When Tragedy Hovered Over Speed Challenge

By proving himself stronger than the heavy racer in which he was trying for a new speed record, Sir Malcolm Campbell averted disaster at Daytona Beach, Fla. Fumes and flames that melted the cowling over the racer's huge engines were driven into his face by the 250-mile hurricane of speed and nearly asphyxiated him. Above the Bluebird is shown roaring along the sands during the trial, the arrow pointing out the portion of the cowling that caused all the trouble.

City Erases Tax Penalties And Interest Until July 1

WOULD REMOVE SMALL HOME TAX BURDEN

Approve Amendment To Exempt $3,000 Homesteads

AUSTIN, March 6.—Legislation to lift the heavy tax burden from small homeowners was overwhelmingly approved yesterday in the Texas House of Representatives.

The House adopted, 109 to 22, a resolution by Rep. J. N. Reed of Bowie calling for an election on a constitutional amendment exempting $3,000 of the valuation of residence homesteads from all taxes except for school purposes.

The amendment would authorize classification of intangible property to replace revenue lost by the homestead exemption and expressly prohibit a general sales tax. Classification was defeated at the polls last year despite support of Gov. James V. Alfred.

In the meantime, outright repealists made overtures to the dry bloc in the Senate during debate on the form in which modification of the state prohibition statute should be submitted to the people next August.

SUPERVISOR OF RURAL REHABILITATION HERE

W. H. Gore, of Lubbock, district supervisor of rural rehabilitation in the Panhandle, is visiting today in the office of A. N. Crandall, supervisor for Hall and Donley counties.

Mr. Gore expressed satisfaction with the manner in which the relief project is being handled in this section.

An ordinance exempting 1934 city taxes from all penalties and interests until July 1, was adopted by the Memphis City Council in regular monthly session last night. The ordinance is in keeping with a similar ordinance adopted last month permanently cancelling all penalties and interests on city taxes that were delinquent prior to April 1, 1934.

Under the new arrangement, city property owners whose taxes have been delinquent over a period of years may pay all back taxes, including 1934 assessments, without any form of penalties or interests until July 1, it was pointed out by Mayor B. E. Davenport.

Returns July 1
The full penalty of eight per cent will be applied to all 1934 city taxes that are unpaid by July 1, the ordinance provides. It further provides that an interest charge of six per cent dating from February 1 will be applied to 1934 taxes that are delinquent on July 1.

Councilmen in session last night also authorized Fire Chief M. G. Ray to make an annual fire inspection of the city. The inspection will be made by members of the fire department in order to eliminate fire hazards, Mr. Ray explained. Elimination of fire hazards and the study of fire prevention methods account to a large degree for the recent reduction in city fire insurance rates, he said. Plans are being made for the inspection to start within the next week or ten days.

The appointment of Charles Drake to assess city property for 1934 taxes was approved by the council. Dr. C. Z. Stidham was re-elected city health officer "as long as his services are satisfactory, not to exceed one year." His salary was set at $25 per month. Dr. Stidham was present and gave his monthly report for February.

Among other matters discussed by the council last night was a Fireman's Pension bill now before (Continued on page 8)

EVENT PLANNED FOR ADULT TEACHERS

All Instructors in County Invited to Entertainment

Memphis teachers of adult education classes will entertain for all teachers and supervisors in the county on March 15, it was decided yesterday in a meeting of local teachers at the office of the county superintendent.

An association of Memphis teachers was formed in the meeting, attended by 16 of the 19 teachers in the city. Mrs. W. J. Bragg was elected general chairman of the association and St. Elmo Powell was selected temporary secretary. Mrs. E. H. Godfrey was selected chairman of the refreshment committee for the county-wide meeting on March 15 and R. C. Householder was selected publicity agent.

All of the 60 teachers employed in Hall County are invited and urged to attend the meeting here Friday week, Mr. Householder said. Plenty of entertainment and a refreshment course will be the order of the evening. The entertainment is to be held at the Junior High School building at 7:45 o'clock.

Bonus Bill To Be Reported To House For Floor Action

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—The House Ways and Means Committee voted 14 to 11 today to consider the American Legion bill for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus, as opposed to the Patman currency expansion bill.

Action was taken after an agreement to report a bonus bill to the House for floor action.

Two motions were voted upon. The first to submit to the House a bill for immediate and full cash payment of the bonus, was adopted. The second was that the committee express preference between the Patman Currency Expansion and the Vinson Orthodox Financing plans. The committee voted for the Vinson bill.

