Shot Fatal To Dallas Woman

Young Wife Held Without Bond In Another Triangle

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Fay Cash, 22, died in a hospital here today of a shotgun wound. She was shot Wednesday night by Mrs. Virginia Thift, 29, who told police Mrs. Cash had alienated the affections of her husband, Clifford. Mrs. Thift was held without bond on a murder charge.

West Texas Today, the monthly publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce rapidly is becoming one of the most valuable magazines in the south. Every citizen should read it. Facts, aims, ideals and needs of the region are set forth in entertaining as well as instructive style.

We know of nothing written in recent months that is more sensible and timely than the following from the editorial page of the October number:

Objective: More Dollars Per Capita
When it comes to things produced from the soil, Texas, and particularly West Texas, outranks all other states. We lead in oil, in cotton, in wool, in mohair, in cattle, in sulphur, and in most of the commercial crops. In fact, the cash value of Texas crops is 1-3 of the value of the crops in the entire United States.

When it comes to wealth, however, Texas takes a back seat among the other states. We rank thirty-ninth in per capita wealth. Although having one eighth of the production we have only one-thirty-third of the wealth of the United States.

If wealth comes from the soil, as declared by Adam Smith in his "Wealth of Nations," why is it then that Texas ranks so low in wealth among the other states? The reason is we do not keep the wealth we create. We give it to others and give to them the wealth that flows from the manufacturing and distribution of the things we produce.

Instead of shipping to other states more than a million head of cattle each year for fattening and butchering, let's fatten and butcher them in Texas. Instead of selling New England turkeys on our wool, mohair and cotton, let's have the manufacturing and distribution done in Texas. Instead of shipping out our feed and grains to other states, let's feed our own livestock with our own feed. Let's turn more of our own grains into finished goods. Instead of railroads building into West Texas in order to carry our raw materials into other states, let them build into West Texas in order to carry our finished goods, made from our own raw materials into other states.

When Texas does this, we shall keep for ourselves 100 per cent of the wealth we create, instead of keeping for ourselves only 1-3 of it and giving to the other fellow the remaining two-thirds. We shall create more and better jobs for the people of our state. We shall give to our small agricultural towns a hope for the future which they do not now have when depending solely upon an agricultural background. Let's make a triple profit in our own business, the profit from production, the profit from manufacturing and profit from distribution.

To develop industrial-mindedness in the state of Texas, to promote the support of those industries we already have with the view of getting more, are objectives of our Industrial Committee. Price Campbell, chairman. Those things must be done if Texas is to continue its development and even support the population she now has. It's true that wealth originates from the soil, but like Governor Sterling says, let's get a better distribution of it. It is also true, as Governor O. M. Roberts said, that civilization begins with the plow—but modern Texas no longer can be content to sleep in a cradle. It needs a head, a strong head, full length—one made in Texas.

It must have become apparent to thinking people that we in West Texas no longer can climb aboard and expect not to tip the balance perilously downward. The other scale—industry—must be made to exactly balance its fellow. The raw, raw products and finished goods, are natural co-efficients, and it only remains for us to accept and apply the fact in achieving a harmonious balance.

Overpasses On Highway 1 State's Plan

Commissioners See Need But Cannot Pay Portion of Cost Now

The state highway department has submitted to the Howard county commissioners court a proposition for construction of two overpasses on Highway No. 1, County Judge H. R. Davenport said Friday.

Chairman W. R. Ely informed the commission the state would build the structures if the county would give $4,000 and right of way for each.

The commissioners court expressed the belief both structures were needed badly and the wish that it could wisely spend the money at this time but decided that, since the appropriation had not been included in this year's budget, it would have to be delayed until the next budget is made up.

The county's share, it was understood, would represent about one-fifth the total cost. One of the overpasses would be seven miles west of Big Spring and the other just west of Rattlesnake Gap, east of Coahoma.

Pyeatt To Open Grocery Business

Bob Pyeatt, formerly manager of the Handy Andy Store, announced this morning that he had severed connections with the Handy Andy firm, and would go into business for himself in the Reagan Building at Fourth and Gregg streets. Henry Olson will be associated with Mr. Pyeatt.

Sweetwater Men Show Year's First Bucks

The first deer of the season were seen in Big Spring this morning. L. L. Armour and Mack Brown, of Sweetwater, passed through town on their way back from a hunting trip in the Black Canyon in New Mexico, with two nice bucks, one a seven pointer and the other bearing eleven.

