Now the firm sells portable jackknife masts that can be moved after the wells come in.

Pennsylvanian Shows Due Test In S'west Kent County

Casing was being set this weekend at Sunray and Seaboard No. 4 R. L. Spries, wildcat in Southwest Kent County, for production tests in the Pennsylvanian lime.

The prospector has logged shows for possible production in the formation between 6,745 and 6,795 feet, total depth.

The best show of oil was in the 39-foot zone from 6,745 to 6,755 feet, where a one hour test was taken. Recovery was 120 feet of free oil and 120 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Second test from 6,749 to 6,780 feet had recovery of 60 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud and a small amount of free oil. The other test from 6,788 to 6,795 feet, with tool open an hour, had recovery of 15 feet of drilling mud with a rainbow show of oil and oil odor.

There was no formation water in any section sampled.

Drillite is 660 from south and 1,980 from east lines, section 28, block 4, H&GN survey, about one and three-quarters miles southeast of the Spries (Strawn) field.

I'm married, have four children who are pre-school age and they are no better or no worse than any other. Just normal and noisy. Also have 2 dogs, one registered Boxer, one registered Heinz (57 varieties). Will look at any place. Can put up with the neighbors if the neighbors can put up with us.

The better the place and the cheaper the rent, the better I'll like it.

Billy Graham Off To Europe For Revivals

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham left today for a four-month revival tour in Europe.

Embarking on the French liner Liberte, Graham told newsmen the tour will cost about $150,000. He said about 70 per cent of that amount already has been realized through contributions.

Graham, who visited England last year, said the people in Europe are expecting a genuine religious revival.

"I cannot bring it," he said. "If it comes, it must come from God." He said that, if it is true the West needs a spiritual revival to survive, the mission he is on "is more important than any diplomatic or political mission."

Graham will open a six-week tour of Scotland March 21. He is scheduled to appear in London's Wembley Stadium May 14. Other cities on his itinerary are Rotterdam, Oslo, Gothenburg, Sweden; Frankfurt, Hamburg, Stuttgart, and possibly Berlin, in Germany; and Zurich and Geneva in Switzerland.

He has a Vienna appearance scheduled tentatively and will stop in Paris before returning to the United States about Aug. 1.

Monday Is 'Tax Assistance Day'

Monday is Tax Assistance Day at the Internal Revenue Service office, according to agent-in-charge Ben Hawkins.

The office will be open all day to assist taxpayers with their problems, Hawkins said. However, persons must come to the office prepared to ask specific questions.

Agents will not have time to prepare returns for taxpayers, he said. Returns should be in an advanced stage of preparation before coming to the office. Agents will assist by answering any questions the taxpayer may have or clearing up any tax difficulty.

The IRS office is located on the third floor of the Petroleum Building. The office will be open all day each Monday prior to the April 15 deadline for filing returns.

All other days the agents will be out of the office and not available to assist taxpayers. However, assistance can be obtained by calling 4-2612 at any time Hawkins said.

BOOK REVIEWS

Humor, Suspense, Satire Featured

"SIR HENRY" by Robert Nathan, Knopf, 187 pp., $3.

Sir Henry is a likeable fellow and very practical. He might easily be any one of your friends, except for one thing.

Sir Henry happens to be a knight.

And, like all knights, he slays dragons and evades sorcerers. He is also on call at all times to fight other knights for honor's sake.

He fights one battle too many, however and is saddled with an extra woman to maintain. Two women prove to be more dangerous to the stalwart knight than ogres, dragons, and wild boars.

This satirical book might be the best of Nathan's works. Humorous to the point of hilarity, Sir Henry is a character to be sympathized with and even admired.

His best joust, which he wins on the second try, is with a strawman. But he wins his best prize as a result.

This is a delightful book and worthy of re-reading. Nathan has written one of the best books to grace the book store's shelves in a long time. If you plan to read only one book this year, don't miss this one.

"THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR" by James Street, Dealy Press, 180 pp., $3.

Street has a humorous and factual style of writing history. But his best attribute is the exploding of myths that have somehow become a part of history, especially American history.

He reports the events as they happened and leaves out the myths and fancies of more imaginative minds. This book is not a duplication of the history learned in school about the Revolutionary War.

Street points out that the success-

Says He'll Sing At Margaret's Wedding

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 12 (AP)—Vernon Roberts, the calypso musician known as the "Mighty Panther," said today he is on his way to England to "sing at the wedding" of Princess Margaret.

Roberts sang for the princess during her recent Caribbean tour.

cessful completion of the War was a matter of luck, France, and a small handful of Americans because not all the colonists were behind Washington's army. A large per cent of them fought with the British. Another large segment of the population remained aloof throughout the War and did not help either side.

A small minority of colonists contributed the efforts necessary to put the United States of America on the map.

He also points out many of the myths and fairy tales which have grown out of the War. Washington standing up in a longboat crossing the turbulent river is one; Betsy Ross and the "first flag" is another.

He makes a very interesting point about our heritage. He says it isn't necessary to have a lot of myths and fairy tales intermingled with our history in order to be proud of it. Street insists that the Revolutionary War was a great war with great men participating in it. But he says this is a matter of fact and doesn't need a lot of fol-de-rol to make it greater.

This is a good factual book with a humorous vein. Street has the rare ability to make history even more interesting than it sometimes is.

"THE LONG GOODBYE" by Raymond Chandler, Pocket Books Inc., 332 pp., 25 cents.

Raymond Chandler has no peer in the detective story field. Other writers occasionally equal his ability, but few can match his consistent quality.

His secret, perhaps, is the believability of his characters and story. His main character is Philip Marlowe, a private detective. But Marlowe would not fit in a Mickey Spillane book.

He is not a sadist; he is not a wow with the women; and he is not crawling into bed on every other page. He does not beat up every male he sees, rather he is beaten up more often than not. In all, he is a seemingly inoffensive fellow.

In this book, he befriends Terry who, Marlowe thinks, hasn't got a friend. He assists him in leaving the country which very nearly lands Marlowe in jail. Then, Marlowe finds that Terry had many friends, including multi-millionaires, big-time gangsters, a best selling novelist, and two beautiful women.

Yet, all these friends warn Marlowe not to help Terry any further. Why? Chandler builds a good plot to answer the question.

Humor plays an integral part of Marlowe's life, but not the horse laugh type. It is more grim and realistic.

Even if you don't like mystery and detective stories, try this one. Chandler will keep you interested.

"NOW IS THE TIME" by Lillian Smith, Viking Press, 128 pp., $2.

From her home atop a Georgia mountain, Lillian Smith looks down on the rest of us and offers some rather superficial advice on the "segregation" problem. In particular, she proffers a few bromides in defense of the Supreme Court decision to abolish segregation in public schools.

This is not the place to argue the pros and cons of the Court's opinion. And apparently, Lillian Smith did not feel her book was the proper place either. She has only the fear of Communist propaganda and a few meaningless bromides to offer as an answer to the problem.

At no time is there any effort made in this book to propound a workable solution to "de-segregation" and equality of the races. On close examination, she offers very little in ideas or statements which will bear up as new or novel or practically workable.

Books, such as this one, will not provide a solution to the problem. It can only drive the persons of different opinions farther apart. More factual, reasonable, and understanding methods will have to be found. Lillian Smith should leave the problem to more able minds.

For in books like this is bred the seeds of hatred. It stirs the passions, not the reason.

All Types Of Atomic Weapons Ready, With Means To Deliver

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—American bombers flying at 30,000 feet can explode a nuclear bomb within a 200-foot radius of the point at which they aim.

From the large "family" of nuclear weapons in the American arsenal, a bomb fitted for the size of a chosen target can be selected. The choice extends from "little" bombs, suitable for erasing an average size airfield, to the gargantuan H-bomb adequate for taking out a whole military area.

The vehicle to deliver the bombs range from carrier-based Navy aircraft to the heavyweight strategic bombers of the U.S. Air Force—a dozen different types of planes to handle many different sizes of bomb.

This—but particularly the smaller, tactical-size nuclear fission bombs—obviously was what Secretary of State Dulles had in mind when he said this week:

"The United States in particular has sea and air forces now equipped with new and powerful weapons of precision, which can utterly destroy military targets without endangering unrelated civilian centers."

Dulles made the statement in pointing out what could happen if the Chinese Reds chose open aggression in Asia.

Airmen say a single American plane with a single bomb can "put out the lights" of, say, an airfield but leave the lights burning brightly in the city neighboring the destroyed field.

Or if all-out war came, and circumstances demanded, all the lights on all the airfields in China could be put out.

What Dulles was emphasizing was the sharp distinction between war against enemy soldiers and war against the noncombatants. He was talking of weapons to destroy military targets without destroying cities.

The pin-point bombing of 1955 has little resemblance to the precision bombing claimed during World War II. In that war, errors resulted in the bombing of wrong targets, of friendly forces, of empty fields five miles from a target city.

An example of a bomber 30,000 feet high detonating an atomic bomb within 200 feet of the circle above "ground zero" was seen by newsmen three years ago at the Nevada proving grounds. In 1946, some of these same men had seen an atomic bomb miss the target by more than 1,800 feet. There are reasons to believe that drops frequently are made even more accurate than that witnessed by the newsmen in 1953.

Influenza Still Is Leading Infection

Influenza led the local communicable disease report again last week, the number of cases being 79. Local doctors also reported nine cases of pneumonia.

MULCH FOR ROSES AND SHRUBS—is very important on these windy days as it keeps the moisture from evaporating so quickly. Because she knows the value of mulching plants at this time of the year, Mrs. J. W. Dickens (at left) president of the Planters Garden Club, saves the leaves raked from her yard in the spring clean-up.
(Photos by Keith McMullin)

AN EASY JOB—but, oh so necessary in having a pretty lawn! Mrs. Don Burk, (pictured right), Green Thumb Garden Club president, distributes fertilizer evenly with a spreader and then will water the grass generously. With this helpful little gadget, there is not so much danger of burning the lawn if plenty of water is applied.

WAR ON INSECTS—must be waged constantly, and Mrs. Dale Smith (in photo below) believes in starting early. She is correct, too, as spraying should be done before fruit tree buds begin to burst into bloom. Mrs. Smith is the president of the Spaders Garden Club.

Flower Gardeners Are Busy

PERENNIALS FOR FRIENDS—that's one of the nicest things about having a garden. At left, Mrs. D. S. Riley, Big Spring Garden Club president, generously divides her young plants with friends as she transplants her perennials. Here, she digs some of the Bells of Ireland, which are so nice to have for various arrangements.

PRUNING ROSES—can be done safely this month, since there is not so much likelihood that new growth will be caught by a late freeze. It's better to be a little late with rose-pruning than too early, warns Mrs. Tip Anderson Sr., (pictured right) since the shock of the pruning will bring on the new limbs and branches. The Rosebud Garden Club is under her leadership for this year.