FOUR KILLED IN CAR COLLISION AT ALANREED

Shamrock Family On Return Home From Church When Hit

SHAMROCK, Mar. 6.—Four members of a Shamrock family were killed and three other persons were injured last night when the automobile in which they were returning from church collided with a truck two miles west of Alanreed.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Inman, their daughter, Norma, age two, and Mrs. Inman's father, Ralph E. Daly. The other three in the car were injured but are not in serious condition.

The name of the truck driver was not learned.

COTTON CHECKS OVER $126,000

$11,409 Received Yesterday From Cotton Pool; Total 1,519 Checks

Payments amounting to $126,238 have been received by Hall County farmers during the past 10 days for surplus Bankhead cotton certificates sold through the government pool.

Checks amounting to $11,409 were received yesterday by County Agent James A. Jackson. Yesterday's payments were issued in 139 checks, bring the total number of checks received to date to 1,519.

The payments made during the past 10 days represents the first installment of $10 per bale for all certificates sold at $20 per bale through the government pool.

Farmers for whom checks have been received will be notified by mail, Mr. Jackson said.

Bill Approved To Repeal Income Tax Publication

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—A bill to repeal provisions of an existing law for publication of income tax returns, was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Committee leaders planned to obtain special rule so that the repeal bill could be brought on the floor for a vote this week.

Paris Deputy Is Injured in Duel

PARIS, March 6.—Deputy Cesar Campinchi was shot through the wrist and suffered severance of an artery today in a duel with Deputy Horace Decarbuccia.

The deputies, both Corsicans, quarreled over an article in Decarbuccia's weekly newspaper. The principals left the field unaccompanied.

Police prosecution is considered unlikely as Campinchi's condition is not considered grave.

M'Murry College Band Entertains Here Today

Under the able direction of J. D. Silvey, the McMurry College band entertained Memphians with a 30-minute band concert at the Ritz Theatre at noon today.

Following the concert, the 35 members of the Abilene college band were entertained with a luncheon at the Pound Cafe, with the Memphis Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce as joint hosts. Present for the luncheon were William Russell Clark, chamber of commerce secretary and others.

Great Dissenter of Supreme Court Dies

Heads Fight on Tax Publicity

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, the "great dissenter" of the Supreme Court, died at 2:15 today of bronchial pneumonia, two days before he would have been 94 years old.

A soldier's funeral is being prepared for him Friday. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Throughout yesterday, President Roosevelt, Chief Justice Hughes, Justice Brandies and hundreds of others prominent in official and business life called at regular intervals.

Holmes often disagreed with the more conservative members of the bench during his 29 years of service on the Supreme Court but he was a personal favorite of all: bright, genial and witty.

His influence on the law will be felt as long as the constitution endures but some of his fame also goes back to a mastery of style and phrase which made many of his opinions literary masterpieces.

ARGUMENTS IN DAMAGE SUIT UNDERWAY

District Judge Pre- sents Charge To Jury Today

Attorney's arguments are being given this afternoon in the damage suit of Mrs. Elsie Vallance and husband, Otho Vallance, versus W. B. Quigley. The case is being heard in 100th Judicial District Court of Hall County.

District Judge A. J. Fires prepared his charge to the jury this morning and the accepted charge was given shortly after noon today. The case has been under way for the past two days.

The suit grew out of injuries sustained by Mrs. Vallance when the car in which she and Mr. Vallance were riding is alleged to have collided with a car driven by Mr. Quigley. The accident is said to have occurred near Estelline on September 25, 1933.

More than 18 witnesses were summoned for the trial.

SEEK $18,500,000 FOR COLORADO DAM

AUSTIN, March 6.—The lower Colorado River Authority announced it would ask the Federal Government for $18,500,000 to complete a huge storage dam and a series of power dams on the Colorado River.

A customer of The Democrat reports he received $12 worth of business as the direct result of an advertisement in the want-ad column one issue.

He said, "It certainly pays to use Democrat want-ads", and that he would be glad to verify the statement, if needed. Others, like the above customer, have found that people in the Memphis Area read the want-ads, from the small want-ads to the large displays.

WORK NIGHTLY ON PRODUCTION

Interest Mounts Rapidly in Jayce Presentation of 'Crazy Politics'

With character groups for the presentation of "Crazy Politics" in nightly meeting at the Memphis High School under the supervision and direction of Miss Lorraine Patrick, interest in the giant Junior Chamber of Commerce musical comedy is growing daily.