Lions Score 100 Per Cent Attendance

Mrs. M. R. Showalter Principal Speaker At Luncheon

Perfect attendance at the Lions club was scored by members today. They heard Mrs. M. R. Showalter, county health nurse, deliver an address on child health.

"Contrary to an old superstition, health is not a thing the child is endowed with at birth. Health can be attained and maintained by observing the proper rules of hygiene," the county nurse declared.

In speaking of the diphtheria situation in Howard and other counties Mrs. Showalter declared that every child in Howard county had had the opportunity of being made immune from the disease.

The cases of two blind children were brought up by Mrs. Showalter and the club voted to exert every effort to see that the children were taken care of.

A five piece high school orchestra composed of Walter Deats, Gerald Liberty, Horace Underwood, and Margaret Curlee rendered the music for the luncheon.

Rev. James L. Standridge, Church of Christ minister, was the guest of the club.

Grosbeck Judge Agrees To Early Test of New Law

GROSBECK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Judge H. Fountain Kirby agreed today for County Attorney T. L. Tyson and Sheriff V. C. Box to submit the state truck law and injunction dispute to a higher court, probably the civil appeals court at Waco. Judge Kirby cited Tyson, Box and Judge W. C. Davis of Bryan in contempt when Davis dismissed injunctions Kirby had granted against enforcement of license laws in Robertson county.

'Snax' Organize Sweetwater Lair

Sweetwater, Saturday night, suffered a serpentine invasion from El Paso. The Snax, (or, as they are properly known, The Military Order of the Serpent), sent over eight of their tribe to institute a local Lair of the organization there.

After a parade through the downtown district the serpentine tribe crawled into the County Court-house and there administered the solemn rights of the obligation to eight candidates from Sweetwater and vicinity.

The Military Order of the Serpent is the fun side of the United Spanish war veterans, as stated by one of their number Saturday night they are the life of the party at every Convention of the United Spanish War Veterans.

They expect to have a big time at the State Convention of that organization at Sweetwater next year. "You ain't seen nothing yet," said the Grand Gu Gu Grandissimo, referring to the parade. When we come over next year we will bring a big Snake sixty feet long, and we expect to have a large number of victims to sacrifice on the Altar of his Majesty.

The Local Lair adopted the name of "Laguna Lair," and the following officers were elected:

Gu Gu Grandissimo, Tilden Copeland, Sweetwater; Datto, E. L. Clifton, Colorado; Black and Silmy Keepers of the Orphidian, Joe, A. Morgan, Snyder, Comrade McLeod, Blackwell, Emil Schattel, Hermleigh, and T. H. Chilton, Snyder.

Gu Gu Grandissimo Copeland immediately appointed W. F. Mullins as Thrice Infamous Inferior Gu Gu, and Tom H. Crutcher, Lord High Keeper of the Sacred Amphora.

The officers of the Grand Lair, who came from El Paso to conduct the institution proceedings were: A. B. Cushing, Grand Gu Gu Grandissimo; V. E. Koenig, Grand Thrice Infamous Inferior Gu Gu and Depraved Panzula.

Joe Hardin, Lord High Keeper of the Sacred Amphora and Dog Robber of the Unhallowed Loaf; Joseph Bradford, Most Highest Datto and Un-Godly Villain; A. L. Richmond, Most High Datto; N. N. Eise, Most High Datto; C. P. Bremerman, Chief Ladrona; Edward A. Burke, Thrice Dugest Yawler of the Jungle.

Japan Will Try To Get Troops Out

Government Says Attempt Will Be Made To Meet Request

TOKYO, Oct. 23 (AP)—The government today instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, delegate to the League of Nations, to inform the council Japan was willing to do its best to complete withdrawal of troops outside the railway zone in Manchuria in three weeks if China agrees to cease alleged anti-Japanese agitation there.

Previously it had been indicated three weeks was not sufficient time for completion of withdrawal, Japan's contention being that it would be required to start direct negotiations with China for an agreement making withdrawal possible.

It also had been hinted Japan might quit the league if it insisted on prompt withdrawal, the government objecting especially to a proposal to send neutral observers of withdrawal.

GENEVA, Oct. 23 (AP)—Chinese representative Dr. Alfred Soe, informed the League of Nations today that China accepts Aristide Briand's proposal for settlement of the Manchurian trouble.

The plan is for Japan and China to begin direct negotiations and for Japan to withdraw troops by November 16, China guaranteeing security of Japanese lives and property.

