MEMPHIS, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1921.

NUMBER 19.

ARN $35,000 HOSPITAL TO BE BUILT IN MEMPHIS

Approved By Citizen's
Committee. Fourth of Funds
Have Been Subscribed.

Well-laid and thoroughly approved plans do not miscarry and Hall county will within a short time, a first-class hospital, equipped and constructed under the standard prescribed by the American College of Surgeons.

The plans were first submitted to the citizen's committee and later approved by a meeting of nearly hundred representative citizens.

First, the plan is for $20,000
needed capital to be supplied by subscriptions the remaining to be supplied by an association of physicians and surgeons.
The agreement the trustees
have been named as follows:
W. B. Montgomery, W. B. Quigley, J. H. Read, shall hold title to the hospital in trust, for a percentage of the hospital to become the property of the association to be considered the trusteeship.

It is made whereby the trustees to the fund may, within a year period, receive the hospital or medical service for $100 subscribed. This may go to any member of the association or may be donated to any patient.

The contract has been circulated the past week and more than four of the needed money has been subscribed. Those having the matter are sure that there will be no difficulty in securing the full completion of this kind is needed here and it is to be hoped that the project will go over without delay.

The proposed building will be no different from any similar institution here and will be sufficiently large to accommodate twenty-five to thirty patients during emergencies many as will probably ever be needed at one time during the war period.

It will be so constructed that addition may be made should an increase in population demand more

RED CROSS ROLL CALL, NOVEMBER 11 TO 24

The American Red Cross will conduct its Fifth Annual Roll Call this year beginning on Armistice Day, November 11th, and ending
the eve of Thanksgiving Day.
National headquarters in Washington, Division headquarters in the eight Divisions of the Red Cross, and headquarters of each of the more than three thousand Chapters, are busily engaged on their Roll Call program, according to information given out at local Red Cross headquarters. The effort will be to re-enroll every present member of the Red Cross and to add as many new members to the roster as possible in the period

given.
There are at present 6,041, 163
members in the American Red Cross. John Barton Payne, Chairman of the Red Cross, hopes to hear the answer, "present", when each one of the names is called between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day this year, he says, providing for the work of service to the public of America and the sufferers in foreign lands
which the Red Cross has started and is conducting on the basis of its peace time program.
The interest manifested in the Red Cross Convention at Columbus, Ohio, the first week in October, showed that the public is as keen to stand behind the work of the Red Cross in its peace-time program as during the war, and that the thinking public realizes that the Red Cross is as necessary to the welfare of the civilized world in the time of peace as in war. Officials of the Red Cross believe, therefore, that the Roll Call this year will result in many more members than were placed on the roster of the American Red Cross last year.

The Red Cross throughout the country is putting on this year its new peace-time program, which includes public welfare service in every direction wherever such service is needed. In health work alone in the last year, 260 Chapters have organized health centers with 6,264 clinics and 90,252 cases in these clinics. More than 4,000 health talks have been given by these and other Chapters engaged in health work, and health exhibits to the total of 780, both traveling and stationary, have been set up to inform the public on matters pertaining to their own and their community's health.

DEMENTED MAN THROWS SELF IN FRONT OF TRAIN

H. Swartz Ground to Pieces Under Wheels of Train Near Town
Saturday Afternoon

A white man about 35 years of age suicided by throwing himself
in front of a fast moving freight train on the Denver track just north of town about 2:30 o'clock
Saturday afternoon.

The act was witnessed by several negroes who were driving a cotton wagon along the wagon road near the track and by four Mexicans
in a car on the same road.

The man had been seen near a pile of cross-ties in the vicinity of which he had remained until the train approached. The witnesses stated that he came from behind the pile of ties and deliberately laid down upon the track placing his head upon the west rail and placing his hands upon his ears.

They said that he seemed to contract, or draw up, his body just as the train struck.

His head was crushed and his legs cut off and the body otherwise mutilated by the wheels.

His identity as H. Swartz, an insane man who had recently been detained at Vernon was established by marks on a coat given him by the Wilbarger county sheriff.

A telegram signed by "Kellett"
at Waco, stated that the body was probably that of Swartz, Kellett's son-in-law, and that the remains were at the disposal of the authorities here. Swartz's wife is said to be living with her father at Waco. It is also stated that his parents live in Germany.