Approximately 100 characters are taking part in the community play that will be presented at the high school auditorium on March 13 and 14.

Tomorrow night Miss Patrick will meet with business men who are members of the "caucus" group and Friday night she will meet with the women who are members of the "singing politicians" group. Both groups are to meet at the high school at 7 o'clock.

The main characters of the play are meeting nightly and chorus groups are working out routines beautifully, Miss Patrick reports. Everything will be in readiness for the public presentation next week, she said.

German Armaments Cause of Delay of Sir Simon's Visit

BERLIN, Mar. 6.—German officials admitted today that the British "white book on German armaments" rather than throat trouble of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, was the guiding influence behind Berlin's postponement of Sir John Simon's visit to discuss European problems.

Sir John Simons' visit was scheduled for tomorrow.

The foreign office said that negotiations arising from Anglo-French talks at London were definitely off and "it is impossible to foresee when they will commence."

A customer of The Democrat reports he received $12 worth of business as the direct result of an advertisement in the want-ad column one issue.

He said, "It certainly pays to use Democrat want-ads", and that he would be glad to verify the statement, if needed. Others, like the above customer, have found that people in the Memphis Area read the want-ads, from the small want-ads to the large displays.

OUT OUR WAY

By "Cowboy" Williams

Depression-Hit Cowmen Don Full Dress in Roundup

Texas steers bawled in amazement, then lay down dazed to be branded, at this strange roundup in the Big Bend country, when cattlemen clad in evening clothes gathered for the fray. Tuxedos and bowled shirts, no longer used since depression prices for livestock ended the social whirl of better days, adorned the roundups as they roped calves, rounded up strays, and applied the branding iron. "Might as well get some wear out of these and save our working clothes," was the consensus of the ranchers.

SILKEN SPINDLES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving her answer.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris, ready to take his place in the mill.

VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian. She sees him with Gale and is furious. Convinced to meet Gale, she tells her that she (Vicky) and Brian are engaged. Gale believes Brian has been amusing himself at her expense, is deeply hurt. She refuses to see him again.

Gale goes to a dance with Steve. Phil is there and bursts into a denunciation of the mill bosses. Next day he is fired.

MARY CASSIDY and her two children are evicted from their home and Gale takes them in.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Vicky Thatcher closed the door behind her. She stood there for an instant—a picture in the frock of flame color against the ivory door. Her dark hair was drawn back from her face and then tumbled into soft curls. Her lips had caught the gleaming brilliance of her frock. And her eyes, beneath thick lashes, were smiling.

She said to the young man waiting, "Are you surprised to see me?"

"Why, yes, rather," Brian told her. "I thought your father wanted to see me. They told me there was a message."

Vicky crossed the room. "The message said Father wanted to see you here," she informed him. "I know all about it. I ought to—because I sent it."

"You sent the message! But why?"

"Because I wanted to be sure you'd come," Vicky went on. "It's been such a long time since you've been here, Brian. Almost ages. And you're never at the club any more."

"I've been busy."

"Really?"

"Well—yes. And that crowd at the club sort of gets on my nerves."

"Let's sit down," Vicky said. She put a hand on his arm and led him to the davenport. "Now then—cigaret?"

There was a bowl of frezias on the table across the room and the fragrance of the flowers came to them. Vicky held the silver box toward Brian and he took a cigarette. She helped herself. When the two cigarettes were glowing she said quietly, "So it's just as I thought."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean something's bothering you," she informed him. "I was afraid that was it. I hoped it was something I could help

Handsomeness Is Fiermonte, Jr.

Enzo Fiermonte, boxing Adonis, finds it hard to combine his attentions to his wealthy wife, the former Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor Dick, this handsome lad, Enzo's son John, may be one of the reasons Fiermonte's recent reunion and reconciliation with his divorced first wife and son in Naples revived rumors of a break with his bride of a year and a half. But the rift was averted.

to keep it. How do you think I'll look in a wedding gown, Father?"

"Beautiful. Simply beautiful."

Vicky caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror across the room and hesitated. She said, studying her reflection, "I believe I'll have a cap like Carla Leslie's—"

Gale and Josie Gridley sat on the couch in the women's cloak room. It was noon and most of the mill employes were in the cafeteria, but Gale and Josie had brought lunches from home. They had finished their sandwiches and now sat waiting for the bell to ring.

