WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; warmer in southeast tonight.

Colly Crawford loosening up the old muscles the other day with a bowling ball.

Harold Foxhall ask his brother Ed three times yesterday morning for a car. Each time, Ed told him to take the "black coach," and explained that the reason Harold asked so many times was because he wasn't used to getting so good a car to do his "gallin" in.

Five of the Democrat carrier boys with snowballs, chasing two girls through our back yard yesterday afternoon. The girls seemed to be enjoying it.

Rufus Greene in the office Saturday, worrying because the Democrat had sent him $5 too much, to pay for clothing orders on the Empty Stocking Fund. Knowing how a merchant hates to refund money, we dug up another needy family and told him to fix them up with some clothes and keep the five.

The publisher piled up in bed with the flu and looking more like a Bolshevik every day. Little as you might think it, that boy can sure grow whiskers.

The We Saw editor hunting eggs Sunday morning. No, he didn't think it was Easter... just forgot to take home any hen fruit Saturday.

Tops Gilreath's car looking like it had been playing leap frog or something of the kind. Gosh, Tops, you sure must be a rough driver... or was it the boy friend driving when it happened.

Bob Seyfarth and Ed Foxhall trying to get the bowling alley man to open up on Sunday, so they could practice a little.

Beautiful red fingernails adorning the hands of Messrs Raymond Powers, Winfred Swift and Ray Childress, all members of the Cyclone football team the past season. The nails, a delicious pink, had been painted with girl's fingernail tint, polish, or whatever, it is. To make matters worse, one of the Estelline pep squad leaders, Doris Maye Denson, saw the bloody-looking nails. The Estelline football team shouldn't feel so proud of tying Memphis last season now.

Dr. D. C. Hyder pulling on galoshes over spats last night as he was leaving church.

Homer Tribble call for ice cream with onions in it last night at Meacham's.

Several premature celebrations of the New Year over the weekend, or maybe they were delayed Christmas parties.

Two dead cats on Main Street yesterday, smashed to smithereens.

A couple in a local theatre the other night furnish more amusement to the spectators than the characters on the screen. The couple, obviously from "the sticks," entered, took seats in about the center, went into a clinch and kissed with a smack resounding over the entire house. Intermittent repetitions kept the crowd in an expectant attitude.

Roy McQueen get the dirtiest of dirty looks this morning. A young lady went out of a local pharmacy just as Doc Odom came in. Roy called "Hello, Kid" to Doc, and the young lady evidently thought he was talking to her. If looks would kill, they'd have had to pick up Roy in the basket.

Several prospective candidates, inquiring about announcement... won't be long now till politics is over in Memphis.

A REFLECTION ON SOMEBODY

THE departure of the Lindbergh family to England to make their home has evoked much comment from the press and public of the nation, both favorable and unfavorable to the once national idol.

The attitudes toward the matter taken by most folks are illustrated by two speakers at the Sportsmanship Luncheon in New York City last week.

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette College, lamented the existence of such conditions as to send "distinguished citizens" in search for refuge from criminals.

On the other hand, Capt. Frederic Snyder, an authority on secondary school education, criticized Lindbergh, saying he "should have asked for a uniform instead of a transfer." "The sporting thing for him to have done," continued Snyder, "would have been to have remained here at home and rallied the youth of the country in a drive against lawlessness. He'll receive no more protection in England or any other country than he can receive right here."

Personally, we tend to agree with Capt. Snyder. It is true that there are criminals in America, but you'll find them in England and France and other Continental countries, as well.

Since kidnaping was made a federal offense, the police of no country on earth have ever been so successful in combatting kidnapers as have Uncle Sam's "G" men. Their record is practically 100 per cent in clearing up all cases, some of which were months old when the federal forces took over.

With the present set-up, we do not believe that another crime such as the Lindbergh kidnaping would be committed. It must be remembered that this crime was committed before the federal ban against kidnaping was passed, save where the victims were taken from one state to another.

We may be dead wrong, and we often are, but the whole thing of the Lindbergh family moving to England looks a lot like a publicity stunt to us, and we're not going to get "all hot and bothered" about where the estimable Colonel Lindbergh and his family make their home.

But the unhappiness remained. There had been something just faintly familiar in the voice over the telephone. Some foreign quality: Surely, Dana had heard that voice before. Where?

Suddenly the answer came. It was Charlotte — Paula's housekeeper.

