Committee Headed By J. S. Cosden Arranging To End Receivership

Plan Outlined In Statement Issued In New York; News Jubilantly Received At Refining Plant Here

NEW YORK (AP)—A committee headed by J. S. Cosden Thursday announced a plan for reorganization of the Cosden Oil company, which has been in receivership since November 1930.

The plan provides that holders of secured obligations, debts and claims against the company receive up to principal and interest to November 9, 1930, first mortgage six per cent serial bonds of the reorganized company, one fourth maturing respectively in two, three, four and five years. Holders of unsecured obligations will receive general lien five-year six per cent bonds.

The plan also provides that holders of preferred stock receive share for share of $100 par value seven per cent preferred stock of the reorganized company, non-cumulative for two years and cumulative thereafter. These would be required to waive accumulated dividends on existing preferred stock.

Holder of common stock would receive share for share in the new company.

Superintendent E. J. Mary and his aides at the Cosden company's oil refinery here received news of the reorganization plan with enthusiasm.

Unofficial reports for several months have indicated such a move was on foot. Under Mr. Mary the plant has been operated in a manner that has made possible continued operations through the worst period in the history of the refining industry. The plant for months has been one of the very few independent refineries not shut down.

This is the only refinery owned by the Cosden company, which also has a large portion of its production in Howard, Glasscock and Ector counties, from which the refinery receives much of its supply of crude. It is transported in Cosden pipe lines.

Conservation Body Aims At Oil 'Thieves'

Fifty Directors Attend Meeting; Import Tax Urged

FORT WORTH (UP)—Co-operation of the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation Association with law enforcement authorities to prosecute gasoline tax evaders and violators of proration laws was pledged by association directors in session here today.

Resolutions branding gasoline tax evasion as a "ranked" which has become prevalent throughout oil regions and offering assistance in stringent enforcement of proration laws were adopted.

Fifty of the 99 directors attended the quarterly meeting of the association which was under the supervision of Charles F. Roesser, Fort Worth, chairman.

The resolution termed as "thievery" the alleged practice of all dealers in piping oil out of fields through secret lines, thus violating proration laws and injuring other producers.

A third resolution commended Texas congressmen and senators for their stand favoring the import tax on oil now before congress.

No open discussion was made of the federal court injunction granted Eugene Constantin and J. E. Wreather and the Peoples Petroleum Producers, Inc., to restrain enforcement of proration by military force.

TYLER, Tex., (UP)—The East Texas oil club, organized here Tuesday to work with the State Railroad Commission to enforce and draw up anti-waste regulations, was branded today by W. E. McKinney, vice-president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas, as a "back door attempt to control the East Texas oil field without representation."

H. L. Hunt, Tyler, was announced as chairman of the new organization, and W. M. Hamilton is a member of the executive committee.

McKinney charged that no general advance call was issued before the organization meeting and that those attending were "hand picked." He declared that Hamilton is not an East Texan but is a former member of the old central proration committee—an almost 100 per cent West Texas organization which the people of East Texas, the legislature and the railroad commission forced out of existence.

Comparing the new organization to the field committee in vogue when the old central committee functioned, McKinney declared the East Texas oil club will be fought on the grounds "it is not representative and was not organized in a democratic manner."

Wilson & Clare Enlarge Modern Grocery Store

Wilson & Clare, proprietors of "Help Yourself Grocery," located at 119 East Second street, are growing and expanding.

This firm has been in Big Spring for 3 1/2 years, and recently started improvements in the store that will make it one of the most modern in this section. Mr. Wilson told the Herald that remodeling of the store which has been under way all this week, will be completed during the week-end, and the store will be open to the public Monday morning, in its new and spacious quarters.

A formal opening announcement will be made later, said Mr. Wilson.

Frank Turner's Father Buried

Funeral services for F. Z. (Uncle Zack) Turner, 83, pioneer settler in the Merkel community, and father of Frank Turner of Big Spring, were held from the Merkel Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Miss Leona Forbes, pastor of the Buffalo Gap Nazarene church assisted by Rev. E. L. Yatis, Methodist pastor at Merkel, and W. G. Cypert of the Church of Christ, officiated.

Mr. Turner died Wednesday night after a week's illness. He had been in failing health for some time. Mr. Turner was a native of Texas, having been born near Greenville, August 7, 1848. He came to this section in 1892 and settled on a farm near Merkel where he lived until he moved to Merkel eight years ago.

