Party Enroute To Plantation In Tennessee Thrown In Ditch

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29. (AP)—Five persons, including an infant of three months, were killed today when a truck and trailer carrying 53 persons to the Cary Eason plantation to pick cotton went into a ditch. A score were injured.

The dead are: Mrs. Ollie Allan, 25; Alvis Cummings, 7; Herbert Gilmore, 18; Wiley Nichols, 23; Wiley Nichols, Jr., three months. The trailer, carrying household goods with a number of the passengers, broke loose from the truck. The injured were carried to Marion, Ark., by passing motorists. The dead were brought here.

Beginning November 1 the Herald will be in a position to provide daily one of the most complete weather reports any paper in the state carries.

This will be made possible by opening of the United States weather bureau's station at the airport.

John Cummings, superintendent of the station, announces he will be ready to go after the first of the month. Beginning then the Herald will carry daily forecasts for Big Spring and vicinity, West Texas, East Texas and New Mexico.

A table will give temperature at each half-hour, exact time of sun rise and sunset, and weather conditions at Dallas, Big Spring and El Paso at 12:30 p. m. daily. Storm warnings of various kinds will be carried.

The complete service of the U. S. weather bureau will be at the disposal of the public. The observation station will be fully equipped to furnish information of value to the general public, as well as the flying public.

When a girl on Main street read in yesterday's Herald that a learned professor said these life-of-the-party girls should be shunned in favor of the reserved type when a fellow hunts a wife she said: "That gives me a chance." She would, being a right vivacious one herself.

Big Spring has long been favored by the very best motion pictures obtainable. Moreover, the theatre management always has been very considerate of the public and anxious to join any movement for benefit of the community. In fact the theatre owners are unusual here in that they do not take the narrow attitude you often find—that it is unloyal for a citizen to patronize the occasional stage presentation offered under auspices of various organizations by visiting casts.

Monday afternoon and evening under auspices of the English department of the high school William Thornton, supported by a rotatable cast, will appear at high school in "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Taming of the Shrew." Last year this group presented a series of plays by Shakespeare here.

Of course, the sponsoring organization will be benefited if a large attendance is obtained. And the actors naturally must spend some money here.

These, however, are not the reasons why the public should see these plays.

No community ever got along as it ought for very long without some of the seasoning that can come only from music, literature, the stage.

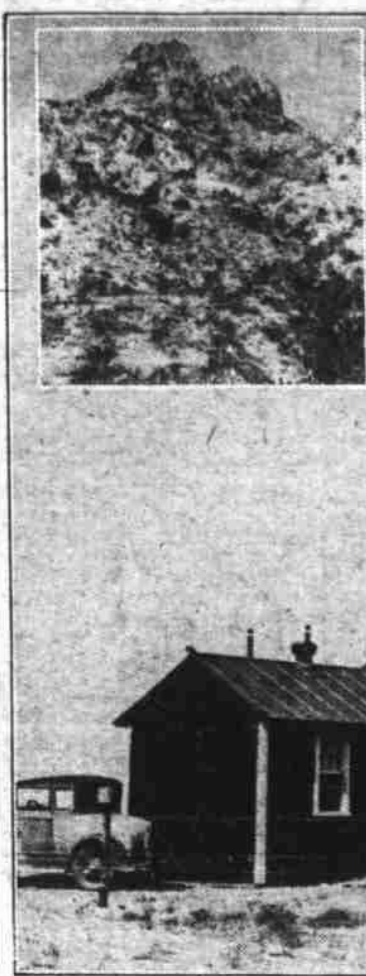

Many people assume what appears to be a critical attitude toward these things. We switch the dial when the radio picks up a classical selection by an orchestra and search for one of the multitude of wham-bang-oompa organizations, each with its own special edition of the original crooner or squaller.

Not that we do not like some of that stuff occasionally; but you need cream in your coffee.

Many of us are bored if a cinema doesn't have a few shootings, an eternal trainings angle or a chorus.