In the darkness Dana breathed quickly. She could feel the rush of blood to her face. She didn't want to believe it was Charlotte, yet she was almost certain about it.

Dana went to the telephone and dialed Paula's number with fingers that shook slightly. A woman's voice, the same woman's voice, answered.

Dana controlling her voice with an effort, asked, "Are you expecting Dr Stanley?"

There was a slight pause, as though the person at the other end of the connection was hesitating. Then came the reply, "Yes."

Dana said, in a low tone, "I wanted to tell you he's on his way."

She hung up the receiver, put her face down in her hands. Sneaking, spying on Scott. Yes, of course. But, greater than the humiliation and loss of self-respect, was the torturing question, "What power has Paula over Scott that she can drag him from his bed on a night like this?"

Dana was shivering. She pulled the cover closer around her, but the shaking continued. Her face was burning and her hands and feet felt like ice.

Charlotte had told Scott: "Miss Paula's going crazy with pain. She has taken that prescription you gave her, but it hasn't helped. You must come. She said you would."

When Scott hesitated, Charlotte had continued, "It's awful the way she's suffering. I think you should see her, Doctor."

Yes, Scott thought, he should see Paula in one of these seizures. He'd know better, then, what was causing them. As it was he had his suspicions, but he was only guessing.

He stood for a moment, trying to decide what to tell Dana. Months before he wouldn't have hesitated to tell her where he was going, but that scene the night he had played bridge at Paula's stayed in his memory. Dana, through some sixth sense women seem to have, had hit upon the truth. Paula was romantic about him.

If he told Dana where he was going, she would worry about it. It would be best to wait until he came back and then make a clean breast of the whole story. Dana could be trusted to keep Paula's secret, if it developed that Paula really was taking a narcotic.

He found he had accepted the theory that Paula was doing that hellish thing. If this was true he'd have to persuade her to go away some where and figt the furies intelligently in some sanatorium.

Charlotte met him at the door of the apartment, then went out of the room Miss Paula, she said, was feeling a little better.

Paula came into the room almost immediately. She wore a loose white satin robe, and her red hair was tumbled about her thin face, carelessly, but not unbecomingly.

She sat down in a chair across from Scott. Her melancholy eyes lighted by some strange fire, were fixed on him.

Any suspicions Scott might have had that Paula had staged illness to bring him here, were gone. Paula's face was entirely without color. New lines, from suffering, were etched sharply about her mouth and eyes.

Scott said in a low voice, his eyes on the queer pricks of light in the somber pools that were Paula's eyes: "Paula, I know. It's ghastly, the trap you've gotten yourself into. Whoever started you on this road should be hung, but that doesn't help you any. You'll have to go away at once and be treated intelligently."

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer
CRISP salad accompanying a meal of hearty winter foods contributes in a pleasant way the healthiest minerals and vitamins which we are constantly striving to get into our meals and adds color besides.

Apple, Cabbage and Raisin Salad
Two cups finely shredded cabbage, 2 red apples, 1-2 cup seedless raisins, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 tablespoons salad oil.

Mix sugar, salt and pepper with lemon juice. Slowly add oil, beating it in with a fork or a beater. Beat until smooth. Wash apples, cut in quarter and remove cores. Cut in dice without peeling and drop at once into dressing to prevent discoloration. Add cabbage and raisins and toss lightly with a fork until thoroughly blended. Serves four to six persons. No lettuce is needed for this salad, which makes it a boon to the woman who lives in the country and can't get fresh greens for salads as easily as her city sister.

Baked Bean and Bacon Salad
This makes a hearty dish for a family luncheon.

Two cups baked beans, 4 thin slices bacon, 4 tablespoons minced sour pickle, 1-3 cup tomato catsup, French dressing.

If beans are not dry, drain thoroughly. Cook bacon until crisp and cut in small dice. Combine beans, bacon and pickle with catsup and serve on a bed of crisp curly endive. Pass French dressing. Serves four.

Lima Bean and Celery Salad
Two cups lima beans (canned or carefully cooked dried ones),

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Tangerines, cereal, cream, fried cornmeal mush, maple syrup, milk-coffee.

LUNCHEON: Tomato bouillon, toasted crackers, baked beans and bacon salad, ice-box rolls, chocolate brownies, milk, tea.