The remains were picked up and cared for by the King Undertaking Company, were buried at Fairview cemetery at the expense of the county.

Swartz was, it is stated, was released from the insane asylum at Austin last April.

KU KLUX WHIP NEGRO AT CHILDRESS

A negro employe of a Childress hotel was picked up on the street
at Childress by men in a Buick car last Sunday evening and taken out of town and lashed on the bare body, according to the Childress Index.

The Index also says that two white men were said to have been recently whipped by the local Klan, which it says has added to its membership at the rate of one hundred per month since its organization three months ago.

MINISTER WOULD FIRE ON BOOTLEGGERS WITH GUNS

Washington, Nov. 6.—"When a bootlegger draws a gun, he should be fired upon, and that quickly."

The Rev. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church so declared in a statement issued today.

A small building for the use of
of the Memphis Band is being erected on the south side of west
Main Street opposite the Barnes Filling Station.

CHILDRESS WINS FOOT BALL CHAMPIONSHIP OF NORTHWEST TEXAS

Childress, Texas, Nov. 5.—Out-playing Amarillo High in every department of the game, Childress won the district championship of Northwest Texas Saturday, 14 to 0 Amarillo twice endangered the Childress goal by hard line plunges
but were unable to carry the ball over.

ANOTHER NEGRO MURDER IN COTTE COUNTY; CRAP GAME CAUSE

Paducah, Texas, Nov. 5.—Sam Walker, a negro, yesterday afternoon killed another negro whose name was Early. The two were in a "crap" game.

School News and Matters of Interest to the Memphis Public Pertaining to Public School Affairs

"Senior Cafeteria."

Amount taken in	$53.50
Cost of groceries	27.90
Profit	$25.60
Cost of equipment	$29.75

The above is a report of the first week's work of the "Senior Cafeteria." The proceeds go to the library. The last report, 199 new books had been added to the library, we expect to add several hundred new books this term.

Miss Hicks was out of town from Friday night until Sunday night.

Miss Annie Clark was called away Friday morning on account of the illness of her brother-in-law, who is suffering of pneumonia. She will probably be gone all of this week.

Memphis football boys played a game with Vernon at Vernon, Saturday, Nov. 5. The scores were 67-0, in favor of Vernon.

The Memphis boys were impressed by the interest and pep the Vernon people put in the game. They realized that pep makes them more successful, and they ask the people of Memphis, to be present at the next game, and help them along this line.

The Vernon boys were very hospitable before, and after, the game.

The C. C. C. club did not meet last Tuesday afternoon on account of the hostess, Miss Ruby Johnson, being sick.

Miss Mary Noel spent the week-end with her parents at Hedley.

Miss Myrtle Reeves is substituting for Miss Maude Milam.

Mrs. Coursey is substituting for Miss Clark while she is away.

The Memphis girls basket ball team had a very pleasant trip to Claude Saturday, Nov. 5. They left Memphis about 9 o'clock and

The game began at 2:30. There were many Claude "rooters" present, but none had more pep than the "three rooters" from Memphis.

The game was very exciting and interesting from beginning to end. All players were full of pep and went on the court to win. The score was 25-18, in favor of Memphis. We are glad to announce that our girls have not lost a game this season. All they now lack is more encouragement from the citizens of Memphis to make them the champion team of the Peubaudle.

We found the Claude and Memphis teams to be very well matched. Our centers had to put up a hard fight, as the other team played by signals, when the ball went up. But the excellent team work on the part of Della Gober and Stella Maddox kept the ball away from the Claude forwards.

Saturday proved to be a lucky day for Maxine—as she threw four goals—just from center, and Lilly Gregg, second forward did her part splendidly.

The guards Antie and Versa had very strong opponents, but wing to their skillful training kept up their part of the game well.

The "subs", Naomi Trueblood and Emma Jones, did not find it necessary to play on the court, but did their share by encouraging the girls. They were also present when the Claude boys served refreshments after the game.

The basket ball girls take this way of thanking the people who were so kind as to take them to Claude.

Mr. Clifford Ownby of Estelline visited his sister, Miss Lela Mae Ownby, Saturday, Nov. 5.

