

Three Injured In Panhandle Explosion

County Teachers Meet Here Saturday

A striking local instance of the myriad unfounded, misdirected criticisms of public officials...

A careful examination of the problems that have faced the board of trustees...

In 1929-30 the scholastic population of the Big Spring school district was 1443...

The total number of children actually enrolled in 1928-29 was 2833...

In 1929-30 the schools received the state apportionment of $16.50 on 277 children...

The cost of instruction—teachers salaries—and those salaries are very low...

It is therefore, obvious that the board had to dig deep into the tax receipts to operate the schools.

And, they couldn't herd the rapidly growing number of children into a tant or something...

The added bonded indebtedness naturally raised materially the requirements for interest and sinking funds...

No, after having had to spend much of the money paid in taxes to pay teachers...

Did economic conditions continue in such manner as to keep the rate of payment of taxes up to the level of 1928-30?

In spite of a five per cent reduction in teachers' salaries...

The difference between total enrollment for the session and average daily attendance...

Today the bonded debt of the school district is unchanged...

But, although the number of children to be cared for has become balanced with the number on which the district receives state funds...

In 1928 total assessments were $68,730 and $66,822 was collected...

That is the reason why the school trustees are faced with the present situation.

Examination Plans To Be Chief Topic

Mrs. Duff To Speak On Ways Of Forming Rural P.-T. A. Units

Deaf Mute Writes Police Note Saying He Killed Another

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—A nervous little man rapped timidly on the edge of the information window at police headquarters...

The sergeant looked up and a note was thrust across the desk to him. It read: "I shot a man on Monroe Street, Norman D. Hunt."

The little man handed the sergeant a revolver with six fired shells. He stood speechless before the questions of the officer...

Hunt, the 59 year old confessed killer, is a deaf mute. His victim, Louis Coleman, 34, also deaf, once was Hunt's closest friend.

Children of the slain man who witnessed the shooting told officers of the exchange of words in the sign language that preceded their father's death.

Hunt, they said, came to their home and talking with his fingers, said: "Where were you at noon today?"

"None of your business," spelled out Coleman with his hands.

Hunt then opened fire, fatally wounding Coleman.

In his notes to the officers confessing the killing, Hunt said he repeatedly remonstrated with his wife against riding with Coleman in his automobile...

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

The spring weather has introduced a new form of sport, ward school football. The Western Outlaws inaugurated the city league race by running roughshod over the South Ward Gazelles 39 to 0 in Steer Stadium yesterday afternoon, thereby sounding a warning to David Hopper's East Ward Galloping Ghosts and Bill Flowers and Elmer Dyer's North Ward grid-ders. Tack Dennis' team looked very, very good when one considers that the average age was around ten years. Dennis kept his ballyhooed back, Captain Marvin House, under cover, confirming most of his activities to field strategy and blocking for his less talked about mates. In the last minute of play young House called for a punt, more because of the referee's suggestion than because of any necessity for the defensive stunt, and his kick went over the safety man's head. This afternoon the Galloping Ghosts play the North Side Warders, and the winner meets the Western Outlaws in the finals Friday afternoon.

"Now comes an all-star team, selected by a 'three year-man' on the Big Spring team, who hasn't missed a game since 1924, and who selects Obie Bristow and Joe Ward as his pair of all-star mentors." The unknown selector goes back six years and brings eleven of the best players Big Spring High has had in that time.

Ends: (so his selection goes), Clyde McGinnis, (1923-24-25) and Ed Settles, (1925-26-27); Tackles: David Hopper (1930-31) and Frank Fisherman (1928-29); Guards: Bob Humble (1928) and C. E. Johnson (1925-26-27-28); Center: Burma Barley (1926-27-28); Quarterback: Buster Bell (1929); Halfbacks: Frank Segel (1925-26) and Charles Segel (1928); Fullback: Tack Dennis (1931).

It is interesting to note that only two of last year's club, undoubtedly the strongest in local school history, was placed on the mythical team. But it is an interesting pastime, and all such contributions are appreciated.

Several stellar players could not, of course, be placed on such a squad. Jess Euglar, who roamed at fullback for two years around 1927 and 1928, Bill Flowers, who captained the last year's team, Delbert Rogers, captain in 1930, are three backs who would make a capable trio of substitutes. For reserve ends there could be Granville (Red) Coats, who might also be a back, Lloyd Wasson, Buren Edwards, and Fred Fields. But suppose the readers try their hand at it.

The local squad of cinder artists will delay serious training until next week, but will participate in the Midland invitational affair this week-end. Forrester, Dennis, Harris, Hopper, and Reichburg are busily engaged in the city gridiron race, assisting Obie Bristow in building up squads that will lick the tar out of Sweetwater along about 1935. Neel, Coburn, Hebisen, Denton, and a few others are taking advantage of the warm afternoons, and will probably head the Steer point winners Saturday.