One hundred and twenty-six descendants survive him, including 2 sons, three daughters, 120 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The sons are John of New Mexico, Frank of Big Spring, Wood Turner of Merkel; the daughters, Mrs. Beulah Dye of Matador, Mrs. Vanne Dye of Noodle and Mrs. Dollie Ritchie of Merkel.

CITIZEN OF BIG SPRING

HENRY CLAY READ

When H. Clay Read moved here, a man could live very comfortably and even rear a family of three children on $70 a month.

Mr. Read, however, looks back on those days with no desire to recall them. He worked twice as hard for $70 then than even the T & P suspected, he says. His pension now looks mighty good to him although his working days are by no means at an end. He has acquired sufficient real estate in the intervening years to keep himself and his son busy.

The real estate interests began when he came to Big Spring. The T & P was still building; it had just reached Odessa. Mr. Read was

Interest Grows In Revival Services At First Baptist Church

Jesus Christ remains the sole reliable 'rock of ages' upon which the world may depend and by which civilization can hope to survive, declared Rev. W. R. White in his sermon of Thursday evening at the revival meeting at the First Baptist church.

A fine crowd braved cold weather to attend the services. Reports showed attendance at intermediate and junior Bible classes preceding the services was increasing, as was that at the women's meetings being held each evening.

Night services begin at 7:45 o'clock, the day services at 10 a. m. Singing by the choir under direction of John Cohen and the lessons in song by Mr. Cohen are adding much to the services.

"Present world conditions as mirrored in the word of God," was the theme of Thursday evening's sermon.

Opinions Mr. White quoted a number of the world's foremost philosophers and industrialists, including the German philosopher, Oswald Spangier, H. G. Wells of England, Sir Earl Grey, in which they voiced the opinion that the civilization of today is crumbling and doomed.

Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, was quoted as saying "we are headed for a new

City Employees Take Holidays To Help Needy

All To Give One Day's Wages In March, April To Provide Jobs

Employees of the City of Big Spring came forward Friday afternoon with the first co-operative effort on the part of the employed to relieve unemployment in Big Spring.

City Manager E. V. Spence was spokesman for the employees in their announcement that every one of them would take one holiday in March and one in April, the wages paid them for those days to be used to employ some one else, who is without a job.

This plan for helping to relieve the unemployment situation is concurred in by every city employee. No salaries of city employees are being cut.

Big Spring Goes After Teachers' 1933 Convention

Big Spring was to be well represented Friday evening at the annual banquet of the Oil Belt Educational Association in Sweetwater by a delegation headed by Prof. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, seeking to bring the 1933 convention here.

A dozen Big Spring representatives planned to attend the Saturday morning business session and formally present Big Spring's invitation.

Wheatley To Be Candidate For Governorship

BALLINGER—W. O. Wheatley, of Laredo, visited in Ballinger Monday and while here said he expected to become a candidate for governor within a few days. Communications have been pouring in to his office from all sections of the state insisting that he enter the race, he said, and on March 3 a large delegation visited him at Laredo to urge his candidacy. He stated that he probably would make his formal announcement within a few days.

Wheatley, an independent oil operator, is a business man of several years' successful experience. He is 49 years of age and was born and reared in Texas. He believes in good, sound business, democratic government, and upon this platform is planning his campaign.

League Adopts New Resolutions On Far East Row

GENEVA (UP)—The League of Nations assembly formally adopted resolutions declaring the league will refuse to recognize agreements reached by military force in China.

Japan abstained from voting because she refuses to concede the league's authority. The Chinese delegate did not vote because he had not received instructions from his government.

SUSPECTS IN KIDNAPING

Henry Johnson, above, deckhand on the yacht of Thomas Lamont, New York financier, and a friend of Betty Gow, nurse in the Lindbergh home, has been held for the past week for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

Reports of Friday morning were that Johnson likely would be deported if international phases of the investigation brought out nothing further as to any connection with the kidnaping. Below is a view of Tony Mesto, 43, New Haven, Conn., who was taken into custody in connection with the case after his name had been mentioned in one of the many stories concerning possible solution of the kidnaping.

King's Grandson Takes Commoner As His Bride

LONDON (UP)—Prince Lennart, grandson of King Gustav of Sweden, married Karin Malmqvist, a Stockholm business man's wife, here today. They married here because the king forbade the marriage in Sweden. The prince received rights to succession to the throne.