Josie said, "But you can't keep Mary and those two children. With Phil out of work you can't do it."

"They'll stay the rest of the week. After that they're going to Mary's cousin. I don't know how long she can keep them. It's dreadful, isn't it—not even having a roof over your head."

"It's Fisher's fault!" Josie said vehemently. "He could have kept Mary on if he'd wanted to."

"I certainly wish he'd give her her job back."

"Well, he won't!" You know that as well as I do. Firing more all the time—that's what they're doing instead of taking anyone on. Do you know what I think? I think they put Mary out of her house to scare the rest of us. Hawley's got a notice this morning; did you know that? And there's lots of others whose rent is scarce. I think they're trying to scare us all, but it isn't working that way. Oh, there may be some who fall for it—but you know about the meeting tonight, don't you?"

Gale nodded. "Yes."

"Are you going?"

"Yes," Gale said. "I am. I didn't think this organization meant much until I saw what happened to Mary yesterday. Phil's talked about it a lot but—well, there doesn't seem to be any other way no. We've got to stand up for each other. The bosses do treat us like slaves and they think we haven't any rights. I'm tired of having my pay cut for being late when I haven't been. And I'm tired of working twice as hard as we used to for less money. I'm going to be at the meeting tonight and I'm going to join."

"Good for you!" Josie's face was shining, eager. "I'm getting everybody I can to go. It's a protest meeting, you know, about these evictions—"

There was a sound across the room. Josie's words died on her lips and both girls sat motionless. The sound was repeated and then a head appeared from behind a row of lockers. A head that was light brown, set in glossy waves. A moment more and a figure emerged. It was Leota Boiler!

Leota said, smiling, "Hello."

Josie answered, "Hello, Leota," and got to her feet. She said, "Come on, Gale. It's time we were going—"

Outside the door the two girls faced each other. Both asked the same question:

"Do you think she heard?"

"Now, Vicky, you know I don't care much about presents. There isn't anything I want."

"But this is a sort of special present," she persisted, smiling faintly. "Something you've never had. I was wondering how you'd like to have a—son-in-law."

"You mean—Brian?"

Vicky nodded. There was a light in her eyes that was eager and at the same time assured. "I'm sure he'll propose by that time," she went on softly. "He might have tonight, only I wouldn't let him. I don't want to hurry things too much. It's better to let him worry a little."

Thatcher was beaming. "Smart girl!" he said. "Vicky, there's nothing in the world that would please me more. It's the marriage I've hoped you'd make. If you marry Brian I'll give you the finest trousseau money can buy. I'll give you anything you want for a wedding present. Anything!"

A shrewd look came into the girl's face. "Anything," she repeated. "Is that a promise?"

"Yes."

Vicky moved toward the door. "Don't forget," she said softly. "And you'd better be prepared"

100 MPH Speed On Railroads Is Predicted

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Regular passenger train schedules of 100 miles an hour and freight schedules of 60 miles an hour will result from rail improvements within the next ten years, according to I. Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel Company.

"Reduction in weight of passenger and freight cars, together with stream-lining, air-conditioning and high-tensile slow-corroding steels, are the problems of the moment," he said in making his prediction to the Traffic Club here.

Complete rebuilding of some railroads to eliminate curves and grade crossings will be necessitated by the higher speed schedules, he admitted, but contended that the increased speed will be needed if the railroads are to maintain their position in the transportation field.

All-Star Basketball Tourney Opens Tomorrow

AWAIT DEADLINE TO COMPLETE PLANS Card Farms No Bar to Progress of Players

Flood of Entries Is Expected This Afternoon

Memphis' first basketball tournament is slated to get underway at the high school gymnasium tomorrow night—the weather and other adverse conditions notwithstanding.

Play will start in the first round at 7 o'clock. Competition will continue Friday night and Saturday, with the clash ending Saturday night.

Entries were coming in slowly this morning, although enough clubs for a fairly large tournament seemed assured. However, tournament officials, being accustomed to the action of coaches and managers, were not worried. The managers of all-star teams, whether basketball or roquet, seem never willing to make an entry before the last minute.

Deadline On Entries

The deadline on entries comes at 6 o'clock tonight. Several letters or calls were expected to bring in additional clubs before that time.

Widespread interest has been manifested in the cash award event, the first such tournament of this nature to be held in the Panhandle. The lateness of the event, however, might detract from the entry list, but the idea appears to be the birth of an annual affair here, destined to grow into one of the leading tournaments in this section if adequate playing facilities are provided next season.