Bristow has done, though of course everyone realizes it, miracles with the football fortune here. But the 7 to 0 defeat inflicted upon his charges by the Sweetwater Mustangs is still a thorn in his side.

"I don't believe," he said the other day, "that people here realize just how good a team we had last fall. I wish that we had been able to get in one or two tough games before the Sweetwater battles and that Flowers, Dyer, and Hopper hadn't been out of the San Angelo game."

Bristow discussed football further, explaining the difficulty he experienced in getting a squad to train. "There were two complete outlaws on the squad," he explained. "One will make a nice man next year with the bad influence of the other removed. Next year any such offenders can check in their suits immediately."

Midland High School, the lily white team of District 4 last season is Bobby Campbell's statement is correct, will journey to El Paso next year to meet Austin High. The Bulldogs have played the El Paso team for the last two years and have been victorious both times, winning last season by a score of 19 to 13. It is a good thing that Midland is playing Austin early in the season. The El Paso club might possibly break through to the championship of their district, and Big Spring will profit by Midland's experience in the bi-district contest.

Such optimism will surely be rewarded.

LET'S QUIT KIDDING OURSELVES

We all know that demoralized prices produced depression. We all should know that just as long as prices remain demoralized, just that long depression will be with us.

The man or firm who has consistently offered to the public quality merchandise at prices that are fair and consistent with good business, using their profits to employ men at fair wages, are the influences that have prevented total demoralization and even made your position tenable thus far, and will surely prove the influence that leads us to ultimate prosperity. Patronize them.

It has been said: "It takes two cheap men to close one cheap deal." Cut throat prices tend to perpetuate depression. Fair prices produce prosperity.

Plenty Of Work
THE difference between depression and prosperity means tragedy to many millions of people—and yet, amazingly enough, the actual gap between the two states is exceedingly narrow.

A writer in the current magazine of Wall Street quotes figures compiled by the American Federation of Labor which show that there is in the United States today enough work to employ every worker in the nation—for 35 hours a week.

That is to say, if a seven-hour day and a five-day week were suddenly installed in every industry unemployment would literally vanish. There is, it seems, plenty of work in America for everybody—if only it were divided up equitably.

The normal working week in most industries is 48 hours, scaling down to 44 in many cases. Between that and the 35-hour week there is no great gulf. And yet that small gulf is enough to throw something like a quarter to all our wage-earners out of work and put long columns of red figures in the ledger of innumerable businesses.

Before the depression came we had several years of high prosperity. During those years something might have been done to pave the way for hard times. Working hours might have been readjusted, for instance, to spread work out over a larger number of workers.

The high profits that were being made could have enabled industries to do this without greatly diminishing the individual worker's income.

But, as the writer in the above-mentioned magazine points out: "Too small a proportion of the earnings of 1919-1929 went into consumption. Too large a proportion went to swell the unspendable incomes of a minority of machine owners. Too much was ploughed back into additional capital investments to swell producing facilities which had already run beyond the consuming abilities of the mass population."

Now, however, we must look ahead to future opportunities not back to ones that were missed. What are we going to do to narrow the gap? The man who presents a sane and logical program will do his country a tremendous service.

BOY CRAZY
by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS: Money and beauty mean little to Hope Ross, recently made Mrs. Dale, since her father opposes her runaway marriage. She has not heard from Dickey Dale, her husband, since Mr. Ross turned him away from the house. Her father has seen Dickey privately, and injured him severely in a fight.

CHAPTER 20
A DREADFUL MISTAKE

Hope—in her room—talking to her father whenever he came. Listening to him, face averted, silent, unprotesting.

Waiting and waiting and waiting—until tired little lines crept around the blue eyes, and a wistful droop around her mouth. Waited, with Sassy in her lap, as she wrote letter after letter—whole sheaves of them—to Dickey.

These letters she gave to Goody, who had put in an embarrassed appearance the second morning, bringing Hope news of Mama Ross's dangerous heart attack and her lingering illness. The more questions Goody asked and Hope left unanswered, the more resentful and awkward the older girl became.

For once Goody found herself the favorite of the household. For once she was sought by her father for support and assistance. And Goody gloried in her new importance. She herself was thoroughly convinced of the madness of Hope's escapade and felt no guilt in corroborating her father's lie about Dickey's non-appearance. Not a word did Goody breathe of the scene that had taken place in the billiard room the night after the wedding. Never once did she whisper to Hope that Dickey was hurt—no one knew how badly—and was lying in his grandmother's house under a doctor's care.

