Searchers Face Storms to Find Lost Air Party

GLENDALE, Cal. (AP)—Thirty airplanes and two hundred men on foot fought the rain and snow over the mountains northeast of here today searching for a Century-Pacific tri-motored monoplane which disappeared yesterday with seven passengers and pilot.

On board were J. V. Sandblom, pilot, Frank Dewar, Los Angeles; Spencer B. Swan, Long Island, New York; Marie Combs, Bakerfield, California; Mrs. F. H. Fickelsen, San Diego; Miss Nita McGrath, Oakland; and W. H. Smith and J. H. Ploemus, San Francisco.

Two, In Darkened Theatre, Witness Horrible Picture

Joanna Vines and George B. Talley saw a picture show Saturday morning.

Just the two of them, but Miss Vines was seated in the orchestra pit and Mr. Talley in the balcony and with them in the Ritz theatre's large auditorium was nothing but darkness—except for two or three theatre men and a newspaper reporter hidden in the rear of the place.

While they gazed with many kinds of feelings upon the showing of "Frankenstein," billed as the most horrible picture ever filmed, several hundred persons stood at various times during the performance in front of the building and picked up the sounds of the picture through a public address system.

The audience of two was given an examination by a physician before they entered the theatre. This was done to make sure neither Miss Vins or Talley were susceptible to violent reactions to scenes of horror that might cause ill effects.

"Frankenstein" was shown last night at the Ritz midnight matinee performance and will return to that showhouse soon for a longer run at regular performances.

Dallas Visitors Honorees At Party

Mrs. Geo. S. Grimes and Mrs. Thomas Lealle entertained Friday evening at the home of the former with four tables of bridge, honoring Mrs. Voyt Williams, of Dallas.

The honoree was presented with a beautiful pair of homemade pillow cases. Mrs. Walkup made high for the women and received a string of beads. Mr. Williams, who made high for the men, received a smoking stand.

Mrs. Timmons and Mr. Walkup were consoled for low with clever prizes. Delicious refreshments were served to the following: Messrs. and Mrs. Williams, George S. Harwell, Wayne Pearce, Floyd Timmons, Jack Walkup, Bush, Bud Mandaux, Messrs. Johnnie Lane, L. T. Leslie and Gen. Grimes.

6 1-2 Per Cent Is Sought As Cut In Salary

CHICAGO (AP)—The joint railroad wage conference of nine company executives and representatives of 20 labor unions adjourned after a two and a half hour session without reaching an agreement.

CHICAGO (AP)—A million and a half railroad workers volunteered to accept six and one-half per cent less pay for one year and they were promptly turned down.

The committee of nine railroad presidents, representing nearly every major road in the country and holding steadfastly to their proposal of a 10 per cent wage reduction, rejected each of four counter proposals made by the brotherhoods and unions in the ninth session of the negotiations of railway wages.

It took the managements only a half hour to decide on the labor propositions and their prompt "no" threw the wage question back to the labor group in more or less of a "take it or leave it" status.

The presidents previously had repudiated the labor's employment stabilization program in a manner that was termed unsatisfactory by the labor leaders.

Workers' Next Move

It was the workers' next move, the presidents having responded fully to their counter proposals and the next joint session in the negotiations between the two groups was subject to the call of the labor delegation.

Importance Of Oil Test

One of the propositions submitted by the brotherhoods would have bound the railroads to pay 100 per cent on the present basic rates for a full year after the year in which a reduction was agreed to. This was given to the presidents as a proposition which would apply to each of the other three proposals.

It was the one on which one of the big brotherhoods based its authorization for continued negotiations.

Lions Leader Sees Better Club Activity

Reports from the 2,700 Lions clubs included in the organization he heads indicate that business conditions on the North American continent have gone 'over the hump' and are on a gradual upturn.

He declared Julien Hyer, of Fort Worth, president of Lions International, who was a visitor at the Big Spring airport 30 minutes Friday.

He was enroute home from a tour of the Pacific coast region, and a conference in Los Angeles on preparations for the annual convention of Lions International to be opened in that city July 19.

"Many of our clubs had some difficulties in the latter part of 1931 but the reports we are receiving now indicate they all are getting in better shape," said Mr. Hyer.

The former member of the state senate, who refused to seek a second term with the declaration that he had no further taste for political activities as experienced in the Texas legislature, was getting a great kick out of his journey by air from Los Angeles to his home town.

He exhibited a Los Angeles newspaper that he bought "for breakfast" Friday, saying that he had just wired his family that he would be home for dinner Friday evening.

Mr. Hyer was greeted at the airport by several members of the Big Spring Lions club.

Harrison's No. 1 Denman Swabbs 300 Barrels In 14 Hours

Lee C. Harrison's No. 1 L. C. Denman, section 10, block 30 T. & P. survey, eastern Howard county, a semi-wildcat, was rated good for more than 450 barrels daily Saturday after having been shot with 300 quarts at 2,731 to 2,807 feet.

The well flowed 100 barrels in two hours immediately after the shot. It swabbed 300 barrels in 14 hours, filling a moving additional storage to the lease Saturday.

The well appeared to be the best producer in that area. The nearest producer is Sinclair (Consolidated Corporation's No. 1 Dodge Estate about three-tenths of a mile eastward. The Dodge well was good for approximately 300 barrels daily when completed a year ago.

Mr. Harrison is reported to be planning several additional tests on the lease, owned by L. C. Denman of Abilene.

The oil tests 29.5 degrees gravity at 68 degrees Fahrenheit. No water trouble is reported.