Tests Given Kiwanis Men

Program Designed To Improve Knowledge of Organization

Members of the Kiwanis club completed Thursday at their weekly luncheon at the Crawford hotel in a contest on Kiwanis Education, feature of a program in charge of Garland A. Woodward.

L. W. Croft acted as 'teacher' asking questions relating to the structure, functions and aims of Kiwanis. G. R. Porter, C. W. Deats and J. R. Dillard acted as judges. Those answering correctly took seats on one side of the dining room. The others were to 'stand up' on the other side.

President C. R. Porter had as his guests Presidents R. W. Henry of the Lions club, Robert T. Piner of the Rotary club, V. H. Flewellen of the Business Men's Luncheon club and Joseph Edwards of the Chamber of Commerce. Other guests included Mrs. L. A. Eubanks and Miss Katherine Sangster, song leader and accompanist, Miss Virginia Peden, violinist, C. W. Bailey and Paul Henry.

A letter from the district governor complimenting the club on its activities of the past two months was read by President Porter.

All except two of the 57 members were present. Willard Sullivan was introduced as a new member and was welcomed into the club by John Wolcott.

President Porter appointed two nominating committees. They will meet jointly, as well as separately, and each will submit a full ticket of candidates for club officers for the coming year. The committees are: No. 1, Dr. J. R. Dillard, Jack Ellis, Garland Woodward; No. 2, Dr. C. W. Deats, J. E. Kuykendall, Wendell Beatek.

Carl Homshild reported for the special committee acting with a Rotary club committee making arrangements for a joint Ladies' Night banquet next Thursday evening at the Settles hotel for members of both clubs and their guests. All members of both clubs were asked to notify the club secretary whether they would attend, giving also names of guests they will invite.

The banquet will begin at 7:30 p. m. Entertainment of the day was by Miss Virginia Peden, accomplished violinist, who played "The Rosary," and E. B. Bethell, the 'singing policeman.'

Further Step In Proration Row Delayed

Judge Returns Home; Three-Judge Hearing Monday

TYLER, Oct. 23 (AP)—Federal Judge Randolph Bryan had returned to his home in Sherman today without further action on the citation for contempt of court served on General Jacob Wolters, commander of the martial law zone in the East Texas oil field.

Wolters was cited yesterday to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for violating an injunction against enforcing proration in Brock Lee company wells. The general claimed martial law was outside the jurisdiction of federal courts.

Action was not expected until a three-judge hearing is held in Beaumont Monday to determine whether the injunction will be made permanent.

Hours of Deliberation Fail To Bring Report From Jurors

ABILENE, Oct. 23.—The jury trying Mrs. A. R. Franklin on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Leslie Wilcoxon here September 22 was reported early this afternoon to be deadlocked.

It was reported the jury stood 10 to 2 for acquittal. The jury was given the case at 5:10 p. m. yesterday. After deliberation briefly yesterday evening, work was resumed early today. It was understood. No report of any kind had been made.

Forgiveness of Sins Talk At St. Thomas Church Is Postponed

Due to the inability of many to attend the mission at St. Thomas Church on account of rain, the discussion of the "Forgiveness of Sins," scheduled for Thursday night was postponed by request until Sunday night. Despite threatening weather, many were present last night and heard the lecture on the "Necessity of Religious Faith." The lecturer said in part:

"Faith is the reasonable service of man to his Maker; the tribute and reverence which a created intellect pays to its creator. The mysteries of religion give man the opportunity to render his homage to the truthfulness and knowledge of God. Without mysteries there would be no exercise of faith and we could strike out this act of religion from our worship. Since faith is the firm belief of truths on the authority of God, faith is not the surrender of our intelligence, but the reasonable acceptance of truths beyond the limitations of human understanding."

The program for the remainder of the week is announced: Friday night, "The Ambitions of the Catholic Church"; Saturday night, "Saints and Their Images"; Sunday night, the mission will be brought to a solemn close with a lecture on the forgiveness of sins. The services start at 7:30 p. m. All are welcome.

1,000 Trees Will Be Offered For Planting Here At 50 Cents Each

Plans formulated by the representatives of the services clubs and the city and county officials working in cooperation with the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the three-planting project being sponsored by the hamber were announced this morning by C. T. Watson, local manager.

Mr. Watson was authorized by the committee to place an order for 1,000 trees. The trees to be ordered will range from an inch and a quarter to an inch and three quarters in diameter, and from twelve to fourteen feet in height, according to Mr. Watson.

"These trees have been selling regularly for the past two years at $2 and $2.50. We will deliver the trees, ready for planting to any and all citizens willing to plant a tree for the price of fifty cents, the manager said this morning.