Big Event For Joe King

What is the great event in the life of a screen actor out on loca- tion, far from Broadway? Well, Joe King says it is the arrival of the "Morning Telegraph" on the 11:32. For his salary for acting in the Rex Beach-Goldwyn picture "The North Wind's Malice," Joe King takes the sum required to buy six copies of the "Telegraph" and you can see him any noon, at the dinner hour, distributing these with prodigal hand to others in this Goldwyn aggregation.

The following letter from an out-of-town firm which recently ran a double-page display advertisement of a sale in this paper explains itself:

Hedley, Texas, Nov. 6, 1921. The Memphis Democrat, Memphis, Texas.

Gentlemen: Inclose find check for advertisement in Democrat.

We wish to thank you for suggesting that we run this ad. We are decidedly pleased with results. Business directly traced to the ad, came from Lakewood, Quail and even south of Memphis—besides what came from the special list mailed to Hedley readers.

We also thank you for the remarkably prompt service given in printing and delivering the rush order for large circulars.

Yours truly, Forbis & Stone.

Hastily Webster bade Mother Jenks good night and hurried away to escape a discussion on such a delicate topic with Billy's blunt and single-minded landlady. His mind was in a tumult. So it was that he paid no attention to a vehicle that joggled by him with the cochero sagging low in his seat, half asleep over the reins, until a quick command from the closed interior brought the vehicle to an abrupt halt, half a block in advance of Webster.

Save for an arc light at each end of the block, the Calle de Concordia was dim; save for Webster, the carriage and the two men who piled hurriedly out at the rear of the conveyance, the Calle de Concordia was devoid of life. Webster saw one of the men hurriedly toss a coin to the cochero; with a fervent "Gracias, mi capitan," the driver clicked to his horse, turned the corner into the Calle Elizondo and disappeared, leaving his late passengers facing Webster and calmly awaiting his approach. He was within 20 feet of them when the taller of the two men spoke.

"Good evening, my American friend. This meeting is a pleasure we scarcely hoped to have so soon. For the same we are indebted to Lieutenant Arredondo, who happened to look back as we passed you, and recognized you under the arc light."

Webster halted abruptly; the two Sobralean officers stood smiling and evidently enjoying his discomfort. Each carried a service revolver in a closed holster fastened to his sword-belt, but neither had as yet made a move to draw—seeing which, Webster felt sufficiently reassured to accept the welcome situation with a grace equal to that of his enemies.

"What? You two had little boys up this late? I'm surprised," he replied in Spanish. He folded his arms, struck an attitude and surveyed them as might an indignant father. "You kids have been up to some mischief. He added, as his right hand closed over the butt of his automatic, where it lay slung in the open holster under his left arm between his shirt and coat. "Can it be possible you are going to take advantage of superior numbers and the fact that you are both armed, to force me into a duel on your terms, my dear Captain Benavides?"

By a deferential bow, the unwholesome Benavides indicated that such were his intentions. "Then," said Webster, "as the challenged party I have the choice of weapons. I choose pistols."

"At what range?" the lieutenant asked with mock interest. "As we stand at present, I'm armed. Pull your hardware, you pretty pair of peacocks, and see if you can beat me in the draw."

Captain Benavides' jaw dropped slightly; with a quiet, deliberate motion his hand stole to his holster-flap. Lieutenant Arredondo wet his lips and glanced so apprehensively at his companion that Webster was aware that here was a situation not to his liking.

"You should use an open holster," Webster taunted. "Come, come—unbutton that holster-flap and get busy."

Benavides' hand came away from the holster. He was not the least bit frightened, but his sense of proportion in matters of this kind was undergoing a shake-up.

"In disposing of any enemy in a gun fight, so a professional killer once informed me," Webster continued, "it is a good plan to put your first bullet anywhere in the abdomen; the shock of a bullet there paralyzes your opponent for a few seconds and prevents him from returning the compliment, and in the interim you blow his brains out while he lies looking at you. I have never had any practical experience in matters of this kind, but I don't mind telling you that if I must practice on somebody, the good Lord could not have provided two more delightful subjects."

He ceased speaking, and for nearly half a minute the three men appraised each other. Benavides was smiling slightly; Arredondo was fidgeting; Webster's glance never faltered from the captain's nervous hand.