Japan Extends Rule Into Part Of Settlement

American Warships Enroute To Scene Under Orders To Act If Lives Of Americans Endangered

China has decided to make a formal declaration of war against Japan.

In preparation for it the seat of government was moved for safety Saturday from Nanking to Honanfu.

Meanwhile Japanese invaders crushed authority of the international administration of the foreign settlement in Shanghai. Japanese military rule was made supreme throughout a great slice of the settlement in which the international council ceased to exercise authority.

From the settlement the Japanese based operations to clear out Chinese troops from the native quarter of Shanghai, which halted Japanese troops.

American warship reinforcement pointed toward China, under authorization from Washington to go into action if American citizens were entrapped in the Shanghai disorders.

The United States and Great Britain protested emphatically against Japanese occupation of Shanghai.

Tokyo Talks

In Tokyo a war office spokesman said "a terrible responsibility would rest upon the council of the league of nations if a world conflagration" were precipitated through its Sino-Japanese war policy.

Chapel, where until noon Saturday Chinese and Japanese troops locked in sharp fighting, was quiet early today. It was reported troops of both sides were reorganizing. United States marines on guard in the international settlement arrested fourteen Japanese armed with pistols and in civilian clothes. A few minutes later they arrested eight more Japanese heavily armed.

Hunt Chinese

Japanese marines, reservists and civilian men surged through the streets in the north section of the settlement searching for helpless Chinese. They encountered thousands of refugees. Japanese marines swept the streets with machine gun fire. They broke into stores and dwellings hunting for hidden Chinese. How many deaths had occurred was impossible to compute.

Japanese airplanes renewed activities this morning when seventeen flew over Shanghai.

Challenge to Japan

Foreign authorities here regard a declaration of war as a challenge to Japan, which not only would mean fighting on a larger scale than hitherto, but even more significant, would mean a justification for the landing of Japanese troops anywhere in China, but the seizure of strategic points.

The echo of the war cry was heard at Tokio, where a war office spokesman, referring to China's decision to evoke more drastic sections of the league of nations covenant at Geneva, said the league council "must bear a terrible responsibility" if through its action "a world conflagration" should be precipitated.

More Planes in Harbor

The American consular authorities at Nanking ordered all American citizens to be ready to evacuate the city within two hours.

At Shanghai, in the meantime, the bloody battle which raged over the Chapel sector for 36 hours lulled during the afternoon and thousands of bloody and torn Chinese refugees scuttled out of the section to take refuge in the international settlement.

Two additional Japanese aircraft carriers arrived in Shanghai harbor this afternoon.

Propose Probe

British and American residents of the international settlement, shortly before the lull in the fighting, protested to the settlement consular officials, declaring the Japanese naval staff was using the settlement as a base for its attack upon the Chinese.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league of nations at Geneva, offered the league council a proposal calling for an investigation of the events at Shanghai by a commission to be made up of representatives of all the powers represented there.

Chiang Kai Shek England Joins In Strong Protest To Japanese

NANKING (AP)—General Chiang Kai Shek, Chinese military hero and former president, sent a telegram to lieutenants over the country urging them to prepare to defend China in a fight for national existence. Chiang had previously favored conciliation.

The government officials today held an emergency meeting. The Reuters News Agency said that he was definitely decided to declare war, but that an actual declaration had not yet been issued. Trainloads of troops began leaving for Shanghai and consular authorities ordered American citizens to prepare to evacuate.

Americans Released On Bond In Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP)—Circuit Judge A. M. Craty released under bond Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three naval men held in connection with the killing of a Hawaiian. They were released in the custody of Captain Ward Wortman of the U. S. Navy, and will be restricted to the Pearl Harbor naval yard. They must report daily to Wortman.

The nationalistic feeling is very strong here. I have no way of knowing whether it is common with all the bubble about Old Glory and Service to Country and so forth which one hears around the capital.

Garner is the outright No. 2 man in U. S. political office today. The importance of the house as a legislative body is greatly enhanced this year because of the importance of taxation and appropriation measures. All appropriation bills must originate in the house.

Until I came up here I had no idea Garner had even the wildest chances at the presidency. I looked upon him, like I fear most Texans still do, as just another congressman. I thought that the boom for him was just so much honey, but I am absolutely sincere now in believing that he has a good chance at the nomination. It seems to be conceded, that the democratic nomination means election this year—unless someone pulls a terrible blunder. Newspaper men I have talked to consider him a serious possibility. It appears to be all a question of the party seeking a compromise candidate and Garner is the only man they seem to know of who can satisfy all elements in the party. If the convention gets deadlocked West Texas is going to be sitting on top of the world with a man of our own type, belief and character in the White House.

Even in the few weeks I have been here I have seen diminishing Roosevelt enthusiasm. There is a certain class—especially those you see up here—who are not so much concerned with who they are for as they are in getting out early for a winner. Roosevelt seemed to look to them as the winner—and they hopped on his bandwagon as the best yet. Now, some of these fellows are not quite so well pleased with their selection and a lot of the more cautious are not wearing any Roosevelt buttons around here. Those who are for him are not excited about it and do not have the enthusiasm for a candidate that seems necessary to put over a winner.

Holt Always Receives Favorable Reviews of Varied Performances

QUEEN Wednesday - Thursday

"LET ME INTRODUCE YOU TO YOUR HUSBAND!"