In cooperation with the city a plan is being worked out to use charity labor, if available, in planting the trees.

"In case there is enough labor at the time the trees arrive, the digging of the holes and the planting of the trees will be done without charge."

Rapping the Racketeer

THE "known gangster," who always manages to evade imprisonment because none of the high crimes for which common gossip blames him can ever be definitely and legally fastened on him, represents one of the greatest problems of the police of American cities.
But now and then something happens to show that the problem is far from being as insoluble as we commonly suppose.

One city recently found a way of dealing with such a man; a gangster whose name had been linked with all kinds of murders, hijack-ing, bootleg enterprises and the like, but who had always gone scot free. Picking him up for questioning in connection with a shooting, the police found a revolver in his pocket; and after they learned that they could not hold him for murder they simply prosecuted him for carrying concealed weapons. Today he stands under sentence to the state prison.

That little law against carrying a gun could be an extremely valuable weapon in the war on gangsters if the authorities used it to the fullest extent.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Returning Confidence

American Bankers Assn. Journal:
AMONG ALL of America's tangible and intangible assets, rate
high the will of its citizens to cooperate with each other.

That the will and the determination to cooperate is a constant,
strong and persistent quality is amply evidenced by the attitude of the public in general toward banks in those communities which have had experiences likely to disturb public confidence. Even in such places the general public has continued to cooperate through the banks.

The aggregate of daily deposits furnishes the bank the means to give to industry and business the credit necessary for continuous operation. Industry and business in turn are enabled to give to the public the useful services, and to men and women, necessary employment.
And then in turn the payroll by many channels, some direct, some indirect and devious, gets back again to the bank. This is cooperation of the most practicable and profitable kind.

Without this cooperation, business and industry would be paral-yzed, progress would be stopped, in all likelihood there would be a recession of civilization itself. Happily, the habit and the spirit of cooperation is too strong to be more than temporarily interrupted by any financial upset. Though money fear may take possession of a man today, the feeling soon passes and is supplemented by the old habit of sturdy thrift, and business procedure in the handling of individual finances.

Though a man may hoard money
as he will, he sooner or later gives up the practice and takes his funds to a bank where besides earning for him his rate of interest, they may be profitably employed to provide the necessary credits that he and others like him may participate in the benefits of going enterprising.

The well being of the community, of the nation, of the world requires that the cycle of business be maintained.
Confidence keeps it going—returning confidence adds to its speed!

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Ingo Goldstein, Analyst of Health

Turning Yellow

Jaundice has been, until recently,
the only commonly known cause for the yellow discoloration of the skin.

Since the appearance of reduction diets and exclusively vegetable diets (it has been found possible to turn the skin yellow otherwise than by jaundice).

The trick is now turned by careful, a coloring substance widely distributed in common foods.

The skin discoloration incidental to the use of certain foods was first reported in the latter part of the last century by a Japanese physician.

He found a number of cases
where the skin had acquired a golden yellow stain, due to the consumption of large quantities of Japanese oranges.

The condition, designated as car-otenemia, was particularly prevalent among diabetic patients, and among infants whose diet was rich in carotenes.

Added research established the full cause of this condition.
It appears that carotene is a substance which in pure form has an intense yellowish red color. It is tasteless and odorless.

In nature it is found in many common foods such as carrots, pumpkins, yellow squash, yellow
turnips, parsnips, lettuce, beans,
oranges and eggs.

The yellowish color of butter and
of certain animal fats is also due to carotene.

Carotenemia is, therefore, the presence and circulation in the body of a relatively large amount of carotene. This coloring matter is deposited in the skin, particularly where perspiration is active.

The white of the eyes, in contra-distinction to jaundice, is never dis-colored in carotenemia.

The condition described is due to the consumption of a vegetable diet rich in carotene - containing foods. Beyond discoloring the skin temporarily it apparently does not injure the body in any way whatsoever.

SAM
BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: The tangle of Sam Sherrill's affairs increases when her stepfather, Fourth Aldersea, suddenly becomes wealthy through the mysterious promotion of a worthless invention. She has promised to marry Peak Abbott, young millionaire, to relieve the family's former poverty. But Freddy Munson, whom she believes she loves, demands a showdown.

FREDDY RETURNS
"Oh," said Peak, when Sam told him she was having lunch with Freddy Munson. He dropped her hand and the grin disappeared.
"Freddy Munson," Sam spoke hurriedly. "Don't you remember him? He—"

"Of course," Peak said in a tone
that was curiously flat. "I remember him perfectly."