Newcomers' Names Are In Famous Category

A family of famous names! That's what the Sawyer family is. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sawyer, 1500 Lincoln have recently moved here with their two sons, Michael, 4, and Patrick, 3. You shouldn't have to be told how those two names will be shortened!

HABERDASHER TOUCH

Man's Shirt Combines Well With Femininity

Anne Fogarty has taken the shirtwaist dress fad literally by making the bodice of this model an almost exact replica of a man's shirt. It has the authentic touch of the haberdasher in the way the tailored collar is set on a neck band, the shoulder yoke releases a back pleat, and the buttonhole panel is open stitched.

Fogarty's femininity takes over however, when it comes to the sleeves which are properly French-cuffed and linked but which end a couple of inches above the wrist bone. The cinched waist serves to emphasize the pretty fullness of the shirred and flared skirt with a front pleat on the center seam.

First shown in taffeta, it is just as devastating in chambray, gingham, prints (lawn, silk or novelty cotton) shantung and, for later on, brocades.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

The ringing of the 4 o'clock bell Thursday afternoon was met with more "Yippees" and rushing than usual because that was the beginning of a long weekend. Uh-huh, a long weekend full of fun and loafing away from classes. (We, all probably needed a couple of more days to recuperate from the bombs that fell Wednesday — report cards!) Anyway, the teachers' meeting in Lubbock on Friday was greeted with great enthusiasm by all of us.

This last week has been Texas Public Schools Week and activities at school concerning the special emphasis on education have been spearheaded by the Future Teachers of America Club. The FTA set up a registration table in the foyer and the total number of guests to sign their little book was thirty-five.

In addition to this, several members of the FTA acquired specific knowledge of what it was like to actually teach a class. Wednesday was observation day at various elementary schools. Then on Thursday, they took over a couple of classes and taught grade school children. Some of these future teachers are Marylee James, Joyce Lankford, Betty Cain, Betty Earley, Margaret Martin, Bill Bradley, and Charlie McCarty.

Flying through the air with the greatest of ease and in the meantime getting dizzier and dizzier was the experience of several kids at the assembly Tuesday morning. The Rockwells presented the program which consisted of tips for beginning skaters and skating stunts. Mr. Rockwell swung several students around, while gathering speed on his skates. He proved to the boys also blowing up balloons that out of Frosty Robinson, Jerry Graves, and Jimmy Montgomery—Jimmy had the most hot air in him.

Big Spring stands out on the map again when it comes to the achievement of her youth. Glenn Rogers has won second in a state leadership contest sponsored by the Elks Lodge. Glenn and Ginger Hatch were the local winners of the leadership contest while Brownie Rogers placed in the scholarship division. Glenn will receive $50 for his honor.

Two VIC students walked off with several honors in Snyder at the district meet last Saturday. Jimmy Gill and Truman Mason both placed in several events. Now they've set their eyes on the state convention in Waco next month.

In the homemaking department, one area officer, LaVelle Wasson, retired from duty while another outstanding FTA girl, Frances Reagan, took office. Frances was installed as vice president of the area for the forthcoming year.

If you've noticed Bobby McCarty being a little extra happy these days it's because he's received word of his appointment at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. It was the result of countless hours of study and tests. However, more examinations are still required.

The glittering gold trophies being brought to school by a couple of independent basketball teams have been double checked by this corner. The latest one has been on display in the office this week and it bears the mark of second place in the recent Sterling City tournament. Some of the members of this team that so generously gave the trophy to the school are: Joe Liberty, Frank Hardesty, Dickie Milam, Charles Clark and Lefty Reynolds.

With the choir contest on April 2 in mind, our a cappella choir has tediously been practicing on "Ave Maria" and "To Thee We Sing" lately. Their constant practice should bring home some fine honors.

Calling All Seniors! This is our chance of the year to bring in the moolah for the utterly wonderful excursion that's known as the Senior trip. Several hundred dollars absolutely must be brought in if we will be able to exercise our privilege of a trip, and that can be accomplished through our play. The big dates come next Thursday and Friday so somebody's got to get busy in a hurry. Get your tickets now!

Incidentally the play, "One Foot in Heaven" is going to be simply the funniest thing ever. Robert Morehead and Clara Freeman portray a preacher and his wife in the leading roles. For a comical night of fun and laughter, make plans now to attend the play.

Add aching backs and sore muscles to mixed-up minds full of football plays and you'll just about have the contents of the participants in the Powder Puff Bowl. It's the Tri-Hi-Y girls' football game scheduled for next Saturday afternoon. Practice sessions have been under way every afternoon under the coaching of Freddie Black, Jerry Graves, and Dickie Milam. Tommie Jo Williamson has proved capable of quarterbacking the Juniors team while Barbara Bowen handles the Seniors team. Some of the other girls that are coming out are: Jackie Johnson, Donna Belew, Glenda Dudley, Sheila Sutphen, Anita Gardner, Julie Rainwater, Barbara Shields, Sherry Chastell, Marlene Mann and Mary Sue Hale for the Juniors. The Seniors are fielding Glenna Coffey, Janice Nalley, Marjion Harrison, Barbara Lewter, Marylee James, Belva Wren, Lida Turner, Sylvia Mendolia, and Londa Coker. All profits from the game go directly to charity. Admission will be 25 cents and 50 cents and the game will start at 3 Saturday afternoon.

Patty Gregory fills the bill as our next Senior-of-the-Week. Patty moved to Big Spring last year from Florida and since then has used her friendly personality in making many friends and in participating in many of our activities. She is filling the positions of choir reporter and FTA treasurer this year. She is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and the Corral staff. Patty worked hard on our homecoming last fall by serving as publicity chairman and Senior Class float manager. She has lately been using her acting ability as a member of the cast for "One Foot in Heaven." Patty plans to major in business at PCJCS next fall.

A Bible Thought For Today

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me; and the LORD, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts. (Malachi 3:1).

Revaluation Aims At More Values

School officials, commenting upon proposed revaluation of property for tax purposes, have injected a point which needs to be emphasized for sake of clearer thinking on the proposal.

Simply stated it boils down to this: revaluation would increase values. If this were not the prime objective, school officials indicated there would be little point in spending several thousand dollars as a contribution to a thorough job.

It is true that a meticulous and complete revaluation would contribute to equalization. When this was undertaken more than a decade ago, not all property was increased. Indeed, there were numerous examples where values were lowered on the ground that they had been over-assessed and those had been bearing more than a proportionate share of the load.

Yet in matters of equalization, the individual property owner has his recourse annually to the board of equalization, whose task is fundamentally what its name implies. There always is the right of appeal, even to the courts. If inequitable assessment can be demonstrated, then the law says that the charge must be made fair and equitable.

Revaluation goes further than this. Revaluation provides a more complete survey of all values. Although taxing agencies make an attempt to keep up with all new properties, through building permits and other means, it is inevitable that some will escape the attention of assessors. Over a long period of time this can get to be a considerable volume taking a free ride.

Revaluation takes a more recent and therefore a more realistic view of values. Both the City and Big Spring schools have pegged their value tables upon formulas geared to 1941.

Changes in construction techniques and most of all changes in land values make it possible that yesterday's tables will not fit today's conditions. For instance, one area of the city may be very popular as a residential section at a given time. Within a decade or more, another part or parts of the town may have become vastly more popular to the extent that values in the original area have declined, and by the same token have multiplied in the new. Too, location of facilities and institutions, roads, etc. can mitigate for and against values. Perhaps these factors should be taken into consideration year by year, but as practical matter the lag is costly to the agencies.

Yes, one of the prime objectives of revaluation will be to get more values through pegging to a current base and through an all-inclusive up-to-the-minute assessment. Officials and property owners alike need to recognize this.

Some fear that this means more taxes, and well it might. It is possible that at first the rate would be scaled down to produce about the same yield, which would mean that on the whole taxes would be about the same. In time, as city and school experience greater pressures for building, services and personnel, the levy might be raised. The new table of values would provide the extra margin.

The Program For An Earth Satellite

WASHINGTON—About two years from now—provided all goes according to plan—the United States should be ready to launch into space the world's first artificial earth satellite.

The satellite which is now being planned will be very different from the elaborate space ships usually envisioned. It is likely to be hardly larger than a soft ball, and it will probably weigh well under a hundred pounds. This small object will be hurled into space by means of a two- or three-stage rocket, reaching an "escape velocity" of just under eight miles a second in its final stage.

Thereafter, they say, they will circle the earth, at an altitude of 250 miles or more, like a ball at the end of a string, completing each circle in less than two hours. After some weeks, it will probably drift earthward as a result of slight atmospheric drag, and eventually it will disintegrate when it hits the denser atmosphere below.

Telemetering and other devices which can be built into such a tiny man-made moon can tell technicians on the earth below much about the great unknowns of space. Thus it will have very great scientific value. But, it should be understood, it will have no military application, at all—it could not be used to kill anybody, or even to spy on anybody.

It is for precisely this reason that no serious effort to get a satellite into space has heretofore been made even though seven or eight years ago the technicians of the Air Force's Rand Project ruled that a satellite was technically feasible. Opponents of the satellite project have hitherto argued successfully that first priority must be given to weapons with real military value—above all to the decisive weapon, the inter-continental ballistic missile, or I.B.M.

There are two main reasons why it has not nevertheless been decided to make a serious effort to achieve a satellite. In the first place, as the missile art has matured, it has become clear that a satellite is a way-station on the road to the I.B.M., and can be achieved without any great diversion of funds or manpower from the decisive weapon.

One might suppose that the problem of creating a 5,000-mile-range ballistic missile would be far easier than the problem of creating an artificial heavenly body. Actually, the satellite—or such a crude, preliminary satellite as that described above—is much easier.

The two worst headaches for the inter-continental missile designer—how to guide the missile accurately to its target half a world away, and how to prevent its disintegrating like a comet when it re-enters the atmosphere—do not exist for the designer of a satellite. The problem of design is also very much simplified because a small satellite like that described above weighs far less than the bulky hydrogen warhead of an inter-continental missile.

The total cost of getting such a small object into space has recently been estimated as low as $20 million—peanuts in the Pentagon—as against previous estimates of $1 billion or more. And intelligence analyses of Soviet progress in missiles have made a $20 million investment in a satellite project seem urgently desirable.

In recent months the Soviet press has been filled with boasts about future Soviet triumphs in space. Prof. Nesmeyanov, president of the august Soviet Academy of Sciences, passed the word: "Science has reached a point where it is realistic for us to speak of...creating an artificial satellite of the earth." Nesmeyanov's words have been echoed by numerous confident predictions by other Soviet scientists.

The intelligence experts have learned from sad experience, notably with both the atomic and the hydrogen bombs, that this sort of Soviet chest-thumping must be taken very seriously indeed. The prospect of permitting the Soviets to get the first artificial satellite into space seemed more intolerable the more the problem was considered.