BILL BOYD THE BIG GAMBLE

A Charles R. Rogers Production

Jack Holt is known in screen circles as the actor who never gets bad reviews. Holt's ability to give consistently good performances in a great variety of films is as well known as Harold Lloyd's horn-rimmed glasses, or Jean Harlow's platinum blonde hair. He is one of the few stars of the silent screen who has not only retained, but increased, his popularity in the talkies.

The actor made a series of silent pictures, mostly westerns. When the talkies came into popularity, Holt's attractive speaking voice and ease before the microphones made him much in demand. His work in such columbia pictures as "Flight," "The Last Parade," "Father and Son," "Hell's Island," "Dirigible" and "A Dangerous Affair" has made him one of the most famous stars on the screen. He is as popular with critics as he is with fans.

"Maker of Men," Holt's new Columbia drama, to be presented Thursday and Friday at the Ritz theater, shows him as a college athletic coach. Richard Cromwell, Joan Marsh, Robert Alden, John Wayne, Natalie Moorhead and Richard Tucker have important roles in the film, which was directed by Edward Sedgwick.

HONEYBOY, SASSAFRAS, TO BE HERE

With Applejack; Noted Radio Stars At Ritz Friday, Saturday

Three famous stars of minstrelsy, vaudeville, radio and phonographic recording, whose paths have crossed on numerous occasions, have combined their talents in a black-face act which is to be presented at the Ritz theater Friday and Saturday.

The three are Honeyboy, Sassafra, Applejack. These are not the names bestowed upon them when their proud parents brought them individually to the baptismal font, but the monikers by which they are known to hundreds of thousands of minstrel and vaudeville patrons, and millions of radio fans. The trio will materialize out of the other into individuals of flesh and bone at the Ritz, portraying the well known operatives of the Black Panther Detective Agency and the characters concerned in the activities of the famous dusky disks of radio land: Windy Weather, Applejack, Prof. Digmora, Old Polly and others.

Very few radio entertainers are successful in personal appearance, however Honeyboy, Sassafra and Applejack were trouper's long before the advent of radio. Each is a star in minstrelsy, each has had experience in musical comedy and vaudeville. They are seasoned performers and their act is truly the epitome of minstrelsy and vaudeville. A I being one delineating doings in darkeyland, their entertainment of a type which, after all is said and done, has a firmer, truer hold on the affections of the American public than any other type that may be mentioned. If this were not so, why the popularity of Amos and Andy?

The presentation of Honeyboy, Sassafra and Applejack by Ritz theater on Friday and Saturday may be taken as testimony to Manager Polack's determination to provide his patrons with the very best entertainment that can be procured. This black face trio is a big attraction; an all-star aggregation. It will be presented without any increase whatever in admission prices.

ers in the Democratic primary. Mr. Porch was born in the county and reared in and near Big Spring. He attended the high school here, was a well-known athlete, had had wide experience in dealing with the cotton raisers of this section. For two years he served as an assistant to the present public weigher. He will sincerely appreciate the vote and influence of his many friends and acquaintances.

Sweetheart of 'Sally' and 'Sunny' Supported By Four Premier-Funny Men At R&R Ritz Theatre Today

Marilyn Miller, who comes to the Ritz theater today in "Her Majesty Love," her latest First National starring vehicle, again displays the dazzling grace and beauty which won her success on the London and New York stage and in her former pictures, "Sally" and "Sunny."

Though born in Evansville, Indiana, Marilyn spent her early childhood with her grandmother in Memphis, Tennessee, where the nimble feet of the pickaninies first initiated her into the delights of dancing. Her first professional appearance was at the age of five with a vaudeville aggregation known as "The Five Columbians"—the other four being Marilyn's mother, two sisters and stepfather. She was billed as Miss Sugarplum, the Child Prodigy, and did to dancing. Child labor laws interfered.

"The Five Columbians" then went abroad and for seven years toured France, England, Germany, Spain, Cuba and Hawaii. When the family returned to the United States they opened in big time vaudeville in Chicago, but the authorities again objected and they sailed for England, where, in 1914, Marilyn appeared as a dancer and in imitations of Elsie Janis, Fritzi Scheff, Bessie McCoy and other celebrities in London's most exclusive night rendezvous, the Embassy Club.

During the World War, Marilyn became the rage for her brilliant activities at this club. She was commended by many famous personages, including the Prince of Wales, Lee Shubert saw her at the Embassy and induced her to come to Broadway and the Winter Garden, where she made an instantaneous hit. She was later signed by Florence Ziegfeld for the "Follies" in which she surpassed her first triumphs. Then came her delightful musical comedies "Sunny" and "Sally" and her first starring role without music and dancing in "Peter Pan." A more recent success which broke all records at the New Amsterdam in New York, was "Rosalie."

She was then placed under a long term contract by First National, her film debut being made in a brilliant version of "Sally," which was followed by "Sunny," "Her Majesty Love" is her third and greatest screen achievement.

Marilyn Miller is five feet three inches in height, weighs one hundred and three pounds and has blonde hair and green eyes.

Clinton E. Smith, of Rodgers, Smith & Co., certified public accountants of San Angelo, was in Big Spring Friday.

PREVIEW OF PICTURE IS ANNOUNCED

'Way Back Home' To Be Seen By Those Over Sixty

The younger generation is the one that usually gets all the breaks, but they are not to have a look-in on a party Manager Fred Polack of the Ritz theater and the pastors of this city will stage on Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

This party is a special invitation preview of Seth Parker and his Jonesport Neighbors in "Way Back Home." There have been invitation previews of many pictures in Big Spring in the past, but never one such as this which will be distinguished by the fact that only persons 60 years of age or older will be admitted.