All departments preparing for the tournament had completed plans yesterday and await only the arrivals of entries and the deadline in order to make pairings and outline plans for play.

Fans 'Pepped Up'

Memphis fans apparently were "pepper up" over the event according to talk heard in all sections of the business district this morning. The tournament, which probably will bring together the leading all-star quintets in this section, offers local fans a finer class of play in the cage sport they have ever had a chance to witness heretofore.

Admission for each session, which will offer two or three games, according to the size of the entry list, will be 15 and 25 cents.

All receipts, from admissions and entry fees, along with an original $30 guarantee, will be paid to the four winning clubs, with a small percentage going to losing squads for each game won in the regular play. The winning clubs will be the first, second and third place teams and consolation winner.

(This is the eighth of 12 articles in The Smartest Man in Baseball — Branch Rickey, the brain behind the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.)

By HARRY GRAYSON

(Sports editor, NEA Service)

I know I have no right to make very much comment, but it seems to me that the facts about the number of players that have gone out from the St. Louis Cardinal organization to other major league clubs ought to be a very conclusive answer to the criticism that has been made to the effect that Branch Rickey has held players down—kept them in the chain gang.

I have just gone through the reserve lists of the National and American Leagues. It is possible that I have omitted some that should be included, or included some that properly should be omitted.

The following list, according to the up-to-the-minute major league records, includes all players in the National and American Leagues who obtained their starts from clubs in the so-called St. Louis National League farm system. No less than 57, not to mention the 35 on the Cardinal reserve list, 33 of whom are either total or partial farm products, broke in that way.

Reformed Cardinals

But let's get down to reformed Cardinals—players who escaped from the so-called chain gang. It will convince you that players of merit were not hobbled, their careers blighted, by being vassals of the St. Louis system.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis Browns' manager, can thank the Cardinals for himself and the outfielders, Ray Pepper and Clarence Mueller. The Detroit Tigers purchased Heinie Schulte from a Cardinal farm. They also obtained Catcher Eugene A. Desautels from the same source, but their shipping him back only once more proves that Rickey was right in the first place.

The Cleveland recruits, Walter Carson and Ab Wright, and the southpaw, Forrest F. Twogood, are refugees from the Cardinal chain gang, and, to date, none has shown anything to cause Rickey to organize a posse.

Among the mighty few good ball players that Rickey traded off or made a mistake on was Walter Stewart, the frail Washington southpaw. Ray Prim, another left-hand pitcher, comes to the Senators this spring from Albany none the worse for wear in a Cardinal chain store.

The Cardinal chain gang contributed Outfielder Wallace Moses to the Philadelphia Athletics; Second Baseman Roy Schalk, who already has been returned to Newark by the Yankees; and last season sold Southpaw Fred Ostermueller and Catcher Gordon Hinkle to the Red Sox.

Getting into the Cardinal's own league, take a look at the Boston Braves. They'd be in a fine fix without the Cardinals, from whom they obtained Fred Frankhouse, Flint Rhem, Bill Lewis, Johnny Tyler, and Rupert Thompson.

And how about the Brooklyn club whose Ray Benze, Jim Bucher, Tony Cuccinello, Linus Frey, and Jimmy Jordan served time under Warden Rickey?

Did you know that Charley Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, played 50 games for the Cardinals under President Rickey in 1918? And that Lon Warneke and Chuck Klein once were under contract to Cardinal subsidiaries?

Perhaps that is why Grimm was so eager to take Tex Carleton from the Red Birds and Catcher Jimmy O'Dea from their Columbus subsidiary. A pitcher, Bill Lee, and his new catcher, Walt Goebel, waddled out of the Crimson Canary incubator.

Don Hurst, who was sold by the Cubs to Columbus of the St. Louis chain this year, is only picking up where he left off to venture forth in a foreign field.

The Cincinnati Pinks

Charley Dressen's Cincinnati Reds look like a pink edition of the St. Louis Red Birds with Chick Hafey, Jim Bottomley, Paul Derringer, Sparkey Adams, and the high-priced recruits, First Baseman Johnny Mize, $55,000;

Short-stop Billy Myers, $28,000; Third Baseman Lewis Riggs, and Outfielder Ival Goodman. Mize Myers, Riggs, and Goodman are direct from Cardinal hideouts.