"You would be very foolish to draw," Webster then assured Benavides. "If I am forced to kill you, it will be with profound regret. Suppose you two dear, sweet children, run along home and think this thing over. You may change your mind by tomorrow morning."

The captain's hand, with the speed of a juggler's, had flown to his holster; but quick as he was, Webster was a split second quicker. The sound of his shot roared through the silent alle, and Benavides, with his pistol half drawn, lifted a bloody, shattered hand from the butt of Webster's automatic swept in a swift arc and covered Arredondo, whose arms on the instant went skyward.

"That wasn't a half bad duel," Webster remarked coolly. "Are you not obliged to me, Captain, for not blowing your brains out—for disregarding my finer instincts and refraining from shooting you first through the abdomen? Bless you, my boy, I've been stuck for years in places where the only sport consisted in seeing who could take a revolver, shoot at a tin can and roll it farthest in three seconds. Let me see your hand."

Benavides sullenly held up that dripping member, and Webster inspected it at a respectful distance. "Steel jacket bullet," he informed the wounded man. "Small hole—didn't do much damage. You'll be just as well as ever in a month."

He helped himself to Arredondo's gun, flipped out the cylinder, and slipped all six cartridges into his palm. Similarly he disarmed Benavides, expressed his regret that circumstances had rendered it imperative to use force, and strolled blithely down the calle. In the darkened patio he groped along the wall until he found the swinging rope by which he had descended from his room—whereupon he removed his shoes, tied the laces together, stung them around his neck, dug his toes into the adobe wall and climbed briskly to his room.

The next morning Webster waited until Dolores appeared and then accompanied her into the dining room for breakfast.

"Well, how did you pass your first night in Buenaventura?" she inquired in the manufacture of breakfast conversation.

"Not very well. Jiggers bit me and woke me up, and finally I fell into a trance and had a vision—about you. After that I couldn't go to sleep again. I was fairly bursting to see you at breakfast and read your palm. I've just discovered a wonderful system."

"Show me," she flushed back at him and she extended her little hand. He picked it up gravely and with the dull point of a fork made a great show of tracing the lines on her palm.

"You are about twenty-four years old, and your ancestors were pure-bred Castilians who came from Madrid, crossing the Atlantic in caravels. Ever since the first Rucy landed on this coast the family has been identified with the government of the country in one way or another. When you were quite a little girl, your father, Don Ricardo Rucy, at that time president of Sobralean, failed to suppress a revolution and was cornered in the government palace, which was set afire."

"Through the bravery and devotion of a cockney gentleman, Colonel Henry Jenks, an artillery officer in your father's army, you were saved from perishing in the burning palace. Colonel Jenks turned you over to his spouse, now known as Mother Jenks, with instructions to raise you a lady, and Mother Jenks has carried out those instructions. Colonel Jenks and your father were executed, and Mother Jenks sent you to the United States to be educated. You had a brother, Ricardo Luis Rucy, older than yourself by seven or eight years. I should judge, in some mysterious manner you and your brother lost track of each other, and at the present moment he believes you perished in the flames that gutted the government palace."

"You are of a proud, independent nature; you work at something for a living, and inasmuch as you haven't been able to set aside a great deal of money from your earnings, you are planning to terminate your visit to your native land at an early date and return to the United States for the purpose of getting back to work. These plans, however, will never be consummated."

"Why? Because you are to be married to a nice man and live happily ever afterward, and about sixty days from now, if all goes well, I, John S. Webster, am going to introduce you to your long-lost brother Ricardo. You will first see Ricardo riding at the head of his victorious rebel troops as he enters Buenaventura. He will be the next president of this wretched country, if, fortunately, he is not killed in the revolution he is now fomenting against his father's ancient enemy. Your brother does not know you are living and it will be a proud and happy day for me when I bring him to you. In the interim, what do you propose having for breakfast? Ham and eggs sunny side up, an omelette or a cereal?"

He released her hand and favored her with the boyish grin that always had the effect of stripping the years from him as one strips the husk from a ripe ear of corn. She was gazing at him in wide-eyed amazement.

"Is my brother really alive?" "He was as late as midnight last night. Do you recall the chap I saved from being assassinated in New Orleans?"

"Yes." "Your worthy brother. And do you recall the chap whose records to

This part I was forced to pay?"