The pastors of this city will be the theater's honor guests, and they in turn will have as their guests all members of their congregations and others who have had sixty or more candles on their birthday cakes. For once the older folks are getting a break.

As to the why and wherefore of this Old Folks Matinee, Manager Polack explains: "I have often wished to entertain an audience of our old friends and perhaps some pictures we have had might have been suitable. Never any, however, as ideal as 'Way Back Home.' Radio has proved a boon to the grandparents who stay at home to mind the children and many an older knows and admires Seth Parker from his broadcasts. So when Seth and 'Mr. Cephus, Liz, Wobbling and Mary Lucy, the Cap'n and other lovable characters were captured by the movie camera to materialize upon the screen, I felt that my opportunity had come. Not only will the oldsters feel and understand every charming, home-folksy moment of this wonderful story of the simple philosophies, the nobility and uncompromising valor of country people in times of stress, but every Sunday evening when they tune-in Seth Parker they will feel that they are renewing acquaintance with an old friend. And so this party will be a big thing destined to live as long as memory endures in those dear folks now in the evening of their lives."

And Mr. Polack added wistfully: "I think our Old Folks Matinee is going to be a fine thing. I think our guests are going to enjoy 'Way Back Home' better in the company of grey heads and grey beards like themselves and Seth Parker than they would as members of an audience of mixed ages. I think—may I am certain that nobody will get a greater kick out of the show than I will; but I can conceive of their pastors getting as great satisfaction out of it as I."

Regular performances of "Way Back Home" will be given at the usual hours, afternoon and evening, on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz theater.

Getting Out of Hand
THE WORTHY movement started by Prof. John Strauss, Waco, and by a small group in Williamson county, to unite taxpayers in groups sponsoring lower costs of government, proper rendition of farms and homes, and a close check on city, county and district expenditures, has suffered the same fate as many another of great merit.

The Taxpayers' league movement has been super-organized. Too many diverse elements have been taken in. Essentially a rural man's effort to organize local small property owners, it has been taken over by leaders from the city. The new state Taxpayers' association has begun to dabble in state political questions, such as the highway bill issue. Its officers are from Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, with Prof.
Strauss of Waco kept as a vice president, and a man from Galveston on its board.

The association has adopted its own publication to disseminate its arguments. It has a group of people who will be organizers, promoters, executives, spokesmen, none of whom must depend upon it for their living.

In effect, it is now just another organization with the usual set-up, sponsoring a cause and depending on memberships or contributions to support its operations.

Efforts such as the Williamson and McLennan county taxpayers leagues would be better off if they weren't super-organized into state associations, and put into the hands of leaders, no matter how able, who had nothing to do with creating them, and probably a range of crusading interests far beyond the original purposes and needs.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
Develop Air-Cooled Tire
World's Work:
IT IS AN established fact that heat is a great enemy of rubber.
Tests show that tires sometimes get as hot as 200 degrees, and that this temperature shortens their life.

A manufacturer now announces that a successful air-cooled tire has been devised. Hundreds of transverse holes are placed in the tire tread; the hot air is constantly being squeezed out by contact with the road and replaced by cooler air.
The result, it is claimed, is a reduction of as much as 36 degrees in heat.

The inventors believe that it will be possible to make such a tire containing much more rubber than the current types, and that eventually tires will be built which will last as long as the car.

SYNOPSIS: Community suspicion on top of Trueman Rock because he works for Gage Preston, who is believed to be a catle rustler. Rock has taken the job because he is in love with Thiry, Preston's daughter. Rock fears that an old love, Amy Wund, will make trouble for him with Thiry.

Chapter 20
"QUIT HIDING FOR THE PRESTONS"
Rock stared down into the pungent flushed face of his old sweetheart, Amy Wund.

"Now I've got you and I'm going to hang on to you," she said, with a regularity that did not altogether conceal firm determination.
"Why—how—Mrs. Dabb?"

"Call me Amy, can't you? You used to call me 'darling Amy.'"
"Good-evening Amy," he drawled.
"I've forgotten what I used to call you. Reckon it's not just good taste for you to remind me."

"Sure you could. But, for instance, do you think it wise to hang on to me—this way—right in front of the hotel?"

"Let's get out of the light, then.
I've got to talk to you," she replied, and pressing his arm tight she hurried him down the dark street.

"Amy, listen to sense. Oughtn't you to be home?" asked Rock gravely.

"Sense from True Rock? Ye god! When I was sixteen you made me meet you out, all night, because my father wouldn't let you come to our house," she retorted.

"That's so, Amy. But I've learned a little in all these years—at least enough to consider a woman's name."

"Thank you, I believe you have.
Now about my being at home. It's an empty home. I am alone most of the time. John has men come there to drink and play cards and talk business. He objects to my friends. He is as jealous as the devil. Just a selfish rich old man."

"Aw, too bad, Amy," replied Rock, deeply touched. "You never should have married Dabb."
"Father was in debt to John...
And I had to foot that bill, True," she returned, bitterly. "But I didn't waylay you to talk about myself."

"How'd you know I was in town?" asked Rock, glad to have the subject changed.

"I heard it this morning. True, did you get the invitation to my dance?"

"I did. Many thanks, Amy."
"Are you coming, True?"
"I'd sure like to. I might drop in for a little—to look on."

"True Rock! You look on at a dance! Will you come?"
"Here you are," said Rock, "an old sweetheart of mine, and now married to a man who hates me—coaxing me to come to a dance."
"I'd like you to come for several reasons, Trueman."