"Are you sure you don't mind?"
He's just in town for the day—"

"Of course not," said Peak quietly. "Of course I don't mind."

He stood there for a time after she had driven away, his blue bath-robe fluttering grotesquely about his long legs. Then he shivered, and turned toward the house.

Sam met Freddy the next afternoon, just inside the main door of the Express building. When she first caught sight of him he was leaning against the marble wall near the elevators. The collar of his light spring overcoat was turned up at the back and the brim
of his gray felt hat was pulled down over his eyes. He was reading a newspaper.

Sam drew a sharp little breath,
being inevitably reminded of the first time she had met him for lunch. The hour was the same and so was the place. Freddy was the same. He was wearing the same clothes in the same way. He might have been reading the same paper.
She found herself wondering whether there had been any interval at all. She also found that she was shaken and embarrassed. She wanted to run away.

Freddy, too, was embarrassed.
She could tell that by the quick nervous way in which he straightened as she approached, and by the manner of his greeting. "Hello,
there," he said with elaborate carelessness. "How are you? Let's eat, shall we?"

"Hello, Freddy," Sam laughed
nervously. "I'm splendid, thanks,
and I'm quite ready to eat."

He nodded and led the way out of the Express building, across the crowded street, and into the equally crowded little restaurant on the far corner. He said nothing and Sam said nothing until they were seated and their order given.

"Well," he grinned and for the first time they were looking into each other's eyes. "Something should be said, I suppose, about water under the well-known bridge."
"I suppose so," Sam resisted a strong temptation to look away.
"Quite a lot of it seems to have flowed, Freddy."

"How's your job?" he asked abruptly.

"My job?" Sam realized angrily
that she was suddenly blushing.
"I gave it up."

"Oh, I see." Whatever Freddy saw must have been unpleasant, for his familiar scowl appeared and remained. "So that's it, is it?"

glancing up, saw that he was smiling quietly to himself.
"And so," he said gently, "You have all the money you need now.
You don't have to worry and you don't have to work. You can dance, and go to tea, and play bridge.
It's nice, isn't it?"

"Yes," Sam managed to nod calmly, although she could feel the rapid beating of her heart. "It's very nice."

Freddy continued to smile. "You like it don't you? It's quite evident that you like it."

"Yes," Again Sam nodded. "I've never had very much of it before, you know, Freddy. I like it."

"Of course." He placed his coffee spoon carefully beside his cup.
"You must have enjoyed yourself these last two months. You've been having a good time, haven't you,
Sam?"

It had come. The thing that she had known to be inevitable; the thing that she had been struggling against throughout the meal had arrived. In the face of it she felt weak and helpless. She was able only to look up at him and to say quietly: "I'm sorry, Freddy. I'm terribly sorry."

"Why should you be sorry?
Everybody likes to be happy, I in-agine." His smile seemed to have become a fixture. He was smiling as he placed his napkin on the table and glanced at his watch.
"Well," he said in a friendly, conversational tone, "it certainly has been great seeing you, Sam. I've enjoyed it tremendously, but now I'm afraid I'll have to be getting along. My train leaves in twenty minutes."

Sam gasped. "Your train! But—where are you going?"

"To New York. After that I'm not sure."

"But Freddy!" Sam was bewildered.
"You can't go like this! Why,
we haven't even begun to talk!"

"Haven't we?" Freddy suddenly seemed like a total stranger. His polite surprise as he questioned her was that of a casual acquaintance.
"I thought we'd been doing quite a bit of talking. What else is there for us to talk about?"

"Everything!" Sam was frightened now, and desperately determined. "You simply can't go away like this! Why, don't you realize that you and I were—that we—"

Freddy explains his manner, tomorrow, and asks Sam: "Can you tell me you are in love with me?"

Have You a "Cooking Complex"? Cure It With These Recipes!

If you're bored to tears with the "three squares" a day, if the family has elevated its finicky nose at some of your pet concoctions, or if the whole meal question has given you a complex against cooking—what you need is variety! Something new and special, something with that "different" touch, something so interesting to make it will give you a chance to rival Edison with your inventive skill in your own kitchen-laboratory.

A successful painter constantly creates new pictures, a singer sings new songs, and the poet seeks new subjects—who can call cooking a lesser art? The kitchen-wizard who would keep her own talent fresh and bright as a new cake-pan will create new dishes, too, at least one a week.