Al Hollingsworth is another who managed to escape the tentacles of the St. Louis octopus.

Pitcher Allyn Stout went to the Giants in a three-cornered deal, and Pitcher Theodore Kleinhaus wound up in Newark in the barter that switched Outfielder Sammy Byrd from the Yankees to the Reds which serves both right.

The Giants have Catcher Gus Mancuso, and Pitcher Alfred Smith to show for Cardinal efficiency. Not to mention Bill Terry's headaches.

The Phillies have Pitcher Sylvester Johnson, Outfielder George Watkins, and Pitcher Jim Bivin, who won 20 and lost 14 in working for Tulsa and Galveston last year.

The Cardinal farm contribution to the Pittsburgh Pirates is Pitchers Darrell Blanton and Harold Smith, First Baseman Gus Suhr, Shortstop Tommy Thevenow, and Outfielder Wally Roetger. Blanton, a right-hander, won 11 and lost 8 for Albany in 1934. Roetger has quit professional baseball to coach the teams of the University of Illinois. Leo Nonnenkamp, whom the Bucs have an eye on, has been returned to the minors.

When the Cardinals get 'em they've got to hop, or hop out of the hopper.

NEXT: Rickey, the master casting director and Cardinal coconut snatchers.

Convict Is Nabbed After Long Chase

DALLAS, March 6.—Theron Walters, 21-year-old escaped Texas convict, was captured near here late yesterday following a 20-mile automobile race that zig-zagged over country roads and lanes.

Officers said the capture blasted reports that Raymond Hamilton, death house fugitive, had been in this section this week. Sheriff Smoot Schmid said Walters told him he was the man who had been mistaken for Hamilton at a Forney filling station Sunday night and at a Lancaster station Monday night.

Walter was sent to the Texas penitentiary from Van Zandt County in 1934 to serve two years on a car theft count. He escaped two months ago from Harlem prison farm.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

PALACE
Warner Baxter scores a decided hit with his splendid portrayal of the young doctor and scientist in "Grand Canary," which opened yesterday at the Palace Theatre. Under the supervision of Jesse L. Lasky, the picture has captured the spirit of A. J. Cronin's best seller novel of the same name. It develops both a magnificent love story and a gripping theme of regeneration.

In this, his second starring vehicle, Baxter has one of the finest roles of his career. He is utterly convincing as the doctor, called "murderer" by the world because his new serum has apparently failed, who starts on a voyage to oblivion to scatter the wreckage of his life.

On the voyage he meets Madge Evans, who is lovely in the role of Lady Mary Fielding. His romance with her after they land in the beautiful Canary Islands inspires Baxter to fight back through a devastating plague of yellow fever menacing Lady Mary. And he vindicates himself by putting an end to the epidemic with his serum.

Average Texas Passenger Car Pays $8.23 per Year 12 Other States Higher

Special to The Democrat
AUSTIN, March 6.—Auto registration fees for passenger cars in Texas are not out of line with those in other states.

They are lower, in fact, than the average for the nation, E. J. Amey, Highway Department statistician, has discovered by conducting a nationwide survey. Mr. Amey mailed a questionnaire to every state. Here is what he learned from the 38 which compile such average statistics:

The average Texas passenger car pays $8.23 for a license.

Twenty-one states have higher averages than Texas; only 12 have lower.

The average of the higher states is $12.65.

The average of the lower states is $5.11.

Vermont is highest with $25, Massachusetts lowest with $2.97.

The average of all the states is $9.37.

Sample averages: Arkansas, $18.56; Louisiana, $14.55; New Mexico, $6.49; North Carolina, $12.22; Virginia, $16.02; Wyoming, $10.31.

Texas' extreme need for road-building dollars also must be considered, to get the complete picture. Texas ranks thirty-ninth down the list of states in proportionate state highway development.

TEXAS AND TAXES

GOVERNOR ALLRED insists that the State Legislature do a complete job of overhauling Texas' tax machinery in order to equalize the tax burden and meet the deficit of the state, and at the same time take care of the twenty million dollar relief bonds.

The recommendations made by the Governor to the Legislature outlined several different sources of income without further burdening real property. He named such items as sulphur, oil pipe lines, chain stores, franchise, natural gas, inheritance, sales tax on luxuries, as objects of producing more tax revenue.