"First for old time's sake. This because certain of my friends say you won't come. Next because well, True, I've been a darned fool.
I've gone—a little too far with a certain cowboy. And I'm afraid of him. He's coming to my dance.
And I thought—if you were there
—I'd not be afraid, anyhow."

"Amy, how far did you go?"
"I let him kiss me—bug me."
"Amy Wund!" exclaimed Trueman.
"But, Trueman, I came to my senses," she protested. "I don't want to see him again. But he'll come to the dance. . . . And they tell me he's a pretty wild cowboy."

"Who is he, Amy?"
"I don't know his real first name.
His last is Peoples. Clink, they call him."
"Peoples, I've sure heard of him.
Rides for this new rancher, Hes-bitt. Very well, I reckon your third reason is enough to fetch me. I'll come."

Howard County Honor Roll

One of a series of sketches on careers of former boys and girls of Big Spring and Howard County who have gained success in their chosen professions.

BELA HARVEY MESKIMEN

It has really been a long time since Bela has made his home here, but he is almost a walking expression of that paraphrase saying that you can get a boy out of Big Spring but not Big Spring out of the boy. Let Bela come back for a visit and in spite of hundreds of new faces on the street he will soon be feeling as though he were living here again.

Bela was going to the University of California when the World War broke out. He was in the 90th division as sergeant-major during the war and returned to Berkeley to get his degree in Civil Engineering when it was over.

This civil engineering experience stood him in good stead when the cities of Lubbock, Robstown and Rosenberg were looking around for secretaries for their chambers of commerce. Especially secretaries with a knowledge of the engineering problems of a city.

In Robston, Bela had a double duty. With one hand he managed the Chamber of Commerce and with the other, edited the Robston Record, which was owned by the city. Mrs. Elmo Wasson helped him with the Record duties (that was before she married Elmo).

In 1924 Bela went to Dallas as sales manager for the San Jacinto Realty Co. One year later he left that concern for the Municipal Engineering Co., in charge of the special design and construction of municipal improvements of the city of Dallas. This work covered a wide field, water works, sanitary sewer systems, sewage disposal and water treatment.

This past summer after 6 years with the Municipal Engineering Co., Bela went into business for himself as vice president of the San Seal Company, with offices located in the Athletic Club building in Dallas.

Bela's first wife was Cecile Con-away. He is now married to Alice Smith, a Dallas girl, and he has two children, Jane Clara and Bela Harvey, junior.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S.
Meskimen still make their home in this city.

NOTICE OF FIRST MEETING OF CREDITORS

In the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas in Bankruptcy, ABILENE DIVISION

In the matter of Jesse Louis Collins, doing business as J. L. Collins Pharmacy and Collins Pharmacy, Bankrupt. No. 1510 in bankruptcy. Abilene, Texas, Jan. 29, 1932.

BEFORE D. M. OLDHAM, JR. REFEREE IN BANKRUPTCY To the creditors of Jesse Louis Collins, as aforesaid, of Coahoma in the county of Howard and District aforesaid, a bankrupt. Notice is hereby given, that on the 25th day of Jan. A. D., 1932, the said Jesse Louis Collins, as aforesaid, was duly adjudged bankrupt, and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held at my office in the City of Abilene, Taylor County, Texas, on the 10th day of Feb. A. D., 1932, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

D. M. OLDHAM, JR., Referee in Bankruptcy.

S. L. Lockhart in Personally Race For County Commissioner, 4 Speaking

S. L. (Roy) Lockhart Saturday authorized the Herald to announce that he is a candidate for election to the office of county commissioner of precinct 4 of Howard county subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic primary.

Mr. Lockhart issued the following statement: I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of county commissioner of precinct 4 subject to the Democratic primary in July. If I am elected to this important office I assure the voters of my precinct that I will look after the business of my precinct and the business of the county to the best of my knowledge, striving at all times to get 100 per cent valuation out of each dollar of the county's money. I have been in the county six years as farmer and sheep raiser, residing in the Lutheran community. This is the first time in my life that I have ever asked for office of any kind, and I am asking for this office at this time believing that I can serve my people and my precinct efficiently.

The first Baptist church of San Marcos has called Rev. W. A. Bowen of Hope, Arkansas, formerly pastor at Big Spring. He has accepted and will be on the field the first Sunday in February.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Long Thursday evening a 7-pound boy.

D. W. Webber, manager of the local J. C. Penney Co., Inc. store, leaves this evening for Dallas, where he will attend a district meeting of Penney store managers.

Miss Frances Francis of Marlin and Glen and Carl Bousquet of Brady are guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Ballou Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fonda of New York spent the night here Friday. They arrived at 8:30 p. m. from El Paso in their own Stinson monoplane and resumed their journey eastward late Friday morning. They were accompanied in the ship by their pet German Police dog.

Garner

or whether it is due to the many controversial questions of international tone which are facing congress.

Ritchie, Reed, White and the others are not being given much as far as I can see. Ritchie and Reed have been talked of before. Not five per cent of the population know from which state White comes. All these things should help Garner when the ballots are being cast in Chicago.

A newspaper man whose judgment appears to me to be about as sound as any person I have met here summed up Garner this way to me: "I don't think Garner is any Thomas Jefferson, but on the other hand, who in public life today is? The more you associate with public men here—the more the halo of the office itself will be removed. I am convinced that there are literally hundreds of men in public life that would make good presidents."

If any other state in the Union had a man like Garner in its state there would be anation-wide boom for him, with campaign headquarters opened up from one end of the country to the other and he would be leading in vote pledges right now.