"Yes." "The same individual. I sent him ashore in the launch with Billy, and he has been housed at El Buen Amigo, but left early this morning for the back country to open a recruiting office."

She reached across the little table and squeezed his big brown hand impulsively. "You're the most wonderful man I ever knew. And does my poor brother know I am living, Mr. Webster?"

"Time, tide and good jobs wait for no man. Sorry. Job already filled by better man."

When John Stuart Webster received that cablegram the following morning, he cursed bitterly—not because he had lost the best job that had ever been offered him, but because he had lost through playing a good hand poorly. He hated himself for his idleness.

CHAPTER XI

For fully an hour after retiring John Stuart Webster slept the deep, untroubled sleep of a healthy unworried man; then one of the many north and south of the equator crawled into bed with him and promptly proceeded to establish its commissary on the inner flank of the Websterian thigh, where the skin is thin and the blood close to the surface. As a consequence, Mr. Webster awoke suddenly, obliterated the intruder and got out of bed for the purpose of anointing the injured spot with alcohol—which being done, an active search of the bed resulted in the discovery of three more jiggers and the envelopment of John Stuart Webster's soul in the fogs of apprehension.

"Tis an evil land, filled with trouble," he mused as he lighted a cigar. "I wish Bill were here to advise me. He ought to be able to straighten this deal out and assure the higher-ups that I'm not butting in on their political affairs. But Bill's up-country and here I am under surveillance and unable to leave the hotel to talk it over with Andrew Bowers, the only other white expert I know of in town. And by the way, they're after Andrew, too! I wonder what for."

He smoked two cigars, the while he pondered the various visible aspects of this dark mess in which he found himself floundering. And finally he arrived at a decision. "These chaps aren't thorough," Webster decided. "They'll see me safely to bed and pick me up again in the morning—so I'll take a chance that the coast is clear, slip out now and talk it over with Andrew."

He looked at his watch—dozen-thirty. Hurriedly he dressed, strapped on his automatic pistol, dragged his bed noiselessly to the open window and fled to the bed-leg the way he used to lash his trunk; then he lowered ered himself out the window. The length of rope permitted him to descend within a few feet of the ground.

He Lowered Himself Out of the Window.

Webster made his way to the street unnoticed and ten minutes later appeared before the entrance of El Buen Amigo just as Mother Jenks was barring it for the night.

"I am Mr. Webster," he announced. "—Mr. Geary's friend from the United States."

Mother Jenks, having heard of him, was of course profoundly flustered to meet this toff who so carelessly wired his down-and-out friends pesos oro in lots of a thousand. Cordially she invited him within to stow a peg of her best, which invitation Mr. Webster promptly accepted.

"To your beautiful eyes," Webster toasted her. "And now would you mind leading me to the quarters of Billy's friend Mr. Bowers?"

She shuffled away, to return presently with the news that Mr. Bowers was in his room and would be delighted to receive Mr. Webster. Mother Jenks led Webster to the door, knocked, announced him and discreetly withdrew.

"My dear Webster!" cried Andrew Bowers enthusiastically, and he drew his late fellow-passenger into the room. Webster observed that Andrew was not alone. "I want to see you privately," he said. "Didn't know you had company, or I wouldn't have in-

ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MEMPHIS, TEXAS

1. It shall be unlawful hereafter sponsor or run a carnival or tent show in the Memphis, unless a permit such carnival or tent show obtained from the City of Memphis, in accordance with this Ordinance.

2. Street carnivals and tent shows, as used in this Ordinance, shall be construed to mean every exhibition of games, recitations, acrobatics, other kinds of performance in the open or under a canvas, shown, exhibited or advertised whether or not a fee is charged.

3. A permit shall be issued by the Mayor to hold a carnival or tent show, when a proper application is made therefor. Such application shall contain in detail the different parts of the carnival or tent show, including all concessions, amusements, business and the location of said tent show, the time it is to be held, the number of persons traveling therewith, if any, the number of local persons to be employed, and give a complete plan of the carnival or tent show.

4. If the proposed carnival or tent show appears to be of a lawful amusement or business enterprise, the Mayor shall determine the number of extra police necessary to properly regulate the anticipated carnival or tent show. The Mayor shall instruct the collector of taxes how many extra police shall be needed and whether such permit.