Tracy T. Smith is on the sick list with a case of flu.

No Relief From Cold Wave Seen After Full Week

Valley Vegetables Damaged; Season's Lowest Recorded Here

After a full week of unusually cold weather the weather man's prediction for Saturday offered no relief.

Snow, driven by stiff wind, totaled seven-tenths of an inch here Thursday night—which saw the thermometer drop to the lowest point of the entire winter, 18.1 degrees. Temperatures has not been above freezing since 5:30 p. m. Wednesday.

At 10 a. m. Friday the reading at the weather bureau here was 21 degrees. Roads north and south of here were in good condition—that is, not muddy.

The government teletype service reports received at the local bureau showed that location of the area of extreme cold in Montana and the Canadian provinces north of there was practically unchanged and that temperatures continued 20 to 30 degrees below zero.

Snow fell in many parts of Texas Thursday night. Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and many other South Texas points reported below freezing temperatures.

Rain fell in the lower Rio Grande valley.

G. D. Clark, truck crop expert for the federal-state crop reporting service, said at Austin that reports indicated cold had done heavy damage in South Texas. Cucumbers and snap beans were killed and tomatoes badly damaged in the Corpus Christi area. Beans probably will be killed in the lower Rio Grande valley but harder vegetables had not been materially damaged. No indication of damage to citrus fruits was shown, he said.

35 Railroads Seeking Loans

Applications In 7 Weeks Amount To $239,440,635

WASHINGTON (UP)—Although the Reconstruction Finance Corporation started work but seven weeks ago, already 35 railroads have applied for loans aggregating $239,440,635. This is more than 50 per cent of the $460,000,000 the act made immediately available for purposes other than agricultural relief.

So far the commerce commission, which must approve any loan the corporation makes to railroads, has passed favorable on $58,047,175, practically all of which is needed to meet railroad emergencies. Action on loan requests which concern fixed payments coming due in the future, or proposed construction, has been deferred pending investigation.

Salvy Spitale Attorney Says Has Lone Tip

No Action Taken At Washington On Capone's Offer To Help

HOPEWELL, N. J. (AP) Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, announced discontinuation of replying to reporters' questionnaires on the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

He promised to issue bulletins twice daily whenever any new development occurred.

Schwarzkopf said the answering of questionnaires had taken much time which ought to have been devoted to the hunt for the Lindbergh baby. The action was precipitated by a minute questionnaire from New York newspapers' representatives submitted shortly after midnight Friday.

At Washington the attorney general's department said no action had been taken on Al Capone's offer to help recover the baby if his release from the Cook county jail in Chicago could be effected by furnishing bond. He is in jail awaiting an order to begin serving an eleven-year term for income tax evasion. The department said Capone should apply for bond to the courts in the regular manner. Capone previously had offered $10,000 for the return of the child.

Internal revenue agents who have placed liens on all his known property expressed wonder as to how much Capone had hidden away.

At New York Abraham Kesselman, lawyer for Salvatore Spitale, underworld character whom Col. Lindbergh named as a negotiator, said one good tip had been received. Spitale will leave for the west to investigate the tip as soon as his trial in Brooklyn

Home Town Talk

Once more we take our hats off to the Cosden Oil Company.

More especially to Superintendent E. J. Mary of the company's refinery in Big Spring, and his efficient corps of assistants.

Because the company could never have had even a chance of reorganizing and coming out of receivership if it had not been for the efficient, economical manner in which they have operated the Cosden properties here—and those properties constitute most of the assets of the concern.

Few of us in Big Spring have realized fully this past year just what a great job those boys have been doing over east of town. While practically all other refineries owned by strictly independent companies shut down, victims of the nation-wide depression in the industry, the Cosden refinery, one of the best in the mid-continent, kept plugging right along.

It has been a tough job but they were equal to it.

And because they have been able to keep going Big Spring has continued to be one of the very few Texas towns outside of the "big city" class that retained some real industrial payrolls all through the past two years.

The payrolls of the refinery, as well as the railroad, have been spared materially, it is true. But the entire body of workers has not been thrown out of employment, and that is more than most all other places were blessed with.

'Bill' Murray Leads Garner By Two Votes

Interest In Presidential Straw Vote Grows During Week

Interest in the Herald's straw vote for president increased greatly Wednesday and Thursday.

The result was that Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma took a two-vote lead over Speaker of the House John Nance Garner to occupy first place, the first time Garner has not led the entire list of candidates.