Alfalfa Bill Murray was here a few weeks ago. I attended a meeting one Sunday night where he was the chief attraction. He's no bargain, even if street car fares are cheap and the hall was warm. He is not as crude and naive as he likes to appear—but he is no mental giant, and his showmanship is better for the Middlewest than for Washington, which I judge has seen all the publicity stunts known to this side of the water. I don't think either the wets or the dries could see anything very smart in crossing up the Anti-Saloon Leaguers with a mist speech.

Texas should be proud of our state's delegation up here. They stacked up remarkably well, considering there are so many of them. There are only two, that so far as I can see, smack of anything approaching demagogues. The rest are capable, smart and able. This corner they have on important committees is of far greater importance than most people realize back home.

The full payment of the soldier's bonus is as sure of passing as the Herald is of coming out daily. There is a chance that it can be held in the committee—and there are plenty of people who would like to see it kept in there—for with the deficit mounting, this tax problem is going to be about the major issue in the next campaign. But come out on the floor—the super-machine of the Legion with local posts back home banging congressmen and senators with telegrams—she'll go over like the Sunshine Special through Eskola.

You can't comprehend this Legion lobby. I think it can snap through the widows' and orphans' pension bill—which, of course, is wide the door for all sorts of pension money that will no doubt place millions of our people eligible for government maintenance.

Many of the men who voted for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation do not feel that it is such a master-stroke as legislation, but feel that its moral effect would be felt the country needed and that it had a chance of being the thing that would hold back the tide of pessimism, which appears to be reaching the heights which were felt in West Texas in the early days of October.

These "hunger strikers" were a strange lot. Much to the surprise of most people, they did not consist of a lot of "down-and-outers." They were organized and handled just like an army and a lot of them seemed to be just out for a trip. They certainly did not come up here on their own accord and went out outside assistance. The GO-boys yell that it was just a frame up to embarrass the administration. There certainly was more behind it than just registering their disapproval of Washington as now is.

SATURDAY FIRE Damage estimated by the fire marshal at $500 was caused late Saturday by fire originating in the blind two vacant dwellings in the 600 block on East Sixteenth street belonging to Mrs. W. J. Crawford.

The fire was reported caused by children playing with matches. A day church officials announced last night. Full attendance of the membership is urged and a cordial invitation extended to visitors.

DANCE THURSDAY Broox Havens and his orchestra will play for an American Legion benefit dance at the Casino Thursday evening of this week, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Friday.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES Regular services will be held at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening of this week, from 7:30 p. m. until 10 p. m.

Chiang

Later Marshal Chiang Kai Shek and executives of the national government left for an unannounced destination believed to be Shanghai. It was understood that a declaration of war would be ineffective until Sunday at the earliest.

Trainloads of troops belonging to the 19th Chinese army began leaving here for Shanghai as fast as possible tonight, sent off by rousing cheers from thousands of on-lookers who carried banners inscribed "Resist the invaders!" "Hold Shanghai at all costs!"

In the meantime, defenses were strengthening the defensive works of Nanking itself, and troops were being rushed here from other points to replace those sent to Shanghai.

The government issued a vigorous statement denouncing the Japanese attack on the Chapei sector and urging the signatories to the league covenant, the Kellogg pact and the nine-power treaty to take immediate and effective measures so that "justice and international obligations may not be trampled beneath the heel of Japanese militarism."

SHANGHAI (AP)—The Chapei section of the city was burning today. Wild disorder reigned as groups of Japanese marines and civilians hunted down Chinese civilians, beating and killing them. Thousands of refugees were fleeing.

The American marines captured fourteen armed Japanese in a civilian clothes breaking into the international settlement. The captives said they were sent to protect a Japanese cotton mill.

PARIS (AP)—Marius Moutet, socialist, member of the Chamber of Deputies, filed an interpellation asking the government what attitude it planned to take in the Chinese situation which he described as a state of war. The cabinet will probably not answer until next week.

Two French battalions at Tonkin, China, were ordered to prepare to go to the French concession in Shanghai.

Singing School Is Scheduled At Church

Meetings for instructions in congregational singing will be held at the Church of Christ at Fourteenth and Main streets every evening at 7:30 o'clock for two weeks beginning Monday evening. It was announced Saturday. Song services will be held at the church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The meetings will be under direction of Thomas S. Cobb, well-known in the Church of Christ as an instructor in singing.

Home Town

One ex-service man said the other day that he helped make the world safe for democracy once but that, in view of the foreign policy of the United States, which he blasted for most trouble, "they will have to come and get me to serve in a war over this Japanese business."

Many Americans, it appears from the public prints, have a world wide view of their feet in a whirlwind of war spirit. They won't make any grand rush on recruiting stations.

A citizen said the other day that regardless of the opinion I may have of President Hoover if we get into a war I'm for him and the country. He illustrated his position by retelling a story of two men of the Republic of Texas. They were riding from Houston to Galveston. One of them, a friend of Sam Houston, was cousin Sam about something. The other replied that he knew a lot on Sam, too, that he knew Sam back in Tennessee.

Whereupon Sam's friend informed his companion that "it's all right for me to cuss him, I'm his friend. But you can't do it."

Lee Harrison, L. C. Denman, Ben Case, The Tex. company, Abilene Christian College and various and sundry other individuals, corporations and institutions, got a good break in the Harrison No. 1 Denman test east of town, which was materially improved by a shot of nitro.

You can't stack up fortunes on 50-cent oil at a very rapid rate but you can make a little money if you manage things carefully. And, the city of Big Spring is not going to be hurt by a long shot by successful co-operations of new oil wells.