But, most every time, after you get a fellow who has assumed such a viewpoint into a place where he

Dallas - Los Angeles Section Now Completed

With the completion and turning on of the lighted beacons last night all along the route of American Airways from Dallas to Los Angeles, night air mail service is expected to follow within the near future, according to beliefs of local American Airways officials.

Completion of this work leaves only the Atlanta-Dallas section to be lighted and contracts for this work are expected to be released within the next few weeks with completion scheduled for early spring.

The lights are at points about fifteen miles apart with additional lights marking special hazards. There are thirty-three lights between El Paso and Phoenix. The department of commerce previously lighted the section between El Paso and Dallas and American Airways constructed its own lights west of Phoenix to Los Angeles.

The isolated beacons are furnished power from small engine generators run with gasoline and controlled by solar clocks. These clocks start the engines a half hour before sundown and shut them off a half hour after sunrise. Each engine is supplied with enough fuel to operate it about two months, but is inspected weekly for fuel and operation performance. The beacons, on a clear night, are often visible from the air for seventy-five miles.

68 Children Immunized In Schools Here

Mrs. Showalter Announces County Conference November 7

Anti-diphtheria conferences in the city schools were closed Wednesday, according to Mrs. M. R. Showalter, public health nurse. In six conferences 68 pupils were given the first dose of diphtheria toxoid. The protection of this number against diphtheria will greatly fortify the community against a diphtheria epidemic, it was indicated.

Mrs. Showalter in a message to parents said, "It is gratifying to know that we have a number of parents thinking in terms of health. If an epidemic of diphtheria should break out in our city this winter it would be too late to take the immunizing treatment. If a child is exposed to diphtheria it is then necessary that he be given the antitoxin, an emergency treatment that is effective only a short time."

Children will be given their second doses in the schools as instructed.

A county anti-diphtheria conference will be held at the court house Saturday, November 7, at 2 o'clock and a large attendance is urgently requested. This conference will complete the diphtheria immunization conferences. The first such meeting was held August 1 making a total of eight conferences.

Each immunizing conference is composed of two meetings held three weeks apart, thus making a total of 16 meetings.

Children receiving immunization November 7 will be given their second dose November 28 at the same hour.

Cost is 90 cents per child, according to Mrs. Showalter.

The interest earned during the time Howard county has held these bonds, plus the principal, will enable the county to retire $50,000 of its $100,000 issue it was declared.

Receivership May Be Ended Judge Is Told

Fact Plant Is Showing Profit 'Astounding' Says Judge Wilson

Judge James C. Wilson, presiding in federal court at Abilene, refused this afternoon to grant a motion of the Credit Alliance Corporation asking that the cracking plant at the Cosden Oil Refinery here be shut down.

Citing testimony introduced by the Cosden receivers, Henry Zweifel and George Moore, the court said that "the astounding fact that the refinery is being operated at a profit during a world-wide depression makes shutting down the cracking stills out of the question."

"The court said in announcing his decision that the complainant occupied a peculiar position and that it was entitled to some relief. He said the testimony showed that plant was deteriorating rapidly and that he would work out a plan whereby the receivers would set aside a fund to offset this deterioration, pending termination of the suit for foreclosure, which has not been heard."

David Trammell was named by the court to act as attorney for the receivers in certain matters, in compliance with a request of the receivers.

Testimony introduced by the receivers showed that the July 31 cash statement showed $124,000 in hands of the receivers; that since July 31 properties in receivership have shown operating profit of $288,000 and that operating expense has been reduced 40 per cent.

Total book value of properties is above ten millions against balance sheet liabilities of about $4,000,000 of every kind and character."

It was said that J. B. Cosden himself had planned to reorganize the company and lift it out of receivership and that he would be joined by H. B. Gutelius of the Continental Supply company, one of the larger creditors.

The plan has merely been perfected and will be ready for presentation to creditors in a few weeks, it was stated.

The general firming of the oil industry with improvement in price structure has accelerated the plan greatly, it was declared.