Garner added fourteen votes while Murray received 25 additional ones, 24 of which came in a single envelope.

President Herbert Hoover became the occupant of third place among the "serious" candidates, although Eddie Cantor, the stage and radio star had received ten votes.

The poll will be continued so long as such interest is shown in it. By this means it is hoped not only to determine true sentiment of the people of this section at this time but also to record any changes in sentiment as the dates for the national party conventions draw nearer.

A surprising feature of the local poll this far has been that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, conceded the greatest strength nationally at this time, has received but one vote.

The totals to Friday noon:
Wm. H. Murray 83
John N. Garner 80
Eddie Cantor 10
Herbert Hoover 5

.. IDLE DOLLARS mean IDLE MEN!

Don't let Idle Money keep men out of work . . . Will you help?

This advertisement isn't a lecture on Economics. It isn't asking for donations . . . or requesting money.

It's an appeal to your own self interest. Whether you have an income of $20 a week or $200 . . . whether you run a business or a home . . .

This is a job for everybody . . . rich and poor alike.

We've got to get America's idle dollars back to work . . . where they belong!

Don't you see what happens when a dollar's withdrawn from circulation? It slows down everything. Credit tightens. Business gets bad. Factories stop. Men are thrown out of work.

Take that same dollar . . . put it in circulation . . . and ten more are released in credit.

This credit is turned into raw materials. It keeps factories busy. It pays wages and salaries . . . your own included.

That's the problem facing America.

We're the richest nation in the world. We have the resources. We have the factories . . . the machines . . . and the men to run them.

Yes, and we have the money too . . . but we must get it back in circulation. We must get our dollars back to work . . . that is the foremost duty of every citizen of this country.

Talk to local business men in your community . . . listen to what they say and follow their advice. Put your money where it will bring interest to yourself . . . and employment to your neighbor.

That's the way to help America win this fight!

A BRIEF NOTE OF APPRECIATION

The printing of this advertisement has been made possible through the co-operation of a few business firms of . . . and this newspaper. It is a sincere patriotic contribution that merits public praise. Regardless of political beliefs or editorial opinion these firms and this newspaper are doing their part to help win this fight.

Frank Knowl

CHAIRMAN
Citizens Reconstruction Organization

Idle hands result from idle money. But active money is the heaven that spreads its influence through all walks of life and through all industries. Never in the history of America has a dollar bill in circulation meant so much to our national prosperity as it does today. Let's be done with "slacker" dollars. Let's make every dollar work—for ourselves and our country!

Hero's method of amassing wealth was to put rich people to death and confiscate their property.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. I really does live up to its reputation when it is said to 'relieve constipation'."

"I used to feel poor all the time—just down and out—and after reading an advertisement in a magazine about ALL-BRAN I got a box. It has evermore helped me, and it is not hard at all to eat."

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green packages. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

How Lent's Meatless Dinners May Be Interesting, Simple

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON

Many women find meatless meals much more difficult to plan and prepare than the menu in which the meat dish is the guiding star. More ingenuity is required, perhaps, to plan the meatless dinner, but when well prepared the meal is interesting and often is enjoyed more than steak, chops or roast.

Suggested below are menus carefully planned to include all the essentials of a balanced meal. They produce satisfying, appetizing dinners, quite simple to prepare and especially enjoyable during the Lenten season.

Chilled Tomato Juice Crackers spread with Sandwich Relish Casserole of Corn and Kidney Beans Creamed Cauliflower or Cabbage Pineapple, Celery and Nut Salad Hot Biscuit Jelly Roll Coffee

Salmon and Corn Patties: Place one 1/2 lb. can of salmon and add 1-2 can of corn, (or 1 cup corn) 1-4 cup Tomato Ketchup, 2 to 3 tablespoons flour 2 eggs, well beaten and 1 teaspoon salt. Drop by heaping tablespoons in a skillet, the bottom of which is well covered with hot fat. Fry to a golden brown, turn, and when both sides are nicely browned, serve hot as main course for luncheon or supper.

for liquor conspiracy is completed, said Kesselman. HOPEWELL, N. J. (AP)—A material increase in the ransom demanded by the kidnapers of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., was advanced early Friday as one explanation of the delay in the return of the child, as a spectacular offer of assistance in the search came from "Scarface" Al Capone.