The Russians would gain enormous prestige in the scientific world, as well as registering a huge propaganda victory, if they were the first to break the bonds of gravity. But that is by no means all. Even assuming that the first Soviet satellite missile lacked a practical military application, it would represent a great first step into an unknown future.

Dr. Walter Dornberger, creator of the German V-2, which is the ancestor of all missiles, has said that the first nation to take this step will "lead mankind into the future." This may be an exaggeration. But the time may and almost certainly will come when future versions of a satellite will have great military value for reconnaissance, for missile guidance, and for other purposes yet unguessed at.

Thus the decision to make a serious effort to get the first crude satellite into space is not the hair-brained fantasy it may seem at first blush. It is plain common sense. In these days when our technological lead over the Soviets represents all the security we have left.

Inquiry Has Been Healthy Thing For Stock Market

PHILADELPHIA — "This is Clarence Ostema of the Philadelphia Securities Company," said the voice over the telephone. "I've talked to you before. I wish you'd write an article telling Sen. Fulbright to get off the market's back. Let him investigate easy credit in real estate. That's where the danger is. There's no need for him to ruin the stock market."

Ostema is a salesman. Since the Senate Banking and Currency Committee began its "friendly inquiry" into the stock market, customers have been calling him up. They're worried. Should they get out of stocks?

Naturally, Ostema doesn't like it. He's a vendor of stocks, even as Winthrop H. Smith, managing partner of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane. His business depends on the confidence — the optimism — of customers. He can't sell when people are worried.

But Smith wouldn't agree with Ostema. Smith doesn't think the inquiry is on the market's back. The stock market has its ups and downs, Smith testified. One of the down phases happened to coincide with the inquiry.

For my money, the inquiry is the best thing that could have happened to Wall Street. It has caused many holders of securities to survey the outlook for business and profits during the rest of 1955. It has provided a flash-back to the boom psychology of the twenties.

Maybe, many persons reflected, this market has gone up too fast. Former Reserve Board chairman Marriner S. Eccles and Harvard Professor John K. Galbraith think so. Both urged increases in margin requirements. This type of thinking is around. It puts a crimp in speculative enthusiasm, whether the Reserve acts or not. For speculators are fearful that the Reserve will act.

To be sure, nobody knows whether the stock market is too high or not. Smith made that point — and wisely.

But this much we do know. The rise in stocks has decreased their attractiveness. Income-wise, in relation to bonds. In 1950, industrial stocks sold to yield better than 6 per cent. At the same time, high grade corporate bonds yielded about 2 1/2 per cent. Then, the return on bonds was only 40 per cent of that on stocks.

Now, the return on industrial stocks is down to 4.2 per cent. Bond yields have risen to 2.9 per cent (see chart). You do only 67 per cent of what you used to get.

Production of automobiles, steel, textiles, paperboard have all been advancing. Recovery has been on a broad front.

Nevertheless, automobile production has far outstripped demand. Some falling off along about May or June seems inevitable — strike or no strike. Home-building has been going along so rapidly that it may slow up.

Therefore, the second half may not measure up to the first half of production, employment or profits. Sooner or later, investors and speculators would have recognized this. The inquiry brought on the recognition a bit sooner.

It may be that the market will decide — after reappraisal — that all's well, that business won't go down much; that the second half will only produce a minor hesitation in a long-term uptrend. Then stocks would resume the rise. Nevertheless, the reappraisal, the pause brought on by the hearings, is healthy.

So, Mr. Ostema, the answer is, "No. I won't write an article asking Sen. Fulbright to lay off."

Great Books Club Starts 2nd Year

The Great Books discussion group will begin its second year, Thursday night at the Howard County Junior College.

Topic of the discussion will be Homer's "Odyssey." The Rev. Otis Moore is the discussion leader and he urges all interested persons to attend the meeting.

If there are enough new members to make a start, the group will be made to start them off as a "first year" discussion group he said. Otherwise, newcomers may enter into the present group which consists of about 15 persons.

The group meets at 7:30 p.m.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 19:12 "Who can discern the error of his ways? Cleanse thou me from secret faults."

The 19th Psalm is one of reflection upon the inner life. The Psalmist having spoken his praise of the world as a theatre for the display of divine glory, and paid his tribute to the inspired Scriptures, now turns his eye upon the inward life of his soul to offer the prayer: "Who can discern the error of his ways? Cleanse thou me from secret faults." He has found God in nature, God in Scripture, and he has found God in his own heart.

The Psalmist here is not concerned with sins hidden from the eyes of men, but rather the sins hidden from his own eyes. Down below the conscious realm of life is a great dim region of unconscious habits, impulses, emotions, and evils. We overlook our own sin, can never unravel its deceitfulness, or picture its inward folly. Only God can discern the secret error of our ways and grant us cleansing.

Things Are Not Quite As Bad As They Seem

Every once in awhile, the newspapers hear from their critics with the complaint that there is too much crime news in the headlines; that there is too much of the misfortunes and the wickedness of the people brought into print.

Well, sometimes it looks that way, but the percentages are never as bad as they seem. You can find a mighty lot of space devoted to the good the clubs are doing, the achievements of the young people; the successes of the people and their better institutions in general.

Besides, the everyday goodness about us just isn't news. We couldn't very well print that "John Jones didn't cut up his business partner with a razor today. Nobody really expected him to. And if John just happened to do it, the act jumps out of daily routine and becomes a topic of conversation and interest, and therefore news. As long as your neighbor's house doesn't burn down, there's not much point in talking about it. When it does go up in flames, there's something that you and everybody else becomes concerned with, and therefore news.

So there is so much good, and so much of the usual way of life taking place all the time that there's no room in printed pages to put it. The fact that the misfortunes and the evils are heralded would indicate that they are unusual.

Fellow in that Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times, dug up some statistics, reliable or not, just to indicate that things are not always as bad as they seem. Just to show you that there are some reflections from the sunny side of life, he reported as follows:

There are 162,922,000 Americans who are not members of the Communist Party. Some 37,011,460 couples will stay more or less happily married during the year. On the average, there are 63,880,000 people working to bring home the bacon.

Last year, the scheduled airlines safely carried passengers 18,902,134,841 miles in the U. S. and possessions; railroads safely carried passengers 31,674,931,200 miles. Some 162,717,890 persons will not die of cancer in 1955.

And 172,380,580 persons will be safe from fatal heart attacks.

About 629,000,000 acres of forest land will not be set on fire by careless smokers and picnic-goers this year.

Most of the time, 15,720,000 organized workers are not on strike.

Of the 18,977,472 little boys in the country who are under the age of 10, only six or possibly seven will have to go through the terrible ordeal of being President of the United States.

At least 162,944,424 peoples have not been frightened by seeing flying saucers hurtle through the air.

The Internal Revenue Service will find that 43,846,154 income tax returns are filed correctly in 1955.

Finally, there are 83 countries in the world that have not discovered the secret of the hydrogen bomb.

And I guess he could have said that 34,220,496 husbands and wives are not going to have a spat today. At least, nobody is going to find out about it if they do.

Sure, things are OK, if you just take the trouble to do some digging for the realities.

How To Fulfill Your Greatest Expectations

This is the story of a dynamic eighty-two-year-old. If you saw him, you wouldn't believe that this is his age. I know that I didn't, for he is an expert in vital living.

More than twenty years ago, this man was a small banker in the Midwest. Then along came the great depression and he lost his bank and everything he had. There he was at sixty, without money, without a job and living through one of the most terrible times our nation has ever seen.

He walked the streets of Chicago, trying to find something to do. His only training was in banking and banks were closing every day. In any event, no one wanted a man past forty.

It was prayer and faith that remade his life. Finally, he got down on his knees and said: "Dear Lord, I've been a banker all my life. I'm sixty now. I've lost the bank, so I suppose it means You don't want me to be a banker any more. But, Lord, although I'm sixty, I'm still strong and I've got a good mind. And I believe in You and feel Your presence. You tell me what to do and there will be wonderful days ahead."

As it turned out, the next few days weren't any more wonderful than the days before that. But on one of those days, he had finished the want ads in the classified section of the newspaper, when something else caught his eye. It was an advertisement for an old Florida hotel, built during the boom and for sale at a sacrifice.

Something said to him to call up the owners and ask about it. But he couldn't imagine doing anything like that. So he kept looking for a job. After several days, he found that he was continually thinking about that hotel. He called and got the price, a sum far beyond his slim resources. He hadn't even a hundred dollars left.

He prayed again and said: "Lord, you brought that advertisement to my attention. I know nothing about the hotel business, but I am willing to try it, though I haven't the money it will take."

And the Lord seemed to say to him: You have some good friends. Go to each one and ask them to help you.

He did just that, but got only a little money. Times were hard for everyone. He took the money, went to the hotel people and said, "This is all I can raise."

"You can have the hotel," they told him. "This seemed strange to him, but when he got to Florida, he found out why. The paint was peeling off, the floorboards were rotten — it was filled with cobwebs, there wasn't a stick of furniture or a piece of carpet in the place, and they had even taken the faucets off the sinks.

"Lord," he asked, "why did You ever get me into this?"

And the Lord seemed to say that things would work out all right. With hard work and God's guidance, they did. That hotel was booked up all through the winter this season.

"Do you know," my eighty-two-year-old friend told me, "it is a fact that God will help you if you ask Him and trust him. I did not know the first thing about running a hotel. But God knows all about every business and I just asked Him and He told me what to do. These last twenty-two years have been the most wonderful of my life. You and I know, don't we, that all a man has to do is to walk hand in hand with God, work hard and do right and He will lead you where He wants you to go."

This is a simple philosophy but simple people often have a wisdom the rest of us lack. My elderly friend had learned the great truth — that, if we permit God to put great expectations into our hearts, He will help us fulfill them. It is a philosophy I can heartily recommend. I know it works.

Lack Of Funds Threatens U.N. Projects

WASHINGTON — In the increasingly vocal campaign against the United Nations there is an undercurrent of hostility aimed at forcing the United States to retreat from the world organization. One evidence is the road block put up in Congress against an appropriation to cover America's share of the U. N. Technical Assistance Fund.

With economic aid as with the military establishment, stopping and starting and then stopping again is proving costly not alone in terms of money but in relation to the alliances that America has built in Europe and in Asia. Congress appropriates on an annual basis for specific purposes. But underdeveloped countries trying to plan their economic future must project programs far into the years ahead.

That is a basic conflict which is well illustrated in the comparatively small appropriation — $8,000,000 — for America's current share of the U. N. assistance program. If Congress does not act quickly about half of the U. N. long-range projects will have to be suspended and perhaps even discontinued.

Each fall U. N. officials directing the program meet for a pledging session at which the participating nations pledge their contributions for the next calendar year. Last fall while U. S. representatives were present, they could make no pledge, since in the Senate it was specifically stated that no commitment should be made until Congress had reviewed the program again. Congress appropriates, of course, for a fiscal year which runs from July 1 to June 30.