The court was told that the Cosden plant at Big Spring continues to turn out 4,500 barrels of gasoline daily and that present Cosden producing properties, all under production restrictions, provide approximately 2,500 barrels per day of crude oil.

Take Your Home Colors From Old Glory

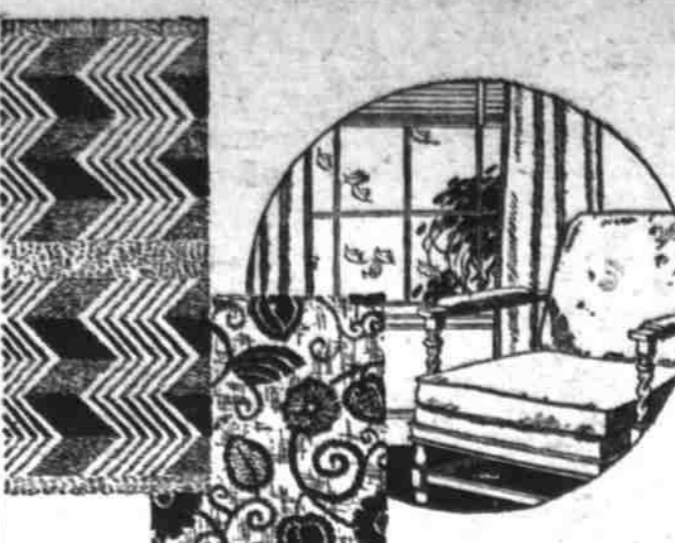

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine, Written For The Daily Herald

The newest colors which the well-dressed room will wear during the coming year will undoubtedly be shades of red and blue. There will be plenty of choice, but some of the colors in high favor will express vogues which cannot be ignored.

Red, which is always with us, will have a new day in the rich shades in rugs, draperies and upholstery because they "go" with oak furniture, and oak will certainly go stronger next season. Rose, poppy and tomato reds will be right for the Georgian room. The leading purple colors, so popular in carpets, will be eggplant (red purple), prune (blue purple), and burgundy (red violet), and they will be just the right background for violet blues and yellow browns.

White has been slowly gaining favor. This coming year will see it in an entirely new role—as a contrast to the dark wall colors of the latest style. The white pottery, lamps, figurines and table ware, which have come as a reaction from color will have new support from white chintz and leather and satin upholstery.

Blue also has been quietly gathering its enthusiasts and now it will be recognized in clear, middle and deep rich shades in French or powder blue and the charming periwinkle. Wall and drapery blues will now be accompanied by a new line.

The rust colors will be even stronger this year than in the last two or three and will come ahead of the greens with which they have shared the honors. Browns with a yellow cast will be correct, too, and browns in almost every variety will be combined with the greens. The new green will have that E. spire feeling in the bottle or dark olive shades.

For bedrooms, colors will take two contrary trends, depending on whether the atmosphere will be formal or rustic. For echoing the feminine in the new frock styles, bedrooms will show harmonies in French gray, pale yellow and light mulberry, eggshell, blue and peach, silver, green and coral. This means that the green and orchid are to lose their popular favor. In the Provincial bedroom, pure blues and reds will dominate, although there will be some strong greens and yellows.

Gives An Account Of Her Trip To The Dallas State Fair With The Girls

Dear Club Members:
Nearly 300 girls attended 4-H Club girls state fair encampment at Dallas. The girls represented the winners in their respective counties. The fair association furnished a dormitory for these girls, their chaperones, and staff members from A. & M. department of extension. Balanced meals are served and the quantity of food runs a close race with that on the farm tables from which these girls are served regularly at home.

The travelling expenses, in most cases were paid by the Chambers of Commerce of the girls' home town. However, Big Spring girls are fortunate to live on the T. & P. railroad, which organization pays the railroad fare of about one-fourth of the girls there, that is for all girls who win these trips, and make the trip by the T. & P.