It is very gradual thus far, of course, but there is no getting around the fact that activity in the exploration and producing end of the oil business is picking up a little out here. Let 'em pass a tariff on oil and things will be strengthened quite a bit.

The railroad brotherhood representatives and the railroad executives certainly are having a long conference on wages. In that conference you've got some of America's smartest men, sitting on both sides of the table. Never figure but that the brotherhood leaders don't know exactly the financial condition of the roads. They know and they've certainly been conducting the hearing on a sensible basis. On the other hand, President Willard of the B&O, and the other executives, have shown a pretty fair attitude toward the men.

It is a wonderful sign when labor and capital can come together in a time like this, when so many less reserved and level-headed citizens are always anxious to get hot and bothered about something, and still carry on a wage conference in such a wise manner. It sorts of knocks a hole in the old, old saying we've all heard—that sooner or later capital and labor will wage war on each other in this country.

DANCE THURSDAY Broox Havens and his orchestra will play for an American Legion benefit dance at the Casino Thursday evening of this week, from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Friday.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES Regular services will be held at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening of this week, from 7:30 p. m. until 10 p. m.

Steers Defeat Angelo 29-24

Scores 16 Points 20th Win of Year For Locals

SAN ANGELO—The Big Spring High Steers marked up their twentieth consecutive win of the season at the expense of the San Angelo High Bobcats 29 to 24 Friday evening. David Hopper, forward, led the visitors' scoring with sixteen points.

The Bobcats were outplayed in three of the four quarters, trailing 17-13 at the end of the half, but led at the end of the third period 21-19 as a result of a great rally. Forrester, Reid, and Morgan scored once in the fourth quarter, however, and Hopper tallied twice to place the Bobcats safely out in front as a field goal and a free try by Calloway constituted the entire San Angelo scoring.

The box score:

Table with columns: Player, Points, Rebounds, Assists. SAN ANGELO: Morgan, 11; Hopper, 8; Dennis, 5; Reid, 2; Forrester, 3; Dyer, 2; Flowers, 1. Total 29. SAN ANGELO: H. Gregg, 5; H. Calloway, 2; Housler, 2. Total 16.

PARIS (AP)—Marius Moutet, socialist, member of the Chamber of Deputies, filed an interpellation asking the government what attitude it planned to take in the Chinese situation which he described as a state of war. The cabinet will probably not answer until next week.

Two French battalions at Tonkin, China, were ordered to prepare to go to the French concession in Shanghai.

County Attorney Asks Re-Election

James Little Saturday authorized the Herald to announce that he is a candidate for re-election to the office of county attorney of Howard county, subject to the Democratic primary election.

Mr. Little needs no introduction to the people of his home county, where he has resided since childhood. He is recognized as an attorney of high ideals and fine knowledge of the law. His record as county attorney has always been an open book as has his life among the people he serves.

For Mr. Little the Herald expresses the confidence and support as expressed by the voters in the past, with the heartfelt assurance from him that the votes and influence of his many friends and acquaintances will be appreciated in the forthcoming primary.

Frank Mayo has an enviable record back of him, both on the stage and on the screen, and Tom Sant schi is one of the pioneers of the moving picture industry, as is Francis Ford.

Virginia Brown Fairie, strange as it seems, also began her career at Universal City, where so many great stars and directors have had their start and their principal training.

Charles Morton, as is right and proper in the juvenile role of "The Last Ride" is the youngest of the cast, and the most recent sensation in moving pictures. His work in "Four Sons" made him almost a star overnight.

Mrs. Bill Turpin Honoree At Shower Held In Westbrook

Mrs. Bill Turpin was honored with a lovely bridal shower by her Westbrook friends Friday afternoon in that city, at the home of Mrs. Van Boston, with Miss Margaret Lanter as co-hostess. After several clever contests, the honoree was ushered into the dining room. On the dining table a table cloth, with its red petals scattered over the white cloth. Each card contained a number. As the honoree plucked the petals, guests with corresponding numbers read original verses directing her to hidden treasure. The colors of maroon and white were carried out in all the accessories.

ies. The honoree wore a becoming maroon frock. Pie ala mode and coffee were served to the following guests: Miss Nellie Van Horn, P. M. Rowland, W. F. Sahnon, E. T. Gressett, Ida Rowland, Burr Brown, Gilbert Quinney, R. U. Parker, J. R. Lindsey, A. L. Young, Mary Etta Glenn, J. F. Quinney, L. E. Gressett, C. E. Danner, and Miss Winnie Fay Gressett.

BRISK PATTING EACH DAY KEEPS THE WRINKLES AWAY!

DID you know that lines in face and throat, double chin and dull, sallow skin are all largely due to a sluggish circulation? A brisk, healthy circulation is essential to youthful beauty. Patting is the best method of maintaining this rapid circulation, but it is difficult for untrained fingers to pat correctly—briskly and rhythmically. So Dorothy Gray perfected her famous Patter to do the work for you. With the Dorothy Gray Patter you can easily give yourself—at home—the scientific treatments that keep your face and throat beautifully young. The Dorothy Gray Patter—with complete directions for its use—will be found at our Toilet Goods Section, $2.50.

WILL ROGERS: Bee Man Teaches Him Things; Drones' Lives Restful But Curtail He Finds

By WILL ROGERS
FROM THE FAR EAST. By Mail.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prowled lither and thither. You know I kinder like people to talk and write about more than I do places, and Temples, and Churches. Well Sir there was on our boat coming out here quite an interesting bunch. We didnt have many passengers outside of the steerage but we had a mighty interesting little bunch.