It needn't be difficult, not in this era of the easy-way, not if you follow your chosen tested recipes with care. Pin on a bright gaudy apron, take out your newest utensils, fetch forth your manual of directions, and serve on your "Sunday-best" dishes, a new dish that will lower the family's nose and send your own complex flying like so much flour in the wind.

Here are some tested recipes which will help give you a head start of that rut:

Biscuit Torteau
(French Whipped Ice Cream)
1 cup light corn syrup
2 egg yolks

Few grains salt
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 tsp. gelatine
1 cup heavy cream

1-2 cup macaroon crumbs
Beat the egg yolks light and add to the corn syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens—about five minutes. Add the gelatine soaked five minutes in water to cover. When cool, flavor, add salt, beat into the cream, whipped, and transfer to little paper cases. Dust the tops thickly with the macaroon crumbs and put in a cold place to become firm. If possible, pack in an ice cream freezer, using equal parts of ice and salt, and put pieces of cardboard between the layers to keep the cases separate, or put in freezing compartment of automatic refrigerator.

The macaroons called for in the preceding recipe are a delight in themselves! Use the fresh-keeping cocoonut for this recipe, and only ten minutes of your time.

Macaroons Francaise
2 egg whites
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 tsp. of vanilla
3-4 cup gran. sugar
1-4 lb. pkg. or can of cocoonut (1 1-3 cups)

Beat the egg whites stiff but not dry. Add the salt. Beat in the sugar one-fourth cup at a time. Add the vanilla and fold in the cocoonut. Drop rounded teaspoonfuls of the mixture one inch apart on a baking sheet or inverted pan which has been well greased with unsalted fat or cooking oil Bake in a slow oven (275 degrees F) for 25 minutes. For Chocolate Macaroons, melt one square chocolate and add to recipe. 30 macaroons. Instead of soup or fruit cup for that first course, go Continental!

Sherry Mushroom Canapes
6 mushroom caps
2 tbsps. corn oil
2 tbsps. cornstarch
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup cream
1-2 cup mushroom stock
1-2 cup sherry flavoring
1 tablespoon sherry
6 rounds French Toast
2 hard boiled eggs
parsley

Saute mushroom caps in oil five minutes and remove from pan. To oil in pan stir in cornstarch, salt and pepper. Add cream and mushroom stock made by cooking stems with water until tender. On each round of French Toast place a slice of hot hard boiled egg and a mushroom cap. Garnish with sauce and parsley or strips of parmeso and serve as a first course canape.

For a dessert that's—real fun to make, try this modern version of "heavenly hash":

Date Ice Box Cake
2 cups (1 pkg.) dates (cut)
1-4 cup milk
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 pint cream (whipped)

1-2 lb. graham crackers (rolled)
1-2 cup nut meats (cut)
2 cups (1-4 lb.) marshmallows (cut).
Crush the graham crackers with a rolling pin. Cut the dates and marshmallows into small pieces with wet scissors. To the cut dates, add the milk, salt and vanilla. Add nuts and marshmallows. Mix well. Add graham crackers. Add whipped cream last. Form in a cylinder. Roll the sides in graham cracker dust. Wrap in waxed paper. Let stand 24 hours. Serve cut in slices with whipped cream or ice cream on top.

If you have never tried Stuffed Gingerbread, you've missed something!

Paul Cunningham And Miss Yater Recently Married

Miss Kanna Yater and Paul Cunningham were married in Lovington, N. M. Monday, surprising all their friends, since they had made no announcement of it beforehand. They returned at once to the city and are now making their home at the Cunningham residence at 10th and Scurry streets.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the Rev. M. Garrett, pastor of the Baptist Church at Lovington and formerly holding pastorates in Big Spring and Colorado.

The bride was attractively gowned in a dark wine suit with accessories to harmonize. C. A. Cowan, of Lovington, a friend of the groom, was an attendant.
The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yater, of Colorado City, and a graduate of the high school at that city. She has been employed by the Big Spring Hospital as a nurse for the last year and a half.

The groom is in the hardware business, owning and operating the C. & C. Hardware Co. He is a member of a well-known and esteemed family and, with his bride, has many friends in the city and county.

BUSY BEE PARTY POSTPONED
The Busy Bee Class of the First Methodist Church, which had planned to hold a party this evening, has postponed the party until tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips and little daughter, of Missouri, have been guests of Mrs. P. A. Pittman and other relatives this week.