The annual American contribution averaging in recent years about $13,000,000 is half of the total. But if local contributions to the respective programs are included, the U. S. contribution comes out to only 22 per cent of all the funds spent. The $8,000,000 now urgently sought is to keep the projects going for the first half of this year. It would be necessary to go back to Congress for additional funds for the latter half of the year.

Strong support for the program has come from various quarters with responsible Americans testifying to how much good it does for the relatively small amounts of money expended. One of the witnesses before a Senate committee considering technical assistance programs was Henry Ford II who was a member of the American delegation to the U. N. in 1953.

Ford pointed out that more than 4,000 specialists, of whom over 20 per cent were Americans, have gone out to work on such projects as disease control, education, public administration and the improvement of agriculture. These projects involve very little capital investment and most of the money goes for instruction and demonstration at the grass roots.

Similar testimony came from Wallace J. Campbell of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. He pointed out that 13 nations had increased their contributions this year. In his testimony Ford recommended that the U. N. assistance program be slowly but steadily expanded until it reaches a size of about $50,000,000 a year. Like other witnesses, however, he said he did not believe that all American technical assistance should be turned over to the U. N. The U. S. contribution is only a small part of what this country spends on assistance programs.

Until two years ago Soviet Russia had no part in U. N. technical assistance. But in 1953 Russia and several of the satellites made contributions. They had apparently realized how effective the program was in underdeveloped areas. In his statement Ford said that we should never be afraid of letting the free world see Soviet and American experts side by side, since "in any fair competition we will win out."

The hazard is that if America defaults, the Communists will set out to capture the program and put it on a basis of rubles rather than dollars. They would certainly capitalize in their propaganda on American failure. And it would take very little effort on their part since in each of the 60 or more countries where the U. N. operates it would inevitably be known that American failure to contribute had called a halt to the work in progress.

Cookies For The Camp

Typical of the Girl Scouts and Brownies all through the West Texas Area is Madlyn Culpepper as she makes a sale of Girl Scout cookies for the scout camp fund. The sale, which started Saturday, will continue throughout the week. Land for Camp Boothe Oaks near Sweetwater was bought with proceeds from cookie sales as were the kitchen-dining hall and swimming pool. Madlyn, a member of Brownie Troop No. 1, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Culpepper, 1900 11th Place.

Modern Girls Look Smart On Shoestring

By VIVIAN BROWN
Time was when only girls with big allowances could wear a band-box look. It took a lot of Dad's hard-earned cash to put it over. These days any young lady can look smart on a shoestring. Chic coiffures and fashionable clothes are made possible for young adults struggling through school on a lean purse. With a little know-how a fair lady can stitch up a smart ensemble in jig time for a special date. She permanent waves her own hair and cuts it to suit her fancy. Her fingernails are manicured but not necessarily colored (except for special occasions.) She saves on cosmetics, too, as the scrubbed look is still popular in her set. She is figure-conscious, resisting sweets. The saved pennies are put into good-fitting girdles, bras, crinolines and materials for sewing projects. She is better groomed than her big sister was a few years back. She is radiant with a satin smooth, clear complexion, and skin problems are fewer. Her hair is glossy, due to good health, better living and industrious use of the hair brush. Her permanent-waved hair gives her a casual rather than stereotyped look that typed the wearers of waved topknots a few summers ago. More than 65 per cent of women over the age of 15 are said to be doing their own permanent waving at home. Newer pin-curl type permanents make the job a breeze. Hair is set, wet and presto—a casual permanent that looks like it was designed by Mother Nature. A young lady trims her hair first, shampoos it, then pin-curls it. She saturates the little curls with lotion while the hair is still damp. After 15 minutes (with the pins still in) she rinses out the lotion with warm water. She blots the hair gently with a towel, allows the hair to dry naturally and removes the pins. When the hair is brushed into place the result is a charming carefree effect that is youthful and captivating. Mrs. T. B. Clifton and Mrs. W. R. Phillips have returned from San Antonio and Corpus Christi where they visited relatives and friends.

Something New Added In Cans-Terrapin
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Gourmets may shudder at the thought, but the University of Maryland has in mind an experiment to determine if a famed Maryland delicacy—terrappin—can be canned. The job will start on a small scale while experts at a seafood processing laboratory attempt to find a cheap and practical method of processing the delicacy. Lab men have a couple of thousand subjects available for experimentation. They were shipped from a U. S. government pool in Beaufort, N. C., to make room for fish undergoing H-bomb radiation tests.

You Need Your CHURCH.....Your CHURCH Needs You!

HOLD YOUR BREATH

This young lady might miss the next step and take a nasty tumble!

Of course her parents wouldn't dream of letting her try those stairs alone until they had taken every precaution to teach her how to manage them carefully and safely. But regardless of precautions, sooner or later she has to run the risk of trying them on her own.

Every adventure in growing up has its element of danger, and wise parents are very careful to see that the child shall be trained to meet these dangers with the least risk to her physical health.

But what about the far greater risk to this child's moral and spiritual health when she has to face the really big perils of life on her own? When not a broken bone or two but her character is at stake—what then?

The Church will give your child—and help you give your child—the care and training she needs for meeting life's greatest risks safely and triumphantly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Feminine Elegance Characterizes New In Shoe Fashions For Spring

Both sides are winning in the open-and-closed battle of shoe fashions for this spring and summer. Most women are going to buy both. The open shoes are so pretty, so flattering, so seductive, let us say, that they are quite irresistible. And lots of women haven't even worn them yet. They are far from being out of the picture.

collar, a narrow tailored strap and buckle right across the vamp. Something new, different, sophisticated which makes the spring '33 spectator a high fashion shoe and a far cry from the brown-and-whites and black-and-whites of other days.

There are some combinations in spectators, but they are new too. Two colors combine, but they're different, more subtle. Two materials combine — one of the muted spring shades perhaps in suede or reptile, with tip and fox of exactly matching polished leather.

DRESSY, U-WING MODELS PLUS wing-back feature move into the new season in smooth redwood leather. Here's a dressy shoe to wear with patterned hose. (By Thom McAn).

However, there is a trend toward a slight modification of the extremely naked look, an appearance of a little more shoe without a way detracting from the delicacy of the pattern. Sometimes it's a closed back, sometimes a vamp which covers the toe but is opened up in a pretty pattern above it. Sometimes closed toe, with just a halter strap to keep the shoe in place.

There is also a slight indication of moving away from the very wide toe opening, or putting the opening on an asymmetric line which is still airy and graceful but hints at a little more shoe.

Silings, graceful fluid lines and T-strap sandals are the big favorites in open shoes, but in many the extremely wide toe opening has been modified.

The backless shoe refuses to be downed. In fact it is more popular than ever. The little magic gadget which makes the shoe cling to the foot has encouraged a lot of women to try the daring backless fashion. As a matter of fact, it's extremely smart and sophisticated.

In closed shoes the pump on slim and elegant lines is still the Easter shoe par excellence. Not pointed, delicately tapered, with heels slimmer, more curved. There's a bit of perforation on many of the pumps. Sometimes a flat buckle. Sometimes an underlay of contrasting leather which suggests a buckle without interfering with the clean line of the vamp.

Here, too, are discreet touches of decoration. Perforations around the

Flowers Now Trim Many Smart New Shoes For Spring

Right from sunny California came the first rage for flower trims. Starting with flats and casuals, in fabrics and woven straws and straw cloths, their freshness and young look quickly caught on until the vogue for flower trims is nation wide.

It isn't restricted to casuals any more. Some of the prettiest party shoes, particularly the open sandal types, add a cluster of blossoms on the vamp for that new feminine look.

Some of the blossom trims are really wonderful—delicate ceramic blossoms in Dresden blues and pinks, with gleaming green leaves. Some are made of jewels—rhinestones, fake sapphires and emeralds for dazle. Pearl-finish blossoms match the shoe, pick up the new luster tints.

A far cry from these exquisite trifles, but just as smart in their place, are the flowers in the new hot colors, made of felt, exotic straws or what have you, in the blazing hot tones of orange, violet, pink or Oriental yellow. Sometimes it's just a single large blossom planted on a wide open patio or cabana backless sandal in linen, canvas, cottons or straws.

TAKE A BREATHER in airy, moccasin style shoes for spring—here nylon and grain cloth are blended to provide ease and comfort. (By Nunn-Bush).

Lower Heel, High Style, Aid Posture

Shoe designers have really caught on for this spring. Perhaps it's the new lengthened torso silhouette that did it. A girl just can't teeter and tilt on spikes with these suave and elegant costume lines.

Whatever the reason, instead of tip-tilted noses at medium heels we now have the smartest of new designs, with just as much high-style stinking and know-how as ever went into the most extreme of the formal town shoes.

What a relief — to have pretty feet and able to walk with ease and grace at one and the same time. And there's a choice for every taste and every costume.

The closed pump is a leader in this modified heel division—because every woman wants at least one pump for her spring town costume. Instead of looking clumsy on the lower heel, it has a slim, sleek graceful look of great elegance, due to the tapering of the toe, the slimming of the heel.

Practically every one has a distinctive touch of detailing, delicate, never intrusive. Typical, a town pump of black, blue or chestnut brown polished leather, the top delicately etched with stitching on either side of a fine pintucked row. Another in smooth calf with matching medium heel has contrasting luster trim around the throat, and a string vamp bow.

Patent is very important in the picture of the lower heel town pump. It's slightly dressier than the polished leathers, will go with silks as well as wools. The shaped slender heel complements the narrow toe and look of the vamp.

Really dressed up, the medium heel patent leather sandal, in modified, T strap or open halter design, open toe, with touch of decoration, perhaps a flat ribbon bow, or a square or oval patent buckle with a sparkle of white nailheads to match crisp white glaze gloves.

Black patent also combines with white suede in some new spectators that are smart indeed. Heel, quarter and tip of black patent low cut sides and vamp of white suede with overlapping rows of perforations for tailored trim. Something for the new black and white tweeds and suitings that are headlines this season.

There's hardly a man today who doesn't boast a pair of laceless shoes in his wardrobe. In spite of the trend toward more conventional styling in town and business shoes, the ease and comfort of the slip-on continues to appeal. And with high school and college age it's highly popular, especially with novelty wetting and crepe rubber soles.

Combinations of suede and smooth leather are no longer important. Smooth leathers or soft grained are the thing. The moccasin front and the "run-around" are the leaders in the slip-on field, although some copy the U and wing-tip styling of more conventional shoes.

The tassel moccasin is still a favorite, especially with younger wearers who seem to like it best in polished black. It can do duty as a party shoe, it seems. And there are wearers who like the laceless shoe with the zipper closing because of the neat trim line over the instep.

In the smooth leathers, black is important for early spring. Deep charcoal is considered smart with dark flannels. The browns and tans of this season are livelier in tone, and cordovan is a hit fashion. In the cashmere-soft grain leathers the trend toward dark colors, is also noticeable, although these are the leathers that appeal to the school and college set. Black, charcoal grey or brown and walnut are leaders. If it's purely a casual shoe, the maple and camel tones may be the thing. Of course, the new lowline look is a feature.