It was reported the original sum sought, $50,000, was jumped in subsequent communications received by Colonel Lindbergh from the child-stealers, who have been keeping their identity and hiding place a close secret.

While the famous flier was represented as willing to meet the demands, it was learned in a reliable quarter the abductors had informed him they did not feel the time safe yet to conclude negotiations.

Capone made his offer to aid in Colonel Lindbergh's private hunt from a cell in the Cook county (Chicago) jail. He agreed to post a $200,000 bond if the federal government would release him temporarily.

State police here said they had not considered the offer and did not contemplate considering it. They added it was a matter for the federal government, not the state police.

It was impossible to learn the attitude of Colonel Lindbergh himself toward the suggestion, for he remained on his hilltop estate. He is directing his own negotiations, independent of police investigation, but protected from questioning by troopers.

Pair Not Yet Cleared
The state police let it be known they were pressing forward vigorously with their own line of activity; that they had not yet vindicated Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid, or her friend, Henry Johnson, and that an international investigation of the pair was being conducted.

They said that it had been established Johnson had entered the country illegally and that if responsibility for participation in the kidnaping was fixed on him he would be turned over to immigration authorities for deportation.

As that statement was being issued word came from Newark, N. J., where Johnson has been held since the first of the week, that he had been formally arrested on a charge of violating the immigration law.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf issued a long statement in Newark to clear up the mystery that has surrounded Johnson, he said so far Johnson's story of his activity up to the time of the abduction a week ago last Tuesday night had been "satisfactorily" and that police had not been able to "fix any definite responsibility in connection with the kidnaping of Johnson or Betty Gow."

"Then he explained that because of the investigation of the two abroad "we are not in a position to vindicate them."

An indication police have not narrowed their hunt for the missing child down to any area came in a late night press conference. The following question was put: "Have the police developed a definite theory of any kind as to where the baby might be held, that is, in the immediate Hopewell area in the New York metropolitan area or at some point farther away?"

"All three of these are possibilities and we are investigating all angles," Colonel Schwarzkopf replied.

For the first time it was disclosed that neither fingerprints nor footprints had been taken of the child, and that exactly a week before the kidnaping the curly hair of the boy had been trimmed.

Even in Europe a search of the Ile de France for the missing child was made when the liner touched at Plymouth, England, following reports the Lindbergh heir was being held on board a ship. Nine children were found among the passengers, but they were identified.

Troopers who have guarded the Lindbergh estate and the road leading to it more than a week were replaced by others during the morning. It officially was stated the change merely was a matter of police routine.

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, said there now are 50 or 60 men detailed to the estate. Jersey City and Newark detectives working on the case, it was disclosed, are wearing state troopers' uniforms, so that troopers will not mistake them for prowlers.

Usual Wild Rumors
The ninth day since the kidnaping brought more than the usual crop of wild rumors, which were exploded one by one.

The first was that the child was being brought back on a fast express from Chicago. Police met the train when it reached New York and found it had no private car attached, as had been reported and there was no child aboard.

guard, the Post said. Mrs. Spitaler was quoted as saying she did not know where her husband was at this time.

NEW YORK—The Brooklyn Eagle said today two of 16 men brought into federal court to face trial for conspiracy to smuggle liquor were Salvatore Spitaler and Irving Blitz, the men with alleged underworld connections named by the Lindberghs as go-betweens in the kidnaping case.

The pair was arrested and indicted as James Martin and Morris Grossman but the Eagle said they were really Spitaler and Blitz. After a whispered conference between prosecutor and judge the trial was postponed until tomorrow.

The latter rumor apparently grew out of an offer the sheriff made to drive a woman and her child to New York to arrange bond for her husband.

BABY LINDBERGH ON HIS BIRTHDAY

POLICE PRESS HUNT FOR LINDY'S KIDNAPED BABY

These two Associated Press telephotos show graphic views of the feverish hunt by authorities for clues to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby. Above, police are shown searching every car passing on the New Jersey side of the George Washington bridge across the Hudson river; and below, Policeman Charles Williamson is shown discussing the case with the first newspaper reporters to reach the scene.

OFFICIALS GRILL KIDNAP SUSPECT

Hugh M. Alcorn (left), state's attorney of Connecticut, and Edward J. Hickey (right), who aided Alcorn in the successful prosecution of Gerald Chapman, came into the Lindbergh kidnaping case when they grilled Henry "Red" Johnson, Englewood, N. J., sailor, at Hartford. Johnson was a friend of Betty Grew, the Lindbergh nurse.