Story-Telling Hour To Start Tomorrow At Crawford Hotel

A story-telling hour will be inaugurated in the ballroom of the Crawford Hotel tomorrow morning by the Child Study Club and Mrs. Billie Gill Frost, commencing at 10 o'clock and lasting until 11:15. The stories will be selected for children of pre-school age. There will be no admission fee. Mothers of the club will take turns in aiding Mrs. Frost.

A children's band will also be established, if Mrs. Frost finds sufficient talent. I will accept children up to the age of 8. All children in town are invited to the story-telling.

Young People Give Halloween Party At Creath Home

The Intermediate Department of the East Ward Union Sunday School held a Halloween party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Creath.

Louise McCreary and Harriet Hall were the decoration committee and decorated the Creath home with all the features of the season to add to the festivity of the party.

Winnie Mary Hill had charge of the games and won first prize in the popular apple contest. J. W. Hill second, Ernestine Gull and Naomi Alvis received consolation prizes for this contest.

The evening was closed with a short devotional conducted by Winnie Mary.

Delicious refreshment of cake and ice cream were served to the following: Louise and Elizabeth McCreary, Winnie Mary and J. W. Hill, Harriet Hall, Johanna Barbee, Pauline King, Ella Neal, Dor-

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught is a good medicine."

It would not have been used so long, or by so many, if it wasn't really good. Get a 25-cent package at the drug store, and try it.

UNDER-ROASTING AND OVER-ROASTING PREVENTED

Controlled Roasting, Hills Bros.' Patented Process, Roasts Coffee to Uniform Goodness

Just as the flavor of foods can be spoiled by under-cooking or over-cooking, so the flavor of coffee can be spoiled by under-roasting or over-roasting. Realizing this, Hills Bros. invented and patented a marvelous process. It insures perfect roasting—all the time! It is called Controlled Roasting.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. Automatic control of heat insures an even, perfect roast for every berry. Naturally, the resulting flavor is uniformly delicious.

Ordinary coffees are roasted in bulk—several hundred pounds at a time. Therein lies the cause of a faulty roast. For it is impossible to always roast each big batch to the same degree.

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

ing section of the locals.

We figure the Ponies have a chance to win only by the air route. With the pass defense being perfected by the Steer mentors, we rate that chance as rather slim.

The Mustangs will find a stone wall opposing them when they try their line plays. End runs, even with the Mighty Hicks carrying the leather, are due to be cut short.

We expect to see the air filled with heaves from the hand of Sam Baugh when the locals invade Sweetwater for the Armistice tussle.

In the Oil Belt we pick Abilene to down Ranger and the Breckenridge crew to topple the Cisco eleven. Abilene should be undefeated until they tangle with Breckenridge at which time their championship hopes will vanish.

Blondy Cross, the Bobcat pressman, comes forth again to inform his readers that there is a chance of the Steers and the Angelo entry going into the Thanksgiving day game as the only undefeated clubs of district 4. He is more of the opinion, however, that the Mustangs will trounce the Bovines on Nov. 11.

We feel that said idea was in no small way due to the statement advanced by Bobby Campbell, who is sending out the Breckenridge Ballyhoo this year. Bobby opines that "The Angelo Club moved into the fore of District 4 the past week, eliminating the McCamey Badgers handily. Harry Taylor's aggregation is due to give Sweetwater and Big Spring a tussle for the title. We pick the Bobkittens to whom the Big Spring Bovines, and reserve the right to refuse to venture an assertion on the outcome of the Sweetwater-Angelo game. If there is any town in Texas that needs a championship it is San Angelo. For lo these many years the Bobcats have been whipped from pillar to post. San Angelo should have championship or near championship teams every year. San Angelo has never had one that could stand the gaff. Even when Scrap Iron Grimes, that nice old fellow, was hobbling around thereabouts the Bobkittens couldn't slice the cake."

Now the fact that Bobby and Blondy both pick the Cats to top the district win column is enough to cause the Steers fans to shout for joy as both are famous for never picking a winning team. Blondy really fears the strength of the Bovines but of course he has to kid the Concho fans along until the fateful day.

The city also is endeavoring to form a plan whereby irrigation rates will be given during the spring and summer months to those planting trees. The assistance and advice of the city officials will be given at any time in the matter of locating the trees and in properly caring for them it was indicated.

An effort is being made to line the main highways coming into the city with trees which will be cared for by the city. Specimens of the trees will be on display in the Chamber of Commerce offices within a few days it was learned.