Elk is a good leather, soft and sturdy, for these shoes for everyday wear, and there is rising interest in the soft glove leather types. Some suedes and bucko leathers, although these are more in line for fall.

There will be sandals of course, as warm weather comes on. The casual sandal of leather with the adjustable buckle vamp is a good style that will continue to be important. It fits well. It's practical. Red, brown, navy, beige, tan — all good for these. A little more dressed up and sophisticated is the closed vamp sandal which may be in white, pastels, black patent or white.

Advances in tanning of leathers for use in making shoes has brought some spectacular new textures and finishes to the field for use in shoes for women, men, boys and girls.

Probably newest are the woven leathers. Others are perforated leathers, cork grains, pebble grains, shrunken grains, llama grains, swirl effects, and soft crushed leathers. Each creates an opportunity for endowing shoes with fresh "Personality."

GLOWING ELEGANCE OF THE RENAISSANCE PERIOD is reflected in a fragile-looking late day pump of softly polished calf with distinctive black scrolling. (By Andrew Geller).

Exciting Newer Wedgies Boast A Special Flair

Wedgies have come a long way from their utilitarian start. Today they're the shoe that you pick to highlight a special costume — the shoe that lends flair to everything from shorts to patio dance frocks.

There's a fine Italian hand around in the opened up look, the lighter construction, the dramatic handling of strap treatments, of colors and leathers. The platform is less cumbersome, a style feature making use of new materials, color contrast and other devices to add chic to the shoe. . . as well as the comfort for which wedgies were originally designed. Colors are wonderful. Scarlet, bright cornflower blue or pale greenwood, soft mauve pinks, pale greens and yellow in plain or lustred kidskin, the new creamy anilines, suedes, pastel dark or bright, polished leathers in beige to brown. In fact, in this particular category, shoes can really go the limit in fashion excitement.

Not all the wedgies are so frivolous. There's still a place for the classic ties and oxfords, on higher platforms, but these too combine smart styling with the maximum of comfort.

They come in basic black and navy, and there's a strong leaning toward the natural, beige or neutral brown shades. Here again red is a favorite, with the very bright spring shade in the lead.

Brilliantly Designed Flats Vary In Color

Lots of women have discovered that they like to wear flats. By necessity they bought them in the teen-age departments where they first came to fame. However, many women wanted a slightly sturdier flat, and one with a little more style than the classic ballet shoe which started the trend.

This spring and summer they have an almost limitless choice. Flats seem to be in the shoe picture for keeps, and the variety of new materials and trims, plus firmer soles and better fit makes them both more practical and more appealing.

Colors are wonderful. For casual and weekend wear, the hot shades, in shag, in suede, in smooth leather, in fabrics to wear with slacks, Bermuda shorts and swirling cotton skirts.

Exquisite pastels in calf, kidskin or reptile are just the things with the sheer cottons, batistes, dimities and lawns — the "pretty baby" dresses which were such a hit with grown-ups last summer.

Heels add greatly to the chic of many of the new flats. Tiny baby heels, either pancake or miniature French, very quaint, especially with a slim platform to match. Typical example, a dress flat of palest mauve pink kidskin with narrow platform and baby Louis heel of black patent. Sparkling jet nailheads on the vamp pick up the theme.

Strawcloth makes some very smart midsummer flats — as for instance, one of white black or natural straw with square vamp, narrow contrasting sole, flat stacked leather heel and straw flower trim.

Or a brilliant harlequin Basque cloth on rubber sole, one of the new washable flats for all-around sports wear introduced this season.

Gay terry cloth, spattered with big white polka dots, with carryall bag to match is a nice seashore or summer patio accessory.

Colorful fruits is a very popular trim for flats for casual wear — while dressier ones go in for pearl ornaments, clusters of fabric or plastic flowers or embroidered motifs.

For wear with city suits, there are some wonderful witty sophisticated little flats that pick up the tricks of more formal shoes. They go in for backless designs, for T-straps and delicate cut-out vamp treatments. Colored, striped or printed linings are sometimes a feature of the more youthful models.

City flats come in suedes, in polished leather and reptile, or sometimes in combinations. Almost always the little heel and sole contrast either in color of material with the shoe itself. Black and navy polished leathers are classics. Grey suede is a favorite. And there is interest in the honey or ginger browns or beiges with smart touch of black patent. Of course red, including the new spring flame, is a basic, again often with the black touch.

Fashion Headlines Newest Off Whites From Ivory To Grey

There'll be lots of navy shoes this season. There always are, come Easter. But luster leathers give a completely new style look to navy footwear. Lighter up the classic coat or suit of navy silk or wool, and add a pretty feminine touch to the paler colors, the neutrals and pastels which are appearing in spring tweeds and worsteds.

Thus the navy shoe moves from a staple to an appealing fashion in line with the most colorful season we have had in years. It prolongs the life of the shoe, too. Because these blue lusters, when made in the smart open patterns of sandals or pumps can carry forward into summer, no longer restricted to just the Easter season.

Typical of summer styles is navy luster are such nude types as a three-banded mule, backless of course, with high heel, instep band, and two circles making the vamp. Light enough in design to wear with any summer frock. Charming, too, a T-strap sandal open toes, sides and back, with graceful curved heel, slim ankle strap, and pleated vamp of the luster leather. Another adaptable warm weather fashion for silk suits and spring dresses. Watch for luster navy to add new lightness and charm to a basic spring color that most women like.

UNUSUALLY LOW CUT in this raised seam moccasin slated to be a style winner this season is smooth orange toned leather. (By Thom McAn).

Smart Tanners Give New 'Fabric Look' To Shoe Leathers

It's the new switch! We've had fabrics acting like leathers in shoes for quite some time. But who would have thought that smart tanners would toss the ball back by reproducing fabric designs and textures on some of their finest leathers.

Polka dots, stripes, plaids, flower patterns are reproduced with amazing clarity on smooth leathers by the new silk screen process. You can almost feel the texture of a tweed, a linen, a shantung.

Some of these exotic leathers are in the party feeling. Shoes for cocktail or dinner wear, to add that certain touch to the costume. Take for instance a high heeled, open toed sling of black leather, with matching bag, sparkled all over with white stars. Even the high spike heel wears its star decoration.

Stripes and polka dots are other popular patterns, both for casual and dress wear. Or you may have a sandal in softly muted plaid — you touch it to find that it doesn't have the feel of fabric!

Flowers Now Trim Many Smart New Shoes For Spring

Right from sunny California came the first rage for flower trims. Starting with flats and casuals, in fabrics and woven straws and straw cloths, their freshness and young look quickly caught on until the vogue for flower trims is nation wide.

It isn't restricted to casuals any more. Some of the prettiest party shoes, particularly the open sandal types, add a cluster of blossoms on the vamp for that new feminine look.

Some of the blossom trims are really wonderful—delicate ceramic blossoms in Dresden blues and pinks, with gleaming green leaves. Some are made of jewels—rhinestones, fake sapphires and emeralds for dazle. Pearl-finish blossoms match the shoe, pick up the new luster tints.

A far cry from these exquisite trifles, but just as smart in their place, are the flowers in the new hot colors, made of felt, exotic straws or what have you, in the blazing hot tones of orange, violet, pink or Oriental yellow. Sometimes it's just a single large blossom planted on a wide open patio or cabana backless sandal in linen, canvas, cottons or straws.

TAKE A BREATHER in airy, moccasin style shoes for spring—here nylon and grain cloth are blended to provide ease and comfort. (By Nunn-Bush).

Laceless Shoe Called 'Must' On Men's List

There's hardly a man today who doesn't boast a pair of laceless shoes in his wardrobe. In spite of the trend toward more conventional styling in town and business shoes, the ease and comfort of the slip-on continues to appeal. And with high school and college age it's highly popular, especially with novelty wetting and crepe rubber soles.

Combinations of suede and smooth leather are no longer important. Smooth leathers or soft grained are the thing. The moccasin front and the "run-around" are the leaders in the slip-on field, although some copy the U and wing-tip styling of more conventional shoes.

The tassel moccasin is still a favorite, especially with younger wearers who seem to like it best in polished black. It can do duty as a party shoe, it seems. And there are wearers who like the laceless shoe with the zipper closing because of the neat trim line over the instep.

In the smooth leathers, black is important for early spring. Deep charcoal is considered smart with dark flannels. The browns and tans of this season are livelier in tone, and cordovan is a hit fashion. In the cashmere-soft grain leathers the trend toward dark colors, is also noticeable, although these are the leathers that appeal to the school and college set. Black, charcoal grey or brown and walnut are leaders. If it's purely a casual shoe, the maple and camel tones may be the thing. Of course, the new lowline look is a feature.

Elk is a good leather, soft and sturdy, for these shoes for everyday wear, and there is rising interest in the soft glove leather types. Some suedes and bucko leathers, although these are more in line for fall.

Exciting Newer Wedgies Boast A Special Flair

Wedgies have come a long way from their utilitarian start. Today they're the shoe that you pick to highlight a special costume — the shoe that lends flair to everything from shorts to patio dance frocks.

There's a fine Italian hand around in the opened up look, the lighter construction, the dramatic handling of strap treatments, of colors and leathers. The platform is less cumbersome, a style feature making use of new materials, color contrast and other devices to add chic to the shoe. . . as well as the comfort for which wedgies were originally designed. Colors are wonderful. Scarlet, bright cornflower blue or pale greenwood, soft mauve pinks, pale greens and yellow in plain or lustred kidskin, the new creamy anilines, suedes, pastel dark or bright, polished leathers in beige to brown. In fact, in this particular category, shoes can really go the limit in fashion excitement.

Not all the wedgies are so frivolous. There's still a place for the classic ties and oxfords, on higher platforms, but these too combine smart styling with the maximum of comfort.

They come in basic black and navy, and there's a strong leaning toward the natural, beige or neutral brown shades. Here again red is a favorite, with the very bright spring shade in the lead.

Marines Career In Wartime Is Detailed In Film 'Battle Cry'

"Battle Cry," the offering today and Monday at the Ritz, is the Marine Corps counterpart of "From Here to Eternity."

Adapted from the best-selling novel by Leon Uris, "Battle Cry" is a CinemaScope production in WarnerColor. Following Uris' story closely, the picture tells the story of a group of Marines, from their enlistment day until their discharge.

Tab Hunter, John Lupton, Perry Gomez, and Aldo Ray are recruits who complete boot camp training and are assigned to a battalion commanded by Van Heflin with a tough sergeant, James Whitmore, who puts them through their toughest paces.

The recruits find romance with

Miss Crain stars with Dana Andrews in "Duel in the Jungle" today and Monday at the Jet Drive-In.

India Setting For Lyric Film

"Thunder in the East" starting today at the Lyric, tells the story of the many hardships faced by the leaders of India when that country became a nation.