DINNER: Baked liver and bacon, baked potatoes, creamed onions, apple-cabbage and raisin salad, lemon meringue pie, milk, coffee.

1 cup diced celery, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons shredded green pepper, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, French dressing.

The green pepper can be omitted but gives a nice touch of color. A vivid yellow cheese is attractive, too.

Mix beans, celery, onion and pepper, tossing lightly to avoid crushing beans. Pour on French dressing and arrange on crisp romaine. Garnish with grated cheese and serve more French dressing in a separate sauce boat.

A good raw salad uses equal parts of minced green pepper, finely shredded cabbage and grated raw carrot. Each vegetable is mixed with enough mayonnaise to bind and then arranged in layers on a lettuce leaf, making the last layer of pepper. Serve with French dressing to which four tablespoons catsup has been added.

A salad of shredded red and white cabbage is very effective. Serve it with a tart French dressing made with lemon juice in place of vinegar and well seasoned with celery seeds.

ROOSEVELT'S INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

BUSINESS OUTLOOK FOR 1936

...PARK, Florida, Dec. 29. Bullish on business for 1936 on any year-end since 1929. I feel sure today that plans could be made on the basis of better business conditions during the coming twelve months. The election of Roosevelt will monopolize the headlines from May to November. If the balloting were to take place today there would be no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would be re-elected. But as the months tick away, the President probably will continue to lose strength, particularly in the industrial areas. Nevertheless, I question if the rising tide of opposition to the New Deal will be strong enough by November to engulf the President and rob him of his personal popularity. Barring unforeseen events, the chances are that the administration will do nothing upsetting to business between now and election. POLITICS IN SADDLE The final session of the present Congress begins on January 3 and will probably last five or six months. It will be neither a reform nor a recovery session, but rather a re-election session. Politics will completely rule its decisions. While it will not be a "rubber stamp" Congress party harmony will be stressed and the President will hold the whip-hand on the major issues. As the program lines up now the most important bills are the Veterans Bonus and the Neutrality Law. With the members casting their eyes nervously toward the elections, it looks as though the veterans can quickly lobby through a cash payment, or the equivalent, even over a presidential veto. A neutrality bill, prohibiting the export of munitions and saddling heavy taxes on war profits, will be passed. The Townsend movement is gaining strength daily but what it can accomplish at Washington this year is a question mark. Congress may steal some of the Townsendites' thunder by upping the per capita payments under the new Social Security Act. If the Supreme Court keys the Guffey Coal Act, similar measures covering other industries may be passed. Fundamentally, this will be a typical election-year Congress with plenty of bombast and little constructive action. SPENDING PEAK PASSED? The real fight will come on the spending issue. Mr. Roosevelt realizes that his fiscal record as President makes his 1932 campaign speeches on "economy at Washington" sound silly, so he will restrain Congress as much as he can. It looks as though the peak of the money-scattering wave had passed for the time, but the budget is far from being balanced. There will be at least a $2,000,000,000 spread between income and expenses in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937. Because of the elections, there is

MORE DISTRICT TEAMS NAMED

Coaches and Sports Writer Gives Their Ideal 3-B Squads

Several football coaches over district 3 class B have answered requests by the Democrat sports editor by sending in their selection for an "all-district" football team for the past grid season. Although not all of the coaches responded with their teams, enough sent replies to be indicative of a fair all-district team. First team: Johnson, McLean, left end; Rook, Shamrock, right end; Tillman, Wheeler, left tackle; Trostle, Shamrock, right tackle; Cook, McLean, left guard; Mills, Shamrock, right guard; McAbee, Memphis, center; Cunningham, McLean, left half; Williams, Wellington, right half; Powers, Memphis, quarterback; Stratton, McLean, fullback. Second team: Grady, Shamrock, left end; Scott, Memphis, right end; Kennedy, McLean, left tackle; Sanders, Memphis, right tackle; Conner, Wheeler, left guard; Clifton, McLean, right guard; McCarty, McLean, center; Wells, Shamrock, left half; Morgan, Lefors, right half; Powell, Clarendon, quarterback; Adecock, Memphis, fullback. Writer Picks 'Em Harry E. Hoare, sports editor of the Pampa Daily News, has picked his "all-district 3B football team," with the assistance of football coaches and sports writers of this section. One Memphis man, Garvis Davis was placed on the Pampa News mythical eleven; and two Memphis men were listed on the second team. They are Raymond Powers and Fred Sanders. Stratton, fullback of McLean; and McCarty, McLean center, received the unanimous vote of coaches and sports writers for their respective positions, Hoare stated. Trostle, Shamrock tackle; and Cunningham, McLean halfback, received all of the votes but one for their respective positions. Races for all other positions were close. The News' teams are both big and fast. The Pampa Daily News first team: Davis, Memphis, left end; Tillman, Wheeler, left tackle; Cook, McLean, left guard; McCarty, McLean, center; Mills, Shamrock, right guard; Trostle, Shamrock, right tackle; Grady, Shamrock, right end; Morgan; Lefors, quarterback; Cunningham, McLean, left half; McIntyre, Shamrock, right half; Stratton, Mc-