Two Howard County Girls
Two Howard county girls, Artelia Minton, of the Lomax club, and Nellie Mae Robinson of the Midway club won the trip from here, by winning on their exhibits at the county fair. Artelia is a first year girl, and Nellie Mae is a second year girl. These girls made garments included in their club year, after which time they started making all of their own clothes. Each of them raised a garden and canned vegetables and fruits, and made preserves, jellies and relishes for their family table.

The girls who did not irrigate a garden raised fields peas, beans, corn, and greens in abundance in the fields. In addition, okra, squash, tomatoes, butter beans, watermelons, cantaloupes have been raised in many places without water. Their work includes food preparation, which this year was salads, salad dressings, and yeast breads, and home improvement in addition to the things mentioned above.

Their stories are told in their histories. Artelia's appeared last week in The Herald and Nellie Mae's will appear later.

Seventy-eight girls joined the seven clubs last January. They were allowed one of two productive demonstrations, poultry, and gardening. Most of the girls chose gardening at the time, since then, practically all who had not already chosen that demonstration have changed to it.

Eight girls made $1000 more during four years club work. Five girls have as much as three hundred dollars in the bank, this money being saved from sale of their products. A number of girls have canned one thousand containers of food this year.

Missy Women Meet With Miss Martin For All-Day Canning

The ladies of the Hiway community met with Miss Anna Martin for canning recently. The canning was done for Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCormick and family, whose daughter Irene has been sick in bed since last March 18.

Two bushels of apples and one bushel of pears were brought with the remainder of the money donated by the Church of Christ at Hiway and the people of the Baptist church at Prairie View near Fairview and others. The women canned and delivered twenty quarts of apples, four quarts of apple butter, fifteen one-half gallon jars of apple juice for jelly, three one-half gallons of pear preserves, three quarts of pear preserves.

The following were present to help with the work: Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. G. W. Hilliard, Mrs. J. E. Stotts, Mrs. Lowry Reynolds, Mrs. L. B. Wade, Mrs. Jesse Monteth, Mrs. Shirley Fryar.

Miss Angeletta Russell, of San Angelo, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

of food soon. Her mother canned for the family, and Mary has a year around garden, so she will sell her products and use the money to pay her expenses in college.

Deacy McDonald of Grayson county has made $1013 in three years, $537 of the amount was cleared this year. Three girls will be given a $300 scholarship to enable them to go to college. The girls who have won these in the past, have used some money they have saved from club work, and worked for part of their college expenses, thus going more than one year on that amount. One girl who reported at College Station the summer of 1930 is making hers help out for four successive years.

Many girls use all their products at home, and never have a surplus of money in the bank. They are winners, however, if they insure their families a sufficient amount of food, balanced meals, and better homes.

J. A. Somerville Inspects Property Of T&P In City

J. A. Somerville, vice president in charge of operations of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, spent Wednesday morning here inspecting properties and conferring with A. E. Pistola, division superintendent.

Mr. Somerville arrived on his private car on No. 1 Wednesday evening, and departed for Dallas at 12:30 p. m. Thursday.

"Well, Big Spring can say that she has the prettiest railroad terminal lay-out in West Texas," said Mr. Somerville as he returned to his car after walking with Mr. Pistola over the properties here.

"But, like a lot of businesses these days, these great improvements came just about the same time as this 'depression'," he added.

Conversation with Mr. Somerville indicated that recovery of activity in the oil industry in West Texas would put the T & P's volume of business back on a satisfactory basis.

R. H. Jones, local agent, told the vice-president that patronage here of the T & P Motor Transport store door delivery service is highly satisfactory.

"Wednesday was one of the best days in months for that branch of the service offered by the road," said Mr. Jones.

"People did not buy so long as they could help it but either they ran out of everything in the electrical line and had to buy or they have more confidence in the future and are not afraid to part with their money," said Randerson.

Officers in Uniform.

It is becoming more apparent all the time that it is a mistake to send plain-clothes officers out to patrol country highways.

A recent case in Ohio, similar to many previous ones, shows the sort of thing that is apt to happen. A business man was driving across the state, late at night, on a perfectly legitimate errand.