Charles Boyer plays the virtual ruler of a small province in India which is besieged by hostile insurrection. Boyer tries to deal with them by peaceful means.

Alan Ladd, an unscrupulous gun-runner, flies a plane-load of munitions into the province and tries to sell them to Boyer at high prices. Boyer refuses.

Deborah Kerr and Corinne Calvet supply the feminine interest; Miss Kerr as a high-bred English noblewoman and Miss Calvet as a less scrupulous entertainer.

After Boyer confiscates the munitions, Ladd tries to get high prices for rides out of the dangerous province in his plane. For this, his beginning love affair with Deborah Kerr is almost washed up.

His plane is burned, however, and he is left to face the seizure with the rest.

Excitement and adventure have integral parts in this picture which will play through Monday at the Lyric.

Is Discharged

A-2C Alvin Shroyer Jr. has received his discharge from the Air Force at Parks Air Force Base in California. After 17 months at Webb Air Force Base, he was sent to a base near Tokyo, Japan, where he worked in the supply department. Upon his return to Big Spring, he will live near Knott, where he has a ranch.

Mona Freeman, Dorothy Malone, Anne Francis, and Nancy Olson. Raymond Massey also stars in the picture.

Mona Freeman plays Tab Hunter's girl friend back home who is waiting for him. Dorothy Malone is Hunter's girl friend in California.

Nancy Olson plays a New Zealand girl who marries Aldo Ray before he ships out for the Salpan invasion. John Lupton falls for Anne Francis, unaware that she is a Beirut.

Leon Uris wrote the screenplay himself. He was a Marine private who saw duty on Tarawa, Guadalcanal, and Saipan. Both the novel and the film are based on his actual experiences and ex-Marines should find many scenes in this picture familiar.

'Leathernecks'

The story of the fighting Leathernecks is told in "Battle Cry" playing today and Monday at the Ritz. It's based on the best-selling novel by Leon Uris, a Marine who experienced much of the action he wrote about.

Spencer Tracy Returning In 'Broken Lance'

A family feud over cattle range is the subject of "Broken Lance" starting today and playing through Tuesday at the State.

The film stars Spencer Tracy, Robert Wagner, Richard Widmark, Jean Peters, and Katy Jurado.

Tracy plays a rancher who tries to keep his ranch from falling into the hands of copper mine operators. When his cattle are rustled, he finds that two of his sons are among the rustlers.

'Broken Lance'

Jean Peters and Robert Wagner star in the CinemaScope and Technicolor film beginning today and playing through Tuesday at the State. Spencer Tracy and Richard Widmark also star in the picture.

He banishes them from his ranch and they become active in opposing him. Later, Wagner tosses a lance between Widmark and himself, proclaiming a blood feud, Indian fashion.

The film is in CinemaScope with Deluxe Color.

The picture is the last one for Richard Widmark with the Twentieth Century Fox Studio under his present contract. Movie-goers may remember that Widmark began his career in Hollywood seven years ago as Tommy Udo in "Kiss of Death."

'MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION' RETURNING

The "Magnificent Obsession" plays Wednesday and Thursday at the State and stars Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman.

Based on a best selling novel of Lloyd C. Douglas, the film captures all the psychological power of the book.

Hudson plays a man who finds a power within himself to bring happiness and success to obscure and troubled persons. To do this, he studies medicine and becomes a successful brain surgeon.

The movie also stars Agnes Moorehead, Otto Kruger, and Richard Rush. The film is in Technicolor.

Lloyd Douglas is also author of the novel, "The Robe," which was widely acclaimed as a book and movie last year.

President's Press Parleys Now Embellished With TV

By WAYNE OLIVER
WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—By 9:30 on most Wednesday mornings reporters begin to assemble in the office of James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, in a wing of the White House.

Precisely at 10:20 a.m. the doors are opened and they file into the ornate, high-ceilinged chamber for President Eisenhower's weekly news conference.

Inside it's much as it has been for past years and presidents but with a few notable exceptions.

On raised platforms at the rear of closely spaced folding chairs are three motion picture cameras, four still cameras, a magnetic sound recorder. Overhead are four new floodlights and at opposite ends of the room are two spotlights. All these are physical evidences that President Eisenhower has broken with tradition to admit television to his news conferences, along with movie newsreels and radio's own sound recorder.

A few reporters glance idly at the equipment as they wait for 10:30, when the President makes his entrance.

Then, as the time arrives, they stand. Eisenhower enters and says: "Please sit down. Good morning."

He walks behind a highly polished table and immediately a reporter, usually from one of the wire services, arises to start the 30 minutes of rapid-fire questions and answers.

From that point, if the President or reporters are aware of the presence of television, it's not evident.

This is history-making, intended to give Americans a living-room view of the President in action. Yet most viewers still see only excerpts of these conferences.

Why? The CBS and NBC networks and most stations handle the news conference films on the basis of their newsworthiness, as they do other events of the day, carrying excerpts in their regular news programs. ABC and Du Mont include excerpts in news shows but in addition transmit in full the films as released by the White House. However, only 30 stations pick them up—some of these on the Pacific Coast.

This, plus a ban on regular commercial sponsorship of telecasts of the full news conference, accounts in great measure for the small number of TV stations using more than excerpts in regular news programs. In order to show the film, most stations would have to cancel out sponsored programs.

Rogers, Oldham To Go To Midland CTC Meet

Dr. Lee O. Rogers, chairman of the Big Spring Citizens' Traffic Commission, and George Oldham, executive secretary, will attend the installation banquet of the Midland Citizens Traffic Safety Commission on Monday night.

New officers of the Midland organization will take office. Bill Morgan, executive secretary of the Lubbock CTC, will be the guest speaker. The banquet is slated for Hotel Scharbauer at 7 p.m.

'Seven Brides,' On Academy List, Due At State

Those who want to view the Academy Award nominations, so that they may check their own decisions in the current contest, have a chance to see "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" Friday and Saturday at the State.

The "seven brides" are Jane Powell, Julie Newmeyer, Nancy Kilgas, Betty Carr, Virginia Gibson, Ruta Ilmonen, and Norma Doggett. The "seven husbands" are Howard Keel, Jeff Richards, Russ Tamblyn, Tommy Rall, Marc Platt, Matt Mattox, and Jacques D'Amboise.

Jane Powell marries a giant Oregon backwoodsman, Howard Keel, only to find that he has six giant brothers who expect her to cook and care for them, too. She attempts to rectify the situation by marrying them off. So, she cleans them up and teaches them all the rudiments of courting.

What happens then is hilarious. This musical comedy portrays the Oregon of the 1850's and is in CinemaScope with Ansco Color.

Indian Warfare Dramatized In Picture At Ritz

Born to fulfill an Indian prophecy, "Chief Crazy Horse," leads the Sioux warriors to victory over General Custer in a film at the Ritz, Thursday through Saturday.

Played by Victor Mature, Chief Crazy Horse is a young warrior who fulfilled the prophecy that the Sioux would win their battles with the white man. Then the white men were eager to invade the burial grounds of the Indians looking for gold.

Yvonne De Carlo And David Niven In Ritz Offering

A traditional English ghost arrives on the scene to deprive David Niven of his inheritance in "Tonight's the Night" playing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz.

Filmed in Ireland, the land of the family ghosts, the film brings all the humor of the country into a typical town with Barry Fitzgerald and Yvonne De Carlo.

The trio of stars may be remembered for their other recent comedy parts which they excel in this picture. Niven starred in "The Moon is Blue." De Carlo starred in the "Captain's Paradise," and Fitzgerald was in "The Quiet Man."

"Tonight's the Night" is in Technicolor.

 MARCH ISSUE

Aquamarine Has Ancient Tradition

March is the month of the aquamarine and the bloodstone, both symbols of courage. The aquamarine, a gem related to the emerald, has the depth and tone of sea water, varying in the intensity of its color from delicate pale blue to cool green. The ancients wore this stone, says the Jewelry Industry Council, engraved with the head of the Sea God, for protection against the perils of the sea. Aquamarines are famous for versatility and subtlety of color, making them particularly becoming to women, whether blonde or brunette. In rings, clips and other jewelry for women, they are often set with diamonds. Aquamarines are mined in Brazil, Madagascar and the United States. The bloodstone, a dark green chalcedony spotted with red inclusions of jasper, is found in Siberia and India. A companion piece to the aquamarine as March's birthstone, the bloodstone is especially popular in men's rings and cuff links, frequently carved with a crest or monogram.

The weary Hawks returned Friday from the National Basketball Tournament in Hutchinson, Kan. Although they didn't place in the tourney they've had a wonderful season and we're all proud of them. Myrna Sproul and Myrna Talley returned Saturday from the tourney and a visit to Myrna Sproul's parents. School was dismissed Friday in order that the teachers might attend the TJCTA Convention in Mineral Wells. The members of the yearbook staff put the holiday to good use in preparing the last fifty pages of the JAYHAWKER to be mailed to the printers Monday. A Rollateers Skating exhibition was presented in a college assembly Tuesday. Several students, Paula Russell, Gerry Hoover, Charlie Rose, and Thomas Blakely, were asked to aid in the presentation. The James Bryant Conant Future Teachers Chapter will be officially installed into HCJC Wednesday evening by guest members of the Sul Ross Chapter. Officers for the organization are to be Nancy Conway, president; Nancy Milford, vice president; Margaret Pierce, secretary; Frankie Marstrand, treasurer; Laura Holland, historian; and Barbara White and Wallace Cooper, board of directors. The group is to be sponsored by Mrs. Betty Walker. The choir gave a short program at the First Christian Church Wednesday morning. Their tour begins Monday, and will include visits to Gall, Midland, Knott, Ackerly, Garden City, Forsan, Sterling City, Welch, Lamesa, Stanton, Coahoma, Sweetwater, Snyder, and Mineral Wells. Due to lack of extras for the cast, "Annie Get Your Gun" may be postponed until next fall and a play with fewer characters selected. Bill Bodner was recently chosen for the male lead upon the resignation of Dennis Phillips. Nancy Milford, Nancy Conway, Laura Holland, Frankie Marstrand, Margaret Pierce, Thomas Blakely, Mike Potts, and Tom Pasquale spent their Friday off in soaking up the sun on the tennis courts.

Prince Valiant IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR by Harold R. Foster

Our Story: WITH MUCH SHOUTING AND SWEATING, WITH RUMBLING OF WHEELS AND CREAKING TIMBERS THE LONG SHIP GOES LURCHING ACROSS THE GRASSY PLAIN. WITH THE PRISONERS OF WAR AND CAPTURED HORSES STRAINING ON THE HAULING LINES, THE WORK IS EASIER.

DARKNESS COMES ERE THE END OF THE PORTAGE IS REACHED. VAL KNOWS THAT ONE DEFEAT WILL NOT HOLD BACK THE PATZINAKS, NEVERTHELESS HE ORDERS CAMP MADE FOR THE NIGHT.