5. An applicant for permit shall pay a fee of $50.00 to the City of Memphis (Five Dollars ($5.00) to each police officer per day for many days that said permit is issued a permit shall be issued the permit specifying length of time and the number of police to be used in regulating, inspecting and enforcing such carnivals or tent shows and shall be spent by the applicant for such purposes and it is appropriated for such purposes.

Section 5. If the proposed carnival or tent show consists in part of any unlawful games or enterprises of any kind, the permit shall be refused and if such carnival or tent show is issued a permit and it conducts itself in an unlawful manner in whole or in part, its permit may be revoked by the Mayor and fees paid shall be forfeited.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any carnival or tent show to operate and no permit shall be issued for any carnival or tent show to operate within a space of Three Hundred (300) feet from any business house, residence, school, or church building within the City limits of the City of Memphis, Texas.

Section 7. It shall be unlawful for any carnival or tent show to operate in whole or in part, after its permit expires, or after it is revoked for cause, and all persons assisting in such operation shall be guilty of an offense.

Section 8. The Mayor shall have full supervision of the policing of said carnival or tent show.

Section 9. Any person violating any provision of this Ordinance shall be fined not to exceed Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00).

Section 10. The invalidity of any part hereof, shall not invalidate any other part.

Section 11. This law shall not apply to street fairs composed of local people for purely charitable purposes and without profit.

Section 12. By reason of the absence of any law, licensing and regulating carnivals and tent shows, it is necessary for the immediate preservation of public peace and safety that this Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force and effect upon its passage as provided in such cases.

Passed and approved this 1st day of Nov. A. D. 1921.

The religion of Jesus Christ is a help-others religion, and therefore, the church professing his name ought not to be self-centered. To provide for local needs is all right, but to neglect the larger needs as represented by Home and Foreign, Missions, Christian Education, Ministerial Relief and other denominational enterprises, is to fall short of Christian privileges. We many not withhold from others that which has been entrusted to us for distribution. There is a withholding which impoverishes, and a giving which enriches.

Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E. W.

NATIONAL RED CROSS SUNDAY

Next Sunday, Nov. 13 Designated As National Red Cross Day By President Harding.

Sunday, November 13th has been designated National Red Cross Sunday by a proclamation of President Harding. In a communication sent out from Washington to the clergy of America, the President says:

To The Reverend Clergy: The President of the United States has designated Sunday, November thirteenth, as RED CROSS SUNDAY.

It is hoped that on that day ministers of religion, throughout the length and breadth of the land, will make some mention to their congregations of the work of the American Red Cross, and will make an appeal to them that they enroll themselves in its membership.

The Roll Call is not a campaign. It is merely the yearly opportunity for men and women to pay their annual dues and renew their membership in the Red Cross.

The annual dues are One Dollar. Of this amount Fifty Cents is sent to National Headquarters and the Chapter enrolling the membership retains Fifty cents for local Red Cross activity.

Contributions to this fund are made by the working funds for the American Red Cross is unique in that it is at once a voluntary organization charged with certain duties and liable to certain obligations.

The object of the American Red Cross has been briefly set forth thus:

'The Union of all who Love In the Service of all who suffer.' The Fifth Membership Roll Call, which occurs simultaneously all over the United States, will be emphasized on Red Cross Sunday.

W. B. Duncan of Estelline, was here Wednesday. Mr. Duncan returned Monday night from Chattanooga, where he attended the Ex-Confederate reunion. He reported a pleasant trip and an enjoyable time meeting his old comrades.

W. F. Holland, manager of Green Bros. Store at Estelline, was a business visitor here Tuesday.

English women, it is said, consume more than 1,000,000 cigarettes every day.

BOLL WEEVIL CAUSES UNEASINESS

Weevils Have Been Found In Fields Near Vernon. Meeting To Consider Matter

A meeting of the farmers of Wilbarger county has been called for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the courthouse to discuss the boll weevil situation. Two bottles containing about fifty weevils were on exhibition at the Waggoner National Bank this morning. They were gathered from a field near Vernon.

This county has not been bothered very much with the pests in the past but they are getting more numerous and this meeting is called for the purpose of discussing ways and means of combating the spread. Whole counties in Central and East Texas have been over run with the weevils during the recent years and unless steps are taken at once those in position to know of the workings of this pest express themselves as very anxious for the future of the cotton raisers here.—Vernon Times.