Naturally enough, the man thought they were bandits and stepped on the gas. Equally naturally, they thought he was their quarry and gave chase, firing shots after him and finally overtaking him and crowding him into a ditch.

By good luck the affair did not have a tragic ending. It could have, very easily. The moral is clear: officers who patrol the highways at night must be plainly identifiable as officers.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Bittersweet.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: YEARS ago it was considered quite the proper thing for children and even adults to go out in the woods and gather tremendous quantities of trailing arbutus. It was commercial vandalism. The bouquets were peddled on the streets.

Trailing arbutus is no longer an article of commerce. In the first place it has become too rare, and the commercial vandalism of yesterday was the extension of the causes of its practical extermination in the vicinity of large cities. And in the second place intelligent sentiment stands in opposition to robbery of the forest.

Pecos Test Flow

Deepening of McCurdy & East's No. 1 Tippet in Pecos county from 1,434 to 1,457 feet more than doubled production during the first 24 hours when the well flowed 128 barrels, although it declined the next two days to 110 and 105 barrels. Tubing was rerun after deepening.

No. 1 Tippet topped the pay at 1,296 feet, and had a number of increases down to 1,434 feet. It gaged as high as 72 1-2 barrels in twelve hours at that depth but settled to around 60 barrels a day.

The well is on the northwest edge of the Yates field and south of the Toberg-Tippet shallow pool, 272 feet from the north line and 251 feet from the east line of section 108, CT&MO Ry. Co. survey.

SAM BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Rivalry between two men for Sam Sherrill's love culminates with Sam's choice of Peak Abbott. But her family troubles continue. Her stepfather, Fourth Alderson, has made money from the sale of an invention which Sam believes worthless. Fourth is indignant over the marriage of his son, Nelson, to Martha, their maid.

Chapter 33 COVERED DYNAMITE

Peak tipped back her chin. "I have a strong feeling that I'm going to kiss you—like this!" Sam put her head on his shoulder. "Now talk to me, will you, please. Tell me about something." "Let me see," Peak frowned for a moment and then brightened. "I have it! I have the precise thing. We'll talk about our wedding. We'll discuss churches, and bridesmaids, and spats. We'll decide whether it is to be next Wednesday or whether I must be tortured until Saturday afternoon at four o'clock."

HOW'S your HEALTH

THE NERVOUS CHILD We approach the study of the nervous child in the conviction that it can profit us and the child. It is assumed that by knowing the typical signs and symptoms which characterize the constitution and the behavior of the nervous child we will be enabled to recognize it early, and to institute measures to safeguard and protect it. In a measure this is a large assumption not granted by all psychiatrists. The disagreement centers about the relative importance of inherent constitutional weaknesses and of the stress to which the child is subjected. It is in a sense a specific instance in the old argument on heredity and environment. If an inherent constitutional weakness inevitably predisposes the child to serious mental and nervous disorders, then our hope lies in eugenics and the exclusion of the constitutionally unfit from the privileges of parenthood. On the other hand, as Professor Terman says, "unfavorable heredity is, after all, only the inheritance of a tendency. Whether the evil made possible by heredity materializes probably depends in a majority of cases upon what we may call accidental factors of environment." The majority of the authorities on mental diseases and on mental hygiene would probably agree. The deductions to be drawn, therefore, are that by recognizing the nervous child early in his life, by shielding it against unnecessary and excessive strains of a physical and nervous nature, and by educating it properly in control and exercise of its emotional and volitional functions, it may be spared from mental disease and nervous disorders. This is a rational viewpoint on the problem of the nervous child and one that enables us to escape from the fatalism of the extreme believers in the hereditary forces as a cause of mental and nervous disorders. Colorado Determined To Blast Steer Bubble Here Friday In Third 'A' Game

Colorado's Wolves will leave their holes among the hills of Mitchell county tomorrow to journey westward in the hope of capturing the battle with the Big Spring Steers scheduled for 2 o'clock on the local gridiron.