In Mama Ross's room, Goody had stood by the bed (conscious of her father's broad back as he stood staring unseeing out of the window, and keeping his averted face from the two women who were playing) gravely, sincerely giving an oath to her invalid mother that she would never mention the episode to Hope or anyone else. Goody meant well when she gave this dramatic promise and Goody was one whose religion it was to keep a promise at any cost. She never dreamed her father half hated them both for drawing the knot tighter around Hope's disillusionment. How could she guess? She couldn't see the half smiler on his face, or the look of disgust and resentment in his tired, hurt eyes. . . . She was concentrating upon Mama's urgent, half-hysterical prattle. . . .

And each letter that Hope entrusted to her sister with tearful pleadings that she post it right away, Goody brought it dutifully to her father. Never dreaming that he half despised her for carrying out his orders and keeping his secret so nobly, so elaborately, so sanctimoniously.

Greater even than that were Goody's glories those days. Not only was she her mother's unfailing staff of comfort, but Goody was the general supply-house of information for all of Hope's gang as they phoned the house.

It was Goody who effected the final triumph in the breaking of Hope's spirit. Papa Ross, feeling that he had done his share, refused actively to indulge in the gorgeous drama which Mama Ross was enacting with her superb "heart attack." When, after eight days of waiting to hear an answer to her many letters, Hope had to face herself and admit that Dickey couldn't have found for her or surely he'd make made explanations; pleading headaches with those at home, and shut herself into her room. From that night onward Hope was grown up. Bravely she faced her circle.

Restless, moody, Hope had a difficult battle to fight, and as long as people left her alone she fought it superbly. But no longer would she enter into "installment bargains" about drinking, and Papa Ross did not press his point. Papa Ross had less and less opportunity to press his points with his blonde and blue-eyed young rebel.

(Copyright, Grace Perkins)

Hope learns what Dickey thinks about her, in the next installment. But how can she see him?

175 Billions Expected to be Paid Tuesday in U. S. Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Treasury experts estimate Americans will pay between $150,000,000 and $175,000,000 in income taxes by midnight tomorrow.

The taxes, paid by individuals and corporations, will cover the first quarter of the calendar year 1932. They will go into the general fund for the fiscal year 1932.

A last minute rush to file returns from all parts of the country. Payments have been slower than in any recent year and the number of returns is smaller.

The budget deficit March 10, covering 9 months and 10 days of the current fiscal year which ends June 30, was $1,864,978,183.67. The total deficiency last year was less than half that amount. The treasury now expects a deficit of about $2,500,000,000 for this fiscal year.

A study of treasury figures shows the federal government has been operated during the past nine months at an average daily loss of $6,812,000. The cause of this bad financial position is simple—increased expenditures and decreased revenues.

Expenditures to date of $2,194,925,068.81 are $296,801,284.24 greater than those of the corresponding period of the fiscal year 1931. Total revenue from all sources has decreased $663,681,975.03, from $2,222,005,247.78 to $1,558,323,272.75.

Decreased income tax receipts, amounting to $676,187,826.31 as compared with $1,195,895,405.19, a net decline of $519,707,668.88, are chiefly responsible for smaller federal income.

West Ward Wins Grid Game 37-0

The West Ward "Western Outlaws" opened the city league grid-iron schedule by running roughshod over the South Ward Gazelles 37 to 0 in the Steer Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Tack Dennis' charges rolled up twenty first downs against their opponents' one, and a fleet, light backfield, generally by Captain Marvin House, Jr., crossed the goal line six times. The South Warders, coached by Lloyd Forrester, were never able to contest the Outlaws on even terms.

It was the first game of the city play off series, and entitled the West Ward eleven to a place in the final game Friday afternoon with the winner of today's contest between the East and North Ward teams as their opponents. David Hopper is coach of the East Warders, "The Galloping Ghosts" while Bill Flowers and Elmer Dyer are in charge of the North Ward club.

Parker To Supervise Change From Per Well Basis In East Texas

AUSTIN (UP)—R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the State Railroad Commission, will go to the East Texas oil field tomorrow to personally supervise the change in the field regulation from a per well basis to a total production limit for the entire field.

The amount each well will be permitted to produce under the field total of 325,000 barrels a day had not been calculated today, Parker said it will be figured in the field. "It is simply a matter of mathematics," he said.

No orders had been issued thru the governor's office here for a change in the military orders in the field. It is expected that if any change is made, the governor will wire instruction direct from El Paso to Col. Louis S. Davidson at Kilgore. The governor is in El Paso attending the cattlemen's convention.