We have in the office an information blank which we urgently request that any citizen willing to take trees at the price mentioned above drop by the office and fill out. Mr. Watson said. Information asked for on the blank includes: name, address, telephone number, size of lot, number of trees, whether or not supervision is wanted in setting the trees, whether or not assistance is needed in having holes dug, the amount paid with the order, and the date of delivery.

Those attending the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday night were: W. W. Inkman, John Wolton, C. D. Baxley, J. B. Pickle, George Wilks, Tracy Smith, Clyde Watta, J. L. Webb, George White, J. V. Bush, Fred Keating, B. T. Cardwell, P. W. Malone and C. T. Watson.

with the play, they should be at their peak this year, and the play should reach its maximum efficiency.

There is nothing unusual or spectacular about this play. It is one of the oldest in football. Its effectiveness depends altogether on the precision and speed with which it is carried out.

Every team is drilled for offense against an off-tackle threat, but if executed fast and accurately there is little in the way of defense to stop it.

The play doesn't have to go the same way each time. If the ball carrier sees the defense massed on one side, he can cut through another sector. For this reason, Parascia has made a good ball carrier in the off-tackle play. He is a good side-stepper, and has a frequent change of pace.

The University of Detroit football team went through the season of 1928 undefeated, and this basic play, effectively worked under the leadership of Lloyd Brazil, was a-ently responsible.

Starting October 15, 1927, the team won 23 straight games in three seasons before meeting defeat late in 1929 at the hands of the Oregon Aggies. Brazil, who was the key man during that time, now is coaching the backfield at the University of Detroit.

"BULK,"

VITAMIN B, IRON

All in Kellogg's All-Bran

If you suffer from ordinary constipation, you will be benefited by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Millions have found it brings relief.

Scientific tests show ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk," Vitamin B, and iron. "Bulk" promotes elimination. Vitamin B tones the intestinal tract. Iron helps build blood.

In the package, ALL-BRAN has a shredded appearance. But within the body, it changes to a soft mass, which gently cleanses the intestines. It is much like the "bulk" in lettuce or spinach.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Try two table-spoonfuls daily for a week. ALL-BRAN is natural - far better than pills or drugs, which may cause too strenuous action.

ALL-BRAN is already cooked, flavored and krumbled - bran in its finest form. Serve as a cereal or try the delicious recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

My WINNING PLAY

Charles E. "Gus" Dorais, Detroit university coach, and Robert "Rocky" Parsacia, left halfback, are shown above. Sketch shows in detail off-tackle play which is basic in the Detroit system. Parsacia's number is called mostly in its execution.

Charles E. "Gus" Dorais, old teammate of the late Knute Rockne, has placed Detroit university football teams in the national picture. In this, the sixth of a series of football articles written by outstanding coaches themselves, Dorais describes the off-tackle play, the backbone of his system.

By CHARLES E. DORAIS (Head Football Coach, University of Detroit)

DETROIT (UP)—As in most systems, the off-tackle shot is my basic play. It is and always has been one of our strongest plays.

Against a normal defense, the play with conditions equal, is consistently successful.

When the opponents maneuver to stop it, avenues are opened for other plays which are built to look like it, but end differently.

Some off-tackle plays depend for their success on power and others on deception. Mine has a judicious mixture of each and for that reason suits me best.

Power is there because we can throw in the half, the full, the quarter back and the guard ahead

let's all go to

Eastward ho! Four thousand miles nearer the rising sun—let's go! To the land of mosques and minarets—so different from our skyscrapers, stacks and steeples.

Let's see this strange, strange country. Let's see the land where the tobacco* grows in small leaves on slender stalks—to be tenderly picked, leaf by leaf, hung in long fragrant strings, shelter-dried and blanket-cured. Precious stuff!

Let's taste that delicate aromatic flavor—that subtle difference that makes a cigarette!

XANTHI .. CAVALLA .. SMYRNA ..

SAMSOUN .. famous tobaccos!

*Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the "spice," the "sauce"—or what rich, sweet cream is to coffee!

You can taste the Turkish in Chesterfield—there's enough of it, that's why. Chesterfield has not been stingy with this important addition to good taste and aroma; four famous kinds of Turkish leaf—Xanthi, Cavalla, Samsoun and Smyrna—go into the smooth, "spicy" Chesterfield blend.

This is just one more reason for Chesterfield's better taste. Tobaccos from far and near, the best of their several kinds—and the right kinds. And pure, tasteless cigarette paper, the purest made. The many requisites of a milder, better smoke, complete!

That's why they're GOOD—they've got to be and they are.

In every important tobacco-growing center of Turkey, Chesterfield has its own tobacco buyers on the spot.