The general sales tax was opposed by Allred, in that he believed it would impose a burden upon property holders as well as all others, and would not reduce the ad valorem one cent. He said, "A general sales tax is a tax on property irrespective of the purpose. I do not criticize the motives of those who advocate a general sales tax. They are probably unconsciously following chief proponents of the so-called American Taxpayers association and other lobby organizations which congressional records show have been financed by contribution from the utilities, the investment bankers, the Mellon interests and others."

If the Governor is correct in his assertion concerning the general sales tax, then it should be turned down and not even considered. On the other hand, if property taxes can be reduced by a general sales tax, taking some of the burden off the real estate holders, then it should be seriously considered, for, as he says, "We have inherited an ad valorem tax system which goes back to a time when 95 per cent of the people were engaged in agricultural pursuits, land ownership was the sole source of wealth. It no longer justifies itself as the primary basis for taxation. Both state and federal governments have been called upon to perform an ever-increasing number of duties. More and more people are demanding additional protection and security at the hands of the government. Owners of real estate are borne down with tax loads. They are entitled to relief."

Whether the necessary additional revenues are raised from specific sources, general sales tax, or any other way, the Governor is to be commended for his desire to equalize the tax burden. Those who have been bearing the burden for all these years would welcome even the smallest trace of tax reduction.

LET CABINET SPEAK UP

REPRESENTATIVE BYRON B. HARLAN of Ohio has introduced a bill which would require cabinet members to appear regularly on the floor of House and Senate to answer questions about pending legislation.

Such arrangement would draw us a step closer to the English parliamentary system, under which cabinet members are closely involved in the legislative process.

It is not clear, of course, that we should go all the way in copying the good points of this system, but to subject federal department heads to congressional quizzing at regular intervals might be an exceedingly wholesome reform.

Under Representative Harlan's plan, a cabinet member would appear on the Senate floor each Tuesday and on the House floor each Thursday. He would be entitled to participate in the debates, and he would be required to answer such questions as the members might put to him.

As a means of keeping the legislative branch in closer touch with the plans and actions of the executive, there is much to recommend this proposal.

HEAVY SNOWS WELCOME

JUDGING by news dispatches from various parts of the country, the United States as a whole is suffering a much more severe winter than it had a year ago. And while this isn't especially pleasant, for that large majority which likes its snow in moderate doses, it may be a pretty good harbinger for the coming summer.

The destructive drouth of last summer was not simply a matter of deficient summer rainfall; deficient winter snows also had a part in it.

The heavy snows that are reported all over the United States right now should at least relieve us of the shortage of stored water this year.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Last year 36,000 people were killed and nearly 1,000,000 injured as a result of 882,000 personal injury collisions on streets and highways; 14,000 of those killed were pedestrians.

Again we think of that old statement that there are two kinds of people—the quick and the dead. Also, it is necessary to point out that 3.16 per cent of drivers in motor accidents were drunk.

The drunken driver is a menace to himself and to everyone anywhere near him. Moreover, 4.4 per cent of the pedestrians in accidents were drunk. The combination of too much alcohol and the motor car is a dangerous one.

While we look with considerable concern on the death and injury of adults in these cases, the number of accidents and serious injuries to children aroused pity and anger.

Nearly 1500 children under the age of 4 were killed and 39,000 were injured in automobile accidents during the year. Besides,

The PRODIGAL RETURNS

HARDLY had the residents of the Saar voted to return to Germany, when the Reich celebrated the victory with an issue of four stamps showing a young Madonna-like mother cheerfully embracing her little daughter. Across the top of each stamp is the legend "The Saar returns home."

Stamps usually are issued as memorials or in commemoration of events long past. This stamp, however, is in the form of a celebration. It appears in the 3, 6, 12 and 25 penny denominations.

idents. Thirty years ago motor accidents were so far down on the list of causes of death that they were hardly given consideration. Today they have moved up to tenth place.

There are just as many deaths now from motor car accidents as from diabetes.

The tide of crime seems to be on the rise again. A Massachusetts man just has been arrested for stealing a valuable yeast formula.

At the present rate of exchange, one should be able to get at least four iron crosses for one Kentucky colonel.

Our favorite actress now is Florence Rice. Her press agent says she has written hundreds of poems and never has attempted to have one of them published.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce admits she's 32 years old, which is the first time we ever heard of a moratorium on ages.

An Iowa statesman says an emergency can't last five years. Then let him explain, if he can, why we still have crooners.