Emerging from the fray with the powerful Sweetwater Mustangs without injury the Wolves are in the pink of condition for the coming battle. Coach Pearce of the Wolves says that his team is light but will give the Steers a close contest and should be the first to cross the Steer goal.

"My boys put up a wonderful fight against the Sweetwater crew and scored against the best the Mustangs could offer," Pearce said.

The Wolves at the beginning of the season were rated by sport scribes over the district as having the weakest club in this section. Getting off to a slow start the Colorado entry has improved slowly and from all appearances reached the peak of its playing condition last week when it held Sweetwater to a 25-6 score.

Only one game has been marked up in the win column for the Pearemen, and that against Roscoe, but the determination to be the first team to cross the Steer goal, together with the fact that a highly touted Steer machine of last season fell before an inspired Pack, points to an interesting performance during the afternoon.

With only three more games on the district schedule Coaches Eris, tow and Brown are taking no chances of a slip-up. The Steer mentors will throw their full available strength against the Wolves Friday. With nothing to be gained by holding his men in check, and everything to lose, the scoring power of the Bovines will be turned loose on the visitors.

With Captain Bill Flowers out of the game with an injury the coaches were undecided on the starting backfield, but scrimmage yesterday afternoon indicated that Hitchcock would pinch hit for the Bovine leader.

Starting lineup:

Stears	Position	Colorado
Coots	LE	Church
Hopper	LT	Smith
Hildreth	LG	Bodine
Dyer	C	Hart
Orr	RG	Hagler
Sanders	RT	Joyce (C)
Forrester	RE	Elvey
Schwarsenbach	QB	Riles
Dennis	LH	Hill
Hitchburg	WH	Hall
Hobbsen	FB	Harkins

Officials: Cantrell (TCU), referee; Lingo (Austin), umpire; Reed (Texas), head lineaman.

This And That

By Mark

We have been requested to announce that sport fans will be afforded something new in the way of entertainment during the coming winter. We were approached yesterday and informed that a girls' basketball team would be organized within the near future, and would perform for the benefit of the public during the coming season. Now judging by the looks of the young ladies making this announcement this is going to be one club that will be easy on the eyes. We have been extended an invitation to their practice sessions and on the night said workouts take place we will be at home to no one. The first meeting of the group will be held next Monday night at the Settles Hotel at 7:30 a.m.t.

All girls, blondes, brunettes, and otherwise, who ever did, can, or think they can, or would would like to enjoy the grand old game are urgently requested to be at the meeting Monday night.

Midland, Colorado and points north and south will come forth with teams before many more moons and much wholesome entertainment should be afforded the customers. We speak not for the sharpshooting ability of the locals but we claim the top rung of the ladder as far as looks are concerned. An "Artist" will be stationed at each position, judging from the looks of the few we have seen.

Jinx Tucker, the scribe who dishes out hokum to the fan around Waco and occasionally comes forth with a bright statement has made one which shows just how poorly informed he is concerning the status of the pigskin game in West Texas. Jinx says that Corsicana last week met some opposition similar to that which Big Spring has run over during the current season and ran up 118 points to nothing for the opposition. Now we would just like to inform Mr. Tucker that we can pick seven teams played by the Bovines to date and each and every one of them could drub the Wazabachle eleven without the least bit of trouble. Jinx should come west some day and see the manner of football we have out here.

Incidentally whether he likes it or not the Steers could easily have doubled the Corsicana-Wazabachle score in more than one game of the current season had the Steer mentors so desired. Making 80 changes during one game and scoring 80 points is something we have our doubts about the Tigers of Corsicana being able to accomplish. Then again we may be wrong. Even if we are we are not nearly so much so as the Wacoan was when he made the statement mentioned above.

In case the Waco key-pounder would enjoy witnessing a real team in action we will provide a corner of the press box with a good meal if he will journey West to see the Steers perform.