IN THE DARKNESS THE ENEMY CREEP CLOSE THROUGH THE LUSH GRASS, MURDER SENTRIES AND DISCHARGE ARROWS AMONG THE SLEEPING NORTHMEN.

THEN VAL CALLS IN THE REMAINING SENTRIES AND SETS FIRE TO THE GRASS, AND A WALL OF FLAME SEARS THE PLAINS.

BY NOON THE FIRST SHIP IS SAFELY ACROSS THE PORTAGE, LAUNCHED ABOVE THE FALLS AND ANCHORED IN MIDSTREAM UNDER GUARD.

THEN THEY RETURN FOR THE SECOND TRIP WHILE FROM A DISTANCE THE PATZINAKS WATCH. BUT THEY DARE NOT ATTACK, FOR ARCHERS MARCH WITH THE COLUMN, PROTECTED BY GREAT SHIELDS.

"YOU AND THE TWINS WILL STAY HERE WHILE WE TAKE ALL THE BAGGAGE AND EQUIPMENT OVER. IN THE MORNING WE WILL COME FOR THIS SHIP."

NEXT WEEK - When Morning Comes.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

In this issue: Prepare Your Child for the New Baby

I was just thinking...

... DEATH AND LIFE were so close in the old house. In the front parlor was the stout oak casket and in it the waxen body of the woman who had held the whole family together in her vibrant lust for life.

In the sitting room, rocked on his grandfather's knee, was the bulge-cheeked baby, his mouth wide in delight and the sound of his laughter falling across the linoleum floor and rising into the sunny windows.

In the kitchen the neighbors heaped thick homemade bread on platters and sliced wedges of rich cake. A farm wife wiped her red eyes with a corner of her apron. The women spoke in the rustiness of unaccustomed whispers, louder than a shout.

In the sunshine by the canary's cage sat the husband, his old feet encased in worn shoes slit to ease the pressure. His hair was a patriarch's halo around his bowed head, but sometimes he smiled as though he could believe in the living ivy vine but not in the death in the parlor.

Then the minister came, the hill-country minister, solemn and earnest. And the sons, all of them balding and weeping, took the handles of the casket in their hairy hands and the muscles under their dark suits strained. And then there was the schoolhouse at Jimtown for the services, because the church was too small to hold all the children she had helped bring into the world and all the neighbors and old friends who had sat with her those last weeks.

One came on crutches and some came from the fields and the smallest boy carried the biggest wreath. And then they laid her in the grave in the clay hill and an untrained voice sang above the shuffle of feet and then the hill people walked away and some of them stopped to shake hands with a town dweller or crumble a handful of sod.

But the baby was laughing, content in the arms of a woman whose tears fell on his bib. He laughed and was happy there. The big men whose hands had laid their mother in the ground stood awkwardly and hid their honest anguish in the cups of scalding coffee and looked far across the hills and were children again.

The still hand of death clasped the warm hand of life. The canary sang in the sunlight and the sound of the baby's laughter spilled into the Autumn afternoon.

As You Were Saying...

HERE'S HOW TO WIN WOWS!

Not all husbands are unobservant, as one reader complained in a recent letter (Jan. 2). My husband notices when I look especially nice, compliments me on a becoming new hair style, and often tells me that I look younger than my age (late 30's). But he might not do all this if I didn't sometimes tell him that I like the way his hair is turning gray at the temples, that his way of wearing clothes makes him stand out among others, that he is very generous, and that he is easy to cook for. So if "Curious Wife" from Roseville, Calif., will take the initiative with a little flattery, she may soon be hearing some nice things about herself and changing her woes into wows!—Mrs. H. K., Quincy, Ill.

What Price Independence?

My daughter and her husband have developed an attitude of independence which shuts out both sets of parents to what seems to me a detrimental degree. For instance, my daughter's father-in-law presented them with a new car which they promptly and politely returned to him, saying they couldn't afford to drive it. And when either her mother-in-law or I offer to baby-sit for her, she insists on paying us for our services! While I'm not the type to keep a grown daughter tied to my apron strings, I wonder just how far young married couples should go in shutting parents out of their lives.—Frustrated Mother, Albany, Ga.

Husbands, Too, Like to Be Complimented

I have been married for 17 years and in the past have often complained that my husband never seemed to notice how I looked or what I was wearing unless I had my lipstick on crooked or my seams weren't straight. My husband turned the tables on me one day by asking: "How often do I get a compliment when I get a haircut, or an admiring whistle when I'm freshly shaved? You women think when you change your shade of lipstick or nail polish, we husbands should rave over it. But we don't hear compliments when we try to look our best. On the other hand, when we slip up on shaving or don't keep our hair just so, you act as if we were kids with dirty faces."

So I have learned to take my husband's criticisms as compliments, because I know he wants me to look my best so he can be proud of me.—Lived and Learned, Waterloo, Iowa.

Ordinary Folk As Good-Will Ambassadors

After reading an article about people in the United States corresponding with people in England, I decided to give it a try. So I wrote a letter introducing myself and my family and offering to correspond with someone in England for the pleasure and novelty of hearing from a person in that fabled land.

I was gratified to receive a friendly reply from a family in Cornwall, and we have been writing since. We exchange ideas and points of view, and have gotten a great deal of entertainment out of it, as well as appreciation of each other's everyday problems.

I never realized before how much enjoyment could be obtained from writing to a perfect stranger in a foreign land and feel that if many more ordinary people did this, there would be much better understanding among the peoples of the world.—A. H., Wallingford, Conn.

You Can't Beat a Galloping Chariot!

There's a rocking chair in our kitchen. Sometimes the air is blue around it when shins are barked on the rockers. But nobody suggests throwing it out. We take our mail there to mull over, and the morning and evening papers are given the once-over from this favorite spot. Mending seems to go faster there, too. Often we just sit and rock, for the sheer joy of it.

We call it the galloping chariot, for it has a pesky way of inching along the floor, and it needs to be brought back continually. We figure five or ten minutes of real fast rocking is as good as a walk around the block. It stirs up our liver and gives our innards a shaking-up. And it's safer than walking on slippery sidewalks. We're glad old rocking chair's got us.—Grandma Baillie, Racine, Wis.

A Baby Comes to Church

A most remarkable thing happened recently at church. A baby arrived. A new, unexpected baby. Her arrival upset everything, even the Sunday worship services. For this was the pastor's baby.

Two years ago he and his wife had filed an application to adopt a baby, but no one had expected it to arrive so suddenly. No preparations had been made, and there were no clothes or diapers. A hasty shower was arranged, and the entire congregation responded with gifts. The pastor and his wife were very happy, and so were the rest of us.

No one minded that no sermons were preached that Sunday.—Fred Willis, West Palm Beach, Fla.

About this time of year you'll see them. You'll recognize them by their beanies and baggy pants and scuffed shoes. Each one will be clutching a little draw-string bag, and he'll be hurrying to their meeting place, usually the nearest vacant lot. There they'll draw a makeshift circle and get down to business—the serious, exciting business of playing marbles. When you see them, you know that Spring is as good as here. Betty Crocker
OF GENERAL MILLS

Betty Crocker's Good and Easy Cook Book is completely new and different. It's even arranged in a sensible new way—one section for each meal. You'll find that's a wonderful help in menu planning!

Tested recipes

Every recipe in this book is easy—and every recipe is good. Not the heat-it-and-eat-it kind of thing, but glamorous-looking, delicious dishes you can be proud to serve even when company's coming.

Every recipe was tested again and again in our kitchens at General Mills. Then we asked homemakers (some of them new brides!) to test these recipes in their own home kitchens. So you can be sure every recipe will turn out perfect for you the very first time you make it.

New ideas for every meal—and the 4th meal

In the section on breakfasts, you'll find interesting ways to serve eggs . . . clever tricks with toast . . . quick-as-lightning sweet rolls . . . step-by-step instructions for making perfect coffee in every kind of coffee maker.

There's a section on lunch (or supper—whichever you serve at your house) that gives you new ideas for sandwiches and salads . . . easy hot dishes . . . new ways to use canned soups . . . foods that carry well in a lunchbox.

Besides simple recipes for meats and vegetables, the section on dinners has lots and lots of casserole suggestions. It tells you Betty Crocker's never-fail method for making gravy. And there are recipes for outdoor barbecue meals . . . easy desserts . . . interesting ways to serve leftovers.

Then there's a whole chapter full of "4th-meal foods"—pages and pages of good things to serve when folks drop in after dinner . . . fun foods for the family to share around the TV set . . . simple coffee-break and teatime foods . . . easy treats for hungry youngsters after school . . . and dozens of ideas for entertaining the gracious, modern way.

Covers wipe clean; pages lie flat

You'll like the cheerful look of Betty Crocker's Good and Easy Cook Book, too. It will stay fresh and pretty—just wipe the covers clean with a damp cloth. We used a special metal binding so the pages lie flat. There are gay, helpful sketches all through the 256 pages; 32 pages of big color pictures show how tempting these good and easy foods can look on your table. It's entirely different from Betty Crocker's Picture Cook Book—a wonderful companion volume!—and is available wherever good books are sold.

Prepare Your Child

If you already have one child and are expecting a new baby, here are some "do's" and "don'ts" to follow in preparing your youngster for a new brother or sister:

DO'S

1. Let him share in the anticipation and preparation.
2. Read him children's books which tell of such situations. ("The New Baby" by Ruth and Harold Shane and "The New Pet" by Marjorie Fleck are two good examples.)

3. Try to make being a "big boy" seem much more attractive than babyhood by showing and telling him how glad you are he can do things with you.
4. Try to have him out playing and get the baby settled before he sees his mother on her return from the hospital. Then spend some heart-warming moments with him before you show him the newcomer. Some may cry "bribery," but it helps if you bring him a small present just as you would after a trip.

"DO'S AND DON'TS"

5. Make helping with the baby a privilege, not a duty. He can bring bottles or hand you diapers.
6. Let some things in the house "go" and use that time to play with him and arrange little treats you can enjoy together. Do everything possible to develop a sense of companionship with him.
7. Whenever humanly possible, ignore troublesome symptoms.

THE ARRIVAL OF A NEW BROTHER OR SISTER IS A CRITICAL EVENT IN A WITH PATIENCE AND

for the New Baby

by Ruth Hamilton Ash

THE PARTY was in full swing in typical American fashion. The men were in the kitchen discussing business and the fate of the world. The women were in the living room discussing children. Betty was speaking:

"Timmie is driving us frantic since little Nancy arrived. You know how cooperative he was before. Now he looks for ways to make a nuisance of himself so we'll pay attention to him. He's wetting the bed again and won't dress himself anymore."

"You think you have troubles!" said Kay. "We have to watch Gerry every minute for fear he'll hurt Susan. The other day someone asked him how he liked his baby sister and do you know what he said? 'I'm gonna throw her in the garbage can!' Why, I'm even afraid to leave them with a baby sitter in the daytime."