"Yes, that's what I meant," Scott replied. "You didn't mean anything else, Scott? Yet you know how I feel toward you—" Her voice broke and she shuddered violently. Then she went on, "That's been a fight, too, Scott. It's been torture, feeling your indifference, knowing you had nothing in your heart for me. Seeing you slip away—utterly." Scott's face was red. It was embarrassing to have a woman open her heart before you like that. To see her whole heart revealed in this naked fashion. "Believe me, I'm sorry. Sorrier than I can tell you, Paula," he stammered. "I've tried to stop caring," Paula whispered. "All this summer, when I'd meet some new man I'd say, 'He's really nicer than Scott,' I tried hard..." "Paula, you mustn't let your self go like this! You're ill. All this will pass when you are well again." Her eyes concentrated on him queerly. He wanted to get away, yet, in decency, he couldn't pull out at this moment. Paula was apparently trying to get herself together. She laughed a little, but it was a laugh that sounded harsh in the silent room. "I know, you are right, Scott. I must go away—far away. Where do you think I should go?" (To Be Continued)

IT'S VERY SIMPLE! HYDROGEN GAS, AS YOU KNOW, IS LIGHTER THAN AIR, AND POSSESSES EXPLOSIVE PROPENSITIES.

TWO COMPONENTS ARE USED IN THE PROCESS... HYDROCHLORIC ACID AND ZINC SHAVINGS! EACH INGREDIENT IS, IN ITSELF, QUITE HARMLESS, AND WE MIGHT SAY, QUITE USELESS!

BY COMBINING THE TWO, HOWEVER, WE CAN PRODUCE WHAT IS KNOWN AS A CHEMICAL PHENOMENON THE ACID, ACTING UPON THE ZINC IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS TRANSFORMATION!!

THESE TWO ENTIRELY DIFFERENT SUBSTANCES, CHEMICAL AND A METAL, COMBINE TO PRODUCE WHAT WE CALL AN ELEMENTARY CHEMISTRY EXPERIMENT! NOW IS THAT CLEAR?

gin within the next ten days.

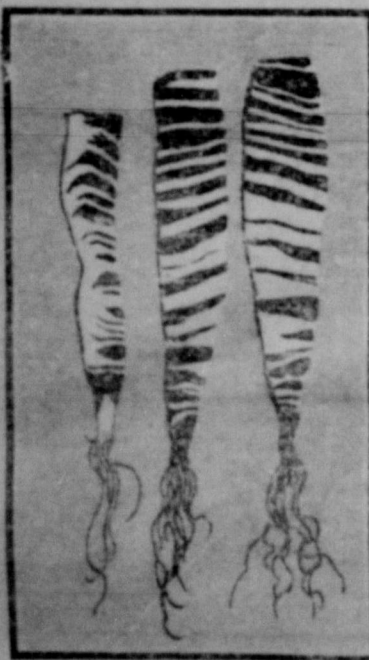

The school board has purchased a site of about three and a half acres just east of the school building for the new field. Men and teams will begin work in a few days on the leveling and grading of the site. The grid-iron will be sodded and trees will be set out here and there about the border of the field. It is planned to build two tennis courts just south of the gridiron, and the latter will be enclosed with a running track for field meets. The school's athletic programs have in the past been held on land near the school building, leased by the school board for the purpose, and the new field will be a great improvement, giving Estelline a stadium on a par with any in th ispart of the state.

JUST 35 years ago, the scientific world first suspected the existence of the animal now known as the okapi. Sir Harry Johnston found natives of the Semliki forest, in Africa, wearing curiously marked skins, and eventually he traced them to their source. The animal is a relative of the giraffe.