Two Germans who had been home from Japan on a visit, prominent business men, spoke good English, that is about like me. Said things were very bad in the old Country even worse they thought than most of the other places. But seemed mighty cheerful and optimistic about it. Great race those folks. When they do come back they will do it with a Bang, for they are built of fine stock.

These were great Readers, well informed on everything, and told us more of Japan than even a Japanese Scientist that was with us. He was mighty pleasant, but he wouldn't tell us exactly what we asked him. He was smart though, he had been down to Pasadena, and studying with Prof. Milliken and all those fellows that Einstein was with. You know, funny thing, it was a Japanese gardener that had a Truck to watch away out in the Desert to ward Arizona that had a sort of an Amateur globe of some kind and he found a Star, a new one that none of the Scientists had ever found. There was a big fuss over it, I remember at the time, and they give him a new set of tools, or Spy Glasses or whatever it is you find odd things with, just for his contribution to Science, so he went right on picking radishes, and I bet in about another year he will be up with another Star, or Planet. Hope he finds one that hasnt been bit by depression.

By the way I wonder if they are hit like all the rest of the world anyway. If they are it just shows how low far Hoovers influence reaches. Then of course we had Floyd Gibbons on there, and he knows about everything, and has been everywhere, and read everything. A Scotch Golf Player from Canada that was as liberal as any one you ever saw, I dont know where they get that Scotch stuff. Then a Standard Oil Man from the Jersey Company, Mr. Walton. He was headed for Batavia where they have big Holdings.

But ti fellow that I want to tell you about was the "Bee Man." His name was Riddell. He had lately come from up in Alberta, Canada, and he was just about as odd and human a fellow as you will find in a years trouping. He had on board 500 hives of Bees, taking them out to China. Well up to the time I met him I didnt know any more about a bee than I do about Shakespeare. But the Bee man told me a lot. He had em all stored on deck, and he had em all stored in a right out in the cold. He first had em down below, but he was afraid of the heat, so they brought em up, and they were roped down, for believe me you Brother those Bees did some rocking if they was with that Boat.

He would send all over the country just to buy Queen Bees, that's the Head bee. There is some Guys called Drones that dont do anything as long as they live, but they Bump those Babies off mighty soon, so the life of a Drone while its restful is rather curtailed. He says they are all organized and do some thing in it, some work it away, some stand guard, I am going to get that book of Materlink on Bees and read it. He says that what drove him in the Bee business I remember Materlink when he was brought out years ago to Hollywood with the Sam Goldwyn Company that I was with at the time. I didnt know he knew anything about Bees then or I would have asked him. He was a mighty pleasant old fellow, and had a plum pretty little French wife. I knew he had written a play about I think it was Blue Bird, but I didnt know anything about this Bee business. But it was the other qualities that made this Bee man stand out. He first was kinder a "Windy." But as we kept trying to pin him down, why we found out he had really been there, or he had read it. By Golly those fellows on the Boat that had really read a lot couldnt find anything to stick on him. I finally horned in with my repertoire of books consisting of Ibanes' "The Cabin," Sandbergs "Lincoln" McGuffys Fourth Reader, the Life and Exploits of Jesse James, "When the Daltons Rode," and on the way over Lamb's "Ganghis Khan," and "Marco Polo." Now thats my lifes work digging through that mess, and here this Bee Guy not only had read all of em but memorized most of em, and then would tell be companion books that I should read following these up. But the Rasca was just book smart and he didnt have much real horse sense knowledge. He had read a little beyond his limit.

He was what you call a kind of a well read Nut. He thought the three greatest men in the World was, well I cant even remember either one of them. I believe one was Thoro, or some name like that, a poet or something like that, and Whitman, and another Writer, he really thought these men had contributed more than a man like Lincoln or Edison. You see they ought to be a law to stop a man reading when he gets too far. Imagine a Poet, dont care what kind of a Poet he was (even a good one) being worth more to the World than Edison. How could you read the Poetry if it wasnt for Edison? You would have to do it in the day time.

But Old Bees was pretty tough to down in all argument, and you would about have to buy him a drink to beat him. He was a young fellow, too, about forty-two, but he was high on old Thoro or whatever his name was, he lived around Boston, Harvard man I guess. I never could find out from Bees just what type of stuff he turned out. Maby was a Columnist. He had also read a lot of Chinese stuff. He and the Japanese would argue over that, I tell you this old Bee man was a freak. He knew an awful lot about Ants too. Thats something he got me interested in, and soon as I can get my mind off Movies I am going into the Ants. This old Guy just about put more ambition into me. He has just got me all excited to learn, so no more Hoover and the Senate and Boarah and all that, I am going to devote my time from now on to Ants. They do something.

Clever Three-In-One Party Held In Jury Room

Mrs. James E. Brigham was hostess at the courthouse Friday afternoon for a lovely surprise party which was in the nature of a farewell party for Mrs. M. R. Showalter, a bridal shower for Mrs. Loucille Allgood and a birthday celebration for Miss Helen Hayden. All the honorees were surprised at their part in the party. It was held in the jury room of the courthouse, which was attractively arranged for the occasion. After the games, refreshments of sandwiches, chocolate and cake were served. The cake was a lovely large birthday cake laced in green with Helen's name and topped with pink candles, and was brought in by the hostess as a surprise. After the refreshments Mrs. Allgood's gifts were presented to her and gifts were also given to Mrs. Showalter.