The "girls" were off on a subject guaranteed to keep them in conversation until time for the food. This is a problem that faces every family where there are two children less than six years apart. Many parents find the job of adjusting the older child to the new baby their most difficult problem in family relations. But many forget how difficult it is for the older child. The arrival of a new baby brother or sister is so important an event in the youngster's life that it may be said to be the most critical event of his early years. Your youngster needs time, and he needs your help if he is to keep his sense of security. It's understandable that he tries his best to become a baby again in an effort to regain his mother's love—something he thinks he has lost. To him a disturbance of any kind is far preferable to the feeling that he is being neglected or forgotten.

Prevention is better than cure

It is a real problem, and the question is: "How can it best be dealt with?" Shall we fall in with the old idea and say, "Don't pay any attention to the way he's acting," or should we try to find a real answer?

There is one principle which is fundamental in all dealings with children: try to prevent a problem from arising instead of attempting to deal with it afterward.

Let's consider the Thatchers and their only child, Steve, who is four. Steve is accustomed to admiration and attention and he knows his mother will have another child soon. In talking with his parents about the coming event, he speaks proudly and excitedly of "our baby."

His attitude is not accidental. Months ago the Thatchers began laying the groundwork for the way Steve feels, realizing that it's not what he knows but what he feels that counts most. They sought advice from the mother of several happy, well-adjusted children. She told them, "Tell Steve right away that a new baby is coming. Make him realize, too, that he is not being pushed aside for it. Let him know that you are able to love more than one child and that he will love the new brother or sister also."

FOR PARENTS"

DON'TS

1. Never ask, "Wouldn't you like to have a nice new baby in the house?" Take it for granted he will.
2. Don't make positive statements about the sex of the new baby. Then you'll never hear, "You promised me a baby brother and all I got was a no-good girl."
3. Never say, "It will be your baby." He'll soon realize he has been duped and will be suspicious of everything else you have told him.
4. Don't glorify the situation so that he expects "a new little playmate." He'll only feel fooled when faced with the real, squalling newcomer.
5. Never say, "Don't touch the baby." Be definite about how the infant is to be held and why it must be treated gently.
6. Don't overdo the matter of preparation lest you defeat your own purpose and increase the child's tension. Easy does it.

Ewing Galloway

YOUNGSTER'S LIFE:

UNDERSTANDING, PARENTS CAN EASE THE SITUATION.

The Thatchers not only told Steve the baby was expected, but they told him what it would be like. They explained its growth and development from the small toothless mite he would see at first. They described the various phases he could expect: the smiling and cooing stage, the creeping stage, and eventually the stage where he would be able to play with the baby. They took him to see a young baby. They told him the new child would depend on him because he was older and stronger.

Make him feel secure

They let Steve help arrange the furniture in the baby's room. They took away his crib before the baby was even mentioned. Happy with his new bed, he was eager to help arrange his old crib for the infant. They showed him some of the baby's clothes. But there was never anything in all their preparations for the newcomer to suggest, "Here is someone to take your place or push you aside in our affections." It was always, "Here is someone who will add to our family group and mean much to us all."

They did not take the chance of letting his mother's stay at the hospital come as a shock. He was told in advance that she would be away for a while and that when she returned it would be with the new baby. They made certain, too, that he liked and felt safe and secure with the nurse who was to stay with him while his mother was away.

Steve will not greet the new member of the family as an intruder who has stolen his parents' love or deprived him of his rights. The transition, however, will not be entirely painless. But even if there are some bad incidents, the Thatchers need not feel they have failed.

The solution is not the work of one week or even one year; it is a continuous responsibility for all parents faced with the problem. Just remember not to expect miracles, and you'll have fun watching it all work out!

How to Get Out of Debt by Howard Earle

THE OTHER DAY I met a man I hadn't seen for nearly two years. The last time I saw George Bane he was deeply in debt, mentally and physically ill, and desperate enough to hint at committing suicide. I talked to him, told him his situation was not hopeless, and laid out a program for him to follow. During the next two years, he paid off his debts, and regained his health and self-confidence.

George Bane's case is not unusual. What that formula did for him, it can do for you, too, if you are in debt and want freedom from your creditors.

First, you must realize it is no disgrace to have debts. Influential businessmen become just as deeply mired in debt as the breadwinner earning an hourly wage. The real test of character is how you meet the debt challenge. Some remain slaves to creditors for years, letting worry over finances impair their health and their efficiency. Others, like George Bane, meet the challenge with bold action. Here's how it's done:

Once you have decided to act, take a physical inventory of every room in your home. Take two sheets of paper, heading one "necessary" and the other "unnecessary." List as the "necessary" items those things which it would be impossible for you to do without. Under "unnecessary," list those things which you purchased and then stored away, to gather dust.

When you have completed the lists, you will know where you've spent unwisely, and you'll have a measuring stick for all future purchases.

Next, list your weekly income and your weekly living expenses, paring the expenses to bare necessities. The difference between income and expenses represents the amount left to apply against debts. Make a list of those debts, showing the amount to be paid weekly on each, and add up the individual payments so you will know the total sum due each week.

You may find that the amount of money you have to apply against debts is insufficient to meet all payments. If so, explain your problem to your creditors. Ask for a reduction in individual payments and an extension of the period for paying off the debt. Most creditors will gladly cooperate with you when they find you are sincerely trying to meet your obligations.

One word of caution: In estimating your budget, do not figure so closely that there will be nothing left after deducting your weekly living expenses and debt payments from your income. Be sure to leave a margin of safety, allowing a few extra dollars each week for sickness and other emergencies. Occasionally, you may want to take a few dollars from this fund for an enjoyable evening out with your wife. It's not good for you to keep your nose to that economic grind-

Once you have set a definite pattern for handling your finances, there is one final, important step. Determine who is the best money manager in the family and let that person handle the finances. Once you have delegated that responsibility, add to it the authority necessary to fulfill the job, and stand by your decision at all times.

This formula is no haphazard theory. It has worked for thousands of families across the nation and it can lift the debt burden from your shoulders, too, if only you give it a fair trial.

SOME VALUABLE DON'TS

Plan your purchasing carefully. Know your needs and shop around for the best buys.

Don't sign any contract until you have read it and understand it thoroughly.

If it's going to be a burden for you, don't add new purchases to a contract almost paid up and start the debt treadmill all over again.

Don't try to avoid or deceive your creditors.

Bucket Relay

To play this exciting relay you need four buckets that your feet will fit into. Choose two teams and at the word "go" one player from each team will put his feet into two of the buckets, hold onto the handles, and walk to a given goal and back again. Continue with the rest of the players until one team has won.

My Job

I rise before the sun peeps up.
I feed the chickens, cat and pup.
And after breakfast, because I must,
I wash the dishes, sweep and dust.
Then while the morning is still cool,
I quickly dress and go to school.

Linda Hall,

Age 9 Lynchburg, Va.

My Favorite Hobby

I have been interested in rocks and minerals ever since I can remember, but only when I joined the New Haven Mineral Club did I actually begin to collect. I found out about the club through my aunt, who heard a lecture by Miss Davis, the club president. My aunt told me they were going to Strickland quarry in Portland, Conn. My parents reluctantly consented to drive me, but they said they couldn't stay. When we arrived they decided to look around. In just a few minutes they were picking up rocks to bring home and they were and still are as interested as I am.

In the Mineral Club we have lectures in the Winter and go on field trips in the Summer. Some of my rocks are crystals (rocks which have undergone a period of crystallization) and I like them best. Most of my minerals and rocks are from Connecticut. I bought some of my rocks but I like the ones I collected much better.

If you don't want to be doomed for life, don't start a mineral collection.

Sincerely,

Neva Cummings,
Age 13 New Haven, Conn.

Fun to Make Suzie Snider

Here is an unusual way to make pictures. Trace the odd-shaped pieces at the left onto some colored paper. Colored areas in old magazines or ordinary construction paper can be used. Cut out your pieces and lay them on a sheet of white paper about 5 by 7 inches or larger and begin pushing them around. You can make many different kinds of animals by overlapping pieces and arranging them in different designs. Here are examples of ways to make an elephant, a mouse, and a bunny.

When you have made an animal you like, hold the pieces down with one hand and trace around them with a pencil. Then paste the pieces in place so your animal won't come apart.

String Telephone

You need a long piece of string and two cans without tops and with smooth edges. Punch holes in the center of the bottoms. With the open ends apart, thread the string through both holes. Tie a large knot at each end.

You and a friend pull the string taut and while one talks into one can, the other will hear him in his own can.

In the Bag

Get a number of inexpensive articles of different sizes and shapes and put each one in a paper bag. Pin the bags up on a line and place a lamp behind them so that the silhouettes show. Give your guests paper and pencil and ask them to guess what each bag contains. The one who guesses most of them is the winner. Then distribute the gifts to each of the contestants.

home-furnishings consultant

A HAPPY combination of efficient work space plus ample room for dining, the kitchen of the Jerrold Wexlers in Glencoe, Ill., is designed to meet the needs of a family with three small children. The step-saving L-shaped work area includes twin wall ovens and a counter of six hot plates in addition to a cabinet sink and banks of drawers and cupboards.

Maple cabinets and stainless-steel and micarta surfaces are easy to clean and slow to show soil.

Equally functional and practical is the dining area, which features a metal-based micarta table and side chairs with cellophane-woven seats.

Beige matchstick blinds harmonize with the brown and beige chintz curtains over the sink, and an adjustable light fixture makes the dining table a good spot for games and study.

Can You Solve This Puzzle?

THE PUZZLE BELOW IS A SAMPLE—UNDER THE PUZZLE IS A COMPLETE EXPLANATION OF HOW TO SOLVE IT

THE SOLUTION IS ONE OF THE LAST NAMES BELOW:
Edward W. BOK Peter PAN Franz ABT
Robert E. LEE Francis Scott KEY Edgar Allan POE

Look at the puzzle above. This puzzle represents the last name of one of the famous persons you see listed under it. Now of course, you want to know: How do you solve the puzzle to find out what name it represents?

First of all, note the various letters and objects pictured, and the plus and minus signs. There's the letter C to begin with, followed by plus OWL plus EYE plus TANK, so we add 'em all together and get COWLEYETANK. . . from which we then subtract TOWEL and CAN, as indicated by the minus signs. That means we take away the letters TOWELCAN from COWLEYETANK, which leaves us with the letters YEK.

Therefore, we now scan the names under the puzzle and sure enough, there we see that last name of Francis Scott KEY. . . and by rearranging YEK into KEY,

C OWL EYE TANK
C OWL EYE TANK
= KEY

we know that KEY is the name we're looking for! That, briefly, is the general idea behind the puzzles of this contest—plus another interesting little twist that we'll explain with the rules and details which we'll send you when you mail the coupon below. If this contest—and its $100,000.00 in Cash Prizes—are of interest to you, by all means mail the coupon today for full particulars FREE . . . and entirely without obligation!