SEARCH FOR KIDNAPING CLUES

New Jersey state troopers working on the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case are shown examining a closet of a deserted house in the area of the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell for possible traces of the kidnapers.

NAMED LINDBERGH "GO-BETWEENS"

This Associated Press telephoto shows Irving Bitz (left), and "Salvy" Spitalo, both identified with New York gangland and New York racketeering, who were publicly authorized by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh to act as "go-betweens" in negotiations with the kidnapers of their baby boy.

'STRANGLER' LIKES THIS STATUE

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, viewed this clay model of himself with satisfaction. Alonzo Victor Lewis, Seattle sculptor (no relative of the grappler), also seems pleased with the work.

Here is the little blond baby boy for whom a whole nation is hunting while the world waits anxiously for the news that he has been returned to his parents unharmed by kidnapers who snatched him from his crib. This is a picture of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., taken on his first birthday by his mother, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

10.30 PM P AS DO DB NOT MPB NOT

This startling message sent over the wires of the police teletype system from Newark, N. J., was the first "flash" to police that Colonel Lindbergh's baby son had been kidnaped. The message is shown as it was typed out to all police stations in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

LINDBERGH'S MAKE DIRECT APPEAL TO KIDNAPERS

Mrs. Lindbergh and I desire to make a personal contact with the kidnapers of our child.

Our only interest is in his immediate and safe return and we feel certain that the kidnapers will realize that this interest is strong enough to justify them in having complete confidence and trust in any promises that we may make in connection with his return.

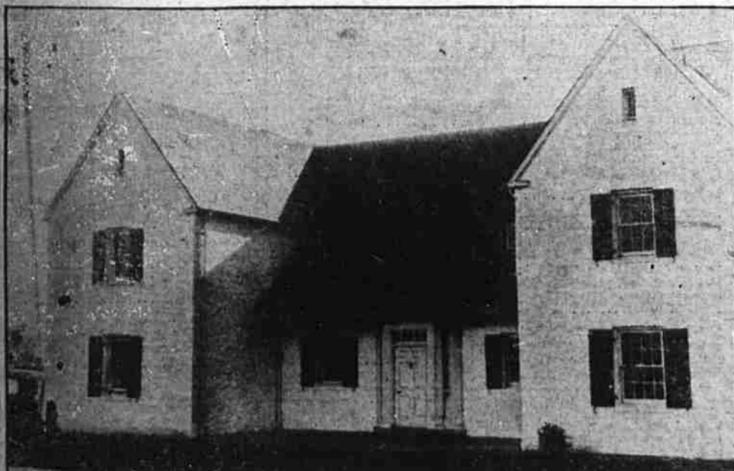

We urge those who have the child to select any representative that they desire to meet a representative of ours who will be suitable to them at any time and at any place that they may designate.

If this is accepted, we promise that we will keep whatever arrangements that may be made by their representative and ours strictly confidential, and we further pledge ourselves that we will not try to injure in any way those connected with the return of the child.

This Associated Press telephoto reproduces the appeal made directly to the kidnapers of their world famous baby boy by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh after more than two days of fruitless search for the abductor.

LINDBERGH HOME FROM WHICH BABY WAS KIDNAPED

NEWSMEN, POLICE SWARM AROUND LINDBERGH HOME

This picture shows the normally isolated Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J., when it was surrounded by hordes of newspaper men and police following the kidnaping of little Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. Also the airplane flying overhead securing pictures and other data.

Texas Topics

AUSTIN—Texas officials whose jobs concern them with the state's steady revenues, are beginning to feel mild shivers of worry over the East Texas oil field.

Its production, after March 15 at 7 a. m. will be limited to 325,000 barrels a day, regardless of the number of its wells. With a limit now of about the same amount, the field, each well under a 75 barrel restriction, is not making quite the allowable given it.

At present it is paying the state about $5650 a day in production taxes. That runs into important money in a year. If the field should curbed below the present level, in the absence of any sharp rise in prices, the state's revenue would reflect a considerable shrinkage.

A joyous bird man is the Rev. M. L. Barrett. This minister reared a large family in a log hut of an eastern state. One of his sons grew to be the important financial figure in Texas affairs. A. P. Barrett of Fort Worth, pioneer in commercial aviation, big-scale business man... The Rev. Barrett is making a super-speed tour of Texas with this son of his in the government anti-boarding campaign, of which A. P. Barrett is state chairman.