Card of Thanks

We thank the good people of Memphis for the kindness through the illness and death of our beloved little son, Earl. May God richly bless each and every one of you.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Starley.

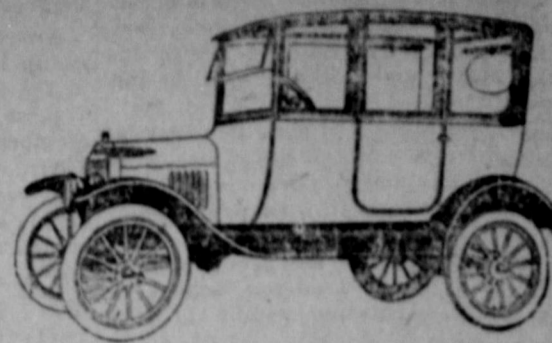

Sam Cooper of Estelline was here Saturday looking after business matters. Mr. Cooper's family resides at Denton; but he finds it necessary to spend a large part of the fall season here looking after his farm interests in the Hillier neighborhood.

Who Will Win the Ford Sedan

Out of town Lady takes lead in The Democrat's big day Contest. Following is the names of the Contestants and their standing on Votes turned in up to Wednesday morning.

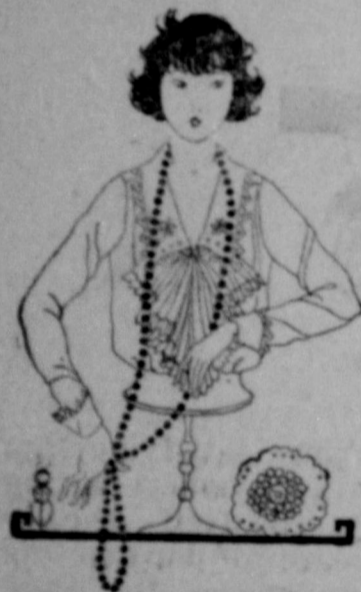

1. Miss Vera Turner, Turkey.
2. Mrs. T. B. Brooks, Memphis.
3. Miss Bessie Duke, Memphis.
4. Miss Ida Dunn, Lakeview.
5. Miss Imogene Moreman, Hedley.
6. Mrs. Luther Grundy, Memphis.
7. Miss Joanna Williamson, Estelline.

The manager wishes to state this is one of the closest contests we have ever conducted and no lady need be discouraged by the present standing as only a few Subscriptions would put any one the lead. For the next ten days, or up to and including Saturday Nov. 19th we will give just double the regular vote with each subscription. One years subscription will receive 4,000 votes, Ten years 10,000, etc. The last week of the Contest there will be extra votes given so each Lady should impress on their friends the fact that One Dollar now is worth as many votes as Two Dollars will be during the last week of the Contest.

As stated at the beginning we expect to Conduct this Contest absolutely Fair and Square and all Contestants will be treated the same. No one will receive any inside information and no doubt the conclusion of the Contest the one that has devoted the most time and energy to the work will be the proud winner of the Ford Sedan.

There is only a few more days of the Contest and while all the Contestants are showing great interest and working hard this is still a number of homes in Hall County that are not subscribers. The Democrat and we would like to see them all subscribe during this Contest.

The Contest will close Saturday Nov. 26 at Two O'clock P. M. Pick out the Prize you want and work to win.

Beads

The red beads are always good, as well as the jet. We are showing some very pretty numbers in these at very reasonable prices.

The long bugle bead has the call for dress trimming this season. We are showing them at 15c per bunch in jade, black, white, gold red, iridescent.

Collars, Vestees etc.

We have just received a shipment of dainty materials in lace and embroidery collars, collar and vestee combinations and vestees by the yard. Nothing adds to the attractiveness of a dress or suit as much as dainty neckwear.

The Little Things Count

Many merchants look after the big things in the store and neglect to keep their stock in good condition on the little things you need every day. It is now and has always been the policy of this store to keep our stock complete on everything that is carried in a general dry goods store, so that our customers can always know when they want anything that they won't have to look around borrowing it but can always find it at our store.

A few things you don't always find in a dry goods store.