We see where Blondy Cross at Angelo credits this department with taking it for granted that Abilene will cop the Oil Belt and that the Eagles plan on engaging the charges of Coach Taylor for the bidistrict title. Now he is wrong on just two counts. We do not figure that Abilene has sewed the Oil Belt little up and we never have, and never expect to advance an idea that Angelo will be afforded the opportunity of representing district 4 as champions.

Mr. Cross is wise in one respect however if we can accept at its face value a statement appearing in his columns to the effect that the Bobcats are not worrying about the Steer contest but are taking their games as they come. We can see little reason for the Kittens to worry over the Turkey Day affair for the week preceding said tussle the Concho eleven will meet the aerial circus from Sweetwater and we a dinger. Simmons will be handicapped with the loss of several regulars who were injured in the TCU fray, but said loss will make the two teams about even. Simmons should cop the contest.

We looked the Steers over yesterday aft and saw more passes completed in about ten minutes of scrimmage than we have seen the locals throw during seven games. Completing passes in a game such as were successfully carried out yesterday would just about run a team crazy.

Then again we could find nothing wrong with the Bovine running attack as the backs swept the ends and brushed off tackle for touchdown after touchdown. Nice work was being done by the offensive club in putting their opponents on the ground during every play. It is a dead clinch a man can't tackle when he is flat on his back.

Returns of kickoffs, by Heblsen, and Forrester, for scores featured the scrimmage yesterday. We

Nothing less than a six can give you built-in smoothness

The whole question was settled long ago—as to how many cylinders it takes in a motor car engine to give satisfactory smoothness. Science definitely established the fact that at least six are necessary. And today, the public accepts the multi-cylinder engine in the same way that it accepts 4-wheel brakes, parallel-mounted springs and every other principle of proved and acknowledged superiority. Everybody knows that nothing less than a six can give you built-in smoothness.

Today, six-cylinder smoothness is within reach of every new car buyer. For Chevrolet has produced a quality car, powered it with a firmly-mounted six-cylinder motor—engineered it to run with unsurpassed economy—and priced it down among the very lowest-priced cars in the market.

Thornton To Be Seen Here In 2 Great Comedies
 What promises to be a dramatic treat is the return of William Thornton and his company to Big Spring high school auditorium, for a matinee and evening performance, Monday, November 2.
 This time Thornton will be seen in two comedies, The Merchant of Venice in the afternoon and The Taming of the Shrew at night. Many will remember his splendid performance last season as "Shylock" in The Merchant of Venice and because of numerous requests will include it on this visit. His impersonation of the Jew is one of the finest characterizations on the stage and while he plays here as a rather dignified merchant rather than a slovenly fellow, yet he never once loses what he thinks Shakespeare meant to convey. Miss Marland will again be seen as Portia, which she does in a real judicial manner, she indeed makes "a wise and upright judge." There is an added interest in his offering of "The Taming of the Shrew" which he will present at the evening performance. This is no doubt the merriest of Shakespeare's comedies and shows the entire company to splendid advantage. The performance is given with "the induction" followed by the play in five acts and lends itself to attractive stage settings and costumes all of which have been carefully looked after. Mr. Thornton makes a bold, colorful, boisterous "Petruchio" and enjoys every moment of his merry task of taming the tempestuous "Katherina." Miss Marland makes a beautiful, though difficult "shrew to tame," but the play is merry throughout and the performance and the performance of the entire company to Guild's repertoires.

 The Donkey News says: "Shakespeare's merry and mad comedy is still a 'wow' in the amusement line if the reception it received from the Broadway patrons may be considered. Seldom has this theatre cooched with such merit as it did last night. How the young folks beguile their elders, however, is a story familiar to most everyone. Its knavery, stormy scenes littered with distinguished lovers, and Petruchio and the shrew, all believe, can still compete successfully with the latest est sophisticated comedy.

 While both these offerings are considered comedies there is a wide difference between Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew" and Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." Mr. Thornton, however, does both characters in a thoroughly artistic manner and his support in both plays is of the highest order.
 The city council of Dallas, Texas, recently issued a twenty-five year franchise to a New York concern.