"Get your money out of the tin box; deposit it in your bank, use it in your business or buy good safe securities, or buy the new government bonds... it's all the same, so long as you put it to work." This is the net anti-boarding argument for Texas. Mr. Barrett was reassuring in declaring that it is not desired that people be high-pressured into withdrawing their active bank deposits or using money otherwise required in business transactions, simply for the purchase of the new government bonds.

Many who have seen the fine-looking old gentleman, Robert H. Cousins about the streets of Austin... he lived in Austin 62 years... commented, "Doesn't he look like Robert E. Lee?" It was not by chance that Mr. Cousins permitted his beard to take the familiar form of Lee's. In his college days, Mr. Cousins sat daily at the dinner table with Robert E. Lee. As a youth, he left school to march under the Stars and Bars with his beloved schoolmaster. And his life was a scene a memorial to the great friend of his youth... And now Mr. Cousins, at 62, has joined that chief-ain in the silent bivouac of ter-

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN The Stimson Letter in Europe

ROME, March 11. The full text of Mr. Stimson's letter to Senator Borah has not been easy to obtain here in Italy, nor, I should imagine, elsewhere in Europe. Having at last seen the full text, it seems to me improbable that it has been received without serious misgiving in the chief capitals of Europe. For in inviting other governments to join the United States in declaring that they will "not recognize any situation, treaty or agreement" entered into in violation of the Kellogg Pact, Mr. Stimson has raised a question of principle that deeply concerns Europe. He is in effect asking the European nations to say all over again and in more binding form, because it is so much more concrete than the Kellogg Pact itself, that they will not attempt to revise the existing constitution of Europe by illegal means. It will be interesting to see whether Germany will accept Mr. Stimson's thesis. Whether Hungary will whether Italy will.

The American note of January 7, which declares the principle that new titles illegally obtained are not to be recognized, is one to which a territorially satisfied nation like the United States, like Great Britain, like France, perhaps even like Russia, can fairly easily subscribe. But when Mr. Stimson asks all the other governments to subscribe to the same idea which it is hard to refuse and yet rather awkward to do.

For the principles of the American note of Jan. 7 would, if generally applied, amount to a freezing of the existing frontier. If force, they can not be changed by force, they can not be changed at all; there is no pacific way of overcoming the objection of a nation to giving up a piece of territory it happens to possess. Thus under the Kellogg Pact and the Hoover-Stimson corollary the peace mechanism of the world becomes a mechanism for maintaining the status quo.

In the years immediately following the great war the maintenance of the status quo seemed a sufficient ideal of peace; the victors were weary, and every one was weary. But it is no longer an adequate ideal and no one really believes in it any longer. It may perhaps work in the west for another decade. But it has broken down in the Orient and it will break down elsewhere. For it is not in the nature of things that they should be kept rigidly fixed. An international society which does not provide pacific methods for changing as well as for maintaining the status quo has not really produced a substitute for war.

The problem of providing orderly ways of introducing changes into international relations has not yet been solved. That is one of the great reasons why the mechanism of peace is so fragile and so little trusted. The fact is that the world deeply dissatisfied with their place in the society of nations. It will be difficult for them to subscribe seriously and with entire sincerity to Mr. Stimson's principle. It will be interesting to see how they

Abilene Pastor Who Disappeared To Take A Rest

ABILENE, Texas (UP)—The Rev. J. A. (Johnny) Lovell, 24-year-old fundamentalist minister who disappeared here last week, will "drop everything and rest" for perhaps a month, he said here today.

The minister returned home last night accompanied by his brother who drove from their parents' home at Tom Bean near Paris from where Lovell reported his safety Monday. He gave no details of how he spent the time between Saturday and Monday.

"I tried too long to travel on my nerves," he said. "All at once they went to pieces on me and I tried to get away from them. That's all that's wrong with me. I am desperately tired and miserable from overwork."

"I'm going to drop everything and rest in a hospital a month if necessary to get myself back in shape and return to my congregation and work."

He said the Rev. J. Frank Norcia, Fort Worth Baptist minister, urged him to take a good hospital rest. The youthful pastor called a meeting of his deacons today to ask for a leave of absence.

The Rev. Lovell, pastor of Trinity Baptist church here and a St. Louis native, will be in Abilene deal with it in the assembly at Geneva on Thursday.