BEHIND THE SCENE IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Golf Links at Gatun Dam
Leaves Canal Wide Open to Foes... Ickes Scores in Virgin Island Battle... Huey Hits a Little Pay Dirt in War on Farley... Congressmen Cover Up on HOLC.

Democrat Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.— Watch out for a sensational side-light on the intelligence of Military Intelligence.

There's a handsome golf course on Gatun Dam in the Panama Canal. It is used by an exclusive membership, which includes various foreigners, among them several Japanese.

Gatun Dam is the canal's key spot. It is rigidly guarded by troops except as to the links. There's nothing, according to persons in a position to know, to prevent a golfer from carrying a large charge of high explosive there in his bags.

After a really bad explosion, the canal would be tied up for a couple of years, as it would take that long for the water to fill it up again.

The situation is due soon to be exposed by those who think something should be done about it.

Ickes Scores Again
Secretary Ickes has won another round of his half-hidden battle with Postmaster General Farley.

The arena this time was in the Virgin Islands, where Gov. Paul Pearson, backed by Ickes, and District Judge T. Webber Wilson, backed by Farley, Senator Pat Harrison, and Attorney General Cummings, have been at open warfare.

Roosevelt is expected to suggest to Cummings that he get Wilson another job, which probably means Wilson will be transferred to that politicians' haven, the Department of Justice.

The deciding point was Wilson's action in overruling a federal prosecutor, denying a jury trial, and himself acting as prosecutor and judge in the trial of a PWA employee named McIntosh.

The trial was widely regarded as part of the Pearson-Wilson fight, with its strings leading back to Washington. There was a one-day sensation when one of Ickes' press agents distributed copies of an article in the Nation which told all about it.

The McIntosh conviction is being appealed to the U. S. District Court at Philadelphia, where McIntosh will be represented by Attorney Morris L. Ernst of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The Wilson transfer is likely to

THE NOSEY GUY

Much ado is being made over Panhandle sandstorms these days. Some versatile writers are eulogizing them while other are consigning them to the depths of...

Old Tack says they contain the element Vitamen K—good for making "wim, wigor and witality." John McCarty of Dalhart says they produce stamina that goes in the make-up of strong characters who are enabled to stay in the country through drouth and depression.

Be that as it may, TNG has gone through the seasonal outbursts of swirling and choking sandstorms for some 35 years, and has not yet become so immune to them as to like or even want to tolerate them.

One of these days, when sandstorms have ceased to blot out the sun and when rains have kissed the parched earth with soothing moisture, the sun shine out in all his glory—as only a Texas sun can shine—and vegetation will spring up overnight turning brown into a verdant green—birds will chirp, trees will bark and leave, flowers will bloom, and the housekeepers will clean house. Then and only then will sandstorms become memories instead of present "fly in the ointment" until next time.

CATCH LEADERS OF PRISON BREAK

Three Convicts Surrender After Being Trapped

FAIRVIEW, Okla., March 6.—Trapped in a hole in the ground like so many rats, three leaders of the sensational Feb. 17 Granite reformatory break of 32 convicts were captured 15 miles west of here late yesterday. Red-haired Malloy Kuykendall, whose criminal record is long despite his brief career, was shot by posemen as he emerged from a dugout at the end of his wild flight, his pistol spitting. His wounds were considered not dangerous. He was the only one of the three who was armed.

Stanphill Surrenders W. L. Baker Jr., 18, sentenced to 15 years for manslaughter, was captured with Kuykendall. Dale Stanphill, 22, sentenced to 20 years for armed robbery, fled to the farm home of Mrs. W. L. Hart a short distance away but surrendered meekly when officers surrounded the house and ordered him to come out. He came, with his hands high. John Jester, on whose farm the men were caught, was held for further investigation.

Kuykendall, 20, whose crime career is scarcely a year long, first broke from jail in Shawnee, Tex., jail after being recaptured and was taken again when he returned to Oklahoma. He was sentenced in Shawnee to 75 years for armed robbery.

May Face Chair All three now face possible charges which might bring them to the electric chair. Armed robbery and murder charges are possible as a result of the Granite break, in which a guard, James Paynton Jones, was killed. State operatives took custody of the three late today, at the Major county jail, and left shortly for Granite with the prisoners. Assault charges could have been filed here, Sheriff Harold Wiley said. Since the break, the trio blazed a spectacular trail. Kuykendall was wounded in a "grudge" duel between Stanphill and Irvin Brewer, Fairview marshal. The three were identified as the robbers of the Seiling First State Bank Feb. 27.