Among the feature attractions will be the men's Beauty Revue and Style Show, and an old time Camp Meeting. To announce all of these attractions will be a Barker who can out-bark the bark-in-gest Barker that ever barked, says the council. The ladies will begin serving at 7 o'clock for the early comers, and the entertainments will begin between 7:30 and 8:00. The public is invited.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN — Rep. E. H. Labster, Henderson, believes that when the legislature returns to Austin next January it will at once begin an effort to divert two cents out of the present four-cent gasoline tax; one cent to assume interest and sinking fund on county bonds for highways; one cent to lifting the state out of its general revenue deficit.

That, as he figures it, would leave the state enough highway money to match $7,000,000 federal aid and to carry on all maintenance work. It would, in his opinion, avert the highway-building holiday that is getting discussion now at what somebody termed the "peak of the depression."

The state now in March is buying Feb. 1 warrants, and is cashing those issued in January. It may reach a cash basis for a short time in April. Or it may stay on a deficiency basis in general revenue.

The cash basis could last only 15 or 30 of 40 days anyway, then the general fund would lapse back on another 10 months of deficit, during which recipients of pay warrants and other warrants against this fund would go through the customary process of paying interest on the overlap of their warrants.

Compt. George H. Sheppard will have ready for the legislature recommendations that will greatly help the general fund, if adopted. That fund now bears all the cost of collecting all special taxes and the ad valorem for other accounts.

He would have the gasoline tax fund, for instance, pay for the inspectors whose work results in increasing its amount, and apply the same principle to all special collections.

Auxiliary Surprises The Engineers For Social Hour

The Ladies Auxiliary surprised the Engineers Tuesday afternoon at their meeting and brought with them refreshments to provide a jolly social hour. Everybody had such a good time that it was voted to make a joint social meeting a monthly affair. Hereafter every Tuesday the women will meet with the men at 3 o'clock, after they have concluded their business.

The members attending were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Redwine, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Koberg, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rippe; Meses. Lamar Smith, P. H. Coburn, Chas. Vines, Sarah Deats, Max Wiesen; Misses Joanna Vines and Wynell Kavanaugh Messers. Geo. Mims, Swartzenbach, Geo. Mims, John Orr, D. Orr, W. R. Marlin, L. F. McKay and J. T. Wade.

Mrs. Strahan Hostess To 1932 Club Members

Mrs. V. V. Strahan entertained the members of the 1932 Bridge Club with an attractive party Tuesday afternoon. Two tables of club members attended; no guests were present.

Mrs. Price made high score. Mrs. Thurman will be the next hostess.

Those attending were Meses. Grover Cunningham, Fred Keating, R. V. Middleton, E. O. Price, Mae Battle, Otto Wolfe, J. Y. Robb and Eck Lovelace.

CONFERENCE CLUB MEETING

The Conference Club of the First Christian Church met Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the City Park. A fine meeting was had. The members planned a stunt for the carnival at the church tonight, then made preparation for attending the Conference this summer which is held at Center Point beginning June 27 and lasting until July 3.

After delicious refreshments, Ben Allen and Mary Alice Leslie being joint hosts and hostesses, the meeting was concluded.

Those present were: Rev. D. R. Lindley, sponsor, Mildred Creath, Mary Alice Leslie, Walter Bell, Ben Allen, Georgia Owen, Gene Lucille Kennedy and Lillian Schubert. One member, Mattie Louise Pollard, was unable to attend.

The next meeting will be at the church with Rev. D. R. Lindley as host.

"9 o'clock... I ordered groceries brought to the back door. 9:30... the Missus found she was out of soap, added to the grocery order. 11:30... called Jack to remind him to bring home some stamps. "1 o'clock... Mrs. Bascom called to ask about the Missus' recipe for baked beans. 3 o'clock... the Missus called that woman down the street, asked her to come up tonight to play bridge. 5:30... the Missus is peeved. Jack just called. Be 20 minutes late. Delay dinner. "6:30... told the druggist to send the boy over with a pint of ice cream. 8:30... the Missus' mother called from out-of-town inviting the folks up to help eat quail dinner Sunday."

at least $25,000 of the delinquent taxes, else teachers will have to work without pay or money must be borrowed. This last solution is difficult to achieve at this time.

The best way out is to collect taxes. Can this be done? If so, well and good. If not, it certainly is not the fault of the school board or the superintendent.

Some criticism has been directed at the board for having reduced salaries last spring. We are sure none of the trustees wanted to take that action. The figures, it appears to us, show that it was not a matter of choice but of necessity.

The teachers are poorly paid at best, when they receive their salaries on schedule.

Certainly Big Spring has sufficient cash reserves in public or private hands to pay these teachers. And without asking them to take any further cut in salary.

Whenever it comes to the point where we can't pay all our taxes—if we've got to leave off payment of one of the four classes of ad valorem taxation—city, county, state and school—we'll leave off either city, county or state, but not the school taxes. They ought to be paid first.
